MEMORANDUM FOR THE SECRETARY OF STATE

The Research and Analysis Branch was established under the Office of Coordinator of Information in July, 1941. To provide and process information in the volume and quality demanded by global warfare, a staff of skilled academic personnel, researchers and specialists was assembled. Today the Branch roster numbers 800 on duty in Washington and 400 overseas in the European and Far Eastern Theaters. "Customers" include the Joint U. S. Chiefs of Staff, armed forces headquarters and field commands, the State Department and other executive departments, UNRRA, the War Crimes Commission and the FEA.

Beginning with generalized summary reports on foreign countries, R&A shortly assumed responsibility for the preparation of a major share of the Army's "MIS Strategic Surveys." A predominant and sometimes exclusive role was played in the production of the "ONI Monographs" pertaining to the Pacific Islands. Detailed topographic studies were also developed. The survey of North Africa included a research project on the regional railroads so comprehensive that it was used by the U. S. Army Engineers in the organization of North African overland transport. The studies on Normandy, Brittany and Southern France were used in the preliminary invasion planning. R&A has contributed one third of the work involved in the preparation of Joint Army-Navy Intelligence Studies (JANIS), of which 24 have been completed to date.

The Washington Branch, called upon from its earliest days for specialized reports for specific customers, prepared analyses of political trends, synopses of current opinion and biographies of enemy nationals. A series of policy papers were developed for the Joint Chiefs of Staff and shorter reports for the Joint Target Group. In addition the R&A Branch has been the chief contributor to the JIC Weekly. A representative of the Branch has collaborated with the Strategic Survey Committee on a number of strategic papers.

The Map Division, combining one of the world's largest map libraries with a highly developed technique of functional evaluation, has served, among others, the State Department, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and General Marshall. As an integral part of the intelligence work of this agency, the Map Division's large staff of professional geographers and cartographers has produced more than six thousand original maps and distributed over five million map copies. It was able to fill substantially all of the cartographic requirements of the American delegations at Cairo, Quebec and San Francisco.

Throughout the war, R&A staffs have been on duty at principal American or Allied Theater headquarters. In London strategic analyses of the enemy's economic situation were compiled and estimates made of his food resources, oil supply and military production as affected by Allied bombing. In this work R&A pioneered a new technique of estimating enemy losses. These estimates formed the basis of target priority lists and were heavily relied on by AAF and RAF planners. At Allied Force Headquarters in Algiers and later at Caserta R&A participated in detailed target priority evaluation as well as order of battle analysis. The first exploitation of the wealth of information on the enemy oil situation laid open by the sudden capitulation of Roumania was made by five R&A target analysis officers. They provided first-hand intelligence on the results of the Ploesti bombings, on enemy oil production and on the destination of oil shipments as well as establishing new target priorities. Information thus made available showed that R&A oil estimates had been accurate to within five per cent. In Burma R&A shared the responsibility for the tactical planning of the British advance. Field men of the Branch in China selected targets for the 14th Air Force and furnished the Theater Command specialized topographic and economic studies for use in strategic planning.

Reports on the political climate in occupied and enemy countries were developed by R&A men at the various Theater headquarters and as members of OSS teams in Athens, Sofia, Bucharest, Belgrade as well as in northern Italy, France, Austria and Germany. Some of these teams in many instances preceded military and diplomatic personnel into Russian-liberated territory and, as their sources were restricted by neither military channels nor diplomatic protocol, their reports added an additional dimension in the field of political observation. The "European Political Review," published and circulated to special "customers" throughout the European Theater from December 1944 to June 1945, provided American military and civil affairs officers a political yardstick on which to scale their operational planning for succeeding months. To the Army Civil Affairs and Military Government programs R&A has also furnished the special biographical lists used in the selection of reliable local personnel to fill government positions in occupied regions. The Branch prepared the original Civil Affairs Handbooks and contributed to the AMG training program at Charlottesville. The larger part of the extensive series of Civil Affairs Guides was prepared by the Branch. At the Civil Affairs Staging Area in Monterey detailed problems of military occupation of Japan were worked out; and, at present, a series of Civil Affairs Handbooks on Japan are being rushed to completion.

The USSR Division, by combining trends developed from an exhaustive knowledge of Russia with currently available information, has been able to predict many of Russia's most important policy decisions. It has thoroughly studied and reported with remarkable accuracy her capabilities and intentions. Special analyses have been made of grain stocks, ammunition supply, port capacities, airfields and rail transportation. In March 1944 the Division predicted to the day the length of time between VE-Day and Russia's declaration of war on Japan. The USSR handbook now used by American officers working with Soviet citizens was written by this Division.

At the request of the State Department, the Latin American Division prepared the dossiers on Argentina for the American delegation at Mexico City. It has also published studies of current instabilities in Latin America, the growth of Argentine power in 1944, the rise of the Sinarquista movement in Mexico and the Nazi use of anti-Semitism in Latin America. At present the Latin American Division is preparing basic studies of the major Latin American countries for the State Department.

The end of the war has brought an abrupt shift of emphasis in R&A activities. Intelligence research facilities are now occupied largely with the objectives of the War Crimes Commission, Reparations Commission and the coordinated "Safehaven" project. To build a foundation for future and long-range intelligence operations, the present Branch effort is designed to establish permanent, readily accessible sources of intelligence not otherwise obtainable. Captured enemy archives and official records are being examined and, in cooperation with the Field Photographic Branch of OSS, detailed strategic photographic coverage of western Europe, the Near East and China is being made. These efforts, in combination with R&A's many other activities, represent substantial progress made toward the ultimate intelligence target, a thorough knowledge of the other great powers' capabilities and intentions, on which the strategic decisions of this nation will be based.

MEMORANDUM TO: Director of Central Intelligence

THROUGH : Chief, Interdepartmental Coordinating and Planning Staff

SUBJECT : ORE Production Program for the Quarter Beginning 1 July 1947

REFERENCE : Memorandum from Deputy Director to Chief, ICAPS and Assistant Director, ORE, dated 25 March 1947

1. In compliance with the reference above, there is submitted herewith an ORE Production Program for the quarter beginning 1 July 1947.

2. In preparing the subject program it has been thought desirable in the interest of clarity to restate in detail our conception of the ORE mission as it applies to the production and presentation of national intelligence.

3. It will be noted, therefore, that the first three paragraphs of the attachment deal with basic matters of mission and a general plan for accomplishing this mission. In this part of the attachment one hitherto over-looked item has been added in that under CIG Staff Intelligence it is contemplated that an effort will be made to make an estimate of the World Situation with the idea that such an overall estimate should be useful in bringing into proper perspective the various area situations and aligning them in such a manner to show their correlation to the whole and their significance to the national security of the U.S.

4. Paragraph 4 is a detailed schedule of intelligence production and presentation for the quarter commencing 1 July 1947.

5. In view of the basic nature of this subject to the operation of ORE, an indication of the Director's action on this topic would be appreciated at an early date.

ORE PRODUCTION PROGRAM FOR THE QUARTER BEGINNING 1 JULY 1947

1. The planned overall program of ORE provides for the production and planning for, or coordination of, production of the various types of reports requisite to fulfillment of the ORE Mission.

2. The program is based on the delineated statement of the ORE Mission and its objectives as indicated below:

a. The Mission of ORE is to:

(1) Produce and present national intelligence by implementing the research aspects of the NIR, utilizing pertinent intelligence information and intelligence available from all sources, and evaluating, correlating and integrating such data and interpreting its composite significance to U.S. national security.

(2) Assess the adequacy, accuracy, relevance and timeliness of available intelligence information and intelligence pertaining to U.S. national security. Establish requirements for the collection of intelligence information and intelligence from all sources. In coordination with appropriate agencies, establish requirements for the production of intelligence by CIG, the IAB and other appropriate agencies.

(3) Prepare, recommend implementation and amendment of, and review plans, policies and procedures for intelligence research and production related to the national security and for coordinated interdepartmental action in connection therewith.

b. The Objectives of the ORE Mission are to:

(1) Insure, to the maximum practicable extent, the availability and timely dissemination of the intelligence required to prevent surprise from any foreign source in vital matters pertaining to U.S. national security.

(2) Provide timely national intelligence requisite to Presidential and composite Governmental decisions and counsel upon foreign situations pertaining to U.S. national security.

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

[redacted] INT 805/

(3) Determine requirements for the collection of intelligence information and the production of intelligence required in support of U.S. national security.

(4) Determine quantitative, qualitative and timely inadequacies in coverage of both intelligence information and intelligence relating to U.S. national security.

(5) Provide recommendations on, and participation in, the preparation of plans and policies relating to coordination of the intelligence research and production activities of those agencies charged with responsibilities for, or capable of, supporting the U.S. national security.

3. In the fulfillment of its Mission, ORE is required to produce or coordinate the production of the following types of intelligence:

a. Basic Intelligence:

(1) Basic intelligence is that factual intelligence which results from the collation of encyclopedic information of a more or less permanent or static nature and general interest which, as a result of evaluation and interpretation, is determined to be the best available.

(2) This basic intelligence will be compiled and continuously maintained in National Intelligence Surveys to cover foreign countries, areas, or broad special subjects as appropriate.

b. Current Intelligence:

(1) CIG Daily Summary: A daily summary of significant intelligence and operational information for the President, the members of the NIA, and limited additional approved distribution.

(2) CIG Weekly Summary: A weekly compendium of concise analyses of significant emergent and current trends, presented in perspective and with consideration of their probable consequences, as a necessary supplement to the Daily and for the same recipients.

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

[redacted] INT 805

(3) CIG Special Evaluations: Concise evaluations, primarily for the recipients of the Daily Summary, of current reports which require treatment at greater length than is possible in the Daily and with greater urgency than is possible in the Weekly, or which otherwise deserve special presentation as current intelligence rather than as Special Reports. Each item in the series shall be restricted to a single topic, and shall include such analysis and interpretation as its urgency permits.

c. CIG Staff Intelligence:

(1) Situation Reports: Analyses of the strategic and national policy aspects of the situation in each significant country or other appropriate geographical area or with respect to significant functional subjects of continuing interest. The items in this series, in their complete form, shall be designed for the use of staff officers below the IAB level, but succinct summaries of their essential contents shall be provided for use at the IAB level and above. Each item will be kept up to date by monthly review and revision as required. With reference to this possible monthly revision, it must be stressed that the series is not intended to become yet another form of current intelligence reporting but rather to consist of up-to-date analyses of the basic factors in the situations reported on.

(2) Special Reports: Analyses prepared by specific direction or in response to a specific authorized request, or on the initiative of ORE as it perceives the occasion in its continuing review of the world situation.

(3) Estimate of the World-Wide Situation: Analysis of the strategic aspects of the world-wide situation as it pertains to U.S. national security. This report is based primarily on the Situation and Special Reports. It is produced semi-annually, or oftener if the situation requires.

4. The following production program for the quarter beginning 1 July 1947 has been prepared with the long range objectives of ORE in view and with particular reference to the requirements for intelligence production which derive from the ORE Mission, and which fall into the types of intelligence discussed in paragraph 3 above. The quarterly program serves as a guide and is susceptible of modification to meet changing situations.

UNCLASSIFIED

[redacted] INT 805,

a. Basic Intelligence:

(1) An Interim Editorial Board has been set up to coordinate the production, to edit and to arrange for the publication of the Defense Project. This Project was established for the purpose of developing and pooling the appropriate resources of all agencies of the U.S. Government for the production of basic intelligence on the USSR. All drafts are due from the producing agencies by 1 July 1947. These drafts will be reviewed from a substantive viewpoint by the regional branch concerned and then turned over to the Editorial Board. Arrangements will be completed for all printing requirements. It is anticipated that all editorial and graphic work will be completed and the edited work will be in the hands of the printer by the end of the quarter. Every phase of this problem will be handled with a view to the NIS program.

(2) A tentative T/O has been approved for a Basic Intelligence Division whose function is to coordinate the NIS program. This Division will be activated and the recruitment program will be pursued actively. All practical steps will be taken to prepare for the production and publication of the National Intelligence Surveys, including:

(a) Printing arrangements -- binders, paper, type, format and method of reproduction.

(b) Establishment of procedures within ORE.

(c) Development of inter-agency methods and procedures.

Specific goals cannot be stated at this time due to the inter-agency steps required to be taken on this program.

b. Current Intelligence:

(1) Daily Summary: The Daily Summary will be continued with such revisions and improvements as may be indicated by the results of the recent OCD survey.

(2) Weekly Summary: In view of the favorable reaction by a majority of the recipients, as disclosed by OCD surveys, the Weekly Summary will be continued, with such improvements as may be indicated by these surveys.

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

[redacted] INT 805/

(3) Special Evaluations: Special Evaluations will be produced as occasions demand. A schedule cannot be forecast, although it is anticipated that there will be an average of at least two each month.

c. CIG Staff Intelligence:

(1) Situation Reports: Exclusive of the time required for departmental concurrence and reproduction, it is planned to complete fifteen Situation Reports on the following countries:

Bulgaria	Sweden
Hungary	Iceland
Czechoslovakia	India
Italy	Egypt (including Sudan)
Spain	Greece
Germany	Siam
Austria	French Indochina
China

In addition, it is anticipated that initial drafts of Situation Reports will be completed on the following five countries:

Finland
Belgium and Luxembourg
The United Kingdom
Palestine

The following seven Situation Reports, which will have been completed by ORE prior to 1 July, will also be reviewed and, if necessary, revised each month subsequent to publication:

Turkey
Korea
Denmark
Albania
Norway
Iran
Rumania

(2) Special Reports: Special reports in the ORE series will be prepared as occasions demand. A firm schedule is therefore impossible to forecast, although it is anticipated that at least two or three special reports will be completed each month. Reports on the following subjects are now under active preparation for possible publication during the quarter:

Possible Effects of Stalin's Death or Disability
Analysis of the Monnet Plan for the French Economy
The Kurdish Problem
Spanish Governmental Prospects
The World Federation of Trade Unions
Repercussions Attending the Disposition of the Italian Colonies

5. In addition to the production of reports and estimates outlined in paragraph 4 above, this Office plans to produce National Intelligence Requirements as indicated below:

[redacted] a. ORE will complete, prior to or during the quarter, NIR's on the following areas:

USSR
Korea
Iran
Greece and Turkey
The Arab States

b. Upon completion of the above, ORE proposes to develop NIR's on the following areas:

Eastern Europe
France
Italy
Brazil
[redacted] Argentina
Mexico

And, in addition, scientific NIR's on the following countries:

France
Sweden
Belgium
The Netherlands
Switzerland

c. The existing NIR on China will be reviewed and, if necessary, revised by 1 September.

MEMORANDUM FOR: A - Mr. John E. Peurifoy
Through: OBP - William O. Hall
Subject: Modification of Survey Report Resulting from Conference between Robinson, CON and Armstrong, R

As a result of a counterproposal of CON and a conference with Mr. Robinson and Mr. Armstrong, it is suggested that the following modifications of the survey report be approved. These modifications have the approval of R and CON.

CON will continue its responsibility for "domestic" or internal U. S. security operations and will retain the necessary liaison channels with the civilian agencies, i.e., Treasury, Justice, and Post Office (excluding CIA).

CON will establish a small security clearance center which will be responsible for security action and operations with respect to U. S. citizens and foreigners within U. S. borders. This security clearance center will also be responsible for security action and operations with respect to U. S. citizens and aliens abroad in connection with repatriation passports, visas and other cases involving the movement into the United States of persons expected to cause internal difficulties.

CON will maintain an index file on foreign agents in the U. S. (required by the Foreign Agent Registration Act) but will maintain biographic files only on U. S. nationals; biographic files on foreigners will be maintained in BI.

R will receive all "foreign" security operations and liaison with CIA, Army, Navy and Air Force except for CON's responsibility for physical and personnel security of U. S. Missions abroad.

Although the formal liaison channels will be established as indicated above, the CON area will develop relationships at the working level as necessary with their opposite numbers in the domestic and internal security sections of the Military and CIA, and the R area will develop working relations as necessary with their opposite numbers on foreign intelligence with the civilian agencies.

R will be responsible for collection, evaluation, and dissemination of all information originating from foreign sources. R area will handle all operational intelligence matters except security matters in which civilian agencies or the divisions of CON are involved or required to take action, for example, visa cases, munitions, protective services, etc.

R will get all files of FC except those files on U. S. nationals. The transferred files will include the FC master index file, the files of German Nazis, the ESP file, the war relocation file on Japanese, Neisi, etc.

On problems similar to the Dominican Republic revolution and the Bogota incident, the R area will provide all information, reports, and data to the political areas of the Department and will arrange to have CON notify its divisions who would be required to take action. The R area would also be responsible for informing the CON liaison man when action is required of the civilian agencies.

MEMORANDUM FOR: A - Mr. Peurifoy

Attached is a survey of R, FC, EUR/X and transmittal letter from Mr. Orear. I agree with the recommendations contained in the report insofar as they relate to the consolidation under a single direction of the Research and Intelligence Offices and the Division of Foreign Activity Correlation. On the basis of reading this report, my judgment would be that the consolidation should include EUR/X in order to insure one intelligence operation to avoid any possible duplication.

In addition to the recommendations contained in the report, I would urge strongly that the head of the new intelligence operation should adopt a more vigorous and active policy with respect to bringing to the attention of appropriate officials of the Department information which may be of assistance to them. This will be particularly essential if FC and EUR/X become part of the general intelligence operation.

In considering the study, I would particularly suggest that you scan the materials contained under tab "Exhibit A" as indicating the conscientious effort on the part of individuals in the several Divisions to reconcile their disagreements. On the whole, it appears that these efforts have not been particularly successful.

If you approve the general recommendation above, there are a number of additional steps necessary to place the proposed organization change in effect. I will request the staff to proceed with these additional steps if we have your concurrence.

[redacted] SUMMARY

Survey Report on Intelligence Organizations in the Department of State

Problem: To determine whether the present functional assignments and operations in the intelligence field on the part of the Special Assistant for Research and Intelligence (R), the Division of Foreign Activity Correlation (FC), and the Special Assistant to the Office of European Affairs (EUR/X) either (1) constitute duplication in terms of personal services, (2) result in non-coverage of important intelligence matters, or (3) provide the most effective service to the Department.

Background: At the Budget Bureau hearings in October, 1947, witnesses from R and the Office of Controls (CON) testified that they were not sufficiently informed to be able to answer questions from the examiners as to whether or not duplication existed in the work of R, FC, and EUR/X. The Budget Officer then promised that the matter would be investigated, and the Assistant Secretary for Administration (A) requested that the investigation also cover the more important problem of completeness of coverage of intelligence material.

Two OB representatives, Fred Darnell and John Moore, were assigned to this task, have surveyed the three areas, and have prepared this report.

Conclusions:

1. There is a small amount of duplication between R and FC in terms of personal services.

2. Although the Department as a whole has a complete coverage of intelligence data from all known sources, each of the three groups gets a small amount of data which is not made available to the other two.

3. The Department's attempt to split intelligence work into separate fields of "security" and "positive" intelligence has not been successful. Consequently, the policy officers of the Department have to rely upon fragmentary "security" intelligence reports and "positive" research intelligence reports which are incomplete because they do not make the best use of the existing resources of personnel and data.

4. EUR/X serves more as a political advisor than as an intelligence unit.

Recommendations:

1. The entire intelligence function should be assigned to the R area, with the necessary supplementing of that organization to provide for prompt, efficient, and completely informed action on security action matters.

2. FC should be disbanded as a Division and its functions and personnel attached to the R area in a new pattern.

UNCLASSIFIED

INT 758/7

[redacted]

3. EUR/X should remain attached to EUR, strengthened by the addition of an Assistant and required to establish a clearance channel with the R area on matters of joint concern.

4. Certain positive steps be taken to improve the working relations between the R area and the policy officers of the Department.

Narrative Report

I. Introduction

This survey was begun on November 27 as a result of a discussion which developed in the Bureau of the Budget hearings in October pursuant to testimony to the effect that the employees of R, FC, and EUR/X were not familiar with the work done by each other group. The Bureau of the Budget pointed out that they had raised the same question the year before, but that no action had been taken by the Department. It was agreed at that point by the Budget Officer and the Assistant Secretary for Administration to conduct a survey to determine (1) whether any duplication existed in the work of these three groups, and (2) whether lack of close working relationships resulted in a non-coverage of any important intelligence data.

At the same time, in response to a request from the Director of COM, a management survey was made in FC, involving interviews with almost every employee and an examination of its records and procedures. The special report on the FC part of this larger survey, pointing out certain internal operational problems, was completed January 20 and furnished the Director of COM and the Chief of FC. (See Exhibit B)

In the R area, interviews were confined to the Special Assistant for Research and Intelligence, his immediate staff, Office Directors and Deputies, Division Chiefs and Assistants, and Branch Chiefs, except in those areas in which duplication or conflict appeared to occur, in which case the interviewing coverage was expanded. Records and procedures were not examined in detail except in those areas where duplication or conflict appeared evident. In EUR/X the Special Assistant in charge of the unit was the only person interviewed, but the information obtained was checked with two political Office Directors and a number of other persons in the political area, some of whom had formerly served in the EUR/X area.

Several interviews were held in DC, not only with the Division Chief and his assistants, but with a number of the employees in the mail-opening room, the Telegraph Branch, the Records Branch, and the Liaison Branch, in order to check the quantity and type of intelligence material furnished to each intelligence group and to determine whether any group had exclusive sources of such data.

I. Description of Each Area Surveyed

A. Research and Intelligence Area (R)

1. General. The largest area is that headed by the Special Assistant for Research and Intelligence, including two offices, eight divisions, and 520 persons. These employees are engaged primarily in collecting, reviewing, and analyzing intelligence data of all sorts and producing research intelligence studies in political, economic and sociological fields for the benefit of end users elsewhere in this Department and in other Federal agencies.

The functional field assigned to this area is that of "positive" intelligence, and includes the use of all types of materials from the representatives abroad of State, CIA, and the military establishments, as well as foreign official and private reports, documents, maps, newspapers, pamphlets and other publications. Based on such data, studies are prepared on past and present political, economic or sociological trends in particular countries or geographic areas, including the prediction of future trends and events. These studies are used by the political and other officers of the Department to aid in the determination of present and future foreign policy decisions with respect to particular political or economic problems.

Although hasty "spot" reports are made upon request, the usual product is more lengthy report in which the full context is provided for the particular subject of discussion.

2. Office of Intelligence Collection and Dissemination (OCD). OCD is composed of three Divisions, the Intelligence Acquisition and Distribution Division (IAD), the Biographic Information Division (BI), and the Intelligence Reference Division (RRF).

The Intelligence Acquisition and Distribution Division, with 36 employees, maintains a Procurement Branch which conducts liaison activities with the Central Intelligence Agency and the military establishments for the purpose of securing copies of regular and special intelligence documents which the R area needs for the conduct of research and intelligence activities. The liaison officers employed in this Branch call upon many identical persons in the four other agencies who are also called upon by liaison officers from FC seeking copies of the same material. In the case of State and Army reading panels, panel members from IAD and FC sit side by side reading identical material and occasionally substituting for each other. Not only does IAD collect a greater quantity and more varied types of intelligence data from some of the same agencies as FC, but in addition it is engaged in procurement on a large scale of Foreign Government and private publications, books, pamphlets, newspapers and periodicals.

The Division of Biographic Information, with 54 employees, is segmented on a geographic area basis, each country expert maintaining a large set of card files, cross-indexed alphabetically and by categories of activity or employment. These card files for each country are established on a standard pattern providing for the determination of the names of heads of national, regional and municipal governments, members of legislatures, police officers, political leaders, members of trade, professional and other groups, etc. In addition to the index cards, files are maintained containing copies of telegrams, airgrams, reports, dispatches, newspaper clippings, magazine articles, etc., containing biographic information on each individual person (FC maintains only a card file indicating available sources of biographic data on individuals). BI does not build its file on the basis of individual requests, but continuously develops on its own initiative as much information as possible on all important persons in any country. The Intelligence Reference Division, with 54 employees, receives, develops and maintains the Department's central collection of positive intelligence materials. This mass of material is cataloged and classified by type and geographic area and forms a working or reference file which can meet the informational requirements of the substantive officers of the Department. The group provides an information service which upon request collects all reference material available on any subject and provides the raw data to the analysts both in OIR and the rest of the Department.

3. Office of Intelligence Research (OIR). OIR is composed of five divisions: The Division of Research for Europe (DRE), Division of Research for American Republics (DRA), Division of Research for Far East (DRF), Division of Research for Near East and Africa (DRN), and Division of International and Functional Intelligence (IFI), and employs 325 persons. These divisions are staffed by country or area experts in the political, sociological, and economic fields who read, evaluate, and file the material secured for them by the Acquisition and Distribution Division (IAD), and produce research reports and surveys on their own initiative or at the request of the political and other areas of the Department, or other agencies of the Government. These divisions are staffed by persons who have expert knowledge of an economic field or of a country to which they are assigned and who in addition have special facility in the languages of these countries.

These groups evaluate the intelligence materials, analyze trends and tendencies, and develop background data for the purpose of preparing intelligence research studies, situation reports, and spot intelligence reports for use by the policy officers in the Department.

In addition, these divisions work closely with their counterparts in CIA and the military intelligence agencies in the development of joint studies and projects. Some examples of major reports which would be prepared in these divisions are: - Potential Economic Contribution of Netherlands East Indies to the European Recovery Program, - The First Year of the European Comminform, - The Politics and Personnel of the Socialist Party in Italy.

B. Division of Foreign Activity Correlation (FC)

1. General. FC is one of the six Divisions in the Office of Controls and presently employes 66 persons. In addition to the Office of the Chief, there is a Liaison group, a Security Name Check group, a Security Evaluation group, and an Administrative group. These employees are engaged primarily in collecting, reviewing and analyzing intelligence data in order to discover incidents with respect to persons, organizations, or situations which indicate present or future danger to the interests of the United States.

In some instances, the data is provided to other parts of the Department for action to be taken; for example the issuance or refusal of a visa or passport. In other instances, after appropriate review and clearance by the political officer, the senior officers of FC initiate positive action on the part of other Divisions and other Departments to provide for the security of U. S. interests. To illustrate, in the event FC receives through intelligence channels information suggesting the possibility of a revolution in a particular country, FC would arrange (1) with the Passport Division to prevent the issuance of passports to American citizens desirous of enlisting in the revolutionary forces; (2) with the Minitions Division to prevent any violation of U.S. laws with respect to the export of arms and ammunition to the revolutionary forces; (3) with the Visa Division to prevent aliens from entering the U.S. who are likely to make illegal purchases of arms and ammunition or recruit soldiers of fortune; (4) with DS to arrange for plans for the portection of U. S. citizens and their interests including their possible evacuation and repatriation. In addition, (5) FC would keep the political officers informed, (6) arrange to secure as much additional information as possible from the Central Intelligence Agency and from the intelligence arms of the military services, (7) and would arrange for cooperative action on the part of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Treasury Secret Service and Customs, and the Post Office Department. (The R area would be carrying on duplicating action in the case of items (5) and (6)).

The functional field assigned to this area is that of "security" intelligence, involving the use of data on both overt and covert activities of individuals and organizations. Frequently such data is fragmentary in nature and undependable as to source, but by its very nature it is of a character that it must be used speedily if it is to be used at all. To illustrate, if a rumor originating from an unreliable source and received through an intelligence agency is to the effect that an attempt will be made to assassinate an important foreign personage visiting the Secretary of State on the following day, there is neither time nor opportunity to check the reliability of the report and the decision must be made immediately whether or not to arrange for special protective measures.

The reason FC was placed in the Office of Controls was that it appeared proper to do so in view of the basic plan to have one Office the focal point for all security matters in the Department of State. The other divisions in the Office of Controls are the chief end-users of the name-check reports prepared by FC, and these divisions work cooperatively with FC on plans and action programs involving security, since each one of them has jurisdiction over an activity which concerns a security phase of the work of the Department.

FC was the only Division in the Department covering intelligence matters until the Office of Strategic Services was transferred to the Department of State. FC's Liaison Branch is the outgrowth of the old U-L staff group attached to the Under Secretary's office and at that time was the exclusive liaison channel with the intelligence areas of the military establishments.

2. Liaison Group. The Liaison group conducts liaison activities with the intelligence areas of the Departments of the Army, Navy, and Air Force and Central Intelligence Agency for the purpose of securing copies of regular and special intelligence documents FC or other elements of the Department need to determine what security action must be taken to protect the interests of the United States. This group also conducts liaison activities with the Justice Department, Treasury Department, and other civilian agencies involved with security and law enforcement activities, including exclusive liaison with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. In addition, this group engages in active liaison activities with the military agencies on matters relating to military and naval attaches at foreign posts and the handling of all special problems arising from civil or criminal acts and breaches of the peace on the part of members of the armed forces in foreign countries. This group acts as the channel for representation bythe Department of State to the military agencies on a large variety of routine administrative matters.

A former sub-unit of this group, now attached to the Office of the Chief of FC, negotiates agreements with local representatives of foreign nations with respect to the establishment of military training missions and arranges with the military establishments for the staffing of such missions.

INT 758/14

3. Security Name Check Group. The Security Name Check group responds to requests from within or without the Department for information with respect to persons or organizations concerning which some doubt has arisen from a security standpoint, as to the propriety of taking a certain action, for example, the issuance of a passport or visa, or the clearance of a conference delegate. This group checks with all other agencies within and without the Department likely to have data on the person or organization, borrows their files, and produces a brief informational or biographical sketch which is furnished the inquirer. On inquiries arising within the Department, FC makes recommendations as to the action to be taken.

4. Security Evaluation Group. This group of analysts reviews airgrams, telegrams, reports, and dispatches secured by the Liaison group with a view to detecting items indicating present or probable activity on the part of a person or group which is or may be inimical to the interests of the United States. These fragmentary items are brought to the attention of the appropriate political offices and if clearance is given, the senior officers of FC will then prosecute a security action program, as described previously in this report. These analysts, in reviewing the flow of documents, are responsible for adding names and references to the master security index file.

5. Administrative Group. In addition to handling the usual personnel, budget, travel, mail and file, and like items, this group also maintains the master index file of persons against which the security checks are made. This group also carries out the function of providing a secondary screening of informational copies of telegrams and airgrams furnished by the Department of State to Army, Navy, Air Force and FBI.

C. Special Assistant to Office of European Affairs (EUR/X)

The EUR/X group differs from the R and FC groups in that it acts as a political adviser whose concern islimited primarily to communism and fascism, and more specifically to the political implications of these movements internally in the United States and in other countries. For example: the group isconcerned with the infiltration of Communists and their theories into national and international labor groups. The group is small, comprising one Special Assistant to the Director of EUR, three P-3 analysts, and three clerical employees.

They receive information copies of telegrams, airgrams, reports and despatches duplicating those received by R and FC on the subjects with which EUR/X isconcerned. EUR/X also receives private reports from a few personsabroad who have been trained to be expert reporters on these subjects during former assignments under the direction of the head of this unit. These reports, while few in number, are considered to be quite valuable and their dissemination is narrowly restricted in the Department, being available at present only to the Special Assistant for Research and Intelligence, the political Office Directors, and a selected group of political desk officers (Not to FC).

The Special Assistant in charge of this unit has for 25 years devoted his entire time and energy to the problem of communism and its political implications. His acquaintance with informed persons on this subject both in the U. S. and abroad is perhaps the largest of any person in Government, and his memory with respect to persons and incidents is phenomenal. This man, together with such assistants as have been available to him, has always been attached to one or another of the political Divisions or Offices since the beginning of the activity. The Special Assistant not only reviews material and proffers political advice, but joins with officers of the Department in a vigorous prosecution of action supporting American foreign policy. This is done in part through private anti-communist persons and groups in the U. S. and abroad.

Duplication and Conflict

Duplication does exist clearly in a few instances in terms of personal services. Both IAD and FC employ reading panel members who review identical material at the panels in State and Army. Both Divisions have liaison officers calling upon identical persons in the Central Intelligence Agency, Army, Navy, and Air Force (exclusive of administrative matters). The basic purpose of the panel review and liaison activity is to secure or promote the flow of intelligence material to end-users in the Department. The collections made by the panel members frequently differ, as do the purposes for which the liaison officers make some of their calls.

There is little duplication between the files of BI and FC since the latter does not build up files upon the persons reported upon, but merely indicates on the master index cards the sources from which information is available. However, since BI is responsible for developing card and file records on every important person in a country, including political figures, professional persons, party leaders, labor leaders, etc., and since FC is endeavoring to build its master index to cover every person who is presently engaged in or likely to engage in covert subversive acts which are inimical to the United States, it is obvious that there will be an increase in the trend to cover the same persons in both Divisions.

A tremendous number of duplicate items, including those secured by the liaison officers of IAD and FC, are reviewed and analyzed by personnel of both areas. According to the present functional assignments in the Department the persons so engaged are contacting liaison, review and analysis from wholly different points of view. FC's point of view is that of "Security" intelligence which includes covert and overt acts or information of a security nature, whereas IAD's point of view is that of "positive" intelligence and also includes all overt or public acts and pertinent covert acts. Since many persons, organizations, and political situations do not fall exclusively into one or the other category, duplicate coverage is inevitable. This is exemplified by the reports prepared upon persons and organizations in the "curtain" countries, where everyone in a position of importance, political or otherwise, is clearly of interest to the positive intelligence group, while at the same time the fact that these persons are important in a Communist-dominated country is a clear indication of their close ties to subversive groups presumed to be of inimical interest to the United States.

1359

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

INT 758/14

The conflict of jurisdiction illustrated in the proceeding paragraph is a far greater problem than duplication, and is the basis of the constant struggle which has gone on since the R and FC areas were established separately in the Department. Theoretically, the intelligence field of R was limited to "positive" intelligence, while that of FC was limited to "security" intelligence. Neither area was to engage in "counter-" intelligence in the sense of employing undercover agents and reporters. At the time these functional assignments were made, the Assistant Secretary for Administration recognized that frequent conflicts might arise, and requested that the two groups work together to develop working agreements to define and delimit their respective responsibilities. Many attempts have been made, both orally and in writing, (See Exhibit A) but the problem is not resolved and is not likely to be resolved as long as two organizations exist separately in the field of intelligence.

It would appear that attempts to segregate "security" intelligence from "positive" intelligence are futile, and that the Department should now abandon the artificial distinction which has been made in the past. Both R and FC use approximately the same sources and the same intelligence data, and provide service to the other elements of the Department. R uses the intelligence data to prepare full reports on general and frequently long-range trends in political groups, FC prepares reports and acts upon the fragmentary bit of information indicating that the long-range trend has "come to a boil" and that a crisis is imminent. R cannot produce a complete report on such a subject without covering the "covert" phases of activity; FC cannot produce a complete "security" report without covering the "overt" factors. Revolutions or peaceful changes in foreign governments effecting U. S. interests do not occur without prior activities on the part of individuals and groups over a considerable period of time. The studies and reports on the persons and groups involved in these situations should be timely and complete, including both overt and covert activities. To separate "positive" intelligence from "security" intelligence, both of which involve collection, study, and operations, is to create deliberate an obstacle to the preparation of complete and integrated reports.

The problems which arise from the jurisdictional difficulties inherent in the maintenance of two intelligence organizations in the Department are not limited to the areas themselves, but affect other areas of the Department and other Federal agencies as well. The Passport Division may know it should ask FC for a security name check, and the Aviation Division may know it should ask DRA for a report on South American air transportation systems, but the political officer cannot be sure whether he should call FC or RI for a report on a Bolivian delegate to an international conference in the United States, and Army Intelligence Division does not know whether to call R or FC, or both with respect to a proposed meeting of attaches in Frankfurt.

Furthermore, outside agencies in their search for material will play one Departmental area against the other in trying to get restricted information. For example, an intelligence agency requested the Wedemeyer report of the R area, and when informed that it was not available, they made a second attempt by requesting it of FC, and in this case were refused.

Such problems will continue inevitably until such time as all intelligence activities of the Department are brought under one head.

IV. Non-Coverage of Intelligence Data

It may be generally stated that the Department of State, through R, FC, and EUR/X has complete coverage on all intelligence material which is useful or informative. The CIA, the intelligence agencies of the military establishments and the informational sources among the civilian agencies of the U. S. Government have all been covered by liaison representatives and the material obtainable from these sources is flowing to the Department in a satisfactory manner. On the other hand, under the present system of operation, it is consistently true that reports prepared in either the R or FC areas are furnished to the end-users without checking or clearance with the other areas, with very few exceptions. In view of the fact that there are a number of items of an intelligence nature flowing exclusively to one or the other of these three areas, it is evident that the end-users must check with all three in order to be assured of having complete factual data, and it is a fact that many end-users do not know this and consequently make their action decisions on the basis of incomplete reports.

R has certain highly classified data secured from military intelligence agencies which is made available only to Assistant Secretaries and the political office directors, and is not available to FC or EUR/X.

FC has the exclusive liaison channel to FBI, and reports from that source, while used in FC, are not normally made available to R and EUR/X. Similarly, FC has a considerable amount of liaison contact with Secret Service, Customs, Bureau of Narcotics, and other civilian agencies, and has exclusive liaison with National Archives in the matter of review of the classified records of the Office of Censorship which are on file there. In addition, FC, now gets certain highly classified material from CIA which the latter agency specifically restricts as to dissemination to R.

EUR/X has in the past employed and trained certain persons who are now located in foreign posts. These persons had been sending in sealed reports which were forwarded unopened to EUR/X and were not made available to R or FC. In recent months arrangements have been made to provide this information to specified persons in the Office of the Special Assistant for Intelligence, but FC does not yet have access to these reports.

In addition, the head of this group receives a considerable amount of information from his large number of personal acquaintances here and abroad who are actively engaged in anti-communist study and activities. Examples are: Koestler, Kravechenko, Father Walsh, Mr. Mandel of the House Un-American Activities Committee, foreign and domestic labor union leaders, and many others.

Thus, one of the chief problems presented by the separate existence of two intelligence areas is that their products are incomplete to the degree that each has exclusive data either not available to or not sought by the other. For example: the group handling the more critical (in timing) field of security intelligence influences decisions and arranges for action on the basis of fragmentary information, although the full facts on the problem may exist in the other two areas but are unavailable or unused.

[redacted]

V. Recommendations:

A. Objectives: Three objectives which should be sought in appraising proposa for change in the Department's intelligence organization structure are:

1. That the proposed intelligence organization must provide the Departmen both an alert and capable security action program and a thorough and competent research program, and

2. That all intelligence reports and predictions furnished to end-users shall be as accurate and complete as possible within the time limitations applicable and the resources available, and

3. That the intelligence organization should provide the least possible duplication in the fields of data collection, analysis, review, reporting and prediction which is compatible with the maintenance of a distinct and separate group of persons responsible for security action.

B. Proposals: To achieve these objectives, it is recommended that FC be separated from the Office of Controls, certain functions be consolidated with similar ones in the offices and divisions of R, and a new and strengthened security action group be established in the R area. More specifically this would involve:

1. Consolidation of the liaison staff of FC with the liaison staff of IAD

Discussion: This would eliminate duplication of review on reading panels and in liaison contact work. IAD would then be the sole liaison channel for the Department in the matter of securing intelligence material from the intelligence agencies of Army, Navy, Air Forces, and CIA, and from the law enforcement and security protection groups of Justice, Treasury and other civilian agencies. The only exception would be in the matter of those high level matters handled by S/S and the senior officers of the Department.

Such consolidation would also place in IAD the matters of general administrative problem liaison now handled by FC involving such items as civil claims and breaches of the peace on the part of military personnel abroad. It would also include the arrangements for establishment and maintenance of U. S. military missions abroad.

INT 758/2

2. Consolidation of the security name check work of FC into the BI work program.

Discussion: This would eliminate duplication of review and of card records and provide wider coverage of intelligence resources in the preparation of biographic reports.

It would be necessary to create a new area group in BI to cover the security name check work on U. S. citizens, and a central recording and expediting group would have to be established in the Office of the Division Chief to receive, expedite and release security name check reports.

It would be necessary to establish a group in BI to service security checks and other inquiries with respect to persons in international organizations.

3. The establishment in R, OIR, and the four DR divisions of the special Security Action Group.

Discussion: This would involve the establishment of a Special Deputy for Security Action in the Office of Mr. Armstrong, a similar Deputy with at least two professional assistants in the Office of the Director of OIR and the creation of a Special Assistant to the Chief for Security Action with one or two professional assistants in each of the DR divisions.

The Security Evaluation Group of FC is so small that one person has to review the flow of intelligence material for an entire continent, and the grades of most of the positions now established are at the apprentice professional levels, precluding the employment of enough highly trained and experienced persons for this work. On the other hand, the divisions of OIR in comparison are staffed so generously that assignments may be made on a country basis, and the grades of the positions established there afford an opportunity to employ the highest levels of professional personnel.

To strengthen the FC group in quantity and quality would accentuate the duplication and increase the competition and rivalry that now exists.

INT 758/2

The best solution would be the establishment of an intelligence structure which would permit a special affiliated but separate group in OIR and its divisions to work on security action matters. This would be similar to the organization plan of the Office of the Legal Adviser.

The Security Action persons located in the DR divisions would review all highly classified material, CIA reports and the information copies of telegrams and airgrams flowing into the Division, select items of apparent importance from a security standpoint, check the fragmentary items with the already existing group of research specialists for full background and context and then arrange for reporting the matter to the appropriate end-user. After proper clearance, they would arrange for the necessary security action to be taken by the Department or cooperating agencies. This plan would utilize the much larger flow of intelligence source material which now flows into OIR, as well as the specialized language training and expert knowledge available there.

4. EUR/X be required to establish a better clearance channel with R.

Discussion: Although EUR/X is a group primarily concerned with giving political advice to EUR and the other political offices and should remain in its present position in the Department's organization structure, it is true that it has many private intelligence contacts and some intelligence data which is not now available to the R or EC groups. Most of the contacts are personal ones developed by the head of the group over a long period of years, and most of the data is carried in his head.

Since he has stated that it is his intention to leave the Department in about two years, steps should be taken at once to provide him with an assistant of high professional grade, jointly suitable to him and to the R area, who will be introduced to the private contacts and instructed in the personal knowledge now not shared. The assistant should be assigned liaison duties between EUR/X and the R area, and provide the channel for clearance of information between the two.

INT 758/2

5. That an education program be developed which would inform the policy officers of the Department how they can get the best use and service from the consolidated intelligence area.

Discussion: There is considerable question in the minds of the policy officers of the Department to whom they should turn for specific types of intelligence reports. This question as it relates to the security, biographic information, and positive intelligence fields will be settled by the recommendation that these fields be merged. However, the problem still remains in relation to the R area. There is considerable lack of knowledge throughout the Department of the R area's capabilities and services. There is no Intelligence Handbook which would serve as a reference manual for policy officers. There are too few indoctrination and informational sessions between the policy officers of the Department and the officers of the R area with whom they should work.

There has been some justifiable criticism that reports prepared by certain parts of the R area have not been timely or accurate.

One method of overcoming these difficulties would be the issuance of an Intelligence Handbook. The Handbook should include the type of intelligence data available; distribution of the R personnel resources in terms of area, country, function, and service; description of the type of service rendered by the R area; priority assignments procedure; etc.

Another method would be the scheduling of a series of meetings between personnel of the R area and its users to develop closer working relations. This mechanism would tend to resolve the conflicts of opinion on the problems of timeliness or accuracy of reports.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. LYON:

SUBJECT: Russell Plan of Intelligence Research Organization.

1. I have your comments on the above. Under the plan, the Special Assistant for Research and Intelligence and the Offices under his jurisdiction are limited to positive intelligence.

2. All aspects of security intelligence remain as previously under the exclusive jurisdiction of A-R. This includes, of course, the requisite security intelligence liaison with NIA and all other Federal agencies concerned. The liaison of the Special Assistant applies to positive intelligence matters only.

3. I realize, of course, that even with a clearly understood division of functions, possibilities of over-lapping between the two intelligence operations remain. These may be expected to occur most frequently in the field of collection and dissemination of information and in the several levels and spheres of interdepartmental liaison. On the basis of my past experience, I am entirely clear that this "peripheral overlap" can never be wholly eliminated but must be controlled through informal working agreements at all levels.

4. I made the foregoing very clear to Dr. Langer when Dr. Kent and Dr. Fahs first proposed that all intelligence materials should flow through OCD. I had a further talk on the matter with him yesterday. I am sure he fully understands what is expected of his organization in this sort of "team plan". So far as you are concerned, you should exercise great care that your liaison arrangements do not block the flow of positive intelligence material through OCD. I assume you have made mutually satisfactory arrangements with Colonel Fearing in this regard.

TO: CON - Mr. Lyon

FROM: SA-E William A. Eddy

SUBJECT: Division of Responsibility between CON and OCD

Reference is made to our agreement upon division of responsibility between CON and OCD, in the meeting in my office yesterday morning which, in addition to yourself and myself, also was attended by the following:

Mr. Jack D. Neal - FC
Mr. D. A. Flinn - CON
Col. George A. Fearing - OCD
Mr. Paul Meyer - OCD
Mr. Forrest McCluney - SA-E

This memorandum is written in order that it may be a matter of record and form the basis of:

a. Approval by CDA and the issuance of appropriate departmental announcements.

b. Recommendations to A-R through HN requesting appropriate amendments in due course to the Departmental Regulations.

c. Advice to appropriate Geographic Offices or other interested elements in the Department and other intelligence agencies.

d. Internal administrative instructions within OCD and its component Divisions and FC for the purpose of implementing the general terms of our agreement, in which we all concurred.

It is our understanding, and it should be made clear to all concerned, that this agreement does not affect FC's existing responsibility as the Department's liaison channel with the War and Navy Departments for operational, administrative, counter-intelligence and other miscellaneous matters not involving secret intelligence.

In general terms, it was agreed that CCD has the sole responsibility for:

I. a. Procurement of positive foreign intelligence from all sources outside the Department, except FBI.

b. Distribution of all such information and materials within the Department.

c. Representing the Department in the field of positive intelligence procurement, with all other federal agencies, except FBI, censorship and captured enemy documents centers.

d. Distribution to all other intelligence agencies, except FBI, of positive intelligence materials received from the Foreign Service.

e. Maintaining the central reference collection of positive intelligence information and materials within the Department.

f. Maintaining the central biographic files of the Department for positive intelligence purposes.

II. a. Performing the liaison necessary to discharge the foregoing responsibilities.

It may be expected that, from time to time, questions of responsibility or other operating problems involving CON and CCD will develop, which may be resolved under the foregoing provisions; however, the following conclusions were reached on specific existing or potential problems involving FC and IAD functions:

a. IAD, jointly with FC, shall represent the Department on MIS Reading Panel.

b. IAD shall arrange for personnel to visit the Intelligence Division (ID) of the War Department in connection with positive intelligence activities.

c. IAD shall receive all positive foreign intelligence materials directly from ONI and maintain liaison for this purpose with appropriate officers of ONI.

d. IAD shall arrange for personnel to visit ONI in connection with positive intelligence activities.

e. IAD shall maintain liaison with all elements of CIG for the exchange of positive foreign intelligence materials.

No final agreement was reached on the following problems, and further investigation and discussion should be carried on between our operating officials with a view to determining and establishing the best procedures for representing the Department and promoting its best interests:

a. The acquisition and distribution of materials from the German Military Documents Center (GMDC).

b. The acquisition and distribution of materials from the Washington Document Center (WDC).

You will recall that it was my belief that FC has the primary interest in captured enemy documents. Further consultation and investigation confirm my belief, and we agree that FC shall have primary contact and liaison with German Military Documents Center on matters concerning such material. It has been ascertained that the Washington Document Center has been transferred to CIG, and that its future functions have not yet been clearly defined. Accordingly, it is suggested that the question of representing the Department's interest with WDC be postponed until such definition is forthcoming.

I am very glad to have agreement on our previously overlapping functions, and I believe it should lead to much closer cooperation between our two organizations. It should eliminate the possibility of embarrassment to the Department which could occur if we followed the courses of dual and conflicting representation of the Department's interests with outside intelligence agencies.

I should like to assure you that it is my desire, and that of the Director of OCD and of all operating officials in OCD, to effec t the closest, cordial cooperation between the two organizations.

If the foregoing represents your understanding of the agreement reached between us yesterday, I will instruct all personnel in my office to cooperate in every way with your office to implement the agreement.

CON - Mr. Flinn:

RE: Monthly Survey of Intelligence Research in Progress and Completed by CCL.

There is enclosed herewith the above-captioned survey, dated November 15, 1946 (copy No. 97). I have scanned the subjects of the various research projects being carried on in CCL and would like to commit for your consideration my observations with reference thereto.

Suggested Collaboration between FC and BI

Titles Nos. 10, 11, 12, 13, 50, 51, 88, 108, 137, 180 and 206 all deal with information being compiled by BI. In the main, it consists of biographic data on representatives to the General Assembly, Security Council and other international organizations as well as leading personalities in various countries. There are several projects dealing with personalities in Poland and other Russian satellite countries.

We have discussed this matter verbally before, and with the full knowledge that it is repetitious, it occurs to me that some of the effectiveness of the Security Intelligence Program within the Department is affected in permitting BI to prepare their material independently for the use of the Department and its officials. As I have previously indicated, I believe it would be a very worthwhile program to make the preparation of this type of biographic material a joint project between BI and FC. BI could prepare their usual material, which, I presume, does not bear a high classification. The accompanying document, prepared by FC, setting forth the subversive information on the individuals listed in the master document of BI could be an accompanying attachment with a higher classification as the needs might require. I do feel that FC has a definite service to render in this field and that an integration of the interests of BI and FC would be deeply appreciated by all of those officials of the Department that must deal with foreign diplomats, representatives and officials from day to day.

It would not be intended that FC reveal those sources or for that matter perhaps certain top secret information which it has, but would supply a summary of the facts for reference and use by Department officials.

Research Projects of CCL of possible interest to FC interested in having available for reference and use in connection with the background of subversive organizations in other countries of the world. Some of these research projects are situation surveys that should be of considerable current interest.

I am informed by Mr. McCluney, SA-E, that copies of these research surveys will be made available to FC upon request, and furthermore, if FC is desirous of having OCL engage in a research survey for background information in connection with its work, sympathetic consideration will be given the request. I can visualize that where FC might require background on a country which background is primarily positive intelligence that OCL might be able to render a real service.

I submit this suggestion for your consideration in carrying forth the work of your division.

Conflict of Interests between OCL and FC

Specific reference in this regard is made to Title 227, "Activities in other American republics of Agentsof the Franco Government in Spain". I have been informed by Mr. McCluney, SA-E, that this request originated with ARA. You will recall that this is the project for which Harold Weisberg was gathering material. It is my opinion that this project, if it is done at all, should have been done by FC since it involves agents of a government outside the home country which is security intelligence or counter intelligence depending upon the term you wish to use. I cannot conceive in what manner a positive intelligence organization would consider itself interested in preparing material of this type, and I have so indicated my opinion to Mr. McCluney who could not put up any defense other than that it perhaps concerned the broader aspects of activities of Franco Spain in Latin America. From the information, however, which Weisberg has been attempting to collect that the survey embodies an examination of Falangist activities and activities of individual agents which can only be secured from the files of the FBI and other counter intelligence organizations with which FC has the primary responsibility for liaison and coordination of material available.

As soon as recent negotiations with SA-E have been finally resolved, I think this matter should come on the agenda for determination. I feel strongly that OCL has definitely gotten out of its field, perhaps through no fault of its own, but that factor should not alter in any way the stand that it is FC's job to do.

I would like for you to view the above observations in the light in which they are offered, namely, a protection and extension of the responsibilities of FC within its field. It ishoped that these observations may be of some assistance to you as a working paper.

Date: December 19, 1946

SUBJECT: COUNTER INTELLIGENCE RESEARCH

PARTICIPANTS: SA-E Mr. McClumey
CCL Mr. Allan Evans, Director
CON Mr. Flinn
FC Mr. Neal

COPIES TO: Mr. Cummings
Mr. Bradford

Mr. Barger
Mr. Morris

At a meeting with the aforementioned persons, the matter of FC participation in intelligence research was discussed.

The immediate problem was one which Mr. Flinn of CON considered an infringement upon FC's jurisdiction by ICD. That Division worked on a research project entitled: "Franco Agents in Latin America". During the meeting it was learned that through error the project had gotten underway without consultation or collaboration with FC.

After a general discussion on the subject, FC's jurisdiction in the field of research projects involving counter intelligence problems was recognized. Mr. Evans stated that from time to time FC will be called upon to collaborate on research projects which touch on counter intelligen and in other instances FC may be called upon to perform a counter intelligence research project alone.

Mr. Evans stated that in going over the "Monthly Survey of Intelligen Research in Progress and Completed", if it is noted that there are project in which FC could contribute, a telephone call should be made to ICD, Executive 6101, extension 711.

I informed

I informed Mr. Evans and Mr. McCluney that as I viewed the entire problem it appeared to be one which could be solved by a closer working relationship between FC and the CCL groups. By such a relationship a mutual confidence will arise and the Department as a whole will be better served on research matters.

Mr. Evans agreed on this point and stated that after the holidays we should make plans to get the personnel together as much as possible.

NOTE TO FC OFFICERS:

FC's jurisdiction in all phases of the field of Counter Intelligence is being recognized more and more. We should, and must, iron out, on an amicable basis, any overlappings between the positive intelligence and counter intelligence fields. We recognize SA-E's jurisdiction in the former and they recognize ours in the latter.

Whenever possible each of us must establish closer working relationship with the SA-E group. It is to our mutual interest and is the only way to handle the work for the benefit of the entire Department.

For better handling of CE work, see that jobs which should be handled by FC are performed by the Division. At the same time, don't infringe upon the prerogatives of other Divisions.

1. This will serve to confirm our conversation of this date, at which the following points were covered:

a. The conversation was conducted on the basis of Mr. Eddy's memorandum to Mr. Lyon dated December 11, 1946.

b. It was determined that there was no duplication, overlapping or conflict between the services which FC and IAD are currently requesting from WDC, and that the interest of FC and IAD in the activities of WDC were separate and distinct.

c. IAD perceived no objection to FC having direct access to WDC, through the appropriate office of CIG.

d. IAD undertook to obtain permission from the appropriate official of CIG for this direct contact.

2. We have consulted Col. Boberg, Chief, Requirements Branch, C&D, through whom all requests for WDC action must be submitted. Col. Boberg is agreeable to FC contacting the Requirements Branch directly, without going through IAD.

3. IAD will be glad to introduce to Col. Boberg the member of your staff whom you designate, and to render any other assistance to FC which you may desire.

Division of responsibility between CON and OCD.

Reference is made to your memorandum dated December 11, 1946, bearing the above subject.

I have had an opportunity to review the resultsof our conference as set forth in reference memorandum and have had certain exploratory discussions within this Office and FC. I am in full agreement with the resolution of our problems as set forth by you but would like to make the following additional suggestions:

1. Although it is a matter of phrasing, it is suggested that the last sentence on the first page of your reference memorandum be changedto read "It is our understanding, and it should be made clear to all concerned, that this agreement does not affect FC's existing responsibility as the Department's liaison channel with the War and Navy Departments for operational, administrative, counter-intelligence and other miscellaneous matters not involving positive intelligence."

2. It is suggested since we are now in agreement, that a representative of MN be requested to be present at any future conference deemed appropriate where administrative detail is to be discussed. This will aid the representative from MN in helping to draft any Departmental announcements or regulations necessary.

3. With reference to Page 1, sub-paragraph c, it is requested that in distributing written advice to the appropriate geographic office, other interested elements in the Department, MI, ONI, and CIG, these communications be cleared with both of our offices prior to final distribution.

Specific reference is made to the first full paragraph on Page 3 of your reference communication dealing with the acquisition and distribution of materials from the German Military Documents Center (GMDC) and the Washington Document Center (WDC). I am informed by FC that Mr. Bradford (FC), Mr. T. M. Nordbeck (IAD) and Colonel Boberg of the Requirements Branch (C & D, War Department), have already had discussions on this subject and have resolved any difficulties that might have existed and reached a working agreement. This agreement should probably be formalized through MN at the same time other phases of the agreement are placed into effect by Departmental announcement or regulation.

I too, am of the belief that our agreement is the most forward step made in our field in the Department in some time. It certainly should negate any charges of duplication or confusion which may arise in the future. I will be pleased to offer any further cooperation which may be necessary to assist in resolving our activities into a more efficient operating organization.

I have already instructed Mr. Neal (FC) to follow through on this program with Mr. McCluney (SA-E). The working personnel are to be pulled in and appropriate instructions issued after an initial conference for the purpose of a determination of the detailed mechanics of operation.

My dear Admiral Inglis:

In the past few weeks the Department of State has reviewed existing arrangements for exchanging intelligence information and materials with other federal agencies. Responsibility for performing this function has been clarified within the Department.

One of the responsibilities of the research and intelligence organization of the Department of State is to collect positive intelligence information and materials, both domestically and abroad, and to maintain a central collection of intelligence materials within the Department. Accordingly, it appears desirable for the Office of Intelligence Collection and Dissemination to be the point of contact for exchanging positive foreign intelligence between the Department of State and the Navy Department, and to perform the necessary liaison with the Navy Department for that purpose.

The Office of Controls will continue its responsibilities for security intelligence and counter-intelligence and will continue to perform the necessary liaison with the Navy Department in the discharge of that responsibility, as well as its present responsibility as liaison channel for operational, administrative and other matters not involving positive foreign intelligence.

If the foregoing arrangements do not appear to be inconsistent with Navy Department requirements, it would be appreciated if necessary action is taken to:

OCD Mr. Paul T. Meyer

Inauguration of Intelligence Reading Panel

As directed on February 24th by Mr. William A. Eddy, Special Assistant for Research and Intelligence the operation of a Reading Panel on behalf of intelligence agencies of the Government was inaugurated this morning, March 5th in room 1166, New War Building, adjoining the Division of Communications and Records.

Objectives

The Panel was established on recognition by Mr. Eddy of the need for a system of selecting and expeditious disseminations of positive intelligence despatches and reports from our Foreign Service on behalf of the Intelligence Agencies. It was recognized under NIA Directive #7 that jurisdictional claim should not impede the full flow of intelligence and Major General Stephen J. Chamberlin, Director of Intelligence, WDGS has indicated that duplicate reporting by Military Attaches would be discontinued as soon as the War Department was assured that pertinent Foreign Service positive intelligence materials would be made available to that Department as it is received. It was also ascertained that the time lag for the duplication and transmittal of documents between the Department and the War Department averaged 12 working days and that this time lag will be reduced. It was, in addition, shown that under the practice of standardized distributions a great deal of unneeded intelligence was duplicated and distributed and that the Panel will reduce this unnecessary paper work; certain important intelligence was not distributed in the past and the Panel will eliminate these lapses.

Operation of Panel

The Panel Room is located in a position where all pertinent pouch materials may be scrutinized by members of the Panel within a few hours after it is received. The Analysts in ID/R automatically eliminate all passport, visa and administrative correspondence. A screening and allocation desk then eliminates intelligence information materials of a delicate nature which concerns only the Department such as policy and operational matters. While we have started slowly with approximately 175 papers passing through the Panel the first day the average time lag was somewhat less than 8 minutes. It is believed that when all reports and a few other items are routed over the panel in the course of the coming week that the time lag for a full flow of up to 400 documents per day will not be over 1/2 hour.

Members of the Panel

UNCLASSIFIED

INT 758/41

[redacted] A-9

Members of the Panel

The members of the Panel at the opening were as follows:

Allocation desk - Messrs. Ball and Feeney, DC/R; Mr. Chandler, IAD.

Mr. Bright, REF, to pick out intelligence needed by OIR.

Mr. Donovan, FC, to pick out intelligence needed by FC.

Colonel Newton and Major Flora, War Department Intelligence Group.

It is understood the Navy Department will nominate a member to begin next Monday, that CIG will follow with a member on Wednesday and that Army Air Force will delegate a member shortly thereafter. All members have alternates and there will be ample time allowed for members to circulate in their home areas for orientation and information as to the up to the minute needs of research staffs.

Staff

SA-E, Mr. McCluney, has authorized the use of 4 vacant budget slots for IAD administrative staffing of the Panel. Since IAD has nominated Chandler, one of our better Procurement Officers to the Panel, one of these positions has been filled as of today by Mr. Vincelet, who has transferred from Special Projects Division and will function as a Procurement Officer to relieve Mr. Chandler. We obtained the services of Miss Jean Kennedy, CAF-7, Procedure Specialist and Expediter from the Division of Management Planning. Clerk-Stenographer is being obtained from surplus to assist in general copy and photographic work. A CAF-2 duplicating machine operator has been obtained from Army next week. It is believed this staff, plus the 4 persons supplied by OIR will fully suffice the program even should it grow in scope.

General Comment

My observations today indicate that this is one of the most advanced steps taken in a long time by the Department towards cementing relationships with other agencies concerned. It was also indicated that OCD was able to select many documents essential to the OIR research programs which would not have found their way to the intelligence area through the ordinary Departmental channels. Similarly OIR and the War Department selected intelligence and all 3 areas rejected many documents as being of no interest although they would have received multiple copies through the old system. It is anticipated that through this operation and selection system that the amount of duplicating work necessary in the Department may be reduced 1/3 with a saving in man years in other areas of the Department and a reduction in time lags. The question of distribution of materials attached as enclosures to despatches and reports in limited numbers will be resolved at a point rather than as under the former confused system. It is further believed that documents which

1214

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

that documents which are received from the Foreign Service posts in reproducable form will be delivered to the end users within two working days of the time they leave the Panel. It was found that the War Department has been sending the Department long lists of missing Foreign Service despatch numbers. This caused personnel in FC, FR, DC/R and REF as well as desk officers throughout the Department to begin wide searches for these items which in practically every case turned out to be of an administrative nature or a communication otherwise of no interest to the War Department. It can be roughly estimated that the Department will save some 20 man years since the War Department, now having access to all pertinent material through their Panel member, will discontinue sending these lists. The same will, of course, be true of the other intelligence agencies and we will have the record of such items which have been rejected by their members. Naturally the saving in paper work by the end-users throughout all intelligence organizations will be considerable.

We have heard general comment from high ranking officials of the War Department of their great pleasure that the Department has taken this forward step. It is apparent that officials within the Department will benefit. It is probable that if there is a free and expeditious exchange of intelligence source materials between the State, War and Navy Departments that the setting up of a Reading Panel by the CIG to cover these 3 areas may be unnecessary. Future plans contemplate a similar system for the dissemination of telegrams and airgrams.

I would like to stress that the establishment of the Reading Panel has been a joint project between OCD-IAD and ODA-DC/R. FC and FR have been of considerable assistance and MN has been apprised in general of the undertaking. Mr. Scott, Chief of the Division of Communications and Records, and his assistant, Mr. Kirby, have cooperated and assisted Mr. Strong, Chief of the Acquisition and Distribution Division, and Mr. Nordbeck, Assistant Chief, and myself in every possible way. It is contemplated that the Panel will continue to function as a Joint Departmental project, IAD in line with Departmental Regulations assuming the policy responsibili for the dissemination of positive intelligence and the direction of the members of the Panel and DC assuming responsibil ty for the procedural administration and custody of the Department's correspondence.

TO: CON Mr. Robinson August 21, 1947

FROM: OIR Allan Evans

SUBJECT: Coordination of Activities of OIR and FC

It seemed to me that our recent discussions involved three principal points:

(a) a misconception on the part of FC as to the SA-E function of providing the foreign intelligence required by the Department in the conduct of foreign affairs and in the safeguarding of the national security, and the corresponding OIR function of preparing intelligence studies and spot intelligence for authorized recipients in the Department, CIG, and other Federal agencies;

(b) a general confusion as to the precise line between foreign positive intelligence and foreign security information;

(c) an apparent belief by FC that, for security reasons, OIR is not eligible to receive certain intelligence information in the Secret and Top Secret categories.

I believe that most of these points were reasonably well clarified during the course of our discussion but I will, with your permission, restate briefly OIR's position. For some time we have considered that "intelligence information" (or raw intelligence) is information, pertaining to foreign areas, which may affect U. S. foreign policy or national security; that "intelligence research" is the continuous process of assembling, evaluating, analyzing, and interpreting available intelligence information; and that "intelligence" isthe product of the interpretive process, issued in the form of finished estimates of actual or potential situations in foreign areas which may affect U. S. policy. The term "positive" is, in our view, simply a means of distinguishing between the subject matter of the intelligence which we produce and the subject matter of what is generally known as counter or security intelligence. The term in no wise describes a source of information, for the intelligence which OIR produces is built on material derived from overt and covert sources. By the same token, the term "intelligence Research" is no way connotes any distinctive time-lag in production, for on the basis of the research continuously in process, the OIR as an intelligence organization is prepared at any moment to assess one or more items of current "information" and transform them into properly focussed "intelligence" within the positive field.

I urge this latter point because upon it seemed to depend a large part of FC's misunderstanding of our functions. Not only do we produce long-range and sometimes lengthy intelligence reports utilized for such purposes

as SWNCC

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

as SWNCC consideration, Kennan Committee consideration, and United Nations deliberations, but in addition we have a heavy responsibility for current, spot intelligence reporting, and to that end we maintain a close working relationship with the political, cultural, and economic areas of the Department, as well as with the positive intelligence agencies represented in CIG, G-2, ONI and A-2;

The distinction between positive and counter or security intelligence is, therefore, one of subject matter, not one of timing in production, and most particularly not one of raw information. We agreed, I remember, that just as FC requires our positive intelligence to assist in its work, OIR is interested in much of the raw information upon which FC works directly but, which, in addition to its value for security intelligence, has simultaneous value in positive intelligence. Foreign movements, covert or overt, involve us if they have potential influence on the political, social, or economic life of foreign nations. Subversion or penetration as such concern us whenever they affect foreign developments. A subversive movement may operate, by direct action, to injure U. S. property or personnel abroad, or to penetrate the U. S. itself; such activities we understand to be the concern of FC. The same subversive movement may aim at the over-throw of a foreign government, and under that aspect it is our concern because inevitably it involves the conduct of our foreign relations with that country. Plainly, therefore, FC and OIR will sometimes have complementary interests in the same intelligence targets, and will need to develop their complementary interpretations out of the same raw information.

As we pointed out at our meeting, the SA-E organization through special security measures is qualified to, and does, handle materials of all classifications. By regulation, the Special Assistant for Research and Intelligence is authorized, in consultation with A-P, to adopt such special security measures within the intelligence organization, additional to normal Departmental security regulations, as are required by the nature of our work. In fact, the SA-E organization does operate under security regulations beyond those of other areas of the Department and within itself has facilities for special handling of different classifications of material.

Your suggestion for a working arrangement based on general principles rather than on inflexible and unrealistic jurisdictional definitions, is, I believe, extremely sound. As I understood our tentative agreement, each of us would appoint a liaison officer to handle all matters of possible interest to OIR or FC. Each such officer would be in constant communication with his opposite number and would be kept constantly informed of projects under way in OIR and FC. Each would arrange for the exchange of pertinent intelligence information and intelligence reports, without regard to classification. Earlier agreements between BI and FC would continue in force and be unaffected by the new liaison arrangements. FC would, of course, continue its liaison functions with outside security organizations but would make available, through these liaison channels, information acquired thereby which might be of use to OIR.

As a starting

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

INT 758/45

As a starting point, FC's functions in the field of intelligence production would be concerned with actual and potential subversive individuals, with espionage, and with penetration activities abroad aimed directly at U. S. interests. We recognize that in this last category there may be occasional areas of overlap but we hope that by close coordination and a gradual process of refinement of jurisdiction regarding potential political movements, we will arrive at a highly satisfactory working agreement.

If it is agreeable to you, I would like to nominate Mr. Louis Nemzer as my liaison officer under the terms of reference outlined above. I would appreciate your letting me know your reactions to this draft memorandum and I hope it may constitute the beginning of a really successful joining of forces.

TO: OIR Allan Evans August 28, 1947

FROM: CON H. Robinson

SUBJECT: COORDINATION OF THE ACTIVITIES OF OIR AND FC.

Your memorandum of August 21 on the above subject has been read with considerable interest. In general, I should like to comment that your memorandum seems to outline the relationship between FC and OIR quite clearly. I agree with you in your feeling that the area of interest of OIR is the field of the larger political movements and longer range political implications of the intelligence which reaches the Department of State, whereas the interest of FC lies in the evidence which this intelligence may contain of subversive or hostile activity directed against the interests of the United States by individuals or organizations abroad. For instance, the development of the Communist Party in France, according to my conception, would fall within the sphere of interest of OIR, insofar as the political activities of that party would influence the French government in such a way as to affect the policy of the United States government toward the government of France. However, if members of the Communist Party in France, or Communist organizations in France should direct their efforts toward penetration of any agency of the United States government or toward damaging in any way the interests of the United States in France, such activity would fall within the purview of FC. Furthermore, if the activities of Communist or other hostile political organizations should affect the operations of the security control agencies of the United States, such as the Visa Division or the Passport Division, or others, that activity also would lie in the field which FC covers.

In my thinking about the subject matter with which OIR and FC deal, I distinguish between positive intelligence and counter intelligence or security intelligence. It seems to me that positive intelligence includes information concerning political developments abroad which are not aimed particularly against the United States, though they may indirectly influence the foreign policy of the United States, whereas counter intelligence or security intelligence, as I see it, deals primarily with the efforts of foreign intelligence or propaganda agencies to attack the agencies or interests of the United States. It seems clear to me that the source of the information which reaches the State Department is no criterion whatever whether such information lies in the field of interest of OIR or FC; just as you have pointed out in your memorandum, but that it is the nature of the information itself which should determine that question.

I wish to point out further that much of the intelligence in which FC is interested is of an operational or tactical nature so that it often becomes of immediate interest to the agencies of the Department in carrying on the routine detailed functions

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

routine detailed functions for which they are responsible. For this reason it is frequently not possible for FC to make as full an evaluation of the raw intelligence which it receives as is possible for OIR, with its longer range research function. In fact, it is quite possible that an officer of FC may consider it necessary to relay a report to the field which is based solely on a suspicion because it may be important for departmental officers working in the field to know that that suspicion exists, even though it has not been fully substantiated. Of course, it is the policy to keep the dissemination of such unsubstantiated information to a minimum, but occasions do exist when speed of transmittal is more important than thoroughness of evaluation. As implied above, this grows out of the "operational" character of FC's intelligence activities.

Again referring to your memorandum, it becomes quite obvious that OIR and FC will often have mutual interests in intelligence received on the same subject and from the same sources. For this reason I agree with you that it is quite important for FC and OIR to arrange for a free exchange of informati However, I do feel obliged to point out that FC has been making a real effort to limit its intake of intelligence material as far as possible to such as lies within its field of interest, which is primarily foreign individuals and organizations hostile to the interests of the United States. This is beingdone because it is basically the threat to the security of the United States as revealed in such information which interests FC. However, when items appear which we believe will be of interest to OIR we will be glad to route them to you. I mention this limitation on FC's intake merely to forestall any suspicion of a lack of good faith which might be occasioned by a limited flow of information from FC to OIR. On behalf of FC I wish to state your reciprocal policy of forwarding information of counter intelligence or security interest to this division will be much appreciated. There is no question whatever of OIR's being entitled to any information passing through FC because of a high security classification. I realize that your personnel are cleared for the handling of highly classified information just as those in FC are.

If the type of relationship between OIR and FC which is indicated above is to be developed there will be much occasion for consultation back and for on problemsof mutual interest and there may even be occasion for the issuanc of joint reports or separate reports on different aspects of the same proble In order to facilitate such consultation, I am happy to acquiesce in your suggestion that liaison officers be appointed to work out a relationship bet FC and OIR. Mr. Broecker of FC has already had occasion to contact Mr. Nemz and as a result of a conference between them I feel that a cooperative relat ship can speedily be developed. In order to work out such a plan I have appointed Mr. T. W. Broecker as a lisison representative of FC to cooperate with your Mr. Nemzer in developing liaison between our two organizations. Mr. Broecker's office is located in 820A - 515 22nd Street and he may be reached on Extension 2594. If you feel that a further discussion of this problem is necessary I shall be glad to consult with you at any convenient time.

SUBJECT: Conclusions of our Conference on 6 October 1947

1. We agreed upon the modification of the first sentence in the draft regulation to establish a focal point for information on cases involving "security control measures relating to" the activities of individuals and organizations. With this modification, we were glad to concur in the draft text.

2. In respect of foreign and international organizations we reached further clarification of the principle that whereas the activities of agents or subversive personnel in such organizations are the concern of FC, the nations are the responsibility of OIR. It was further agreed that FC in supplying information to the rest of the Department relating to its interests in such organizations would (a) preferably contact us so that a final and complete evaluation could be delivered jointly concerning these organizations, or (b) indicate explicitly in any reply made without OIR participation that its information related to security intelligence alone and that further information and over-all evaluation should be obtained from OIR.

3. In further discussion of international organizations it was clearly indicated by FC that in certain recent cases where it had sent inquiries to the field concerning organizations, the failure to clear with OIR or BI had been an oversight. We drew from this conversation the conclusion, though it was not explicitly stated at the time, that all such inquiries concerning foreign and international organizations will be coordinated with us before they are sent out to the field.

4. FC reassured OIR and CCD that it knew of no criticism of their security outside the Department and had none itself. FC therefore undertook to impress upon its liaison officer with OIR that no security consideration stood in the way of free interchange of information.

We feel that with these understandings we have gone far to clear up the residual problems that remained after our previous discussion of some weeks ago. Complicated though these discussions may be, they are serving a most useful purpose. We are, on both sides, coming to realize the vital interdependence of our operations, and at the same time the urgent necessity of making clear to our customers the distinction between our responsibilities. Gradually we come to appreciate the difference in the meanings of words we use so that we now know that the word "intelligence" to you means raw information and to us means finally evaluated and integrated information. We hope you are now aware that there exists no necessary distinction between our offices in the timing of the response to a request, in that we keep up to date on subjects of interest and are prepared to deliver an evaluation as of any moment. We, are, in the end, coming to identify a basic difference in our philosophies of operation: FC is prepared at any time to deliver such information within its field of competence as is at any moment available, whereas our object is to deliver a comprehensive evaluation which may both indicate gaps and uncertainties in the coverage and draw in any unexpected connotations pertinent to the subject requested. This last point probably explains much of whatever uncertainty remains between us; it will be met if, as we agreed this morning, we regard ourselves as partners in the service of the Department and carefully and explicitly indicate to our customers our respective fields of competence.

Working Arrangements.

I am in general agreement with your memorandum of October 6, 1947, concerning our conference on that date. However, I think it may be worthwhile to give you a few of my observations on the same subject.

From the nature of the Department's operations, I fully agree that it will usually not be possible for FC to institute extensive independent research in order to obtain information needed for a fully evaluated and comprehensive answer to an inquiry. The work of FC is operational in character for the most part. Its function is to furnish immediate information to action officers and to assemble as expeditiously as possible information already available in the Department or which may be obtained through liaison channels. Sometimes it is necessary to pass along even unevaluated information if it is pertinent to a pending decision, and in some situations it is necessary to advise action officers of the existence of a suspicion which cannot be substantiated, if the existence of that suspicion has a bearing on the decision to be made. Most situations of that type involve decisions of a security nature, and every effort is made to obtain an evaluation of information collected. However, the making of a security decision on a proposed course of action concerns the control activities of the Department and is, I believe, a matter within FC's field of competence.

Obviously, the fields of interest of FC, OIR and OCD may overlap in some areas. In carrying out our respective programs, it will of course be necessary to arrange for a free exchange of information. This is especially true in the area of international organizations where our interests are likely to overlap, since it is obviously impossible to draw a strict line of separation between different types of organizations and between the activities of subversive personnel within an organization and the activities of the organization itself.

In the interest of avoiding duplication and unnecessary overlapping effort, FC will arrange with OIR to clear with each other inquiries to the missions abroad. Further, FC will avail itself of the opportunity to consult with OIR concerning the evaluation of information on international organizations or on any other subject for the purpose of preparing a well-evaluated report. Similar inquiries from OIR are equally desirable. FC will also advise officers requesting information that additional data on the same subject may be available in OCD or OIR. We would hope that your people would do the same.

The type of relationship between FC and OIR which is indicated above will require the closest cooperation and consultation on problems of mutual interest. There may be occasion for the issuance of joint reports or separate reports on different aspects of the same problem. Thus, an active and consistent liaison arrangement is vital to its success. I am, therefore, very glad to act upon the suggestion made in your memorandum of August 21, to me regarding the appointment of liaison officers to handle all matters of possible interest to OIR and FC. Mr. Broecker of FC has already had occasion to contact Mr. Nemser, and as a result of a conference between them, arrangements for working out a cooperative relationship have been developed. It is planned to continue these discussions so that complete arrangements may be established at the working level. I am confident that along the lines set out above a satisfactory mutual working arrangement can be developed between FC, OCD and OIR to the considerable advantage of the Department.

Elimination of Secondary Screening of Telegram Copies Provided by State Department to Army and Navy

Problem:

To provide more economical, direct and faster transmission of information copies of incoming and outgoing State Department telegrams to the Departments of the Army and Navy by the elimination of secondary screening.

Background:

In the course of the survey of the intelligence functions performed by R, FC, and EUR/X conducted by Mr. Fred Darnell and Mr. John Moore of this Division, the problem identified above was encountered. Although the survey has not been completed, it is felt that the solution of this problem can be reached immediately.

Under the present functional assignments in the Department, DC/T prepares the master copy and produces all necessary information copies of every incoming and outgoing telegram, indicating on each the distribution made within the Department. An exception is that DC/T provides 12 copies of each telegram of an intelligence nature to FC, where they are recorded, screened, and if approved, 9 copies are released to Army and Navy. The remaining 3 copies are routed within FC and ultimately filed there. At present, of the 300 telegrams a day which FC receives for further distribution to these agencies, it withholds an average of only 10 a day. This process involved the use of six positions in a Special Telecommunications Unit in FC at the time the survey was made in November, although some economies in personnel have been effected since then.

It will be noted that this procedure makes it impossible for DC/T to indicate on information copies of telegrams whether or not distribution has been made to Army and Navy, and any inquiries must be referred to FC. The FC channel for distribution of telegrams to Army and Navy was created in consequence of the assignment to FC of the function of performing liaison activities with respect to security intelligence with the intelligence areas of the respective departments. It should be noted, however, that IAD has the responsibility for the function of performing liaison activities with respect to positive intelligence with the same intelligence areas. FC points out that its present exclusive control over the distribution of intelligence telegrams to Army and Navy gives FC's liaison officers an intangible but definitely worthwhile psychological advantage in dealing with those agencies. Within the past month letters have been received from the Secretaries of Army and Navy formally requesting that FC screening be eliminated.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

Conclusions:

1. The distributors in DC/T now review and route all telegrams and airgrams in the first instance, and they could screen for release to Army and Navy during the same operation with some additional assistance, eliminating the second duplicating screening review performed now in FC, and saving most of the manpower used therefor.

2. The system of recording used by FC is too complicated and constitutes an excessive use of manpower.

3. If DC/T determines distribution to Army and Navy, it would then be able to indicate such distribution on the master copy and on all copies distributed within the department of State, thus informing all interested persons at the time of original distribution, affording a single central point in the Department for all reference calls and eliminating many of the inquiries now directed to FC.

4. The present advantage of telegram control to FC's liaison function works to the disadvantage of IAD's liaison function.

5. The present system of secondary screening in FC is disliked by Army and Navy, and its elimination on our part would place the State Department in a position to denounce the similar practices which Army and Navy now use. OB's opinion on this point has the concurrence of S/S-R, CDA, DC, and IAD.

Recommendations:

1. That the Telecommunications Unit of FC be abolished.

2. That the function of screening information copies of telegrams and airgrams for release to Army and Navy be transferred from FC to DC/T.

3. That the remaining functions of the Telecommunications Unit be assigned to the Mail and File Unit of FC together with one of the positions and its incumbent.

4. That one CAF-5 position and incumbent be transferred from FC to DC/T.

5. That the remaining four positions be abolished, thus reducing FC by the four positions necessary to conform to the 1949 budget proposals and assisting the Office of Controls to take care of part of the proposed reductions in the total office budget for 1949.

OBP - Mr. Hall
COM -Mr. Nicholson

April 16, 1948

COM has reviewed the recommendations being submitted by OB proposing the transfer to DC of the Telecommunications liaison function with the Army and Navy of FC.

During the course of the recent survey of FC, Messers. Moore and Darnell called attention to a detailed method of handling, recording and routing messages to the Army and Navy. The system was initiated some time ago to meet more stringent security standards existing at a time when the Division was the sole liaison agency for the Department with the Army and the Navy. The recommendations for simplifying the procedure were adopted immediately while the survey was in progress with the result that there are now only two people performing this function in the Division, the remaining employees having been transferred to other work.

The proposed transfer will not eliminate all the functions formerly performed by the Telecommunications Unit since the FBI telecommunications traffic will continue to flow through the Division, as well as the normal Division traffic. However, the Unit as such has been abolished and the necessary functions are now being performed as a part of the regular mail and files operations of the Division.

Past experience in the Division proves that the loss of the routing of Army and Navy material through FC may have a detrimental effect on the effectiveness of the Division in terms of its other liaison duties with these agencies.

The function of distributing telegrams to the Department of the Army and the Department of the Navy has given FC a quid pro quo to offer in exchange for the security information received from those agencies. This facilitates the collection of security information by FC.

Apart from other considerations of the problem the Department received simultaneous proposals from the Army and Navy for the elimination of secondary screening of telegrams as a step in the routing of telecommunications traffic, in response to which the Department offered to eliminate such secondary screening and route the material direct from the communications center provided we were accorded similar direct service by those agencies. The Army, which accounts

accounts for approximately 80% of the traffic, is unwilling to agree. As the Department proposed the internal transfer of this function as a means of obtaining similar consideration, it does not appear consistent to make the change in view of the Army's unwillingness to accord the Department similar direct service in complying with their request.

For purposes of clarity the specific OB recommendations and our position on each is as follows:

1. "That the Telecommunications Unit of FC be abolished."

   This has been done.

2. "That the function of screening information copies of telegrams and airgrams for release to Army and Navy be transferred from FC to DC/T."

   The loss of this function will deprive the Division of one of its means whereby information not freely volunteered by Army and Navy is sometimes obtained. In view of the benefits which the Department may derive from direct routing however, CCN will agree to the transfer of the function to DC if the Army and the Navy agree to a similar direct routing.

3. "That the remaining functions of the Telecommunications Unit be assigned to the Mail and File Unit of FC together with one of the positions and its incumbent."
   This has been done

4. "That one CAF-5 position and incumbent be transferred from FC to DC/T."

   This is to be reconsidered when agreement is reached under No. 2 above.

5. "That the remaining four positions be abolished, thus reducing FC by the four positions necessary to conform to the 1949 budget proposals and assisting the Office of Controls to take care of part of the proposed reductions in the total office budget for 1949."

   The four positions will not be filled, the personnel having been assigned to other duties in the Division, except for one person who has resigned.

MEMORANDUM

TO: OB - Mr. Stanley T. Grear

FROM: OB - Fred Darnall and John Moore

SUBJECT: Survey of Division of Foreign Activity Correlation

You will recall that following the hearings at the Bureau of the Budget in October, 1947, Mr. Hulten - A-P and Mr. Hall - OBP requested that a survey be made of FC, EURI and SA-E to determine (1) whether any duplication existed in the work of these three groups and (2) whether the absence of knowledge in each group of the work of the other two resulted in the non-covarage of some intelligence matters.

We have concluded our survey of FC, and before proceeding to the next group have prepared the attached narrative report to provide an answer to the question so frequently raised, "Just what do all those people do in FC?" The report describes the actual activities which occupy the time of all but four employees, whose work is not described completely in order to avoid reference to certain highly classified intelligence matters.

Stripped of detail, the essential job which FC performs for the Department is to discover, through a discerning review of the security intelligence data it secures, activities of persons or organizations or trends of incidents which can reasonably be stated to menace now or be predicted to menace in the future the security of the United States or its interests. It is the further job of FC to develop all possible additional information with respect to such items and to bring the data to the attention of the appropriate action officers, following up to make certain that consideration is given and decisions are made.

We have also prepared a tentative list of conclusions which are critical of the internal organization and operations of FC. These cannot be accepted as having complete validity until other areas involved in the intelligence field have been examined.

The draft of the report and the conclusions have been reviewed and discussed with Mr. Neal, Chief of FC, and his Assistant Chief, Mr. Amshey, and they agree that the factual presentation in the report is correct, and that the conclusions are reasonable. In fact, they were already aware of some of the criticisms, particularly with respect to the handling of mail and files, and have undertaken steps to improve the situation.

Mr. Hamilton Robinson, Director of CON, has expressed an original desire for and a continuing interest in this survey and has assigned his Deputy, Mr. Nicholson, and his Executive Officer, Mr. Steuart, to serve alternately with the OB representatives as part of the interviewing team. After this report has had your review, it is requested that copies be made available to Mr. Robinson - CON and Mr. Neal - FC.

Preliminary Narrative Report

Survey of Division of Foreign Activity Correlation

I. FUNCTIONS

The Division of Foreign Activity Correlation, Office of Controls, initiates policy and conducts operational and liaison activities with respect to the foreign security intelligence programs of the Department. Sixty-eight people are now employed, presently organized into three branches and engaged in the following activities:

1. Initiate and develop policy with respect to the collection, evaluation, use and distribution of foreign security information.

2. Develop, maintain and improve liaison channels between the Department and all other security, investigative and intelligence agencies to provide a two way flow of foreign security data. Review incoming and outgoing telegrams to determine which should go to War, Navy and FBI (not CIA) and which should be withheld.

3. Review security information from all sources, discovering significant items and preparing written summaries concerning persons, organizations or incidents which are now or are likely to be inimical to United States security interests, bring such matters to the attention of the appropriate action units of the Department and making specific recommendations as to whether a security risk exists.

4. Maintain a master index and provide a single central point for the Department and other investigative agencies to secure evaluated security name checks on persons suspected of subversive activities toward United States interests abroad.

5. Provide advisory opinions to Passport Division, Visa Division and all other interested work units of the Department with respect to the security risks to the United States involved in the movement of persons, American or alien, into or out of the United States and between foreign countries. Maintain special record files and provide advisory opinions on security questions to occupation authorities with respect to the international movement of Germans, Austrians and Japanese.

6. Arrange for the establishment of United States military training missions abroad.

7. Review copies of applications filed by agents of foreign government with the Department of Justice. Develop security information with respect to such persons and notifies the political divisions and the foreign missions.

II. GENERAL ORGANIZATION

Although the Department of State Organizational Manual sheet 1.814 dated August 1, 1947, indicates the existence of four branches and the functional chart prepared for the 1949 budget presentation dated September 1, 1947, indicates two branches, the latter most nearly represents the existing situation.

Mr. Jack Neal, as Chief, directs the activities of the Division; Mr. Amshey serves in the capacity of an all-around Assistant Chief and gives personal direction to the Armed Services Section and the Civilian Agencies Section; Mr. Jessop directs the Administrative Section and Mr. Broecker directs the Travel Security Section and the Security Evaluation Section.

In view of the organizational changes, reassignments of personnel and appointments of new personnel, many employees interviewed were unable to discuss their work assignments in terms of percentages of time spent on particular operations, and precise divisions of functions and operations have not yet been developed between the Sections. These points will be supported in the following discussions of the Sections.

III. LIAISON BRANCH

The Armed Services Section (five positions: two at P-4, and three clerical) and the Civilian Agencies Section (five positions: two at P-5, and 3 clerical), directed by Mr. Amshey, are the two Sections engaged primarily in liaison activities with other agencies, to the end that there will be assured a secure flow of security intelligence data into the Division from all sources within or without the Department as well as to assure a secure flow of security intelligence data out of the Department to those agencies which merit receiving it. In addition, these liaison channels afford the means of making official representations to the agencies concerned relative to official business of the Department.

In the case of Army, Navy, and Air, the work involves daily visits to those agencies, attendance at reading panels in the agencies, selection of materials from lists, arranging for the release to those agencies of State Department telegrams and airgrams after prior screening, establishment of new contacts and the discussion of special security problems. Mr. Rene Carroll has a primary assignment to the Army, Mr. Morris a primary assignment to Navy and Air, but the two men serve as alternates for each other, and are aided in the reading panel work by Mr. Simmons.

Mr. Morris and Mr. Carroll serve alternate weekly assignments on the Army Intelligence reading panel, where another Mr. Carroll from IAD also attends and indicates items to be sent to the intelligence area of the Department. All three men are informed of their respective needs and sometimes serve for each other. The primary interest of FC's panel member is security and counter intelligence material, while the IAD panel member selects material not only of interest to IAD, but to the whole Department.

Mr. Simmons attends daily an Army Civil Affairs Division reading panel for telegrams coming from the occupied areas, selecting those he believes to be of interest to the entire Department, bringing them back in sextuplicate and turning them over to DC/T for distribution. The CAD Information Control Office makes available for review a list of all reports from occupied areas, and the liaison officer from FC makes selections from this of reports to be sent to the entire Department.

Although Navy has no reading panel, they do send FC copies of telegrams Navy selects on security and counter-intelligence matters. It is also understood that Navy sends regular intelligence material directly to OCD and that the latter Division has a liaison officer to Navy.

It is understood that military, naval and air attache reports, while available for review by the Chief of Mission, are sent directly to Army, Navy and Air Departments, and only made available to the State Department in Washington after screening by those Departments.

The direct representation work to the military agencies, requiring much of the time of Mr. Carroll and Mr. Morris also includes operational and administrative problems not involving positive foreign intelligence. Examples are such problems as securing the use of military aircraft for mission personnel, the prevention of proposed naval maneuvers in the vicinity of certain critical areas, the hospitalization of a South American Air Attache, robbery cases and other civil crimes on the part of armed forces abroad, etc.

In the case of FBI and CIA, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Mundy, respectively, have the agency assignments but their work does not involve daily visits to the agencies or personal investigation of agency records. Instead, most of their time is spent in the Department of State securing desired information or handling the special problems brought up by those agencies. They do, of course, make some visits to agencies, establish contacts and take care of the special security problems which the Department of State must take up with those agencies and they provide the primary channel between State and these two agencies for the flow of security intelligence documents with a few exceptions.

FBI is generally interested in foreign activities because of their reflection upon United States minority groups and the consequent effect upon internal security in the United States. They also call upon the State Department for advice or assistance in connection with such cases as securing reports on draft evaders who have fled from the United States and requests from foreign governments for FBI training of their police officials. Generally, the flow of inquiries between FBI and State in either direction go through FC, at the specific request of FBI that such traffic for the entire Department be restricted to a single channel.

Mr. Lewis also serves in a liaison capacity with the Post Office Department, the Customs Service, and the Secret Service when occasion arises.

In the case of CIA, the flow of telegrams and airgrams and despatches from State to that agency goes directly from DC/L, and not through FC. CIA material comes to FC on the basis of a selection by CIA and not on the basis of selection by a State Department representative. CIA also sends positive intelligence reports directly to IAD, to a Mr. Ingersoll, the decision and differentiation between FC and IAD interests being made by CIA.

Mr. Jessop, who heads the Administrative Section, is liaison officer to the Army security group for civil censorship in the occupied areas and to Federal Archives in connection with the records of the Office of Censorship.

IV. TRAVEL SECURITY & SECURITY EVALUATION BRANCH

The Security Evaluation Section, directed by Mr. Broecker, is presently divided into two units. One, headed by Mr. Donovan, is called the Security Evaluation Unit, and has two P-4's, two P-2's, one FSO and five clerical employees. The other, headed by Mr. Cherp, is called the Security Development Unit and has two P-4's, one P-3, two P-2's, three P-1's and five clerical employees. The 1949 budget estimate position chart shows sixteen positions assigned to the Section as a whole, but twenty-three persons are presently assigned, many of them very recently. A good many are individuals formerly employed in the Division on the project of screening German war documents.

The Security Evaluation Unit may be described briefly as having the function of answering the question, "Does a person (or organization) constitute a security risk to the United States in a given set of circumstances?" This is the single point in the Department of State to which all action units of the Department are directed (Departmental Regulation 298.1) to refer inquiries as to persons suspected of being security risks. There are about 300 such inquiries each week from within the Department, the chief inquirers being IEP, PR, PD, VD, and CSA. There are also about 300 inquiries a week from other agencies, primarily FBI, APC, MIS, ONI, and CIA.

Upon receipt of a name check request, a staff member fills out a check list indicating the sources to be checked and a typist prepares inquiry forms and sends them to the several sources (an average of nine for each name checked). Chief sources within the Department are the files of FC, PD, VD, and DC/R, and outside the Department are Army, Navy, CIA, and FBI. BI is called upon in only about 30% of the cases. When replies are received, a staff member reviews them and prepares a written summary and action recommendation, and forwards them to the work unit of the Department in which the request originated. In the case of name check inquiries originating in FBI, APC, CIA and ONI, after the FC staff member screens the material available, a liaison representative comes from the agency and reviews the material, and no summary is prepared in FC. In either type of case however, the Master Index of names in FC is amended to show that an inquiry was made, and sources of data noted.

This Unit also recieves from the Department of Justice duplicate applications for all foreign agents registered there, secures and summarizes any security intelligence information available with respect to the persons, and forwards them to the political divisions for official comment to be transmitted from the Secretary of State to the Attorney General. This Unit also notifies United States missions abroad of the registration of these agents and the data concerning them.

Mr. English is the only Foreign Service Officer now assigned to the Division, and he has been working in the Security Evaluation Unit on name checks, organization checks and special reports, although the chart for FC indicates the only FSO assignment as being in the Office of the Chief. One report, prepared some months ago by Mr. English on the International Brigades was not released at the request of EUR on the basis that sufficient material was coming from the field. Mr. English later learned that DRE was preparing a like report, phoned a member of that Division, supplied him with a copy of the FC report, but has received neither acknowledgement nor the return of the report.

The Security Development Unit consists of a group of analysts, each with a separate geographic area assignment, who read and analyze the hundreds of reports, despatches, telegrams, airgrams, and other data secured for them from Department of State sources or through the liaison channel, discovering and noting every item covering a person, organization or situation which is now or appears likely to be subversive of or inimical to United States interest abroad. These analysts must make certain that a reference to such items is made on the "Master Index" of persons maintained by FC (used for security name checks) and they also relay to interested action units of the Department and to United States foreign missions any critically important information. Further, they prepare occasional spot reports on special security threats. About 60% of the source material used comes from State Department sources, one-half or more of the remainder coming from CIA, and the rest from Army, Navy, FBI, Coast Guard, Customs, Secret Service and other miscellaneous sources.

In addition, the analysts prepare a weekly selection of the more important or significant items, which are consolidated into a weekly summary report which is duplicated and circulated within CON. The analysts also interview many outgoing or returning Foreign Service personnel, providing the former with as much background information as possible on specific security problems in the area to which they are going, at the same time requesting such specific reports as are desired.

Without exception, the analysts stated that they neither received nor sent any material to EUR-X, and that their contacts were infrequent with analysts in the intelligence area who might be working on like problems. They do, however, see a periodic release listing the current and pending reports being prepared in the intelligence divisions. No such report is prepared in FC.

One member of the group, Mr. Hammond, attends a daily reading panel in DC/R, together with representatives of IAD and Army and Navy. DC does some screening before material is referred to the panel, and the IAD and FC representatives screen it again before giving it to the Army and Navy representatives. Mr. Hammond estimates that more than half of the material he screens would not be sent to FC if there were no reading panel. Mr. Hammond also selects material on oil or petroleum to be referred to a Mr. Hoffman on the Petroleum Board.

The Travel Security Section, also directed by Mr. Broecker, has one P-5, one P-4, one P-1, one CAF-9, and four clerical employees. Although indicated on the chart as a single Section, it does not so operate, and its personnel and functional assignments are not uniform. One group of four employees headed by Mr. Cox, a P-4, performs for Germany and Austria the identical duties carried on by analysts in the Security Development Unit plus maintaining files of Nazi Party members and German and Austrian nationals repatriated from the Western Hemisphere during World War II and providing advisory opinions to the occupation governments of Germany and Austria relative to the granting of exit permits from the two countries for German and Austrian nationals. As yet the files of Nazi Party members and German and Austrian repatriates are not carded into the Master Index maintained by FC.

Another group of two employees in the Section, headed by Miss Smith, maintains the most complete file in the United States on Japanese and Nisei, and all cases involving the travel of such persons are checked here, as well as any security name check case. The work goes beyond simple file maintenance and searching, the person in charge being expert in the language, customs, family relationships and other data necessary for adequate case revi

In the remaining group in this Section, Mr. Drury is concerned with a wholly different aspect of travel security. He reviews Visa Division outgoing telegrams and gives advisory opinions as to the security risks involved in granting visas to proposed alien visitors or immigrants to the United States. Mr. Drury also provides security advice to the Visa Division with respect to cases involving visitors, students, teachers and others now living in the United States and seeking to "regularize" their status here.

In an operation having some simularity to that of the analysts in the Security Development Unit, Mr. Drury also reviews a large flow of copies of telegrams and airgrams indicating the movement between countries of known subversive persons, thus discovering and proposing appropriate action in the case of apparent concentration of such persons in a particular localit

V. ADMINISTRATIVE BRANCH

The Administrative Branch, headed by Mr. Jessop, containing twenty employees, CAF-2 to CAF-12, provides the Division with the usual personnel, budget, space, supplies and other housekeeping services, and, in addition, directs the activities of the Mail and File Units and the Telecommunications Unit.

One part of the Mail Unit, with three clerical employees, receives and routes all telegrams, airgrams, despatches, and other material emanating from Department of State sources. Action material is carded before leaving the Unit and the outgoing response is checked off and the card destroyed. All mail routed to two or more points in FC passes through this mail room moving between points. One person is occupied full time filing cards, pulling them from files and enveloping material.

A separate part of the Mail Unit, employing two persons and occupying a separate room receives, routes and eventually files permanently classified material received from CIA, Army and Navy. Such material is usually highly classified, it is received and despatched by courier, covering invoices and receipts are used, and the greatest care is exercised in its handling and filing. The material is primarily informational in character, not "action" items.

CIA sends most of its material directly to IAD for further distribution in the Department, including FC, but in some instances sends items directly to FC. ONI sends their material directly to IAD, which forwards one copy to FC. MIS sends one copy of their material to FC and the remaining copies to IAD for further distribution in the Department.

The File Unit, with three clerical employees, maintains the Master Index of names referred to elsewhere in the report, which comprises fifty-six file drawers containing approximately 168,000 cards, filed alphabetically. A separate cross file of duplicate cards is maintained by country, of 54,000 persons in a special category. Most of the supporting data for the Index cards is on file in the operating Divisions of the Department and not in the FC File Unit.

In addition, a Kardex file record, transferred from ES, containing 500,000 names of persons and firms "black listed" during World War II is kept near the Master Index and is searched for security name checks. However, no attempt is made to keep this file current and it is estimated that in three years' time selected portions will be consolidated into the Master Index and the remainder destroyed or referred to Archives. The supporting file material for the Kardex is not maintained currently in the File Room, but is stored elsewhere.

It should be noted that there are many uncoordinated files, both in the File Unit and elsewhere in the Division, some of the larger and more important being those on Nazi Party members, Germans and Austrians repatriated from Latin America, War Relocation Authority records on Japanese and Nisei, the files in FC Telecommunications Unit and the Allocation Group of the Mail Unit, the FBI reports on Visa applicants and the censorship files.

The Telecommunication Unit, headed by Mrs. Libbey, and using five and sometimes six employees, receives from DC/T twelve copies of every in and out telegram selected by DC/T in accordance with a list provided by FC indicating the subjects which FC, Army, Navy and FBI are interested in reviewing. These copies are sorted, read, counted, recorded, routed by means of a very elaborate procedure, three sets being retained in FC and the remainder enveloped for the couriers who pick them up from the several agencies. Any questionable item is picked out by the reader and referred to the appropriate liaison officer for clearance before release. Less than 10% are screened out.

There is also a Coordination and Review Unit through which all outgoing documents from FC are cleared. Memos and letters to other Departments need not clear through SS/CR, so this Unit provides a like type of review, covering both clerical errors and attending to necessary clearances, both within FC and in other Divisions of the Department when necessary. An average of about fifty items a day are reviewed, of which one will be stopped from release completely, 4 - 5 will require further clearance in FC and 6 - 7 will require clearance with other Divisions and 6 - 7 should be sent to additional offices for information.

A special unit, attached directly to the Office of the Division Chief, takes care of all arrangements for military, naval or air training missions Authorized by Public Law 242 of May 1926. The United States now has thirty three such missions, most of them in Latin America, involving the assignment of about two-hundred officer personnel and a larger number of enlisted men. Mr. Anderson and one clerical employee handle this work, arranging for meetings between foreign representatives in this country and United States military officials, drawing up the bi-lingual agreements, clearing the assignment of individual officers and arranging for allowances for the personnel involved. Five new training missions are now pending, and many older ones come up for renewal and revision each year.

Conclusions

1. There is no established uniform minimum standard of work assignment or review of security name check cases, either from the standpoint of grade level of personnel assigned nor speed of handling. The present organization affords the highest level of review and the most prompt review of security checks to visa and German exit permit cases only, although there is no evidence that they deserve such preferred handling.

2. Only an occasional security name check case is reviewed by the analysts in the Security Development Unit, yet they are the employees with the most comprehensive knowledge of the background(organizations, movements and related factors)in their respective areas.

3. It appears impractical to exercise 100% supervision over the work of the Security Development analysts, and it would be almost impossible to create written minimum standards for their product, yet the positions provided for such work are classified at low professional levels and are occupied by persons presumably qualified only for those grades.

4. While there is much evidence to indicate a constant activity on the part of senior officials of FC and SA/E to develop a close cooperative relationship with the intelligence area, inadequate means have been used to indoctrinate lower level employees of FC on this point, so that there is a real lack of close working relationship between analysts in the Security Development Unit and the employees in the intelligence area.

5. Formal working arrangements between FC and EUR-X are completely non-existent, and there is no flow of information or data between the two. The only exception is the occasional telephone call made to EUR-X by one of the four FC employees who have a personal acquaintance with Mr. Murphy as the result of years of service in the Department. Consequently FC reports are incomplete with respect to any data available exclusively in EUR-X.

6. Inter-departmental liaison assignments are split into three sections and a special unit attached to the Office of the Chief, relations with the Army involving three of the four units, the Armed Agency Section, the Administrative Section, and the office of one Chief.

7. The security intelligence files are now so scattered and decentralized in FC that it presents a difficult, if not impossible task to be certain that all source material is obtained and reviewed in making any specific study or report.

UNCLASSIFIED

8. The procedures in the Telecommunications Unit are too elaborate and complex, involving repeated sortings and countings and requiring the services of five persons to handle an average of only 300 messages a day.

9. Receipt, despatch, and the internal routing and distribution of telegrams, airgrams, letters and despatches is now scattered in three units.

Definition of Security Intelligence

A security intelligence program should be a considered review of activities and techniques, carried out by covert means, including sabotage and espionage, which are engaged in, employed, initiated, directed or used by an individual, agency or government, operating outside the United States, against the government, institutions or interests of the United States, or dedicated to influencing others against the United States, its institutions or interests. Information concerning such activities and techniques which are carried out by official, quasi-official or other overt means are, therefore, not within the scope of a security intelligence program.

The program should consist of the collection, coordination, and evaluation of the activities and techniques, which are within its scope. It should also include the proper dissemination of security information, with recommendations, for policy decisions based on the information so developed.

As an integral part of the program, the security intelligence organization of the Department should evaluate the degree to which groups or individuals operating covertly abroad constitute a danger to the security of the United States. A necessary corollary of this should be the analysis of the extent of infiltration by such individuals or groups into governments, labor unions, newspapers, radios, et cetera, in other countries.

Description of Procedures Used in Telecommunication Section

December 12, 1947

This Unit receives from DS/T, through the Message Service, (FC messenger picks up the first trip early in the morning) 12 copies each of every incoming and outgoing telegram and airgram selected by DC/T in accordan with a list provided by FC indicating the subjects which FC, Army, Navy and FBI are interested in reviewing. In addition, this Unit receives through regular channels action telegrams referred to FC.

The following steps constitute the handling of the 12 copy telegrams:

1. The 12 copies are sorted into four sets, the first set containing one copy of each and referred to as the Reading Set, the second set containing one copy of each and referred to as the File set, the third set containing one copy of each and referred to as Mr. Neal's set, and the fourth set containing the remaining nine copies.

2. The Reading Set and the File Set are date stamped.

3. The Reading Set and File Set are sorted by post and put into numerical sequence.

4. Two clerks compare the Reading Set with the File Set.

5. Both sets are counted.

6. A clerk reads through each copy in the Reading Set and indicates the routing, including the number of copies to go to Army, Navy and the routing within FC.

7. Entries of the indicated routing, as well as the date, number, post, etc. are made in ledgers.

8. Two clerks take the ledgers and the fourth set, composed of nine copies, and distribute copies to the War, Navy and FBI in accordance with the distribution which has been entered in the ledger. Normally four copies go to War Department and four to the Navy, the remaining copy going to FBI if the router believes it should, otherwise being sent to Navy.

9. While two employees are carrying out step 7, a third employee takes the Reading File set and sorts the copies into stacks and counts them. After counting they are redistributed in accordance with the routing within the Division which has been indicated upon the face of each copy.

14

UNCLASSIFIED

10. The File set is filed in a set of file cases in this Unit, by posts and in numerical sequence and is retained for three months before burning

The copies to War, Navy and FBI are picked up by employees of those Departments; in the first two cases officer personnel, signed for and carried away by hand. The Army insists on collections at 9:30, 2:30 and 4:30. The Reading copy is routed to other persons in the Division and may or may not come back to this Unit for destruction.

One other time-consuming task is the searching for telegrams at the request of Army and Navy which they claim not to have received. If the reference is not found in the ledgers, the desks check with CS to secure copies, sometimes having to secure clearance from the action office or drafting officer before release. A high percentage of telegrams make reference to preceeding telegrams and the clerks refer to the ledger in each such instance.

The quantity received ranges from 300 to 350 items on each week day, with Mondays totalling about twice that of other days. Approximately 20 are questionable and approximately 10 are being withheld each day from War and Navy.

URTEL 2, June 11.

Yaroslav Stetsko, AKA Varyl Denkiw, is president of emigre political organization ABN--anti-Bolshevik Bloc of Nations, Zeppelinstrasse 67, Munich

Stetsko also a leading figure in [illegible]--Organization of Ukrainian Nationalists (Bandera), a Ukrainian apparatist group which, though now frequently professing democratic principles, has both in the Ukraine during World War II and in the emigration engaged in strong-arm totalitarian tactics. Stefan Bandera, leader of OUN (B), also in West Germany

OUN (B) set up non-communist "government" of Ukraine in Lvov June 1941 and appointed Stetsko Prime Minister. Germans disbanded government after a few days of existence and Stetsko imprisoned in Sachsenhausen Concentration Camp until 1944. ABN established in Munich after war by OUN (B) and has remained creature of the latter. ABN includes mostly minor, extreme nationalist, non-Russian, anti-communist emigre groups--Byelorussians, Armenians, Cossacks, Georgians, Turkestani, Slovaks, Hungarians, Czechs, etc., in addition to (UN (B). ABN, considerably weakened by withdrawals of moderate more democratic member groups in 1953 and 1954

Stetsko travels abroad frequently, was a [illegible] Madrid and last October in Taiwan--where, according to ABN publications, he was received by high officials, including Chiang Kai Chek. FYI [illegible] visitor's visa to US [illegible] Department's approval.

DATE: April 16, 1958

SUBJECT: Concern of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the World anti-Communist Congress for Freedom and Liberation about activities of Yaroslav Stetzko and General Ferenc Farkas

PARTICIPANTS: Francis J. McNamara, Director of American Sovereignty Campaign of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Consultant, House Committee on Un-American Activities

Mr. McNamara called at the Department at his request to inquire about the background and activities of Yaroslav Stetzko and General Ferenc Farkas. He had just returned from Mexico City where he had been attending an anti-Communist conference from March 20-25, called by the Asian Peoples' Anti-Communist League (supported by several Far Eastern governments) and the Inter-American Confederation for Defense of the Continent. About 90 delegates representing 65 nations participated in the conference. The purpose of the meeting was to develop plans for a World Anti-Communist Congress for Freedom and Liberation to be held in Istenbul in 1958 during the anniversary dates of the Hungarian Revolt. If arrangements cannot be made to hold the conference in Istenbul the next preferences are Greece or Portugal. Mr. Marvin Lee, head of the Committee of One Million, was placed in charge of preparatory work for the Congress.

Mr. McNamara said that various delegations had become concerned during the course of the proceedings in Mexico City over the tactics and position taken by Mr. Stetzko and General Farkas. Although the two were elected to the Steering Committee several of the members were beginning to doubt the wisdom of this choice. As the meeting progressed it became evident that Mr. Stetzko and General Farkas were not so anti-Communist as anti-Russian. The other delegates at the conference have no quarrel with the Russian people and thought Mr. Stetzko's and General Farkas' vehemence and energies were misdirected and would prove to be divisive for purposes and aims of the Congress. Mr. McNamara and Mr. Lee had subsequently made sufficient inquiries about Messrs. Stetzko and Farkas to conclude that the men had a very disreputable reputation and could, if anything, cast a bad shadow over the Congress and harm their efforts to secure wide support for the endeavor. He asked if the Department was familiar with Mr. Stetzko or General Farkas.

OFFICIAL USE ONLY Mr. Kendrick

611.45613/4-1658

Mr. Kendrick said that he thought both Mr. Stetzko and General Farkas were anti-Communist. They did, however, have bad political reputations because of their far-rightist orientation. Mr. Stetzko's Ukrainian organization is based on the fuehrer principle, is extremely anti-Russian, and has a long record of murder, terror and coercion perpetrated in the DP camps in Germany against those Ukrainians who do not share their views. It would be difficult, however, for the VFW to document a case against Mr. Stetzko or show his direct involvement in these activities. General Farkas was judged by a Hungarian court in 1947 to be a war criminal based upon his wartime record and collaboration with the Nazi Government. Mr. Kendrick said he personally thought it would hurt the VFW and the Congress to become associated with Mr. Stetzko and General Farkas. Mr. Kendrick suggested that Mr. McNamara might wish to contact the American Committee for Liberation for advice on emigre political groups representing the peoples of the USSR.

Probable Consequences

1. (1) An ANF, if established, would probably satisfy FRG nuclear aspirations for near term (though a US insistence on retention of veto would disturb Europeanists). Alternativ would be less likely to satisfy the FRG since continuance of UK as well as French deterrent would emphasize FRG inferiority. Eventually (~5 years), the FRG would probably insist on acquiring independent control of nuclear weapons through one means or another.

(2) So long as deGaulle lives, France would probably not join an ANF even were the US to provide technological assistance and withdrew veto; she might, but probably would not, withdraw from NATO. With deGaulle gone, France might well come to terms with whatev if any, arrangements for nuclear sharing had come into existence.

(3) Soviet attitudes toward Europe might harden; Soviets, in face of ANF, might be able to assert a greater measure of control over satellites; a Warsaw Pact missile "MLF" is possible, but improbable; possibilities for German unification would be diminished for some years.

(4) As prolification proceeds elsewhere, it would be difficult to curb European appetite some (e.g. Benelux) might line up with nuclear powers; others (e.g. Norway) pursue neutrality; others (e.g. FRG, Italy, and Sweden) develop nuclear capabilities.

2. (a) India would probably proceed with a nuclear program. Provided there were adequa US assistance in delivery systems, she probably could effectively counter Chinese capabi ity. In the absence of great power guarantees she might (in 5-10 years) become interested in collective security, perhaps with Japan. Pending the achievement of an adequate Indian nuclear capability, increased US involvement may be inevitable to deter or respond to a preemptive Chinese attack. Assuming an Indian nuclear program, Pakistan would feel gravely threatened and would seek nuclear weapons from the US, Chinese and/or Soviets.

(b) Japan might well attempt to acquire an independent nuclear capability to counter th Chinese. This would be particularly likely if the US in any way encouraged such development or indicated a possible weakening of its commitment. She might outdo and thereby eclipse the Chinese. She might in time assume a lead role in Asian collective security. She could (in 10-15 years) have the capability of seriously injuring the US. Japan might move toward neutrality vis-a-vis the US-Chinese confrontation, possibly without acquiri nuclear weapons.

(c) Israel would probably develop a modest capability. The UAR, feeling menaced, would attempt to obtain weapons from Soviets, and might succeed, especially in the light of the Chinese as a potential alternative source.

(d) Other nations, seeing prolification proceed, would seek to build or acquire weapons. Indonesia, Australia, and possibly Canada, South Africa, Brazil, and Mexico are possibilities.

3. (a) Without US and Soviet support, the treaty would fail.

(b) Probably no new agreement; and as prolification proceeded the need to test would cause some nations to withdraw from or violate even the limited ban.

(c) Almost certainly, no agreement in Near East and probably none elsewhere.

(d) None.

(e) While a broader area of common interest between the US and the USSR might devel as independent nuclear states emerge and the US attempts to reduce its own commitments abroad, mutual apprehension might negate the realization of these common interests and lead to a renewed arms race. Lesser powers could play off one against the other in an attempt to get nuclear weapons. The risks of loss of restraint and control would multiply as the centers of nuclear power grow.

4. (a) French and other European nuclear programs would be helped because of participation in Euratom, but these effects would probably not be decisive.

(b) Europe as above; because of competition to supply fissionable material, reactors and other equipment, and the absence of adequate controls, potential Nth countries are likely to have rather easy access to the ingredients necessary for a weapons program. As political inhibitions against nuclear weapons acquisition diminish, pressures to apply available facilities and personnel to weapons production may be irresistible.

5. (a) Initial deployments depend on choices under 1 and 2 above; as prolification proceeded, deployments and commitments abroad would probably be reduced.

(b) Nth nations might not wish expensive safety devices; U.S. assistance would help somewhat.

(c) 1. No defense system could prevent deaths of millions, even at hands of lesser powers; broad but thin ABMs plus SAMs plus shelters (at cost of $5-10 billion) might limit potential damage to the US or the USSR from lesser powers to 10-20 million deaths; sophisticated system (at cost of $30 billion) would do better but might upset US-Soviet stability.

2. Difficult to predict what progress might be made in warning and identification; it will be difficult to bell the Nth nation cat.

6. (a) Enough assistance could possibly draw France into the ANF, but probably would not while de Gaulle lives.

(b) UK would probably merge most of its deterrent into an ANF, but might well reestablish independent capability as prolification proceeded.

(c) In the near term it is unlikely that the Chinese can be tamed. Early acquisition of Japanese-Indian nuclear capabilities might negate the effect vis-a-vis these two countries and perhaps more broadly.

(d) Soviets' development would proceed as in the past.

[redacted]

Overall

(a) After 15-20 years a number of nations would individually have the capability of destroying at least 5-20 million US lives.

(b) US, Soviets, and other great powers may be increasingly unwilling to undertake military commitments abroad. Chinese, and others more aggressive and irresponsible, may wish to fill the vacuum.

(c) New regional groupings and balances and resulting stability could conceivably ensue, with the probability of neither localized nuclear nor general war substantially increased. But it seems more probable that multiplied nuclear capabilities would increase the probability of nuclear use, heighten the difficulties of control and identification, and increase the danger of escalation to global warfare.

[redacted]

COURSE II

Same as in Course I.

- Without strong leverage, and multilateral cooperation, efforts to establish safeguards will fail. Consequences as in Course I, but at a slower rate.

Substantial reduction in visible weapons deployments could reduce resulting desires, but could also result in decreased credibility of US commitment and consequent incentive for independent capabilities.

No difficulty.

Consequences as in Course I.

France would be slightly delayed, as compared to Course I; would be slightly more irritated; would proceed with planned programs.

UK consequences as in Course I.

In the near term, it is unlikely the Chinese can be tamed.

Soviet consequences as in Course I.

COURSE II

(1) Same as Course I though we might hold the line on German acquisition of nuclear capabilities a little longer.

(2) Similar to Course I, though French irritation at controls would be greater and France would be even more likely to stay out of ANF.

(3) Same as Course I.

(4) With prolification slowed slightly elsewhere and some direct US pressure, FRG and other European independent capabilities would be delayed slightly (1-2 years) but would in due time develop.

It is doubtful that generalized US assurances would persuade the Indians from going ahead with a nuclear weapons program within the next few years. Without US assistance on acquiring delivery systems, India would not for some time be able to counter the Chinese nuclear threat. Thus, need for US commitment would be greater than in Course I. Reaction of Pakistan to Indian nuclear capability would be as in Course I.

Japanese move to acquire independent nuclear capability and/or move toward neutrality might be prevented or at least deferred for a longer period than under Course I.

Success with Israel would depend upon the specificity of the guarantees and sanctions. Without substantial pressure she would probably go ahead, with the consequences described under Course I.

Other nations would also proceed, as under Course I, but at a somewhat slower rate.

Soviet opposition to ANF, plus delay (caused by referral to ENDC) and intervening new nuclear capabilities, would probably combine to make agreement impossible.

An agreement might be signed, and would have some effect in slowing prolification; doubtful that determined nations would forever refrain from testing.

Agreements are possible but not likely; if signed they, too, would slow spread, but some nations would, in time, withdraw.

None.

Modest disarmament measures might lower US-Soviet tension and make more cooperation possible, but would not greatly affect prolification. Eventually, consequences could be as in Course I.

CONSEQUENCES

COURSE III

1. (a) U.S. pressure and slowed proliferation elsewhere would keep FRG in line for an extra 5-10 years (and perhaps longer). This could be at the cost of amicable U.S.-FRG relations. More hopefully FRG interest in, and progress toward, reunification might reduce pressures for acquisition of nuclear weapons.

(b) Extreme French irritation at U.S. opposition to testing would make withdrawal from NATO more likely; thus, so long as de Gaulle lives, France would be unlikely to join ANF and continuing French resentment might even preclude subsequent participation.

(c) If USSR really was persuaded U.S. was prepared to hold the line on German acquisition of nuclear weapons, progress toward European settlements and German reunification might be possible despite ANF (though realization of peaceful reunification would be impossible with Germany in the ANF and strong NATO).

(c) With proliferation slowed elsewhere, and FRG in check, other European nuclear capabilities would be much delayed.

2. (a) An optimum package including guarantees might stop India from going ahead with a nuclear program for at least 3 to 5 years. This would have desirable effects in Pakistan and elsewhere. A determined stand by India against nuclear proliferation could have a big impact on other countries. Unfortunately, even the present program might not succeed over the long term, and an eventual Indian nuclear decision would result in similar decisions in Pakistan and elsewhere.

(b) Similar results for Japan as in the case of India, but with a greater probability of long-term success, due to greater Japanese industrial strength and organizational capabilities.

(c) Such a program might be able to delay Israel/UAR acquisition indefinitely, assuming no sharply heightened security problems or intervening outside assistance to UAR. All of Africa might remain free of nuclear weapons.

(d) Other nations might be kept in line, the critical factor probably being success with India. Weapons acquisition would probably be delayed at least 5-10 years.

3. (a) Soviets would probably initially insist on abandonment of ANF concept. U.S. would have to face the question very early. If U.S. and Soviets could agree on an NDNA measure, an agreement with most nations other than Chinese and satellites, and perhaps France, would probably result. This agreement, coupled with other measures, could have an increasingly stabilizing effect.

(b) An agreement would probably result if a consensus could be reached with Soviets on inspection, which might also be useful in conjunction with other disarmament measures.

(c) Nuclear Free Zone agreements would probably result in Africa and Latin America and would serve to reinforce other agreements; there would be a fair chance of extension to the Arab-Israeli area. U.S. could probably adjust at relatively low cost to a curtailment of transit rights.

(d) None.

(e) Modest U.S.-USSR reductions could probably be agreed upon; they would diminish tensions and make greater U.S.-USSR cooperation possible; they might have marginal effect upon proliferation incentives.

4. (a) External safeguards on Euratom would hamper European developments and possibly enhance psychological restrictions on national programs; if control led to Euratom's collapse, independent programs might arise as substitutes. In either case, French and other European resentment could result, especially during de Gaulle's lifetime. Effective external safeguards on Euratom would remove a significant and notorious exception to the IAEA system.

(b) It will be difficult to obtain enough leverage on Nth nations and their other suppliers to ensure complete success with external controls (France and China will be very unlikely to cooperate and others might not also; IAEA controls may not turn out to be completely effective even if established). Yet even partial success would serve to delay development of basic weapons technology and make decisions to undertake weapons programs more difficult.

5. (a) Reduced emphasis on tactical nuclear weapons will create a Western European need for U.S. (and Soviet) reassurances and (possibly) compensatory Soviet moves. In the absence of such measures and movement toward detente, European incentives for independent nuclear capabilities could increase.

(b) British, and particularly French, might balk at PALs.

(c) (1) No defense system could prevent deaths of millions, even at the hands of lesser powers; broad but thin ABMs plus SAMs plus shelters (at a cost of $5-10 billion) might limit potential damage to the U.S. or the USSR from lesser powers to 10-20 million deaths; sophisticated system (at a cost of $30 billion) would do better but might upset U.S.-Soviet stability.

6. (a) France would be furious; would proceed with programs with only modest delays; might withdraw from NATO. Improbable that she would join ANF in de Gaulle's lifetime. The example to Nth nations would be present, but might be marginal unless we went even further.

(b) U.K. would probably cooperate; U.K. White Paper would have a desirable effect but not a very significant one since most countries would have an interest in nuclear capabilities to deal with less sophisticated threats than that of the USSR. U.K. might willingly agree to give up special relationship in an ANF context.

(c) It would be a long time before China would cooperate, and in the meantime, the pressures on India and Japan would continue.

(d) Soviets could prove unwilling to alter policies, such as hostility to any form of ANF, and competition with the Chinese could lead them to even more intractable positions. However, their long-range interests in stopping simultaneous nuclear encirclement by both the Chinese and the Germans might lead to limited but effective cooperation with the U.S.

Overall

This course should succeed in substantially retarding proliferation (bringing a pause of perhaps 10-15 years). Inability to arrive at a non-spread agreement (due to problems with ANF or for other reasons) would substantially reduce possibilities of success. Permanent success would probably depend on subsequent movement toward disarmament which in turn would require bringing France into concert with her neighbors and the eventual growth of responsibility in China. The latter event may be remote.

The principal costs would be:

(1) Temporary (and perhaps indefinite) alienation of France; resentment of FRG, and perhaps India and Israel, over U.S. pressures; and irritation of other Nth nations over controls and pressures for reactor safeguards.

(2) Risk that guarantees to India might involve us in conflict with China.

[redacted]

COURSE IV

(1) FRG would probably be willing to accept neutralization with reunification, particularly if under US pressure. Soviets might or might not agree, and pressures would be required for GDR. If reunification proceeded, German nuclear aspirations would be at best temporarily abated, although a united Germany may not long be willing to remain militarily and politically subordinated if it proved impossible to get weaker powers (e.g., UK and France) to renounce nuclear weapons.

(2) The consequences for France are as in Course III, but even more so; NATO would be radically altered; an Atlantic Alliance of sorts might continue, with or without the absorption of UK and French deterrents.

(3) Soviet security problems would be greatly reduced at first; there would probably be looser Soviet control over the satellites, along with increased Western orientation. Apparent risks include Soviet concern and possible forceful intervention if a united Germany fails to pursue neutrality or carry out agreements restricting armaments, if a violent uprising in one or more of the satellites occurs.

(4) Proliferation would probably be halted in Europe, assuming no rearming of Germany and no major proliferation elsewhere.

India would not develop weapons so long as the Chinese capability remained crippled; and might be deterred even thereafter by the Chinese example. India would, however, be under renewed pressure if the Chinese capability were revived and China continued her belligerent course.

Japan would respond similarly to India.

Israel-UAR (and the rest of Africa) could be controlled if we demonstrated our commitment to follow through on our threats and guarantees and if India and Japan stayed in line.

Other nations would follow.

As in Course III, but with greater probability of success.

As in a. above.

As in a. above.

Problems would be similar to those under Course III.

An approach to minimum deterrence would be useful in US-Soviet relations and would have some psychological benefits for proliferation in terms of Great Power self-denial. The risk would be that we might make a first rank deterrent appear easier to obtain.

COURSE IV

Problems would be similar to those under Course III.

As in a. above.

As in Course III.

Would eliminate physical security problems.

Consequences as in Course III, but greater French hostility and possibly increased example value for Nth nations.

Consequences as in Course III.

Might serve as a powerful influence upon Nth nations, and would reduce or eliminate pressures upon India and Japan so long as the capability remained impaired. Risk of nuclear retaliation on US or on Taiwan or elsewhere in Far East, probably extremely small. Risk of conventional response in SEA. Permanent elimination of the capability would be impossible; a single attack could make it more difficult than ever to bring Chinese to responsibility; consolidation of Afro-Asian hostility likely.

Lessened tensions with Soviets unless attacks on China made some Soviet response seem appropriate.

Overall

Course IV may offer a substantially greater possibility of halting proliferation in Europe than Course III; but final success there as well as in the Far East and elsewhere may in the end depend upon success with China. Course IV probably has a far greater chance of containing proliferation in Asia, but it is not clear that even this course will succeed there. The principal additional costs and risks of Course IV seem to be these:

(1) Even greater difficulties with France.

(2) Danger of instability in Europe arising from a re-united Germany that may intervene in Eastern Europe or that may be unwilling to accept a military status inferior to great powers.

(3) Risks and political costs of attacking Chinese nuclear facilities as balanced against the necessity of controlling Chinese nuclear capabilities and the unlikelihood of China's voluntary cooperation within the foreseeable future.

US NUCLEAR EXPORT CONTROLS: POLICY AND PROCEDURES

I. Policy

(For the purposes of this particular paper, it is assumed that no detailed study is needed of US policy and procedures regarding export of nuclear-connected items to the Sino-Soviet Bloc. This policy is one of rigorous control and denial to the Soviet Union, Communist China, or other states inimical to the US of anything which would be helpful to them in achieving or improving a nuclear weapons capability. Adequate enforcement machinery exists, there are no countervailing policy considerations of significance to be taken into account, and while the situation in regard to Soviet and Chinese nuclear weapons development is by no means what we would want, US export control policy and procedures have not been of any significance in bringing about this situation.)

General

Our major export control problems related to proliferation lie within the Free World rather than with the Communist countries, although our anti-proliferation goal is the same with respect to everyone. Since World War II, the policy line of the US Government on proliferation has been clear and consistent--we have been opposed to the development of national nuclear weapons capabilities by any additional countries (except the UK, which was a special exception due to the intimate World War II US-UK collaboration in the nuclear field). Our basic legislation in this field dating from 1946 and as since amended bears clear witness to this, as do pronouncements of do pronouncements of Executive Branch spokesmen at every level.

However, the world of 1964 is markedly different from the world of 1946, and the current expression of our anti-proliferation and corresponding export control policy is best understood when we recognize that US policy to be realistic must take into account inter alia the following facts and developments:

a. The gradual spread throughout the world of a general understanding of nuclear technology, both in theoretical and technological terms.

b. The growth of a significant nuclear industry and civil programs in the US and abroad, especially since the 1953-54 period and the subsequent establishment of the IAEA. (The US peaceful uses program is addressed fully in another paper in this series, but a short account is attached as an annex to this paper for convenience.)

c. The continuation of UK weapons research and development, with US assistance, throughout a considerable portion of the postwar period.

d. The Soviet weapons program and nuclear threat, and, subsequently, the French program and the first Chinese explosion.

e. NATO nuclear weapons sharing arrangements as presently constituted, and the possibility of a more direct sharing via MLF or an Allied Nuclear Force as now suggested by the British.

f. Increased emphasis on the fact that delivery vehicles as well as nuclear warheads must be dealt with in any realistic anti-proliferation policy.

g. Conclusion of the limited Test Ban Treaty.

NSAM 294

The most recent authoritative expression of US policy for internal guidance in this area is NSAM 294 of April 20, 1964, in which the key general paragraph is as follows:

"It is the policy of this government to oppose the development of nuclear forces by additional states, other than those whose forces would be assigned as part of a NATO nuclear force targetted in accordance with NATO plans, and except when supreme national interests were at stake, used only for the defense purposes of the alliance."

This formulation is not intended nor does it profess to oppose all types of nuclear activity by all states. Its target is a nuclear weapons capability in the hands of and therefore at the unilateral disposal of any individual nation. It will be recognized that the language can accommodate the present UK nuclear force. It cannot accommodate the present and prospective French force, although the door is left open should the French Government place its force at NATO disposal. It cannot accommodate nuclear forces in the hands of any inimical or neutral power, inasmuch as the possibility of NATO direction of such forces would be out of the question.

The NSAM 294 expression of US opposition applies without doubt to export of nuclear weapons, weapons design information, fissionable material for use in nuclear weapons, nuclear delivery systems, and the testing of nuclear weapons, insofar as these are being developed for national purposes. The policy does not oppose these things per se, (except for testing--see below), nor does it oppose foreign production of fissionable materials or dissemination of nuclear information per se, since it has been the US Government view that atomic energy is capable of major peaceful as well as military uses, and that it is in our interest to carry out a peaceful uses program both at home and in cooperation with foreign countries. It does not oppose military nuclear cooperation per se. To reiterate, it opposes one thing only--the development of nationally-held nuclear forces.

After the general expression of opposition quoted above, NSAM 294 goes on to particularize one target country--France--and to delineate the export control and cooperation policy to be followed with respect to that country. It is described as a policy of denying to France those things which would be "reasonably likely to facilitate these efforts (France's strategic nuclear weapons program) by significantly affecting timing, quality, or cost, or would identify the US as a major supplier or collaborator." The policy "is not intended to restrict unduly full and useful cooperation in non-strategic programs and activities."

Nature of Policy

While NSAM 294 specifically names only France as a target country, it is intended to be of broader application, and the cooperation and export control policy enunciated has been assumed to be generally applicable by the enforcement agencies concerned. It will be noted that it is a highly selective and highly discriminating policy. It aims at learning about any national weapons program planned by any Country X and at persuading Country X not to undertake a program or not to persevere if one is already under way.

If Country X will not be persuaded, the policy aims at denying such US assistance as would be of material benefit to the weapons program, in terms both of warheads and means of delivery. This policy has envisaged only such US counter-measures as are directly related to impeding the weapons program itself, i.e., it has not envisaged punitive or broad measures of other kinds unrelated to the weapons program to attempt to force friendly countries into compliance. In essence, the policy is one of attempting to isolate and hamper Country X's nuclear weapons program on a selective denial basis, while preserving intact or as nearly intact as possible the fabric of US-Country X relationships otherwise. Given the general nature of Free World industrial and trading interrelationships, the particular nature of the relationships obtaining between the US and our allies, and the interrelationship of any given weapons program and the scientific-industrial base which sustains it, it can be seen that problems of the utmost complexity can arise in implementing this policy.

Testing

US opposition to nuclear weapons testing, as compared to other facets of a weapons program, is based on a treaty obligation rather than on US unilateral policy. In adhering to the Test Ban Treaty we renounced for ourselves testing in the three prohibited environments and concurrently assumed an obligation not to assist others in such testing. This has obvious export control consequences, and since France is the country with which most of our problems in this area are likely to arise, we explained our policy in an Aide-Memoire given the French Government last February. The purport of the Aide-Memoire is that the US will not find it possible to permit export to France of any material, equipment, or information to be used in devising, conducting, or evaluating any sort of nuclear test as long as the French contemplate testing in any environment prohibited by the Treaty. The criterion here is not that the assistance be of "significant" benefit to testing; it is only that it be intended for some direct use in testing. In such event it is to be denied.

UNCLASSIFIED

II. Procedures

Three complementary regulatory systems are involved in the implementation of US policy described above: (a) the system administered by the Department of Commerce to enforce the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended; (b) the regulatory structure administered by the Department of State to control International Traffic in Arms, derived from Section 414 of the Mutual Security Act of 1954, as amended; and (c) the regulatory activities prescribed under the Atomic Energy Act to control source material, by-product material, special nuclear material, facilities for the production or utilization of special nuclear material, and technical data relating thereto. There is another organization which plays a parallel or reinforcing role: The United States Military Information Committee (US-MICC), which coordinates the release to other governments of classified military information and material, except for Restricted Data under the Atomic Energy Act, foreign dissemination of which is administered by the AEC and Department of Defense.

UNCLASSIFIED

In summary, these control systems comprehend the following objectives:

A. The Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, sets forth as policy that the US will use export controls to the extent necessary:

1. To protect the domestic economy from the excessive drain of scarce materials and to reduce the inflationary impact of abnormal foreign demand;

2. To further the foreign policy of the US and to aid in fulfilling its international responsibilities;

3. To exercise necessary vigilance over exports, from the standpoint of their significance to the national security of the US;

4. To formulate and apply such controls to the maximum extent possible in cooperation with allies with which the US has defense treaty commitments;

5. To formulate a unified commercial and trading policy to be observed between non-Communist and Communist-dominated nations;

6. To use US economic resources in trade with Communist-dominated nations to further US national security and foreign policy objectives.

To carry out these objectives, the Department of Commerce has established an Export Control Review Board, an Advisory Committee on Export Policy, and an Operating Committee, in descending order of hierarchical importance. This committee structure enables all possibly concerned agencies of the Government, ranging from Commerce to the Office of Emergency Planning, to express their views and, in case of major policy disagreement, to achieve resolution by the Secretaries of State, Defense and Commerce.

B. The International Traffic In Arms Regulations derives from Section 414 of the Mutual Security Act of 1954, as amended. This Act confers upon the President authority to control, in the furtherance of world peace and the security and foreign policy of the US, the export and import of arms, ammunition and implements of war, including technical data relating thereto. The President, by Executive Order, conferred these functions upon the Secretary of State, in consultation with appropriate agencies. In turn, the Secretary of State delegated authority to the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Politico-Military Affairs, who assigned functional responsibility to the Director, Office of Munitions Control.

C. The Atomic Energy Act prescribes control over atomic weapons or parts thereof; any parts of atomic weapons systems or any other items or information revealing Restricted Data; and activity, classified or unclassified, which would constitute directly or indirectly engaging in the production of special nuclear material outside the United States; source, by-product and special nuclear materials; utilization and production facilities; and any other item or technical data to be exported subject to the terms of an atomic energy Agreement for Cooperation with another nation.

The Atomic Energy Commission may distribute special nuclear material abroad, may license the export of production and utilization of facilities, and may permit the communication of Restricted Data abroad, only pursuant to an Agreement for Cooperation. However, source and by-product material may be distributed abroad either by an Agreement or when the Commission determines such exports will not be inimical to the United States.

D. The US Military Information Control Committee (US-MICC) derives authority from Presidential delegation to the Secretaries of State and Defense. US-MICC is responsible for policy and procedures designed to enable disclosures of classified military information to foreign governments and international organizations, taking into account both US foreign policy-military objectives and the preservation of the security of US military secrets. In so doing, US-MICC, among other activities, reviews its existing policies and procedures to keep them up to date, assures that the releasing agencies act consistently in applying these policies and procedures, and evaluates foreign government security systems to determine their ability to protect US classified information. The Committee consists of representatives of the Secretaries of State, Defense, Army, Navy, Air Force, the AEC, and Director of CIA. The Department of State provides the Chairman and Deputy Chairman. JCS are entitled to have an observer, as is NASA. Other departments and agencies may participate as US-MICC deems appropriate.

As to implementing procedures, it should be noted that the regulatory systems concerned must deal with a wide variety of materials, which might be sought by a wide variety of countries, both friendly and unfriendly. Because of the highly selective and discriminating nature of the US policy outlined in I above, it is necessary, in implementation, to use what amounts to a case-by-case approach, taking into account for a country like France, for example, such things as:

1. Technical state-of-the-art and industrial know-how available to France internally or from other countries;

[redacted]

2. Competitive hardware available to France;

3. US military hardware and data currently in French hands (received via formal channels or obtained by other means);

4. Ongoing data exchange and military hardware agreements;

5. Foreign subsidiaries and licenses of US companies;

6. Military hardware and data previously cleared by the US to countries other than France;

7. Evaluation with respect to the current US policy on expansion of exports, and effect on the US economy (positive or negative) of the specific release and potential related releases:

(a) US competitive position, employment, and profit dollars;

(b) Balance of Payments.

8. In certain instances, receipt by the US on a reciprocal basis of significant technology, or other items of military value.

The object of such a case-by-case approach would be two-fold: to determine the technical significance of the proposed export, and to identify other considerations involved. The final result is a determination as to approval or denial which takes both technical and other factors into account. To date it has been principally Defense, State, and the AEC which have been concerned in such determinations as have been made; Commerce has been relatively uninvolved, since the principal Commerce concern has been in the East-West trade. The agencies concerned are still in the process of devising the machinery and accumulating the supporting body of facts necessary to do a fully comprehensive export-control job. In the meantime they are applying the above criteria on an ad hoc basis, and are working out recommendations to the White House for improved procedures.

III. Effectiveness

Before addressing the effectiveness of the policy and procedures described above, several general observations may be in order:

a. In the world of today prevention of nuclear weapons proliferation cannot be achieved through a policy of denial by the US, even if that denial were carried to a point of total embargo, as was substantially the case during the 1946-53 period. A policy of US denial can hamper to a greater or lesser degree and it can make the weapons-acquiring process slower and more expensive, but US denial action alone cannot prevent a modern industrialized nation from attaining a nuclear weapons capability of some sort if it so desires.

b. It should be recognized that the US peaceful uses program, the space cooperation program, and the program of nuclear weapons cooperation with NATO allies have unquestionably contributed in some degree to the ultimate weapons-making and delivery potential of the foreign countries involved. This is a calculated risk which the US has run. It is not believed that the contribution to nuclear weapons potential has been significant, and there are grounds for believing that in terms of adversely affecting intention to unilaterally construct weapons these programs may have been helpful.

c. The foregoing points up the fact that while anti-proliferation is a US goal with high priority, it is not the only US goal, and our other goals must be taken adequately into account in attempting to achieve the anti-proliferation goal.

d. Assessing the effectiveness of our policy of selective denial is also complicated by the fact that our export control mechanisms have as yet not been focused on trade with friends except in very limited respects, and the US Government has not kept records on US-friendly country trade in the detail which would now enable us to say quickly and with exactitude what has gone to a given country, in terms of the entire range of equipment, materials, technology, etc., which could be useful in a weapons program.

In coming to grips with the effectiveness question, it may be useful to think of all potential US assistance to another country's weapons program as lying along a spectrum. At one end would be the most important and obvious items of assistance--such things as nuclear warheads themselves, weapons design information, and fissionable material for weapons use. At this end of the spectrum our controls are comprehensive, detailed and fully effective. Weapons have been transferred to no country. Weapons design information and fissionable material for use in weapons have gone only to the British.

Control of these items is relatively simple because their nature is unmistakable, the intent of a would-be possessor is unmistakable, and the US Government is in full possession of whatever is proposed to be transferred.

[redacted]

To a great extent the same thing is true of complete delivery vehicles. Some vehicles, such as Polaris or Minuteman missiles, are so uniquely pinked with nuclear warheads that there can be no uncertainty as to their intended use and hence no difficulty in ruling on any proposed transfer. Other vehicles, such as the F-104, may be employed in either a nuclear or a conventional role, so there obviously cannot be the same degree of certainty as to type of use that might or could be made. The control of total delivery systems including aircraft is still comparatively simple, however, and an adequate basis exists within the US Government for review and decision with respect to proposed transfer of any such systems.

It is when we must deal with sub-systems and componentry that the task becomes really difficult, for two reasons. One is that at this level, it becomes difficult or impossible to categorize items as being unmistakably for utilization in a nuclear weapons program. Inertial guidance technology, for instance, is obviously important to a missile program. It is also important in a number of civilian uses and non-nuclear military programs, however, and it is therefore necessary to assess very carefully the utilization intended by a would-be possessor.

It is also more difficult to use the "significant assistance" criterion meaningfully at this level. To do so demands a very high degree of knowledge about individual country programs, potentialities, and intentions, which the enforcement agencies have not generally accumulated as yet. An individual item may well seem to be of no great significance in itself, and thus go unchallenged, or be approved after review, although from a cumulative point of view the over-all potentiality of the receiving country may be significantly improved if enough individual items are received. Such things as computers and integrated circuitry pose difficulties for both the foregoing reasons.

Thus, in assessing our policy and procedures we must realize that there is what could best be called a "threshold" of assistance. Items above the threshold are relatively easy to spot and easy to control. Items below the threshold are difficult to identify as significant, and in fact may not even be recognized. If known, these may be difficult to stop, because considerations arguing for approval are quite important, and other major policy goals of the US are advanced by cooperation with friendly countries. Extensive denial of sub-threshold items to friendly countries in fact poses a serious foreign policy dilemma to the US.

France is of course the principal country of present concern and a look at the effectiveness of our selective denial policy there may be worthwhile. We have not given the French any assistance in terms of weapons or material for weapons, and our principal direct contribution to their over-all program is probably a 1959 agreement under which we have furnished fuel for a land-based prototype submarine reactor, under safeguards which give us the right to inspect the fuel and facility. But through French purchases, through service-to-service agreements, and trhough industry-to-industry agreements of various kinds, we have unquestionably given France a good deal of the scientific-technological-industrial underpinning required for a weapons and delivery systems effort.

It was essentially the realization of the cumulative effect of our cooperation with France, carried out over a period of years, which led to the re-affirmation of policy represented by NSAM 294. We have not completed the stocktaking effort envisaged by NSAM 294, which of course applies to other countries as well as France, or fully evaluated the ramifications of the policy. It is clear however that if we are to move into more restrictive controls on the great range of sub-threshold items, this will call for a drastic re-vamping of the US export control system and profoundly affect our industrial-business community as well as our relationships with France and other countries against which we exercise such controls.

ANNEX

Export Control: Peaceful Uses

The following report contains a summary of the nature and effectiveness of US policy and procedures regarding controls on the export of nuclear equipment, materials, or technology, directly or indirectly useful for the production of fissionable materials for peaceful purposes.

In the Atomic Energy Act, provision is made for "a program of international cooperation to promote the common defense and security and to make available to cooperating nations the benefits of peaceful applications of atomic energy." The Act provides further that no cooperation with any nation shall be undertaken until an agreement for cooperation has been developed which contains (1) the terms, conditions, duration, nature, and scope of the cooperation; (2) a guaranty by the cooperating party that security safeguards and standards as set forth in the agreement for cooperation will be maintained, and (3) a guaranty by the cooperating party that "any material to be transferred pursuant to such agreement will not be used for atomic weapons, or for research on or development of atomic weapons or for any other military purpose," and a guaranty by the cooperating party "that any material...transferred pursuant to the agreement for cooperation will not be transferred to unauthorized persons or beyond the jurisdiction of the cooperating party, except as specified in the agreement for cooperation."

Under this legislative authorization the Department of State and the Atomic Energy Commission have joined in working out a broad-scale international Atoms for Peace Program with many countries around the world. This program is controlled by bilateral agreements for cooperation in the civil uses of atomic energy which provide for the transfer abroad of special fissionable materials of US origin. These agreements (of which there are now 37 in force with 35 different countries) include a requirement that any such material that is transferred abroad be subject to US safeguards (controls to ensure that material which is transferred for peaceful purposes is not diverted to a military purpose.)

These bilateral agreements are of two kinds: those covering small transfers for research purposes and those covering large amounts of material for power projects. All research agreements include the provision that, if AEC requests, its representatives will be permitted to inspect materials and equipment to ensure that they are not being used for military purposes. Inasmuch as power reactors require much larger quantities of fissionable material as fuel and may also produce substantial quantities of plutonium or Uranium 233, the safeguards provisions in power agreements are more elaborate than those in research agreements and give the US the following rights:

(1) To review the design of reactors and pertinent associated facilities.

(2) To require the maintenance and submission to USG on demand of fuel and operating records.

(3) To request periodic or special reports on the operation of the facility.

(4) To require storage in AEC-designated facilities of any fissionable materials not currently being utilized by the cooperating governments.

(5) To have access to all places and data necessary to verify compliance with the terms of the agreement.

(6) To have a first option to purchase all special nuclear materials that such reactors generate.

(7) To approve in advance any reprocessing facility in which irradiated fuel of US origin is reprocessed.

(8) In the event of non-compliance with the provisions of the cited Article, or the guaranties set forth elsewhere, and the failure of the cooperating government to carry out the provisions of the cited Article within a reasonable time, to suspend or terminate the agreement and require the return of any materials, equipment, and devices transferred under it.

In recent years, in recognition of the preferability of international safeguards to bilateral safeguards, most US bilateral agreements function to the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) at Vienna at a mutually agreeable time. During the past two years some 14 countries have agreed to such transfer.

The IAEA safeguards system provides the Agency with essentially the same rights that are granted to the US Government under its bilateral agreements. In the event that the IAEA discovers a violation, or what appears to be a violation, of the undertaking that material will be used only for peaceful purposes, Article XII C of the Statute of the Agency provides in part that:

"The Board shall call upon the recipient State or States to remedy forthwith any noncompliance which it finds to have occurred..., shall report the noncompliance to all /IAEA/ members and to the Security Council and General Assembly of the United Nations. In the event of failure of the recipient State or States to take fully corrective action within a reasonable time, the Board may take one or both of the following measures: direct curtailment or suspension of assistance being provided by the Agency or by a member, and call for the return of materials and equipment made available to the recipient member of group of members. The Agency may also, in accordance with Article XIX suspend any noncomplying member from the exercise of the privileges and rights of membership."

In addition to material that is sent abroad under bilateral agreements and subject either to bilateral or IAEA safeguards, material for peaceful purposes can also be sent abroad under two other agreements. One is a US-IAEA agreement which came into force on August 7, 1959. Under this agreement the US Government has made available to the IAEA 5,000 kilograms of U-235, which can be distributed (either by sale or grant) to member states under IAEA safeguards. Under this Agreement, arrangements have been completed for the supply of US materials under IAEA safeguards to the following countries: Pakistan, Finland, Yugoslavia, Congo (L), Norway, and Mexico.

Also, under agreements signed between the European Atomic Energy Community (EURATOM) on February 18, 1959, and July 25, 1960, as amended, the US Government has made available to EURATOM 70,000 kilograms of U-235.

This material is to be supplied (on a sale or lease basis) to EURATOM itself or to EURATOM member states through the EURATOM Supply Agency. This material is not subject to US bilateral safeguards, nor is it subject to those of the IAEA. It is, however, fully subject to EURATOM safeguards, which are compatible with those of the US Atomic Energy Commission and those of the IAEA. Periodic meetings are held between representatives of EURATOM, the US AEC and the US Department of State to verify that the methods and procedures followed by EURATOM are compatible with those of the US Government and the IAEA.

With regard to the effectiveness of US policies and procedures on nuclear exports for peaceful purposes three things can be said:

1. As a result of the above-described bilateral and international controls that have been operative during the term of the US Atoms-for Peace Program, it can be said with a high degree of assurance that US nuclear materials and equipment supplied for peaceful purposes to foreign countries have not been diverted to military uses.

2. The policies and procedures covering the peaceful program which are now in force are not designed in such a way that they would be certain to prevent diversion of materials or equipment to military purposes. The intent is rather to give a high degree of assurance that if such diversions are made, they will be detected at a very early stage, so as to provide the United States Government or the international organization a basis for taking early corrective steps.

UNCLASSIFIED

3. The US policies and procedures now in operation are designed to prevent the misuse only of nuclear materials and equipment which are brought into a country from an outside source. They are not designed to prevent the internal development of a nuclear weapons program using only indigenous materials and equipment.

To clarify this point a bit further, the US policies and procedures have been designed to encourage countries to forswear the internal development of a nuclear weapons capability, but up to the present time there are no international controls which would prevent such development unless a country were to submit to them voluntarily. This, of course, stems from the fact that the primary leverage we have in getting countries to accept controls exists only in those instances where the US Government is supplying materials or equipment.

[redacted] HAS MANY OF HIS FACTS WRONG TOO ABOUT ALESSANDRI'S CAMPAIGN FINANCES, PARTICULARLY THE LACK OF ANY EVIDENCE OF MEDIA ADVERTISING SHORTAGE IN ALESSANDRI'S BEHALF AND THE EASY CAPACITY OF HIS CHILEAN SUPPORTERS TO PROVIDE THE NECESSARY CASH INSTEAD OF ENGAGING IN FLIGHT OF CAPITAL. ALSO US OPPOSITION TO CANDIDATE OF CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS WHO CONTROL GOVT AND LARGEST SINGLE PARTY WOULD DOUBTLESS PRODUCE A NEGATIVE REACTION THAT WOULD DO HARM TO IMMEDIATE AND LONGER-TERM US INTERESTS. THUS I REMAIN PERSUADED THAT IT IS TO OUR BENEFIT THAT WE REMAIN UNINVOLVED IN THE CAMPAIGN OF ANY ASPIRANTS TO THE CHILEAN PRESIDENCY AND TO PROLONG THE CURRENT TOTAL LACK OF ANY MENTION OF THE US IN THE CAMPAIGN. I RECOGNIZE THAT IT WILL NOT MAKE THE US "POPULAR" WITH THE PARTIES (AS DISTINCT FROM THE MASS) AND I AM DELIBERATELY FOCUSING RESPONSIBILITY ON ME FOR THE DECISION IN RESPONSE TO THE SOLICITING OF ALESSANDRI AND TOMIC CAMPS SO THAT ANIMOSITIES WILL NOT BE DIRECTED AGAINST WASHINGTON. B. IT IS KENNECOTT WHO IS CURRENTLY MANEUVERING TO TAKE OVER THE MANAGEMENT CONTRACT OF ANACONDA (AS WE REPORTED LAST MONTH). ANACONDA HAS NO RPT NO APPARENT KNOWLEDGE OF THIS ACTION ALTHOUGH KENNECOTT HAS PROBABLY CONTRIBUTED TO CURRENT ANACONDA PROBLEM. (EMBTEL [redacted]).

4. [redacted] IS CORRECT IN STATING ALESSANDRI'S CAMP IS COMPLAINING OF LITTLE MONEY. HE IS INCORRECT IN ASSERTING THE OTHER TWO CANDIDATES HAVE AMPLE FUNDS. THE FOLLOWING IS PERTINENT:

A. IN ADDITON TO THE $200,000 ALESSANDRI IS SUPPOSED TO HAVE RAISED FOR HIS ELECTORAL KITTY, AN ENORMOUS SUM IS PROBABLY BEING PROVIDED IN KIND BY LEADING PUBLISHERS AND RADIO STATION OWNERS IN THE FORM OF HIDDEN YET VERY LARGE KICKBACKS ON ALESSANDRI ADVERTISING. THE NET COST WOULD THEN BE A FRACTION OF WHAT APPEARS ON ANY BOOKS. MOREOVER THE LEADING PUBLISHERS OF THE COUNTRY ARE STACKING NEWS AND PHOTOS TO SUPPORT THEIR COMMITMENT TO ALESSANDRI. THERE IS NO DEARTH OF ALESSANDRI "PAID" PROPAGANDA IN THE MEDIA.

B. [redacted] SEEMS TO BE IGNORANT OF THE CHILEAN LAW THAT PROHIBITS ANY ELECTORAL ADVERTISING ON TV. THEREFORE THERE IS NO RPT NO POSSIBLE TV COST.

C. ALESSANDRI COULD USE MORE MONEY WITHOUT ANY QUESTION, YET OUR MOST CAREFUL JUDGEMENT IS THAT THE AMOUNT THAT COULD BE USEFULLY EMPLOYED IN THE REMAINING FOUR MONTHS WOULD BE AT THE VERY MAXIMUM ONE MILLION DOLLARS. (HALF THE SUM HONESTLY AND EXPERTLY USED WOULD PROBABLY BE ENOUGH.) ONE THOUSAND CHILEANS EACH DONATING ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS COULD SUPPLY THAT SUM WITHOUT ANY CONTRIBUTION FROM ANY US QUARTER. ALESSANDRI'S CAMP INCLUDES THE OVERWHELMING MAJORITY OF THE HIGH INCOME GROUP IN CHILE. THERE ARE LITERALLY THOUSANDS OF SUCH CHILEANS IN A POSITION TO MAKE CONTRIBUTIONS OF ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS. REASONABLE QUESTIONS TO ASK ARE WHY THEY ARE NOT, WHY MANY ARE INSTEAD CURRENTLY ENGAGED IN FLIGHT OF CAPITAL AND THEREFORE WHY THE USG SHOULD SEEK TO SUBSTITUTE FOR THEIR LACK OF COMMITMENT AND OF NATIONAL INTEREST. THIS SITUATION IS THE VERY ANTITHESIS OF WHAT I UNDERSTAND TO BE THE NIXON DOCTRINE.

D. ONE POSSIBLE KEY TO THE SO-CALLED LACK OF MONEY HAS BEEN PROVIDED US IN CONFIDENCE BY [redacted] B6 AND OTHER HIGH-LEVEL ALESSANDRISTAS. THEY SAY THERE IS A DANGER OF OVER-CONFIDENCE THAT COULD LEAD TO COMPLACENCY BY BUSINESSMEN. HENCE THEY TOLD US SOMETIME AGO THAT THEY WOULD LAUNCH VIGOROUS, "POOR MOUTHING" CAMPAIGN TO "SCARE" CONTRIBUTORS AND TO KEEP THEIR SUPPORTERS INTERESTED.

E. ALESSANDRI'S PEOPLE HAVE SO FAR NOT GIVEN THE SLIGHTEST INDICATION OF ANY AWARENESS THAT THEY MUST BUTTRESS THEIR CANDIDATE'S HOUSEHOLD NAME AND HIS ZEST WITH SOME KIND OF ELECTORAL ORGANIZATION. THE TENSIONS BETWEEN GROUP OF HIS SUPPORTERS, THE DESIRE OF EACH FACTION TO BE COMMANDERS WITHOUT CONCERN FOR TROOPS IS BLATANTLY OBVIOUS IN SANTIAGO WHERE ONE-THIRD THE ELECTORATE IS LOCATED. MONEY CANNOT SUBSTITUTE TOTALLY FOR WILL AND EFFORT.

F. ANY SIGNIFICANT SUM ARRIVING FROM THE US WOULD BE AS DISCREET AS A MOON LAUNCH. [redacted] I HAVE HAD TOO MANY PAINFUL EXPERIENCES IN THE PAST TWO YEARS WITH SUPPORTERS OF ALESSANDRI WHO BELIEVE THAT DISCRETION SIGNIFIES ONLY TELLING THEIR FIVE CLOSEST FRIENDS. TO CITE AN EXAMPLE, IT WAS [redacted] WHO INFORMED ME B6 IN FEBRUARY THAT NACIONAL SENATOR PEDRO IBANEZ HAD BEEN TO US AGENCIES IN WASHINGTON SEEKING FUNDS FOR ALESSANDRI AND HAD BEEN TURNED DOWN.

5. NONETHELESS IN ANSWER TO A DIRECT QUESTION FROM [redacted] IN THE PRESENCE OF [redacted] ON APRIL 14 (EMBTEL [redacted]). I SAID I WAS NOT RPT NOT ADVISING ANACONDA TO ABSTAIN FROM ANY CONTRIBUTION IT OR OTHER US COMPANIES WISHED TO MAKE. THE QUESTION CAME AFTER I HAD TOLD THEM THAT IN MY LAST MONTHLY MEETING WITH THE US BUSINESS COMMUNITY I HAD OBSERVED THAT OPEN ALLEGIANCE TO ALESSANDRI HAD ITS INHERENT RISKS TO THEIR FUTURES AND THAT IN THEIR OWN SELF-INTEREST, THEY SHOULD BE DISCREET IN EXPRESSION AND ACTION. I TOLD HALL, AS I HAVE SAID TO THE US BUSINESS COMMUNITY FROM THE OUTSET OF MY STAY HERE, THAT IT WAS THE FUNCTION OF US BUSINESS TO BE PROFITABLE, THAT I WOULD NOT PRESUME TO INTERVENE IN THEIR PURSUIT OF THAT GOAL, THAT I WOULD PROTECT THEIR LEGITIMATE INTERESTS TO THE EXTENT THAT I COULD AT THEIR REQUEST BUT IN TURN THEY COULD NOT EXPECT ME TO INTERVENE BEYOND US OR CHILEAN LAW TO GUARANTEE THEIR PROFITS OR TO SEEK TO HAVE US SACRIFICE BROAD US GOALS FOR ANY NARROW INTEREST. I EXPALINED TO BOTH GROUPS THAT IN MY VIEW THE ONE RELEVANT RESTRAINING INFLUENCE WE STILL HAD ON THE PDC (IN THE ABSENCE OF ANY SIGNIFICANT ECONOMIC OR MILAID) WAS THE FEAR THAT WE WOULD INTERVENE ON ALESSANDRI'S BEHALF IN THE ELECTORAL PROCESS AND THAT AS LONG AS WE DID NOT WE HAD A REASONABLE HOPE OF MAINTAINING DECENT RELS WITH THIS GOC AND, IF TOMIC WON, WITH THE NEXT GOVT. I HAD ASKED THE US BUSINESS COMMUNITY IF ANYONE DISAGREED TO LET ME KNOW. ANACONDA, IT APPEARS FROM REF MEMCON IS THE ONLY COMPANY TO HAVE MADE AN APPROACH.

6. IN THE INTERIM I HAVE TAKEN SOUNDINGS WITH THOSE CHILEAN AND US BUSINESSMEN WHO WANT ALESSANDRI TO BE PRESIDENT AND WHOSE JUDGEMENT I MOST RESPECT; THEY ARE WITHOUT EXCEPTION AGREED THAT USG INTERVENTION (A) CX COULD NOT BE HIDDEN AND (B) WOULD HURT ALESSANDRI. MOREOVER, ALESSANDRI IS INFURIATED WITH ANACONDA AND WITH THOSE CHILEANS ACTING AS INTERMEDIARIES AS REPORTED IN EMBTEL [ ].

7. I RECGONIZE OF COURSE THAT ONCE THE US BUSINESS COMMUNITY MAKES ITS CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE ALESSANDRI KITTY (AND ANACONDA HAS GOOD REASON TO CONTRIBUTE ALONE THE AFOREMENTIONED MAXIMUM OF $500,000) IT WILL BE ~~DIFFICULT TO MAINTAIN A USG POSTURE OF NEUTRALITY~~ AND NON-INVOLVEMENT. ANACONDA WOULD ARGUE THAT THEREFORE AN ATTEMPT TO SUSTAIN A DISTINCTION IS IN PRACTICAL TERMS MEANGINLESS. I DISAGREE. THE PAST FORTNIGHT I HAVE SOUGHT OUT TOMIC'S CAMPAIGN LEADERS WHO, INCIDENTALLY, ALSO WANT VERY MUCH A USG COMMITMENT TO THEIR CANDIDATE, TO EXPALIN WHY WE ARE GOING TO MAINTAIN COMPLETE NEUTRALITY, WHY WE BELIEVE SUCH NEUTRALITY IS THE MOST EFFECTIVE WEAPON AGAINST THE POSSIBILITY OF AN ALLENDE VICTORY. WHEN THEY HAVE TALKED OF ANACONDA'S INTENTIONS TO SUPPORT ALESSANDRI, I HAVE ADMITTED THAT THE USG CANNOT CONTROL THE PRIVATE ACTIONS OF ITS CITIZENS AND THAT WE AGREE WITH TOMIC'S PUBLIC ELECTORAL AFFIRMATIONS THAT DISTINCTION MUST BE MADE BETWEEN THE USG AND THE ACTIONS OF PRIVATE AMERICANS. I REMAIN PERSUADED THAT AS LONG AS THE USG CAN HONESTLY ATTENTS TO ITS ELECTORAL NEUTRALITY WITH THE RESPECT TO ALESSANDRI AND TOMIC, IT WILL BE SUBSTANTIATED AND ACCEPTED BY TOMIC AND HIS CLOSEST ADVISORS DESPITE THEIR UNHAPPINESS WITH OUR NON-COMMITMENT TO THEM. SO FAR THEY ADMIT TO NO CONTRARTY KNOWLEDGE. THEY STATE THAT SO FAR NO US FUNDING FROM ANY SOURCE HAS OCCURRED.

8. AS FOR THE FUTURE OF PRIVATE ENTERPRIDSE IN CHILE, IT COULD BE ARGUED THAT HENRY FORD, HAS DONE MORE THE PAST TWO WEEKS TO AFFECT THE FUTURE DIRECTION OF US INVESTMENT IN LATIN AMERICA THAN ANYTHING ANACONDA OR THE USG DOES IN CHILE. THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF A FORD DEAL WITH YUGOSLAVIA BY WHICH TRUCKS WIL BE PRODUCED BYA COMPANY IN ~~WHICH~~ FORD WILL HAVE ONLY 49 PERCENT INTREST AND THE YUGOSLAV STATE AGENCY 51 PERCENT FOLLOWED BY THE FORD DISCUSSIONS WITH THE SOVIETS WILL MAKE IT VERY DIFFICULT IF NOT IMPOSSIBLE FOR US COMPANIES TO INSIST ON CLASSICAL CONTROL. THIS IS PARTICULARLY TRUE IN A CHILEAN ENVIORNMENT IN WHICH LOCAL PRIVATE ENTERPRISE HAS BEEN FOR THE MOST PART A PARTNER OF GOVT IN THIS CENTRY AND IN WHICH STATIST THEORIES OF ONE KIND OR ANOTHER DOMINATE ALL THREE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES. FORD IS DEMONSTRATING THAT US BUSINESS IS DYNAMIC AND THAT EVEN SOCIALIST COUNTRIES NEED US KNOW-HOW. [redacted] PLACED ITS MONEY ON FREI TO INSURE ITS FUTURE -- AND WHAT HAPPENED? IN PUTTING MONEY ON ALESSANDRI, IT WILL NOT STEM AN EVER MORE APPARENT TENDENCY THERE WHERE PROFOUND HISTORICAL DISTORTIONS HAVE CREATED AN UNPROPRITIOUS CLIMATE FOR CLASSIC CAPITALISM. WE INTEND TO DO OUR BEST WITH AN ALESSANDRI ADMINISTRATION TO SUPPORT BETTER INCENTIVES AND STRUCTURES FOR A MORE MODERN PRIVATE SECTOR BUT IT WILL BE AN UPHILL STRUGGLE.

9. A WORD ABOUT THE ELECTIONS. ALESSANDRI IS STILL IN FRONT AND TOMIC APPEARS TO BE GAINING STRENGTH ALTHOUGH STILL WELL BEHIND. FROM A US LONG-TERM INTEREST POINT OF VIEW, THE IDEAL FINISH WOULD BE ALESSANDRI AND TOMIC AHEAD OF ALLENDE. THIS WOULD BE A CRUSHING BLOW FOR THE MARXISTS. GREATER STRENGTH FOR ALESSANDRI CAN COME ABOVE ALL AT THE EXPENSE OF TOMIC. IT IS OUR VIEWS THAT ALLENDE WILL BE A MUCH STRONGER SECOND IF TOMIC (HE STARTED BEHIND THE OTHER TWO) LOSES GROUND. THIS IN TURN RAISES TWO UNPALATABLE POSSIBILITIES -- THAT THE CHILEAN CONGRESS MIGHT ELECT ALLENDE PRESIDENT AND THAT THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS WOULD BECOME SO WEAK A FORCE IN CHILE THAT THEY COULD NO LONGER ACT IN THE FUTURE AS THE EFFECTIVE BUFFER TO THE STEADILY GROWING COMMUNIST AND OTHER LENINIST FORCES. THIS SAME ANALYSIS HAS BEEN MADE BY THE VERY ASTUTE COMMUNIST PARTY WHICH WOULD PREFER ALESSANDRI TO TOMIC AND BY THE CARDINAL OF CHILE WHO RECENTLY INTERVENED INDIRECTLY TO WEAKEN ALESSANDRI AND TO HELP TOMIC. (MORE ON THESE TWO SUBJECTS IN AIRGRAMS.)

10. ONE FINAL THOUGHT ABOUT COMMITMENT. NONE OTHER THAN [redacted] IN A CONVERSATION LAST WEEK ACCUSED THE USG OF NOT EVEN CARING IF ALLENDE WERE ELECTED. IN THE EXCHANGE THAT FOLLOWED MY DENIAL [redacted] REFERRED TO OUR LACK OF ELECTORAL SUPPORT FOR TOMIC AND HE WOVE HIS RESENTMENT INTO HIS GENERAL ARGUMENT THAT THERE NO LONGER WAS ANY MATERIAL REASON TO SUSTAIN A BELIEF OF ANY SPECIAL RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN CHILE AND THE US. [redacted] HAS HIS OWN WELL-KNOWN REASONS FOR WISHING TO NORMALIZE RELS WITH CUBA (TO KEEP CHILE IMMUNE FROM TERRORISM, TO EMULATE MEXICAN NEUTRALITY AND TO MAKE SOUTH AMERICA AN INDEPENDENT FORCE IN WORLD AFFAIRS). WE HAVE FEWER AND FEWER TANGIBLE ASSETS TO EMPLOY TO RETAIN INFLUENCE BUT IF THE USE WERE TO COMMIT ITSELF TO AN ANTI-PDC ELECTORAL POSITION, THE SHORT AND LONG TERM CONSEQUENCES WITH RESPECT TO WHAT IS STILL THE LARGEST SINGLE POLITICAL PARTY IN CHILE AND THE GOVERNMENT COULD HAVE VERY SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES HERE.

11. CONCLUSION: I WOULD UNDERSTAND A THEORETICAL CASE TO HELP BOTH ALESSANDRI AND TOMIC TO DEFEAT THE CASTROIST ALLENDE AND TO DEMONSTRATE A HEDGING US SYMPATHY TO EACH.

SECRET

I CANNOT SEE ANY THEORETICAL ADVANTAGE IN HLEPING ONE TO FIGHT THE OTHER WITH INDIRECT BENEFITS TO ALLENDE PARTICULARLY WHEN SUCH A COMMITMENT COULD NOT BE "DISCREET" AND WHEN SUCH USG INTERVENTION WOULD LEAD TO THE FURTHER INDIRECT "COMMITMENT" TO BAIL OUT THE NEW GOVERNMENT WHENEVER IT GOT INTO TROUBLE. THIS LONGER-TERM IMPLICATION OF "COMMITMENT" IS OF VERY GREAT INTEREST TO BOTH THE ALESSANDRI AND TOMIC CAMPS IN BOTH PSYCHOLOGICAL AND MATERIAL TERMS.

SUBJECT: Ambassador Korry recommends that U.S. not intervene in Chilean Elections

REFERENCE: Santiago [redacted], ~~SECRET~~/[redacted] 29 April

Ambassador Korry emphatically recommends that the USG reject the advice of an Anaconda official that the USG give assistance to the presidential campaign of the conservative candidate, Alessandri. His principal arguments are:

a) Alessandri has sufficient funds and/or sources of funds;

b) Our assistance would surely become known. This would provide a bonus for the Chilean left wing and would have many unfortunate consequences not only for the U.S. position in Chile (especially with the ruling Christian Democratic Party), but also for Alessandri himself;

c) In no event, even with an Alessandri victory, will the climate in Chile be propitious for capitalistic enterprise.

COMMENT: STET

[redacted] With this telegram, the Ambassador has confounded predictions that he would soon recommend that we adopt a more positive stance and intervene with specific political action to help Alessandri. We endorse this position.

At the end of his message, Korry does raise the theoretical possibility that we might aid both Alessandri and the Christian Democratic candidate, Tomic, in an effort to force Allende into third place and thus out of consideration in the final decision that the Chilean Congress will make between the two candidates who lead in the popular election. I see no merit in such bulk intervention, and much risk.

Anti-Bolshevik Bloc of Nations (ABN)

What was, in the long run, possibly the most important action of the Banderists after the Second World War was the acquisition of control over a multi-national organization named the Anti-Bolshevik Bloc of Nations, but more generally known as the ABN.

Originally created in 1943 in German-occupied territory, the ABN had been sponsored by the various non-Russian national groups of Eastern Europe collaborating with the Germans. Following the Second World War, it was reactivated in the British Zone of Germany at the initiative of Jaroslaw Stetzko (Munich), the immensely energetic vice-president and later president of the Bandera group. Its chief supporter was the Scottish League for European Freedom, an organization formed in 1944 to educate the British public regarding Eastern and Central European affairs and to warn the world at large of the Russian menace. By 1948, the ABN included representatives of fourteen national groups of the Soviet Union and its European satellites, drawn largely from the more fervently nationalist non-Russian associations but including a number of the moderates. By 1949, Stetzko was firmly in control.

A great increase in the activity of this organization after it came under the full control of its Banderist president, was an important development in the Ukrainian political emigration. In 1950, the ABN held a conference in Edinburgh under the auspices of its chief supporter, the Scottish League for European Freedom, and in 1951 it organized in New York a sponsor called the American Friends of the Anti-Bolshevik Bloc of Nations, with a leading Banderist as secretary-general.

EXCLUDED FROM GENERAL DECLASSIFICATION SCHEDULE

ATT. 2.

On November 6, 1943, representatives of ten of the fourteen national groups making up the ABN complained publicly that in spite of a provision for annual conferences to hold elections, none had been convened since 1948, and on February 5, 1954, eight of the signatories to the complaint announced that on account of the illegal procedure of the Presidium in refusing to call elections in accordance with the statutes, they were withdrawing. They were quickly replaced by members of the same nationalities, but much of the aura of the association as a broad representation of the emigration was lost and its character as a spokesman for the extremist Galician nationalists was brought more clearly into the light. Its activity continued, nevertheless, at full tempo. And by 1954 it claimed, nevertheless, a membership of twenty-two national groups, with only the Poles failing to be represented owing to a territorial dispute with the Lithuanians. Temporarily in close cooperation with the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America and the Ukrainian National Association, and apparently amply financed, it held large conferences, and issued a flood of anti-Bolshevik but also anti-Russian propaganda publications, including a steady fire of vituperation directed at the American Committee and the emigre organizations that cooperated with the American Committee.

In the winter of 1955-56 Stetzko, editor of the Baderist The Path of Victory and president of the ABN, made a world trip to Taipei, Formosa, where he announced that an agreement for cooperation had been made with the Asian People's Anti-Communist League. Cooperation with the Inter-American Confederation for the Defense of the Continent was already in effect, and in March 1958 the ABN, supported by the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America and the Ukrainian National Association, which advertised it widely in its organs, the Ukrainian Bulletin and The Ukrainian Quarterly, held a large world Anti-Communist Congress for Freedom and Liberation, in Mexico City.

In 1959 Bandera was assassinated in Munich by a Soviet agent, and his organization practically ceased to exist, except as embodied in the ABN which continued its activity. At one time it claimed the adherence of twenty-four national groups, and in 1962, in a speech in Germany, a representative of the ABN claimed 10,000,000 members, a figure apparently based on the total nominal membership of worldwide associations whose officials were lending moral support to the organization.

After Stepan Bandera publicly resigned as President of OUN-r in August 1952 and as Jaroslaw Stetzko (Munich) became President, Dr. Bohdan Kordiuk (Munich) and a group of intellectuals began to object to Bandera and to Stetzko and to demand moderation. By October 15, 1969, the Organization of Ukrainian Nationalists Abroad (OUN-z) with Dr. Kordiuk as President had been participating in the UNRada since March 1967. The OUN-z maintains close collaboration with the Foreign Representation of the Ukrainian Supreme Liberation Council (ZP-UHVR), headed by Mykola Lebed (United States).

Stepan Bandera was assassinated by a Soviet agent in Munich in 1959. Jaroslaw Stetzko (Munich) is now President of the Foreign Sections of OUN(ZCh/OUN), OUN-Bandera, OUN-r, and chairman of the Central Committee of the Anti-Bolshevik Bloc of Nations (ABN), having eliminated Stepan Lenkawskyj who succeeded Bandera. This extremist organization appears to have more members, more support, more money and to be further to the right than all the other Ukrainian political parties combined.

In evaluating Ambassador Korry's latest recommendations, it is pertinent to remember that in the recent past the Ambassador has made a number of comments on the Chilean election issue that tend to diminish the force of his current argument.

1) In a 19 January meeting in the Department, Mr. Korry said that an Allende victory would not be tantamount to a Communist Party victory. He said instead we had to act as if a UP victory would produce a Castro-type regime. (It is true that on many other occasions Mr. Korry has spoken in the direst terms of the consequences of an Allende victory.)

2) At the same meeting, Mr. Korry said that an Alessandri victory, in the long run, would be as bad for us as an Allende victory. It would mean eventually a military take-over under left-wing influence.

3) Mr. Korry states in the very message in which he recommends that we take action, that only because we in fact have not involved ourselves in the election do people believe that we have not. He stated also on 29 April (Santiago [redacted] that it was to our interest to remain uninvolved and thus prolong the alck of any mention of the US in the campaign.

4) Mr. Korry has said that Alessandri has plenty of money, that there are plenty of Chileans who could contribute the necessary $500 thousand or million, and that if they do not there is no reason why we should interfere to try to make up the gap. (Santiago [redacted]

5) Mr. Korry has said that "any significant sum arriving from the US would be as discreet as a moon launch". This was said in connection

Ambassador Korry is becoming increasingly apprehensive that the leftist candidate, Salvador Allende, will be elected President of Chile. He fears that Allende will come in a close second to the Conservative candidate, Jorge Alessandri, in the 4 September general election and will therefore be in a position to defeat Alessandri in the Congressional run-off on 24 October between the top two candidates.

There are grounds for the Ambassador's alarm. The three candidates are closely bunched and Allende, if he finishes a respectable second, could well win in Congress. [redacted] STET

YOU WILL HAVE NOTED, I AM SURE, SANTIAGO 2881, PARA 5 WHICH REPORTS TO MY TOTAL REJECTION TO THE ATTEMPT BY [PEREZ ZUJOVIC] B-6 TO DRAW ME INTO A DISCUSSION OF POSSIBLE MILITARY INTERVENTION OF SOME KIND. I HAVE TAKEN OTHER (REPORTED) ACTIONS TO KEEP THE US IN THE PUBLIC POSTURE OF TREATING ALL CANDIDATES EVEN-HANDEDLY. THUS FAR US MEDIA IN ITS TOTALITY AND THE CHILEAN MEDIA WITH THE EXPECTED EXCEPTION OF THE MARXISTS-LENINISTS HAVE KEPT US OUT OF THE CAMPAIGN AND EVEN THE ALLENDISTAS ARE FOCUSSING ON US COMPANIES RATHER THAN THE USG.

5. BUT THE FACT REMAINS THAT THERE IS NO RPT NO WAY THAT I CAN REALISTICALLY ADDRESS MYSELF TO [C] CONTINGENICES WITHOUT KNOWING FREI'S THINKING. THERE IS NO PRACTICAL WAY OF GAINING ESSENTIAL INSIGHTS BY PLAYING THE ROLE OF AN INNOCENT OBSERVER. POLITICS, SAID LORD CECIL, ARE IMPOSSIBLE TO FOLLOW UNLESS YOU ARE IN CONSTANT TOUCH WITH ALL THEIR DEVELOPMENTS. IT IS TO FLY IN THE FACE OF THIS SELF-EVIDENT DICTUM TO ELIMINATE THE MOST KNOWLEDGEABLE BY FAR POLITICIAN IN THE COUNTRY AND THE MAN WHO HOLDS ALL THE DECISIVE LEVERS.

6. I AM IN FULL ACCORD WITH YOUR CONCERNS ABOUT THE MANIFOLD DANGERS OF EXPOSURE TO THE UNITED STATES. I CAN ONLY ASSURE YOU THAT I WOULD NOT RUN RISKS THAT WOULD JEOPARDIZE THE US; I CAN ONLY CITE AS EVIDENCE MY PERFORMANCE OF THE PAST EIGHT YEARS AS CHIEF OF MISSION TO SUPPORT THAT GENERAL ASSURANCE. IN DEALING WITH THE ANACONDA NEGOTIATIONS LAST YEAR, WHICH WERE NOT QUITE AS "EXPLOSIVE" AS THIS ISSUE, MY CRITICAL DECISION CAME WHEN THE DIRECT TALKS BETWEEN GOC AND COMPANY WERE HEADING FOR BREAKDWON AND PUBLII CONFRONTATION. AT THAT POINT I WENT TO FREI. I DID NOT RPT NOT GO TO SEEK TO NEGOTIATE WITH HIM; RATHER, IT WAS TO GET HIS APPRECIATION OF THE SITUATION INCLUDING WHAT ROLE HE WOULD PREFER I PLAY AND WITH WHOM.

DISHONEST BUT IT COURTS REAL DISASTER IN THAT IT RAISES THE POSSIBILITY OF WASHINGTON DECISIONS BASED ON THE LOGIC OF WHAT SHOULD BE AS DISTINCT FROM WHAT IS.

8. IT MAY BE SUGGESTED THAT WE HAVE OTHER INSTRUMENTS FOR ASSESSING THE SITUATION. MY EXPERIENCE OF THE PAST THREE YEARS LEAD ME TO AN OPPOSITE CONCLUSION. AS A CONSUMMATE POLITICIAN FREI CONVINCES EVERY VISITOR TO HIS OFFICE THAT HE AGREES WITH THEM WHICH IS ONE REASON HE IS SO EXTRAORDINARILY POPULAR NOW. AND THE QUASI-TOTALITY OF CHILEAN MILITARY AND POLTICIANS, WITH THE NOTABLE EXCEPTION OF THE COMMUNISTS, HAVE A POLITICAL PERCEPTION LEVEL THAT IS SO MEDIOCRE THAT ONLY FOOLS WOULD TREAD ON THEIR PROJECTIONS OF FREI'S INTENTIONS. CHURCHILL SAID THAT "TRUE GENIUS RESIDES IN THE CAPACITY FOR EVALUATION OF UNDERTAIN, HAZARDOUS AND CONFLICTING INFORMATION". I WOULD HAVE TO ASPIRE TO FAR MORE THAN GENIUS TO EVALUTE AND TO RECOMMEND WHILE ISOLATING MYSELF FROM THE MOST ESSENTIAL INFORMATION AND TO OFFER APPRECIATIONS UNIQUELY BASED ON THE MOST HAZARDOUS OF INFORMATION.

THE REPORT I DID ON AFRICA CONVERTED US POLICY FROM ACTIVISM TO RESTRAINT; THE LOW PROFILE ARGUMENTS I MADE TO THE PREVIOUS ADMINISTRATION FROM HERE AND WHICH I HAVE EXECUTED HERE ARE THE ANTITHESIS OF ACTIVISM; THE PAPER I DID FOR UNDERSEC RICHARDSON ON THE FUTURE RELATIONSHIPS OF THE US WITH THE LDCS WAS CRITICIZED FOR ITS RETREAT FROM HELTER-SKELTER ACTIVISM; THE RECOMMENDATIONS I HAVE BEEN DISCUSSING FOR THE SHARP REDUCTION IN OFFICIAL US PRESENCE HERE IS BEING OPPOSED BY BUREAUCRATS WHO WANT TO BE ACTIVE IN EVERYTHING. NEITHER LOW PROFILE NOR THE CAREFUL MATCHING OF REAL US INTERESTS TO US RESOURCE AVAILABILITY WAS INTENDED TO BE PASSIVISM. A CHIEF OF MISSION SHOULD BIDE HIS TIME AND HIS RESOURCES FOR THOSE RARE OCCASIONS WHEN US INTEREST IS VERY DEFINITELY AT STAKE. I BELIEVED AND I BELIEVE THAT THE ELECTION OF ALLENDE IS VERY POSSIBLE AND THAT IT WILL HAVE TREMENDOUS IMPACT ON US INTERESTS IN LATIN AMERICA AND ELSEWHERE; I BELIEVED THAT THE HIGHEST LEVELS OF THE USG WOULD ALSO COME TO THAT CONCLUSION; I BELIEVED AND I BELIEVE THAT THE USG DID NOT RPT NOT HAVE TO BECOME INVOLVED IN ANY GREAT EFFORT TO ELECT ANOTHER CANDIDATE AND WE HAVE NOT. 10. A FINAL WORD ABOUT "CONDITIONING". FOR ME THAT WORD HAS ONLY ONE MEAING INSOFAR AS FREI AND THE PRESENT PROBLEM IS CONCERNED. 11 WAS AND IS TO MAKE FREI FEEL THAT HE HAS AN AWARENESS OF HISTORY, THAT HE CONSIDER' MOST CAREFULLY THE JUDGEMENT OF HISTORY IF CHILE WERE TO LOSE ITS FREEDOM FOR A LONG STRETCH. OBVIOUSLY A PRESIDENT OF HIS STATURE, OF HIS ACUITY AND OF HIS DEVOTION TO DEMOCRACY, WILL CONSIDER HISTORY'S JUDGMENTS WITHOUT PRODDING. BUT THE PRESSURES TO ACCEPT THE DEMOCRATIC DECISION OF AN ALLENDE PRESIDENCY ARE NO LESS STRONG THAN THE PRESSURES TO PREVENT CHILE'S CONVERSION INTO ANOTHER CUBA. AS THE US AMBASSADOR I HAPPEN TO BE ONE OF THE FEW PEOPLE WHITH WHOM HE CAN DISCUSS SUCH QUESTIONS DIS-PASSIONATELY AND WHOSE RESPONSES HE CONSIDERS VERY CAREFULLY. BUT IT HAS TO BE A DISCUSSIONS NOT A DEADPAN INTERVIEW IN WHICH I SEEK INFORMATION AND GIVE NOTHING. I WOULD GUESS THAT HE IS PUZZLED BY OUR PASSIVITY; I WOULD GUESS TOO THAT IT IS WEAKENING HIS NEVER-STRONG CAPACITY FOR ACTION; I WOULD ALSO HAZARD THE INCIDENTAL JUDGEMENT THAT THE US ALOOFNESS IS SERVING TO ENCOURAGE [ ] IN HIS CUBA POLICY FOR IT REINFORCES THE FEELING THAT THE US NO LONGER GIVES A DAMN WHAT HAPPENS IN CHILE. ARA - Mr. Crimmins

John:

Attached is a CIA Propaganda Guidance Item on Chile. The paper is late, but we unfortunately still need ARA comment by COB Thursday (or early on Friday AM).

My own view is that the paper wouldn't do much harm, but is cloudy and ineptly written. Some specific points that occur:

1) First para. The second sentence ~~lists~~ that the real danger is the example that a Allende success would offer third countries. This is of course a danger -- but the primary cost to us would be Chile itself.

2) Para. 2, last sentence: Allende is not making every effort to appear moderate (as later paragraphs themselves reveal) and to say so invites a misapprehension of the forces at work in Chile.

3) Para. 3d: Would Allende try to take Chile out of OAS?

All in all, I doubt the utility of this piece. In Chile itself we are encouraging, goodness knows, much propaganda that is -- I hope -- more telling than this. As to extra-Chilean targets, I don't know why at this point they should interest us.

PROPOSED AGENDA

Meeting of the 40 Committee, August 7, 1970

1. Summary of Developments: Chile, [redacted]

A. Chile. The 40 Committee on 27 June approved Part I of Ambassador Korry's proposal for infusion of [redacted] (in addition to [redacted] last March) for anti-Allende activities, but deferred discussion of his proposal [redacted] CIA will tell the Committee of the actions it has taken to date to implement the Committee's approval of Part I.

Ambassador Korry's proposal [redacted] has not been based on an apprehension that Allende would come in first in the popular vote; no responsible forecast that we have seen envisages such an outcome. The Ambassador believes that there is a real chance that Allende will be second in the general election and that, if he comes within five percent of the votes won by the front-running Alessandri, Congress could very well elect him president. An NIE approved on 30 July states, however, that Allende "must finish first on the popular vote to have much chance of election by the Congress". Papers prepared for the last meeting are at TAB 1A.

1. Our basic problem, if the popular election of September 4 places Allende in close competition for the presidency in the congressional election of October 24, is to weigh the alternative risks to the U.S. that would be posed by

a) an Allende government, and

b) our attempt to block his presidency C

2. The case [ ] has been well argued. In essence: Allende hopes to establish a Marxist state, to expropriate U.S. investment, to follow a foreign policy friendly to Cuba and inimical to the U.S. I believe we have not given enough weight to forces in Chile that might frustrate his plans -- an intact military that has not oppressed or been defeated by the people (unlike Cuba when Castro took power); and powerful groups in labor, business and industry and on the land. Nevertheless, the penalties of an Allende victory would obviously be heavy.

3. In attempting to assess the penalties of being caught in our presently proposed operation, I believe it helpful to compare them with our hitherto most costly Latin American failure in covert operations -- Pigs' Bay. The American President was able to assume responsibility for that operation. I doubt he could do so for [ ]. Such action is beyond the pale, and evidence of our involvement would hurt our prestige and effectiveness in Latin America (not to mention the United States Government's reputation with its own citizens) even more than did Pigs' Bay. I assess the potential penalties [ ] as greater than those of an Allende victory.

ACTION IN SUPPORT OF U.S. POSTURE TOWARDS CHILE

I. The courses of action recommended are posited on the following assumptions:

A. Allende will be elected October 24th by the Chilean Congress in a free and secret ballot by an overwhelming majority with the implicit approval of the armed forces.

B. Allende's election will provoke no overt hostility from any Latin American or Western European government and these governments will accept in regional and multilateral organizations an Allende government as representative of a sovereign, independent Chile.

C. An Allende Government will, despite reassuring articulations, have a profound anti-American bias and will work against US influences in the country, the area, and the world.

D. An Allende Government may for tactical reasons, wish to maintain its international credibility as a responsible debtor, as a trusted borrower, and as a sovereign nation that fulfills its international obligations independent of any great power.

E. An Allende Government will, at least in its first two years, encounter political opposition from anti-Communist forces and suffer from internal tensions (between Socialists of Maoist beliefs and orthodox Communists loyal to Moscow seeking dominance, and between non-doctrinaire opportunists and ideologues) in the management of a much-bureaucratized government.

F. An Allende Government will encounter serious economic problems and perhaps particularly coincidental with the March, 1971 nationwide municipal elections and two simultaneous Congressional by-elections; such problems could exacerbate tensions within the governing coalition and increase the potential of anti-government forces.

II. The objectives of US policies should be:

A. To bolster by covert action those forces opposed to the establishment in Chile of a Marxist-Leninist system.

B. To protect by quiet negotiation specific US interests in Chile so as to demonstrate the effective capacity of the US to influence events and so as to exploit to the maximum in defense of our legitimate interests the desires of an Allende regime for legitimacy.

C. To deal publicly with the new Chilean Government in a manner consonant with declared US policies for Latin America and to avoid converting in the public's mind the triumph of Allende into a defeat for this Administration.

III. Actions would be implemented at these three levels -- covert, diplomatic, and public -- in the following ways:

A. Covert:

1. Financial support to anti-Allende forces to [ ] operate radio stations and newspapers.

2. Financial support to [ ] [ ] opposition parties.

3. Financial support to selected anti-Allende personalities in the Armed Forces.

4. Acquisition of political assets within the Allende coalition.

5. Political action to exacerbate tensions between the disparate components of the Popular Unity coalition.

6. Political action to encourage the [ ] [...] so as to hamper the operation of the economy and to augment the political tensions.

7. Selected political action designed to maximize the opposition to the Allende Government in the March, 1971 nationwide municipal elections and the simultaneous two Congressional by-elections.

8. Propaganda action to publicize in the world media any contravention of Chilean constitutional guarantees of a pluralistic democracy, any shortcomings of the Allende Government, any tensions inside his ruling coalition and to combat his planned denigration of his political opponents.

[ ]

B. Diplomatic:

1. Authorize the Ambassador to seek between October 24th and November 4th by unpublicized negotiation with Allende firm and quickly-provable commitments:

a. to meet Chile's financial obligations to US institutions, public and private,

b. to write the nationalization laws for copper and banks (expected to be submitted November 5 to the Chilean Congress) so as to assure compensation of a kind and of a term that would obviate Hickenlooper Amendment implementation or significant USG payments to private US companies holding AID investment guarantees,

c. to delay full diplomatic recognition to North Vietnam, North Korea and possibly East Germany (eschewing any effort on our part to affect the full recognition of Communist China or Cuba),

d. that Chile will not provide military bases to any foreign power or be used for the export of revolution via guerrilla training camps or dispatch of such trainees to other countries.

The Ambassador should inform Allende that the US and probably the hemisphere will look very seriously on any violation of the commitments outlined in the foregoing paragraph d.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

The Ambassador should inform Allende of pertinent US legislation that might come into play and its implications for our bilateral relations, including our positions in multilateral organizations, if he were to ignore our views concerning the matters raised in paras a through c of this section.

2. Instruct the Department and the Ambassador to plan for the following unilateral actions:

a. Maintain a very compact A.I.D. presence that concentrates on people-to-people relations (Title II humanitarian programs, exchanges of students, small impact projects) and a very few technical assistants in fields of interest to the US (e.g., health). All other technical assistance will be phased out by quiet withdrawal and non-replacement over a period of several months; all other A.I.D. activities will be reduced commensurate with our obligations to the U.S. Congress to supervise and to audit projects.

b. Continue to deobligate A.I.D. funds in the pipeline to the maximum practicable extent and, predicated on an acceptable negotiation with Allende prior to November 4th, permit the disbursement of A.I.D. pipeline funds (less than $30,000,000, of which a large amount is in irrevocable special letters of credit) in accordance with the conditions of the original loans. (There has been only one A.I.D. loan of $2,500,000 for student exchanges in the past two full years.)

c. Cancel all replacement plans for the Peace Corps (which has been quietly reduced recently to some 90 volunteers) and assume the phase-out of this program unless the Allende Government requests in writing its continuance.

d. Maintain the Military Group (maximum 13 officers and men) until such time as the Allende Government requests its elimination; maintain the courses of training for Chileans in Panama and the US. Permit the fulfillment of contracted military aid commitments (value approximately $4,000,000 of which a significant part was paid by the Chileans in cash).

e. Phase out quietly the entire AFTAC presence from its three locations in Chile (Easter Island, Punta Arenas and Quintero).

f. Permit the continuance of the NASA station if the Chilean Government so requests in writing.

g. Reduce to the minimum possible the numbers of official Americans and local employees of all agencies of the US.

3. Instruct the Department of State to:

a. Arrange with the Export-Import Bank to service exporters under a centralized review system.

b. [redacted]

c. Consult with the governments of Brazil, Argentina, Peru, Mexico, Colombia, Venezuela, Uruguay, Guatemala and the Dominican Republic on the nature of our public posture to the Chilean Government.

C. Public Policy

1. President Nixon would implement our public policy of restrained relations with an Allende Government by acknowledging his election October 24th with a prompt and succinct cable of congratulations that would emphasize the Chilean traditions of democracy and of freedom.

2. The US would send a delegation to the inauguration of Allende headed by Assistant Secretary Meyer.

3. The US Mission to the OAS would distribute to all members the President's official statement on Allende's election and explain our level of representation at the inauguration. (We would seek in Western Europe, Japan and in Latin American capitals by diplomatic action to avoid any extravagant delegations to the inauguration.)

4. The US Government would eschew all other public statements.

Attached is a CIA summary of current and contemplated covert actions in Chile that are keyed to NSDM 93. The program is estimated to cost [redacted]

The program appears in general to be well-conceived, but raises certain questions that should be kept under continuing review. The effect of inter-action between the various elements of the proposed program is particularly important. Should we, for instance, be successful in weakening the Socialist Party, would we wish also to weaken Allende, who might remain the only substantial obstacle to a substantial increase of Communist Party power?

RECOMMENDATION

That you approve (a) the proposed contingency budget of [redacted] and (b) the covert action program in its general outline, subject to continuing review of its major implementation actions.

EXCISE

Dear Ambassador Lodge:

My staff and I were happy to receive your letter of November 12 which commented on our recent Research Study (RSGS-3) "Is Allende the Prelude to a Communist Victory?", not only because we feel gratified that our paper found its way into your reading file, but even more because it gives us an opportunity for a brief dialogue with you on the very vital subject of the likely course of Chile's political evolution.

First of all, let me say that I do not think that there is any fundamental disagreement between us on the conclusion that the accession of Allende to power has been tragically bad news, for the United States as well as Chile. As our Research Study says twice on its first page, "the outlook for the survival of Chilean democracy does not seem favorable." Moreover, I think that our view of developments is entirely in accord with National Intelligence Estimate [ ] of July 30, 1970, "The Outlook for Chile," which, in paragraphs 45, 46 and 47, paints a gloomy prospect of that country's future under Allende.

What RSGS-3 attempted to do was to go beyond this starting point to examine one particular aspect of the political dynamics which will affect where Allende might lead Chile. This aspect relates to the prospect for harmony or division within Allende's "Popular Unity" coalition, and specifically to the nature of the inter-relationships of the two biggest parties in the coalition, the Communists and the Socialists. Our paper tried to elaborate on the thought in paragraph 47 of NIE [ ] which says that one of the "important obstacles" to Allende's success in achieving his Marxist goals will be the problem "of keeping the UP coalition together." We think we should be looking for weaknesses in the armor of the Allende administration, and this is possibly one.

I must say it seems to us that variations in the internal make-up and external allegiances of a Marxist state do make a substantial difference in the dangers which that country is likely to pose for American interests. As the President's trip in October implied, Yugoslavia demonstrates the hopeful side. Admittedly, in the especially tempestuous circumstances of today's Latin America, a Marxist regime in any nation will radiate influences that can only complicate the achievement of American aims. It is still fair to say that our difficulties with a populist, nationalist, anti-Yanqui administration, whether in Chile, Peru, or Peronist Argentina, will be much more manageable than with a government run by a Communist Party fairly loyal to Moscow.

The Honorable

RSGS-3 went fairly deeply into the turbulent history of rivalry between the Communist and Socialist Parties in Chile, as well as into the rather diverse ideological currents that run through the Socialist Party. As we see it, Allende is not a disciplined Marxist thinker, but rather a consummate politician who has earnestly adopted fairly simplistic Socialist slogans and cliches. He will act on them, of course, but many of his moves will be opportunistic, tactically pragmatic, and eclectically heterodox. There is in him a consistent and strong strain of anti-Americanism, but he has as yet no record of being a Soviet puppet, and, as our study notes, his party in 1968 denounced the invasion of Czechoslovakia (which Castro supported).

We have no illusions whatsoever about Chile's prospective divergence on a broad front from American foreign policy positions, but we do not believe that, as you write, it shows "a certain susceptibility to some forms of communist propaganda" for our paper to suggest that Allende's international outlook is more akin to those of such "third world" leaders as Boumedienne, Nasser, and Nyerere than to Brezhnev and Kosygin. Of course, the U.N. votes of these leaders and some of their other actions often coincide with the Soviet approach, but there is not a one-to-one correspondence of the kind the Chilean Communist Party would surely impose if it were entirely in control.

All of these radical nationalists, most of whom espouse an ill-defined "socialism," prefer to keep some balance in their position between the superpowers in an attempt to avoid undue dependence on either side. The United States will suffer from the fact that since, in Allende's view, Chile has suffered from lop-sided past dependence on America, the balancing act must now emphasize a growing distance from Washington. We think, however, that this distance in practice, as distinct from rhetoric, is more likely to be to some point between Belgrade and Algiers rather than all the way to Moscow or Peking.

I am sure that you have been following developments in Chile since Allende's inauguration as closely as we have. As we all have expected, precious little has happened to encourage any optimism by the United States, although, as predicted, Allende is moving along his radical course shrewdly and with prudence. There have been a number of indications of friction between the Communist and Socialist Parties, even involving Allende's semi-support of an extremist youth-terrorist group which is a violent foe of the Chilean Communists. This friction has gone so far that our press of December 11 reports that Allende has had to start a campaign to restore a semblance of unity to the coalition.

It is in this interplay of forces within the coalition, to say nothing of those still remaining outside the regime, that, conceivably some opportunity may present itself for reducing the extent of damage to American interests in Chile. Our Research Study aimed at exploring one of the types of interplay that seemed not unlikely to occur, and which American interests require us to be alert for. I think it is too gloomy to resign ourselves to the inevitability of the worst so long as there is even a slight chance that Allende's Soviet oriented supporters may not completely carry the day. Our object is only to point a possible ray of light in a picture which we otherwise see about as dark as you do.

Sincerely,

Ray S. Cline

Chilean Media

The 40 Committee Secretariat has not forwarded an agenda for the meeting of December 23 but the main topic considered will be Chile. At the last meeting the chairman asked for a status report on Chilean media; this is attached at Tab 1-A. An ARA memorandum at Tab 1-B notes that the paper contains no recommendation for Committee action at this time but suggests that if the Forty Committee does receive a recommendation it look carefully at the security of the techniques by which CIA would provide support.

Chile - Friction in UP

The Agency was asked at a prior 40 Committee meeting to consider an action program to split the UP which supports Allende. A paper on friction within the UP was previously provided to Dr. Kissinger only. CIA provided us a copy today, December 23; it is at Tab 2. After listing some points of friction it summarizes operations undertaken to increase frictions, and mentions planning underway for other activities on which Mr. Crimmins will provide you his comment orally. The Committee is not being asked at this point to approve a program. We favor support of programs to accentuate frictions as long as the US hand is thoroughly concealed but the Department should be consulted fully on the format and timing of any program.

Subject: CHILE - Facilitation of Subversive Activities in Latin America

Attached (Tab A) for your signature is a memorandum to Assistant Secretary Charles Meyer, in reply to his request for INR comments on a CIA study (Tab B), "Chilean Facilitation of Subversive Activities in Latin America", prepared for the White House and the Senior Review Group.

The CIA study clearly establishes the Chilean potential for such assistance to subversion. It sidesteps the difficult task of estimating probabilities, however, and fails to distinguish between the possibility of the Allende Government providing the aid, and unauthorized extremist groups doing so. The study draws on a mixture of firm intelligence (very limited), past actions and statements, and some speculation, resulting in a general impression that the Chilean Government intends to act along certain lines.

Our memorandum points out the foregoing, suggests some alternative explanations for certain past events, gives some differing assessments on specific points, and suggests the advisability of a full intelligence community estimate of the problem, which obviously is a serious one and warrants consideration in depth.

THE FOLLOWING IS FROM AMBASSADOR KORRY REGARDING

YOUR REQUEST:

1. Consider it very improbable that Tello Troncoso acting with knowledge of any responsible authority in GOC, particularly Allende. Overriding influence in this judgment is nature of Castro-Allende relationship; Allende would not dream of interfering in Castro's affairs without arriving at a prior accord. Allende was very much in favor of the Castro visit to Chile on which he progressed quite far without the knowledge or approval of his Foreign Minister and against the more prudent position of the PCCh. Moreover, as you will see from separate cables today, he has apparently made up his mind to accelerate the Socialist revolution by quickly seeking the replacement of the Congress via the plebescite route. While he is quite different from Castro and while his tactics to and in power are unique, the affinities are so strong that it is barely conceivable at this time that he would meddle in Castro's foreign policy unbeknownst to Fidel. Secondly, Chilean foreign policy is traditionally prudent and Almeyda has demonstrated that this ingrained mode of conduct prevails even for an avowed "Maoist". Hence, he would not initiate any Tello-type action without the approval of the Cubans and without considering all the consequences to the unique Chilean strategy of arriving at Socialism.

2. Tello may have stated his perceptions of the Chilean experience as he believes them and as indeed the GOC publicly articulates its policies. There are many Socialists, as Tello is, who genuinely believe what he purportedly told the FAR representative. But few, especially career diplomats, such as Tello, would have risked going so far without specific instructions. We have heard unconfirmed reports that Tello is what is described in the trade as an activist and has similarly indulged in the past.

SUBJECT: Status Report on Chile in the Wake of the 4 April Elections

In the attached status report on Chile after the 4 April municipal elections, CIA analyses the election results and concludes that: (a) Allende was denied the clear popular majority he sought; (b) the political opposition was successful in its race against the Popular Unity forces, with resulting gains to its self-confidence and to the willingness of the "monied and privileged" to stay in Chile; and (c) the opposition possesses significantly enlarged media capabilities for use in the future.

We are informed by the Committee Secretariat that this status report, which is more than a month old, has been put on the agenda at the request of Dr. Kissinger to serve as an entry into a general discussion of the Chile question. It is not planned to discuss the report itself in detail.

INTELLIGENCE NOTE

Prepared by Bureau of Intelligence and Research

June 4, 1971

CHILE: A PRECARIOUS SEARCH FOR GOOD LATIN AMERICAN RELATIONS

Chile's Unidad Popular government has sought good relations both with Latin American governments and with the radical left in these countries. In this delicate balance of GOC goals, the ideological similarity between the Chilean government and the Latin American left has given rise to concern in neighboring states that Chile will support the export of subversion. Nevertheless, evidence to date suggests that the Allende government will not permit Chile to be used as a base for foreign insurgency. This policy is unlikely to change unless (1) extremist influence in the UP were to increase significantly or (2) relations with neighboring states were to deteriorate seriously.

Mecca for the left. Chile, a popular site for asylum and meetings of Latin American leftists prior to the inauguration of Allende, has become even more of an attraction since Allende took office. According to one estimate some 1500 expatriates have gravitated there. Santiago has become a favored locale for strategy sessions, including cadre schools sponsored by the Chilean Communist Party (PCCh) and meetings of regional labor, student and religious organizations. A frequent theme of such meetings is revolution and opposition to governments in other Latin American countries. Foreign Minister Almeyda is on record that the Chilean government will not inhibit these meetings, and GOC officials, although uneasy over the presence of large numbers of undisciplined expatriates, have been unwilling as yet to take meaningful action to stem the flow.

Conciliating neighboring governments. The presence of the expatriates and the leftist meetings in Chile have been a source of concern to other Latin American states, especially Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay. (To a lesser extent this is also true in Peru and Bolivia.) Security forces in these countries have appraised this situation as indicating Chilean government support for the export of subversion. But, in contradiction to some early indications that Allende might provide clandestine assistance to neighboring insurgency movements, evidence to date suggests that the GOC has been sensitive to the concerns of neighboring governments and has sought to avoid actions which would strain bilateral relations. The GOC has courted the Peruvian and Bolivian governments. Interior Minister Toha instructed the Chilean military to determine whether terrorists were operating near the Argentine border because of concern that such activities would embarrass Chilean-Argentine relations. Chile has also warned Argentine and Mexican expatriates that they may reside in Chile only if they do not engage in political activities and do not grant press interviews.

Chilean relations with Brazil, currently the most strained of bilateral contacts, have also been marked by GOC circumspection: Chile has encouraged some of the more politically active of the Brazilian exiles to depart Chile and has discouraged requests for asylum at the Chilean Embassy in Rio de Janeiro. Frequent criticism of the Brazilian government by the exiles does, however, appear in the Chilean press.

Contending Unidad Popular interests. The varied components of the Unidad Popular mirror the varied leftist spectrum outside the country, with each seeking to encourage and promote its foreign reflection. Thus because the UP is made up of diverse leftist elements, a prime consideration in the GOC's foreign policy has been to avoid antagonizing any of the various foreign counterparts. The diversity of the UP might also lead to sporadic future instances of one or another of the UP groups assisting similar groups elsewhere. But the nucleus of UP leadership is identified with the "pacific" or legal road to power; support for this route rather than the "insurgency" road is more probable in whatever official clandestine support the GOC might provide.

"Chile will not be isolated". Chilean governments have long had a healthy respect for geo-political reality, a respect heightened by growing regional inter-dependence and concern for Argentine intentions and suspicions. Ideology has been bent in the past to pragmatic national interests by more than one Chilean government (most recently by the reformist Frei government's wooing of Brazil's military regime). The UP leadership appears to share this pragmatism--as clearly indicated by PCCh Secretary General Luis Corvalan when he noted that "Chile will take no action that might lead to the isolation of the country".

Will Chile export subversion? Chile's cautious and correct foreign policy, grounded as it is in domestic and foreign interests, is not immutable. Changing domestic considerations or a deterioration of international relations might upset the present delicate balance in favor of those within the UP who would like to see a Chilean commitment to revolutionary insurgency. In particular the rivalries and suspicions between the South American states might at some future date serve as a destabilizing influence on the UP. At a minimum, the GOC is likely to continue to allow Chile to be used as a haven for leftist expatriates and as a locale for Marxist meetings. It is possible, but not certain, that the GOC will provide some clandestine assistance to leftist political movements elsewhere in the hemisphere such as Uruguay's Frente Amplio. Extremist groups associated with the UP may provide sporadic assistance to foreign insurgency movements. But for the present, and barring a significant change in GOC domestic or international circumstances, it is unlikely that the GOC will provide financial support or training to facilitate the export of insurgency.

CIA's April 4 Memorandum Entitled:
Chile: Conciliation, Confrontation, or Coup

ARA will comment separately and will be able to give more precise views on the current Chilean situation. My general reactions to the CIA memorandum are as follows:

I would agree with the basic assessment that the pressure on Chile's constitutional process is increasing but that military intervention is unlikely to occur in the immediate future. I would conjecture that the situation might come to a head before the CIA paper indicates--that is, within the next year. ARA may not agree with this.

The main sources of pressure on Chile's constitutional process are:

On the one hand--

-- Sharp opposition in the Chilean Congress and by sectors of the Chilean public to the degree of nationalization of private property, which the Allende administration wants to achieve.

-- Rising discontent over shortages and prices.

On the other hand--

-- Disaffection by the more radical of Allende's supporters with what they consider to be his conciliation.

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

216 1/1 E5D69

Allende will be faced sooner or later with the decision of whether to depart sharply from constitutional processes to implement his version of Marxian socialism or to lower the sights of his program.

The military probably will hold the key in the end. It is reluctant to move but probably would do so if Allende clearly violated the constitution or if there were severe disorders and if it felt that the bulk of public opinion was with it.

Thus, the mood and capability of the military are very important to watch.

Thus, too, public opinion will be very important. It will probably react mainly to the internal issues indicated above but it will also be affected significantly by external issues such as the posture of the United States and the ITT case.

SUBJECT: Comment on UP Victory in 16 July Chilean By-election.

In the attached status report to the 40 Committee, CIA comments on the results of the 16 July Congressional by-election in the province of Coquimbo, which the Communist candidate of the Popular Unity (UP) forces won with 55.6% of the votes over the opposition candidate, who received 44.9%.

The result was a disappointment to the opposition, which had hoped to repeat the victories it had won in two previous by-elections. The preponderant UP strength in the province, illustrated by the 61.7% of the vote won by government coalition parties in the 1971 municipal elections, was substantially reduced, but the opposition defeat was nonetheless clear. The CIA paper attributes the result to the vigorous campaign waged by the victor, a flow of government pre-election favors to the province, and, principally, dissensions among the opposition parties which were composed too late in the day to permit a fully effective campaign.

SUBJECT: U.S. Reaction to Possible Approach by Chilean Coup Plotters.

In a 17 October meeting in the office of Assistant Secretary Meyer, representatives of State and CIA and the NSC staff considered the question of what the U.S. attitude should be were there to be initiatives by elements in Chile seeking involvement of the United States in an attempt against Allende's government. Those present were: from State; Mr. Meyer, Deputy Assistant Secretary Crimmins, Mr. John Fisher, ARA-IA/BC and Mr. James Gardner, INR/DDC; from the NSC staff, Mr. William Jorden; and from CIA: [redacted]

There follow some reflections on the problem. In large part these are based on observations made in the meeting, but they do not purport to be a record of these observations, nor are the reflections confined to them.

It is unlikely that the United States will be asked to help in preparing or delivering a coup. Were such a request nonetheless made, there is little doubt that we should refuse. The risks would be too high. The picture of U.S. positive cooperation in a plot to overthrow a government with which we have official relations would be questionably attractive to the citizens of the United States and would not be suitable to the image we wish to present to the world. In addition to being undesirable, this kind of involvement would be unnecessary; i.e., it would at most have only marginal influence on the course of events.

It is more likely that we would be asked for assurances in advance of a planned coup that the United States would provide assistance to the new regime after it came to power. Such a request would raise two sets of problems: How much assistance could we in fact give? Within the limits established by our capabilities, how much assistance should we promise? Only the second problem lies within the scope of this memo. Of course, if we could in fact give nothing we could promise nothing, and the second problem disappears. But no matter how restricted our capabilities we presumably would be able to provide at least limited asistance and a warmly friendly attitude to a new government, and thus we do face the question of whether our response should be reserved and noncommittal, or to one degree or another unreserved and forward.

In other words, should we encourage, or should we carefully hold ourselves apart from a coup effort?

The issue is a real one only if we believed that our encouragement would be a determinative or material factor in the plotters' decision whether to move ahead with their purpose. Assuming that a successful coup would be in our interests (an assumption that is not altogether invulnerable, as is noted below), it is still open to question that declarations of future assistance would in fact bring it about or even affect its timing. One line of thought (espoused in the meeting by CIA representatives) attaches considerable weight to the innate caution of the Chilean military — whose participation would be essential to the success of a coup — and therefore believes that the anticipated degree and quality of U.S. support would be so important to it that it would regard as essential generous and specific promises of U.S. support. Another school holds that the would-be coup engineers in the Chilean military and elsewhere would naturally assume a high degree of U.S. favor to their enterprise and therefore would not regard specific U.S. assurances as an essential procondition to action. Still a third believes that the U.S. factor would not be of central moment to the plotters and for this reason surmises that we would not be pressed for commitments, and, indeed, that our attitude would be wholly irrelevant to the shape of their purpose.

These analyses, informed though they respectively may be, are essentially speculative and perhaps critically dependent for their validity on circumstances whose development is now impossible to foresee. There would seem to be no disagreement, however, with the obvious proposition that were a coup as likely to be put in train without as with specific promises from us, we should not make such promises. The concern of this memo is therefore the situation in which we would be asked for specific promises, and in which the nature of our answer would, in our judgment, determine whether the plotters would undertake a coup effort.

A number of considerations would be relevant to the nature of our response. A basic one would be our estimate of the chances for success the effort might have. It would seem that success should appear highly probable, if not indeed almost certain, before we engaged ourselves to aspiring new rulers. The situation in which success seemed dubious would be exactly the situation in which there would be an apparent almost even matching of forces, with consequent prolonged struggle, much bloodshed, a destitute economy and an embittered population, no matter who won. We should, it seems clear, be reluctant to take responsibility for such a situation, in the development of which, it also seems clear, our promises and comitments probably would become a public element in the struggle. If, instead of protracted conflict, the coup were quickly rolled up, our part would the more certainly be publicized and subject to a variety of exaggerations that would be embarrassingly difficult to refute. These considerations would seem to require that the coup enjoy almost certain prospects of success before we gave commitments we would be reluctant to see publicized. On the other hand, if prospects of this quality existed, the chances of our being seriously approached would be relatively small -- people who believe they are certain to take power if they move might conceivably attempt to bargain in advance for as much as they believe we might be persuaded to give, but it is doubtful that the course of the bargaining would have much effect on their decision. The situation would seem to be, then, that the conditions which produced a serious approach to us, with our answer a genuine determinant in a decision whether to mount a coup, are precisely those conditions in which we should be most reluctant to give commitments. Conversely, only when commitments are least likely to be influential, least likely to be sought, and least likely to be necessary, could they safely be extended.

Would even a successful coup, painlessly accomplished, necessarily be in our interest? The consensus within the Agency, the Department and the Embassy is that the March Congressional elections will see an anti-UP victory that will bring the opposition anywhere from 55 to over 60 per cent of the vote. It therefore seems likely that the appeal and strength of the regime have peaked, that henceforward it is for Allende and his government pretty much of a downhill slide. In other words, the natural operation of the Chilean political process will in the long run produce desirable results. If this estimate is correct, it would seem more suited to our interest to await the relatively slow correction wrought by this process than to see the Chilean left displaced by force and extra-constitutional means. The legitimacy and moderation of an elected successor regime, and therefore its acceptability and permanence are, in the Chilean context, apt to be superior to those of one produced by an armed coup. (A different set of considerations would presumably govern if the regime itself seemed on the point of executing an "auto coup").

On the basis of presently available evidence it would therefore seem that we would be well advised to hold ourselves back from specific commitments to Chileans who seek assurances on our attitude toward a new regime produced by coup. If such commitments were to contribute to a decision to attempt a coup they would be too dangerous to give; if they would not contribute to such a decision they would be superfluous.

CHILE RESPONDS TO ONGOING INTERNATIONAL PRESSURES ON HUMAN RIGHTS

Chile's military government has shown itself sensitive to recent international criticisms concerning its treatment of political prisoners and its abridgment of human rights. Rebukes by the Third Committee of the UN General Assembly, the International Commission of Jurists, and the Inter-American Human Rights Commission, together with the anticipated visit of Secretary Kissinger, apparently are working to produce some liberalizing of the internal security system.

The Evidence. Former Foreign Minister Clodomiro Almeyda, the government's most important political prisoner, was released on January 11 after 16 months' imprisonment and deported to Romania. Along with Almeyda, the government also released without trial four ranking officials of Allende's Popular Unity (UP) regime. Almeyda personified the evils of the UP period in the eyes of the military junta, which repeatedly refused to release him until he had been formally tried on charges of embezzlement and misuse of government funds. His release must have been a bitter pill for the Pinochet government to swallow.

Other recent actions taken by the Chilean regime include:

--the release on January 9 of Gaston Pascal Lyon, father of Andres Pascal Allende, leader of the extremist Movement of the Revolutionary Left (MIR) and estranged husband of Laura Allende, after a month's detention without formal charges;

--a proposal by President Pinochet on New Year's Day to release 200 political prisoners, including Laura Allende, if Mexico were willing to accept them;

This report was produced by the Bureau of Intelligence and Research. It is for normal substantive exchange with other agencies at the working level. It has not been coordinated elsewhere.

--the release to the UK Embassy of statistics on the number of prisoners taken since the fall of Allende and the current status of detainees;

--the creation, in the face of strong opposition from within the military, of a civilian committee to study the internal security problem and make recommendations by January 31;

--generally mild sentences for Chilean Army personnel secretly tried on charges of "crimes against the order and security of the Army," in contrast to mid-1974 trials of Chilean Air Force personnel on similar charges; and

--a drastic reduction of some 30 military tribunal sentences imposed over a year ago, constituting a virtual admission that the immediate post-coup sentencing was too severe.

Intelligence reports indicate that President Pinochet and his senior military advisers are considering a number of further steps:

--In deference to Secretary Kissinger's proposed visit to Santiago in February, the government reportedly is making plans to release several senior-level detainees.

--All political prisoners may soon be able to appeal sentences imposed by military tribunals directly to the Supreme Court.

--The government seems to be moving to enforce its stated policy position against the use of torture by members of the military intelligence apparatus.

--The "state of siege" may be downgraded, which would restrict the military's authority to take extralegal actions in security cases and would restore some degree of Chile's traditional juridical-procedural safeguards.

Offer to Mexico. President Pinochet's offer to send 200 political prisoners to Mexico "at no cost" to the Mexican Government was made formal on January 3 by Chilean diplomatic notes. Their freedom is conditioned on Mexico's willingness to receive them. The majority of the prisoners are identified as members of the extremist MIR or MIR affiliates. The principal figure on the list is former President Allende's sister, Laura Allende Gossens, who was arrested in November 1974 as an MIR collaborator.

Mexico broke diplomatic relations with Chile on November 26, 1974, over the human rights issue,* and has never disguised its hostility toward the military regime since the fall of President Allende. President Echeverria reportedly has accepted an invitation to address the third meeting of the International Investigative Commission on the Crimes of the Military Junta in Chile, scheduled to meet in Mexico City February 18-21. Pinochet's offer to free 200 prisoners to Mexico tends to place Echeverria in a "put up or shut up" position.

Prisoner Statistics. The Chilean National Secretariat for Detainees has provided detailed--and apparently reliable--statistics to our embassy on the government's security operations. According to data, some 30,000 persons have been processed by security authorities on "political" or "national security" grounds since September 1973. About 90 percent of these individuals are free today in Chile or have been allowed to leave the country.

Of the remaining 10 percent (approximately 3,660 persons), about 760 are being held under "state of siege" authority without formal charges. This group includes:

--100 prisoners which the government offered to release last November 1974 provided other countries would accept them;

--100 additional prisoners to be released after placement of the above group;

--200 prisoners, including Laura Allende, offered to Mexico;

--100 prisoners whose cases are being studied further; and

* See INR IN-119, "Mexico's Break With Chile", December 2, 1974 (SECRET/NO FOREIGN DISSEM).

[redacted]

--260 hard-core Allende and Popular Unity militants considered too dangerous to release (and who probably face prolonged imprisonment).

Approximately 2,900 persons are listed as being under formal court jurisdiction. This group includes:

--prisoners whose indictments are being prepared by the authorities (procesados);

--prisoners currently being tried by civilian or military courts;

--prisoners now serving sentences; and

--prisoners on probation who remain under court jurisdiction (about 600 persons).

Prospects. The Chilean Government is seriously concerned about internal security and will continue to arrest suspects. Rightly or wrongly, President Pinochet and the other chiefs of the armed forces assess the potential for violence as very high if security measures are relaxed too far. They appear to be resolved to weather international criticism for the sake of national survival. Nevertheless:

--the number of detainees probably will be reduced;

--the treatment of prisoners probably will improve; and

--the government may admit that charges against some detainees are unsubstantiated and that sentencing has been too harsh.

Statistics provided by the National Secretariat on Detainees may indicate increasing executive control over the once chaotic situation which characterized the government's security program. The offer to release prisoners to other countries suggests that the government wishes to reduce to the minimum those prisoners who have not been bound over to the judicial system. Finally, the offer to release 200 prisoners to Mexico shows that the Chilean military--in the face of what they consider to be hypocritical attacks by foreign governments--may be learning how to respond to international criticism.

MEMO FOR THE FILE

SUBJECT: DOD Traffic with Santiago, Agust 1970-January 1971

The messages assembled by DOD in response to the Church letter (copy attached) contain inter alia the following elements:

1. In the period just after the popular election, the Army Attache is openly scornful of what he terms (approximate quote) "the less than valorous attitude of the Chilean Army in the face of the threat of a Commy takeover". In a comment added to an ARMA message, Ambassador Korry joins the ARMA in criticizing the Chilean Army for believing that it will be able to maintain its institutional and professional integrity under a Marxist regime.

2. There is an incomplete record regarding the crane to be acquired from the US by the Chilean Navy. A Sept. 18 SecDef message expresses opposition to going forward with the project and requests views. In an October 16 message, the MilGp and Embassy recommend that the project proceed. On January 14, "the NSC inter-agency group" is reported to have "tentatively concluded" that it was "inadvisable" to go ahead, and requests Embassy views on the likely impact on the Chilean armed forces.

3. An October 10 message orders the holding in abeyance of the processing and delivery of all grant materiel assistance and FMS materiel shipments, and the indefinite postponement of the departure from Chile of all Chilean military personnel on MAP training assignments. The message states the instruction is to be "closely held". An October 21 message rescinds the instruction.

4. An attache reports being asked by a Chilean military officer for information on US attitudes in the event of a military takeover. In response, reports the attache, he reviewed recent US recognition practices in such circumstances.

5. Defense is requested (by some US military component in Santiago) to send a copy of an unclassified document on how Castro infiltrated the Cuban Navy; the document is to be provided to the Chilean Navy. (The record in these messages ends with the Defense reply that it is unable to identify the document in question and that more identification would be "helpful".)

6. The Army Attache recommends keeping the doors open to the Chilean Army on the grounds, in effect, that it might take over at some point.

7. There is an exchange between Santiago and Defense on what classified materiel has been released to the Chilean armed forces.

Dear Mr. Secretary:

As you know, the Subcommittee on Multinational Corporations is engaged in the investigation of the activities of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company in connection with the election of Salvador Allende Gossens as President of Chile.

In connection with this investigation, it would be helpful to the Subcommittee if the Department would make available the cables from Santiago to the Department of Defense and from the Department of Defense to Santiago for the period August 1, 1970, through January 31, 1971. Either Mr. Jerome Levinson or Mr. Jack Blum of the staff of the Subcommittee would be available to examine the documents at your convenience.

Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated.

NATO MINISTERIAL MEETING

The 51st Ministeral Meeting of the North Atlantic Council, held in Copenhagen June 14-15, reflected a broad measure of Allied cohesion on the key issues of a Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE), Mutual and Balanced Force Reductions (MBFR), the linkage between CSCE and MBFR, and the US proposal for a review of Atlantic relations.

The Ministers welcomed a reiteration of the US pledge to maintain and improve US forces in Europe, provided the Allies do likewise, and not to reduce them in the absence of reciprocal reductions by the other side. From the US point of view, this was the most successful NATO Ministerial in years. It was agreed that the next meeting will be held in Brussels December 10-11. (For discussions on the UK-Icelandic fisheries dispute see article below.)

Examination of NATO Relations

Noting that profound changes are taking place in every field of international activity, the Ministers agreed to examine their relationships in the light of these changes "in a spirit of solidarity and by a common effort." This represented a compromise following a tough statement by French Foreign Minister Jobert taking issue with the US initiative on this subject. Most other Ministers generally supported US current objectives and some specifically proposed that NATO formulate a new declaration of principles. Thus, the stage is set for later talks by the US with its Allies on the next steps in developing a set of common objectives and principles.

Agreements on CSCE

The Ministers all expressed satisfaction with the results of the multilateral preparatory talks on a CSCE. None expected the second (i.e., commission) phase of the Conference to begin substantive discussions before September. Many called for further Allied efforts over the summer to refine Allied positions for use in the second phase. It was generally agreed that a decision on the level of participation in the third phase should be taken in the light of progress in the second phase. The Ministers agreed that the second phase should not proceed under any artificial time limitations, and that they would inform the Finnish Government of their acceptance of July 3 as the date for the beginning of the first phase of the Conference.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

Agreements on MBFR

The Ministers unanimously agreed on the paramount importance of maintaining Allied cohesion during negotiations on MBFR. They also agreed that Allied security should remain undiminished--with no change in the relative military balance between East and West--and that present NATO strategy should not be affected. There was strong support for an initial reduction in US and Soviet forces--within a general focus on stationed forces--leaving open the option of later reductions of other stationed and of indigenous forces. Only Germany pressed for guidelines allowing flexibility in dealing simultaneously with stationed and indigenous forces.

MBFR-CSCE Timing

Despite earlier indications that the Netherlands, Canada, and to a lesser degree Belgium would insist on tying the opening date for CSCE to Soviet agreement to begin negotiations on MBFR by October 30, the US approach on this issue was accepted--the Allies agreed after some debate that the two sets of talks should move ahead in parallel but not be explicitly linked. Accordingly, the communique placed the onus clearly on the Soviets to accept the October 30 date for MBFR, as the Allies upheld their part of the bargain by agreeing to begin the CSCE July 3, on schedule. (The Russians previously proposed that negotiations on MBFR should begin by the end of the year, with the precise date being fixed later by the direct participants, and Allied representatives in Vienna reacted negatively to this proposal.)

US Statements on Talks with the Soviets

In his address at the meeting, Secretary Rogers said that we did not expect the talks with Soviet General Secretary Brezhnev during his visit to the US to have the dramatic ground-breaking character of the US-Soviet summit meeting in Moscow last year, but that we expected them to be significant, and that we looked for a series of agreements on bilateral cooperation similar to those that were signed in Moscow in May 1972. He pointed out that we seek concrete results and not just grandiose generalities.

UNCLASSIFIED

The Secretary noted that the implementation of the Moscow agreements has proceeded in a generally satisfactory manner, and that in addition to renewal of the US-Soviet exchanges agreement, we are now negotiating other possible agreements--e.g., on agriculture, oceanography, transportation, peaceful uses of atomic energy, and taxes. He assured the Council that there would be no decisions taken or agreements reached that would be detrimental to the Atlantic Allies, and that we would keep the NATO Allies advised as actively and fully as possible.

US View of CSCE

The Secretary pointed out to the Ministers that we have approached the CSCE with skepticism about the value of purely symbolic acts and with determination to press for progress on specific issues. He expressed our view that the initial meeting of Foreign Ministers in the CSCE should be brief--ideally no longer than a week--and that such a meeting is not the appropriate forum to carry out any extensive negotiations on points of substance. He expressed our opposition to any artificial timetable for the CSCE, stating that when we agreed to enter these talks, we agreed on the basis that we would insist on concrete results, and any artificial timetable would make it much more difficult to achieve such results.

The Secretary expressed our belief that the initial CSCE meeting of Ministers would not be the appropriate occasion to discuss drafts of any final CSCE documents which might be tabled by the Eastern powers or to seek agreement on the level of representation in the final stage of the conference.

US Views on MBFR/CSCE Linkage

In discussing MBFR, the Secretary reiterated our view that MBFR should focus initially on stationed forces and that indigenous force reductions, if any, should come in a subsequent phase. He also expressed our belief that it is important for negotiations on MBFR to begin on or before October 30. He pointed out that we would be willing to see the first stage of the CSCE begin on schedule early in July, but that we have also told the Soviets in the strongest possible terms that we expect them to uphold their end of the agreement to begin MBFR negotiations no later than October 30.

US Stresses Need for NATO Strength

The Secretary told the Council that as we move toward negotiations on MBFR, it is more important than ever that NATO maintain its strength and that we not be misled by any euphoria about detente. He pointed out that there can be no doubt that improved relations with the USSR have come about because of the strength of the Atlantic Alliance. [redacted]

NATO MINISTERS DISCUSS UK-ICELANDIC DISPUTE

In discussions at the NATO Ministerial meeting in Copenhagen June 14-15, the UK and Icelandic Foreign Ministers presented their respective positions on the fisheries dispute between their countries. A round of statements by other Foreign Ministers urged an early resolution of the dispute. Secretary Rogers took the lead in urging that a clear distinction be made between the issue of the US base at Keflavik and the UK-Icelandic problem.

Neither Iceland nor the UK showed signs of yielding its current position, but the Icelandic Foreign Minister admitted that the fisheries and base issues are separate. NATO Secretary General Luns indicated that he would continue his behind-the-scenes efforts to bring about a withdrawal of British naval vessels from the fisheries zone claimed by Iceland and subsequent cessation of harassment of UK trawlers by Iceland.

Iceland's Case

Icelandic Foreign Minister Agustsson argued that the UK had provoked Iceland by sending warships to the area, and that the first step to resolve the dispute should be immediate UK withdrawal. He indicated that following UK withdrawal, talks between the two countries could be resumed. He expressed concern that no progress had been made toward resolution of the issue in two weeks following an Icelandic request for NATO assistance, and he concluded that the Icelandic people would find it necessary to reassess their participation in the Atlantic Alliance if NATO could not help.

Iceland's Agustsson--

Requires UK Withdrawal

Agustsson said that a request for review of the US-Icelandic Defense Agreement under Article VII of the Agreement would be submitted to the North Atlantic Council later this month. (Article VII provides that either government may request the North Atlantic Council to "review the continued necessity" for the defense facilities in Iceland and make recommendations to the two governments; that if no understanding between the two governments is reached within six months after such a request, either government may give notice of its intention to terminate the agreement; and that the agreement will then cease to be in force twelve months after such notice.)

British Rebuttal

In a rebuttal of the Icelandic argument, British Foreign Secretary Doublas-Home recalled that he and the previous Icelandic Foreign Minister had agreed in 1961 that any future disagreements would be referred to the International Court of Justice. He said that Iceland had reneged on this agreed procedure in the current phase of the dispute, but that the International Court had nevertheless given a judgment on what a fair catch for the UK would be. He added that the UK had indicated a willingness to shave the catch to even less than the Court's judgment in an attempt to conciliate the Icelanders, but that the Icelandic harassment of UK trawlers which began 18 months ago had not ceased, and that the British Government had not been able to refuse a request of its fishermen for protection. He promised that British warships could be withdrawn if Iceland could "find some way to assure us" that the harassment would cease.

[redacted]

Norwegian, Danish, and Canadian Comments

The Norwegian Foreign Minister expressed concern about the effect of the dispute on the Alliance and appealed to the UK to make the first move by withdrawing its warships so as to pave the way for renewed negotiations. The Danish Foreign Minister took the same line, admitting that the UK had a right to stay in international waters but could nevertheless make a useful gesture by withdrawing. The Canadian Foreign Minister advised the Icelanders not to bargain economics for security by linking the base and fisheries issues, but he balanced his statement by expressing the hope that the UK would take the initiative to break the impasse.

US Position

Secretary Rogers stressed that there was no need for the Icelanders to associate the base issue with the fisheries issue, pointing out that discussions on the base had begun 18 months ago--well before the current fisheries dispute--and had been proceeding in a friendly atmosphere. He said that the US for its part would continue to ensure that the base was not a source of difficulty for the Icelanders. He expressed the hope that the Icelanders would not invoke Article VII of the US-Icelandic Defense Agreement until a modus vivendi could be worked out.

MBFR EXPLORATORY TALKS JUNE 9-15

MBFR Communique

Allied and Eastern representatives in Vienna reached ad referendum agreement on the text of a final communique for the exploratory talks, with only the date of the negotiations yet to be specified. The draft communique:

- -- specifies Vienna as the site of the negotiations;
- -- provides on agreed designation for the negotiations--namely, "mutual reduction of forces and armaments and associated measures in Central Europe;"
- -- indicates that an agenda for the negotiations has been discussed but not agreed on;
- -- describes the purpose of the negotiations as the strengthening of peace and security in all of Europe;
- -- acknowledges the principle of undimished security as the premise of the negotiations;
- -- establishes the right of the direct participants to introduce into the negotiations any topic relevant to the subject matter.

Although the Soviets refused to agree to the use of the term "balanced" or its equivalent in the description of the talks or elswhere in the communique, they did agree to a reference to "associated measures." This would permit raising constraints as a topic for negotiation. The Allies in the Ad Hoc Group were on the whole satisfied with the draft communique and reported on it positively to the North Atlantic Council. According to the Soviet representative in Vienna, the text is also likely to be satisfactory to Moscow.

NATO Defense Planning Committee in Brussels, German Defense Minister Leber formally enunciated his government's support for MBFR negotiations that would include both stationed and indigenous reductions.

Leber pointed out that reductions of stationed forces alone could have an impact on German public opinion which would force the German government unilaterally to reduce the Bundeswehr. Only if there were an agreement on an eventual reduction in German forces, even if implemented "some years later" than stationed reductions, would it be possible for a German government to maintain its forces at their present level in the immediate future and to sustain the current level of defense spending. Most other Defense Ministers, however, reiterated their governments' view that initial negotiations should concentrate on US and Soviet forces.

RESOLVING THE COLORADO RIVER SALINITY PROBLEM

Secretary Rogers presented to the Mexican Government on May 13, 1973 a new proposal for a definitive and just solution to the Colorado River salinity problem with Mexico.

Moving To Improve the Quality of Water Delivered to Mexico

When President Nixon and President Echeverria of Mexico met in June 1972, President Nixon announced that the United States would take steps immediately to improve the quality of the water delivered to Mexico, and that he would appoint a Special Representative to find a permanent, definitive, and just solution to the problem.

Mexican President Echeverria: The US Is Meeting His Concerns about the Colorado River Salinity Problem.

Under Minute No. 241, an agreement of the International Boundary and Water Commission, the salinity of the water made available to Mexico at its principal diversion point was promptly reduced by more than 100 parts per million. The former Attorney General, Herbert Brownell, subsequently took up the task of the Special Representative. He submitted his report and recommendations on December 29, 1972, and the new US proposal of May 13 is based on his recommendations.

$70 Million for Public Works Construction?

The US proposal would provide for the eventual elimination from the water delivered to Mexico of all adverse effects from the saline drainage waters of the Wellton-Mohawk Irrigation District of Arizona. The introduction of these drainage waters occasioned the salinity problem in 1961, and the removal of their adverse effect, together with other related undertakings and understandings, would constitute the proposed solution.

Assuming that agreement can be reached with Mexico on this basis, the solution would entail the construction and later operation and maintenance by the Federal Government of extensive public works, including the construction of the world's largest desalting plant. The estimated construction cost of these works is $70 million, and annual operation and maintenance would exceed $6 million. A construction program for these works will be presented to the Congress for authorization and funding as soon as an agreement is concluded.

Mr. Brownell met with Mexican officials during the week of June 11 to discuss the US proposal with them. Officials of both governments are now considering the proposal further for the purpose of accommodating the remaining divergent views. They expect to resume their discussion July 3 in Washington. VENEZUELA CHALLENGES OAS CUBA POLICY--THEN BACKS AWAY

In the first week of June, Venezuela's Ambassador to the OAS let it be known among his Permanent Council colleagues that he had instructions to request a special Council meeting on June 11 to discuss OAS policy toward Cuba. He indicated that Venezuela would put forward a draft resolution tied to the principle of "plurality of ideologies" and affirming the right of each member government to establish relations with Cuba whenever it judged it convenient.

Such a resolution, he explained, would not remove the diplomatic and trade sanctions applied against Cuba by OAS Foreign Ministers in 1964, but would merely allow each member government to assess the present Cuban threat in terms of its own interests. Presumably, the sanctions policy would remain in force, but its implementation would be left to the judgment of each government.

Venezuela Shelves Its Own Proposal

Before the week ended, however, the Venezuelan Ambassador clearly got cold feet and was uncertain as to just when the Council should meet to discuss his proposal. He appears to have judged initially that he had the votes necessary for its approval by a simple majority (12 votes), only to discover afterward that at least one supporter--perhaps Costa Rica--had defected after having second thoughts about its juridical implications. Not willing to settle for the "moral" victory claimed by Peru after a similar go-round last summer, Venezuela decided finally to put its proposal on ice for awhile.

US Position

As in the case of Peru's very similar proposal last year, the United States opposed Venezuela's initiative as being both juridically unsound and politically unwise. We could not accept the specious argument that a Council resolution which flatly contradicted the "obligatory" character of sanctions adopted under the Rio Treaty "did not alter" present OAS policy toward Cuba. Nor could we agree that the Council was free to take such action by simple majority vote, when its mandate according to the 1964 decision is limited to lifting sanctions by two-thirds vote when Cuba no longer threatens hemispheric peace and security.

In our view, the "plurality of ideologies" principle sheds no new light on the question, since it is Cuba's interventionism--not its ideology--which accounts for the present sanctions policy. So long as Cuba persists in supporting violent revolution in other countries, we believe that any relaxation of the sanctions policy would be politically unwise.

We are gratified that Venezuela's proposal was abandoned without being tested in the Permanent Council, due to lack of sufficient votes to ensure its passage. We note nevertheless that the "freedom-of-action" concept has garnered significant additional support since it was first advanced by Peru and rejected by the Council last year (7 for, 13 against, 3 abstentions). Argentina, Barbados and Venezuela have clearly moved from the abstention to the affirmative column, while the opposition of Colombia, Costa Rica, Guatemala and Uruguay seems to have weakened significantly.

OAS Special Committee To Meet in Lima

Commencing June 20th, the Special Committee established by the OAS General Assembly in Washington last April will meet in Lima to study possible reforms in the inter-American system. Whether Venezuela will attempt to use this occasion to resume its efforts on the Cuban question or await some other occasion is not clear. In any event the United States will continue to work with like-minded allies, such as Brazil, to oppose any present change, recognizing that despite our best efforts, our opponents may soon gain at least majority support for the Venezuelan proposal.

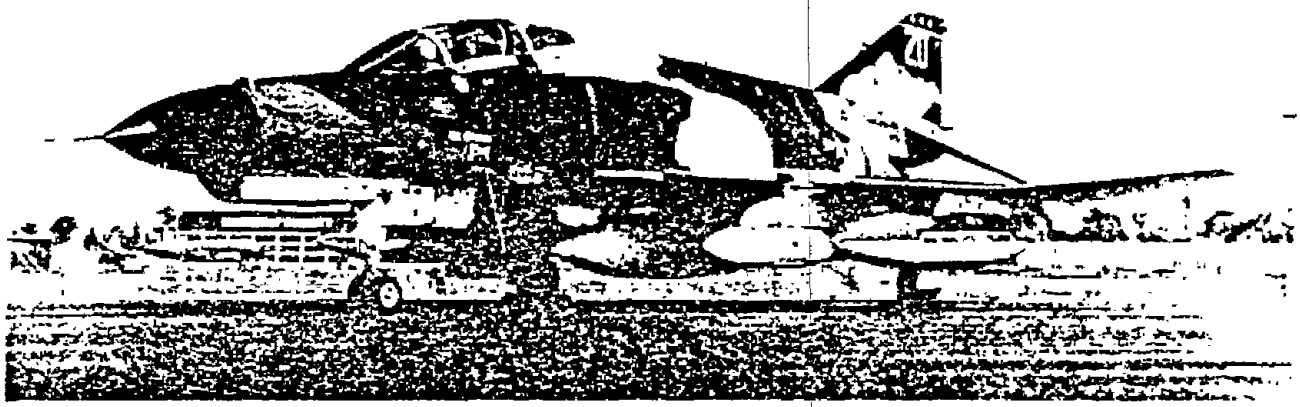
AGREEMENT IN PRINCIPLE TO SELL PHANTOMS TO SAUDI ARABIA



The F-4 Phantom Jet

One of the principal US policies in the Persian Gulf since the British ended their protective treaty relationship has been to encourage friendly states in the area to assume increasing responsibility for collective security in this region. In the Gulf, the security of this area is being shared primarily by Iran and Saudi Arabia. In the Arabian Peninsula, Saudi Arabia must bear the primary responsibility for its own defense and to assist its smaller Peninsular neighbors. It is in this context that we have responded positively in the past to Saudi requests for the sale of military equipment and services and on which we based our agreement in principle to the sale of F-4 Phantom aircraft. These responses have been weighed in light of Saudi Arabia's limited manpower availabilities.

Background

Saudi Arabia recently requested US agreement in principle to sell F-4 Phantoms as a follow-on to shorter range Northrop F-5B and

UNCLASSIFIED

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

F-5E aircraft they are now acquiring from the US. Saudi concerns have been stimulated by the growing supply of Soviet arms into South Yemen and Iraq. In South Yemen, the Soviets have stepped up their deliveries of sophisticated weapons and aircraft.

The Saudis justifiably view the radical regime in Aden as representing a military threat to: (1) North Yemen, which is practically defenseless and which depends largely on Saudi Arabia for help in maintaining its security; (2) Oman because South Yemen continues to provide the base for the communist-led insurgency in Oman's western province of Dhofar; and (3) Saudi Arabia itself--last March, South Yemeni MIG's hit a Saudi border post. The Saudis are also concerned with the threat from Iraq, which has a substantial Soviet-equipped military force including MIG 21's.

The Saudis justify the need for a longer-range aircraft to protect the wide expanse of the Kingdom and to avoid building more air bases that would be required with only the shorter-range aircraft in their inventory. Even with the F-5's they are acquiring, they cannot provide satisfactory coverage to all parts of Saudi territory. The Saudis are also looking at the latest French Mirage F-1 as an alternative.

Political/Economic Background

The US has major and vital interests in Saudi Arabia because of the need of the Western world, and now including the US, for access to the Kingdom's vast oil resources. Saudi Arabia has become the world's largest oil exporter and soon will be the largest producer. Over the next seven to ten years, it will be the only country in the world capable of expanding its production enough to cover the anticipated increase in world energy requirements. It is also a major trading partner where we have enjoyed significant balance of payments benefits (over $1 billion a year) because of our large trade surplus, remittances received from sales of services, and oil income which ARAMCO returns to the United States. We have had close relations with Saudi Arabia since World War II, and American companies have played a major role in its development. Its leadership has been moderate and constructive with most of its attention in recent years directed at developing its human and material resources and building up an infrastructure for this vast and lightly-populated country.

Military Relationship

The US has had an ongoing military supply relationship with Saudi Arabia since 1951. Over the past several years this has involved sales programs related to air defense systems to give Saudi Arabia an interceptor and airlift capability, to develop a modest naval force composed of small vessels, to have a modern logistical and vehicle repair system, and to modernize its internal security forces. These programs, which involve the sales of goods and services both on a government-to-government basis and through private American contractors, are expected to continue for a number of years because of the need for training numerous manpower skills.

Principal Considerations

In reaching agreement in principle to the sale of F-4 aircraft, the decision was taken after weighing the following factors:

(1) US interests and those of the Middle East will be best served if the US remains as the principal supplier of arms to Saudi Arabia. By responding positively now to the F-4's, it should ensure that aircraft in the post-1975 period will be of US origin and compatible with equipment now in or soon to enter the Saudi inventory.

(2) Saudi Arabia, if it acquires this aircraft will be dependent almost indefinitely on American contract support personnel. This factor plus our requirement that these aircraft cannot be transferred to third parties without our prior consent, will give us a considerable element of influence over their use.

(3) The Saudis have pointed out that US interests in the area are of growing importance, and we cannot appear to slight these interests without risking harm to our relations with Saudi Arabia.

(4) Responding positively will enable a moderate Arab regime to demonstrate the benefits of friendship with the US and bolster its ability to resist radical pressures to weaken its ties with the US.

(5) The request by the Saudis has not been made in the Arab-Israeli context (and it would be a mistake to look at it that way), but in terms of real Saudi concerns which are focused on the Arabian Peninsula and the Persian Gulf. Saudi Arabia is a vast country, and the Saudis have found that even with the F-5 aircraft (and its planned air-to-air refueling capacity) now entering their inventory they will have trouble providing air defense and air cover to Saudi forces along its frontiers. The Saudis have twice been attacked by South Yemeni forces and both times have found difficulty in supporting their frontier forces who are stationed several hundred miles from the nearest Saudi air base. The Saudis thus consider a longer-range aircraft a military necessity.

(6) The time frame for delivery and numbers involved have not yet been determined. These will be worked out after a final Saudi decision to choose the F-4 has been made. (The Saudis are also considering the French Mirage.) Even then, it will be several years before the aircraft are manufactured and the Saudi manpower to operate and maintain them is trained and in place.

(7) In making a decision on F-4's, we took into account the impact this sale might have on the Middle East balance of power. We concluded to our satisfaction that if the sale is consummated, it would not destabilize the military balance between Israel and the Arab states in the latter 1970's.

US Policy Interests

We have kept in close touch with the Israelis about our interests in the Gulf. While the Israelis are in general agreement with the strategic importance of the region, they have expressed concern about the sale of arms to Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, especially the F-4. We can understand these concerns, but do not think they override our broader policy interest of doing what we think is necessary to support Saudi Arabia, which has major security responsibilities in the Peninsula and the Gulf and whose continued close friendship is very important to us. Our positive response reflects the very high value which the US places on this policy interest. [redacted]

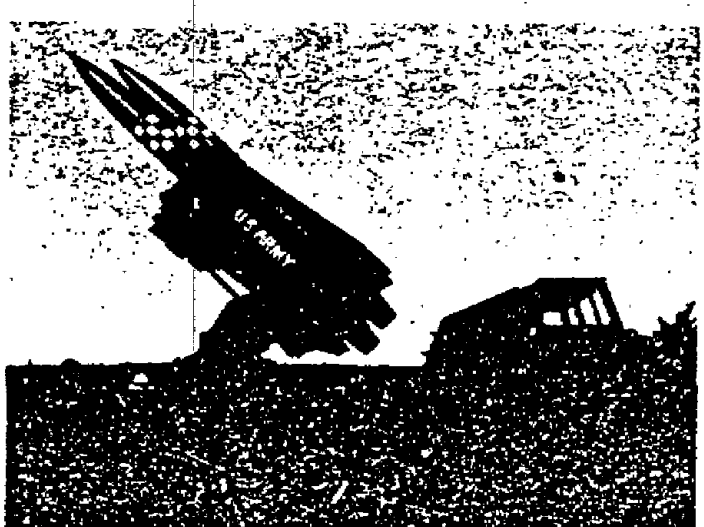
US MILITARY SALES PROPOSALS FOR KUWAIT

Our willingness to help Kuwait with its military defenses has been based on our desire to discourage political pressure or an actual military threat from Iraq in order that: (1) our valuable economic interests in Kuwait can be protected, and (2) to assure Kuwait's continued ability to remain a major world oil supplier. While we realize that Kuwait would not be able to defend itself in the face of a large-scale invasion by an outside power, Kuwait has the capability of building up a force large enough to hold off an aggressor for a few days until help comes from other sources. Although Kuwait, unlike Iran and Saudi Arabia, does not have regional security responsibilities, we have encouraged Kuwait to work closely with Saudi Arabia and Iran and to acquire US military equipment comparable to that found in Saudi Arabia and Iran.

Background

In January 1971 Kuwait was made eligible for Foreign Military Sales. Later that year Kuwait asked for an in-depth analysis of its defense requirements, and a Department of Defense Survey Team arrived in February 1972. Although not making specific recommendations, the conclusions of the Survey Team report pointed to Kuwait's acquiring F-5E aircraft, TOW anti-tank missiles, Hawk anti-aircraft batteries, and an integrated air defense/command system with reasonable radar, communications, and related equipment. In February 1973 a Kuwaiti team visited US installations in Europe to look at F-5 and F-4 aircraft, improved Hawk, and command/control systems.



The Hawk Missile

In April 1973, following the March 20 border skirmish with Iraq, we sent a team in response to Kuwait's request to present a comprehensive program based on the survey report plus Kuwait's priority need for new motor vehicles, tanks, and some very quickly attainable air cover. In response to Kuwait's request, we demonstrated the F-8H and K Navy Crusaders. Since the F-8 is a used aircraft, which could be made available in six months, but which can be effectively used for only three or four more years, the Kuwaitis asked about a follow-on aircraft--either the "Lightweight Fighter" or the Phantom F-4 or appropriate new generation aircraft. The Kuwaitis have clearly indicated they do not desire the F-5.

While Iraqi troops have withdrawn from the Al Samitah post occupied on March 20, they still remain in other disputed areas along the frontier which Kuwait considers its territory. The Kuwaitis remain highly apprehensive because Iraqi inflexibility so far does not give them much hope for a mutually-agreed border settlement. In this emergency and over the near term, Kuwait has decided to upgrade its defensive capability and has turned to the US for assistance.

US Effort

The Defense Department team sent to Kuwait in April agreed in principle to provide equipment, training, and construction totalling $560 million. A little over half of the total is for equipment and training, and the balance is for construction. A new US sales team arrived in Kuwait on May 31 for further negotiations. No contracts on any of the offers have yet been concluded. No FMS credit is involved.

We do not expect a Kuwaiti decision on this program for several months. If a program of this nature is implemented, it is expected to take at least five years to allow for the necessary training and modest augmentation of Kuwait's armed forces which now total about 8,500. [redacted]

UN PEACEKEEPING FORCE IN CYPRUS EXTENDED

On June 15 the Security Council by a vote of 14 (US) to 0, with the PRC abstaining, adopted a resolution on Cyprus virtually identical with those that have been adopted at six-month intervals in recent years.

Once Again, Six More Months

The resolution urged the parties concerned to act with the utmost restraint and to cooperate to achieve the objectives of the Security Council, and extended the stationing of the UN Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus (UNFICYP) for a further six months ending December 15 "in the expectation that by then sufficient progress towards a final solution will make possible a withdrawal or substantial reduction of the Force."

The Council's consideration of the question was relatively routine and the resolution itself was agreed to through consultations before the meeting opened. Following the vote the representatives of Cyprus, Turkey, and Greece spoke, all taking a conciliatory line. All Council members except the PRC also spoke, generally indicating their support for UNFICYP's extension in order to preserve the climate necessary for continued progress in the intercommunal talks.

Cyprus: Generally Calm, but Peace Force Still Needed

US Supports a Reorganization of UNFICYP

The United States has sought over the past few months support for a reorganization of UNFICYP, both to help eliminate the deficit--estimated soon to reach $18.9 million--and to bring UNFICYP's size and structure into line with the functions it is actually performing.

Noting that the military situation had remained calm during the reporting period, the US Representative, Ambassador Scali, expressed "cautious optimism" about the possibilities for substantial progress and strongly urged "all sides to take full advantage of this promising atmosphere." He stressed UNFICYP's financial difficulties and regretted that effective support for it had been left to "a small number of states who continue to contribute more generously than their own interests or responsibilities would dictate."

Scali concluded by strongly supporting the Secretary-General's intention to study ways and means of reducing the UN financial and manpower commitment and make "appropriate recommendations" in his next report to the Council, and suggested that this study include creating alternative force models "based on hypothetical reductions in the neighborhood of 25 percent, 50 percent, and 75 percent of UNFICYP's current strength" of 3,144 men.

SECURITY COUNCIL MEETS ON MIDDLE EAST

At the request of Egypt the Security Council held ten meetings during June 6-14 to discuss the situation in the Middle East. On June 14 the President of the Council read a statement expressing the sense of the Council that the meetings should be suspended until mid-July.

Attention focused principally on a report submitted by the Secretary-General summarizing UN efforts in dealing with particular aspects of the Middle East situation (e.g., maintenance of the cease-fire, status of Jerusalem, refugees) and reviewing progress in the search for a settlement under the auspices of Ambassador Jarring in accordance with resolution 242 of November 22, 1967.

Representatives of 32 countries, including 9 foreign ministers or equivalent, participated in the debate. No strikingly new ideas or proposals were set forth, and the positions of the parties were largely predictable. The debate was by and large serious and moderate, and threats of resort to military force or action against western interests, particularly oil, were muted and indirect.

Egyptian Statement

The Egyptian Foreign Minister opened the debate indicating he would at a later date comment on the Secretary-General's report. With regard to the current situation, he said that his government had requested the Council to examine the question "after six years of effort and endurance have failed to put an end to the Israeli military occupation of our land." He noted that Egypt had called for the Council meetings that resulted in adoption of resolution 242 and said that at that time they had "called for the immediate and unconditional withdrawal of all Israeli forces from all territories invaded in June 1967." He characterized Israel's posture since then as a demand to meet the vanquished and dictate its terms and declared that all UN resolutions on the subject "remained mere documents."

Zayyat's statement in his speech that Egypt accepted talks "without prior conditions" attracted particular attention during the debate. His subsequent explanation made clear, however, that Egypt still seeks a prior Israeli commitment to total withdrawal from occupied territories and considers Israel's refusal to give such a commitment to be an Israeli precondition to negotiations. He further stated that resolution 242's affirmation of "secure and recognized boundaries" for all did not mean that these should be established for Israel inside Egypt or Syria.

In conclusion, Zayyat announced Egypt's readiness to continue Jarring's talks with a view to achieving a just and lasting peace. "The price, however, has not been and shall not be the betrayal of our territorial integrity or the abandonment of the inalienable right of the Palestinians as a nation to live in peace within recognized and secure boundaries." He declared that a partial or interim settlement was completely unacceptable.

Israeli Position

Israel's Ambassador Tekoah spoke immediately after the Egyptian Foreign Minister. He stated that his government had repeatedly declared that it did not wish to freeze the existing situation and enumerated Israeli efforts to reach agreement which had been rebuffed by Egypt. He also asked, as a basic question, whether

UNCLASSIFIED

Egypt had abandoned the ultimate objective of bringing about Israel's destruction as an independent state.

With regard to the "secure and recognized boundaries" affirmed in resolution 242, Tekoah stated that the boundaries were not defined in the resolution but were subject to negotiation and agreement. In response to Mr. Zayyat's statement that Egypt accepted direct negotiations without prior conditions he stated that "Israel is prepared to enter into any free negotiations without preconditions." He ended with a call to Egypt to join Israel in building peace together.

The Suez Canal: Wider Than an Ocean

Egyptian Questions

On June 12 the Egyptian Foreign Minister put three queries to the Secretary-General, to which the latter replied on the 14th.

(1) Did the Special Representative intend to prepare aides memoires for Jordan and Syria in addition to his aide memoire of February 8, 1971, to Egypt and Israel on elements of a settlement? The Secretary-General responded that Ambassador Jarring had in 1971 indicated his intention of submitting an aide memoire relating to Israel and Jordan. Further, if Syria were to accept resolution 242 Jarring might also submit an aide memoire relating to Syria.

(2) Was the absence of reference to Gaza in the February 8 aide memoire without prejudice to the status of the strip as an

UNCLASSIFIED

"Arab territory" which "should be de-occupied"? The Secretary-General replied that this was in essence correct.

(3) Would the Secretary-General confirm that the US Permanent Representative, in his capacity as chairman of the Four Power meeting of June 24, 1971, did inform him that the Four "welcomed and supported" the February 8, 1971, initiative of the Special Representative and believed that Jarring was acting fully in accordance with the terms of his mandate under resolution 242? The Secretary-General confirmed that this conferred the general sense of that meeting.

US Position

Ambassador John Scali addressed the Council on June 14. His theme was the need to start a genuine negotiating process between Arab and Israeli. He described this meeting as a challenge to deal responsibly with the problem of the Middle East and an opportunity to reaffirm that the Council does not consider the present situation in the area either natural or permanent.

Ambassador Scali reaffirmed the US position that resolution 242 remains the landmark it was at its adoption. It recognized that peace in the Middle East must be based on a just settlement not only of the problems arising out of the hositilities of June 1967, but also of the underlying causes of the Arab-Israeli conflict. He enumerated the essential elements with which the UN began the search for peace in 1967: (1) The Council had not addressed the question of who was responsible for the outbreak of the fighting in June 1967, nor did it call for unconditional Israeli withdrawal. (2) Resolution 242 did not define the terms of settlement; it defined a set of "provisions and principles" which constitute a framework for the terms of a final settlement.

After recalling the main provisions and principles of resolution 242 Ambassador Scali noted in conclusion that it called for agreement and said the United States had never seen how such agreement was possible without an ongoing, serious negotiating process, either direct or indirect, which engaged the parties themselves.

Dismissing allegations of US partisanship in the dispute, he stated the overriding interest of the US was in peace to end the fear and uncertainty of the past quarter century. The parties must come to grips with the issues of sovereignty and security. The question of boundaries must be resolved as part of an overall agreement for a new relationship among the parties replacing that defined in the 1949 armistice agreements. He went on to say:

> "But the fact is that resolution 242 is silent on the specific question of where the final border should be located. It neither endorses nor precludes--let me repeat: neither endorses nor precludes--the armistice lines, which existed between Israel, Egypt, Jordan and Syria on June 4, 1967, as the final secure and recognized boundaries."

He concluded by restating US determination to preserve the basis for agreement which resolution 242 represents, and to try to move forward with renewed energy.

INTELLIGENCE AND RESEARCH

This section of Current Foreign Relations, prepared by the Bureau of Intelligence and Research, is for background purposes only. It is not an official statement of Department policy.

COMMUNIST ECONOMIC AID TO THE LDCs STILL A FRACTION OF WESTERN EFFORTS

In recent years Communist countries have placed increasing emphasis on foreign economic assistance as a major instrument for strengthening their political and commercial interests in the less developed countries (LDCs) of the non-Communist world. Direct comparisons between Communist and Western aid flow can be misleading--not the least of the difficulties being the definitional problem of what actually constitutes foreign aid, and the absence in Communist countries of any distinction between government and private sector activities.

Nevertheless, the orders of magnitude of available data clearly show that Communist aid efforts still represent only a small fraction of the Official Flows extended to the LDCs by the 16 member nations of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development's (OECD) Development Assistance Committee (DAC), however qualified direct comparisons must be. (Communist aid includes provision of goods and services, either as grants or on deferred payment terms. Credits allowing five years or more for repayment are included.)

DAC aid flows comprise Official Development Assistance (ODA) and Other Official Flows (OOF). ODA is defined as "all contributions which are administered with the promotion of economic welfare of developing countries as the main objective and whose financial terms are intended to be concessional in character." OOF includes official export credits, and debt relief and contributions to multilateral institutions which are not sufficiently concessional to classify as ODA.

Aid Commitments--Communist Aid Dwarfed by US Totals Alone

Since 1954, Communist economic credits and grants to the LDCs--grants constituting only about 5 percent of the total--have amounted to $15 billion. Almost 45 percent of these commitments were extended during the last six years. Even so, these 1967-72 Communist commitments represented less than one-tenth of the official commitments made to the LDCs over the same period by DAC members. Commitments by the US alone were more than 4-1/2 times total Communist aid commitments in the 1967-72 period.

Aid Drawings

Communist economic aid performance is even less impressive when drawings of Communist aid by the LDCs are compared with gross disbursements of official assistance by the DAC member countries. Over half of the drawings on Communist aid for the period 1954-72 occurred in the last six years. In these six years (1967-72), drawings on Communist aid averaged only about 5.5 percent of the gross disbursements effectuated by the DAC member countries.

Terms

The terms of Soviet and East European aid are generally harder than those extended by DAC member countries in their ODA programs, although they compare more favorably with DAC country OOF terms. Approximately 60 percent of 1971 DAC ODA commitments were grants, while the terms on ODA loans averaged 28.7 years, had an average interest rate of 2.8 percent, and carried an average grace period of 6.5 years. Interest rates approximating 6 percent are common in OOF transactions.

Soviet grants are the rare exception, and the terms of Soviet development credits average about 12 years with 2.5 percent interest. Soviet commercial credits--about one-fifth of Soviet aid in 1972--average from 8-10 years with 3-3.5 percent interest--possibly slightly higher interest in some commercial transactions --although in 1972 some credits were for 10-12 year periods, and some carried an interest rate of 2.5 percent.

1972	9.8	3.2*	13.0	.6

*Estimate

The financial terms of Chinese economic aid are more generous than those of the Soviets or East Europeans. Grants account for over one-third of Chinese aid, with the remainder consisting of interest-free credits with repayment terms that average 10-20 years after a 5-10 year grace period.

Net Flow

About three-fifths of Communist disbursements in the 1967-72 period were attributable to Soviet aid. The net outflow of Soviet aid, however, is significantly reduced by a rising level of repayments. In 1972, for example, economic aid drawings of $400 million were only $140 million higher than repayments made by the LDCs to the USSR for past aid. Several LDCs are now experiencing, or are approaching, a net outflow to the USSR.

Debt service payments have had less impact on the net transfer of DAC members' ODA, although they significantly reduce the net transfer of OOF. In 1971 gross ODA disbursements totaled $8.8 billion. Amortization and interest payments on past loans totaled $1.6 billion, leaving a net transfer of $7.2 billion to the LDCs. Gross OOF disbursements in 1971 were $2.8 billion, although amortization and interest payments of $1.9 billion reduced the net transfer to $0.9 billion.

1971 DAC Official Flows

Total OOF	2.8	1.5*	1.3	.4*	.9
ODA + OOF	11.6	2.6	9.0	.9	8.1

*Estimate

The combined ODA and OOF gross flow of $11.6 billion in 1971 was accompanied by amortization and interest payments of $3.5 billion which reduced the net transfer by about 30 percent to $8.1 billion. (UNCLASSIFIED)

INDOCHINA: NO PEACE AT HAND?

"...in the Eye of the Beholder"

Hanoi's and Saigon's initial public commentary on the Joint Communique signed in Paris on June 13, 1973, shows some significant divergence in the way they interpret the meaning of the latest Vietnam agreement. While both the Communists and the Saigon government use the occasion to reaffirm their intentions to comply fully with this and the earlier Paris agreement on Vietnam, there is no evidence that they are any closer to agreement on the causes of the continuing hostility or on the major issues still dividing them. Their rhetoric alone does not bode well for a quick or early solution to the conflict.

Hanoi Sees an Important Victory

A DRV Foreign Ministry statement of June 14 describes the latest Vietnam agreement as "an important victory" for the Vietnamese people. Predictably, Communist media blame the "very serious and systematic violations of the cease-fire" by the US and GVN for the continued fighting and argue that the only correct way to maintain peace is to implement scrupulously the Paris Agreement. More significantly, the DRV Foreign Ministry statement argues that this mean strict termination of US military involvement and interference in South Vietnam and the solution of the internal problems of South Vietnam on the basis of the recognition that there exist in reality in South Vietnam two administrations, two armies, two zones of control, and three political forces.

Of the Communique's 14 points, Communist media stress the importance of four provisions regarding South Vietnam: the delineation of the territory controlled by each side, the release of arrested and detained Vietnamese civilians, the formation of the Council of National Reconciliation and Concord, and the provision of democratic liberties. Of these, Hanoi clearly considers the proposed modalities to determine control of territory as being the most important to its side. On the issue of Cambodia and Laos, the Foreign Ministry statement merely repeats the language of the Communique while reaffirming Hanoi's stand that the internal affairs of Laos and Cambodia must be settled by the poeple of Laos and Cambodia without foreign interference.

Saigon Claims Reaffirmation of Paris Agreement Position

Initial South Vietnamese commentary indicates that they view the June 13 Communique as a reaffirmation of their previous position on the Paris Agreement. Of special note is the South Vietnamese claim that the Communique confirms that the GVN is the only legal government and that the Army of the Republic of Vietnam is the only legitimate army in South Vietnam. In this context Saigon stresses that Communist-controlled areas are only under temporary military control pending a political settlement. Saigon further sees the Communique as reaffirming that the implementation of "democratic liberties" is conditional on compliance with the in-place cease-fire. With regard to general elections, the South Vietnamese emphasize that the procedures for holding elections must be agreed upon before the implementation of the other political provisions of the Paris Agreement, such as the establishment of "democratic freedoms," the formation of the National Council of Reconciliation and Concord, and settelement of the problems related to the Vietnamese armed forces in South Vietnam.

Saigon insists that the Communique primarily means that the Communists must stop violating the cease-fire, immediately end land-grabbing operations, and cooperate with the GVN in determining zones of control. The GVN also emphasizes those provisions calling for the Communists to cease infiltration of men and supplies from the North and to withdraw their forces from Cambodia and Laos. With the exception of a few minor concessions--such as the agreement to allow the PRG delegation to the Two-Party Joint Military Commission to move into downtown Saigon--the GVN apparently sees the Communique as requiring no adjustments in its own basic position on military and political questions. [redacted]

Elected as a Congressman in 1973, representing the State of Valdivia (South of Chile).

2. Arrest

On June 25, 1975, Dr. Lorca was arrested with Mrs. Carolina Wiff (a social worker) at Maule Street #120 at 16.30PM by a group of DINA agents. He was handcuffed, his glasses were taken from him and he was taken to a detention camp, but the Chilean authorities refuse to accept the fact they they have him.

We include six (6) affidavits sworn before a notary public of witness who saw the arrest take place. There is great fear for his life because DINA denies that they have him, although he has been seen at two detention camps, "Cuatro Alamos" and "Villa Grimaldi".

Dr. Lorca suffers from ulcers and he has a blood deficiency which implies a very slow coagulation factor. This is very serious as he could die in torture without his "interrogators" being aware of this fact during his "scientific questioning". Prisoners are generally beaten up, electric shock and other drugs are given to them and a large number die. This became evident during the last publicized list of persons who were reported "shot in combat in Argentina".

3. Solidarity

The Committee for Peace, formed by all churches of Chile, has been fighting for Carlos' life. His Eminence Cardinal Raul Silva, the chief Rabbi, and Dr. Helmuth Frenz, Lutheran Bishop, have tried to get the authorities to admit that they have him.

The Chief Justice of Chile, Dr. Jose Maria Eyzaguirre, has personally tried to make DINA accept that they have him, but the answer is "we have no one by that name. (Prisoners are generally booked under false names so as to make the "Habeas Corpus" unapplicable.

The following institutions and governments have contacted the authorities demanding that Carlos' detention camp be made public:

F.M.J.D. Federation of World Youth
U.I.E. : International Students Union

A. REFUGEES WILL APPROACH ONE OF 26 SUBCOMMITTEES - 15 IN SANTIAGO, 11 IN PROVINCES - TO BE ESTABLISHED BY NATIONAL COMMITTEE FOR AID TO REFUGEES. NATIONAL COMMITTEE CONSISTS OF REPS OF CHILEAN RED CROSS, CATHOLIC CHURCH, PROTESTANT CHURCHES, CARITAS, ETC.

B. REFUGEES' APPLICATIONS FOR NORMALIZATION OF SITUATION OR FOR PERMISSION TO LEAVE COUNTRY WILL BE REVIEWED BY MINISTRY FONRELATIONS, MINISTRY INTERIOR AND ARMED FORCES INTELLIGENCE.

C. REFUGEES WHOSE PETITITION TO STAY IN COUNTRY APPROVED WILL HAVE THREE MONTHS TO GET PAPERS IN ORDER. REFUGEES WHO WISH TO LEAVE AND ARE NOT WANTED FOR CRIMES WILL BE EXPELLED RAPIDLY AND BE AIDED BY UNHCR TO FIND NEW HOMES IN OTHER COUNTRIES. NONE WILL BE RETURNED TO COUNTRY OF ORIGIN AGAINST THEIR WILL. REFUGEES WANTED FOR CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS BY AUTHORITIES WILL BE INFORMED OF DECISION AND PROVIDED WITH LEGAL DEFENSE ASSISTANCE AT THEIR REQUEST.

4. HASELMAN WANTS MINISTRY INTERIOR AGREEMENT TO TWO FURTHER POINTS: A) ESTABLISHMENT OF SAFE HAVENS IN CHURCHES WHERE REFUGEES NOW IN HIDING CAN GO WITHOUT FEAR OF BEING DETAINED FOR QUESTIONING, AND B) GOVERNMENT OKAY TO ALLOWING PETITIONS FOR NORMALIZATION TO BE ENTERED WITHOUT ADDRESSES. IN SUCH CASE ONLY AID TO REFUGEE COMMITTEES AND NOT GOVERNMENT WOULD BE ABLE TO CONTACT REFUGEES. HASELMAN STATES LATTER IS IMPORTANT TO DISPEL FEARS OF MANY REFUGEES THAT ATTEMPTS TO REGULARIZE STATUS WILL LEAD TO GOVERNMENT DISCOVERY AND ARREST.

SUBJECT: CONTINUATION OF HORMAN CHRONOLOGY

REF: SANTIAGO 5132

FOLLOWING IS CONTINUATION UP TO OCT 15 OF CHRONOLOGY OF MISSION EFFORTS IN HORMAN CASE AS BEGUN IN REFTEL. CHRONOLOGY WILL BE CONTINUED IN SEPTEL.

5 OCT - CONSULAR OFFICERS CONTACTED THREE PERSONS REPORTED BY MRS. HORMAN TO HAVE RECEIVED CALLS INQUIRING ABOUT HER HUSBAND. TWO INDICATED THAT THE CALLERS HAD IDENTIFIED THEMSELVES AS BEING FROM MILITARY INTELLIGENCE AND ONE WAS ASKED TO GO TO THE NEAREST CARABINERO STATION TO GIVE INFO ABOUT HORMAN. A CHECK BACK TO MILITARY INTELLIGENCE THROUGH COL. HON RECEIVED ANOTHER DENIAL OF KNOWLEDGE ABOUT HORMAN AND, SPECIFICALLY, ABOUT THE CALLS.

7 OCT - CONSULAR PERSONNEL CHECKED WITH ALL PERTINENT FOREIGN EMBASSIES TO INQUIRE ABOUT THE POSSIBILITY THAT AMCITS (AND, SPECIFICALLY, HORMAN) MIGHT HAVE TAKEN ASYLUM THERE. MOST REPLIED THAT THEY HAD NO AMCITS AND A FEW (ARGENTINA, MEXICO, SWEDEN) REPLIED THAT THEY COULD NOT PROVIDE INFO ON PERSONS IN ASYLUM AT THEIR EMBASSIES.

NOTE ON HORMAN (SAYING HE DETAINED 20 SEPT) AND FACT OF HIS DETENTION 17 SEPT. WILLOUGHBY PROMISED TO CHECK (REPORTED BY SANTIAGO 4910).

UNCLASSIFIED

8 OCT - EMB. PROVIDED MRS. HORMAN WITH A CAR TO PERMIT HER TO TALK TO NEIGHBORS AGAIN ABOUT THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF HER HUSBAND'S DETENTION.

-- JUNTA PRESS SECTY. WILLOUGHBY TOLD PAO THAT OFFICE OF SECTY. GEN. OF GOVT INVESTIGATING HORMAN CASE AND HAD INTERVIEWED COL. ESPINOZA AT NATIONAL STADIUM WHO STATED THAT HORMAN'S NAME NOT IN THEIR RECORDS OF DETAINEES.

UNCLASSIFIED

9 OCT - EMBASSY ARRANGED FOR A STORY (WHICH APPEARED 11 OCT) IN EL MERCURIO, COMPLETE WITH PHOTO, TELLING OF HORMAN'S DISAPPEARANCE, AND ASKING FOR INFO. A SPECIAL PHONE AT THE CONSULATE WAS USED FOR ANSWERING THE CALLS (WHICH WERE NOT NUMEROUS, AND NONE HELPFUL).

-- MR. HORMAN HAD HEARD THAT, IN ADDITION TO MORGUE, UNIDENTIFIED BODIES WERE TAKEN TO OTHER PLACES. CONSUL CHECKED WITH MORGUE DIRECTOR, WHO SAID THIS WAS NOT TRUE.

10 OCT - CONSULATE, AT MR. HORMAN'S REQUEST, ARRANGED FOR AN ADDITIONAL (TO THAT ALREADY DONE BY MORGUE) FINGERPRINT CHECK OF UNIDENTIFIED BODIES AGAINST THOSE OF HORMAN. THIS CHECK HAD A NEGATIVE RESULT.

-- AMBASSADOR DAVIS, IN MEETING WITH MR. HORMAN, SUGGESTED THAT HE ATTEMPT TO GET HIS SON'S DENTAL RECORDS FOR POSSIBLE USE IN CHECKING UNIDENTIFIED BODIES. MR. HORMAN LATER SAID THAT HE HAD FOUND THAT HIS SON'S CHILEAN DENTAL RECORDS HAD BEEN ROUTINELY DESTROYED, BUT THAT HE MIGHT BE ABLE TO GET SOME FROM MINNESOTA.

-- CONSUL VISITED NATIONAL STADIUM AND SAW DETENTION LISTS -- HORMAN NOT INCLUDED. ALSO SAW COLLECTION OF STATEMENTS SIGNED BY RELEASED PRISONERS -- NONE BY HORMAN. (RPTD SANTIAGO 4958).

11 OCT - CONSULATE RECEIVED CALL FROM MAN WHO CLAIMED TO HAVE SEEN HORMAN BOARDING A PLANE FOR PUERTO MONTT, IN SOUTH OF CHILE, ON 5 OCT. CONSULAR OFFICERS CHECKED MANIFESTS FOR OCT

4, 5 AND 6 AND TALKED TO PERSONNEL AT AIRPORT. NO POSITIVE INFO -- INFORMANT APPEARS TO HAVE CONFUSED HORMAN WITH A CHILEAN OF SIMILAR DESCRIPTION WHO DID FLY ON 5 OCT.

-- COL. HON REVIEWED HORMAN CASE WITH COL. JUAN HENRIQUEZ OF ARMY G-2 WHO HAD NO NEW INFORMATION TO OFFER.

12 OCT - EMBASSY ARRANGED FOR MR. HORMAN TO SPEAK OVER PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM AT NATIONAL STADIUM IN ATTEMPT TO SEE IF HIS SON MIGHT BE THERE AND NOT PROPERLY IDENTIFIED. HE WAS ACCOMPANIED BY CONSUL AND ANOTHER CONSULAR OFFICER. THEY WERE MET BY COL. ESPINOZA, COMMANDER OF THE STADIUM, WHO SHOWED THEM DETAINEE LISTS AND THE STATEMENTS SIGNED BY RELEASED

PRISONERS. THE COL. ALSO INTRODUCED MR. HORMAN OVER THE PA
SYSTEM AND INVITED ANYONE WITH INFO TO COME FORWARD. THREE PERSONS DID SO, BUT THE INFO DID NOT PERTAIN TO HORMAN.

UNCLASSIFIED

-- AMBASSADOR STRESSED IMPORTANCE OF HORMAN CASE TO GENERAL
PINOCHET, PRES. OF JUNTA, AT PRIVATE EVENING MEETING.

-- POL COUNSELOR RAISED HORMAN CASE AND ASKED FOR CONTINUED EFFORTS IN CLARIFYING SITUATION IN CONVERSATION WITH COMMANDER COLLADO, MILITARY OFFICER ASSIGNED TO MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

13 OCT - CONSUL AND COL. HON DISCUSSED WITH MR. HORMAN THE ISSUE OF THE ACTIVITIES AND ROLE OF MILITARY INTELLIGENCE, AS WELL AS THE REASON WHY CAPT DAVIS WAS INVOLVED IN THE SEARCH FOR HORMAN. BOTH EMBOFFS ASSURED MR. HORMAN THAT CAPT DAVIS HAD BECOME INVOLVED BECAUSE HE HAD GIVEN HORMAN A RIDE FROM VINA DEL MAR TO SANTIAGO, AND THAT THE CAPT WAS NOT RPT NOT A NAVAL INTELLIGENCE OFFICER AS MR. HORMAN HAD COME TO BELIEVE.

-- MR. HORMAN LATER MET WITH AMBASSADOR DAVIS (CONSUL PRESENT)
WHO ASSURED MR. HORMAN THAT THE US GOVERNMENT HAD ASSOCIATION OR TIE WITH CHILEAN POLICE OR INTELLIGENCE ACTIVITIES WHICH MIGHT INVOLVE HIS SON IN ANY WAY.

15 OCT - COL. HON MET WITH GEN. LUTZ, CHIEF OF ARMY INTEL-LIGENCE, AND COMMANDER SERGIO HERRERA TO REVIEW CASE. COL.

K: And congratulations to you on the spectacular way you handled the Bogota Conference.

R: As I told you Henry, no agressiveness. I used...in my speech, saying we are getting to speak with Dr. Kissinger not against Dr. Kissinger.

K: You were a major influence and would not have happened without you.

R: ...Vasquez appointment and the 8 point..

K: He is coming up on Friday and I am inviting him to lunch.

R: I would like to get together with you , when can we meet in Mexico?

K: In February.

R: ...for security reasons and I want to propose Cozumal..

K: I have never been there. I would love to R: A beautiful place and for us Latin American Foreign Ministers, to get together one or two days before your arrival to talk over any programs beforehand. I would like to send them over and then we can discuss these proposals and on the 3rd day get together with you... in the latter part of February.

K: The second part of February.

R: That is fine. I want it to be smooth and I will need time to adapt things physically and intellectually. I will make no type of official announcement.

K: Let's plan on it..

R: In principle , we are in agreement. It should be in second part of February.

FROM : INR/DDC - James R. Gardner

SUBJECT : ARA-CIA Weekly Meeting, 23 November 1973

PARTICIPANTS: ARA - Messrs. Kubisch, Shlaudeman and Bowdler (for latter half of meeting); CIA - [redacted] and INR/DDC - James R. Gardner

Chile

Most of the discussion centered around the CIA proposal for giving covert assistance to the Chilean PDC and private sector organizations. The sum proposed is [redacted] of which [redacted] would go to the PDC, [redacted] and another [redacted] for contingencies. The purpose of the assistance, as explained in the CIA memorandum of proposal and by [redacted] is to help the PDC and elements in the private sector bridge the radical change in the situation brought about by the Junta's overthrow of Allende.

Mr. Shlaudeman said that in his view the rationale for extending the assistance was a negative but real one. If we held off now we could be causing ourselves trouble, for it would look as if we had been interested simply in knocking off Allende. There was no question in his mind that a most important objective was for us to get out of political action in Chile once and for all. But the proposed program was a minimum one for a minimum time. He felt it should be extended with the clear understanding that after such and such a date the party would be over.

[redacted] said that one problem was that reflected in the claim of the PDC that, if there were no PDC activity, the only ones that would benefit would be the Communists, since they would continue to operate and would continue to receive money.

Mr. Shlaudeman commented that this claim presumed a condition in Chile that was unlikely; that is, one in which the military would tolerate political activity by the Communists. Nonetheless, without the help of the PDC it was quite possible that the Junta would not be able to perform as an effective government, especially in the economic sphere. It needed the help of talented members of the PDC, although not necessarily that of the PDC itself. But a PDC break with the Junta, because of the effect it might have on individual dispositions to cooperate, could mean a breakdown in the effectiveness of the new government.

Mr. Kubisch said that, as we knew, he was in principle opposed to covert political operations:

(1) The political action possibilities available to us through CIA represented a means of influencing events and an instrument for action that should be used only if there were need.

(2) Given the evolution of events in the South American region in the last 25 years, and the increasing polarization in the region of contending political elements, and the history of our involvement in covert political and military action, we had to be extremely careful about using this instrument. In his view, we should employ it with the greatest reluctance and only when no other and better means were available. The damage to the US and to the USG were it to become known that we were engaged in covert operations could be very great, and across the board, in today's world. We have been hurt by publicity about covert programs. Therefore his initial stance would be one of strong skepticism when proposals for covert political action were raised. His preference was for none whatever in the hemisphere. It would be good if we could go for years without resorting to them, if such restraint would do us no harm. Therefore he would recommend use of such programs only if there were no other way to accomplish a vitally important end.

(3) He nevertheless wished to consider the present proposal carefully. The importance of Chile and the views of important US officials who were concurring in the proposal commanded our most careful attention. But his first reaction was clearly negative.

Mr. Kubisch then referred to the help that we had given to anti-Allende elements in the 1970 election and said that whatever it was we had done, we had done it to oppose Allende and we had not achieved our objectives. Our interests in Chile as a result of the 1970 elections came under direct and material threat. We now have a different situation in Chile. While it was understandable that we felt it necessary to oppose Allende in 1970, and to help his opposition once he was in office, the question now was whether, given the abrupt change in Chile and in the security situation there, it was really essential to fine tune a political situation simply to be a moderating influence and to help the opposition stay alive. He found it difficult to see a persuasive case that we should do so. His feelings was sharpened by the problems that seemed to be emerging between the Junta and the PDC, and by the fact that the Secretary had made it clear that the change in regime in Chile was very much in our interest and that we should do all we could to help the Junta succeed. In view of the Secretary's remarks, he would not be comfortable recommending assistance to any element in Chile that was not completely identified with the Junta. It was not essential to the success of the Junta that the PDC survive as an entity. He mentioned in this regard the situation in Mexico and Brazil.

Mr. Shlaudeman said that the case of the PDC in Chile was to be distinguished from Brazil and Mexico since the PDC was a real party with a real base, and it was the only real surviving element in the political system. What we were talking about in this proposal was help only in a transitional term. It was perhaps correct to say that the survival of the PDC as a party was not important -- but what was important was that we not give the impression that we had no problems with a right wing dictatorship and that we had no interest in the survival of democracy in Chile after all that we had said over the years. He therefore still felt it would be best to tell the PDC that we would finance it for three to five months but that we were getting out of this kind of activity for good in very short order, that it was up to the PDC to put its house in order.

Mr. Shlaudeman said he was talking only about assistance to the PDC, he was against that part of the proposal that had to do with assistance to [redacted]

Mr. Shlaudeman said that in his view, based on what he knew of the operations in Chile, the security risk would be minimal. The reaction of the junta if it found out about our assistance to the PDC would not be great if our aid went to the more conservative wing of the party and not to that represented by Tomić. Six or seven months from now, he said, the reaction would probably be somewhat sharper.

Mr. Kubisch asked what would happen if in January or February the Junta found out that we had made money available to the PDC. They naturally would ask what the hell we were doing, were we still intervening in Chile; still meddling? If we could say that our program had ended with the overthrow of Allende, our position would be sound, but if, on the other hand, we had to say that we had given a little to help the PDC over a transitional period, wouldn't the reaction be bad?

Mr. Shlaudeman said he really didn't think it would be.

Mr. Kubisch said that when Allende had been president, it was possible to make a case that his opposition should be supported. Now, however, the situation was much different, the right wing was in control. Were we perhaps not saying simply that the situation had gone too far the other way for our taste? In gross terms, when a major threat to US interest was involved, we should use means to correct the condition, no matter how extreme they might be. This was not such a case. Just because we did not like a government was no reason to intervene in their countries. He himself didn't like the Junta but he could not see it as a serious, extreme threat to our interests.

Mr. Shlaudeman said he agreed, but said that he was worried about the effects of a drastic, immediate cut off right now, especially since we had been saying every since 1962 that our primary interest in Chile was the survival of democracy.

Mr. Kubisch responded that Chilean democracy had taken the country close to disaster. He felt that, attractive as an orderly disengagement would have been, the present circumstances did not make this the preferable option. There were a lot of things that we favored abroad, that we thought were good things, but simply because we felt that way was no reason to use covert action to see them realized, unless, as he had said before, our interests were actually gravely threatened.

Mr. Kubisch concluded the discussion by saying that he wished to think about the matter a little more, even though he saw little prospect that his mind would change. It was agreed that Mr. Shlaudeman would speak to Ambassador Davis if the latter might advance any considerations that had not be given sufficient attention.

R: I wanted to talk with you to see if its suitable for you. I am thinking of making the meeting in Febrary, the 17th to the 24th, on the understanding that the 17th, a Sunday, the Foreign Ministers would arrive to discuss whatever they have to discuss and propose whatever they wish on the 18th, 19th and 20th and then if you could be so kind as to arrive for the 21st, 22nd and 23rd and go back to your business on the 24th.

K: OK.

R: We are not sure but we are now going to go ahead, but whether it will be Mexico City or Acapulco. Acapulco has problems.

K: It has problems?

R: Well, it has problems with water, there isn't enough water, and other things. We would have to make a big investment and it would be an unnatural thing.

K: Well, it's entirely up to you.

R: Thank you Henry. The only thing to be sure ...I am going to write the Foreign Ministers and the Ambassadors.it is all right for you to arrive the evening of the 20th and leave the 24th, or leave whenever you wish.

K: Are you telling me I have to leave right after....?

R: No, no, you can stay as long as you please, 1 month, 4 months....

K: Thank you, I am thinking of working with people I like.

R: Henry, I received the photo from McBride but the one I would like is the one taken when you were still here in Mexico. You know the one, we are sort of embracing.

K: Hello.

MK: Mr. Secretary. How do you feel?

K: Yesterday I was sick as a dog but today I'm recovered.

MK: Good. I didn't figure that a cold could knock you out for more than 24 hours. Listen, I just wanted to check with you briefly on two points. New York is badgering me about your going down to Mexico and I remembered your saying on the plane....

K: I was going...I had a plan to go to Acapulco on Saturday but I almost certainly will cancel it. You know its 98% certain that I'll cancel it.

MK: Right. Secondly, there is a report from Geneva that says that the security people, including Aron had had word on to Palestinian groups coming on land and air sent to Geneva last Thursday to try to disrupt the entire proceedings and they apparently had it in for you and Refid and Waldheim. Had any of this ever got to you.

K: I have to have a [redacted] policy of not commenting on security things but I got alot of threats.

K: Can I call you say after Christmas. One problem is how to get down there because I don't like to travel in a military plane right now/ with the Energy Crisis you see.

R: I understand. I repeat you are always welcome but I hoped you could make it as your firsdt idea was though because we'll have a longer time to speak and to pass the new years -- I would like it very much, no but I would not molest you in any way.

K: I am anxious to talk to you at length.

They can either stay with you or at our home and we would like very much to have them here. HAVE SOUGHT ASYLUM IN SANTIAGO EMBASSIES AND WHO THE GOVT DETERMINES TO BE PERSECUTABLE FOR COMMON CRIMES WILL NOT BE GRANTED SAFECONDUCTS TO LEAVE COUNTRY UNTIL GOC HAS READY

FOR SIMULTANEOUS PRESENTATION REQUESTS FOR EXTRADITION (SANTIAGO 5810).

3. CURRENTLY OVER 250 ASYLEES HAVE THEIR SAFECONDUCT REQUESTS IN "DEFERRED" STATUS WHILE CHILEAN COURTS BEGIN PROCESS OF AMASSING MATERIAL TO BE USED IN CHARGES AGAINST THEM. BY LAW ALL CASES MUST PASS THRU SUPREME COURT WHICH WILL DECIDE WHETHER OR NOT TO ASK MINFONRELS TO REQUEST EXTRADITION. PRESUMABLY EXTRADITION WILL NOT BE REQUESTED FROM COUNTRIES WITH WHICH CHILE HAS NO BILATERAL EXTRADITION TREATIES NOR WITH THOSE THAT ARE NOT SIGNATORIES OF INTERNATIONAL ASYLUM TREATIES WHICH CONTAIN EXTRADITION CLAUSES. OTHER THAN GENERAL STATEMENTS TO EFFECT THAT GOC WILL HONOR INTERNATIONAL OBLIGATIONS, THERE IS NO CLEAR INDICATION HOW JUNTA WILL ULTIMATELY DEAL WITH PROBLEM OF ASYLEES WANTED FOR COMMON CRIMES RESIDING IN EMBASSIES OF LATTER GROUP OF (PRIMARILY EUROPEAN) NATIONS.

4. TO DATE, CASES CONSIDERED BY COURTS HAVE INVOLVED IMPORTANT UNIDAD POPULAR PERSONALITIES PEDRO VUSKOVIC AND PATRICIO PALMA AS WELL AS LESSER LIGHTS. VUSKOVIC, A SOCIALIST, IS FORMER MINECON, CABINET LEVEL CHIEF OF CORFO (CHILEAN DEVELOPMENT CORP) AND MAN MANY CHILEANS BLAME HEAVILY FOR ECONOMIC DISASTER WHICH BEFELL CHILE. VUSKOVIC, WHO CURRENTLY IN RESIDENCE IN MEXICAN EMBASSY, AND 2 OTHER CORFO EMPLOYEES, ARE CHARGED WITH THEFT (HURTO). 6. CASE WHICH HAS GONE FURTHEST AND WHICH HAS APPARENTLY ALREADY BEEN RECOMMENDED BY SUPREME COURT FOR EXTRADITION INVOLVES JAIME FLORES, FORMER GOC INTERVENTOR OF COBRE CERRILLOS (62 0/0 PHELPS DODGE), WHO ON THE MORNING OF SEPT 11 REPORTEDLY LIFTED COMPANY'S PAYROLL FROM SAFE AND MADE OFF WITH IT AND HIS PRIVATE SECRETARY TO ARGENTINE EMBASSY. CASE OF PARTICULAR INTEREST BECAUSE SUBJECTS HAVE ALREADY BEEN GRANTED SAFECONDUCTS, AND, HAVE LEFT CHILE, ACCORDING TO CHILEAN PRESS, ARE BEING DETAINED AT GOC REQUEST BY ARGENTINE AUTHORITIES. EXTRADITION REQUESTS FOR THEM MAY BE FIRST TO LEAVE MINFONRELS.

7. COMMENT. GIVEN STATE OF INTERNATIONAL OPINION IT IS DIFFICULT TO IMAGINE MANY COUNTRIES EXTRADITING CHILEAN POLITICAL ASYLEES. OUR IMPRESSION IS THAT EXTRADITION COURSE IS SOMEWHAT FACE-SAVING WAY OF MANEUVERING AROUND STRONG INTERNAL PRESSURES NOT TO LET ALLENDE-ERA PERSONALITIES ESCAPE WITHOUT PUNISHMENT FOR THEIR REAL OR IMAGINED CRIMES.BEGINNING OF EXTRADITION PROCEEDINGS IN NO WAY COMMITS GOC TO CLEARING ALL EMBASSIES AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. SOME POLITICAL FIGURES ARE JUST "TOO HOT" TO LET LEAVE COUNTRY. SOME NATIONS, NOTABLY THOSE SUCH AS SWEDEN AND ITALY, WHICH ARE NOT HIGH ON GOC'S FRIENDSHIP LIST, MAY FIND THEMSELVES WITH GUESTS FOR A LONG TIME TO COME. ASYLEES WILL BECOME, IN MANY INSTANCES, HOSTAGES IN INVOLVED BILATERAL DEALINGS. ONE MEMBER OF FRG EMBASSY TOLD EMBOFF RECENTLY THAT ONCE FRG GETS RID OF APPROXIMATELY 50 ASYLES WHO WILL BE PROBABLY GRANTED SAFE-CONDUCTS WITHOUT TROUBLE,IT WILL THEN BEGIN "PUTTING THE PRESSURE ON" TO GET SAFECONDUCTS FOR APPROXIMATELY 30 MORE WHO CURRENTLY IN DEFERRED STATE. ASYLEES AND PROBLEMS THEY CREATE FOR CHILE'S BILATERAL RELATIONS AND INTERNATIONAL IMAGE WILL BE ISSUES OF CONCERN FOR FORESEEABLE FUTURE.

CHILEAN REACTION TO ARMS BAN

A. Immediate Reaction

1. General public reaction. Chilean public reaction to the arms ban has been minimal. News stories have been buried in the international cable pages of the press, and the media have refrained from comment. Thus the Chilean public probably does not yet fully understand the meaning of the ban. When the GOC takes a position, or provides the media with a line to follow, we expect public opinion will follow along.

2. Junta reaction. We do not know specifically, but the ban is one of a continuing series of disappointments. The Junta saw it coming, although belatedly, and presumably had already discounted receiving significant US military help beyond that already committed, i.e. the A-37 and F-5 aircraft. The Junta members probably feel that the US Congress and public were successfuly misled by Marxist propaganda. They will surely feel some resentment, and some dismay over the increase in the military imbalance with Peru which this arms ban signifies. The Junta is not to regard the action as responsible more of pressure and is evidence that the US cannot be relied upon in a critical security area.

3. Junta support. We doubt that the ban has evoked the loss of Junta support. It is too early, and the news has not yet been assimilated. We think it likely that any loss in support over the long term, presumably due to recognition that the Junta's human rights practices have cost Chile some US cooperation, will be offset by a patriotic "rally round the flag" reaction as Chilean world isolation becomes more evident and the Peruvian threat takes on added weight.

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

4. Strength and aspirations of the Junta's opponents.

Whether the opponents are heartened depends on who is meant by "opponents." The Soviet Union and Cuba, some of the other countries who have either broken or strained relations with Chile, and the active UP opposition inside and outside Chile (i.e. the parties of the UP, etc.) will be pleased to see this evidence of increasing isolation of the GOC. They probably are somewhat strengthened.

We do not believe that the Christian Democrats should be classified as "opponents" of the Junta. The bulk of that party still does not want to see the Junta overthrown, knowing full well that the alternatives at the moment are worse, and it as patriotic as for as Pérez is concerned. The PDC in general wants some influence on the Junta and improvements in its ways of doing things. The PDC would be heartened by GOC positive attempts to get out of its isolation, which could result in increased influence for it. A general toughening of the GOC line, however, might end up in confrontation, from which the PDC would likely emerge with even less influence and status than it has now.

The reaction of the MIR is irrelevant. It will be happy along with the other Junta-haters to see US support falling off, but it will not change its attitude. And, of course, the arms cut-off makes no difference in the ability of the security forces to hunt down what remains of the MIR--this takes rifles, and good intelligence, not tanks.

full implication will take a while to sink in. It will be seen as making the Junta's job harder, but it is not the end of their world.

7. ~~We foresee~~ There probably will be no fundamental changes in foreign policy, ~~as likely, although~~ but the Junta may ~~well make some tactical changes.~~ be more enterprising. It ~~cannot hope for much support from~~ may seek to deepen its relations with the Third World, ~~which has seen Chile in an unfavorable light,~~ although and Chile has no real community of interests with the communist countries that have maintained relations, ~~(the PRC and Romania)~~ it might be tempted to try playing the PRC against the USSR. We expect the GOC will appoint some civilians to replace military ambassadors, and will open some missions in Africa, where Chile is now unrepresented. ~~But fundamental new departures in foreign policy are unlikely without an equally fundamental change in domestic policies, which it does not appear the GOC is willing to undertake.~~

8. Nasserist dreams. We do not see a radicalization of the regime, the confiscation of foreign property, or an inclination toward foreign adventures.

9. Junta unity. The Junta has been and is unified. As far as we can see, differences within the Junta are measured in relatively small degrees, and rather than a split, we can expect that the Junta members and the Chilean military in general will rally together against what they will be inclined to see as another example of the success of the "Marxist-inspired propaganda campaign" against Chile. The cutoff of military assistance for practical purposes has little effect on internal security practices and only weakens Chile in the face of a perceived classic military threat from outside (Peru). It could Finally, GOC leaders may take the ban as a sign that the economic blockade they perceive is a growing threat -- i.e., the progressive shutdown of bilateral assistance and a growing reluctance of international financial institutions (and as the IBRD) to entertain Chilean loan applications.

14. Junta perception of how it is seen by others. We believe that the Junta is convinced, as it has said, that it struck a severe blow at "world Marxism" in September 1973, and that the communist/socialist world is determined to retaliate. The enmity of the USSR, Cuba, and most communist countries can thus be taken for granted. The Junta understands that the PRC and Romania continue to maintain relations for special reasons, and hardly deludes itself that ~~they have any real love for it.~~ Chile is the object of true love It apparently believes that many Third World countries have been led astray by the USSR, and that some investment of increased diplomatic attention on its part could be productive in that sector.

The Junta considers that the "Marxist propaganda campaign" has unhappily managed to convince an influential segment of US opinion that Chile is a bloody, fascist dictatorship, as it has also done in the UN, in several other countries in Western Europe, and in Mexico. It may recognize that its human rights practices (and poor handling of public relations) have played a part in adding an element of truth to the campaign, but it does not consider that these have been serious enough to be the cause of all the external censure. Objectively, human rights violations in Chile have probably been little worse (if indeed worse at all) than those in such other countries in recent years as South Korea, South Vietnam, Greece, Portugal, and Brazil, to say nothing of the USSR and Cuba. The Junta notes that the US, and others, does not take equal exception to the violations in those countries, and is thus led to the conclusion that Chile has been singled out for political reasons. We suspect that the Junta sees a certain domestic political cynicism at work in this arms cutoff to a small, far away country, which cannot retaliate.

Thus the Junta is unlikely to react with real soul-searching, since it considers that the criticism is unfair at best and hypocritical at worst. In the absence of greater pressure, it may eventually react with the same cynicism by attempting to improve its human rights image with measures and pronouncements aimed at catching attention but giving away little or nothing in actual control of the country, or in relaxing its internal security measures.

K: Hello.

J: Good morning, Henry.

K: Jack, welcome home.

J: And a Happy New Year to you.

K: Happy New Year. Sorry I missed you in Acapulco.

J: What a shame. Everybody was expecting you. The Escadangs were devastated.

K: Well, I.... Why were they devastated? They could use their house.

J: I know, but they were all set to go elsewhere and they'd have been so honored with you.

K: Well, I'll be down eventually.

J: Well, Mary had talked about it and, you know, said what arrangements she was making. She was so proud that you would come down and use it. We missed you because we knew it would do you good.

K: Oh, it would have been great. But first I didn't feel well...

J: Oh you didn't?

K: No. I came back with the flu and....

J: Listen, you and I have to have a very special talk about your physical conditions. You know, in this respect I have the _____ to dictate to you.

K: I wish you would.

J: I'm very serious about it because you know I'm almost twenty years older than you are and I think I'm in a hell of a better shape than you are.

K: That's right.

J: I'd like to, you know, talk to you about that because in the first place you'll have more fun out of life as you go along, and in the second place you're too good a man to run yourself down the drain unthinkingly. On that score, you know.

K: Well, I'd like to see you apart from getting advice on my physical condition.

J: Listen, I'm the maddest tennis player and athlete alive.

K: I know it. In fact, I'm told in Acapulco that you two are trying to time their visit so that you're not there because they don't mind playing with you in the morning but I understand you track them out on the tennis court in the middle of the day.

J: That's bad. (laughter) Oh, I'm not that bad.

K: I forget which Mexican told me that they were in awe of you because not only did you play every day, but you played in mid-day.

J: (laughter) That's wonderful.

Well, Henry, you've been doing lots of things. Have they been going well?

K: They've been going well. You know, we're sitting on a powder keg.

J: I know we are.

K: And in this phase now at last the Israelis have understood that we're saving them rather than destroying them.

J: Yes. And I think you've got a better relationship now with the people of the country and you know, that's very, very important.

K: You mean the Israelis or the Americans?

J: Well, the Americans. I think that's worked around very well. I think you stand well and I... Yeah, I really do, I think that there are always a few sign posts but politically my - as I smell the wind - it's very good as it stands now and especially as you begin to make a team of the Department, which is, I think the very, very big objective, one of those objectives which nobody will give you a medal for but which will make you a historic Secretary of State.

K: Well, I agree with you.

J: You know what I mean? If you stand on their shoulders, which they are more than willing you should do, but those shoulders have to be stout and strong.

K: Well, you know, my problem has been that after I became Secretary I was immediately thrown into the Middle East crisis. But now I've got all my people appointed and Bill has been very good about confirming them. So I think within two weeks of the Congress coming back all my top people should be confirmed and then I have my own team in there.

J: Very good. I hear Sisco's staying.

K: Sisco is staying. We are going to announce him tomorrow or the day after, as Under Secretary. Do you think that's a good appointment?

J: Very good. I think especially with you he will draw enormous resource from the confidence you will vest in him. He's a man who flowers and blossoms if confidence is vested in him. And he gets very conspiratorial if it's drained away.

K: That's a very sharp observation. You are right.

J: You see, it works in reverse with Joe.

K: In fact, that was one hesitation I had about appointing him because I had just seen his conspiratorial side. But I have now recognized him, in his travels with me that if you work closely with him he is really very loyal. He

J: Not only is he loyal, but you know, he isn't kidding me. He's got damn good standing with the Arabs. And he's earned it, which is all O.K. You know what I mean? And he values it highly, too, which is good too.

K: Now, Jack, I'm thinking of appointing somebody in charge of Congressional relations who's a bit of an off-beat appointment. It's Nat Davis. I don't know whether you know him.

J: I know a little bit about him.

K: He was our Ambassador in Chile. He's the youngest career minister we've got. He was in the Peace Corps with Shriver and when our Ambassador to Guatemala was killed when LBJ was President, he volunteered to go down there as Ambassador. I've had him back here as Director General of the Foreign Service. He's so good that if Sisco hadn't stayed I would have made him Under Secretary. But I thought it would be better to have somebody with substantive knowledge

He can always learn about the Congress but maybe I'm wrong there.

J: Can I be exposed to him?

K: Will you be exposed to him?

J: I say, can I be exposed to him?

K: Sure. Are you in town tomorrow?

J: I will be tomorrow.

K: Would you like to meet him?

J: Yeah. Shall I just call him, or will he call...?

K: I'll ask him to call you.

J: Alright. I'll see him late in the afternoon.

K: Good. Wonderful.

J: That's great. And, Henry, do we need to talk about anything?

K: Well, let's have breakfast. We don't need to talk except, I mean we don't need to talk on an emergency basis.

J: Well, is tomorrow morning agreeable to you, because I'm coming down tonight.

K: Is that the only day you're in town?

J: Well, I could be in town Tuesday morning but it would interfere with the doctor's appointment I have at Bethesda. I could rearrange that.

K: Because I have made an appointment which I could probably change.

J: Well, if you can change it, fine. But if you can't, if you have your office leave a message on this phone I'll do it Tuesday morning and rearrange my appointment at Bethesda.

K: O.K. Could you do it early, as we have staff meeting at 8:00.

J: Or even earlier.

K: Let's do it at 7:45.

J: Quarter of eight. Where? At your office?

K: Yeah.

J: I'll see you then.

K: Good.

J: Now if there is any problem just leave a message.

K: If you don't hear from me we will meet at 7:45.

J: Good. Marion sends love.

K: Send her mine.

J: Good and I'll see you tomorrow.

K: Good.

J: Great.

K: No, no you did very well. I'm just spelling it out a little more.
What is your thinking now that you had a chance

S: I still think we've got to go and in view of the fact that Fahmi is leaving around Friday for Moscow I think we ought to be shooting for Wednesday myself

K:But I think Fahmi should put it off

S: That's a little embarrassing, but I bet he sends you back a message in the next 12 or 24 hours saying--of course we struck that sentence out, so he doesn't know we're

Mrs. Joyce Horman

Dear Mrs. Horman:

In response to our repeated oral and written requests to the Chilean Government for information concerning the circumstances surrounding the death of your husband, we have received from the Chilean Foreign Ministry a note dated December 13, 1973. Upon receipt of the Spanish text of the note, the Department prepared an official translation. I am enclosing for your information the full English text of that note with the exception of those paragraphs which relate exclusively to the death of Mr. Frank Teruggi and as such have no bearing on your husband's case.

The text of the note fails to answer a number of specific questions which were formally submitted to the Chilean Government. The Department, therefore, is continuing its efforts to seek additional information.

Sincerely yours,

Charles T. Anderson, Chief

2. LATEST GOC REPORT INDICATES THAT BETWEEN DEC 28 AND JAN 11 ONLY 46 NEW ASYLEES WERE REPORTED TO MINISTRY OF FONRELS. DURING SAME TIME PERIOD GOC GRANTED SAFECONDUCTS TO LEAVE COUNTRY TO APPROXIMATELY 200 ASYLEES OR "GUESTS."

3. ACTUAL STATISTICS AS OF JAN 11 SHOW THAT DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS HAVE GRANTED ASYLUM TO 3,888 INDIVIDUALS SINCE SEPT 11 MILITARY COUP. OF THAT NUMBER SAFECONDUCTS HAVE BEEN GRANTED TO 3,602, 239 HAVE BEEN DEFERRED AND 47 ARE STILL BEING PROCESSED. GOC HAS ALSO GRANTED 558 SAFECONDUCTS TO FOREIGNERS EXPELLED FROM THE COUNTRY, 714 TO REFUGEES AND 1,902 TO OTHER INDIVIDUALS AS A COURTESY TO DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS.

4. STATISTICS ALSO INDICATE WHICH EMBASSIES WERE MOST FORTHCOMING IN GRANTING ASYLUM STATUS. ARGENTINA LEADS LIST WITH 688 FOLLOWED BY MEXICO (622), FRANCE (533), VENEZUELA (322), SWEDEN (216) AND ITALY (207). AMONG EMBASSIES STILL WITH SIGNIFICANT ASYLEE POPULATIONS ARE MEXICO (45), ITALY (35), VENEZUELA (28), FRANCE (24), FRG (24) AND SWEDEN (21). MOST COUNTRIES WHICH ACCEPTED ASYLEES OR GUESTS STILL HAVE A FEW ON HAND, BUT SOME, FOR INSTANCE CANADA, ARE NOW COMPLETELY EMPTY, OR WILL BE BY END OF WEEK.

5. REDUCTION IN NUMBER OF DEFERRED CASES (FROM 276 TO 239 IN RECENT WEEKS) WOULD SEEM TO INDICATE THAT GOC SIFTING THROUGH ORIGINAL DEFERRAL DECISIONS AND LETTING SOME WELL-KNOWN, BUT RELATIVELY UNIMPORTANT FIGURES LEAVE. ONE SUCH CASE IS THAT OF EDUARDO LABARCA, LEFTIST AUTHOR AND POLEMICIST, WHO LEFT OVER WEEKEND TO TAKE UP RESIDENCE, AT LEAST INITIALLY, IN COLOMBIA.

6. CHILEAN SUPREME COURT CONTINUES TO REVIEW EXTRADITION REQUESTS DEVELOPED BY LOWER COURTS; HOWEVER, NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS HAVE COME FORTH SINCE SUBJECT LAST REPORTED ON IN SANTIAGO 6305.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE FILES

Subject: Former Chilean Ambassador to the U.S. Orlando Letelier del Solar

On January 14 Mr. Robert Elliott, Deputy General Counsel of HUD, came to visit me in his capacity as attorney for former Ambassador Letelier of Chile, and as President of the Fundacion Chile. He gave me the attached copy of a letter from Dr. Naomi M. Kanof (a dermatologist who happens to be known to me personally) noting that Letelier had been under treatment by Dr. Kanof for skin cancer. Dr. Kanof asserts that exposure to sun and wind could result in multiple cancers, and Mr. Elliott wanted me to be aware of this possibility in view of the fact that Letelier is evidently confined on an island where such exposure very likely occurs.

I told Mr. Elliott that, as he recognized, this was a matter involving the Chilean Government and one of its own nationals, in which the U.S. had no standing to interfere. I said I would bear the information about Letelier's health in mind if the subject should be mentioned to me after my arrival in Chile, but that he should not assume that the U.S. Government could or would take any effective action. Elliott said he understood the position.

Mr. Charles Anderson
ARA-LA-PAF
Rm. 3491-A
U.S. Department of State
Washington, D.C., 20520

Mr. Anderson:

In light of recent statements made by the Chilean Armed Forces and the U.S. State Department regarding the circumstances surrounding the murders of Frank Teruggi and Charles Horman, I feel called upon to clarify in writing some of the relevant facts.

Frank Teruggi and I were arrested in our home (Hernan Cortes 2575, Santiago) at approximately 20:15, September 20, 1973. No explanation was ever given us as to why we were arrested, nor was a search warrant or order of arrest ever shown. For that reason I believe there may have been no formal order of arrest ever issued, and also because when we were turned over to Carabineros at the Escuela de Sub-Oficiales near Plaza Zanartu, the arresting officer had to present us to them, explaining who we were, showing the books they had stolen from the house, etc. The officers on duty did not seem to be expecting us.

We were taken to the National Stadium that same night, and informally interrogated (separately) by an Army officer. The officer told me he believed Frank was a member of a leftist political party(he did not specify which, and seemed to be fishing for information on Frank from me), and Frank subsequently told me that the officer had not told him the same thing about me, nor had Frank told the officer he belonged to any party.

Frank was taken from the cell where we were being held at approximately 18:00 on September 21, and I never saw him alive again. The Chilean military claim he was released for lack of suspicion at this point, but there are a number of facts which make that impossible to believe, and leave numerous questions unanswered.

1. No prisoners were released, to my knowledge, within one day of their arrest. I talked to several persons in the stadium (who had not been arrested with Marxist literature or other materials which the military would deem "derogatory") who were aware of no charges or suspicions against them, and nevertheless were being held indefinitely. I myself was arrested under the same un-"derogatory" circumstances as Frank, and nonetheless was detained six days.

2. No prisoners were released less than an hour before curfew. If they were ready for release after 19:00, they would still be held at least until the next morning. It would have

Chile Project (#S19900006)
U.S. Department of State
___Release _✓_Excise ___Deny ___Declass Exemption(s) ___(3)(

been very difficult (even were it the normal practice) for the military to conduct a formal (recorded) interrogation clearing Frank of the previous evening's purported suspicions, and then complete the necessary paperwork and picture-taking in order to release him by an hour, or even less, before the 20:00 curfew.

3. Even had the interrogation, paperwork and picture-taking been done, the Chilean military would have them in its possession, and could show them publicly, with Frank's signature. Mr. Edmund Horman was in the National Stadium and was shown the release papers for "all" the U.S. citizens who had been held there. Charles Horman's papers were not there, and neither were Frank Teruggi's. But Frank certainly was held in the stadium. The Chilean military, like others, prides itself for being organized, disciplined and methodical in its procedures. If Frank Teruggi had been released normally, how could this be explained? (In addition, if papers are lacking relating to Frank's period of detention, then how can a lack of papers relating to Charles Horman's detention be taken as tantamount to his not having been detained?)

All of this leads me to believe, contrary to the military's allegation that Frank was released by them and fell victim to armed leftists, that he must have been in the custody of the Chilean military at the time of his death by multiple bullet wounds.

I leave you with these facts and questions, not without admitting certain pessimism about the possibilities for having them answered by further official investigations, but hoping that one way or another more light can be shed on the true circumstances and their implications as regards the murders of Frank and Charles.

Very sincerely yours,

K: Emilio, how are you? How nice to hear from you.

R: Fine. You have _____ come over.

K: Well, I feel strongly about everything you've done.

R: I have explained to Miss Andrews that the President...

K: Well, I probably will not be able to come on the 1st. I will probably have to put it off until after our Mexico meeting. But I'm anxious to see you.

R: Can I meet you in Washington? Let's say the 4th.

K: When?

R: The 4th of February.

K: How about next week?

R: Let me see. Let me see, please. One moment, please.

K: Yes.

R: I have Canadian meeting next week - 28th and 29th. I can meet you the 31st.

K: I'm just looking over my schedule.

R: It would be better the 4th of February.

K: Since I'm holding up a lot of my own work until I can talk with you, I would like to have it as early as possible. You can't do it on the 28th?

R: No. I have Foreign Minister of Canada 28th and 29th here.

K: Right.

R: From Monday on up to the 5th.

K: How about the 30th?

R: Fine.

K: Now, the only thing is...

R: I would prefer 31st because I don't know what time they're leaving.

K: I'll get Kubisch to call you in the morning.

R: The President is going to Austria, to Yugoslavia, to Rome, and to Germany, and I'll be with him on the trip. It is o.k. from the 31st up to the 4th included.

K: My problem is that I'm holding up a lot of my own work until I get your ideas -- also on procedures, etc.

R: That's what I want to speak to you about.

K: Should Kubisch come down earlier? But of course you'll be tied up the 28th and 29th.

R: That's the problem. I can have our Ambassador give the papers to Kubisch.

K: All right.

R: I will be with you the 31st, 1st, 2nd, 3rd or 4th.

K: Let's aim for the 31st.

R: Fine.

K: That's fine. Terrific.

R: I'll call my Ambassador to tell him to hand over the papers to Kubisch tomorrow, and I meet with you the 31st.

K: I look forward very much to seeing you next week.

R: Muchas abazos, Henry. Remember, we want your _____ in Mexico.

K: You are great.

R: A big abrazo, Henry.

D: I want to ask you about the upcoming Church subcommittee on oil. They want to make public all of Jim Akins' testimony. There's a lot of stuff in that testimony that would do us some damage if released at this time.

K: Like what?

D: A lot of nasty remarks about different monarchs. A lot of hearsay stuff about deals with oil companies.

K: What do you suggest?

D: I suggest we get Stan Anderson up there tomorrow and have him edit out some stuff. They're willing to listen to him. To ask them to put Jack Erwin's testimony off the record, which would be damaging to the oil embargo. There's a lot of personal opinion in there by Akins, represented as Government opinion. I wouldn't care so much of that.

K: I agree with you, it should be done. It's good of you to ask and I agree.

D: Good.

1. EMBASSY WAS ADVISED SHORTLY PRIOR TO 1200 HOURS, 30 JAN 1974, BY ONE OF PARTNERS OF YARUR TEXTILE FACTORY, THAT AMCIT PETER WINN HAD JUST BEEN TAKEN FROM FACTORY TO TACNA REGIMENT BY MILITARY AUTHORITIES. CONSULAR OFFICER CALLED TACNA REGIMENT AND WAS TOLD AMCIT HAD NOT RPT NOT BEEN DETAINED, BUT RATHER "INVITED" TO DISCUSS HIS SITUATION AT REGIMENT, BECAUSE HAD BEEN IN FACTORY WITHOUT AUTHORIZATION FROM PROPER AUTHORITIES AND BECAUSE PRESS CARD HE CARRYING NO LONGER VALID. REGIMENT OFFICER SAID WINN NOT UNDER ARREST AND THERE NO CHARGES AGAINST HIM BUT WOULD BE ASKED TO DISCUSS CASE LATER WITH MILITARY AUTHORITIES.

2. AT APPROX 1500 HOURS SAME AFTERNOON, WINN, WHO DESCRIBED SELF AS ECONOMIC HISTORIAN IN HISTORY DEPT OF PRINCETON UNIV., WRITER AND CORRESPONDENT FOR LONGHORN RADIO NETWORK (AFFILIATED WITH U OF TEXAS), CAME TO CONSULATE TO REPORT ABOVE INCIDENT.

WITH UP CHIEFS OF THEN-INTERVENED FACTORY. WINN SAID HE WAS TAKEN TO TACNA REGT, TREATED COURTEOUSLY, AND QUIZZED ABOUT REASONS FOR PRESENCE AT FACTORY AND WHY HAD NOT REQUESTED APPROPRIATE PERMISSION FOR VISIT. AT APPROX 1300 HOURS WAS TOLD COULD DEPART BUT CASSETTE RECORDER, RECORDED CASSETTE AND APPARENTLY OUT-OF-DATE PRESS CARD WERE RETAINED. WINN SAID HE WAS TOLD TO STAY CLOSE TO RESIDENCE SO MILITARY COULD CALL HIM.

3. CONSULATE MADE REPEATED ATTEMPTS FOR OVER THREE HOURS TO CALL TACNA REGIMENT TO TRY TO CLARIFY SITUATION, WITHOUT SUCCESS--LINE WAS ALWAYS BUSY. DURING THIS TIME JUNTA PRESS SECRETARY FEDERICO WILLOUGHBY ADVISED CONSUL THAT HE HAD BEEN INFORMED ABOUT WINN CASE. HE SUGGESTED WINN COMPLY WITH "APPOINTMENT" AT REGIMENT, AND THEN VISIT WILLOUGHBY PERSONALLY AFTER GETTING NEW PRESS CARD. MILITARY ATTACHE WAS ADVISED.

4. WINN WAS ADVISED BY CONSULAR OFFICERS THAT HE WAS WELCOME TO STAY AT EMBASSY OR CONSULATE IF HE FELT SELF IN DANGER. WHEN HE INDICATED HE DID NOT, IT WAS SUGGESTED TO HIM THAT HE STAY AT HOME TO AWAIT CONTACT FROM MILITARY AUTHORITIES. HE WAS GIVEN HOME PHONE NUMBERS OF THREE CONSULAR OFFICERS IN CASE IT NECESSARY TO CONTACT.

5. AT APPROX 2000 HOURS THAT EVENING, WINN CALLED CONSULAR OFFICER TO ADVISE HE GOING OUT BRIEFLY AND HAD HAD NO CALLS FROM MILITARY. AT APPROX 2200 HE CALLED AGAIN TO ADVISE THAT HE WAS AT RESIDENCE OF CBS REPORTER FRANK MANITZAS, AND THAT MILITARY PATROL HAD COME THERE AND REQUESTED HE ACCOMPANY THEM TO TACNA REGIMENT. CONSULAR OFFICER SPOKE WITH OFFICER IN CHARGE OF PATROL AND ACCOMPANIED PATROL AND WINN TO REGIMENT. MILITARY ATTACHE ALSO ADVISED OF THIS DEVELOPMENT. THERE WINN WAS QUESTIONED ABOUT HIS ACTIVITIES AND ASSOCIATIONS BY COMMANDING OFFICER OF REGIMENT. CONSULAR OFFICER, WHO PRESENT, AND WINN, AGREED OFFICER WAS COURTEOUS BUT FIRM. MILITARY OFFICER ADVISED WINN HE HAD TO MAKE REPORT NEXT DAY TO SUPERIORS, THAT WINN WAS FREE TO GO AND WOULD BE ADVISED, EITHER AT HOME OR THRU CONSULATE OF NEXT APPOINTMENT. AS IT WAS THEN AFTER CURFEW, MILITARY PATROL TOOK WINN AND [redacted]

CONSULAR OFFICER TO LATTER'S HOME WHERE WINN SPENT NIGHT.

6. ON 31 JANUARY, CONSULAR OFFICERS AND MILITARY ATTACHE ATTEMPTED, WITHOUT SUCCESS TO FIND OUT WHAT WAS HAPPENING IN WINN'S CASE. CONSUL ADVISED FONOFF OF SITUATION. IN EARLY EVENING, CONSULATE WAS ADVISED BY REGIMENT THAT WINN SHOULD APPEAR MORNING OF 1 FEB AT 1030 HOURS. WINN AGAIN ADVISED BY CONSUL THAT HE WAS WELCOME TO STAY AT EMBASSY, BUT HE DECLINED OFFER AND PROMISED TO ADVISE IF HE LEFT HIS RESIDENCE. HE WAS ALSO OFFERED EMBASSY'S ASSISTANCE IN GETTING SAFE CONDUCT, BUT HE DECLINED, SAYING HE ALREADY HAD ARRANGED TO LEAVE ON OWN ON FLIGHT TO BUENOS AIRES 2 FEB. WHEN CONSUL ATTEMPTED TO CALL [redacted]

WINN AT RESIDENCE ON THREE OCCASIONS EVENING OF 31 JAN, THERE WAS NO ANSWER. AT APPROX 2200 HOURS, WINN CALLED CONSUL TO ADVISE HE HAD AGAIN GONE TO HOME OF FRANK MANITZAS AND WOULD SPEND NIGHT THERE. CONSUL ADVISED HIM OF APPOINTMENT AT 1030 NEXT DAY.

UNCLASSIFIED

7. WINN CAME TO CONSULATE AT 1025 AND WAS ACCOMPANIED TO REGIMENT BY CONSULAR OFFICER. REGIMENT COMMANDER INFORMED CONSULAR OFFICER, NOT IN PRESENCE OF WINN, THAT THERE WAS EVIDENCE TO INDICATE WINN WAS LEFTIST, SYMPATHIZER OF ALLENDE REGIME AND THAT HIS PRESENCE WAS INIMICAL TO CHILEAN INTERESTS. COMMANDER SHOWED CONSULAR OFFICER LETTER WINN HAD WRITTEN FROM PRINCETON ON 1 APRIL 1973 TO UP CHIEF OF YARUR FACTORY EXPRESSING SYMPATHY FOR ALLENDE REGIME AND ITS GOALS. COMMANDER THEN TALKED TO WINN AND CONSULAR OFFICER TOGETHER AND INFORMED WINN HE WOULD BE ASKED TO LEAVE CHILE. WINN INDICATED HE HAD ALREADY MADE ARRANGEMENTS TO DO SO. COMMANDER INDICATED HE WOULD SEND REPORT TO FONOFF WHICH WOULD INFORM EMBASSY BY NOTE (NOT YET RECEIVED). HE RETURNED WINN'S CASSETTE RECORDER, BUT KEPT CASSETTE THAT CONTAINED CONVERSATIONS AT YARUR FACTORY.

8. WINN PROCEEDS TO MAKE ARRANGEMENT TO DEPART. AS REPORTE

K: Mr. Speaker.

A: Yes, sir.

K: How are you? I enjoyed the lunch very much yesterday. Mr. Speaker, I am calling you about a conference in Mexico City of the Foreign Ministers of the Western Hemisphere in which we are trying to bring about a new departure in Western Hemisphere relationships and it looks as if we are going to make very good progress there. Several of the countries and especially Mexico are putting on their delegations the Speaker of their assembly and also where they have a senate the senior member of the senate and we were wondering if you might consider an invitation to join our delegation. It would mean an enormous...

A: I would certainly like very much -- I would like to do so if it is at the right time.

K: Feb. 20 to 23.

A: Feb. 20 to 23. I don't have my appointments secretary here.

K: You don't have to answer this minute. If you could let us know in the course of the day or even early next week.

A: Right. I will get back in touch early next week. I would like to go. I am fairly well familiar with Mexico.

K: I told it to the Mexican Foreign Minister that I would like to invite you and he told me you speak good Spanish.

A: I speak it will enough to get by.

K: I said having heard you another night, I did not want to compete with you in a country where you could speak the language.

A: I am not that good. I can get by.

A: I have several appointments to get out on that have to do with helping members of Congress.

K: Of course. I would think if you could come for any part of it but if for just a part, it would be better in the beginning than the end.

A: Better in the beginning.

K: Better to go the middle.

A: The 20th and 21st than coming down (later).

K: But any part of it would be good. But there is a very solemn opening ceremony and it would be very nice if we could have you there.

A: I would like very much to do it if I can get away.

E: Hopefully you can set the stage for Mexico City, hopefully, you

K: Mexico City, I can do after the energy conference

E: Hopefully you can put the energy conference in context, so that they don't expect the goddamn world to come out of it; that is my biggest concern. I admit there are dangers. My biggest concern is the press is going look for a defeat out

E: I know that--but I am saying to the extent you can cool that in advance--
The other answer is the backgrounder on the energy conference--maybe that will do it.

E.O. 11652: GDS
TAGS: PFOR, ECON, ETRD, EFIN, EIND, CU, AR
SUBJECT: KUBISCH/VIGNES MEMCON: CUBAN DENIAL POLICY

1. SUMMARY. ASST SECRETARY KUBISCH TOLD FONMIN VIGNES THAT POTENTIAL SALES BY ARGENTINE SUBSIDIARIES OF US FIRMS TO CUBA HAS RAISED VERY SERIOUS PROBLEM FOR USG. HE ASKED VIGNES WHETHER, IN LIGHT OF FORGOING, GOA MIGHT BE DISPOSED TO CONSIDER ALTERNATIVE PROCEDURES IN ORDER TO PREVENT THIS PROBLEM FROM DOING DAMAGE TO OUR OVERALL BILATERAL RELATIONS AT A TIME WHEN LATTER ARE ENTERING NEW AND PROMISING PHASE. VIGNES SAID GOA PROBLEM IS THAT FIRMS ARE LOCATED IN ARGENTINA AND OPERATE UNDER ARGENTINE LAW AND GOA CANNOT ALLOW EITHER HOME GOVERNMENTS OR COMPANY HEADQUARTERS TO DICTATE POLICY. HE AGREED ON DESIRABILITY OF EXPLORING OTHER POSSIBILITIES AND SAID THAT MATTER COULD HAVE BEEN RESOLVED MUCH MORE EASILY IF IT WERE NOT FOR EXTENSIVE PUBLICITY TO DATE. END SUMMARY

2. MEETING TOOK PLACE 12:30-1:30 FEB 11 IN FONMIN VIGNES'

[redacted]

OFFICE. BESIDE KUBISCH AND VIGNES, PARTICIPATING WERE ARGENTINE UNDERSECRETARY FOREIGN AFFAIRS CARASALES, AMBASSADOR HILL, MINISTER KREBS AND MR EATON.

3. AT CLOSE OF DISCUSSION ON POSSIBLE CHANGE IN USG POSTURE REGARDING CUBA AND HOW THAT SUBJECT MIGHT BE TREATED AT FONMINS MEETING IN MEXICO, KUBISCH RECALLED THAT NEARLY 10 MONTHS HAVE ELAPSED SINCE ARGENTINA RE-ESTABLISHED RELATIONS WITH CUBA AND

ASKED VIGNES HOW RELATIONS DEVELOPING. VIGNES REPLIED "VERY WELL", THAT CUBAN REPRESENTATIVES BEHAVING AND CUBA IS A GOOD TRADE PARTNER BECAUSE IT PAYS PROMPTLY. KUBISCH ASKED HOW CUBANS WERE PAYING. VIGNES SAID THAT GOA BELIEVES IT CAN DISCOUNT CREDIT DOCUMENTS IN SWITZERLAND. VIGNES WENT ON TO DESCRIBE CREDIT LINE AS TOTALLING $1200 MILLION AT $200 MILLION PER YEAR EXCLUSIVELY FOR PURCHASES OF SPECIFIED CLASSES OF ARGENTINE MANUFACTURED GOODS, PRINCIPALLY VEHICLES, TRACTORS, HEAVY EQUIPMENT.

4. KUBISCH SAID THE POSSIBLE PARTICIPATION IN THIS TRADE BY US SUBSIDIARIES LOCATED IN ARGENTINE RAISES VERY SERIOUS PROBLEM FOR USG, NOT ONLY IN THAT IT WOULD ESTABLISH A PRECEDENT FOR OTHER COUNTRIES BUT IN THAT IT WOULD AFFECT OUR COMPLIANCE WITH OAS SANCTIONS AND WOULD JEOPARDIZE THE STAND WE HAVE TAKEN THROUGHOUT THE WORLD. TO VIGNES' OBSERVATION THAT CANADIANS ARE SELLING TO CUBA, KUBISCH REPLIED THESE ARE WHOLLY CANADIAN FIRMS. VIGNES COUNTERED THAT THE FIRMS INVOLVED HERE ARE ESTABLISHED AND OPERATING UNDER ARGENTINE LAW.

5. KUBISCH SAID IF ARGENTINA IS DETERMINED TO PROCEED WITH THESE SALES, IT WILL CREATE A SERIOUS PROBLEM BOTH FOR THE US SUBSIDIARIES AND FOR THE USG. WE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW WHETHER ARGENTINA INTENDS TO GO AHEAD IN THE LIGHT OF THE FOREGOING AND OF THE EFFECT IT WOULD UNDOUBTEDLY HAVE ON OUR BILATERAL RELATIONS AT THIS JUNCTURE. VIGNES SAID HE HAD BEEN TOLD YESTERDAY THAT THERE WOULD BE NO PROBLEM FOR THE FIRMS AND TURNED TO CARASALES, WHO NODDED CONFIRMATION. (COMMENT. THIS MAY HAVE REFERRED TO ALLEGATIONS APPEARING IN LOCAL PRESS, PRESUMABLY BASED ON SO-CALLED "INSIDE INFORMATION", TO THE EFFECT THAT USG WOULD GRANT WAIVERS. END COMMENT)

6. VIGNES WENT ON TO SAY THAT PROBLEM IS MUCH MORE SERIOUS

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

FOR ARGENTINA BECAUSE IT CANNOT ALLOW EACH COUNTRY OR EACH COMPANY HEADQUARTERS TO DICTATE ARGENTINE COMMERCIAL POLICY. HE CITED FIAT CASE AS AN EXAMPLE; COMPANY HEADQUARTERS HAD APPROACHED GOA SEEKING RELIEF FOR LOCAL SUBSIDIARY ON SUPPLYING CUBA AS THE COMPANY WISHED TO HAVE THE ITALIAN PARENT COMPANY DO BUSINESS WITH CUBA.

7. KUBISCH ASKED WHETHER THERE MIGHT BE SOME ALTERNATIVE PRODECURE, SUCH AS ARRANGING THE SALE THROUGH "THIRD PARTY". VIGNES REPLIED "THIS WILL HAVE TO WORK ITSELF OUT. WE CANNOT ALLOW THIS ISSUE TO BECOME AN ELEMENT OF DISCORD". AT THE SAME TIME HE STATED FIRMLY THAT ARGENTINA MUST BE IN POSITION TO SET ITS OWN COMMERCIAL POLICY AND HE ASKED IF KUBISCH COULD AGREE WITH THIS FORMULATION. KUBISCH CONCURRED THAT THE FIRMS INVOLVED ARE ARGENTINE FIRMS AND THAT WE WOULD HOPE TO EXPLORE OTHER POSSIBILITIES AND THAT WE TOO WISHED TO AVOID HAVING THIS DAMAGE US/ARGENTINE RELATIONS.

8.CONCLUDING THE DISCUSSION, VIGNES OBSERVED THAT THE WHOLE MATTER COULD HAVE BEEN RESOLVED A GREAT DEAL MORE EASILY EXCEPT FOR THE FACT THAT IT HAS BEEN EXTENSIVELY PUBLICIZED OVER THESE PAST MONTHS.

2. LATEST SATISTICS PREPARED BY FOREIGN MINISTRY AND GIVEN TO EMBOFF INDICATE THAT AS OF FEB 12, TOTAL OF 3,913 INDIVIDUALS HAD SOUGHT ASYLUM IN SANTIAGO DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS. OF THAT NUMBER, SAFECONDUCTS TO DEPART COUNTRY HAVE BEEN GRANTED TO 3,670, THERE ARE 24 BEING PROCESSED AND 219 ARE IN "DEFERRED" STATUS WHILE GOC INVESTIGATES BACKGROUNDS TO DETERMINE WHETHER CRIMINAL CHARGES POSSIBLE OR PENDING. IN ADDITION TO SAFE-CONDUCTS GRANTED TO ASYLEES, GOVT HAS ISSUED 572 SAFECONDUCTS TO FOREIGNERS EXPELLED FROM CHILE, 1,139 TO REFUGEES AND 1,93# TO INDIVIDUALS AS COURTESY TO DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS. SOME EMBASSIES WHICH HAD ACCEPTED ASYLEES ARE NOW EMPTY, BUT MOST OTHERS STILL HAVE SOME HANGING ON. MEXICO WITH 40 LEADS THE LIST, FOLLOWED BY ITALY (34), FRG (22), SWEDEN (16) AND VENEZUELA (13).

3. FOR FIRST TIME OFFICIAL GOC STATISTICS BREAK DOWN ASYLEE TOTALS BY NATIONALITIES. AS EXPECTED OVERWHELMING MAJORITY (2554) HAVE BEEN CHILEANS. BRAZILIANS (353), URUGUAYANS (278), AND ARGENTINES (147) FOLLOW IN THE LISTING. NO BREAKDOWN PRO-VIDED OF NATIONALITIES OF THOSE ASYLEES WHOSE SAFECONDUCTS STILL DEFERRED, BUT OUR PRESUMPTION IS THAT MAJORITY ALSO CHILEANS.

4. FONMIN FIGURES REVEAL GENERAL FREEZE ON ASYLEE MOVEMENT OVER LAST MONTH. ONLY 25 NEW ASYLEES HAVE BEEN REPORTED AS ENTERING EMBASSIES SINCE JAN 11 (REFTEL) AND ONLY 20 ADDITIONAL SAFECONDUTS HAVE BEEN GRANTED TO THOSE IN DEFERRED STATUS. INACTION ON GOC'S PART EXPECTED TO CONTINUE AT LEAST THROUGH FEBRUARY (TRADITIONAL SUMMER VACATION MONTH) AS BUREAUCRATS HEAD FOR THE BEACHES.

5. VACATION PERIOD HAS ALSO BROUGHT ACTIVITIES IN JUDICIAL SYSTEM TO NEAR HALT. PRIOR TO SUMMER RECESS SUPREME COURT ASKED FONMIN TO REQUEST EXTRADITION OF THREE HIGH-RANKING ALLENDE GOVERNMENT HIARARCHS, COMMUNIST VLADIMIR LENIN CHAVES (CURRENTLY IN FRG EMBASSY), AND SOCIALISTS PATRICIO PALMA (HONDURAN EMBASSY) AND HERNAN DEL CANTO (COLOMBIAN EMBASSY).

6. DIPLOMATIC SOURCES HAVE TOLD EMBOFF THAT GOC HOLDING FIRM TO DECISION NOT TO GIVE SAFECONDUTS TO INDIVIDUALS WHO ENTERED EUROPEAN MISSIONS AFTER DEC 11 CUT-OFF DATE (SANTIAGO 5986, 1973). SOME MISSIONS HAVE BEEN SADDLED WITH SMALL NUMBER OF NEW CASES OF WALL-JUMPERS FOR WHOM THE GOC REFUSES TO GRANT SAFECONDUCTS.

7. SAME LATIN AMERICAN MISSION CLAIM TO HAVE PERCEIVED A RECENT CHANGE IN GOC POLICY TOWARD THEIR GRANTING OF ASYLUM. FONMINISTRY ISSUED AMBIGUOUSLY WORDED CIRCULAR DIPLOMATIC NOTE LAST WEEK TO MISSIONS OF ALL SIGNATORIES OF INTERNATIONAL ASYLUM TREATIES ASKING FOR LISTS OF ALL ASYLEES IN MISSIONS AS OF FEB 7, AND STATING THAT THOSE WHO ENTER SUBSEQUENT TO THAT DATE AND WHO HAVE NO CRIMINAL CHARGES AGAINST THEM WILL BE ALLOWED TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY "AFTER THEY HAVE COMPLETED NORMAL PROCEDURES FOR ISSUANCE OF A PASSPORT." SOURCE IN VENEZUELAN EMBASSY CLAIMS THIS IS GOC WAY OF SAYING THAT IT WILL NOT CONTINUE GRANTING SPECIAL EXIT FACILITIES TO SOME ASYLEES AND, IF PUT IN PRACTICE, WOULD DISCOURAGE EMBASSIES FROM GIVING ASYLUM. OTHER DIPLOMATIC SOURCES REPORT THAT SOME LATIN AMERICAN EMBASSIES PLEASED BY LANGUAGE, WHICH THEY WILL USE TO ATTEMPT TO DISCOURAGE INDIVDUALS FROM CAMPING ON THEIR PREMISES. HOWEVER, OTHERS ARGUE THAT WORDING IS INNOCUOUS AND FOREBODES NO CHANGE. SITUATION REMAINS CONFUSED AND SOME CLARIFICATION IS EXPECTED FROM FONMINISTRY IN NEAR FUTURE. POPPER

K: Have you talked to Haig?

S: Yes. I talked to him.

K: He told me to drop dead.

S: He said "oh God" . I said just relax. He is just droping by to debrief on the energy conference and talk about the Mexican conference and about the Middle East developments and I said I understand McClellan will be there too. I said you would be there about 9 or 10:00.

K: And you told him above all, I am not going to mention the Foreign Ministers. I think now it is fifty-fifty how this thing will go. I think it could turn out that Yamani is right.

S: Why would they come here.

K: Because they are ambarrassed. They may come here and say if I go to the Middle East they will help me settle it.

S: That is possible. I thought they may say we are going to lift the embargo but this is what we need to do it. Even being ambarrassed and negative will make it look worse for them.

K: OK.

S: Al is all primed.

K: OK, I'll see you over the weekend.

S: Try to get a little rest.

K: How are you.

SK: Fine. Thank you very much.

K: In reflecting further on our conversation yesterday, it occurred to me that I should receive that material that you wanted to give me yesterday and then handle it from here according to the agreement or to the procedures that I have outlined to your leaders rather than burden you with the responsibility for it and I was wondering if you could come for a few minutes at 2:30 today, if that would be a convenient time or tomorrow morning whichever is convenient for you.

SK: I will call back to your secretary and I will arrange for an appointment.

K: Good. I had not fully understood the evolution of this understanding out of the meeting in Algeria.

SK: Very good.

K: Good and we will proceed along the lines I had outlined to your President.

SK: You are still going to Mexico on Wednesday.

K: Yes but I would proceed exactly as I told you yesterday. Nothing in that has changed.

SK: Very good. Goody-bye , Sir.

K: Mr. Chairman. How are you?

F: I'm fine. I just got back last night.

K: I called but you were not back yet. It was an interesting play, incidentally. It states alot of profound philosophical propositions in a bizarre way which is the only way you can be serious in the theatre these days I guess.

F: I think the visit was great success. I will get you the editorial, they did an excellent editorial.

K: In the Gazette?

F: Yes. The following Sunday.

K: I thought the questions were very friendly.

F: They were. I thought the press behaved extremely well.

K: And the coverage here, what little there was, was strictly substantive I called you last night to bring you up to date on where we stand with these two foreign ministers, and this has to be strictly for your information...

F: Sure.

K: They have had three propositions: (1) They are going...they will lift the embargo at the next meeting of the oil producers, but they don't want any discussion of it before. Having said this, of course, The Egyptian foreign Minister runs around town making enigmatic statements but that's their problem. Secondly, they want progress in , nevertheless on the Syrian side and thirdly, they want me to come ~~w~~ out quickly as a way of getting the talks started between Syria and Israel. Its a little bit absurd to have two foreign Ministers come collect a Jewish Secretary of State, but I can help them a little bit perhaps. They were going to stay here and cart me back to the Middle East with them, but I convinced Saqaaf I couldn't cancel the Mexico City meeting and couldn't go until next week but I probably will have to go out there next week. But there is a possibility we can settle it and not just get the talks started, of course we would have to work out the prisoner issue.

F: You see, when you become indispensable ...an indispensable man, it becomes difficult to discharge your duties. That's the problem. Say one comment made by one of the more sophisticated members ....Len Williams ...he said "My god, it was a work of art. It was subtle as the Mona Lisa." But none of them wrote in such a fasion.

K: I have not seen any such comment.

F: It really went off well, it couldn't have been better.

K: Well I did it out of a very deep conviction.

F: I appreciate that and it was done so well, the timing, everything went off well.

K: The Press conference, too, due to the cooperation of your people down there, it was at a very high level.

F: I was really pleased with them. I thought there would be a few snide comments.

K: How does it look now with the Governor.

F: We think that many other things have deterred him, he keeps postponing and the longer he does that the less likely he is...he may decide not to run.

K: That would be good for the country.

F: That would be a very good thing. That's why I'm staying down there so much. I expect I will go back until he makes up his mind.

K: You did understand you you were invited to come along to Mexico. Our understanding was you really didn't have the time.

F: Right. I don't think it would be wise under the circumstances. Yes, I appreciate that but I don't think I should. So you really feel they will lift it, when about?

K: Probably about May 2 or 3 it looks like.

F: I think that's very good news because phsychologically it would be a trememdous lift on the situation. There's a great deal of hoarding and speculation that takes place, it would relieve the situation, they would quit hoarding and quit the speculation and that would be a tremendous thing. If we can keep from making mistakes. They must have reason to believe you can move the Syrians.

*

K: I think I can move the Syrians on the prisoner issue.

F: I still think the brig problem is Israel. We have to be very careful not to do anything they ....someplace there has to be some give.

K: I would like to get as much done without a flap so when we approach the broader issue.

F: The Jerusalem thing. I don't know what to day about it, I mean I don't want to cause you any trouble. The thing ought not to be ascepted as non-negotiable. It isn't strategic enough, its purely emotional, religious thing. I think I recall the original agreement in 48 the status was to be under the jurisdiction of the UN. I don't see how they can ignore that sort of charter of independence, or almost the equivalent, its their own constituation really. They...

K: They can't give up the claim to Jerusalem, its out of the question, for the Arabs I mean.

F: That's right. Well, anything I can do just let me know.

K: I'll be in touch before I leave.

F: When are you leaving.

K: About noon tomorrow, then I'll be back Saturday and then I'll leave for the Middle East. I'll call you tomorrow before I leave.

F: OK. Good luck.

K: I called you last night but you had already left for the theatre. I wanted to tell you, on a confidential basis, where we stand. It has to be very confidential, but these governments have made three decisions: (1) They are going to lift the embargo without conditions at the next meeting of the oil ministers in ...not for about two weeks though. (2) Because of the tough situation the Syrians have they want us to make some move to help them get enough movement so the Syrian President can vote for it. They would construe a visit by me to the area as sufficient movement as long as the talks get started. This will be decided by the President today. They have made a specific request that I come out.

M: Well, you can't avoid it.

K: It may get me into trouble in Montana.

M: No it won't. We will put you down for another date as soon as you can.

K: They will?

M: Oh, yes.

K: But I don't see how I can refuse it.

M: Oh, no. You can't. That certainly takes precedence.

K: Again, confidentially, there is a very good chance, I have talked to them, but there is no sense in coming out if we can't get a list of prisoners, then we can't get the talks started. I'll know that tomorrow morning...I'll tell you on the plane, but there's a very good chance we will get the prisoner list.

M: The big thing is Israel. Don't worry about Montana. We will keep you on the on-call list.

K: They don't want any mention. They say that all the time and then the people in the Executive branch start leaking all over the place, but they want it to look like their decision, ...

* U. S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE : 1966 O - 205-218 (256)

Father Grant began by stating that the group had four basic questions it would like to pursue in this meeting. They are (1) the possibility of getting more Chileans into the US; (2) the group's desire to meet with the Ministers of Labor, Defense, Justice and Education; (3) Mr. Teruggi's own problem, of getting at the "real facts" concerning his son's death; and (4) whether or not the Embassy kept lists of Americans, other than those who registered in the Consulate.

Mr. Feinglass added that he had a letter for the Foreign Minister from Chilean UN Ambassador Bazan, whom he had seen after consulting with UN Undersecretary-General Bradford Morse and Guy Wiggins of the USUN Mission.

Mr. Teruggi, Sr. mentioned that he had two letters, one from Senator Stevenson and the other from Congressman Young, for the Ambassador, which the latter accepted.

Ambassador Popper thanked Father Grant for his introduction and welcomed the group to the Embassy on behalf of the staff. He said that he understood the group's general purposes, as he had been informed about them prior to their arrival. He asked if the meeting were being recorded, and various members of the group agreed to turn off their recorders.

The Ambassador said that as he saw it the group's interests could be divided into two categories -- the first dealing with the activities of the Embassy with respect to American citizens, especially in September and October. He added that the Embassy staff would be very happy to discuss this issue. He mentioned that he had not been here personally at the time, but had reviewed the record and decided that the Embassy had acted ably and responsibly. He said he was aware of the criticisms but was convinced that these were basically unjustified. He stated he would also be able to answer the questions about the registration system.

As to the second general topic, what has happened in Chile and the conduct of the GOC vis-a-vis Chileans and other foreigners, he would not be able to comment. It was not that he did not wish to be forthcoming, but rather that these questions related to the internal actions of a sovereign, independent state and should be directed to GOC officials. In this regard the Embassy would assist the group in making an initial contact with the GOC.

Father Grant hoped that the Embassy might be helpful in easing the way for the group. Ambassador Popper mentioned that he was very much a "new boy" here, having arrived only a few days ago and having not yet presented his credentials. He also mentioned the absence of Foreign Minister Huerta in Mexico, but said that the Embassy had been in contact with officials of the Foreign Ministry about the group and understood that the group would be received.

Mr. Thompson spoke to the refugee question, saying that the US has tried to be responsive to humanitarian considerations. He noted that in this context we were not speaking of Chileans, but of third-country nationals. Necessarily, our efforts are mainly supportive of the office of the UN High Commissioner for Refugees, who works only on behalf of third-country nationals in Chile. He suggested that any idea of expanding this program to include Chileans would have to be taken up with the authorities in Washington.

Ambassador Popper added that the UN Refugee convention defines a refugee as one who had left his home country and could not return to it without serious danger and that this definition necessarily excludes Chileans in Chile.

Mr. Feinglass said that he had been informed by Mr. Morse's office that several European countries, including Germany, Sweden and France, had taken substantial numbers (400-500) whereas the US had taken none, or perhaps two or three.

Mr. Purdy said that more than 125 third-country nationals had applied to us for entry as refugees, and that over thirty cases had been approved, of which only 13 had actually gone to the US, the remainder having opted for other countries.

Mr. Thompson mentioned that there was no numerical limitation on the third-country nationals the US might accept, but that our normal grounds for exclusion are not waived. He added that the political affiliations of some of the refugees would mean some would be excludable. He added that only a small proportion of the refugees were interested in going to the US. Ambassador Popper reaffirmed this last point.

Mr. Feinglass asked if many Chileans had asked to enter the US. Mr. Thompson said that we had the normal immigration backlog and had not experienced any significant increase because of the coup. He said it would be useful to remember that the number of individuals going to some European countries would be high because so many, for one reason or another, had sought sanctuary in European Embassies here. So, in addition to handling many cases from refugee centers, these Embassies had also admitted to their countries some of their "guests" as the GOC had issued them safeconducts.

Mr. Feinglass asked if there were many people left in embassies here and if the group might be able to visit with them.

Ambassador Popper replied that in this respect, the group would have to ask the GOC and the individual embassies. He responded that the American Embassy had no "guests."

Ms. Przyworski said that the group was interested in getting more Chilean "refugees" into the US and reviewed what had been said about immigration backlogs and excludability. She asked if there were not a possibility of waiving some of the provisions of normal immigration procedures to help such persons, and mentioned the example of Jews who left Poland in 1968, for whom she said Washington had waived some regulations. Could not the Embassy here apply the same conditional entry provisions to Chileans at this time?

Ambassador Popper said that she was talking about general policies and that these were made in Washington.

Ms. Przyworski asked if it were not possible to be flexible within the general policies.

Ambassador Popper said that the laws and regulations do allow for an exercise of judgment on our part and for communication with the Department on questions that were in doubt.

Mr. Purdy mentioned that there was a significant difference in the way the law was written for persons born in the two hemispheres, the Eastern Hemisphere having a provision for entry of 6% of its numerical limitation as "refugees."

UNCLASSIFIED
LIMITED OFFICIAL USE

Mr. Thompson added that the Embassy had been given no special procedures to follow, with regard to prospective Chilean immigrants, that would significantly change the thrust of the law.

Mr. Feinglass mentioned that he had been invited to testify before Senator Hughes' committee. He asked if the Embassies were merely instruments of Washington, which would have to change the rules.

Ambassador Popper pointed out that all Embassies and Consulates operate pursuant to instructions from the Department of State and do not, by themselves, have any power to change those rules without permission from Washington.

Mr. Thompson pointed out the distinction that Washington had adopted a special, expedited procedure for third-country nationals in the refugee centers but there has been no change with respect to Chileans who are in their own country.

Mr. Purdy pointed out that we were not issuing visas to third-country nationals, but rather pre-parole documents which allow them to enter the US provisionally and stay until their formal immigration status could be regularized.

Ms. Przyworski asked if everyone who had been associated with the Unidad Popular (UP) was ineligible to enter the US.

Mr. Purdy replied that the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952, as amended, was very specific about who was excludable, and its provisions were not waived by the pre-parole documents procedure. He mentioned that there was a long list of organizations, affiliated with the Communist Party, membership in which rendered a person ineligible. He estimated that probably less than half of the persons who had been allied with the UP would be ineligible for visas.

UNCLASSIFIED
LIMITED OFFICIAL USE

Ms. Przyworski inquired further about the leeway possible on refusing CP members and about the process used by the Embassy to determine who would be excluded.

Mr. Purdy replied that we first had to check with the US Embassy in the applicants' home countries to determine what might be known about them. If there is good evidence of CP membership we are obliged to refuse the applicant, and if there is doubt, we refer the case to Washington.

Ms. Przyworski asked if we make recommendations on these cases and asked about the lists of excludable organizations.

Mr. Purdy replied that we did make recommendations and that the list was classified and distributed periodically, as revised, to all Consulates.

Mr. Gutierrez asked about the difference between the treatment of applicants depending upon the hemisphere in which they were born.

Mr. Purdy outlined these differences, especially in their effect, of allowing those born in the Eastern Hemisphere fairly rapid entry once they qualify, whereas those born in the Western Hemisphere have a long wait ahead of them.

Mr. Feinglass asked if we were aiding only those who fled from Communism or whether we also aided those who fled any form of tyranny.

Ambassador Popper replied that refugee status was determined by the USG on the basis of its laws and on a case-by-case basis, depending on the situation.

Mr. Feinglass mentioned the case of Cubans who had been admitted in great numbers and who often took away jobs from Americans. He said this is acceptable and something we had to expect when people flee a "tyrannical situation." He added that Chile appeared to be in that situation and asked what the US is ready to do, to help protect refugees.

Ambassador Popper replied that it is not really a matter of "protection" and repeated that the US considers situations on a case-by-case basis.

Mrs. Langford asked about the use of judgment in these cases.

Ambassador Popper said that judgments do have to be made, but the important thing is that the judgment must be made within the limitations of the law.

Mr. Thompson added that it is important to define what is a refugee and to define just who qualifies for treatment as such. He said that in many cases it is difficult to determine whether a person can return to his country of origin, and that often there is the problem of finding out if the applicant's own story is completely correct. It is here that someone has to make a judgment as to whether he qualifies as a refugee under USG criteria.

Mrs. Langford again mentioned the application of the current laws to Chileans.

Mr. Purdy pointed out that neither the Executive nor the Congress had seen fit to change the existing laws and regulations as they apply to Chileans.

Ms. Przyworski asked if we might not be holding up Chileans who had job offers from entering the US as immigrants, for other reasons.

Mr. Purdy said that he begins processing all cases the day application is made, but that the entire process is lengthy.

Mr. Thompson added that Western Hemisphere applicants, including Chileans, are considered as a bloc and get priority dates only as they qualify and are then taken in strict chronological order.

Ms. Przyworski asked about the delay for Chileans.

Mr. Purdy said that persons from the Western Hemisphere who are now getting visas had qualified to get on the waiting list prior to January 22, 1972. This was applicable to all persons from the hemisphere and there was no way of advancing an individual.

Ambassador Popper pointed out that this was nothing new: the law has been in operation for some years.

Father Grant said there were rumors that some churchmen in Chile were in a precarious position and asked if it would be possible for the Ambassador to intercede on their behalf as an act of mercy, to get them out of Chile and into the U.S.

Ambassador Popper replied that the US position on human rights was well known but that our ability to intervene in Chilean affairs was limited. He would want to know more about these cases before judging what we might be able to do and would be glad to receive any specifics Father Grant might wish to provide.

Ms. Przyworski said that it would be important for us, here in Chile, in judging the case of someone who was being accused of being a CP member, to bear in mind the bias of the GOC.

Mr. Thompson emphasized that the GOC does not "clear" our refugee or visa cases.

Ambassador Popper added that it is important to be clear as to the distinction between Chileans applying for visas and third-country nationals who sought refugee status.

Ms. Przyworski pressed for more information on the "clearance" of Chileans and the sources used therefor.

Mr. Purdy said that our information comes partly from our own files, and partly from the statements of the individuals themselves. About half of those who are excluded freely admit CP membership.

Ms. Przyworski asked if there were an informal way of finding out from the GOC about CP membership.

Mr. Purdy replied that there might be, but that we do not do so. He also pointed out that, relative to Father Grant's question, there is a special provision in our immigration law for clergymen which exempts them from the long wait.

Someone asked if the 13 admitted to the US had had to wait the two years.

Mr. Purdy replied that these were special pre-parole, third-country cases.

Mr. Gutierrez asked if there was a special dispensation for professionals.

Ambassador Popper and Mr. Purdy both replied that all those born in the Western Hemisphere are treated alike irrespective of profession.

Teruggi Case

Ambassador Popper began the discussion with a brief resume of the Mission's efforts to protect the welfare of American citizens in September-October 1973 (e.g. 600 welfare and whereabouts inquiries, 17 individuals released from jails, etc.) in the days following the coup.

Mr. Teruggi stated that he wished to talk to Mr. McNally (Don McNally, Embassy officer) who he stated had been quoted in a Chicago newspaper as saying that when he had been at the morgue he had seen no bullet wounds in th body supposed to be that of his son. (Mr. McNally denies having made any such statement.) He also stated that the New York Times had quoted McNally to the effect that he could not see the body in question because it had been covered by a sheet.

Mr. Purdy stated that McNally had never said that the body was covered by a sheet and had noted in conversation with him that he had seen bullet wounds in the head. Mr. Purdy added that when consular officers viewed the body, they were primarily concerned in making identification rather than in assessing cause of death. Consequently neither focused on the question of the number of bullet holes.

UNCLASSIFIED
LIMITED OFFICIAL USE
UNCLASSIFIED

Mr. Teruggi said these issues were of importance because he and his wife want to be sure that they had received the right body. He asked if he could be sure of that. He acknowledged that an identification had been made on the basis of dental records but said this was done under GOC control.

Mr. Purdy pointed out that the body which he viewed with David Hathaway and the one which Steven Volk viewed with Mr. Anderson and Mr. McNally were apparently the same. On both occasions the body bore a tag with Teruggi's name and the same autopsy report number.

Mr. Teruggi noted that the GOC had stated that his son's body had been brought to the morgue at 9:15 p.m. on September 22 and that his son had been released from the National Stadium the previous evening. According to a report he had, his son had been "dead only a few hours" when brought to morgue. Mr. Teruggi wanted to know what had happened between the time his son had reportedly left the stadium and the time his body was brought to the morgue.

Mr. Purdy pointed out that the Embassy has no information to support or contest the claim that Teruggi had been dead only a few hours when brought to the morgue. Purdy added that we have no explanation of what Teruggi might have done in the intervening period. None of his friends whom we have interviewed report having seen him during that time period.

Mrs. Langford then stated that as lawyers (referring to herself and perhaps other members of committee) "we can only assume that Frank Teruggi, Jr., was shot while he was in the custody of the military." She asked Ambassador Popper if he agreed with her assumption. He replied that he would rather not speculate on who killed Teruggi and in what manner. Mrs. Langford stated that she hoped that Ambassador Popper would use his influence to see the case cleared up.

UNCLASSIFIED
LIMITED OFFICIAL USE
UNCLASSIFIED

Mr. Teruggi stated that prior to leaving the US, Mr. Charles Anderson of the Department had given him a summary of the GOC's most recent note, which stated that investigations have been completed and that no new information was developed. "Is this case closed"" he asked Ambassador Popper, who responded that "we have repeatedly tried to determine the facts in this case and we will continue to do what we can to clear up these discrepancies. In all honesty," he added, "I cannot be very optimistic about getting a fuller story at this date and after this lapse of time."

Mr. Teruggi responded that it is difficult for his family to understand how the USG can be helping the Government of Chile when "they don't even answer our questions."

Mr. Thompson noted that the GOC has answered our requests for information but not in a manner satisfactory to the Teruggi family--or indeed as completely as we would have liked. Mr. Thompson went on to note that conditions in Chile following the coup were chaotic. He acknowledged that Mrs. Langford's assumption that Teruggi, Jr., was shot while in military custody was one possible explanation for the latter's death, but there were several other possibilities as well. Mr. Teruggi asked if the Embassy knew at what time his son was released and if it was done during curfew hours to "set Frank up." Mr. Thompson responded that the Embassy has no information on what time Teruggi was released.

Mr. Teruggi asked why Frank had not signed a statement upon being released from the National Stadium, as did the Garrett-Scheshes who were released on the same day. Mr. Purdy responded that the practice of signing statements was not universally applied and that two other Americans, John Cerretti and Henry Warlow, released on the same day had not signed them.

Mr. Teruggi stated that David Hathaway had told him that when he was interrogated he had been asked questions about Frank's political leanings, but that Frank had told Hathaway that no questions were asked him about Hathaway. Mr. Teruggi also noted that Marxist literature had been found in Frank's room and not in Hathaway's. Therefore, he asked if it did not look strange that the military held Hathaway for six days before releasing him and supposedly allowed the more suspect Frank to depart after only one night in custody.

Mr. Teruggi asked why the Embassy had denied that his son had been registered in the Consulate. Ambassador Popper stated that we had checked our consular files on repeated occasions and that Teruggi's name did not appear. We kept very careful records on these matters. Mr. Purdy asked Mr. Teruggi, Sr., where he had received the information that his son had been registered. Teruggi responded that David Hathaway had told him so, and then written him that when released from jail Consul Purdy had said that he had not been able to identify who Hathaway was while he was in jail because Hathaway had not been registered but that he had been able to get information on Teruggi, because the latter had registered.

Mr. Purdy explained that he had learned Teruggi's vital statistics after having been informed by the morgue that the fingerprints on a corpse there had been matched with those on Frank's application for a Chilean residence card. With information taken from that application, particularly Frank's passport number, the Embassy had wired to Washington to get next of kin information. At no time did Purdy tell Hathaway that Teruggi had been registered in the Consulate, but he noted that he could now understand how Hathaway could have made the assumption that Teruggi had done so.

Mr. Teruggi stated that he was sure that the first thing Frank would have done upon arriving in Santiago would have been to register at the Consulate, because Frank had not known anybody when he came to Santiago. Ms. Przyworski asked if the Embassy maintained lists of Americans other than those registered in the Consulate. She and others specifically asked whether the CIA engaged in surveillance of American citizens. Mr. Purdy responded that the Consulate asks some organizations (e.g. missionaries and large enterprises) to submit lists of resident member Americans. Ambassador Popper stated that the CIA does not monitor American citizens.

Mr. Teruggi stated that the Chilean military had never given the true story of his son's death. They have never explained why he was arrested or how they could have said on September 24 that he was still in the National Stadium when he was apparently already dead.

Mr. Purdy noted that the only explanation the Embassy has received from the GOC concerning the reason for Teruggi's arrest was that of curfew violation, but since the Embassy pointed out that Teruggi was arrested in his home, the Government had not offered any other explanation. Purdy also stated that given the confusion prevailing at the National Stadium in the first weeks after September 11, he did not think it strange that he could have been given inaccurate information.

Mr. Teruggi asked Ambassador Popper why he thought his son had been called from his cell in the National Stadium at 6 o'clock on the evening he was killed. Ambassador Popper responded that he could not speculate on why Frank had been called out. Mr. Teruggi asked what he should do now, adding that he did not want to let the matter lie. He stated that his son should not have been killed. His son had come to Santiago to study economics because he spoke Spanish and he understood the University at Santiago was the best in South America for this purpose. He had met with some boys from New York, but had not done anything wrong. Mr. Teruggi, Sr., knew that his son had been involved with the publication known as FIN. "I know he supported the Allende Government, but that's no reason to kill him." Several other members of the committee echoed the "no reason to kill him" phrase.

Mrs. Langford asked if a ballistics report had ever been prepared. Mr. Purdy noted that one report received from the GOC had stated that metal fragments had been taken from Teruggi's body but that the Embassy had received no further report, even though we had specifically asked about the possibility.

Mr. Teruggi asked what kind of pressure USG was putting on the Chilean Government to get the case cleared up. He noted that he would like to have a meeting with General Pinochet and authorities of the GOC. "What are you going to do to make my trip down here worthwhile"?

Mr. Thompson responded that we had already been in touch with the Chilean authorities and that the Foreign Office had designated a liaison officer who would assist the group in asking for appointments with GOC officials. He noted that it was a matter for the GOC to determine whether the requests would be favorably received or not.

Mrs. Langford asked that Ambassador Popper prepare a letter of introduction for Mr. Teruggi to present to General Pinochet. She asked what kind of pressure the Embassy would exert to make sure the Government would talk with members of group. Ambassador Popper responded that the Embassy had already paved the way for requests to be made to the GOC for appointments but noted once again that it is up to the Chilean Government to decide how to handle these requests.

Ambassador Popper then stated that he felt that the conversation had covered the case quite fully, as far as the Embassy's activities were concerned. He termed Teruggi's death a tragic and distressing episode in a period of strife and confusion. He stated that he understood Mr. Teruggi's anguish. "We have tried to find out what happened and we will continue to do so," he concluded.

Mr. Teruggi stated that the Chilean military should have been told to watch out for Americans, and be sure nothing happened to them.

Mr. Feinglass asked if the group could meet again with Ambassador Popper before they left Chile. The Ambassador agreed to meet with the group again if at the end of its visit it decided to do so.

Father Grant asked for Embassy assistance in visiting other embassies where there were asylees. Ambassador Popper responded that this was a question to be determined by the GOC and the other embassies. Father Grant stated that he has a letter of invitation from the French Ambassador. It was suggested that he call that Embassy and arrange to be met by a French Embassy officer rather than simply approaching it unannounced.

Father Grant stated that he had been asked by Father Hesburgh of Notre Dame to investigate the situation of St. George's School. He asked if the US Embassy would show as much concern with the fate of the school as it has with large US copper companies. He stated that it was his belief that the school had been confiscated by the Government of Chile. Mr. Thompson replied that the Embassy has expended considerable effort on the problems of St. George's School, was continuing to work on the issue, and that the legal situation is that the GOC has "intervened" the school. Ambassador Popper noted that negotiations continue between the Congregation of the Holy Cross and GOC authorities.

Father Grant asked what special efforts or pressure/Embassy would make on the Teruggi case. Ambassador Popper repeated that "we will do all we appropriately can." Mr. Teruggi ended the meeting by stating that "you'll just get the same answers if you ask the same questions."

The meeting began at 11 a.m. and ended at 12:30 p.m.

C: I'll do that. And do you mind if I do a few notations about where I think I could be useful?

K: Fine, you know my admiration for you.

C: And you know mine for you. And you are leaving for Mexico and then you have to go to Syria?

K: Yes. I'll probably call you Sunday.

PERMANENT MISSION OF CUBA TO THE UNITED NATIONS

Note No. 8

New York, 6 February 1974

Sir,

I have the honour to transmit to you herewith a letter addressed to you by Mrs. Hortensia Bussi de Allende which relates to the serious situation obtaining in Chile and to the gross violations of the most fundamental human rights being committed by the military régime installed in that country.

The message from Mr. Allende's widow refers to matters which affect the basic principles of the Organization and which are of interest and concern to its Members. It is an appeal to the conscience of mankind, calling for the urgent adoption of the measures required to put an end to the dramatic situation which she describes.

For that reason, I request you to arrange for this letter, and that of Mrs. Hortensia Bussi de Allende, to be circulated as an official United Nations document.

I take this opportunity to renew to you the assurances of my highest consideration.

His Excellency
Mr. Kurt Waldheim
Secretary-General of the United Nations
By hand

Mexico City, 30 December 1973

Distinguished Secretary-General and esteemed friend,

Press reports and other, more direct reports transmitted through organizations in the United Nations system or linked to it have doubtless enabled you to form an idea of the action being taken by the present Chilean Military Junta against those who loyally served the legal Government of President Allende or who, out of considerations of humanity, simply do not accept the Junta's methods.

However, there is always a possibility that these reports may be insufficiently precise or accurate or that they may be denied by those responsible for the harsh repression.

For this reason, I have felt it necessary to pick out, from the huge mass of available material, certain indisputable facts which not even the Military Junta could disavow, since they emanate from or are confirmed by reports or orders issued by the Junta itself, and which justify official action by the United Nations, through its appropriate regularly established bodies, in order to ensure that the human rights so solemnly proclaimed on 10 December 1948 are upheld.

As you know, many juridical, charitable and humanitarian institutions throughout the world have felt it necessary to send delegations or commissions to Chile in order to verify on the spot the acts which are being denounced and to afford protection to those whose rights are being flouted. However, while these initiatives are important, they do not have the same status as action agreed upon at the level of the United Nations, and the delegates and representatives in question lack the backing of the supreme international organization. Thus, while these efforts have certainly served to confirm to world public opinion the horror of the events taking place in Chile, they have not been successful in providing the kind of information which would secure from international organizations and Governments which actively uphold the Charter of the United Nations and honour their own international commitments the support that is needed to alter the serious situation currently obtaining in Chile.

I am convinced that, in the light of the denunciations already published and the extremely well-founded presumptions regarding the reality of the acts of cruelty perpetrated in Chile against persons whose sole offence is that they dissent from the policies being applied by the Military Junta or support the ideals and plans which President Allende intended to implement, the time has come for the United Nations to take up the matter officially and to carry out the prior investigation which is essential if the relevant United Nations organs are to possess the reliable and adequate information which they require in order to make use of their powers.

With the object of helping to ensure that action of this kind by the United Nations is based on accurate information, and while setting aside a great number of facts which have come to my knowledge and confining myself solely to those whose veracity is now wholly beyond dispute, I venture to submit for your consideration the following compendium of facts, which might serve as background material for the course of action which I am proposing:

(a) It is a fact that the Military Junta, having only just assumed de facto power, ordered anyone caught bearing weapons to be shot on the spot by the troops seizing such weapons, without being given any kind of trial or opportunity to defend themselves. I shall not dwell on the fact that those who offered armed resistance to the Military Junta during the early days of its existence were persons who, being law-abiding and true to their own ideals, felt it their duty to defend the legitimate Government against the onslaught of those who, lacking any justification but force, had seized power. Let us make the purely theoretical assumption that those who were caught bearing arms were dangerous criminals representing a serious threat to Chilean society. Yet, even on this supposition, made solely for the purposes of argument, the order to kill them on the spot without any kind of trial is a barbaric act which reveals the utmost contempt for human life and blatantly contravenes the fundamental principles governing the life of a society based on the rule of law. Not even the worst criminals lack the right to be heard, to be provided with an effective defence and to have the circumstances and background of the acts of which they are accused brought out in a proper trial. These shootings without legal process were ordered by the Military Junta by virtue of a special decree of 14 September which, because of the international outcry that it sparked off, was repealed in mid-October. A great number of Chileans and foreigners lost their lives under this decree.

(b) The Military Junta is holding prisoner a large number of prominent Chilean political figures in inhuman conditions on the inhospitable Dawson Island, which is close to Antarctica, has a very rigorous climate and lacks adequate shelter. Among them are President Allende's Ministers of State, university rectors, leaders of political parties and members of the parliament belonging to the Popular Unity Party who supported President Allende. In almost all cases, no specific charges have been brought, their only crime being that they were members or supporters of the constitutional government of President Allende. Their imprisonment has now lasted for almost four months, and there is no indication that it will come to an end in the near future. This, then, is an extremely severe punishment, since the conditions in which they are imprisoned are harsher than those found in any penal establishment in the world - a punishment which, moreover, has been imposed without any form of trial, without any time-limit and for the sole reason that the people involved were considered by the Junta to be its political adversaries. Such flagrant violations of the most fundamental human rights have been equalled only by those perpetrated during the period of Hitlerian fascism.

(c) Using the pretext of a so-called "internal state of war", the Junta has subjected to the most summary kind of court-martial proceedings - in many cases culminating in a death sentence - individuals whom it considers to be engaged in subversive activities directed against it. Civilians who do not form part of any recognized military organization have been subjected to the harshness of the decisions of military tribunals which are strictly subservient to the Military Junta. As a result, special tribunals totally lacking in impartiality are being sought in order to impose the harshest possible sentences on potential enemies of the régime. There is no need to point out that all this contravenes the norms established by the United Nations in respect of human rights.

(d) Hundreds, and even thousands, of Chileans and foreigners attempted to escape the repression of the Military Junta by taking refuge in embassies. A considerable proportion of them, and particularly those on whom the Junta wishes to vent its desires for political vengeance, have even now, almost four months after seeking asylum, been unable to obtain from the Military Junta the safe conduct needed to leave the country. There have even been cases of individuals who have taken refuge on the premises of foreign missions being subjected to serious attacks on their lives or to attempts to remove them from their place of asylum by persons who appear to be working in concert with the Junta. Consequently, while seemingly respecting the right of asylum and the inviolability of diplomatic premises, the Military Junta ignores its international obligations and endeavours to prevent those persons who have sought refuge and who believe in the force of international obligations and in the guarantees provided under international law to embassy premises from receiving on those premises the protection of life and liberty to which they are entitled. By the decision of the Junta, they seem to be condemned to imprisonment on those premises, since it is impossible for them to leave because of the Junta's refusal to grant them safe conduct.

In conclusion, there is another indisputable fact, which, as it has already given rise to protective action on the part of organizations in the United Nations system, I venture to mention here: the condition of thousands of foreigners who had hoped to find in democratic Chile in the period before the coup a place where they could live in freedom and who, immediately after the military coup took place, were subjected to savage persecution and restrictive measures. I do not feel it is necessary to elaborate on this point, since you undoubtedly already have sufficient information.

I shall pass over many other facts which I know to be true, but which, in order to be proved beyond all doubt, would require an official investigation, carried out by specialists and experts like those working for the United Nations. These include the torture of political prisoners; the inhuman conditions in which they are kept; the informing which has become a way of life; the unlawful searching of premises; the destruction of the property of persons who are being subjected to political persecution; the confiscation of the property of others; the massive dismissals of workers; the establishment of concentration camps such as those of Pisagua, Chacabuco, Islas de Quiriquina and Santa María, and the use of special detention vessels such as the Lebu and the Angamos; the violation of university autonomy; the threat to deprive all opponents of the illegal government of their nationality, etc.

UNCLASSIFIED

In these few lines, which, in view of the multitude of the abuses and crimes which have been committed, could not have been made briefer, I have tried to present to you a true picture of what is happening in Chile under the present Military Junta. I think that all these facts, which constitute blatant and grave violations of the fundamental principles upheld by the United Nations with regard to respect for the human person and guarantees of justice in the treatment of any individual, are sufficient grounds for the United Nations - taking up the world-wide clamour of repudiation which these acts have aroused in the conscience of mankind - to adopt, first, the measures needed to verify and prove these facts and, secondly, such measures as are considered appropriate to put an end to this contempt for the values which must be preserved for all mankind.

I have ventured to address these lines to you in the firm belief - based not only on my personal acquaintance with you and on my knowledge of your sense of justice and humanity, but also on a full awareness of the high duties which you so honourably discharge - that they will elicit the response which they deserve from you as a generous-hearted person and as the highest representative of the Organization which, at the present time, has the greatest measure of responsibility for the fate of mankind.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) Hortensia B. de ALLENDE

G: Hello.

K: Hello, Steve.

G: Hi, Henry, how are you?

K: OK.

G: Good, any chance?

K: No, I don't think so.

G: Really. You're just too busy.

K: Yeah.

G: Okay. Are you likely to be here next weekend, Henry.

K: Well, that's what I have my doubts about. I might go to New York for a day, and then I'm going to the Soviet Union.

G: Are you? And then you're there for a week - or longer?

K: For about a week. And then I'm planning to go on vacation.

G: You are? Well that I'm pleased by. For a week or two?

K: For about ten days.

G: Good. Somewhere warm?

K: Yes, to Mexico.

G: How nice. Do you have a few minutes to talk?

K: Yeah, a few minutes.

G: Well, how are you reacting to life?

K: Well, you know, the Europeans have managed now to turn it into an uproar.

G: Were you unhappy about the remarks made the other day by the President. Would you rather he hadn't said what he did?

K: Yes.

G: I felt that it was unnecessary. I mean, it serves no purpose.

K: It's sort of unfortunate, because what I said wasn't planned. And it gave the Europeans an opportunity to totally confuse the issue.

G: Yeah, it was very unfortunate.

K: I mean I spoke to a group of wives in an informal way and those morons in the State Department had the press in there without telling me.

G: Well what actually, I mean, I never could get it out what you in fact said to them. What did he mean by.....

K: I said nothing of any consequence, but by the time they got through distorting it, it was hopeless. I wasn't even talking about Europe. I was talking about a nuclear war, and I said, let's not kid ourselves, no government is going to survive the catastrophe of a nuclear war. No European government that ended World War I ever recovered its legitimacy. That's absolutely true.

G: Yeah, fantastic. Well that's interesting. I read the thing and I couldn't imagine what you had said.

K: What I had talked about was the impact of a huge catastrophe caused by governments on its population. It had nothing to do with the current crisis. It wasn't set in that context.

G: Of course. Well, again, when it comes out of context it's a meaningless phrase. I mean, it just doesn't mean anything. And nobody has understood it.

K: And in that context it's one hundred percent right.

G: Yeah, well, Henry, what exactly, what do you see. I mean, is it just ~~[illegible]~~ leave things alone there?

K: We're not going to make another move.

G: Well, this is what I feel very strongly. Has Bruce been going around importuning people?

K: No.

G: That never took off.

K: No, we canceled that.

G: I see. Is it because there was just no point.

K: There was no point. We knew what the facts were. I mean, everyone knows what it is.

G: Yeah, and is the severance in the British government at all helpful or even more problematical?

K: Well, in the short term it's helpful. In the long term it will be more problematical.

G: Yeah. And the Germans are just continuing to say, we don't know what the argument is about.

K: That's right. They're waffling all over the place.

G: Yeah. And why essentially? Just too worried about the French, or just a feeling let's not rock this boat as well as so many others?

K: I think that and the emotional need of the French. The French are beyond my understanding. DeGaulle I understood.

G: Yeah. Well the other day at the West European Studies this man Bahr who used to be the head of the French Delegation to the Common Market was there. He began to talk about the difference in generations and about the fact that the new generation doesn't understand things. So, when it came to questions, I mean the whole thing was an unbelievable performance. For example, among other things, he lashed out at the Dutch in response to a question. I think the question either from Kimmelberger or Leonchev. In a fashion, you cannot imagine the _____ "[speaks in French.]" On and on this way. But then I asked him, I mean, he went on and on talking about difference in generations. I said you sound positively _____. I said after all, this is all that he's talking about. But what would you have to do if you were an American to prove that the object is not simply to dominate you.

G: He said you would have to behave differently than you are now behaving.

K: Like what?

G: This is the next question. This is all in French. I said, "[French]", and again talking about the oil thing in terms of no planning. You know, I reminded him of all the things... Some day, Henry, I must show you however this Bill Bundy letter, and I'm sure you've heard from Nancy the end of that thing, where he said the crisis is over, as I told you, and France is now -- you know, that's how the whole thing ended.

K: Yes, that's what he told me too.

G: Unbelievable.

K: He wanted to get me to say that he shouldn't print it. And I said, no, I thought this was just putting a bandaid over a cancer.

G: Now what is his game here, Henry? Is he anxious not to have anything in there that would upset the Europeans? Is he anxious not to have anything in there...

K: He is anxious not to have anything in there that supports the Administration.

G: That's right. That is what I... I mean this is what Dan Bell and Irving Kristol and others said. But someday I must show you a letter from him that is theoretically a letter of criticism. I mean, this is not the last one. In the end he simply said, it's all over, as I told you, I mean, there is no problem anymore.

K: Yeah. What are you going to do with his article.

G: Well, this is the thing, Henry. There's nothing to do. I made a change in the beginning and sent it to the Times. The Times felt that their Laquer(?) piece is rather like it, which in a sense it is. But what I now feel, and this is one of the many things I want to talk to you about, I really feel that what I have in this article is the basis for a very important longer article. Where do you public it in this country. What is a serious journal? Again, you don't have the time to read this foreign policy, but it's just unbelievable crud.

K: You know I would have to say we are practically being...you know, we had a good foreign policy going and they are now killing it.

G: Yeah. But what can be done?

K: They are moving to the right of us on detente.

G: Absolutely. This is the thing.

K: I mean the very people who were accusing us of being warmongers, insensitive, immoral, and 5 thousand other things, now think we are not tough enough on the Russians.

G: Absolutely, but this is what it's all about.

K: The people who thought we were too tough on the North Vietnamese say we are too soft on the Russians.

G: That's right. But, Henry, how do you get anywhere in this country - how do you get any of these things said?

K: I think we are heading into a third republic state. We are going to become ungovernable. The press is going to be our parliament.

G: What can be done?

K: I don't know.

G: But this is it.

K: You know, they're not going to rest until they've torn me down.

G: Well, again, and you know some people imagine that I write this way because of a personal relation with you. It has nothing to do with you.

K: I know a clash with Europe won't do it because the Europeans are going to collapse on us before it's done. They haven't got the nerve to continue it.

G: Again, who is going to collapse first there?

K: The Germans, the Dutch. You know, we're going to kill the Davignon committee and nobody's going to make a decision anymore without checking with us.

G: Yeah, but the bigger thing, Henry, is that there is one kind of theme that is coming through from the left all the way over to the right. I mean not all the way over to the right, whatever the right is, but it is one kind of opinion and you cannot get another thing said. And again one thinks of trying to start something new, but what do you do - you can't start a new newspaper, you can't start a new journal. It would take years to build it up. But there is simply no outlet for a certain kind of opinion. What you just said about whether it's Third Republic or not, that's another matter.

K: Well, and they're moving with amazing uniformity. You know, last year the Democrats were hitting us for a $60 billion Defense budget. This year $95 billion isn't enough. Last year if you explained high manpower costs they'd sneer at you. This year I had Cy Vance and MacBundy in the other day and ~~they said~~ and I said, look, our budget is higher in detente. Oh, but that doesn't mean anything. Manpower is such a big slice of it and inflation.

G: Yeah.

K: Which is true, but they wouldn't have said that last year.

G: Yeah. You know it really was, Henry, and not for just one policy or something else...

K: But then you know, the suicidal...[end of tape]. ....but they systematically go after me.

G: But their illusion is this is why you have to look at least at this Brzyzinski thing. Because after all what Brzyzinski is telling you is, in a sense what it really is, it is a kind of...

[redacted] B6

G: Yes, but you see the only thing that I think can save this. May I just give you this to reflect on - you've probably reflected. I keep going around with these people and saying one thing. If you think there are going to be Democrats in the White House in '77, you are really mistaken. You aren't gonna make it. Not one of you are gonna be there. And, incidentally, I said it to someone yesterday, here in Washington, and, you know, I could almost see the man blanch. They have just taken it for granted that they're gonna be heirs to all this - it's simply a matter of waiting the thing out. It is by no means certain, Henry.

K: No, no, I think that Gerry Ford could probably beat anyone except Jackson.

G: I think he could beat Jackson. Incidentally, I don't think Jackson can get it without ~~suffering~~ such a struggle, including the killing-off of Chappaquidic, which isn't gonna be all that easy, because Chappaquidic is gonna stay in long enough for him to ruin the chances of a fair number of other people. What I am really worried about is that there is the illusion. I mean what you have in Brzyzinski is the illusion that in '77 he'll come back because he is the head of a trilateral commission that believes in a thing called Western Europe and also believes in a thing called Japan and these bad relations will be restored.

K: Well, first, our relations with Japan aren't bad. Secondly, if last year proved anything it's precisely the attempt to restore bad -- whatever I tried to do other than what the trilateral commission says it is trying to do. That's exactly the mistake we made. But when you listen to the establishment we always go wrong. That's right, if we hadn't lifted a finger with Europe nothing would have happened.

G: Yeah.

K: How is he going to establish good relations with Europe, precisely how? What ~~xxxxxxxxxxxxx~~ concrete steps would he take? I don't think he's gonna get into office, but supposing he did. How would he do it?

G: I have no idea. He has no idea. But it is a new kind of nostalgia, a nostalgia for something which again never existed.

K: Look, Kennedy tried, it, Johnson tried it, Nixon tried it. Isn't it probable that there's something organic he re?

G: Yeah, yeah, but also, Henry, what has got to be seen is these people still think that it is if they had any sympathy for us, which they lack, it is in respect to a recalcitrant France. It is France that is impossible. And the failure to see that it is a much deeper thing - that it is Europe in the terms - I continue to feel that what I wrote in that article is essentially right. You cannot understand it unless you understand a place called England, a place called Germany.

K: That's right.

G: You cannot understand this phenomenon.

K: Well, I think we'll let them stew in their own juice now. I'm sorry frankly that it reached these public proportions. I think if last week hadn't happened and we had just slowly disengaged from Europe and let them stew in their own juice it would have brought them back better than this public brawling. I wouldn't have had the President say what he said.

G: I didn't feel you did. I just knew you hadn't.

K: And you know I wouldn't have said publicly what I said. Although what I said wasn't so bad, if you read it.

G: Well, but this is it, you see, I only read it out of context.

K: What I said, two things that were taken deadly out of context. I said the big problem in this world is to create a cooperative world structure. There is a paradox that we know how to regulate relations with our enemies but we have not managed yet to create a cooperative structure with our friends - which happens to be true. That was one quote they played with. The other one was the legitimacy one which I put in a totally different section and which dealt with a different subject.

G: Yeah, well, Henry, again I don't want to quote my own article, but I think the thing really is to let the thing simply be. I think there should be no more talk about any visit.

K: No, no, that's out.

G: I think there's no need for it. And I think just play the whole thing down and see what happens. But what I still worry about is what is going on in this country, which again, nobody is writing about.

K: No I think the better strategy would have been just to let it die without an uproar.

G:] Yeah, but now that the uproar has happened, Henry, do you still not think that one should just forget it?

K:] I think one should just forget it, but you know now the trouble is the Europeans are gonna make an overture and that's gonna keep it up and up and up. They're gonna try to rescue these declarations now.

G:] Really?

K: Yeah.

G: Because they still think that that's what the issue is about.

K: That's right.

G: Who is there there, Henry, that you really do feel understands? Does Giscard not understand what's going on?

K: That I can't tell.

G: I mean they speak with one voice, with the master's voice.

K: Well, I don't know who's doing the speaking. You see, what makes us think they're nuts is whenever I see Jobert alone he tells me he disagrees with Pompidou.

G: Yeah. But it certainly doesn't sound that way.

K: No, but it isn't true that we have ever had any controversy. That's French pu blicity.

G: Yeah, very interesting. Well I am going over for about - I'm leaving a week Friday - for various things in connection with a book of essays that I've edited that is coming out in Italy, and things, and I really frankly to answer your question about what I want to do with the article, I would like to make it into something better, but I frankly don't know - you know, better in the sense of not fleshing it out and dealing much more with the real difficulties of some of these x mysteries(?) But once you did, I have no idea in this country at this moment where to put it. I have no idea who to offer it to.

K: Yeah, I agree. Harper and so forth wouldn't do it?

G: Who reads Harper?

K: Yeah.

G: Who reads The Atlantic?

K: Well, that's true.

G: I mean, The Atlantic wouldn't do it. Harper's might, but who reads it? So this is really, I think this is the most serious matter that exists, that there is this kind of nostalgia for moments when we were able to get on with our allies and when we were fairly tough with the Russians. Again, what you say about detente is absolutely true.

K: But look, they're not going to maintain their toughness. Do you think that Hinster(?) would be tough with the Russians for two years once he got into office?

G: But, Henry, he's never going to get in. I feel this so intensely and so certainly ... that would mess things up.

K: Yeah, well that I'm sure of too. Besides he couldn't stay in even if he got it.

G: It's never gonna happen. But it is the creation of a myth that is going to survive until the 1976 election.

K: I know.

G: And I think this myth - we're aware of that this myth has to be taken apart. And when his doctors say, look, I mean again the Europeans are constantly talking about detente. Who in God's name pushed detente with real ardor if not the Europeans. And the British seemed the _____ ones among them.

K: Okay, Steve - I know, I know, when Heath came into it all over here and the minute ~~that~~ detente ended the Europeans would be in Moscow. Okay, I've got to run.

G: Henry, bless you, and you don't think you'll be here at all next weekend.

K: I'm not sure yet.

G: Well, I'll just try to get to you from time to time, but this is not the man to do it through. Can I call Eagleburger?

K: Call Eagleburger.

G: And just say that you told me to.

K: Yes.

G: Okay, thanks. Goodbye, Henry.

K: Goodbye.

Sale of Military Equipment to Chile

The Chileans are pressing us for a wide variety of weaponry to redress their military imbalance with Peru. Some of these weapons were initially offered for sale to the Allende government. Nonetheless, adverse public and Congressional reaction to expensive military sales is certain to be heightened by the current human rights situation in Chile. This reaction could jeopardize our capacity to help Chile in other areas, and might also threaten broader interests, such as the FY 75 security assistance legislation about to be presented to Congress, and our ability to deliver on the Mexico City pledge to maintain present aid levels.

The basic issues, therefore, are:

-- Can we meet our previous commitments for military sales and our assurances of support for the junta without running a serious risk of jeopardizing our relations with Congress and our broader interests?

-- If we do sell, how much should we sell and when?

-- Are any counterbalancing moves available to draw the political poison from arms sales to Chile?

Background

1. The Equipment Picture

Although our grant material program with Chile was terminated in 1968, the U.S. maintained a small FMS credit sales program during the Allende regime. On the day of the coup, September 11, 1973, sales of all lethal items to Chile were placed under review. Prior to the coup we had officially notified the Allende government of our willingness to sell the M-60 medium tank and authorized release to Chile of price and availability data on the F-5E aircraft to preempt purchase of MIG-21's from the USSR.

[redacted] GDS

UNCLASSIFIED

In August 1973 the GOC formally requested 15 M-60 tanks (cost: $7.5 million). Since the coup the GOC has advised the U.S. of its intention to request 18 F-5E's on a cash basis (cost: $60 million). Delivery of these tanks and aircraft will lessen, but not close, Chile's gap with Peru.

In addition, Chile has expressed interest in acquiring three major weapons packages (A-7D aircraft, extensive air defense including missiles and cannon, and the TOW anti-tank/assault weapon), a number of lesser items (air traffic control radar, vehicle mounted recoilless rifles, armored personnel and mortar carriers, anti-aircraft cannon and fire control radar, and riot control equipment), as well as a small package of non-lethal equipment. Neither the A-7D nor the TOW has previously been sold in Latin America.

The Junta is convinced that Chile faces a major threat from Peru, which now enjoys significant superiority in both tanks and fighter aircraft. If we deny what the Junta considers its minimal needs, Chile will make every effort to meet them elsewhere, and its disillusionment and frustration could have unpredictable long-term consequences.

2. The Economic Picture

Chile is seeking to reschedule its massive external debt obligations in order to help resolve the economic chaos inherited from the Allende period. On economic grounds alone, the expenditure of large sums on arms acquisitions at a time when Chile is pleading for concessional economic assistance and generous debt rescheduling is certain to increase criticism of Chile in the US Congress and elsewhere.

3. The Congressional Picture

Military sales to Chile are unpopular with important Members of Congress on three counts: (1) there is extensive distaste for the human rights record of the GOC; (2) opponents of US economic assistance criticize uneconomic use of limited resources by poverty-stricken regimes; and (3) there is concern lest military sales encourage arms races.

Congress has written all three counts into the legislative record. Of the many provisions in the Foreign Assistance and Foreign Military Sales Acts registering these concerns, only Section #4 of the FMS Act (the Conte-Long Amendment), which requires Presidential national security findings for sales of sophisticated equipment to Latin American countries, or interdepartmental findings that specific items are not "sophisticated", is mandatory. However, taken together these provisions unambiguously state the trend of Congressional thinking on three issues unavoidably relevant to major arms sales to Chile at this time.

These Congressional concerns cannot be dismissed as those of a marginal group, for their most intense advocates are Members whose support will be needed if we are to deliver on your pledge at Mexico City to "maintain, as a minimum, present aid levels."

Bureau and Agency Views

With multiple caveats, predominant views support authorizing sale now of the F-5E, M-60 medium tanks, an anti-tank weapons system (not the TOW), armored vehicles, mines, and certain other minor items, privately informing the GOC of the decision, and considering additional requests on a case-by-case basis.

This posture would arouse sharp Congressional criticism would not satisfy all the GOC's perceived needs, and could still result in acquisitions of other items from third countries. However, it would satisfy the GOC's most urgent needs, would specifically address GOC concerns over Peruvian acquisition of Soviet Tanks, and would permit the USG to honor prior commitments to Chile. It would also require no new findings or determinations under the Conte-Long Amendment.

In general, this posture is supported by ARA, PM, EB, and L in State and by DOD, CIA, and ACDA. No one strongly supports either holding all requests for FMS credit for major sales under review, or resuming normal FMS credit sales now.

Nonetheless, there are important dissenting views and refinements:

-- AID finds it difficult to support any option in view of their Congressional concerns. (Treasury has not commented.)

-- ACDA believes that after selling F-5E's and M-60's we should make a discreet approach to the GOC suggesting that it might wish to consult with Peru on the possibilities for exercising mutual restraint in arms acquisition. It argues that if we are reasonably forthcoming in meeting Chilean security needs, the GOC might be willing to approach the GOP along these lines.

-- L would have preferred to keep all sales under review given human rights and economic considerations, but accepted the limited-sales option because of Peruvian purchases of Soviet tanks. PM reluctantly assented to the tank sale for the same reason.

-- EB, while endorsing limited sales because it sees "no viable alternative," believes the Chilean authorities should be warned explicitly that significant military purchases by Chile will make it most difficult or even impossible for us to convince the Congress to authorize meaningful amounts of development assistance.

-- H endorses an alternative option of first making strong representations to the GOC to defer purchases of major military items by stressing the compelling economic rationale against such purchases; coupling this with efforts to reduce tension between Chile and Peru; and falling back to limited sales to Chile only if this fails. It believes that timing is an important element: any delays would give the GOC more time to improve the human rights situation and thus reduce Congressional criticism.

S/P Views

S/P was not involved in preliminary work on this issue, (memorandum at Tab A) but after careful study of an admittedly complicated issue, it is our view that:

1. Sales of the F-5E aircraft (on a cash basis) and M-60 tanks (using FMS credit financing) would meet our previous commitments. Were we also to sell mines and an anti-tank system, these sales, whose total cost would approximate $70 million, with only about $10 million in credits, would meet Chile's minimal perceived urgent defensive needs.

2. Resumption of additional sales may also prove desirable, but we should first get a better grasp on the overall West Coast security picture and on possible counter balancing steps. The GOC is dependent on U.S. political support in many areas, and while the degree of dependence should not be exaggerated, it may permit us to defer resumption of further sales until mid-year, long enough to clarify the Chile-Peru situation, the possibility of countervailing steps, and the Chilean economic and human rights situation in Congress.

3. In any event, we need a better feel for the Chile-Peru situation. The Junta feels Chile's national security is in danger; Peruvian acquisition of Soviet tanks provides the immediate rationale for Chilean pressure to purchase; local arms races are a serious Congressional concern; ACDA recommends we push the Chileans to explore restraint with Peru after agreeing to resume sale to Chile. But we do not have a clear picture of what these tensions are, whether they are reducible by local or U.S. initiative, or, if so, whether such initiative would most effectively take place before or after resumed U.S. sales to Chile. A National Intelligence Study of arms acquisitions and the security situation on the West Coast of South America has begun but is unlikely to be completed before mid-May.

4. We could also usefully examine whether we can sensibly take other steps to preempt or counterbalance the certain adverse effects on other U.S. interests in Chile, the hemisphere and beyond (e.g. the security assistance program worldwide). The feasibility and desirability of such counterbalancing steps has not yet been examined at all.

[redacted]

Recommendations:

ARA, PM, and S/P recommend, in light of these considerations:

1. That you authorize immediate private notification to the Chileans that we are willing to sell now the F-5E's and the M-60's previously committed. We are also prepared to sell mines and the LAW anti-tank system, and will continue to examine their other arms requests on a case-by-case basis.

2. That, in informing the GOC of this decision, we explain the possible consequences of public and Congressional reaction, emphasizing that we are doing so only in an effort to share our concerns with the GOC, not lecturing them about what they consider to be their own needs.

3. That, before authorizing any additional sales, you direct an interagency task force chaired by State/ARA and consisting in addition of PM, S/P, INR, L, and H, in State, and of ACDA, DOD, AID, and CIA, to undertake a study of the possibilities and modalities for reducing tensions between Chile and Peru, including the role of possible arms control initiatives; taking into account the progress of the West Coast National Intelligence Study now underway. The task force should also explore possible steps the U.S. might take in the human rights field to preempt or minimize the adverse effects of resumed arms sales to Chile. The study should be submitted by April 12, 1974, in time for your consideration before your speech at the OAS General Assembly in Atlanta. (In view of the time pressure, we are moving ahead informally on this study now.)

SUBJECT: Bilateral between Admiral Huerta and Reps. Dante Fascell and Bill Mailliard at Mexico Foreign Ministers Meeting

The one-hour (7:00-8:00 p.m.) bilateral session took place in Admiral Huerta's suite at the Camino Real Hotel on February 22, 1974.

Participants

Admiral Ismael Huerta, Foreign Minister of Chile
Ricardo Claro, Economic Adviser to the Foreign Minister
Capt. Carlos Ashton, Public Relations Director for Chilean Foreign Ministry

Representative Dante Fascell (D-Fla.)
Representative William Mailliard (R-Calif.)
William B. Richardson (H)

Background

Prior to the U.S. delegation's departure to Mexico City, the Chilean Embassy had informed us that Admiral Huerta wanted to host a dinner or a luncheon for the Congressional delegation in Mexico at their convenience. Aboard the airplane enroute to Mexico City, the Congressional group, at the urging of Senator Mansfield, tentatively agreed not to accept the Chilean invitation for both political reasons as well as a general Congressional policy not to show "preference" to any type of Latin government (i.e., if they accepted the Chilean invitation, they would be compelled to accept other similar invitations). I was then instructed to inform Ricardo Claro, who had literally been harassing me about setting up the necessary arrangements, that the Congressional group could not accept the Admiral's invitation because of scheduling conflicts and previous commitments. At one of the Secretary's briefings for the Congressional group, however, the Chilean matter came up again and Dante Fascell and Bill Mailliard agreed to meet with Huerta informally at some point during the conference. Senator McGee said he was reluctant to see Huerta as he had already talked to him and other Chilean officials in Washington previously. Speaker Albert, Senator Scott, and Senator Mansfield showed no interest in meeting with the Chilean Foreign Minister.

Claro and I tentatively set up a meeting for 6:15 p.m. on Friday. Fascell and Mailliard were literally "dragged out" of a reception that Mexican President Echeverria was giving for the U.S. Congressmen to attend the Huerta session. The Chileans did not seem perturbed when we arrived 45 minutes late.

Substance and Main Points Made by the Participants

The dialogue was conducted in a very open, friendly manner. Among the subjects covered were the human rights question, U.S. Congressional attitude towards the GOC, USG aid to Chile, and the Chilean domestic situation. Dante Fascell did most of the talking, and Claro, Ashton, and Huerta equally shared the GOC point of view.

Huerta

--Stated that he was disappointed in the conference, since "everything was decided upon beforehand with little room for negotiation in Mexico." At the time of the bilateral, an important drafting session was taking place among the Foreign Ministers which Huerta was not attending. The Chilean delegation was obviously feeling isolated. Huerta had not officially been received by the Mexican Government at the airport and had gone through a very embarrassing press conference. Other delegations did not appear to want to socialize with the Chileans throughout the conference.

--Stated that GOC "pronunciamiento" was the biggest defeat that the Soviets and Castro had ever had in the hemisphere. Allende's failure was an "irreparable" loss for the Communists.

--Stated that there was little Chile could do to improve its public image since most of the world press was strongly infiltrated by Marxists unfavorably disposed towards Chile.

--When Dante Fascell asked him if the GOC was interested in purchasing arms from the U.S., Huerta evaded the question and shifted the conversation to Peru's recent acquisition of Soviet tanks and Peru's "expansionist" tendencies. In response to a Dante Fascell question as to whether Chile feared an attack by Peru, Huerta emphasized that Velasco was a sick man and that he did not trust some of his "hothead" advisers (in the event that Velasco left the Presidency). Huerta affirmed that Chile must be prepared.

--Stated that military men were unfamiliar in playing the role of politicians.

--Stated that Chile had no human rights problem and that those in prison were there because they had committed illegal acts. He affirmed that military trials would begin soon, especially for the prisoners in Dawson Island.

--Remained silent when Dante Fascell informed him that a journalist recently returned from Chile (Bill Montalbano, Miami Herald) had privately told Dante Fascell that it would be in Chile's interest to "get them the hell out of prison" before somebody found them.

--Asked Dante Fascell and Bill Mailliard about prospects for financial aid being approved by the U.S. Congress. When both Members gave him a pessimistic answer, Huerta stated that he had had a very good meeting with Senator Kennedy in his last trip to Washington.

--Deferred all economic questions posed to him by Fascell to Ricardo Claro (even a simple question by Fascell, the status of copper production). Huerta did not seem to be at all well informed of the economic situation in Chile.

--Invited Fascell and Mailliard to Chile to "see for themselves" what was happening there.

Ricardo Claro

--Gave a status report on copper production, the debt rescheduling and compensation talks, and the economic game plan of the GOC.

--Stated that he had recommended to the GOC that they hire a Madison Avenue public relations firm to improve their public image in this country.

--At the conference had been quite outspoken in criticizing Federico Willoughby. Several reporters had complained to Claro of Willoughby's unresponsiveness and Claro concurred in their assessment.

--Told me that he had been under tremendous pressure by Huerta to set up this meeting.

Carlos Ashton

--Stated that junta accession to power was democratic in that they were responding to thousands of Chileans who had asked them to step in and "save the country."

--Asked Fascell if inviting Members of Congress to Chile would be helpful. They have recently invited Reps. Robert Roe (R-N.J.) and John Conlan (R-Ariz.).

--Repeatedly asked for suggestions as to how to improve their public image. Should the GOC invite journalists, etc?

--Was clearly the most conservative in the Chilean delegation.

Observations

The Chileans appeared to be extremely pleased with the meeting. The next day Claro told me several times how gratified Huerta had been with the session.

Fascell and Mailliard likewise felt the meeting had been useful. Fascell felt that Huerta's lack of political acumen was obvious and that he was a bit distressed by Huerta's silence when he asked him whether there were "10,000" political prisoners in the regional jails.

K: Right. We are going over, with him the various disengagement schemes. He's really been the man who on the Egyptian disengagement and on the Syrian one has been the one who has carried the intellectual ball. I would be very useful if he could come back with some positive news on some of his concern. I don't have the list here in front of me so I don't want to go over individual items with you. If Brent could work with somebody, whom should he work with over the weekend.

S: He could work with John Whickem on that.

K: OK, I'll have him work with Whicken and I talked to the President about it yesterday, again not on items but as a general idea and he is sympathetic. too. So can Brent work with Whickem and if you could in your conduct when you see him, do it from that point of view it would be very helpful.

S: If you give the cobra to them you have to give it to the Jordanians, you may have to give it to the Jordanians, just elevated the capabilities. I don't know whether that's a worrysome point or not.

K: Why don't you raise that with him.

S: Right.

K: I don't want to go into individual weapons now, I'm more talking about the general attitude.

S: But you want to be forthcoming.

K: Exactly.

S: No problem, we can go as far as you want.

K: Let me - Brent has the list - let me go over the list with Brent. Let him talk to Whickem. I just wanted you to know my attitude.

S: OK. The Israelis are being fairly cooperative then.

K: Frankly it will have to go through a process and again frankly we are counting very much on Dayan's support in this process.

S: OK. Very good.

K: The more he can be strengthened the better it will be.

S: OK, we shall attempt to strengthen him.

K: Good. Many thanks. Have a good rest.

S: Bye.

K: Jack, these letters are still not what I want.

JK: I'm sorry.

K: What I want is to say clearly what it is we expect. When you say we can settle some things that were left pending in Mexico that leaves it open to everything. It depends on his understanding of what was left pending in Mexico.

JK: You want name specifically what...

K: I think what we should say is: Since this meeting takes place so short a time after Mexico, we do not believe that any major results can occur. What we can do is reconfirm the spirit. Set up working groups for the preparation for the next meeting and perhaps if you want that scientific and technical thing or whatever and secondly, once you have established that you should say it would be unfortunate if the meeting in Washington with the American press in the present state of our situation would focus on the divisive aspect because that would destroy that new spirit. And we have to say that clearly. Can we do that?

JK: Sure. I guess I was not clear in my own mind what you wanted.

K: Can we get that done today please.

JK: Oh, yes.

K: Good. Thank you.

END.

REVEAL THAT AS OF APRIL 1 TOTAL OF 3,961 INDIVIDUALS HAD CLAIMED ASYLUM IN SANTIAGO DIPLOMTIC MISSIONS. FIGURES INDICATE THAT 48 ADDITIONAL INDIVIDUALS HAVE ENTERED EMBASSIES SINCE LAST STATISTICS MADE AVAILABLE IN EARLY FEBRUARY. PRESUMABLY ALL HAVE ENTERED LATIN AMERICAN MISSIONS, AS EUROPEANS EMBASSIES HAVE BEEN PROHIBITED FORM ACCEPTING ASYLEES OR "GUESTS" SINCE DECEMBER 11. SAFECONDUCTS TO DEPART COUNTRY HAVE BEEN GRANTED TO 3,710 ASYLEES. THERE ARE 60 REQUESTS BEING PROCESSED AND 192 ARE IN "DEFERRED" STATUS, WHILE GOC INVESTIGATES BACKGROUNDS TO DETERMINE WHETHER CRIMINAL CHARGES POSSIBLE OR PENDING AND, IN SOME CASES, PROCESSES EXTRADITION REQUESTS THROUGH CHILEAN COURT SYSTEM FOR TRANSMITTAL THROUGH FON MINISTRY.

3. IN ADDITION TO SAFECONDUCTS GRANTED TO ASYLEES, GOC HAS ALSO ISSUED

572 SAFECONDUCTS TO FOREIGNERS EXPELLED FROM CHILE, 1,729 TO REFUGEES,

AND 2,039 TO INDIVIDUALS AS COURTESY TO DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS.

4. LACK OF MOVEMENT IN FLOW OF ASYLEES MEANS THAT MANY EMBASSIES STILL CONTENDING WITH GUESTS WHO VERY MUCH WOULD LIKE TO BE ELSEWHERE.

MEXICO LEADS LIST WITH 65 ASYLEES, WHICH IS 25 MORE THAN IT HAD IN FEBRUARY. SIMILARLY VENEZUELAN TOTAL HAS INCREASED FROM 13 TO 24. OTHER COUNTRIES STILL WITH SIZABLE NUMBERS OF ASYLEES ARE ITALY (33), FRANCE (18), ARGENTINA (17), SWEDEN (16) AND FRG (15).

5. LATEST UP FIGURES TO BE GRANTED SAFECONDUCT ARE FORMER SOCIALIST PARTY (PS) CABINET MINISTER HERNAN DEL CANTO NOW IN BOGOTA, AND PATRICIO PALMA, FORMER PS HEAD OF BUREAU OF INDUSTRY AND TRADE (DIRINCO) WHO DEPARTED APRIL 15 FOR PANAMA CITY. ACCORDING TO CHILEAN PRESS BOTH WILL BE DETAINED PENDING ACTION BY RECEIVING GOVERNMENTS ON EXTRADITION REQUESTS PRESENTED BY FONMINISTRY. SUPREME COURT HAS RECENTLY AGREED TO RECOMMEND EXTRADITION FOR PS LEADERS PEDRO VUSKOVIC (CHARGE WITH THEFT) AND CARMEN LAZO (ACCUSED OF BIGAMY), WHO WILL THEREFORE PROBABLY SOON BE LEAVING THEIR RESPECTIVE ASYLUMS IN MEXICAN AND COLUMBIAN EMBASSIES.

3. MEXICAN REP SAID IT WAS USELESS TO PURSUE THIS COURSE FURTHER; THE GOC WOULD NEVER ACCEPT SUCH A MISSION. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE SHOULD TAKE MATTER TO IPU COUNCIL AND SEEK ENDORSEMENT OF A RESOLUTION (TO BE MADE PUBLIC) REGRETTING GOC'S ACTION. HE SUGGESTED A TEXT.

OBJECTED TO PROPOSED MISSION'S OBJECTIVES OR RATHER TO ITS COMPOSITION. US REP (DERWINSKI) SUGGESTED THAT MOST EFFECTIVE WAY TO ASSIST DETAINED PARLIAMENTARIANS WAS

TO PRESS FOR RELEASE OF RED CROSS REPORTS CONCERNING THEM; CONSIDER RECONSTITUTING COMPOSITION OF PROPOSED IPU MISSION; THEN PURSUE PROJECT OF SENDING MISSION. ITALIAN REP ALSO OPINED THAT CURRENT COMPOSITION OF MISSION WAS PRIMARY OBSTACLE TO GOC AGREEMENT.

5. MEXICAN REP REITERATED CONVICTION THAT GOC WOULD NEVER ACCEPT AN IPU MISSION; ITS LAST REPLY WAS MERELY A DIPLOMATIC STALL. UN HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR REFUGEES HAD BEEN EXPELLED FROM CHILE; WHAT COULD THE IPU EXPECT? HE PRESSED CONSIDERATION OF HIS SUGGESTED TEXT. DEBATE PRODUCED FOLLOWING WORKING:

6. QUOTE: THE INTER-PARLIAMENTARY COUNCIL, REGRETS THAT THE VISIT OF THE MISSION APPOINTED BY THE INTER-PARLIAMENTARY UNION TO THE CHILEAN PARLIAMENTARIANS DETAINED IN THAT COUNTRY WAS NOT ACCEPTED BY THE MILITARY JUNTA, AND

EXPRESSES THE HOPE THAT THESE PARLIAMENTARIANS WILL BE FREED AND THAT THE PEOPLE OF CHILE, BY THEIR OWN FREE WILL, RESTORE PARLIAMENTARY INSTITUTIONS AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. UNQUOTE.

7. DRAFT RESOLUTION WILL BE SUBMITTED TO IPU COUNCIL FRIDAY, APRIL 19. IF ADOPTED, AS EXPECTED, IT WILL BE RELEASED TO THE PRESS.

8. COMMENT. MEXICAN REP CARRIED QUESTION BY FORCE AND PASSION OF PRESENTATION. USSR ENDORSED IDEA OF IPU COUNCIL ACTION, BUT WAS OTHERWISE QUIET. WE WERE ABLE TO OBTAIN MODIFICATION OF TEXT IN SEVERAL RESPECTS, MOST IMPORTANT OF WHICH WAS DELETION OF PHRASE "WITHOUT ANY FOREIGN INTERFERENCE" IN CONNECTION WITH RESTORATION OF PARLIAMENTARY INSTITUTIONS. ATTEMPT BY ROMANIAN REP LATE IN SESSION TO INSERT PARA INSISTING UPON GOC ISSUANCE OF VISAS TO DETAINED PARLIAMENTARIANS DEFEATED 3-5 (US) WITH ONE ABSTENTION.

A review of not only the summaries of the file on our 1970 activities, but also the documents themselves on which the summaries were based, surfaces the attached papers.

The 24 Sept. 1970 report sent to the Department by Korry [redacted] reports recommendations by [redacted] for promoting an economic downturn (p. 3). These recommendations were endorsed by Korry in a 25 September message (p. 4 of 25 Sept. message) and were, as you know, utilized by CIA's [redacted] in talking to ITT representatives.

The minutes of the 30 September 1970 40 Committee meeting note agreement that Charlie Meyer would talk to ITT's Geneen about stalling on the Sheraton complex in Santiago (minutes, p. 3); U. A. Johnson's 30 September notice to Korry of the 40 Committee action simply states that Meyer would talk to Geneen about "uncertainties in the private sector".

My files do not have the Richardson talk with Frei. I think I threw it out at time of receipt in 1970 as not relevant to DDC concerns as they then were.

K: Jack, how are you?

JK: Just landed in Atlanta. I'm at the airport.

K: Oh, God. It wasn't that urgent. I just wanted to find out how your press conference went.

JK: The press conference, I think, went very well. I talked for about 10 minutes at the outset on the record reviewing the background as to how the meetings originated and the background of Mexico and in Washington and then went through the communique, the highlightes and expressed the view that you were highly gratified by the results and the constructive attitude and indicated what the results have been of the meetings and then went on -- and then read the announcement -- a 2 sentence announcement towards the end.

K: That was probably a mistake.

JK: Probably a mistake?

K: Yes, We should have saved that for another day.

JK: Possibly. Over-shadowed the other.

K: Don't you think?

JK: It's possible. But the problem was that it was already leaking all over the place.

K: Was it.

JK: In any case, it gave us the initiative because news was going to leak it over night, it was better for us to get our two sentences out at least.

K: Yes.

JK: But then there was 30 or 40 minutes of questions and I felt very interested and they went very well. I thought everyone seemed quite pleased that in effect, I think we've handled as well, as far as the press is concerned. They were expecting less and so we're somewhat pleased by things going better than they had intended to be. Rabasa was on the plane coming down. He said he thought it was a most successful conference.

Far more than anyone had anticipated.

K: Actually it turned out to be pretty good.

JK: I've got my fingers crossed. If we just don't get some kind of backlash on these damn automobiles____and Argentina and so on. It just depends on how the press plays it.

K: Yes.

JK: And I just don't know how they will. For example, David Binder of the N. Y. Times said, well now if you are going to ~~issence~~ license these companies, don't you really expect that the policy will now collapse. I said absolutely not, there's no reason to assume it will collapse. The fact is, we're treating these as an exception. He said how can you refuse anybody. I said, here you have -- he said you seem to have made these concessions to the Argentine government under duress____, I said that's not true at all. There's been no question on U. S. Government from the Argentine ~~Government~~ Government, we've been really caught between the desire to have good relations with are Argentina.

K: Well, the basic point is how can we insist American Companies don't have to obey foreign laws.

JK: Yes. It's just an absurd posture and unsustainable position for us to be in. Really I think that these last two days have gone better since we had any reason to ~~xxxx~~ anticipate. We'll just have to see how the damn press plays it tomorrow. But thus far__lead into the meetings and the press yesterday.....

K: No, I think the conference itself will -- we're coming out superbly.

JK: I agree.

K: I'm just wondering now whether that Argentine thing~~x~~ is going to kill it.

JK: I don't think so. I think people who try and see wheels within wheels may think that you use this as a trump card to play to insure cooperation from the Argentines and the Mexicans and others who are prepared to press for a lot more on Cuba. I don't know, we'll just have to see how they play it. Dudley Thompson was on the ~~plane~~ plane coming down and several others Venezuelan. They were all really, I won't say ___, but they were really ~~quite~~ quite pleased. Very happy with the outcome.

K: Because they like to jocular way the meetings were conducted.

JK: Well that's what Dudley Thompson said. He said really the secret to the success, he felt, was your own personal -- your personality and the fact that when everything starts to get a little tense and a little formalistic, you would make some kind of remark that would relax the tension. I feel very good -- I feel like someone who's gone through about 2/3 of a difficult passage and I'm just keeping my fingers crossed and watching things.

K: If it was leaking anyway, we had no choice, unless the only other things we could have done was told ___we couldn't make a decision until Friday.

JK: Yes. It was just....

K: I don't know whether that would have worked.

JK: I have a feeling that there are really two stories that came out of tonight, or that came out of the meeting today. The wind up of the meeting and this license thing. They may play these two stories. I certainly did not relate them in any way. I said the matter never came up during the course of the conference.

K: Did you take questions on the conference first.

JK: Yes, Oh, yes.

K: And then you went into the license thing.

JK: That's right.

K: OK, well, we did what we could. OK. Many thanks, Jack. I yell and scream at your group but so far you've always come through.

JK: Thank you for everything.

AHK: How are we doing on this G.D. thing.

K: Have you seen the draft yet?

HAK: Yes. It isn't all that bad.

K: I don't think so either. I must say we did a little rewritting after they left about 2:30 this morning.

HAK: I don't see -- on the subject of trade, "the Foreign Ministers attach special importance" to the status quo.

K: That needs to be clarified. That commitment is at a standstill. We'll clarify that as soon as they get here.

HAK: You can't say that. Because that has all the wrong connotations. Then we should have a paragraph or two which gives a little lift to the G.D. thing.

K: Christ, you know we had it and we argued about it. They want to keep the rhetoric out. They want to make it just a statement of the facts of what was discussed and what the agreement was consensus of. We have some sentences in the beginning and the end but very little.

HAK: But that makes it a catalog of things they are asking of us.

K: What I'll try and do if you agree is try and weed some phrasing in and around, or if you want, we could, we had a paragraph in on about between one and two and....

HAK: Also, I don't know whether that economic coercion paragraph is doing us much good.

K: As a matter of fact, let me tell you we rewrote the second sentence of it after the Ecuadoriansleft because they are the ones that had it in there and they had a sentence in there that they -- the foreign ministers -- the Latin American foreign ministers expressed their concern to you about the consideration being given in the U.S. Congress to. They were going to restrict imports, etc. They also expressed concern over proposals that would tend to restrict acc ess. The whole theme of that, even the title of that article is a problem for us.

HAK: That is right and that is what should be pointed out in it.

K: Yes.

HAK: That's exactly right. XXXXX

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF STATE

K: If we could make it a more balanced thing. The way we've got it now is that all forms of economic coercion from relations among the countries of the Americas. You know, we're subject to economic coercion in a sense at times too. It might be a charter of rights and duties, etc., by the time you get some balance both ways. That is what we were seeking to turn it to that. We don't favor economic coercion measures against us either. On the Panama thing, let me tell you that there was a disagreement privately between me and the Panamanian representatives on one point. The other two paragraphs stated the second paragraph is excellent. The first paragraph he wants to put in he said his Minister is insisting that they put in the first paragraph that the Latin American Foreign Ministers expressed their solidarity with Panama in exasperation as they had done in Bogota. I said, look, we went through that in Mexico. We wouldn't accept it there. The United States can't sign -- the Secretary of State can't sign that and I said we just can't do it, and to issue such a statement here in Washington, I said do you want a treaty or don't you.

AHK: They can do it separately if they want to.

K: On the other hand I do remember your comment at one point yesterday when we were talking about the 30 some Senators.

HAK: But not as part of a communique I signed.

K: Yes. The thing is, would you, if I can work this, would you be willing to have something in there that shows that they are pressuring you hard and they have solidarity with Panama.

HAK: Yes.

K: It is balanced so that it doesn't look like you are giving away the whole ballgame. You know if they are just thrilled with the way things are going on the negotiation with Panama then we must be giving everything away so there ought to be a little criticism of us or a little pressure on us in it, do you think so?

HAK: Yes, that doesn't bother me that they say I took note of their concern for progress.

K: OK.

HAK: That doesn't bother me so much but nowlook, I have the problem that the President wants to see the Egyptian Foreign Minister at 11:30 this morning and I have no way of not being there.

K: How about this. Why don't we have our meeting and then at 11:15 or something you call a recess for the drafting committee to do a redraft of the communique and then.....

HAK: And begin again when, at 2:30

K: Whenever you wish. We've got a buffet lunch available for all the delegates. They can just come and go, serve themselves. You can come or not as you please.

HAK: And then we meet again at 2:30.

K: That would be for the wrap-up. What we could do at 10. Have the discussion of the panorama of U.S. - Latin relations and that's when the Cuba thing is going to come up. Then consider the communique as it stands now, try and get a decision on these couple of items, whether it is going to be working groups or not, then you do a review of the international situation if time permits and call upon the drafting committee to go back and do a redraft and resubmit it to the ministers at 2:30. How about that.

HAK: OK. Good.

D: Hello, Henry.

K: How are you Anatol?

D: Thank you very much. How are you?

K: I am fine.

D: Are you going to listen to the concert given by Frank Sinatra?

K: That's my intention. Do you want to come along?

D: I intend to go.

K: I have tickets, come with me.

D: Really? No. They promised to give me two, for me and ___.

K: Well, I've got plenty of tickets.

D: Well, we'll check tomorrow, OK.

K: OK. You can come with me. I'll have the Mexican Foreign Minister with me and you can subvert him.

D: Well, thank you very much. We'll check tomorrow with you, OK.

K: I'm longing to know whether I'll see your Foreign Minister.

D: Well, I will give you tomorrow. All the answers. OK?

K: You have the answers already?

D: Positive.

K: Good.

D: Well, positive reaction. It's positive for all the way.

K: OK, good. And look we are going to try to work it -- we will proceed constructively. We'll discuss it tomorrow.

D: Yes. I feel a positive reply for you.

K: Good.

D: I simply didn't want to bother...

K: No, so I can proceed with my schedule. K That's all I need to know today.

D: Yes, definitely.

K: And I have a new proposal for you on SALT.

D: Tomorrow, yes.

K: You can put an unlimited number of merves on submarines.

D: You mean on the Mexican submarines.

K: Mexicans, R any submarine, even your own.

D: Your are meeting with the Foreign Minister of Mexico so I thought you even got the privilege to have unlimited KKK on the Mexican submarines.

K: Well, that too, yes. Now you've given me a new idea. I think our joint chief will like that.

D: _____will know in what regards some talks with you two years ago.

SUBJ: ASYLEES IN DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS: SOME MOVEMENT

REF: CARACAS 3541

1. SUMMARY. AFTER MONTHS OF INACTION GOC APPARENTLY MAKING CONCERTED EFFORT TO LOWER NUMBER OF ASYLEES IN SANTIAGO'S DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS. END SUMMARY.

2. PAST FEW WEEKS HAVE SEEN SPEED-UP IN GOC'S GRANTING OF SAFECONDUCTS TO ASYLEES TO LEAVE COUNTRY. MOVEMENT FOLLOWS LONG PERIOD OF GENERAL INACTION. TOTAL NUMBER OF ASYLEES IN SANTIAGO EMBASSIES DID NOT CHANGE NOTABLY DURING FIRST FOUR MONTHS OF 1974. THOUGH GOC GRANTED OVER 4,000 SAFECONDUCTS FOR ASYLEES AND "GUESTS" TO LEAVE CHILE, FAIRLY STEADY POPULATION OF ABOUT 250 INDIVIDUALS IN EMBASSIES HAD BEEN MAINTAINED. GOVT HAS CONTENDED SINCE SHORTLY AFTER COUP THAT ALL THESE IN "DEFERRED" STATUS WOULD [redacted]

[redacted]

EVENTUALLY BE GIVEN SAFECONDUCTS TO LEAVE COUNTRY, BUT ONLY AFTER CHILEAN COURTS AND MINISTRY OF FOREIGN RELATIONS HAD DETERMINED WHETHER SIMULTANEOUS EXTRADITION REQUESTS IN ORDER.

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

3. APRIL 24 ASSERTION BY AIR FORCE CHIEF AND JUNTA MEMBER GENERAL GUSTAVO LEIGH (SANTIAGO 2255) THAT ALL FOREIGN EMBASSIES WOULD BE CLEARED OF ASYLEES WITHIN 30 DAYS APPARENTLY SIGNALLED SHIFT IN GOC HANDLING OF ASYLEE PROBLEM.

UNCLASSIFIED

4. LEIGH'S STATEMENT SOMEWHAT MODIFIED FEW DAYS LATER BY UNDER SECRETARY OF FOREIGN RELATIONS COLLADOS, WHO NOTED THAT GENERAL'S WORDS SHOULD BE TAKEN AS "LETTER OF INTENT" OF GOC'S BASIC PLANS, BUT ACKNOWLEDGED THAT 30-DAY TARGET MIGHT NOT BE REALISTIC. IN SAME PRESS CONFERENCE COLLADOS REFERRED AT LENGTH TO RESOLUTION OF VENEZUELAN SENATE, CALLING ON GOC TO PROVIDE SAFECONDUCTS OUT OF COUNTRY FOR ALL ASYLEES AND CRITICIZING GOC FOR ALLEGED HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS (REFTEL). COLLADOS ATTRIBUTED RESOLUTION TO ERRONEOUS INFORMATION. NEVERTHELESS, HE PROMISED THAT SITUATION OF ASYLEES IN VENEZUELAN EMBASSY WOULD BE DEALT WITH EXPEDITIOUSLY.

5. LATEST GOC STATISTICS INDICATE THAT GOVT CARRYING THROUGH ON PROMISE. NUMBER OF ASYLEES IN VENEZUELAN MISSION HAS FALLEN FROM 24 ON APRIL 1 TO 5 (INCLUDING JACQUES CHONCHOL) AT BEGINNING OF THIS MONTH. TOTAL NUMBER OF ASYLEES IN ALL MISSIONS HAS DECREASED IN THE SAME PERIOD FROM 252 TO 179. OTHER EMBASSIES WHICH HAVE SHOWN SIGNIFICANT DEPOPULATION INCLUDE ARGENTINA (17 TO 6) AND ITALY (33 TO 16). OTHER TOTALS HAVE DECLINED MINIMALLY OR REMAINED THE SAME. LARGEST GROUP NOW RESIDING IN MEXICAN EMBASSY WHICH HAS 62 AS COMPARED WITH 65 AS OF APRIL 1. LOCAL PRESS HAS CARRIED NUMEROUS STORIES POINTING OUT MEXICANS STILL ACCEPTING ASYLEES, THOUGH ALLEGEDLY NONE WHO HAVE BEEN RECENTLY TAKEN IN ARE WANTED BY CHILEAN AUTHORITIES.

6. MAY 7 EL MERCURIO CARRIES SMALL STORY REPORTING THAT COLOMBIAN AMBASSADOR STILL WAITING FOR GOC MINISTRY FONRELATIONS TO RESPOND TO NOTE HE DELIVERED IN EARLY APRIL (SANTIAGO 1996) WHICH REPEATED EARLIER PLEA BY COLOMBIAN FONMINISTER VASQUEZ THAT GOC SPEED UP ISSUANCE OF SAFECONDUCTS FOR ASYLEES WHO HAVE BEEN PLACED IN "DEFERRED" STATUS WHILE BACKGROUNDS CHECKED AND

[redacted]

COURT CASES DEVELOPED TO JUSTIFY SUBSEQUENT EXTRADITION REQUESTS. COLOMBIAN EMBASSY STILL HAS 6 ASYLEES, 3 OF WHOM REMAIN IN DEFERRED STATUS. OTHERS PROBABLY WILL RECEIVE SAFECONDUSTS SHORTLY.

7. IN MAY 6 CONVERSATION WITH EMOFF, FONMINISTRY OFFICIAL IN CHARGE OF ASYLEE MATTERS STATED THAT EMBASSIES WOULD SOON BE CLEARED OUT, BUT HE REFRAINED FROM GIVING SPECIFIC DATE NOTING COMPLICATIONS PRESENTED BY ONGOING COURT CASES AGAINST SOME ASYLEES. OFFICIAL STATED THAT GOC'S INTENTION TO RELEASE

ALL AS SOON AS POSSIBLE IS FIRM "BUT THAT THIS GOOD WILL COULD BE KILLED IF A CERTAIN EMBASSY (READ MEXICO) CONTINUES TO ACCEPT ASYLEES NEEDLESSLY."

8. COMMENT. PROBABLE THAT GOC HAS MADE SAME POINT TO MEXICANS. IN ANY EVENT JUNTA HAS APPARENTLY DECIDED THAT ASYLEES MORE OF A PROBLEM THAN THEY ARE WORTH, AND GOC WILL PROBABLY CONTINUE TO MOVE AHEAD WITH ALL DELIBERATE SPEED TO EMPTY EMBASSIES.

4. MAY 17 PAPERS CARRIED "DENIAL" OF EXCELSIOR STORY SIGNED BY BISHOP ARIZTIA AND FATHER SALAS OF PEACE COMMITTEE. STATEMENT FIRMLY DENIED THAT COMMITTEE HAD GIVEN ANY DOCUMENT ON VIOLATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS TO SCHERER OR HAD GIVEN HIM VERBAL INFORMATION OF TYPE CITED. CHURCHMEN DENIED ANY POLITICAL INTENT OF COMMITTEE AND REFERRED TO ITS MISSION TO BRING SPIRITUAL, SOCIAL AND LEGAL AID TO ALL WHO NEED IT. FRENZ DENIAL THAT HE EVER SAW ANY MEXICAN JOURNALIST CARRIED IN MAY 17 LA SEGUNDA, BUT NO STATEMENT SO FAR BY GRAND RABBI OF CHILE ANGEL KREIMAN, WHO ALSO IDENTIFIED AS COMMITTEE MEMBER.

5. COMMENT. WHILE ARIZTIA AND SALAS DENIED GIVING DATA TO SCHERER OR GRANTING HIM INTERVIEW HE HAD REQUESTED, THEY CAREFULLY DID NOT STATE THAT INFORMATION WAS WRONG. EMBOFF SPOKE MAY 17 WITH SALAS AND ANOTHER WELL-INFORMED CATHOLIC PRIEST, FR. RENATO POBLETE (PROTECT). BOTH INSISTED NEITHER PEACE COMMITTEE NOR INDIVIDUAL LEADERS HAD GIVEN INFORMATION TO SCHERER, BUT BOTH DESCRIBED EXCERPTS OF EXCELSIOR REPORT PUBLISHED SO FAR IN SANTIAGO AS CLEARLY TAKEN FROM GENUINE PRIVATE REPORT WHICH HAS BEEN CIRCULATED AMONG CATHOLIC BISHOPS HERE AND OTHER CLERICS. THEY COULD NOT IDENTIFY SOURCE OF LEAK TO SCHERER. POBLETE SAID THAT FORMER PRES. 3. ARIZTIA AND SALAS CAREFULLY SAID ONLY THAT EXCERPTS SO FAR RECEIVED HERE OF EXCELSIOR STORY HAD SOME RELATION TO PURELY

INTERNAL AND CONFIDENTIAL WORKING PAPERS OF COMMITTEE. BONILLA MADE CLEAR GOC REGARDS LEAK OF SUCH INFORMATION OUTSIDE "RULES OF GAME" AND UNPATRIOTIC. AS GOC HAS SUPPORTED WORK OF PEACE COMMITTEE, IT HAS RIGHT TO EXPECT COMMITTEE WILL BRING COMPLAINTS OF ABUSES DIRECTLY TO BONILLA RATHER THAN USE THEM "POLITICALLY." ARIZTIA DUTIFULLY AGREED THAT SUCH MATTERS WERE CHILE'S BUSINESS ONLY.

4. MERCURIO MAY 18 ALSO CARRIED EXCERPTS FORM SCHERER EXCELSIOR STORY ON PEACE COMMITTEE EFFORTS ACCOUNT FOR 131 PERSONS, ALLEGEDLY SEIZED BY AUTHORITIES AND SINCE MISSING, THROUGH HABEAS CORPUS FILED WITH SUPREME COURT EARLY APRIL (SANTIAGO 1743). SUFFERINGS OF FAMILIES OF MISSING DESCRIBED BY SCHERER, WITH EMPHASIS ON MODEST PERSONS OF LITTLE ECONOMIC MEANS AND NO GREAT POLITICAL CONSEQUENCE.

5. SOME PAPERS WENT ON OFFENSIVE AGAINST EXCELSIOR AND SCHERER, NOTING HISTORY OF SUPPORT FOR ALLENDE AND LINKS WITH ANTI-JUNTA LINE OF GOM. MERCURIO MAY 19 QUOTES "GOVERNMENT SOURCES" AS EQUATING SCHERER'S MORAL STATURE WITH HIS PHYSICAL SIZE, WHICH HE HAS FOR YEARS AUGMENTED WITH ELEVATOR SHOES "TO ALLEVIATE HIS APPEARANCE OF DWARFISM."

1. SUMMARY. REACTION TO MEXICAN PRESS PUBLICATION OF CHILEAN PEACE COMMITTEE DOCUMENT ON TORTURE SIMMERING DOWN, BUT ONE MEMBER RESIGNS AND COMMITTEE LAWYER DENIES BEING SOURCE OF LEAK. PDC LEADER SUPPORTS PEACE COMMITTEE WHILE GOC REMAINS SILENT.

2. EXCELSIOR STORY QUOTED IN MERCURIO MAY 18 IDENTIFIED HECTOR VALENZUELA VALDERRAMA AS SOURCE OF COPY OF HABEAS CORPUS PETITION FOR 131 PERSONS SEIZED BY GOC AND SINCE MISSING (SANTIAGO 1743 NOTAL). VALENZUELA IS FORMER PDC CONGRESSMAN AND FORMER PREISIDENT OF CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES. AS ATTORNEY FOR PEACE COMMITTEE, HE SUBMITTED HABEAS CORPUS TO APPEALS COURT. MAY 23 MERCURIO CARRIED LONG LETTER FROM VALENZUELA ACKNOWLEDGING HE GAVE SCHERER COPY OF PETITION, WHICH IS PUBLIC DOCUMENT, BUT WITHOUT ANY OF DETAILS ON CASES WHICH WAS FILED WITH PETITION. IT IS LATTER WHICH COMPRISES MATERIAL USED BY SCHERER.

VALENZUELA CAREFULLY NOTED HIS RESERVE WITH SCHERER AT TIME, HIS OPPOSITION TO ALLENDE REGIME, AND CONTINUED INTENTION TO JOIN WITH OTHERS (E.G. PEACE COMMITTEE) TO STRUGGLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS, BUT WITHOUT SUPPORTING CALUMNY AGAINST CHILE.

3. ONLY NEWSPAPER LA SEGUNDA STILL TRYING TO MAKE MUCH OF EXCELSIOR STORIES RESULTING FROM VISIT TO CHILE OF PAPER'S DIRECTOR JULIO SCHERER. ON MAY 23 SEGUNDA PUBLISHED LETTER FROM LUIS POZO BURDILES, SECGEN BAPTISH CONVENTION OF CHILE, ANNOUNCING BURDILES' RESIGNATION FROM PEACE COMMITTEE BECAUSE OF DISAGREEMENT WITH "EXECUTIVES" OF COMMITTEE OVER ITS STRUCTURE AND EFFICIENCY. BURDILES NOT RPT NOT IMPORTANT FIGURE IN COMMITTEE OF COMMUNITY, AND SERVED ON COMMITTEE IN PERSONAL STATUS. AS FAR AS WE KNOW, NO RPT NO OTHER MEMBERS OF COMMITTEE HAVE RESIGNED.

4. PDC IDEOLOGUE AND DEFENSE ATTORNEY IN CURRENT AIR FORCE TRIALS, JAIME CASTILLO, DEFENDED PEACE COMMITTEE MAY 21 IN HIS REGULAR NEWS COMMENTARY ON PDC'S RADIO BALMACEDA. CASTILLO QUOTED VARIOUS JUNTA PRONOUNCEMENTS ON RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS, RECALLED THAT CHARGES OF ABUSE HAD BEEN MADE AGAINST ALL GOVTS INCLUDING ADMINISTRATIONS OF FREI AND ALLENDE, AND EVEN SPECIFICALLY AGAINST CHILEAN MILITARY AND POLICE DURING ALLENDE REGIME. PROPER COURSE WAS NOT RPT NOT POLEMICS OF LA SEGUNDA, BUT CAREFUL INVESTIGATION OF SPECIFIC CHARGES AND REFERRAL TO GOC FOR REMEDIAL ACTION, AS PROMISED BY GOC.

5. COMMENT. GOC SEEMS TO BE AVOIDING CONFRONTATION, AT LEAST IN PUBLIC, WITH PEACE COMMITTEE OVER LEAKED DOCUMENTS. AS PEACE COMMITTEE REPRESENTS THE THREE MAJOR FAITHS IN CHILE, IT IS AS UNASSAILABLE AS MOTHERHOOD. JUNTA APPEARS NO MORE WILLING THAN IT HAS BEEN IN PAST FEW MONTHS TO TANGLE DIRECTLY WITH CHURCH (CATHOLIC), OR WITH THE PDC, WHICH HAS SNUGGLED CLOSE TO LATTER'S SKIRTS.

ASYLEES

After some five months of general inaction, in which the number of hard-core asylees remained at slightly over ~~200~~ 260, the GOC began a concerted effort to eliminate or at least sharply reduce the problem after an April 24 statement by Gen. Leigh which promised to clear all the Embassies "within 30 days". The latest official statistics issued in mid-May showed a total of approximately 4,000 safe-conducts issued and 169 remaining asylees; since that time perhaps another 15 to 20 safeconducts have been issued, but additional asylees have been accepted by the Venezuelan (15) and Mexican (4) Embassies. All present asylees are Chilean.

The GOC failure to issue safeconducts to all asylees within a relatively short time (30 days is the rule of thumb) has led to strained relations with Colombia and to a lesser extent with Mexico and Venezuela. These governments reject the Chilean argument that issuance of safeconducts may be deferred until judicial processes leading to an extradition request are completed. GOC spokesmen including Foreign Minister Huerta, however, continue to state, apparently sincerely, that all asylees will be issued safeconducts in the near future.

* La Segunda May 31 reported 35 more safeconducts have been issued and total number of remaining asylees is now 112.

1. SUMMARY. SANTIAGO ARCHDIOCESE ISSUED STATEMENT DEPLORING RECENT SHARP PUBLIC CRITICISM OF CARDINAL SILVA HENRIQUEZ AND BISHOP FERNANDO ARIZTIA, CATHOLIC REPRESENTATIVE ON INTER-DENOMINATIONAL COMMITTEE OF PEACE WHICH HAS BEEN ACTIVE IN HUMAN RIGHTS FIELD HERE. MEANWHILE, EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN REPRESENTATIVE ANNOUNCED WITHDRAWAL FROM COMMITTEE. END SUMMARY.

2. SANTIAGO ARCHDIOCESE STATEMENT, DATED MAY 28 AND PRINTED IN SANTIAGO PRESS MAY 29, WAS SIGNED BY AUXILIARY BISHOPS ALVEAR (IN CHARGE IN SILVA'S ABSENCE), VALECH, AND HOURTON PLUS ALL SIX ARCHDIOCESAN REGIONAL ADMINISTRATORS. STATEMENT NOTED CHURCH'S RELUCTANCE TO REPLY TO CRITICISM, BUT CLAIMED "BITTER AND IMPLACABLE CRITICISM" FORCED HIERARCHY TO RESPOND. WHILE RIGHT TO DISSENT IN NON-DOCTRINAL MATTERS IS RECOGNIZED, "ABUSIVE AND INSOLENT LANGUAGE AND LACK OF RESPECT FOR THE TRUTH IS UNACCEPTABLE." STATEMENT DECRIED "THOSE WHO HAVE EASY ACCESS TO THE MEDIA AND WHO CLAIM TO REPRESENT THE OPINION OF THE CHURCH" WHEN "VAST MAJORITY OF ACTIVE CATHOLICS CONTINUES

3. STATEMENT STRONGLY DEFENDED CARDINAL SILVA (RETURNING TO

CHILE MAY 30, AND BISHOP FERNANDO ARIZTIA, CATHOLIC REPRESENTATIVE ON INTERDENOMINATIONAL COMMITTEE OF PEACE, NOTING THAT SLANDEROUS ATTACKS ON THEM DID LITTLE TO FURTHER NATIONAL RECONCILIATION. STATEMENT CONCLUDED WITH PLEA TO HALT "CAMPAIGN OF HATE" AND TO JOIN TOGETHER FOR GOOD OF CHILE.

4. UNDER FRONT-PAGE HEADLINE "MASSIVE RESIGNATION FROM PEACE COMMITTEE", MAY 29, LA SEGUNDA CARRIED TEXT OF LETTER FROM EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH INSTRUCTING ITS MEMBERS TO CEASE PARTICIPATION IN COMMITTEE ACTIVITIES. LA SEGUNDA NOTED THAT BAPTIST REPRESENTATIVES PREVIOUSLY WITHDREW (SANTIAGO 2956).

5. WELL-PLACED CHURCH OFFICIAL TOLD EMBOFF THAT ARCHDIOCESE STATEMENT IS INTENDED AS A DIRECT RESPONSE TO SEVERAL VICIOUS ANTI-SILVA LETTERS PRINTED IN AFTERNOON DAILY "LA SEGUNDA" AS WELL AS SEGUNDA'S OWN ATTACKS ON ARIZTIA FOR HIS ALLEGED ROLE IN MEXICO CITY EXCELSIOR'S PUBLICATION OF A DOCUMENT FROM HIS COMMITTEE WHICH COMPILED TORTURE ALLEGATIONS (SANTIAGO 2712). GREMIALISTA-CONTROLLED (I.E. CONSERVATIVE) CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY STUDENTS FEDERATION (FEUC) HAS ALSO ISSUED PUBLIC LETTER WHICH WAS SHARPLY CRITICAL OF BISHOPS' STATEMENT ON HUMAN RIGHTS (SANTIAGO 2212). MOREOVER, GROUP OF ELDERLY SANTIAGO PRELATES ADDRESSED LETTER OF FULSOME PRAISE TO JUNTA, PUBLISHED IN MAY 30 SANTIAGO PRESS.

6. COMMENT: EVIDENTLY, WAVES CREATED BY CARDINAL SILVA'S REMARKS AND BISHOPS' STATEMENT ON HUMAN RIGHTS CONTINUE TO RIPPLE THROUGH CHILEAN SOCIETY. GOVERNMENT NO DOUBT APPROVES, AND MAY HAVE STIMULATED, EVIDENCE THAT CHURCH HIERARCY SPLIT ON HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUE, WHILE CARDINAL'S SUPPORTERS STRESS PREPONDERANT CHURCH APPROVAL OF HIS POSITION. SIMILARLY, IN REACTING TO LEAK OF COMMITTEE OF PEACE DOCUMENTS ON TORTURE TO MEXICAN PRESS, SOME SOURCES WITHIN GOVERNMENT MAY BE HIGHLIGHTING DEFECTION OF PROTESTANT MEMBERS OF COMMITTEE, WHICH THEY CERTAINLY REGARD WITH SUSPICION. THUS, RELIGIOUS ELEMENTS CONTINUE TO PLAY PROMINENT PART IN THE ONGOING CONTROVERSY OVER HUMAN RIGHTS WHICH IS TAKING PLACE, MORE OR LESS COVERTLY, WITHIN CHILE.

1. SUMMARY. RABASA LEAVES FOR MEXICO WITH 71 ASYLEES AND CONDITIONAL PLEDGE THAT EX-FONMIN ALMEYDA MAY FOLLOW. MAY BE SIGNIFICANT BREAK IN CHILEAN POLICY. END SUMMARY.

2. AS REPORTED IN PRESS, MEXICAN FONMIN EMILIO RABASA OBTAINED LARGE MEASURE OF SUCCESS IN HIS SUDDEN VISIT TO CHILE. LEFT SANTIAGO JUNE 2 IN SPECIAL MEXICAN PLANE WHICH ALSO CARRIED 71 ASYLEES PREVIOUSLY LODGED IN MEXICAN EMBASSY, RELEASED BY GOC.

3. ON CONCLUSION HIS DISCUSSIONS JUNE 1 RABASA HELD PRESS CONFERENCE IN WHICH HE SAID:

AND TO AVOID "AREAS OF FRICTION" BETWEEN MEXICO AND CHILE. PINOCHET SO ORDERED.

B. HE ALSO REQUESTED PERMISSION FOR DETAINED EX-U.P. FONMIN CLODOMIRO ALMEYDA TO LEAVE COUNTRY TO LIVE IN MEXICO. PINOCHET REPLIED HE COULD NOT COMPLY SINCE ALMEYDA WAS TO BE TRIED, BUT AGREED TO RABASA'S REQUEST THAT ALMEYDA MIGHT GO IF ACQUITTED. RABSA REMARKED HE WAS SURE ALMEYDA WOULD RECEIVE A FAIR AND OBJECTIVE TRIAL.

C. HE HAD TALKED FOR AN HOUR WITH ALMEYDA, FOUND HIM IN EXCELLENT PHYSICAL AND MENTAL CONDITION, AND EXPRESSED HOPE HE WOULD BE ACQUITTED.

D. MEXICO WOULD CONTINUE TO GRANT ASYLUM TO CHILEANS IF THOSE WHO SOUGHT IT WERE QUALIFIED UNDER INTERNATIONAL CONVENTIONS.

4. PRESS ALSO REPORTED THE TWO COUNTRIES WILL SOON EXCHANGE AMBASSADOR; MEXICO WILL RESUME THE ISSUANCE OF VISAS TO CHILEANS; A CHILEAN TECHNICAL COMMISSION WILL VISIT MEXICO TO ARRANGE FOR SHIPMENT TO CHILE OF SULPHUR, SUPERPHOSPHATES AND UREA.

5. COINCIDENTALLY, CHILEAN PRESS CARRIED REPORT OF INTERVIEW WITH ONE OF EX-PRESIDENT ALLENDE'S PHYSICIANS (ARTURO JIRON) IN EL HERALDO OF MEXICO CITY, IN WHICH LATTER CATEGORICALLY ASSERTS, WITH EVIDENCE, THAT ALLENDE DIED BY SUICIDE.

6. COMMENT: RABSA'S BOLD DIPLOMACY APPEARS TO HAVE TIPPED BALANCE TOWARD VIEWS OF MODERATES IN GOVT AND FONOFF PROFESSIONALS WHO HAVE BEEN URGING THAT ASYLUM PROBLEM BE LIQUIDATED BY PERMITTING QUICK DEPARTURE OF ALL ASYLEES. MODERATES ALSO STAND TO GAIN FROM PROJECTION INTO PUBLIC DISCUSSIONS OF POSSIBILITY OF EXPELLING FROM COUNTRY EX-ALLENDE GOVT HIERARCHS [redacted]

[redacted]

SOON TO BE BROUGHT TO TRIAL. JUNTA OBVIOUSLY WEIGHED PROS AND CONS OF ACCEDING TO RABSA'S PROPOSALS AND DECIDED IT SHOULD ACT TO MEND ITS POLITICAL FENCES IN LATIN AMERICA. IF BOTH MEXICO AND CHILE CARRY THROUGH IN DIRECTIONS NOW INDICATED, SOME PROGRESS COULD BE MADE IN MODERATING HUMAN RIGHTS CRITICISMS WHICH STING CHILEANS AND WHICH THREATEN TO ISOLATE CHILE IN INTERNATIONAL CIRCLES.

Subject : Preparations for Washington Trip: Allegations in Chicago Group Report

Pursuant to your memorandum of May 29, the first thing to be said about the miscellaneous clippings you sent to me from an item in the recent issue of the New York Review of Books is that the impressions are so very dated and so largely based ultimately on hearsay. The Chicago Group was here in February, and from context it is evident that much of the information published dates back to the very earliest period immediately following the military takeover. A close look at the individual examples cited throughout, concerning which it would be impossible for us to comment in detail, shows they are the kind of rumors and reports so prevalent during those first weeks. For example, the story about the military search of a house in Las Barrancas (check marked in red) is an old saw heard in many variations; indeed, one of the variations turned up in a newspaper cartoon. Regarding the principal findings of the "Commission" sent to me for comment, I believe the following can be said:

1. There is no campaign of torture, let alone one that has systematic and organized character. As former Ambassador Dungan observed after his more recent visit here, the vast majority of Chileans go about their daily living in their customary manner and are not bothered in any way.

2. Politically motivated detentions indeed have been numerous, but the figure cited of 18,000 as of January 20 appears high; in any case, the situation is certainly improved now, when official figures give us a total of perhaps about 6,000. We have no information to confirm or deny the estimated total of 80,000 detained in the "past" six months, to say nothing of not knowing precisely what is meant by the "past" six months. We are not familiar with the list said to be available to the "Commission" of persons detained and missing, but the inter-denominational Committee of Coordination for Peace which has the cooperation of the GOC, works systematically on cases of persons detained and missing.

3. The allegation that no legal procedures are followed on a systematic basis is of course ambiguous because of the use of the adjective "systematic." In point of fact, although there are some problems as well as some differences of opinion among Chilean lawyers, most seem satisfied that appropriate legal procedures are in general being followed. The remarks of former Ambassador Covey Oliver are pertinent in this context. It is true that under Chilean procedures appropriate for the State of War, detentions can be long while investigations are completed to determine whether or not charges can be filed. It is also true that defense lawyers have access to their clients only after charges have been formulated in most cases, but this also is in accordance with local practice. In point of fact, current practice has been to give the defense at least 30 to 45 days to prepare after charges are filed. Although there is some evidence of secret military tribunals in the early months after the takeover, in the sense that the proceedings were closed to the public, recent trials have been open. We know of no case of additional sentences being imposed after military tribunals have announced their sentences.

4. The use of torture almost certainly continues in some cases, despite the fact that this technique is not condoned by the Governing Junta. Police interrogation in Chile at least since the period of the Christian Democrats has often included persuasion not acceptable to U.S. or other human rights standards. We do have reports that in some cases in which the use of torture has been proved the persons responsible have been punished. Not all persons arrested are tortured, and it seems reasonable to suppose that torture may well be the exception rather than the rule, but the incidence of abuse of internationally accepted standards of human rights is sufficiently high to cause serious concern.

5. Although there is some evidence of firings for political reasons, we have no information to suggest that the totals are anywhere nearly as high as the 160,000 figure which appears in this report. As we have said elsewhere, there have been political purges in government agencies such as the Foreign Ministry, but the principal aim particularly in the private sector appears to have been to reduce the uneconomic hiring of additional personnel of the Allende years. Nevertheless, we can suspect that some grudges have been settled in this manner, and that given the choice between a Marxist and a non-Marxist competing for the same job the latter is more likely to be kept on.

10. There has been no campaign against foreign residents in Chile. The GOC deserves high marks for its cooperation with the UNHCR, ICEM and other organizations on the handling of refugees. More than 4,000 asylees in embassies have been given safeconducts and as of the moment less than 100 remain in foreign embassies. Such embassies as the Mexican and Venezuelan have accepted new asylees as recently as in the past few weeks, thus undercutting the implication in the text that embassies are being prevented from giving asylum.

We have no information to confirm or deny that prisoners and potential prisoners information is computerized. Neither do we have any information about arrests for spending time in Cuba.

So far as we know, the military continue to observe the restrictions announced by General Bonilla in November on home searches.

Persons arrested are commonly presumed guilty by police forces -- in the U.S., in Chile and elsewhere. The investigation following detention is used in Chile as the basis for either indicting the prisoner or freeing him. Under civil law procedures, no indictment is virtually certain, and the presumption always is that the person charged is guilty unless he proves otherwise in all civil law countries such as France and Chile.

There have been no recent reports of executions under the "Ley de Fuga."

Decree Law 81 of November 6, 1973 has been used to draw up a published "most wanted" list. This is a legal formality to put the persons indicated publicly on notice that they are wanted and should report to the authorities, and voluntary reporting by a person whose name is published, under the terms of the Decree Law is deemed to be an attenuating circumstance. It is curious that the deaths of the three persons named in the text as having had their names so published all took place well before the appearance of the Decree Law, as is evident from the text itself.

SUBJECT: PINOCHET VIEWS

1. SUMMARY: JUNTA PRESIDENT PINOCHET IN OPTIMSITC MOOD RE CHILEAN ECONOMY; HOPES FOR INCREASED U.S. MILITARY ASSISTANCE INCLUDING MORE FMS CREDIT; DEFENDS GOC HUMAN RIGHTS RECORD, EXPRESSING DETERMINATION TO PUNISH THOSE GUILTY OF ABUSES SUCH AS TORTURE; AND STATES FORMULA APPLIED TO EX-FONMIN CLODOMIRO ALMEYDA AS RESULT OF RABASANVISIT, LOOKING TOWARD DEPARTURE FROM COUNTRY IF ACQUITTED IN TRIAL, EQUALLY APPLICABLE TO ORLANDO LETELIER AND OTHER DEFENDANTS. END SUMMARY

2. I MADE SEPARATE CALLS ON THE FOUR MEMBERS OF THE GOVERNMENT JUNTA PRIOR TO DEPARTURE FOR WASHINGTON CONSULTATION. HIGHLIGHTS OF MEETING WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET JUNE 3 FOLLOW:

3. THE ECONOMY. PINOCHET EXUDED SATISFACTION AND OPTIMISM ABOUT PRODUCTION RECOVERY IN MINES, AGRICULTURE, AND INDUSTRY. WITH REGARD TO MINING, HE NOTED THAT PRODUCTION IN STATE COPPER MINES UP ONE-THIRD LAST MONTH OVER SAME MONTH YEAR AGO. EXPECTATION IS FOR PRODUCTION OF 740 THOUSAND TONS OF COPPER [redacted]

[redacted]

FROM "GRAN MINERIA" IN 1974, WHICH SHOULD GIVE TOTAL CHILEAN PRODUCTION OF OVER ONE MILLION TONS. HE ACKNOWLEDGED INFLATION CONTINUES AND IS DIFFICULT TO CONTROL. ON OTHER HAND, NOTED THAT

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

IN FIRST YEAR AFTER MILITARY TAKEOVER, BRAZIL HAD EXPERIENCED 600 PC INFLATION. GIVEN THE INHERITED DISASTER, HE THOUGHT PROGRAM TO CONTROL INFLATION WAS MAKING PROGRESS AND STILL MORE COULD BE DONE.

UNCLASSIFIED

4. PINOCHET SAID NEW FOREIGN INVESTMENT IS NEEDED TO CREATE EMPLOYMENT, ALTHOUGH HE RECOGNIZED THAT SUCH INVESTMENT CAN ADD FUEL TO INFLATION. HE NOTED THAT IMPORTANT JAPANESE AND SPANISH INVESTMENTS ARE UNDER CONSIDERATION BUT THAT U.S. INVESTORS ARE HOLDING OFF, APPARENTLY AWAITING PROMULGATION OF NEW IVVESTMENT CODE. HE PROMISED CODE WOULD BE APPROVED SOON. IN RESPONSE MY REFERENCE TO COPPER NEGOTIATIONS, HE SIMPLY CONFIRMED THEY ARE CONTINUING.

5. U.S. ASSISTANCE. I MENTIONED THAT WE HOPED TO BE HELPFUL WITH PROGRAMS IN AGRICULTURE AND NUTRITION AND HOPED BE ABLE MAKE SOME FOODSTUFFS AVAILABLE IN RESPONSE GOC REQUEST. PINOCHET SAID THAT WOULD BE VERY MUCH APPRECIATED. I MENTIONED THAT WE HAVE BEEN ABLE TO BE HELPFUL IN SOME AREAS IN MILITARY ASSISTANCE, AND HOPE THIS CAN CONTINUE. PINOCHET ACKNOWLEDGED THIS BUT OBSERVED WITH A SMILE THAT NOT A SINGLE CARTRIDGE HAD YET BEEN RECEIVED FROM THE USG. HE SPECIFICALLY REQUESTED THAT AN EFFORT BE MADE TO SEE WHETHER OUR FY 1974 FMS CREDIT FOR CHILE COULD BE INCREASED. I RESPONDED THAT HE WOULD UNDERSTAND THE DIFFICULTY OF THIS GIVEN EXISTING FUNDING LIMITATIONS. PINOCHET SAID HE UNDERSTOOD BUT HOPED SOMETHING MIGHT BE POSSIBLE SINCE A NUMBER OF HEMISPHERE COUNTRIES DO NOT REQUIRE FMS CREDITS AND ADDITIONAL CREDITS WOULD BE VERY HELPFUL TO CHILE.

6. HUMAN RIGHTS. I NOTED THAT HUMAN RIGHTS QUESTIONS CONTINUE TO BE A PROBLEM. PINOCHET INTERRUPTED TO SAY THAT GOC IS A CHRISTIAN GOVERNMENT WHICH, UNLIKE COMMUNIST REGIMES, HAS AUTHENTIC RESPECT FOR THE HUMAN PERSON. HE INSISTED HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES WERE CONFINED TO THE FIRST MONTHS FOLLOWING THE COUP AND COULD BE ATTRIBUTED TO THE NATURAL HUMAN PASSIONS OF THOSE WHO HAD BEEN THE INTENDED VICTIMS OF THE PREVIOUS REGIME. IN THIS REGARD HE ASKED RHETORICALLY HOW MANY OF THOSE NOW CONCERNED ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE WOULD HAVE SHOWN THE SAME CONCERN

IF HE AND HIS MILITARY COLLEAGUES HAD BEEN THE VICTIMS, ACCORDING TO PLAN, OF THE MARXIST AUTHORITIES. HE ASSURED ME THAT ABUSES WHICH MAY HAVE TAKEN PLACE IN THE FIRST MONTHS HAVE NOW ENDED. HE RECOGNIZED THAT ISOLATED INCIDENTS OF ABUSES MIGHT STILL OCCUR BECAUSE PEOPLE "ARE NOT PERFECT" BUT EXPRESSED FULL DETERMINATION TO BRING TO BOOK ANY ONE FOUND RESPONSIBLE.

7. PINOCHET NOTED THAT PERSONS NOW UNDER DETENTION IN CHILE, WHO ARE THE PRIMARY SOURCES OF ALLEGATIONS ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, ARE THEMSELVES "NO ANGELS" AND HAVE THEIR OWN

UNCLASSIFIED

REASONS FOR MAKING ALLEGATIONS.

8. PINOCHET EXPRESSED SOME ANNOYANCE WITH ALLEGATIONS THAT GOC IS A RIGHTIST GOVERNMENT. HE SAID IT IS NOT. HE ASSERTED THAT NO RIGHTIST GOVERNMENT WOULD SHOW THE CONCERN FOR THE STANDARD OF LIVING OF THE POOR, THE PLIGHT OF THE SLUM DWELLERS, THE PROBLEM OF UNEMPLOYMENT, WHICH THIS GOVERNMENT HAS SHOWN, NOR WOULD IT CONTINUE THE DISTRIBUTION OF LAND TITLES UNDER THE AGRARIAN REFORM PROGRAM AS THIS GOVERNMENT HAS DONE.

UNCLASSIFIED

9. LETTER FROM SENATOR KENNEDY. PINOCHET SAID HE WAS IN RECEIPT OF A VERY TOUGH LETTER FROM SENATOR KENNEDY ON HUMAN RIGHTS MATTERS AND INTENDED TO RESPOND IN KIND.

10. VISIT OF MEXICAN FOREIGN MINISTER RABASA. I EXPRESSED VIEW THAT RABASA VISIT HAD BEEN BENEFICIAL TO CHILE AS WELL AS MEXICO. PINOCHET SAID HE THOUGHT SO. HE NOTED RABASA HAD COME WITH A SERIES OF REQUESTS RATHER THAN DEMANDS. SINCE, PRIOR TO RABASA'S ARRIVAL, PINOCHET HAD ALREADY AUTHORIZED HIS PEOPLE TO GIVE ASSURANCES THAT ALL ASYLEES IN FOREIGN EMBASSIES WOULD BE OUT WITHIN 20 DAYS, HE SAW NO REASON NOT TO AGREE TO ALLOW THOSE IN MEXICAN EMBASSY TO DEPART IMMEDIATELY. IN RETURN GOC NOW HAS ASSURANCES THAT MEXICO WILL MAKE DELIVERIES OF FERTILIZER, SULFER, SUGAR, ETC., AND WILL TAKE STEPS TO CUT DOWN THE TALK AGAINST CHILE.

11. LETELIER CASE. I SAID I THOUGHT THE ARRANGEMENT WORKED OUT WITH RABASA TO EFFECT THAT IF ALMEYDA FOUND INNOCENT HE WOULD BE FREE TO GO TO MEXICO WAS A VERY GOOD FORMULA. I MENTIONED SIGNIFICANT INTEREST IN U.S. IN SITUATION OF ORLANDO LETELIER BASED ON FACT THAT MANY PEOPLE KNOW HIM FROM HIS TOUR [redacted]

AS AMBASSADOR IN WASHINGTON AND FACT THAT HE HAS A SON WHO IS A U.S. CITIZEN. I SAID I ASSUMED THE ALMEYDA FORMULA WOULD ALSO BE APPLICABLE TO LETELIER. PINOCHET SAID IT WAS COMPLETELY APPLICABLE. IF LETELIER IS ACQUITTED, HE IS FREE TO GO WHERE HE WISHES, AS ARE THE OTHER DEFENDANTS.

12. PINOCHET CONCLUDED BY COMMENTING THAT MEMBERS OF GOC ARE NOT INHUMANE. PEOPLE LIKE ALMEYDA AND LETELIER HOLD ONE SET OF BELIEFS AND IDEAS, WHILE JUNTA MEMBERS HOLD ANOTHER. PINOCHET SAID HE HAPPENED TO THINK THE DEFENDANTS' IDEAS WERE WRONG. BUT IN ABSOLUTE TERMS, WHO IS TO SAY? IN ANY CASE, THEIR IDEAS AND BELIEFS ARE NOT AT ISSUE. THOSE ACQUITTED WILL BE FREE TO DEPART CHILE.

13. TO SUM UP FOREGOING COMMENTS, ELICITED BY MY QUESTIONS, I TOLD PINOCHET I WOULD TAKE BACK TO U.S. FROM HIM A MESSAGE OF OPTIMISM REGARDING GOVERNMENT'S ECONOMIC AND OTHER

PROSPECTS, AND OF HIS INTENTION THAT CHILE WOULD ADHERE TO HUMAN RIGHTS STANDARDS AND PURSUE ENLIGHTENED SOCIAL OBJECTIVES. HE NODDED AFFIRMATIVELY.

14. WE DO NOT KNOW WHETHER THE RABASA FORMULA REGARDING CLODOMIRO ALMEYDA INVOLVES ANY EXPRESSED OR IMPLIED COMMITMENT TO ACQUIT ALMEYDA OR TO SUSPEND HIS SENTENCE IF HE IS CONVICTED. HOWEVER, I THINK IT USEFUL TO HAVE SUGGESTED THAT IF ANY TYPE OF CLEMENCY IS TO BE APPLIED TO ALMEYDA, WE HAVE AN INTEREST IN EQUAL TREATMENT FOR LETELIER.POPPER

R: Hello Henry, Good Morning.

K: Emilo, I am sorry I am sorry I couldn't call you back.

R: I know you are all tied up.
Henry, ~~x~~ can I visit you Saturday?

K: I still haven't had a chance to clear my calendar. Let me call you before the end of the day. How much time would we need?

R: Half an hour. My idea is this Henry, I would take two people from Mexico who would speak with the people you are sending here. A man I think is called Maw that is Legal Advisor and then Trevos(?sp phonetic)

K: I will find half an half you can count on Saturday. I will let you know what time.

R: When I can go?

K: Yea. But it probably be more than half an hour.

R: I hope so

K: I am really unbelieveably busy right now.

R: I understand Henry. Then I think these two people will make contact with your people Friday.

K: Good.

R: After they have spoken then you can let me know what hour on Saturday we can meet.

K: Right.

R: I am leaving tomorrow.

K: Good.

R: Thanks a million. I am very sorry to be insistent at this point. Monday the whole thing starts and I have to clear things with you completely.

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR ORGANISATION,
1. EXPRESSING ITS DEEP CONCERN AT THE GRAVITY OF THE SITUATION IN CHILE AS REGARDS THE ARREST, EXECUTION, DEPORTATION OF TRADE UNIONISTS, VIOLATION OF HUMAN AND DEMOCRATIC RIGHTS, DISSOLUTIONS OF TRADE UNION ORGANISATIONS AND RESTRICTIONS OF THE RIGHT TO ORGANISE AND COLLECTIVE BARGAINING.

2. REFERRING TO THE REPORTS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE COMMITTEE ON FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION, SUBMITTED TO AND ADOPTED BY THE GOVERNING BODY AT ITS 191ST (NOVEMBER 1973) AND 192ND (FEBRUARY-MARCH 1974) SESSIONS,

3. NOTING THAT THE MILITARY JUNTA HAS INCREASED TH WORKING WEEK BY FOUR HOURS (DECREE NO. 35) AND HAS AT THE SAME TIME FROZEN WAGES, WHICH IS CONTRARY TO ALL NATIONAL AND OCCUPATIONAL AGREEMENTS IN CHILE AND A FLAGRANT VIOLATION OF THE PRINCILES AND STANDARDS LAID DOWN IN THE CONSTITUTION OF THE ILO AND IN THE HOURS OF WORK (INDUSTRY) CONVENTION, 1919 (NO. 1), WHICH HAS BEEN RATIFIED BY CHILE,

4. NOTING THAT THE CHILEAN AUTHORITIES HAVE SECURED THE DISMISSAL (BY LEGISLATIVE DECREE NO. 32) OF TENS OF THOUSANDS OF WORKERS IN INDUSTRY, AGRICULTURE, SERVICES, THE PUBLIC SERVICE AND THE UNIVERSITIES, AND HAS PROHIBITED ANY EMPLOYMENT OF THOSE PERSONS IN VIOLATION OF THE MOST ELEMENTARY PRINCIPLES OF NON-DISCRIMINATION BASED ON POLITICAL OR TRADE UNION VIEWS, AND, MORE PARTICULARLY, OF THE PROVISIONS OF THE UNCLASSIFIED

DISCRIMINATION (EMPLOYMENT AND OCCUPATION), CONVENTION, 1958 (NO. 111), WHICH AS BEEN RATIFIED BY CHILE,

5. STRESSING THE FACT THAT THE MILITARY JUNTA HAS SUSPENDED THE OPERATION OF THE CONCILIATION COMMITTEES AND THE LABOUR ARBITRATION COURTS (ORDER NO. 36), THUS ESTABLISHING STRICT CONTROL BY THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES OVER THE LABOUR COUNRTS,
6. NOTING THAT THE GOVERNING BODY DECIDED TO REQUEST THE CHILEAN AUTHORITIES TO GIVE THEIR

CONSENT TO THE VISIT OF THE FACT-FINDING AND CONCILIATION COMMISSION ON FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION,

7. NOTING THAT THE CHILEAN AUTHORITIES HAVE NOW RESPONDED FAVOURABLY TO THE REQUEST OF THE GOVERNING BODY; OPERATIVE
1. URGES THE CHILEAN AUTHORITIES-
A) TO CEASE VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN AND TRADE UNION RIGHTS AND TO LIFT ALL RESTRICTIONS ON THE EXERCISE OF TRADE UNION ACITIVITIES;
B) TO CLOSE DOWN THE CONCENTRATION CAMPS IN WHICH WORKERS, MILITANT WORKERS AND TRADE UNION LEADERS ARE INTERNED FOR POLITICAL REASONS;
C) TO GUARANTEE, WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF A GENERAL AMNESTY, THE LIFE AND FREEDOM OF THE WORKERS, MILITANT WORKERS AND TRADE UNION LEADERS AND MEMBERS OF ANY POLITICAL PARTIES WHO HAVE BEEN ARRESTED, DEPORTED OR IMPRISONED;
D) TO REPEAT THE RESPRESSIVE ACTS, LEGISLATIVE DECREES AND ORDERS ISSUED SINCE 11 SEPTEMBER 1973, SO THAT THE CHILEAN WORKERS CAN FULLY ENJOY DEMOCRATIC LIBERTIES AND TRADE UNION RIGHTS;
E) TO REPEAT THE DISSOLUTION OF THE CENTRAL ORGANISATION OF WORKERS (CUT) AND GUARANTEE ITS FREEDOM OF ACTION;
F) TO ABOLISH THE SPECIAL TRIBUNALS AND WITHDRAW TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES FROM THE JURISDICTION OF THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES;
G) TO PUT AN END TO THE TORTURING OF TRADE UNION MILITANTS AND LEADERS AND PUNICH THOSE WHO WERE UNCLASSIFIED

RESPONSIBLE FOR SUCH INHUMAN ACTIVITIES;
H) TO GRANT SAFE CONDUCTS TO ALL TRADE UNION LEADERS AND MEMBERS OF ALL PARTIES AND ORGANIZATIONSS WHO HAVE TAKEN REFUGE IN EMBASSIES;
2. INVITES THE GOVERNING BODY OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR OFFICE TO INSTRUCT THE DIRECTOR-GENERAL-
A) TO TAKE WITH TH UTMOST URGENCY THE STEPS NECESSARY TO SEND THE FACT-FINDING AND CONCILIATION COMMISSION TO CHILE;
B) TO SET UP, IN ACCORDANCE WITH ARTICLE 26, PARAGRAPHS 3 AND 4, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR ORGANIZATION, A COMMITTEE OF INQUIRY TO STUDY THE FAILURE OF CHILE TO APPLY THE HOURS OF WORK (INDUSTRY) CONVENTION, 1919 (NO. 1), AND THE DISCRIMINATION (EMPLOYMENT AND OCCUPATION) CONVENTION,1958 (NO. 111), BOTH OF WHICH CHILE HAS RATIFIED, AND TO SUBMIT A REPORT ON THE SUBJECT TO THE 195TH SESSION OF THE GOVERNING BODY;

C) TO FOLLOW CONTINUOUSLY THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE TRADE UNION SITUATION IN CHILE."
2. RESOLUTION ENJOYED SUFFICIENT SUPPORT IN ALL GROUPS TO BE ELECTED AS NUMBER TWO AMONG FIRST FIVE RESOLUTIONS SELECTED FOR PRIORITY CONSIDERATION. SUPPORT FOR RESOLUTION PARTICULARY STRONG IN WORKER AND GOVERNMENT GROUPS. LATIN AMERICAN WORKERS SEEM TO HAVE ADOPTED A "HANDS OFF" ATTIDUDE TOWARD ISSUE. MOST WEO'S PLACED CHILE AS NUMBER TWO ON THEIR LIST OF FIVE PRIORITY RESOLUTIONS.

3. CHILEANS ARE NATURALLY OPPOSED TO RESOLUTION, BUT ACCEPT INEVITABLY THAT CHILE IS HOT ISSUE IN ILO THIS YEAR. CHILEANS ARE PREPARED TO RESPOND TO CHARGES AND ALLEGATIONS AGAINST THEM WITH RECITATION OF HISTORY OF INACTION BY ILO RE QUESTION OF TRADE UNION FREEDOMS IN COMMUNIST COUNTRIES.

4. GENERAL DISCUSSION OF RESOLUTION WILL BEGIN TODAY AND SHOULD REVEAL MORE CLEARLY ATTITUDES AMONG VARIOUS GROUPS TOWARD RESOLUTION AS IT NOW STANDS AND ANY POSSIBILITIES THAT MAY EXIST FOR MODIFYING AMENDMENTS.

1. PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA ARRIVED IN SAN JOSE ATH W P.M., JULY 10, FOR A "TECHNICAL STOP" BEFORE PROCEEDING ON TO QUITO AT 8 A.M., JULY 11. ECHEVERRIA'S BREIF STOP INCLUDED A MEETING WITH PRESIDENT ODUBER, A PRESS CONFERENCE, AND A BANQUET HOSTED BY THE PRESIDENT OF COSTA RICA.

2. ECHEVERRIA' STOP WAS WIDELY COVERED IN THE PRESS AND INCLUDED CONSIDERABLE BUILD-UP IN THE GOVERNMENT-ORIENTED MEDIA. PRESS REPORTS SAID ODUBER AND ECHEVERRIA, DURING THEIR PRIVATE MEETING, DISCUSSED COFFEE AND BANANA PRICES,
THE NEED FOR INCREASED COMMERCIAL EXCHANGE BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES, AND THE NEED TO STRENGTHEN THE LATIN AMERICAN DMFRONT# FOR BETTER PRICES FOR EXPORTED PRODUCTS.

3. DURING HIS PRESS CONFERENCE, ECHEVERRIA EXPRESSED HIS COUNTRY'S DESIRE FOR BETTER UNDERSTANDING WITH CENTRAL AMERICA AND SOUTH AMERICA. HE STRESSED HIS CONCERN OVER THE UNJUST "COMMERCIAL DISEQUILIBRIUM" THAT EXISTS IN THE WORLD AND THE NEED TO DEFEND THE PRICES OF EXPORTS SUCH AS COFFEE AND BANANAS. LATER HE WAS REPORTED SAYING, "EVEN THOUGH WE ARE NOT BANANA

3. IN SPEECHES AT THE JULY 11 BANQUET, ECHEVERRIA HAMMERED ON THE NEED FOR LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES TO STRENGTHEN THEIR DEVELOPING COMMON FRONT IN DEFENSE OF BETTER RAW MATERIALS PRICES AND HE PRAISED ECUADOR'S NATIONALISTIC PETROLEUM POLICY. HE CALLED ON ECUADOR

TO JOIN A MULTINATIONAL ORGANIZATION TO CONTROL COFFEE SALES, ADDING THAT IT WOULD BE USEFUL FOR ECUADOR TO JOIN OTHER BUDDING EFFORTS TO CONTROL COMMODITY PRICES (AN UNDOUBTED REFERENCE TO UPEB, THE BANANA PRODUCERS' GROUP), EFFORTS WHICH MIGHT ONE DAY CULMINATE IN THE FORMATION OF A LATIN AMERICAN ORGANIZATION TO DEAL WITH ALL COMMODITY PRICES. HE AND PRESIDENT RODRIGUEZ, ASCRIBED MANY LA PROBLEMS TO THE "SELFISH BEHAVIOUR" OF POWEFUL INDUSTRIALIZED COUNTRIES.

4. PRESIDENT RODRIGUEZ ECHOED ECHEVERRIA ON PRICES AND THE NEED FOR LATIN AMERICAN UNITY AND SOLIDARITY. HE SOFTENED HIS RHETORIC WITH A REFERENCE TO TLATELOLCO, STATING THAT THE DECLARATION OF EQUALITY BY THE UNITED STATES OPENED UP UNSUSPECTED POSSIBILITIES FOR LATIN AMERICA AND THE WORLD. HE ASSERTED THAT THE UNITY OF LATIN AMERICA AND OTHER GROUPS OF 3RD WORLD NATIONS, ON A REGIONAL BASIS, WAS INDISPENSABLE TO CONFRONT THE INDUSTRIALIZED GREAT POWERS, NOT FOR BELLICOSE PURPOSES, BUT RATHER TO INFLUENCE THEM TO ENGAGE IN CIVILIZED DIALOGUE IN A CLIMATE CONDUCIVE TO MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING. THUS, RODRIGUEZ CONCLUDED, TLATELOLCO WOULD SOON TAKE ON A "UNIVERSAL DIMENSION", TO THE HONOR OF THE HUMAN RACE.

2. THE PRINCIAPL OBJECTIVE OF HIS TRIP, ACCORDING TO ECHEVERRIA, WAS TO PROMOTE "A COMMON FRONT FOR THE DEFENSE OF THE PRICES OF OUR PRODUCTS" MENTIONING, AS AN EXAMPLE, COFFEE - AND CITING THE MEXICAN PROPOSAL TO CREATE AN ASSOCIATION OF COFFEE-EXPORTING COUNTRIES. HE CITED THE PROPOSED CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES AND SAID IT INVOLVED A "TRUE NATIONALIST ALLIANCE", BASED ON A

"NEW NATIONALISM". HE ALSO INDICATED MEXICO'S GREAT SYMPATHY FOR THE PROGRESS OF THE ANDEAN PACT, SAYING "MEXICO'S RELATIONS WITH THE PACT WILL BECOME CLOSER AND NOT ONLY BILATERALLY ... BUT WITH THE GROUP ITSELF".

3. PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA WAS ALSO QUESTIONED RATHER CLOSELY ABOUT MEXICAN FOREIGN POLICY AND INTERNAL

POLITICAL CONDITIONS. REGARDING THE LATTER, HE DENIED EMPHATICALLY THAT THERE WERE ANY POLITICAL PRISONERS IN MEXICO OR THAT ANYONE IS PERSECUTED FOR THEIR IDEAS. BRISTLING AT ONE QUESTIONER WHO REFERRED TO MEXICO AS AN "APPARENT DEMOCRACY", ECHEVERRIA CALLED MEXICO A "YOUNG, MESTIZO DEMOCRACY ... STRIVING FOR THE BEST IN A CLIMATE OF TOLERANCE". HE DENIED THAT THE OPPOSITION WAS KEPT BY THE GOM DECLARING THAT, ON THE CONTRARY, IT WAS WELL FINANCED BOTH FROM INTERNAL AND FOREIGN SOURCES.

4. HE WOULD NOT BE VISITING CUBA, ECHEVERRIA CONTINUED, BECAUSE THE COUNTRY WAS NOT ON HIS ITINERARY, BUT RELATIONS WITH HAVANA WERE "MAGNIFICENT". THE BEST HE COULD SAY ABOUT RELATIONS WITH CHILE, HOWEVER, IS THAT THEY "WERE NOT AT THE FREEZING POINT". HE SPOKE OF HIS TRIPS TO CHINA AND THE USSR AND CHARACTERIZED THEM AS AN ATTEMPT TO ENLARGE MEXICO'S HORIZONS AFTER A PERIOD OF LATIN AMERICAN ECONOMIC DEPENDENCE ON THE U.S. HE SPOKE OF THE COLORADO RIVER SALINITY PROBLEM AND THE TREATMENT OF MEXICAN MIGRANT LABOR IN THE U.S. BUT INDICATED HE HAD HAD "POSITIVE RESULTS" IN HIS CONVERSATIONS WITH PRESIDENT NIXON.

5. REGARDING LOS, ECHEVERRIA INDICATED "SYMPATHY" FOR THE ECUADOREAN 200-MILE TERRITORIAL SEA THESIS, BUT SAID THAT MEXICO FAVORED THE PATRIMONIAL SEA CONCEPT. UNREPORTED BY ANY OF THE LOCAL MEDIA, BUT CARRIED IN THE PRENSA LATINA FILE, WAS A FURTHER COMMENT PURPORTEDLY MADE BY THE MEXICAN PRESIDENT TO THE EFFECT THAT "THE THESIS OF A 12-MILE TERRITORIAL SEA AND A 188-MILE ECONOMIC ZONE DOES NOT CONTRADICT THE ECUADOREAN STAND; THE TWO THESES SUPPORT EACH OTHER".

HE ALSO EMPHASIZED, ALONG SAME LINES, NEED FOR ACTION TO PROTECT RAW MATERIALS PRICES. DURING MEETING WITH ANDEAN COMMON MARKET, HE PROPOSED THE CREATION OF A MULTINATIONAL ENTERPRICE OF LDC'S TO TRADE IN BASIC PRODUCTS, WHICH WOULD THUS STRENGTHEN BARGAINING POWER OF THE THIRD WORLD.

5. COMMENT: WARM RECEPTION OF ECHEVERRIA BY GOP AND EXTENSIVE FAVORABLE PRESS COVERAGE INDICATE EXTENT OF PERU'S EFFORT TO PORTRAY CORDIAL RELATIONS WITH MEXICO AS COUNTERWEIGHT TO PERU'S RELATIVE IDEOLOGICAL ISOLATION FROM HER CLOSER GEOGRAPHIC NEIGHBORS. SPEECHES AND PRESS COVERAGE MADE ALLUSIONS TO COMMON REVOLUTIONARY ANTECEDENTS OF BOTH GOVERNMENTS, AND EFFORTS WERE MADE TO EMPHASIZE SIMILARITY IN HISTORIES OF PERU AND MEXICO IN REGARD TO THOROUGH AGRARIAN REFORM AND PETROLEUM NATIONALIZATION POLICIES.

Memorandum

TO: ARA - Mr. Kubisch

THROUGH: ARA - Mr. Shlaudeman

FROM: ARA/BC/C - Arnold M. Isaacs

SUBJECT: Your Meeting with Chilean Ambassador, July 18, 1974.

We understand that the purpose of Ambassador Heitmann's call is to express GOC concern over our decision to contribute up to $1.4 million for Chilean refugee resettlement and integration, in response to an appeal circulated by the UNHCR. Ambassador Popper has already been called in on this subject, and the Chilean charge has raised the matter with Mr. Shlaudeman.

Aside from a general apprehension that publicity will further sour their international image the Chileans have several specific preoccupations:

1. They are distressed that our contribution to the UNHCR is earmarked for Chilean refugees.

Response: It is standard practice for the UNHCR to appeal to the international community for additional funds to underwrite specific activities. The United States Government customarily responds to such appeals as a humanitarian matter. Any allocation of funds over and above our annual contributions to international agencies requires a Presidential Determination Order, the terms of which would preclude a contribution to the UNHCR's general fund.

2. They have heard that the Soviets are behind the solicitation, and even that the President and Brezhnev might have reached some understanding about it in Moscow.

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

Response: This is purely a UNHCR initiative. We have no current knowledge of any planned USSR contribution to the special appeal, although the appeal included the USSR. We have never discussed this matter with the Soviets.

3. They understand that the UNHCR plans to administer the program from Mexico. Given the state of GOC-Mexican relations, this would be very offensive to Chile.

Response: The UNHCR does not plan to administer the Chile program from Mexico. It is our understanding that the program will be administered principally from Geneva, Santiago, Buenos Aires and Lima, since the bulk of the Chileans under the UNHCR's mandate are in Argentina and Peru.

You may wish to add that it would seem to be to the GOC's advantage that the Chileans now in Peru move elsewhere, and to recall Congressional interest in humanitarian assistance to refugees from Chile as expressed in our foreign aid legislation and elsewhere.

Attached is a draft telegram transmitting the guidance prepared for Ambassador Popper's use.

FOR SOVEREIGNTY OVER CANAL ZONE. BOTH COUNTRIES NOTED THEIR SUPPORT FOR ECHEVERRIA'S PROPOSED ECONOMIC CHARTER AND HOPED THAT IT WOULD BE ADOPTED BY NEXT UN GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETING.

3. ECONOMIC - BROAD STATEMENT MADE AFFIRMING NEED FOR LA ECONOMIC INTEGRATION AND STATING THAT, TO THIS END, LAFTA

MUST BE RESTRUCTURED. PERU PROMISED TO COOPERATE WITH ANY SOLUTION TO PROBLEM OF REGULATION OF COFFEE PRICES AND BOTH COUNTRIES EXPRESSED SUPPORT FOR CENTRAL AMERICAN COUNTRIES IN THEIR EFFORTS TO FIX BETTER PRICES FOR THEIR RAW MATERIALS. A CULTURAL AGREEMENT WAS SIGNED, AS WAS AGREEMENT CALLING FOR TRANSFER OF TECHNOLOGY AND PROMOTION OF SCIENCE.

MOST IMPORTANT POINT APPEARED TO BE CALL FOR FORMATION OF AN ORGANIZATION FOR ECONOMIC CONSULTATION AND COOPERATION (SEE REFTEL). ITS DUTIES WOULD BE NUMEROUS: TO STUDY STRATEGIES OF DEVELOPMENT; TO ARTICULATE ACTIONS TO DEFEND PRICES OF RAW MATERIALS; TO COORDINATE STRATEGIES OF COMMERCIALIZATION AND USE OF NATURAL RESOURCES; TO STRENGTHEN BUYING POWER OF MEMBER COUNTRIES RE GOODS, CAPITAL, AND TECHNOLOGY; TO GUARANTEE FURNISHING OF SUPPLIES AND FOODS; TO ORIENT AND STIMULATE ACTION OF DIVERSE PROCESSES OF REGIONAL AND SUB-REGIONAL INTEGRATION; TO DEFINE, ORIENT, AND SUPPORT AGREEMENTS ON "INDUSTRIAL CO-INVESTMENT" AND COOPERATION; TO ASSIST SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNOLOGICAL WORK; AND TO DESIGN AND PUT INTO OPERATION FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS THAT WILL STIMULATE BASIC ACTIVITIES FOR ALL LATIN AMERICA.

BOTH GOVERNMENTS CALLED FOR THE FORMATION OF ASSOCIATIONS OF EXPORTERS OF RAW MATERIALS WITH GOAL OF COLLECTIVELY DEFENDING "FAIR PRICES". INCLUDED IN THIS, PRESUMABLY, BUT MENTIONED SEPARATELY, WAS A CALL FOR INITIAL CLOSE COOPERATION AMONG SILVER PRODUCING NATIONS WITH EVENTUAL FORMATION OF CARTEL TO CONTROL PRICES (SEE REFTEL).

1. Summary - USG contribution to UNHCR Chilean Refugee program cannot be made to general fund of UNHCR. UNHCR does not plan to administer Chilean Refugee Program from Mexico City. Total maximum USG contribution to UNHCR appeal is $1.4 million to cover through CY 1975.

2. As stated in reftel B, USG has responded to UNHCR international for special contributions for Chilean Refugee Program. However, proposed 1.4 million USG contribution (reftel B) is maximum proposed contribution based on largest possible caseload estimate. Should other governments contribute less than anticipated, U.S. contribution will be reduced accordingly to remain within approximate 1/3 ratio. Initial increment of U.S. contribution will be approximately $500,000 including $50,000 earmarked for ICRC operations in Chile and up to $40,000 to be passed to ICEM for movement of non-mandate refugees which have already been taken place. Further, UNHCR appeal and proposed USG $1.4 million contribution cover period beginning July 1, 1974 and ending December 31, 1975.

3. It is not, rpt. not, possible for U.S. to make contribution to UNHCR general fund within terms of the Presidential Determination Order. ~~Further such a contribution would put U.S. over 25% Congressional limitation on regular contributions to UN agencies. Second, domestic political reasons indicate that direct contributions to Chilean Refugees appeal is preferable course.~~ FYI -- limitation END FYI

4. UNHCR does not, rpt not, plan to administer Chilean Refugee Program from Mexico. UNHCR never had any intention of administering this program from Mexico, rather plans to continue to administer program from Geneva, Buenos Aires, Santiago, and Lima as appropriate to developing circumstances. UNHCR does not, rpt not, currently have office in Mexico City and has no intention of establishing one there. FYI:GOC possibly confused with fact that UNHCR currently has REP in Mexico City for two week period to look into assistance requests by Chilean Refugees to UNDP Office, Mexico City. Rep stopped Mexico City on way from Europe to home leave in Uruguay. Current plans indicate Rep will set up fund for emergency assistance to Chilean refugees and others in Mexico. No permanent Rep will be established in Mexico City to supervise fund. Fund will be administered from Geneva and New York as appropriate. UNHCR well aware of possible implications of any attempt to administer Chilean refugee program from Mexico City. End FYI.

5. Department currently has no knowledge of any planned USSR contribution to special appeal for Chilean refugee program by UNHCR, though appeal included USSR. However, should we obtain information indicating USSR plans contribution to Chilean Refugee Program we will notify Post immediately.

REF: STATE 155648

INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY:

1. FOLLOWING MATERIAL ON HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN CHILE SHOULD BE REGARDED AS INFORMATION FROM WHICH DEPARTMENT CAN DRAW RATHER THAN FINISHED PRESENTATION FOR CONGRESSIONAL HEARING. WE HAVE CLASSIFIED THIS MATERIAL IN ORDER TO BE CANDID AS REQUESTED AND LEAVE TO DEPARTMENT'S JUDGMENT HOW TO HANDLE DECLASSIFICATION. WE CONSIDER HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEM IN CHILE UNDER TWO ASPECTS: CIVIL RIGHTS AND POLITICAL RIGHTS:

2. CIVIL RIGHTS. AS REGARDS REFUGEES AND ASYLEES, SITUATION HAS BEEN VIRTUALLY CLEARED UP IN CHILE. INCIDENCE OF ARRESTS FOR INTERNAL SECURITY REASONS APPEARS TO HAVE DROPPED, BUT WE STILL RECEIVE REPORTS OF MANY, OFTEN BASED SOLELY ON DENUNCIATIONS. MALTREATMENT UNDER INTERROGATION IS AN OLD PROBLEM IN CHILE, ANTEDATING BOTH JUNTA AND ALLENDE AND REPORTED UNDER LATTER. JUNTA HAS MADE IT CLEAR IT IS OPPOSED TO TORTURE, AND WE HAVE IMPRESSION THAT, AS COMPARED WITH FIRST MONTHS AFTER [redacted]

COUP, SITUATION HAS SUBSTANTIALLY IMPROVED. DETENTION CAMP PRISONERS PROBABLY DOWN TO ABOUT 5,000 NOW. AS FOR TRIALS, LEGAL SAFEGUARDS IN PROVINCIAL MILITARY TRIBUNALS HAVE LEFT

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

MUCH TO BE DESIRED, BUT OBSERVERS WERE IMPRESSED WITH REGARD FOR PROPER PROCEDURES DEMONSTRATED IN RECENT SANTIAGO AIR FORCE TRIAL. LESS DEFENSIBLE WAS VIRTUALLY COMPLETE RELIANCE ON CONFESSIONS AS BASIS FOR SENTENCES DEMANDED, AND PROSECUTORIS INSISTENCE ON APPLYING RIGOROUS STATE OF WAR PENALTIES RETRO ACTIVELY TO ACTIONS UNDERTAKEN DURING ALLENDE GOVERNMENT.

UNCLASSIFIED

3. POLITICAL RIGHTS. PICTURE IS LESS PROMISING IN THIS AREA. JUDGING BY PRESENT TRENDS, WE ARE INCLINED TO BELIEVE PROSPECTS ARE FOR FURTHER HARDENING RATHER THAN LIBERALIZATION, ALTHOUGH WHAT HAPPENS IN FIELD OF EDUCATION MAY BE A PARTIAL EXCEPTION AND FREEDOM OF RELIGION HAS NEVER BEEN IN DOUBT.

4. NEED FOR PERSPECTIVE. WITHOUT IGNORING OR CONDONING REPRESSIVE CHARACTERISTICS OF PRESENT CHILEAN REGIME, WE WOULD SUGGEST NEED FOR VIEWING IT WITH A SENSE OF PERSPECTIVE. REGIME IS NOT TO BE COMPARED WITH, FOR EXAMPLE, A COMMUNIST STATE IN TERMS OF TOTALITARIAN REGIMENTATION. MOST CHILEANS GO ABOUT THEIR DAILY LIVES IN NORMAL FASHION, ALTHOUGH POLITIRJA DISCOURSE IS INHIBITED BY FEAR OF DENUNCIATION.

5. NO ONE NOT PRESENT IN CHILE DURING THE ALLENDE YEARSICAN FULLY GRASP THE DEPTH OF THE WIDESPREAD RELIEF THAT WHAT TO SO MANY WAS A NIGHTMARE IS PAST, OR THE SENSE OF GRATITUDE TO THE ARMED FORCES FOR BRINGING IT TO AN END. SIMILARLY, FROM OUTSIDE THE COUNTRY IT IS DIFFICULT TO COMPREHEND THAT CHILE HAS BEEN THROUGH A CIVIL WAR UPHEAVAL, AND THAT THE SENSE OF NATIONAL INSECURITY IS STILL ACUTE. TERRORISM IN NEIGHBORING ARGENTINA STANDS AS EVIDENCE TO MOST CHILEANS OF WHAT COULD HAPPEN HERE, WERE HARSH SECURITY RESTRICTIONS NOT IMPOSED.

6. WITH THEIR ROMAN-HISPANIC-CIVIL LAW, RATHER THAN ENGLISH COMMON LAW BACKGROUND, MOST CHILEANS ACCEPT AS LEGITIMATE THE EXTRAORDINARY STATE-OF-EMERGENCY RESTRICTIONS IMPOSED BY JUNTA, AS WELL AS LEGAL PROCEDURES WHICH WOULD SEEM TO US LESS THAN EQUITABLE FOR DEFENDANTS IN CRIMINAL CASES. FOR ALL THESE REASONS, DESPITE THE RIGORS OF ECONOMIC AUSTERITY, HIGH UNEMPLOYMENT AND CONTINUING INFLATION, WE BELIEVE THAT POPULAR SUPPORT FOR [redacted]

[redacted]

THE JUNTA HAS THUS FAR HELD UP TO A SURPRISING DEGREE. END SUMMARY.

7. CIVIL RIGHTS

A. REFUGEES. DOWNFALL OF ALLENDE FOUND THOUSANDS OF MORE OR LESS SYMPATHETIC FOREIGNERS IN COUNTRY. SOME LEFT NORMALLY, BUT MANY OTHERS TOOK REFUGE IN UNHCR "SAFE HOUSES" AND FOREIGN EMBASSIES. PROBLEM OF REMOVING THESE THIRD-COUNTRY NATIONS FROM CHILE WAS BASICALLY RESOLVED BY END OF FEBRUARY 1974. ONLY

[redacted]UNCLASSIFIED

A HANDFUL, PERHAPS 50 TO 100, WHO ARE REGISTERED AS REFUGEES WITH UNHCR REMAIN IN CHILE. GOC HAS COOPERATED FULLY WITH INTERNATIONAL AGENCIES SUCH AS UNHCR AND ICEM AND WITH CODEPI INTERDENOMINATIONAL CHURCH GROUP ESTABLISHED SHORTLY AFTER COUP TO ASSIST REFUGEES. SOME THOUSANDS OF CHILEANS HAVE ALSO LEFT COUNTRY IN ONE WAY OR ANOTHER. BETWEEN 12,000 AND 15,000 ARE CURRENTLY IN ARGENTINA AND PERU, WHILE OTHERS ARE SCATTERED IN MANY OTHER COUNTRIES. S/R/ORM CAN PROVIDE MORE ACCURATE INFORMATION THAN WE CAN ON DIMENSIONS OF THIS EXODUS AND STEPS BEING TAKEN TO ASSIST. EMBASSY HAS PREVIOUSLY PROVIDED STATISTICAL DATA ON CHILEANS WHO HAVE SOUGHT REFUGE IN U.S.

UNCLASSIFIED

B. ASYLEES. AFTER SEPTEMBER 11, 1974, SEVERAL THOUSAND CHILEANS AND FOREIGNERS SOUGHT ASYLUM IN LATIN AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN EMBASSIES IN SANTIAGO. BY FEBRUARY, 1974 ALL BUT SOME 250 "HARD-CORE" ASYLEES, ALL OF THEM CHILEANS, HAD BEEN GIVEN SAFE-CONDUCTS AND DEPARTED. GOC EVIDENTLY MADE DECISION IN EARLY

MAY TO RELEASE THE REMAINDER. ORIGINAL GOC INTENTION RE MOST OF THESE "DEFERRED" CASES WAS APPARENTLY TO PRESENT RECIPIENT GOVERNMENT WITH SAFECONDUCT AND REQUEST FOR EXTRADITION BACK TO CHILE SIMULTANEOUSLY. CHILEAN SUPREME COURT HAS SO FAR APPROVED APPROXIMATELY 80 EXTRADITION REQUESTS, BUT NONE TO OUR KNOWLEDGE HAS BEEN HONORED BY OTHER GOVERNMENTS. EXODUS OF ASYLEES MATERIALLY SPEED BY MEXICAN FONMIN RABASA'S DRMATIC VISIT HERE IN LATE MAY AND BY PRESSURES FROM OTHER LATIN AMERICAN GOVERNMENTS (IN PARTICULAR, COLOMBIA, VENEZUELA). BY JULY 12, GOC CLAIMED TO HAVE ISSUED SAFECONDUCTS TO ALL ASYLEES IN FOREIGN EMBASSIES EXCEPT FOR NINE PERSONS IN ITALIAN EMBASSY; GOC CLAIMS THAT SINCE ITALY HAS NOT RECOGNIZED JUNTA FORMALLY, IT HAS NO ONE WITH WHOM TO DEAL ON QUESTION OF SAFECONDUCTS.

[redacted]

GOC ALSO ANNOUNCED AT THAT TIME THAT A TOTAL OF 8,416 SAFE-CONDUCTS HAD BEEN ISSUED TO REFUGEES AND ASYLEES AND THEIR FAMILIES.

C. ARREST AND DETENTION OF CITIZENS

(1) ARREST. INCIDENT OF ARRESTS OF PERSONS FOR PURPORTED INTERNAL SECURITY REASONS IS PROBABLY DOWN, BUT SUCH ARRESTS ARE NEVERTHLESS CONTINUING. IN ADDITION, SUBSTANTIAL NUMBERS OF WHAT GOC CLAIMS ARE "COMMON CRIMINALS" HAVE BEEN ARRESTED, GENERALLY WITHOUT ARREST WARRANTS, SPECIFIC CHARGES, OR OTHER LEGAL SAFEGUARDS WHICH UNDER CHILEAN LAW ARE WAIVED UNDER "STATE OF WAR" DECLARED BY GOC SEPTEMBER 11 AND STILL PREVAILING TODAY. MANY ARRESTS IN BOTH CATEGORIES ARE BASED ON DENUNCIATIONS BY OTHERS. IN INTERNAL SECURITY CASES THE GOVERNMENT WILL NOT PERMIT RECOURSE TO AMPARO, THE CIVIL LAW VERSION OF HABEAS CORPUS. FROM GOC POINT OF VIEW, HOWEVER, THESE ARRESTS ARE NOT ARBITRARY, SINCE IN EACH CASE SECURITY FORCES BELIEVE THEY HAVE REASON TO SUSPECT THAT THOSE APPREHENDED, WHETHER FOR CRIMINAL OR INTERNAL SECURITY REASONS, MIGHT HAVE COMMITTED OR HAVE BEEN AN ACCESSORY TO AN OFFENSE, OR BE IN A POSITION TO DO SO. UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF CHILEAN LAW, THE BURDEN OF PROOF OF INNOCENCE LIES WITH THE ACCUSED TO A MUCH GREATER EXTENT THAN UNDER AMERICAN JURISPRUDENCE.

(2) INTERROGATION. ONCE DETAINED, ANY PERSONS ARE HELD FOR SOME TIME, WITH NO INFORMATION PROVIDED TO THEIR FAMILIES AS TO WHERE THEY ARE OR WHAT, IF ANY, CHARGES HAVE BEEN BROUGHT AGAINST THEM. NOR DO LAWYERS HAVE ACCESS TO THEM AT THIS STAGE. IT IS DURING THIS PERIOD THAT INTERROGATION TAKES PLACE, AND WHEN, IN OUR UNDERSTANDING, TORTURE IS MOST LIKELY TO OCCUR. USE OF TORTURE [redacted]

APPEARS TO BE ASSOCIATED EXCLUSIVELY WITH INTERROGATION, ALTHOUGH APPARENTLY ONLY A SMALL FRACTION OF THOSE INTERROGATED ARE TORTURED; THAT PERCENTAGE APPEARS TO HAVE BEEN DROPPING WITHIN LAST MONTHS EVEN ACCORDING TO SOME CRITICS OF JUNTA. GOC OFFICIALS FROM PRESIDENT PINOCHET ON DOWN HAVE STATED REPEATEDLY THAT THE GOC OPPOSES USE OF TORTURE. WE HAVE BEEN TOLD BY OFFICIALS THAT A FEW MILITARY PERSONNEL WHO WERE FOUND ABUSING PRISONERS HAVE BEEN PUNISHED. WE CANNOT CONFIRM THIS, BUT RECENT VISITING

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

ARGENTINE JURIST SEBASTIAN SOLER SAID PUBLICLY HE KNEW OF SOME FIVE CASES.

UNCLASSIFIED

(3) DETENTION CAMPS. THERE ARE ABOUT TEN SPECIAL DETENTION CENTERS LISTED BY ICRC IN CHILE, OF WHICH BEST KNOWN ARE PISAGUA AND CHACABUCO IN THE NORTH. IN ADDITION, INTERNAL SECURITY PRISONERS ARE BEING HELD IN PUBLIC JAILS AND MILITARY INSTALLATIONS THROUGHOUT CHILE. CURRENT TOTAL IS PROBABLY AROUND 5,000, DOWN FROM THE 6,000 FIGURE USED BY GENERAL LEIGH IN APRIL 24 PRESS CONFERENCE. GOC HAS STATED THAT POLICY IS TO INVESTIGATE SITUATION OF EACH DETAINEE FULLY, THEN E ITHER RELEASE
HIM OR BRING HIM TO TRIAL. THIS SEEMS TO BE HAPPENING, BUT IT IS AN AGONIZINGLY SLOW PROCESS; IN EFFECT, SOME CHILEANS ARE BEING HELD IN PREVENTIVE DETENTION. WE DO NOT YET KNOW WHEN OR HOW FORMER DAWSON ISLAND GROUP OF SENIOR OFFICIALS IN ALLENDE GOVERNMENT WILL BE BROUGHT TO TRIAL (A FEW HAVE BEEN RELEASED). CONDITIONS IN DETENTION CENTERS OF ALL TYPES APPEAR TO BE ADEQUATE IF SPARTAN.

D. TRIALS (1) PERSONS ACCUSED OF INTERNAL SECURITY OFFENSES ARE TRIED BY MILITARY TRIBUNALS RATHER THAN CIVIL COURTS. SUCH TRIALS BEGAN THROUGHOUT CHILE SHORTLY AFTER COUP AND ARE CONTINUING. LEGAL SAFEGUARDS AND JUDICIAL PROCEDURES IN MANY OF THE MILITARY TRIBUNALS, PARTICULARLY IN PROVINCES, HAVE LEFT MUCH TO BE DESIRED. MOST HAVE BEEN CLOSED TO PUBLIC; IN MANY CASES ONLY EVIDENCE AGAINST ACCUSED WAS HIS OWN "CONFESSION" OR THAT OF OTHERS, WHICH WE HAVE REASON TO BELIEVE IN SOME CASES WAS EXTRACTED BY DUBIOUS MEANS; LAWYERS HAVE OFTEN BEEN UNABLE TO DEFEND THEIR CLIENTS ADEQUATELY; AND TIME DEVOTED TO EACH INDIVIDUAL'S CASE HAS OFTEN BEEN MINIMAL. HOWEVER, RECENT SANTIAGO AIR FORCE (FACH) TRIAL OF 64 PERSONS, MOSTLY FACH PERSONNEL, WAS CHARACTERIZED BY CONSIDERABLE ATTENTION TO LEGAL SAFEGUARDS AND PROCEDURES AND MAY WELL CONSTITUTE PRECEDENT FOR

[redacted]

[redacted]

FUTURE TRIALS. SENTENCES IN THIS TRIAL DUE TO BE HANDED DOWN SHORTLY.

(2) UNDERLYING PHILOSOPHICAL BASIS FOR TRIALS IS HIGHLY CONTROVERSIAL. ON SEPTEMBER 11, 1973 GOVERNING JUNTA ISSUED DECREE LAW 3 DECLARING STATE OF SIEGE THROUGHOUT CHILE; DECREE LAW 5 ISSUED FOLLOWING DAY INTERPRETED STATE OF SIEGE AS STATE OF WAR (A HIGHER STATE OF MILITARY EMERGENCY). IN FACH TRIAL, PROSECUTOR EXPOUNDED THEORY THAT AT SOME UNSPECIFIED POINT PRIOR TO SEPTEMBER 11 COUP, ALLENDE GOVERNMENT HAD LOST ITS LEGITIMACY AND THAT A DE FACTO "STATE OF INTERNAL WAR" EXISTED. UNDER THIS THEORY, PERSONS WHO ACTIVELY WORKED TO SUPPORTE ALLENDE WERE CONSORTING WITH "THE ENEMY" AS DEFINED IN CHILEAN CODE OF MILITARY JUSTICE. OTHERWISE INNOCENT ACTS OR MINOR INFRACTIONS OF MILITARY

[redacted]CLASSIFIED

DISCIPLINE WERE THUS CONSIDERED AS WARTIME OFFENSES. MANY LAWYERS AND OTHER CRITICS TAKE SHARP ISSUE WITH WHAT IS IN EFFECT A RETROACTIVE DECLARATION OF A STATE OF WAR, ESPECIALLY SINCE SENTENCES ISSUED BY MILITARY TRIBUNALS OPERATING UNDER STATE OF WAR RULES ARE REVIEWED ONLY BY MILITARY ZONE COMMANDER AND ARE NOT APPEALABLE TO CIVIL COURTS.

UNCLASSIFIED

(3) HUNDREDS OF DEFENDANTS HAVE BEEN CONVICTED AND SENTENCED ON THIS BASIS. IT IS ALSO TRUE, HOWEVER, THAT A NUMBER OF THESE DEFENDANTS HAVE BEEN ACCUSED OF ACTS (E.G., VIOLATION OF GUN CONTROL LAW) WHICH WERE CLEARLY CRIMES PRIOR TO COUP AND WHICH IN MANY CASES GAVE MILITARY TRIBUNALS ORIGINAL JURISDICTION; ONLY QUESTION AT ISSUE IN THESE CASES, THEREFORE, WOULD BE WHO HAS REVIEW JURISDICTION SINCE COURTS OF FIRST INSTANCE ARE MILITARY TRIBUNALS IRRESPECTIVE OF EXISTENCE OF STATE OF WAR. WORTH NOTING THAT DEATH SENTENCES HANDED DOWN SINCE FEBRUARY HAVE BEEN COMMUTED, AND THERE IS REASON TO BELIEVE THAT ANY FUTURE DEATH SENTENCES IMPOSED ON PRESENT DETAINEES WILL BE SIMILARLY HANDLED.

E. A CAVEAT. ALL OF ABOVE MUST BE SEEN IN LIGHT OF DIFFERENCES BETWEEN ANGLO-AMERICAN COMMON LAW PRACTICE AND CHILEAN (OR OTHER) CIVIL LAW SYSTEMS, AS POINTED OUT BY INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION OF JURISTS VISITOR TO CHILE COVEY OLIVER. INDEED, WHAT APPEARS LEGAL, ACCEPTABLE AND JUSTIFIED UNDER CHILEAN LAW DIVERGES WIDELY FROM AMERICAN STANDARDS. IT IS THEREFORE DIFFICULT FOR ORDINARY CHILEANS ENTIRELY TO UNDERSTAND UPROAR

[redacted]

[redacted]

OVER EVENTS IN CHILE ABROAD. OUTSIDE CHILE THERE HAS UNDENIABLY BEEN MUCH DISTORTION AND EXAGGERATION REGARDING HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEMS IN THE COUNTRY, AS EVIDENCED BY MANY COMMUNICATIONS WE RECEIVE FROM CONCERNED U.S. CITIZENS.

8. POLITICAL RIGHTS

A. POLITICAL PARTIES. MARXIST AND OTHER LEFIST POLITICAL PARTIES AND GROUPS ARE OUTLAWED, AND "DEMOCRATIC" PARTIES WHICH OPPOSED ALLENDE ARE UNDER STRICT "RECESS" WHICH FORBIDS THEM TO ENGAGE IN ALL POLITICAL ACTIVITIES OR MORE THAN A MINIMUM OF INTERNAL ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIONS. THERE IS NO INDICATION THAT EITHER MEASURE WILL BE REVOKED AT ALL SOON. OFFICIAL LINE OF JUNTA IS THAT DEMOCRATIC PRACTICES WILL BE RESTORED, UNDER A NEW CONSTITUTION, WHEN A NEW POLITICAL SYSTEM FREE OF THE DESTRUCTIVE FACTIONALISM AND DEMAGOGY OF THE PAST CAN BE CREATED. PUTATIVE DATE FOR THIS CHANGE SEEMS TO BE RECEDING; IT IS CERTAINLY A MATTER OF MANY MONTHS, OR SOME YEARS. (JUNTA CHIEFS ARE PRONE TO SPEAK OFFHANDEDLY OF FIVE TO TEN.) MEANWHILE, REAL POSSIBILITY EXISTS FOR HEAD-ON CONFRONTATION BETWEEN GOC AND CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY, CHILE'S LARGEST, AND ONLY REALLY ACTIVE "RECESSED" PARTY.

B. REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT AND ELECTIONS. CONGRESS REMAINS CLOSED, VOTING ROLLS WERE RECENTLY DESTROYED ON THE GROUND THAT ALLENDE HAD DOCTORED THEM, SUCH OFFICIALS AS MAYORS WHO WERE FORMERLY ELECTED ARE NOW APPOINTED BY THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT, AND ELECTIONS OF ALL TYPES INCLUDING THOSE IN TRADE UNIONS, STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS, AND CIVIC GROUPS ARE BANNED. AS INDICATED ABOVE, THERE IS LITTLE SIGN THAT RETURN TO A REPRESENTATIVE DEMOCRATIC SYSTEM WILL TAKE PLACE IN LESS THAN A NUMBER OF YEARS.

[redacted]

PRESENT MILITARY GOVERNMENT APPEARS TO BE ACQUIRING THE TRAPPINGS OF PERMANENCE; RECENT "STATUTE OF THE GOVERNING JUNTA" PROVIDES AN INSTITUTIONAL FRAMEWORK WHICH APPEARS TO BE AT LEAST A SEMI-PERMANENT ARRANGEMENT. SUCH ANNOUNCED PROGRAMS AS RECENT REGIONALIZATION SCHEME ARE LONG-RANGE IN DESIGN, AND JUNTA HAS REPEATEDLY STATED IT WILL NOT TURN GOVERNMENT OVER TO CIVILIANS UNTIL IT ACCOMPLISHES ITS MISSION OF REBUILDING CHILE'S BASIC INSTITUTIONS, AND ENABLING CHILE TO EMBRACE A NEW FORM OF DEMOCRACY FREE OF THE POLITICAL ABUSES WHICH LED CHILE TO MARXISM AND CHAOS. THE REGIME REFUSES TO DISCUSS ANY TIME FRAME.

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

C. TRADE UNION RIGHTS. MOST BASIC TRADE UNION RIGHTS SUCH AS RIGHT TO STRIKE, RIGHT TO ENGAGE IN COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AND RIGHT TO ELECT UNION OFFICERS HAVE BEEN "SUSPENDED," AND THERE IS NO INDICATION WHEN THIS SUSPENSION WILL BE LIFTED. PRO-ALLENDE CENTRAL LABOR ORGANIZATION (CUT) WAS DISBANDED, AND NO NEW ORGANIZATION HAS BEEN FORMED TO TAKE ITS PLACE. NEVERTHELESS, TRADE UNIONS CONTINUE TO EXIST AND DO HAVE SOME INFLUENCE AT BOTH SHOP AND GOVERNMENT LEVELS. WHILE A HANDFUL OF GENUINE UNION LEADERS WERE KILLED OR OTHERWISE SUFFERED, THIS OCCURRED IN IMMEDIATE AFTERMATH OF COUP, AND FEW SUCH PROBLEMS HAVE BEEN ENCOUNTERED SINCE. MOST OF TOP "TRADE UNION" LEADERS OF ALLENDE ERA, E.G., LUIS FIGUEROA, ROLANDO CALDERON, ARE MORE ACCURATELY DESCRIBED AS POLITICAL LEADERS WITH A LABOR CONSTITUENCEY; MANY TOOK POLITICAL ASYLUM IN FOREIGN EMBASSIES AND ARE NOW OUTSIDE OF CHILE. THE PRINCIPAL TRADE UNION LEADERS NOW ACTIVE IN CHILE STATE THAT THEIR PRIMARY TASK IS TO KEEP THEIR UNIONS IN EXISTENCE UNTIL THEY CAN AGAIN FUNCTION NORMALLY.

D. FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION AND CENSORSHIP. STRINGENT SELF-CENSORSHIP AND IN SOME CASES PRIOR CENSORSHIP OF THE MEDIA CONTINUE. THERE IS NO INDICATION THAT EITHER WILL CEASE SOON. NEWSPAPERS AND RADIO STATIONS WHICH SUPPORTED THE ALLENDE GOVERNMENT WERE CLOSED AND INSOME CASES SUBSEQUENTLY REOPENED UNDER NEW, PRO-JUNTA OWNERSHIP. PUBLICATION OF LEFTIST IDEAS IS FORBIDDEN. ACTUAL BURNING OF BOOKS, HOWEVER, OCCURRED ONLY IN A VERY FEW INSTANCES AND IN THE DIRECT AFTERMATH OF THE COUP. THERE IS A GENERAL RELUCTANCE AMONG CITIZENS TO DISCUSS "POLITICAL" TOPICS OPENLY FOR FEAR OF DENUNCIATION AND SUBSEQUENT PENALTIES SUCH AS DISMISSAL FROM JOBS OR DETENTION. WHILE THIS

[redacted]

[redacted]

FEAR MAY BE EXAGGERATED, SINCE GOC'S PROCLAIMED POLICY IS "TO PROSECUTE CRIMINALS, NOT TO PERSECUTE IDEAS," NEVERTHELESS IT IS THERE, WITH SOME REASON. IT MUST BE NOTED THAT PEOPLE HAVE LOST THEIR EMPLOYMENT BECAUSE OF THEIR PRIOR POLITICAL ACTIVITIES, AND THAT MANY ARE FINDING IT VERY DIFFICULT TO GET NEW JOBS.

E. RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE. THERE IS NO EVIDENCE TO SUPPORT ALLEGATIONS THAT GOC IS ATTEMPTING TO SUPPRESS OR OTHERWISE LIMIT PRINCIPAL ESTABLISHED RELIGIONS. ALTHOUGH IN MID-APRIL CATHOLIC CHURCH PUBLICLY PROTESTED ALLEGED GOC VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS INCLUDING "PHYSICAL PRESSURES" (I.E., TORTURE) ON DETAINEES, BOTH SIDES ARE ACTIVELY WORKING TO MAINTAIN DIALOGUE AND OPEN CONFRONTATION APPEARS UNLIKELY AT THIS TIME. GOC HAS, HOWEVER, IMPRISONED LEADERS OF ONE EXOTIC QUASI-RELIGIOUS SECT (SILO) AND DISBANDED ANOTHER (DIVINE LIGHT).

F. EDUCATION. UNDER ALLENDE REGIME, ENTIRE EDUCATIONAL

UNCLASSIFIED

SYSTEM BECAME SHARPLY POLITICALLY POLARIZED, AND RESULTING STRIFE SEVERELY AFFECTED QUALITY OF CHILEAN EDUCATION. IN REACTION TO THIS SITUATION, GOC HAS INSTALLED MILITARY RECTOR-DELEGATES IN ALL EIGHT CHILEAN UNIVERSITIES IN VIOLATION OF TIME-HONORED LATIN AMERICAN TRADITION OF UNIVERSITY AUTONOMY. AVOWED PURPOSE WAS TO RESTORE UNIVERSITIES TO THEIR EDUCATIONAL FUNCTIONS. MANY UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS HAVE BEEN DISMISSED AND MANY STUDENTS HAVE BEEN DENIED READMISSION, GENERALLY ON GROUNDS THAT THEY WERE ACTIVELY PRO-UP OR WERE OTHERWISE UNQUALIFIED TO GIVE OR RECEIVE HIGHER EDUCATION. AS NOTED PREVIOUSLY, MARXIST AND OTHER LEFTIST BOOKS HAVE BEEN BANNED AND ARE REPORTEDLY UNAVAILABLE EVEN IN UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES. SOME TEACHERS WITH LEFTIST IDEAS ARE STILL FUNCTIONING, HOWEVER. THE JUNTA HAS SET OUT TO REORGANIZE THE COUNTRY'S EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM AT ALL LEVELS, AND SOME CURRICU LA HAVE ALREADY BEEN "RESTRUCTURED" TO ELIMINATE "POLITICAL" TOPICS. THERE ARE REPORTS THAT GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF CATHOLIC UNIVERSITIES MAY BE RELAXED.

9. CONCLUSION: WHILE THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEMS IN CHILE ARE A MATTER OF CONCERN, THEY LEND THEMSELVES IN MOST AREAS TO QUALIFIED RATHER THAN UTTERLY SWEEPING CONCLUSIONS. IN SOME AREAS THERE ARE TENDENCIES TOWARD IMPROVE-MENT. WE SEE LITTLE SIGN THAT CHILEANS IN THE MASS HAVE YET

[redacted]

[redacted]

REACHED POINT WHERE THEY WILL STRONGLY OBJECT TO JUNTA'S PRACTICES. OUTSIDE CRITICS SHOULD IN OUR VIEW BE ASKED TO BEAR IN MIND DEPTH AND IMMEDIACY OF CHILE'S RECENT TRAUMATIC EXPERIENCE, AND TO JUDGE CHILE NOT ONLY BY ABSTRACT STANDARDS OF INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS INSTRUMENTS BUT ALSO BY STANDARDS PREVALENT IN OTHER SOUTH AMERICAN MILITARY REGIMES. INTER-NATIONAL CRITICISM DESIGNED TO MOVE CHILE BACK TOWARD ITS TRADITIONAL DEMOCRATIC ORIENTATION IS CERTAINLY IN ORDER, BUT NOT, IN OUR VIEW, THE IMPOSITION OF OFFICIAL SANCTIONS THROUGH DENIAL OF MILITARY OR ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE.

1. WITH SCARCELY A PERCEPTIBLE BACKWARD GLANCE, PRESS TREATMENT SURROUNDING ECHEVERRIA VISIT HAS BECOME MORE BALANCED REGARDING SUBSTANTIVE ASPECTS AND HEAVILY CORDIAL IN TONE. IN THE VANGUARD OF THE SHIFT WAS THE EDITORIAL RELEASED BY THE OFFICIAL NEWS SERVICE AGENCIA NACIONAL, WHICH NOTED ALMOST TWO CENTURIES OF RELATIONS WITHOUT SERIOUS DIFFERENCES, ATTRIBUTING THEM NOT TO THE DISTANCE SEPARATING THE TWO COUNTRIES PHYSICALLY BUT TO ANALOGIES

IN THEIR POSITIONS ON WORLD PROBLEMS: "LOVERS OF PEACE, PLEDGED TO THE CAUSE OF DEVELOPMENT," ETC. SIGNALLING PRINCIPAL BRAZILIAN INTEREST, EDITORIAL GOT SPECIFIC ONLY ON STUDY OF ESTABLISHMENT OF MARITIME SERVICE, AND INCREASE IN FLIGHTS AND TOURISM BETWEEN THE TWO. ASSERTING THAT VISIT WILL BE WATERSHED IN BELATERAL RELATIONS, EDITORIAL WENT ON TO REFER TO PRINCIPLES OF NON-INTERVENTION

AND ECONOMIC SECURITY "AT THE SERVICE OF DEVELOPMENT," STRESSED IMPORTANCE OF PEACE, AND CONCLUDED "BRAZIL IS RECEIVING PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA WITH THE CONSIDERATION DUE (THIS) FRIEND, THE CONFIDENCE MERITED BY HIS STATESMAN'S VISION, AND THE ATTENTION DUE A COUNTRY WHICH IN A EPOCHS OF HISTORY HAS MAINTAINED WITH ARDOR AND ZEAL THE WORSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE, JUSTICE, AND LIBERTY."

2. SIMILARLY POSITIVE (AND SOMEWHAT PLATITUDINOUS) WAS INTERVIEW GIVEN BY FOREIGN MINISTER SILVEIRA TO EXCELSIOR AND REPORDUCED HERE IN VARYING VERSIONS. ALSO NOTING HISTORY OF HARMOUNIOUS RELATIONS, SILVEIRA CALLED VISIT EVENT OF HIGHEST CONTINENTAL SIGNFICANCE, AND SAID HE WAS OPTIMISTIC REGARDING FUTURE RELATIONS BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES. IN RESPONSE TO ANOTHER QUESTION, SILVEIRA SAID HIS ATLANTA STATEMENT ON COLLECTIVE ECONOMIC SECURITY EMPHASIZED RELEVANCE OF TOPIC TO DEVELOPMENT, IN ATTEMPT TO PROVIDE MORE PRECISE LIMITS TO THEME LAUNCHED AT UN BY BRAZILIAN INITIATIVE. ANSWERING QUESTION ABOUT COMMETTEE TO RESTRUCTURE INTER-AMERICAN SYSTEM, SILVEIRA STRESSED IMPORTANCE OF ESTABLISHING PRINCIPLES WHICH WILL PERMIT BETTER ORDERING OF RELATIONS BETWEEN LA AND U.S., AND WHICH WILL FAVOR DEVELOPING COUNTRIES. ASKED ABOUT ACCUSATIONS OF BRAZILIAN EXPANSIONISM, SILVEIRA (IN ONE VERSION) BEGAN BY DECLARING SUCH ASSERTIONS SO GROUNDLESS THAT HE SHOULD NOT BOTHER WITH TOPIC. HE WENT ON TO ASSERT THAT BRAZIL'S EFFORTS TOWARD, AND AGREEMENTS WITH, ITS NEIGHBORS WERE ALL BASED ON FREE CONSENT AND MUTUAL ADVANTAGE. IN ANSWER TO OTHER QUESTIONS, HE EXPRESSED CONTINUING BRAZILIAN SUPPORT FOR LAFTA, AND FOR DEFENSE OF PRIMARY-PRODUCTS PRICES.

3. IN SIGNED COLUMN ON SIGNIFICANCE OF VISIT, WELL-CONNECTED JOURNALIST FLAVIO SALLES (FOLHA DE SAO PAULO) SAID THAT WHILE

POLITICAL MATTERS WILL BE TREATED DURING VISIT, ECONOMIC-COMMERCIAL SIDE WILL GET PRINCIPAL EMPHASIS: THUS JOINT STATEMENT WILL NOT CONTAIN ITEMS SUCH AS THOSE IN LIMA AND BUENOS AIRES CALLING FOR RETURN OF CUBA TO SYSTEM. ACCORDING TO SALLES, ECHEVERRIA IS NOT TRAVELING TO RESOLVE SUCH PROBLEMS, BUT TO FAMILIARIZE HIMSELF WITH SOUTH AMERICA, TO REAFFIRM "NATURAL" HEMISPHERIC LEADERSHIP (ALONG WITH ARGENTINA AND BRAZIL), AND TO COUNTER-ACT THE EFFECTS OF PERON'S SKILLFUL DIPLOMACY ON THE RELATIVE IMPORTANCE OF ARGENTINA AND MEXICO IN THIS RESPECT. PRESTIGIOUS COLUMNIST CASTELLO BRANCO DECLARED SIMPLY THAT TALKS DURING THE VISIT WILL BE OBJECTIVE IN TONE ANDLIMITED TO BELATERAL MATTERS.

4. ECHEVERRIA'S ARRIVAL AND ACTIVITIES IN SAO PAULO JULY 21 RECEIVED SUBSTANTIAL COVERAGE DESPITE VERY ROUTINE NATURE OF EVENTS SO FAR (GREETING AT AIRPORT, VISITS TO TRADE FAIRS, ETC.). HIGH POINTS ARE HIS VARIOUS DEPARTURES FROM PROTOCOL (LEAVING PRESCRIBED ROUTE TO GREET NEWSMEN, PASSING UP

SUBJ: VISIT OF MEXICAN PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA

1. SUMMARY: MEXICAN PRESIDENT EXHEVERRIA DEPARTED ARGENTINA ON JULY 21 AFTER A FIVE DAY OFFICIAL VISIT. PRESS COVERAGE THROUGHOUT HIS STAY WAS EXTENSIVE AND FAVORABLE. THE JOINT COMMUNIQUE SIGNED ON JULY 19 CONTAINED LITTLE DIFFERENT FROM THOSE OF EARLIER STOPS ON THE TOUR. AT LEAST ON THE SURFACE, GOA TREATMENT AT ALL TIMES APPEARED CORDIAL. THERE IS SOME EVIDENCE TO SUGGEST THAT SOME ARGENTINE OFFICIALS WERE LESS THAN ENCHANTED BY EXHEVERRIA'S PERFORMANCE. ECONOMIC IMPLICATIONS OF TRIP WILL BE COVERED IN SEPTEL. END SUMMARY.

2. MEXICAN PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA LEFT ARGENTINA ON JULY 21 AFTER A FIVE DAY OFFICIAL VISIT. MRS. PERON AND MOST OF THE CABINET SAW HIM OFF AT THE AIRPORT AS HE DEPARTED FOR BRAZIL.

3. PRESS COVERAGE WAS EXTENSIVE AND FAVORABLE. THE ONLY GAFF REPORTED WAS THAT ECHEVERRIA FORGOT TO SAY GOODBY TO FONMIN VIGNES AND RETURNED AFTER TAKING SEVERAL STEPS TOWARD THE

[redacted]

AIRPLANE TO GIVE VIGNES AN "ABRAZO". THE LOCAL ENGLISH PAPER ALSO QUOTED ECHEVERRIA AS SAYING MRS. PERON "IS BECOMING A STATESWOMAN IN THIS GREAT COUNTRY". THIS INFERENCE THAT MRS. PERON IS ENGAGED IN ON-THE-JOB TRAINING WAS NOT CARRIED BY THE SPANISH-LANGUAGE PAPERS AND ONE AMERICAN CORRESPONDENT WHO HEARD THE REMARK TOLD EMBOFF THAT HE DID NOT INTERPRET IT AS INTENDED IN A DEROGATROY SENSE.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

4. IN ADDITION TO THE NUMEROUS GOA DIGNATARIES, ECHEVERRIA ALSO MET WITH A WIDE RANGE OF ARGENTINE POLITICAL FIGURES. HE ALSO HELD A PRESS CONFERENCE IN WHICH HE FIELDED QUESTIONS IN AN IMPRESSIVE MANNER. HIS SPEECH BEFORE THE CONGRESS, WAS OVERLY LONG AND PEDAGOGIC. AT TIMES HE APPEARED TO BE LECTURING HIS ARGENTINE HOSTS ON HOW TO SAFEGUARD DEMOCRACY AND COMBAT THEIR TERRORIST PROBLEM. TWO CABINET MINISTERS WERE OBSERVED MAKING UNCOMPLIMENTARY HAND SIGNS DURING THE SPEECH.

5. THE JOINT DECLARATION SIGNED ON JULY 29 CONTAINED LITTLE NEW AND APPERAS TO TOUCH ON MANY OF THE SAME POINTS AS THE JOINT COMMUNIQUES FROM EARLIER STOPS. THE NEED TO RESTRUCTURE THE OAS, THE DESIRE TO SEE CUBA PARTICIPATE IN LATIN AMERICAN AFFAIRS AND IN THE MFM, THE PROPOSAL TO SET UP AN ORGANIZATION FOR LA CONSULTATION AND COORDINATION AND PROTECTION FOR RAW MATERIAL PRICES WERE ALL MENTIONED. HOMAGE WAS ALSO PAID TO THE MEMORY OF PERON AND SUPPORT WAS GIVENFOR ARGENTINA'S POSITION ON LOS.

6. COMMENT: WHILE THERE WERE NO TANGIBLE RESULTS OF ANY GREAT MAGNITUDE ACHIEVED BY THE TRIP, IT WAS PROBABLY OF SOME SMALL HELP TO MRS. PERON. SHE CARRIED OFF HER NEW ROLE AS CHIEF OF STATE WELL, WHICH WILL ADD TO HER IMAGE AMONG ARGENTINES. ECHEVERRIA WHILE ALWAYS WARMLY AND CORDIALLY RECEIVED DID NOT SEEM TO MAKE THAT GREAT AN IMPRESSION FOR ONE WHO APPEARS TO HAVE HOPES OF PLAYING S SIGNIFICANT LEADERSHIP ROLE IN LA. FOR HIS TRIP TO HAVE MUCH IMPACT IN THE LONG RUN SOME TYPE OF FOLLOW UP ON THE TOPICS HE DISCUSSED WITH THE GOA AND OTHER GOVERNMENTS ON THIS TOUR WILL BE NECESSARY. AS THE DEPARTMENT KNOWS, I HAVE KNOWN ECHEVERRIA SINCE HE WAS SUB-MINISTER OF GOBERNACION. WHEN HE GREETED ME IT WAS CORDIAL, BUT CORRECT. IT WAS QUITE A CONTRAST WITH HIS ENTHUSIASTIC GREETING TO THE CHINESE AND SOVIET AMBASSADORS. RABASA,

1. HIGHLIGHTS OF ECHEVERRIA'S SECOND DAY IN BRAZIL WERE VISITS TO A STEEL PLANT AND A VOLKSWAGEN FACTORY, AND LUNCH AT SAO PAULO'S JOCKEY CLUB. WIDELY QUOTED WAS HIS REMARK THAT MEXICO'S "INTEGRATIONIST POLICY . . . IS INSPIRED IN A NATIONALIST SPIRIT, WITHOUT HOSTILITY TO FOREIGN CAPITAL, AND HAS AS (ITS) CENTRAL OBJECTIVE COMBATTING THE EFFECTS OF INTERNATIONAL INFLATION." CONSERVATIVE DAILY O GLOBO HIGHLIGHTED OTHER REMARK (NOT CARRIED BY OTHER PAPERS) THAT "IT IS IMPORTANT TO PROMOTE THE INTEGRATED

DEVELOPMENT OF ALL LATIN AMERICA, BUT IT IS NECESSARY, ABOVE ALL, TO ACHIEVE AN EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION OF RICHES, SINCE THERE WILL NOT BE SOCIAL PEACE WITHOUT THIS." SO FAR THERE HAS BEEN NO COMMENT ON THIS STATEMENT, WHICH TOUCHES A LOCAL ISSUE OF SOME SENSITIVITY; INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE MINISTER CAMPILLO SAENZ WAS QUOTED TO SIMILAR EFFECT BY JORNAL DO BRASIL. CAMPILLO WAS ALSO CREDITED WITH REMARK THAT MEXICO'S "THREE THOUSAND KILOMETERS OF BORDER WITH THE UNITED STATES GIVES US THE GREAT RESPONSIBILITY BEFORE LATIN AMERICANS OF AFFIRMING OUR PERSONALITY WITHIN A NATIONALIST SPIRIT, WITHOUT HOSTILITIES TOWARD OTHER COUNTRIES," AND WITH SUGGESTION THAT LA COUNTRIES HARMONIZE THEIR RULES REGARDING FOREIGN CAPITAL, EXPLAINING "IF THE OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED BY ONE COUNTRY ARE DIFFERENT FROM THE OPPORTUNITIES THAT OTHER NATIONS OFFER, THE INVESTORS WILL PLAY WITH THOSE DETAILS, TRYING TO BENEFIT THEMSELVES TO THE MAXIMUM."

2. VISIT IN GENERAL SEEMED TO BE PROCEEDING IN FRIENDLY FASHION, WITH ECHEVERRIA AND COMPANY PAYING REPEATED TRIBUTE TO SIZE AND STRENGTH OF BRAZILIAN ECONOMY, AND TO ITS CONTRIBUTION TO LA INTEGRATION. ACCORDING TO PRESTIGIOUS ESTADO DE SAO PAULO, 29 BRAZILIAN-MEXICAN AGREEMENTS WERE SIGNED "AT THE ENTREPRENEURIAL LEVEL." ECHEVERRIA'S CONTINUING NONCHALANCE TOWARD PROTOCOLARY NICETIES WAS NOTED BY JORNAL DO BRASIL, WHICH REPORTED THAT ECHEVERRIA ARRIVED (EVENING JULY 22) IN RIO, WHERE GOVERNOR CHAGAS FREITAS AND OTHER AUTHORITIES WERE WAITING, TWO AND A HALF HOURS LATE.

3. WIDELY-READ NEWSWEEKLY VEJA CAME OUT JULY 22 WITH INTERVIEW WITH ECHEVERRIA CONDUCTED JUST BEFORE HIS TRIP BEGAN. ASKED ABOUT PURPOSE OF TRIP AND POSSIBILITY OF LA "PACT," ECHEVERRIA NOTED CONTINUING DIVISIONS AMONG LA COUNTRIES, ADDING THAT BENEFICIARIES OF THAT DIVISION ARE "THE LARGE BUYERS OF OUR BASIC PRODUCTS." THUS, HE SAID, "I AM GOING TO PROPOSE THAT WE DEFEND OURSELVES A LITTLE MORE." ECHEVERRIA ADDED, "MEXICO HAS BEEN DEPENDING, FUNDAMENTALLY ON ONLY ONE MARKET: THE UNITED STATES, OUR GOOD NEIGHBORS AND GOOD FRIENDS. BUT THIS IS NOT USEFUL (CONVENIENTE), NOT EVEN FOR THE AMERICANS." IN RESPONSE TO SUBSEQUENT

QUESTIONS, ECHEVERRIA CALLED FOR A NEW ECONOMIC ORDER AS A MEANS OF AVOIDING INTERNATIONAL STRIFE, SPOKE OF POSSIBLE BRAZILIAN-MEXICAN COOPERATION IN EXPANSION OF MEXICAN ELECTRICAL AND PETROLEUM INDUSTRIES, DEFINED THE THIRD WORLD AS THE TWO-THIRDS OF HUMANITY NOT ENJOYING A HIGH DEGREE OF ECONOMIC, TECHNOLOGICAL, AND INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT, AND CALLED FOR THESE COUNTRIES TO FORGET THEIR IDEOLOGICAL AND POLITICAL DIFFERENCES, AS THE GREAT POWERS ARE DOING, IN ORDER TO FAVOR THEIR INTERESTS. ECHEVERRIA AGREED THAT THE MEXICAN ECONOMY IS MIXED, ADDING THAT "IT IS NECESSARY TO HAVE AN ESSENTIALLY NATIONALIST CRITERION IN ORDER TO DEFEND ONESELF AGAINST THE TRANSNATIONAL COMPANIES AND MANY FORMS OF PRESSURE AGAINST THE DEVELOPING COUNTRIES." HE CONFIRMED THAT HE WOULD TAKE PART IN THE CARACAS LOS CONFERENCE, AND SAID "I WILL SPEAK OF THE NON-COMPREHENSION OF JAPAN, THE U.S., AND THE USSR IN RELATION TO THE COUNTRIES WHICH ARE NOT GREAT FISHING POWERS."

4. IN ESTADO DE SAO PAULO INTEVIEW CARRRIED JULY 23, FOREIGN MINISTER RABASA SAID INTER ALIA THAT MEXICAN-BRAZILIAN TALKS HERE WOULD HAVE AN OPEN AGENDA, THAT CUBA WOULD BE DISCUSSED IF IT AROSE BUT MEXICO WOULD NOT RAISE IT (PLANNING TO STICK TO BILATERAL MATTERS INCLUDING CULTURAL AND TECHNICAL EXCHANGE), THAT ALL LA NATIONS SHOULD UNITE IN SUPPORT OF ECONOMIC CHARTER, THAT MEXICO HOPED TO ACHIEVE TRUE LA INTEGRATION AND HAD NO LEADERSHIP ASPIRATIONS, AND THAT TRUE INTEGRATION WOULD REQUIRE ECONOMIC INTEGRATION. RABASA PRAISED THE NEW DIALOGUE BUT AGREED U.S. TRADE LAWS (OR THEIR EXECUTION) COULD CREATE PROBLEMS. HE SAID THAT ARGENTINA FOREIGN MINISTER VIGNES HAS NOT YET INITIATED CONSULTATIONS REGARDING THE MARCH 1975 MEETING IN BUENOS AIRES, AND THAT IN RESPONSE TO HIS QUESTIONS, VIGNES HAD SAID HE HAD NOT DECIDED WHETHER CONSENSUS WAS NECESSARY OR A SIMPLE MAJORITY WAS ADEQUATE TO PERMIT CUBAN PARTICIPATION. ACCORDING TO RABASA, VIGNES SAID RESOLVING THAT QUESTION WOULD BE ONE OF THE PURPOSES OF HIS CONSULTATION.

SUBJECT: ECONOMIC ASPECTS OF PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA'S VISIT.

1. JOINT DECLARATION OF PRESIDENTS OF ARGENTINA AND MEXICO DEALT WITH A NUMBER OF ECONOMIC QUESTIONS. PARTICULAR EMPHASIS WAS ON SUPPORT FOR LATIN AMERICAN INTEGRATION. DECLARATION ADVOCATED REFORMING STRUCTURE OF LAFTA SO AS TO EVENTUALLY ARRIVE AT A LATIN AMERICAN COMMON MARKET. BOTH EXPRESSED INTENTION OF ESTABLISHING CLOSER RELATIONS WITH THE ANDEAN GROUP "AND OTHER SUBREGIONAL GROUPS". THEY ALSO AGREED ON FORMING BINATIONAL AND MULTINATIONAL LATIN AMERICAN FIRMS AS INSTRUMENTS OF LATIN AMERICAN INTEGRATION, AND STATED THAT "PREFERENTIAL CONDITIONS" SHOULD BE GRANTED TO SUCH FIRMS.

2. DECLARATION GAVE SUPPORT TO SEVERAL LA SACRED COWS SUCH AS PERMANENT SOVEREIGNTY OVER NATURAL RESOURCES, SOVEREIGN RIGHTS OF STATES TO ENSURE THAT FOREIGN INVESTORS OBEY LAWS AND POLICIES OF HOST COUNTRY

(ADDING THAT COUNTRY OF ORIGIN HAS RESPONSIBLITY FOR BEHAVIOUR OS MULTINATIONALS); JUST PRICES FOR LDCS' EXPORT PRODUCTS, BOTH RAW MATERIALS AND MANUFACTURES; IMPROVED TERMS OF TRADE FOR LCDS; AND THOROUGH REVISION OF WORLD ECONOMIC SYSTEM TO FAVOR LDCS.

3. THEY STATED THA MTN HAS EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY TO INCREASE LDC PARTICIPATION IN WORLD TRADE, BUT ONLY IF LDCS ARE GRANTED DIFFERENTIAL TREATMENT, ARE NOT REQUIRED TO GIVE RECIPROCITY FOR CONCESSIONS THEY RECEIVE, AND IF MARGINS OF PREFERENCE ESTABLISHED BY GSPS ARE MAINTAINED.

4. THEY AGREED ON NECESSITY OF OBTAINING RECOGNITION OF RIGHTS OF COASTAL STATES OVER SEAS ADJACENT TO THEIR COASTS, UP TO A DISTANCE OF 200 MILES, WITHOUT AFFECTING FREEDOM OF NAVIGATION AND OVERFLIGHT IN ACCORDANCE WITH INTERNATIONAL RULES. THEY ALSO AGREED THAT COASTAL STATE SOVEREIGNTY EXTENDS TO THE OUTER EDGE OF THE CONTINENTAL SHELF EVEN WHEN IT IS MORE THAN 200 MILES FROM THE COAST. FURTHERMORE, THEY SAID THE COASTAL STATE SHOULD HAVE EXCLUSIVE RIGHTS TO EXPLORATION, RESEARCH, EXPLOITATION AND CONSERVATION OF RESOURCES OF ITS AREA.

5. MRS. PERON MANAGED TO SECURE PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA'S AGREEMENT TO A STATEMENT IN THE JOINT DECLARATION SUPPORTING ARGENTINA'S POSITION IN ITS CONTROVERSY WITH BRAZIL OVER JOINT USE OF THE PARANA RIVER SYSTEM. THE TWO COUNTRIES AGREED THAT EXPLOITATION AND CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES WHICH ARE SHARED BY TWO OR MORE STATES SHOULD BE CARRIED OUT EQUITABLY ON THE BASIS OF A "SYSTEM OF ADEQUTE PRIOR INFORMATION AND CONSULTATION."
UNCLASSIFIED

6. PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA DID NOT SECURE PRESIDENT PERON'S AGREEMENT TO CREATE A PERMANENT LATIN AMERICAN ORGANIZATION FOR CONSULTATION AND COOPERATION IN THE ECONOMIC, SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNOLOGICALAREAS. THE JOINT DECLARATION STATES THAT PRESIDENT PERON, AND SHE RECEIVED IT WITH GREAT INTEREST AND PROMISED TO STUDY IT.

7. THERE WAS CONSIDERABLE CONTRAST BETWEEN THE TWO SPEECHES ON THE OCCASION OF THE SIGNING OF THE JOINT DECLARATION. PRESIDENT PERON'S WAS SHORT AND CORDIAL, BUT WITH LITTLE SUBSTANTIVE CONTENT, WHEREAS ECHEVERRIA'S WAS FULL OF CALLS TO COMBAT "COLONIALISM",SUBJUGATION" AND "DEPENDENCE". FOR EXAMPLE, "UNDERDEVELOPMENT IS THE RESULT OF A SYSTEM ORGANIZATED TO BENEFIT THE POWERFUL NATIONS. IT (UNDERDEVELOPMENT) IS THE OPPOSITE POLE AND THE LOGICAL COUNTERPART OF SOCIETIES FOUNDED ON OPULENCE, WASTE AND EXPLOITATION."

SUMMARY: ECHEVERRIA VISIT CONTINUED ROUTINELY. HE ARRIVED JULY 23 IN BRASILIA, WHERE AT FORMAL DINNER HE AND GEISEL EXCHANGED SPEECHES. THE VISITOR'S WAS RATHER POINTED. END SUMMARY.

1. ECHEVERRIA BEGAN JULY 23 IN RIO BY VISITING A SHIPYARD WHERE, ACCORDING TO O ESTADO DE SAO PAULO, IN TALKING WITH REPORTERS HE "EMPHASIZED THE NECESSITY OF RESTRUCTURING THE OAS TO PERMIT THE ENTRY OF ALL THE COUNTRIES OF THE CONTINENT (SIC), ESPECIALLY CUBA." ACCORDING TO SAME

STORY, ECHEVERRIA ALSO CALLED "INDISPENSABLE" THE UNION OF LA COUNTRIES REGARDING THEIR PRODUCTS: "WHAT WE ARE GOING TO PROPOSE TO THE BRAZILIAN GOVERNMENT", HE WAS QUOTED AS SAYING, " IS THE CREATION OF AN ORGANISM TO DEFEND OUR PRODUCTS IN THE UPS AND DOWNS OF THE INTERNATIONAL MARKET." AFTER VISITING TWO MONUMENTS AND DEPOSITING WREATH AT TOMB OF UNKNOWN SOLDIER,

2. HIS NONCHALANT STYLE CONTINUED TO ATTRACT COMMENT: NOTED WERE THE RELAXING EFFECT HE HAD ON HIS SECURITY PROTECTION, HIS TARDY (30-40 MINUTES) ARRIVAL IN BRASILIA, WHERE HE WAS GREETED BY PRESIDENT GEISEL, FOREIGN MINISTER SILVEIRA, AND OTHER AUTHORITIES, AND HIS TARDY (45 MINUTES) ARRIVAL AT THE PRESIDENTAL PALACE, WHERE HE AND GEISEL (DESCRIBED AS "GOOD-HUMORED" DURING THE WAIT) EXCHANGED DECORATIONS AND MET PRIVATELY (WITH FOREIGN MINISTERS) FOR ABOUT 20 MINUTES.

3. TWO PRESIDENTS MET AGAIN AT FORMAL DINNER AT FOREIGN MINISTRY, THIS TIME EXCHANGING SPEECHES. HIGHLIGHTS:

A. GEISEL PRAISED CHEVERRIA'S "INTENSE CONCERN WITH SOCIAL JUSTICE AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ... AND ... CLEAR COMPREHENSION OF THE INTERDEPENDENCE OF NATIONS." HE WENT ON TO DECLARE BRAZIL'S "SOLIDARITY IN THE WORKING UP (ELABORACAO)" OF THE ECONOMIC CHARTER, NOTING BRAZIL'S PREVIOUS EFFORTS ON BEHALF OF COLLECTIVE ECONOMIC SECURITY, AND SAID BRAZIL WAS COMMITTED TO COOPERATION WITH OTHER NATIONS WITH A VIEW TO "NATIONAL ANC CONTINENTAL" DEVELOPMENT. REITERATING ANOW-FAMILIAR POINT, GEISEL DECLARED THAT BRAZIL DOES NOT SEEK TO PREDOMINATE, AS IT DOES NOT ACCEPT HEGEMONIES. NOTING THE ABSENCE OF BELATERAL PROBLEMS, HE CALLED IT "EVIDENT" THAT BRAZIL AND MEXICO HAVE BROAD POSSIBILITIES OF ESTABLISHING "INTENSE AND FRUITFUL BELATERAL INTERCHANGE OF EVERY KIND." ACKNOWLEDGING THAT PROBLEMS OF TRANSPORTATION CONTINUE BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES, GEISEL SAID THE MOMENT HAD ARRIVED TO "ESTABLISH NAVIGATION LINES, STIMULATE AIR TRANSPORT, AND ADJUST THE MODALITIES OF COOPERATION IN ALL FIELDS, IN ORDER TO MAKE RECIPROCAL RELATIONS REAL AND ADVANTAGEOUS FOR BOTH."

B. ECHEVERRIA SAID HIS VISIT CAME AT TIME "WHEN THE READJUSTMENT OF INTERESTS BETWEEN THE GREAT HEGEMONIC POWERS PRESENTS TO THE REST OF THE WORLD SERIOUS ALTERNATIVES: ACCEPT THE LIFE-MODELS OF THE DOMINANT COUNTRIES AND TIE OURSELVES TO THEIR STRATEGY, OR TAKE OVER THE DIRECTION OF OUR OWN DESTINY." ASSERTING THAT BRAZIL AND MEXICO HAVE DEALT SEVERE BLOWS TO "SUPPOSED RACIAL SUPERIORITY BASED ON AN ETHNOCENTRIC VISION OF THE WORLD," ECHEVERRIA SAID ETHNIC INTEGRATION IS ONLY ONE STEP: "ECONOMIC INEQUALITY IS THE GREATEST CHALLENGE WE WILL HAVE TO OVERCOME IN ORDER TO ACHIEVE TRUE INTERNAL COHESION." HE CALLED FOR THE LA NATIONS, WHILE RECOGNIZING THEIR DIFFERENCES, TO ACHIEVE THE MAXIMUM POSSIBLE CONGRUENCE IN THEIR DEVELOPMENT POLICIES. " TO GIVE COHERENCE TO ALL THESE TASKS, WE HAVE POINTED OUT THE NECESSITY OF GREATING A MULTINATIONAL INSTITUTION TO UNITE WITH EACH OF THE EXISTING INSTRUMENTS, WHILE LOOKING AT THE PROBLEM FROM A BROADER PERSPECTIVE, FROM WHICH MAY ARISE STRATEGIES OF OVERALL COORDINATION." AFTER DECLARING THAT BRAZIL AND MEXICO CAN DO MUCH TOGETHER, ECHEVERRIA WENT INTO AN EXTENSIVE DEFENSE OF ECONOMIC SOVEREIGNTY, AND FROM THERE TO A SERIES OF ASSERTIONS TO THE EFFECT THAT MEXICO'S POLICIES ARISE FROM THE STRUGGLES AND NEEDS OF ITS PEOPLE. "FOR YEARS, OVERALL STATISTICS OF THE ECONOMIC GROWTH OF MY COUNTRY MADE IT POSSIBLE TO THINK THAT WE HAD TRIUMPHED OVER UNDERDEVELOPMENT, ALTHOUGH IT WAS ENOUGH TO SEE THE SURROUNDING SOCIAL REALITY TO CONVINCE US OF THE CONTRARY . . . . COMBATTING INTERNAL ECONOMIC INEQUALITY HAS BEEN, FROM THE BEGINNING OF THE CURRENT GOVERNMENTAL PERIOD, THE FIRST OF OUR OBJECTIVES."

4. ACCORDING TO THE JORNAL DE BRASILIA, TWO PHRASES WERE STRICKEN FROM ECHEVERRIA'S SPEECH AFTER THE ADVANCE TEXT WAS DISTRIBUTED TO REPORTERS. THEY ARE (AS PRINTED ON THE PAPER'S FRONT PAGE): "THE SPEED WITH WHICH EVENTS ARE OCCURRING THESE DAYS WILL DEMAND FROM THIS GREAT COUNTRY (BRAZIL) THE VISION NECESSARY TO ADAPT ITSELF TO THEM (THE EVENTS) WITH JUSTICE AND TIMELINESS;" AND "THIS PEACE CANNOT BASE ITSELF ON THE CONTAINMENT OF THE MARGINALIZED MASSES, BUT RATHER IN THEIR EFFECTIVE INCORPORATION IN THE HISTORIC WORK. IF WE DO NOT PROVIDE IT TO THEM, THEY WILL DO IT THEMSELVES. HISTORY WILL JUDGE OUR ACTS BY THE WAY WITH WHICH WE CONFRONT THIS GREAT CHALLENGE OF OUR PEOPLES." COMMENT: EVEN AS DELIVERED, THE SPEECH SEEMS, IN THE BRAZILIAN CONTEXT, POINTED ENOUGH.

TO GAIN ITS ECONOMIC INDEPENDENCE.

(B) WHILE LAUDING VENEZUELA'S MOVES TO PROMOTE INTEGRATION, ECHEVERRIA AT THE SAME TIME CALLED FOR THE CREATION OF A LATIN AMERICAN ORGANIZATION FOR ECONOMIC CONSULTATION AND CORRDINATION WHICH WOULD COMPLEMENT EXISTING ORGANIZATIONS AND FACILITATE JOINT PROGRAMS OF BROAD PERSPECTIVE SUCH AS THE RATIONAL USE OF NATURAL RESOURCES, COMMERCIAL TIES, COORDINATION OF POLICIES IN REGARD TO FOREIGN CAPITAL AND TECHNOLOGY, MUTUAL ASSISTANCE IN REGARD TO FOOD RESERVES, SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNOLOGICAL INTERCHANGE, AND THE CREATION OF LATIN AMERICAN FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS.

(C) ASSAULTS ON NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY ALSO OCCUR WHEN STATES YIELD BEFORE FOREIGN INTERVENTION OR COLONIALIST PRETENTIONS. IN CONTRAST, LATIN AMERICAN COHESION BOTH DEFENDS AND STRENGTHENS THE INDEPENDENCE OF STATES.

(D) MEXICO IS CONVINCED THAT IN ORDER TO FIGHT UNDERDEVELOPMENT IT IS NECESSARY TO ACT SOLIDLY ALONGSIDE THE THIRD WORLD AND FOR THIS REASON PROPOSED DURING UNCTAD III THE ADOPTION OF A CHARTER OF ECONOIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF STATES.

(E) LIKE MEXICO, VENEZUELA WILL SOON CONTROL ITS PETROLEUM AND WILL BE ABLE TO PUT THESE RESOURCES AT THE SERVICE OF ALL ITS CITIZENS. VENEZUELA'S PROBLEM IS NOT THE SCARCITY OF FINANCIAL RESOURCES BUT THE STRUCTURAL IMBALANCE IMPOSED BY FOREIGN DOMINATION. COLONIALISM DOES NOT PROMOTE THE PROGRESS OF MANKIND BUT RATHER THE PROGRESS OF SOME AT THE COST OF OTHERS.

3. ON JULY 26 IN A 30-MINUTE LOW-KEY, UNEMOTIONAL ADDRESS TO A JOINT SESSION OF THE VENEZUELAN CONGRESS ECHEVERRIA DREW APPLAUSE ONLY ONCE, WHEN HE DECLAIMED THAT A STATE'S CHOICE OF A PARTICULAR POLITICAL OR ECONOMIC ORGAINZATION DOES NOT JUSTIFY ITS EXCLUSION FROM THE AMERICAN SYSTEM. THE ABSENCE OF CUBA, HE EMPHASIZED, MAKES IMPOSSIBLE A COMPLETE AMERICA. ECHEVERRIA ALSO LAUDED THE DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES SHARED BY VENEZUELA AND MEXICO. HE PROPOSED THAT THE POLITICAL DIVERSITIES REPRESENTED IN THE VENEZUELAN CONGRESS ALSO BE EMULATED IN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS. HE PROTESTED FOREIGN PRES-SURES THAT WISH THE CONTINUATION OF THE EXISTING SIMPLIFIED ECONOMIES IN LATIN COUNTIRES IN ORDER TO PROTECT THEIR FOREIGN MARKETS, THE ACTIONS OF TRANSNATIONAL COMPANIES, AND NATIONAL INTERESTS THAT WISH TO SUBDIVIDE THE WORLD. SPEAKING OF INTEGRATION HE SAID THAT THE OAS HAS A USEFUL ROLE DURING THE SPOCH OF THE COLD WAR BUT THAT THE LATIN AMERICAN STATES TODAY SHOULD PREVENT ITS USE AGAINST THEIR INTERESTS BY HEGEMONIC POWERS.

4. PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA IS SCHEDULED TO LEAVE CARACAS MONDAY, JULY 29. DESTINATION IS PRESUMABLY JAMAICA (MEXICO'S 5912). ONE CARACAS NEWSPAPER HAS ATTRIBUTED A STATEMENT TO MEXICAN PRESS SECRETARY MAURO JIMENEZ THAT PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA WILL "SOON"MAKE A VISIT TO CUBA. THIS STATEMENT WAS MADE IN RESPONSE TO A REPORTER'S QUESTION AND NO DETAILS WERE OFFERED.

SIGNED, COVERING ESTABLISHMENT OFMIXED COMMISSION, SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICAL COOPERATION,MARITIME TRANSPORT, TOURISM COOPERATION, TALKS ON PEMEX-PETROBRAS COOPERATION, TALKS ON ESTABLISHMENT OF LINES OF CREDIT FOR TRADE,AND COOPERATION BETWEEN GOB'S NATIONAL BANK OF ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ANDMEXICO'S NACIONAL FINANCIERA SA.

3. JOINT DECLARATION AFFIRMED SUPPORT FOR NON-INTERVENTION, PEACEFUL SOLUTIONS, TERRITORIAL INTEGRITY, "UNEQUAL TREATMENT FOR UNEQUAL COUNTRIES," ADOPTION BY NEXT UNGA OF ECONOMIC CHARTER, RIGHT OF COASTAL STATES TO EXPLOIT AND DEFEND SEA AND SUBSEA RESOURCES OUT TO 200 MILES, RIGHT OF DEVELOPING COUNTRIES TO DEFEND PRICES OF EXPORT PRODUCTS, AND ESTABLISHMENT IN LA OF "COLLECTIVE ECONOMIC SECURITY FOR DEVELOPMENT." ECHEVERRIA PLUMPED FOR CREATION OF LA ORGANISM OF CONSULTATION AND ECONOMIC COOPERATION, IDEA WHICH GEISEL PROMISED TO STUDY, BOTH PRESIDENTS PRAISED TLATELOLCO AND WASHINGTON MEETINGS, CALLED FOR "REVITALIZATION" OF LAFTA, AND EXPRESSED PLEASURE AT SIGNING OF THE 11 AGREEMENTS. FINALLY, GEISEL ACCEPTED ECHEVERRIA'S INVITATION TO VISIT MEXICO.

4. RESPONDING TO QUESTIONS AT PRESS CONFERENCE (WHICH SO FAR, AT LEAST, HAS BEEN SCANTILY REPORTED), ECHEVERRIA EXPLAINED THAT DELETIONS HAD BEEN MADE FROM HIS SPEECH (REFTEL) " BECAUSE IT WAS VERY LONG AND I WANTED TO SHORTEN IT," DECLAREDTHAT IN NONE OF HIS CONVERSATIONS WITH GEISEL HAD THEY TOUCHED ON CUBA (THIS JIBES WITH WHAT WE HAVE HEARD SO FAR FROM GOOD SOURCES), DEFENDED THE RETURN OF CUBA TO THE OAS ON THE GROUNDS THAT CUBANS NO LONGER EXPORTING REVOLUTION, AND DREW APPLAUSE FROM THE LRGE MEXICAN PRESS CONTINGENT WHEN HE EXPLAINED THAT HE COULD MAINTAIN HEALTH DESPITE HEAVY SCHEDULE OF LAST FEW WEEKS BECAUSE HE SLEPT WITH A CLEAR CONSCIENCE. HE DENIED THAT

BRAZIL AND MEXICO ARE DEVISING A SHARED HEGEMONY, ADDING THAT SOLE CONCERN OF BRAZILIAN EXPANSIONISM WAS NATIONAL INTEGRATION. HE ALSO DENIED THAT IMPORTANCE OF VISIT HAD BEEN PRIMARILY COMMERCIAL, CITING HIS MIGNIGHT-TO-DAWN MEETING WITH INTELLECTUALS IN RIO (WHICH HE SAID WOULD RESULT IN A SMALL BOOK), AND HIS VISITS TO THE CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT.

5. COMMENT: DESPITE HIS DENIAL ABOUT THE PREDOMINANCE OF COMMERICAL SIGNIFICANCE, ASSERTIONS TO THIS EFFECT CONTINUE. IN THIS REGARD, HOWEVER, WE FIND COGENT THE OBSERVATION OF A SENIOR FOREIGN MINISTRY OFFICIAL WHO ACCOMPANIED ECHEVERRIA THROUGHOUT THE VISIT THAT ITS REAL PURPOSE WAS TO MODITY MEXICAN "INSULARITY" AND TO COUNTERACT THE LACK OF PROJECTION THAT MEXICO AND, IN PARTICULAR, ECHEVERRIA HAVE HAD IN SOUTH AMERICA. IN THIS SENSE, THE OFFICIAL THOUGHT, THE VISIT HAD BEEN LARGELY SUCCESSFUL.

4. THE VENEZUELAN CHIEF OF STATE STRESSED THE NEED FOR A NATIONAL, INDEPENDENT ROLE FOR HIS COUNTRY. HE SAID:

"IN THIS WORLD THAT CONCENTRATES POLITICAL, MILITARY AND TECHNOLOGICAL POWER IN VERY LIMITED CENTERS, VENEZUELA DOES NOT WANT TO RELY ON OTHERS BUT TO WORK TOGETHER, NEGOTIATING, MAKING INTERCHANGES OF PROFOUND IDEAS, OF PRODUCTS, OF TECHNOLOGY AND OF GOOD WILL IN ORDER TO PACIFY AND TO PUT THINKGS IN ORDER."

5. ON THE THEME OF ECONOMIC INDEPENDENCE, THE PRESIDENT BELIEVES STRONGLY IN INDIVIDUAL COUNTRIES CONTROL OF NATURAL RESOURCES. "WE BELIEVE IN INTERDEPENENCE WHICH IS FUNDAMENTAL TO AUTHENTIC INDEPENDENCE. IN ORDER TO BE INTERDEPENDENT, IT IS NECESSARY TO KNOW HOW TO BE INDEPENDENT AND FOR THIS REASON VENEZUELA WILL EMPHASIZE WITH FERVOR IN THE DEFENSE OF ITS NATURAL RESOURCES, AMONG THEM PETROLEUM AND IRON, AND IS INITIATING A POLICY OF DEFENSE OF THE ENVIRONMENT AND NATURE IN ORDER NOT TO SUBJECT THEM TO THE EXCESSES OF INDUSTRIAL CIVILIZATION AND TO CAPITALIST SELFISHNESS."

6. WHILE PRESIDENTS PEREZ AND ECHEVERRIA WERE EXCHANGING REMARKS, THE MEXICAN PRESIDENTIAL PRESS SECRETARY MAURO JIMENEZ, IN RESPONSE TO A REPORTER'S QUESTION, SAID THAT PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA WILL "SOON"MAKE A VISIT TO CUBA. JIMENEZ DID NOT ELABORATE ON THE DETAILS OF THE UPCOMING TRIP.

7. ON THE SAME SUBJECT, CARACAS' ENGLISH-LANGUAGE NEWSPAPER, THE DAILY JOURNAL, REPORTS THAT PRESIDENT PEREZ AND ECHEVERRIA MET WITH THE FOREIGN MINISTERS OF THE TWO COUNTRIES TO DISCUSS VENEZUELA'S POSSIBLE RENEWAL OF RELATIONS WITH CUBA.

SCHOOL OF ADVANCED INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY

1740 MASSACHUSETTS AVENUE, N. W. WASHINGTON, D. C. 20036

Statement by Professor Riordan Roett, Director of Latin American Studies, The Johns Hopkins University, School of Advanced International Studies, Washington, D.C. before the U.S. House of Representatives, Committee on Foreign Affairs, Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs, Representative Dante Fascell, Chairman, Monday, August 5, 1974.

Statement-United States-Chilean Relations

Any discussion of United States-Chilean relations must be considered in the broader context of United States relations with Latin America in general. It is no longer sufficient to consider a return to the "traditional" relationship, charaterized by varying degrees of paternalism and neglect in different historical periods. The very terms "paternalism" and "neglect" indicate the quality and tone of the relationship between the United States and its neighbors in the hemisphere - one of dependence and subordination.

It can be argued that the history of Latin America after independence in the early 19th century allowed for no other relationship. The security interests of the United States, itself a new nation, required firm and audacious efforts to preclude European colonization. The lack of self-generating economic development in Latin America, combined with a high level of societal inequality and political chaos in the vast majority of the republics, contrasted sharply with the process of modernization in North America (it is interesting to note that Chile was one of the few exceptions to this general interpretation of the 19th century). As that gap grew ever larger, it led to increasing interest and intervention in the internal affairs of the Latin American nation-states. The Platt Amendment, the Roosevelt Corollary, and the moralism of Woodrow Wilson's policy in Mexico represented the apogee of direct, military intervention.

With the promulgation of the Good Neighbor Policy, under Franklin Delano Roosevelt's administration, and the succeeding initiatives of Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy that resulted in the Alliance for Progress, paternalism and intervention continued but normally under different auspices, save in the Caribbean where the traditional methods were employed. The emphasis shifted to diplomatic, economic, and advisory intervention. Much of the United States role in Latin America after 1945 was predicated on a shared view of the threat to hemispheric security posed by the Soviet Union and international communism. With a reduction in international tension, and the movement from bipolarity to multipoloarity, the United States adopted a developmentalist approach to Latin America that necessitated the transfer of hundreds of millions of dollars of public and private funds, the stationing of tens of thousands of North Americans in Latin America, and required the creation of a "partners in progress" mentality that ended in failure, as had other initiatives.

This all too brief summary of the history of the United States relations with Latin America should indicate the futility of a return to the past for models for structuring a new relationship. The United States must realize that Latin America has changed dramatically over the past two decades. Neither outright military intervention nor more subtle social and economic assistance "package" programs are warranted or required. For better or for worse, Latin American nations have begun to come of age. The recognition of a need for a new policy can best begin in the United States Congress. It does not necessitate the wholesale condemnation or abandonment of past policy. All great powers act in their own interests and those interests often appear to require decisions and policies that will, after the fact, be seen as outmoded or incorrect or actually deleterious to the long-range interests of that power. It requires little courage, and perhaps less intelligence, to condemn the past and attack the United States as an imperialist power bent on the total subversion of Latin American sovereignty. It does require statesmanship and leadership to determine to reshape policy and to restructure an outmoded relationship.

It should be noted that the coming of age of Latin American nation-states (not all of course, but the majority) coincides with the emergence of a series of military governments, with varying ideologies, all authoritarian in that there is little of the pluralist structure of politics that our own constitutional system represents and protects. What is important to remember, and this must be differentiated from the issue of whether or not the United States "caused" the military governments now in power, is that the era of militarism heralds the arrival of the "state" in the nation-state concept. Prior to this time, the governments of Latin America have been weak, ineffectual decision-making units. Today, under the military in a majority of countries, or under authoritarian civilian governments such as that in Mexico, national priorities are set by national citizens. National resources are employed in response to national programs of development. Human resources are identified and utilized in pursuit of Brazilian, Ecuadorean, or Chilean objectives. There is little that we can do or should do to change this state of affairs.

To recommend the adoption of such a policy does not mean that the United States and its citizens should be or are unconcerned when the emergence of a capacity to govern and to develop is accompanied by the violation of human rights and civil liberties, as has happened in a majority of the Latin American states. It does mean that we must be careful to sort out national policy and citizens legitimate but non-official response to events in Latin America. It requires the elimination of those policies that appear to support and/or strengthen governments not congruent with our own political preferences and ideals - even though we simultaneously recognize the right of other nation-states to govern themselves according to their own dictates and preferences.

This is not the time for the United States to think of ways to regain the initiative we once thought we had in Latin America. That initiative brought little but criticism or worse from wide segments of the peoples of Latin America and the United States. A new policy towards Latin America, which would obviously include Chile, and which would best serve the interests of the United States in the conduct of its foreign affairs would emphasize the following:

1) a reduction and eventual elimination of bilateral economic assistance;
2) an increase in legitimate multilateral social and economic assistance through existing and possibly new international institutions;
3) the reduction and possible elimination of military assistance to Latin America except in those instances in which hemispheric security is endangered. That will require the establishment of rigorous standards for policy-makers to preclude a continuing series of loop-holes and exceptions;
4) the continuation of humanitarian aid;
5) a combined search, with our Latin America neighbors, for new institutional mechanisms to mediate conflict and foster development in the hemisphere. This will require a reexamination of the role and functioning of the OAS; serious consideration should be given to moving OAS headquarters from Washington to Latin America and asking the Latin nations to bear the burden of operating costs.

It must be recognized that with new and vigorous governments in Latin America, the possibility for international conflict will increase although it is not inevitable. Where as the United States was able in the past to prevent the possibility of such conflict, it will not have that power in the future. The threat to withhold arms or economic assistance no longer deters. Latin American states have both the resources and the will to conduct an increasingly independent foreign policy. Under such circumstances, it would be in the best interests of the United States to avoid the duplication of the special relationships of the past, and the expense as well, and concentrate on less "political" and more diplomatic and international suasion in accomplishing national objectives in Latin America.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

The adoption of an overall policy approach such as I have recommended here would have obvious and direct application to the state of United States relations with Chile. Serious consideration of the five point porgram I suggest would eliminate the need to use moral standards to judge the internal activities of the Chilean government and provide a more impartial and mature approach. Rather than condemning the Chilean government for what it has done or has not done, and threatening to utilize military and economic assistance as "weapons" to induce certain policy responses as we have done in the past, Chile would naturally fall within the confines of the new policy. Clearly, the adoption of a new set of standards will not eliminate the sincerely felt and justifiable concern for the policies followed by the Chilean government, allegedly, in treating political prisoners. It will eliminate the possibility of employing United States policy in that struggle to gain recognition of the need to protect human rights in all nations at all times and transfer it to international public andprivate organizations and return it to the hands of private groups in the United States who are able to work through like-minded and concerned groups.

The continual effort to employ United States policy in Latin America as a weapon in the struggle to achieve respect for human rights is counterproductive. It creates bilateral tension that prevent the negotiation and settlement of other outstanding issues. It reduces the possibility of quiet, effective pressure being brought to bear by the United States government, through its diplomatic representatives in Latin America, on governments thought to violate human rights. The recommendation that policy be removed from the struggle for human rights is not to reduce the importante of those rights; it is to recognize the realities of power and of sovereignty in the late 20th century in Latin America.

SUBJECT: ITF BOYCOTT REACTION: CHILEAN DELEGATION PRESS CONFERENCE

REF: SANTIAGO 4968

1. SUMMARY: DURING AUGUST 20 PRESS CONFERENCE, CHILEAN LABOR LEADERS JUST BACK FROM STOCKHOLM ITF CONGRESS CLAIMED TWO-DAY BOYCOTT WAS CHILEAN VICTORY OVER STERNER MEASURES DESIRED BY "MARXISTS." DELEGATES SOUGHT TO POSE AS BELEAGURED HEROES FOR LOCAL CONSUMPTION WHILE AT THE SAME TIME CONTINUING CAUTIOUSLY ATTEMPT TO INDUCE GOVERNMENT TO RELAX PRESENT RESTRICTIONS ON TRADE UNIONS. END SUMMARY.

2. ALL EIGHT CHILEAN LABOR LEADERS WHO ATTENDED RECENT STOCKHOLM ITF CONGRESS HELD PRESS CONFERENCE AUG 20 AFTER FIRST CALLING ON MIN LABOR GEN. DIAZ. ACTING AS SPOKESMAN FOR GROUP, PORT WORKERS (COMACH) CHIEF EDUARDO RIOS CLAIMED TWO-DAY BOYCOTT REPRESENTED MAJOR "VICTORY" FOR CHILE IN THAT MARXIST FORCES, "LED BY EUROPEANS WITH SWEDES AT THEIR HEAD," WANTED IMMEDIATE AND TOTAL BOYCOTT. MARXISTS WERE SO COMMITTED TO CHILEAN BOYCOTT, RIOS ARGUED, "THAT THEY COULDN'T LEAVE ITF CONGRESS WITH EMPTY HANDS," AND TWO-DAY BOYCOTT "WHICH IS AN INSIGNIFICANT MEASURE" WAS RESULT.

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

3. RIOS STRESSED POST-BOYCOTT ITF ACTION WILL DEPEND ON REPORT OF ITF INVESTIGATING TEAM, ALTHOUGH, HE ADDED, "I DOUBT IF THERE WILL BE PROBLEMS." RIOS THEN POINTEDLY CITED NUMEROUS GOVT STATEMENTS TO EFFECT THAT TRADE UNION ACHIEVEMENTS WILL BE RESPECTED. SAID RIOS, "WE BELIEVE IN THE WORD OF THE MILITARY LEADERS."

4. RETURNING TO ITF CONGRESS THEME, RIOS AND OSCAR FRIAS OF MARITIME WORKERS CLAIMED THAT CHILE'S "BEST ALLIES" IN STOCKHOLM WERE LABOR LEADERS FROM MEXICO, BRAZIL, U.S., HONDURAS, BOLIVIA, AND "SOME GROUPS" FROM ARGENTINA. EVEN THOUGH CHILEAN DELEGATES WERE NOT SEATED, RIOS CLAIMED THEY WERE ACTIVE IN CORRIDOR CONVERSATIONS AND HAD ISSUED A DECLARATION STATING ANY BOYCOTT WOULD HURT CHILEAN WORKERS MOST. MENTIONING SWEDISH PRIME MINISTER PALME BY NAME, RIOS SAID POLITICAL PRESSURE AGAINST CHILE DURING CONGRESS WAS "TREMENDOUS." HE PRAISED FAIRNESS OF ITF SEC. GEN. BLYTHE, HOWEVER, NOTING THAT CHILEAN MARIXSTS WERE NOT SEATED AND OFFENSIVE ANTI-CHILEAN SLOGANS HAD BEEN REMOVED FROM MEETING HALL.

5. IN SEPARATE STATEMENT, MIN LABOR DIAZ EXPRESSED HIS "EXTRAORDINARY SATISFACTION" OVER ACTIVITIES OF CHILEAN DELEGATION. TWO-DAY BOYCOTT, HE CLAIMED, DEMONSTRATED "THE FAILURE OF MARXIST EFFORTS BEGUN IN GENEVA (ILO CONFERENCE) AND DESIGNED TO CULMINATE IN STOCKHOLM."

6. COMMENT: LITTLE QUALITATIVELY NEW IN PRESS CONFERENCE, WHICH FOLLOWS LINE OF PREVIOUS CHILEAN REACTION TO BOYCOTT (REFTEL). AS EXPECTED, RIOS AND COMPANY ARE PLAYING THE ROLE OF VALIANT DEFENDERS OF CHILEAN HONOR TO THE LOCAL AUDIENCE, WHILE AT SAME TIME CONTINUING CAUTIOUS ATTEMPT TO INDUCE GOVERNMENT TO RELAX PRESENT RESTRICTIONS ON TRADE UNIONS. The ARA meeting this morning was changed at the last minute to one with Harry Shlaudeman when Ambassador Bowdler was called away.

The questions to which Shlaudeman was anxious to have answers from [redacted] had to do with the Friday New York Times story on the trucker's strike in Chile. Harry said that ~~Hearst~~ Reston had called him twice yesterday seeking his comments on the story he was writing and that he had refused to comment. [redacted] said that he was absolutely certain that no CIA money had gone to the truckers. There had, he said, been an in-house proposal to support the truckers; he had taken it directly to Colby with an adverse recommendation which Colby had approved; a proposal for CIA support of the trucker's strike had, therefore, not even been made to the 40 Committee.

[redacted]

The discussion then moved on to what could be done. [redacted] only suggestion, to which Shlaudeman nodded assent, was an outright denial at the noon press briefing.

C.I.A. Is Linked to Strikes In Chile That Beset Allende

Intelligence Sources Report That Money Was Distributed to Help Truck and Taxi Drivers and Shopkeepers

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 — The Central Intelligence Agency secretly financed striking labor unions and trade groups in Chile for more than 18 months before President Salvador Allende Gossens was overthrown, intelligence sources revealed today.

They said that the majority of more than $8-million authorized for clandestine C.I.A. activities in Chile was used in 1972 and 1973 to provide strike benefits and other means of support for anti-Allende strikers and workers.

William E. Colby, Director of Central Intelligence, had no comment when told of The Times's information.

In testimony today before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Secretary of State Kissinger asserted that the intelligence agency's involvement in Chile had beeen authorized solely to keep alive political parties and news media threatened by Mr. Allende's minority Government. The clandestine activities, Mr. Kissinger said, were not aimed at subverting that Government.

Among those heavily subsidized, the sources said, were the organizers of a nationwide truck strike that lasted 26 days in the fall of 1972, seriously disrupting Chile's economy and provoking the first of a series of labor crises for President Allende.

Direct subsidies, the sources said, also were provided for a strike of middle-class shopkeepers and a taxi strike among others, that disrupted the capital city of Santiago in the summer of 1973, shortly before Mr. Allende was overthrown by a military coup.

At its peak, the 1973 strikes involved more than 250,000 truck drivers, shopkeepers and professionals who banded together in a middle-class movement that, many analysts have concluded, made a violent overthrow inevitable.

The Times's sources, while readily acknowledging the in-

K: Hello.

A: Henry, how are you this morning?

K: OK. How are you?

A: Fine. Say, I ran into a piece of information that I think could be very useful to you on your trip abroad. It looks as if Mexico has a discovery comparable to the North Slope, and it's not too far below Houston and it's on shore, which means it can be developed quite rapidly. Now the Mexican government has been quite cozy about it -- are you aware of it?

K: They told me something like this, yes.

A: Yes. Well there is enough to conceivably -- we think it could support at least 2 million barrels a day of exports out of Mexico, and maybe as much as 3. Unfortunately I don't believe anyone in OPEC is aware of this. I have felt maybe if some publicity could be given to it without involving our government that it might be useful. I think it would be better if you were in a posture of commenting on it rather than the bearer of it. I'm sure actually the field is far enough along that the Mexican government is offering some oil for delivery this month and next -- well, this quarter. So I thought I'm going to be in London tomorrow and over until next week, that if the occasion arose I might see if I couldn't at least say something that might start a lead toward this.

K: But what would you accomplish with it?

A: Well, I think psychologically it would be a real setback to the OPEC group. We think very seriously there's as much as 5 million barrels a day now that is without a home, and the prospect of another 2 or 3 coming out of production, even if it's a few years off, would do a great deal towards driving world oil prices down. As a matter of fact, for the first time I really believe we're going to see a break.

K: Yeah, I don't think they can take the heat.

A: Well, it's almost unmanageable now. Even the prospect of 2 or 3 million barrels which is much closer to market coming downstream would really put a hell of a lot more heat on them.

K: Yeah, well the only thing I'm wondering about is if we get the word out too quickly whether it will hurt our bargaining position with the Mexicans.

A: Well I understand the reason they've been so cozy about it is there is internal disagreement whether they should cash in on this, which is conceivably as much as 7 to 10 billion a year for Mexico -- or follow the Norwegian pattern and sit on it as a national treasure. Now, I know enough about Mexico that I don't believe they're going to sit on this kind of money very long.

K: No.

A: And actually I think it is sufficiently useful in the OPEC matter to leak it unless there's some reason our government wouldn't want to.

K: Well, the only concern that I have is what it does to our bargaining position with Mexico, since it's bound to come out anyway.

A: Well, it will, yeah. They have offered 60,000 barrels a day for immediate delivery. I think it was $10:50 a barrel. And this thing is so situated that they can deliver oil into either the Atlantic or the Pacific. It's on the Isthmus of Tawanapek right at the bottom of the Gulf of Tawanapek.

K: Yeah. Well, I hadn't thought it through. My general strategy in a negotiation is to try to assemble as many cards as possible and not play them peacemeal, but I have no strong views, if I did I would tell you.

A: Well, it's a piece of information that you might find useful.

K: No, the information is extremely useful. I didn't know the extent of it. I knew they had some, but I didn't know the extent.

A: Well, Henry, if you'd like, I would have our company come into Washington just as private people to talk to you about it.

K: My problem is that I'm going off to the Middle East and I have next to no time before that.

A: Yes, well, I have looked into this quite carefully and our people are satisfied there's probably 18 to 20 billion barrels there, which is as much or more than Prudho Bay.

K: I don't mind your -- maybe you can get it out in a low-key way if it doesn't start a stampede towards the Mexicans.

A: No, I don't think it would. Actually it would be better if it came from Europe as a rumor. I'll see people over there and can get it started in a very quiet way.

K: OK, why don't you do that.

A: And really, I think psychologically it's very helpful to you right now.

K: Right.

A: Good. How have you been?

K: I've been fine.

A: I've thought about you.

K: Thank you.

A: Goodbye.

I: Well, I haven't seen it.

K: Do you know what he's talking about?

I: No. I sent you a notice of the meeting I had with the Arco people. That just told about the discovery.

K: Look, I know about the discovery. Bob Anderson has been peddling it all over the city last year. How he thinks you can get a concession when you've already declared that it's vital to you, I would like to get some advice on. Well I just want to understand how these great ~~xxxxxxxx~~ business men think.

I: I don't know why they did that. I have no idea.

K: Because they thought it would put pressure on the Arabs., All it will do is force a coalition between Mexico and the Arabs because Mexico will have an interest in selling the oil at the highest prices. If they had a brain in their head they would get a maximum production of the Mexican oil first and that would bring down the prices.

I: Right.

K: What I would like to know is something entirely different. There seems to be a talking paper prepared for the President for his meeting with Echeverria so I expect it came out of ARA, which is busy peddling it around town. The Secretary of the Treasury has already given me his views and seen the paper.

P: Good morning.

K: How are you?

P: Fine. I just wondered if you knew that Echeverria will be up at the U.N. on Wednesday in connection with the charter.

K: No, I didn't.

P: It's highly confidential. I have good resources inside the Mexican delegation, but he'll probably be there. I do not detect in the Mexican delegation the negative attitude that Rabasa expressed to Scali that he thinks this is very serious. I think this will simmer and cool off very quickly. I have expressed to the delegation that we intend within time to have a charter that will be meaningful. Scali's speech was not aimed at the charter. I've had a good response from the Mexican delegation to the tone of that speech.

K: I know Echeverria well. I think the reaction will be very unpleasant. That has been his pet.

P: Their feeling as Rabasa expressed it to Scali, is that the Mexican people will be outraged at this. I can't believe that. I can understand Echeverria and there's no question of their disapproval.

K: This depends in part on how they -- on what the Mexican government says and the Mexican public's reaction.

P: I'm more convinced then ever we simply could not have acceded to the pressure.

K: We voted that way so we obviously agreed with it.

P: I wish I could have pulled something together but there was no way without total capitulation on our part. We even made a few changes on the floor in order to get New Zealand and Australia which helped a little bit.

In international forums, public airing of a US refusal to sell arms to Chile could add considerable weight to the various UN resolutions condemning or censuring Chile.

--Countries in the forefront of the anti-Chile campaign might seek to use the attendant publicity to build support for a move in the UN General Assembly or another UN organ to expel the Pinochet government.

--West European countries which have already taken a strong stand against the Chilean military regime would probably read the US action as a confirmation of their positions.

--Human rights organizations, whether UN (Commission on Human Rights), OAS (Inter-American Commission on Human Rights), or private (Amnesty International), would step up their criticism of the Chilean regime.

Ongoing Chilean relations with Western Hemisphere nations, especially Brazil, Uruguay, and Paraguay, where alleged internal security problems have also contributed to a systematic denial of human rights, probably would remain unaffected. Other hemisphere governments are not likely to follow Mexico's lead and break diplomatic relations with Chile.

Political Effects - Internal. Over the next year, a denial of military assistance would do little to weaken unity of purpose among Chile's ruling military or produce a fundamental reversal of their position on internal security and human rights. Regardless of whether or not the US grants military assistance to Chile, through most of 1975 the Pinochet government is likely to adhere to a plan announced on November 11 to release political detainees in groups of 100, contingent on the willingness of other countries to accept them. However, it will probably continue to:

--insist that many former Unidad Popular (UP) detainees be tried for embezzlement, maladministration, and corruption;

--rely largely on military tribunals to handle the cases of those charged with violating national security measures, despite recent indications that the civil courts are regaining some of their previous autonomy; and

--actively seek and detain persons considered real or potential security risks, especially members of the Movimiento de Izquierda Revolucionario (MIR), even though many MIR leaders already have been killed, detained, or exiled.

Chilean Government concern on political detentions and the denial of human rights is based on the fear that, if the more important detainees are released in response to international pressures and are allowed to remain in the country, they will ally themselves with existing foci of opposition or themselves become the nuclei of active resistance to the government. The junta apparently fears that any relaxation of security measures would give rise to a devastating wave of terrorism from both the left and the right similar to that which is now taking place in Argentina.

The Pinochet government appears to continue to enjoy a large measure of support from a majority of Chileans. They are either indifferent to foreign criticism of Chile or have rationalized the short-term cost of sacrificing human rights as being worth the eventual benefits to be derived from the junta's efforts to clean house as well as to bring economic recovery.

Over the longer term, US censure of the regime, implicit in a denial of military assistance to Chile, combined with the junta's refusal to move toward easing internal security measures, could:

--damage prospects for survival of the military regime; and

[redacted]

--encourage civilian political elements to press for the opening up of the Chilean political system.

TO STABLER) AND THE STRONG VIEWS CONVEYED TO THE DIRECTORS OF THE US PARENT, THAT THE US DIRECTORS WILL FIND IT EXPEDIENT TO CHANGE THEIR VIEWS.'"

3. SENIOR ITC OFFICIAL CALLED DCM DEC 26 TO SAY HE HAD BEEN WITH GILLESPIE IN REGINA WHEN MINISTER HAD FIRST LEARNED OF PROPOSED FURNITURE SALE TO CUBA AND OF ITS BEING ABORTED. OFFICIAL SAID GILLESPIE WAS JUBILANT OVER

REPORT, WHICH HE REPRESENTED AS PLAYING INTO HANDS OF NATIONALISTS IN GOVERNMENT. OFFICIAL SAID AFFAIR COULD NOT HAVE BEEN BETTER TIME NOR HANDIER FOR THOSE NATIONALISTS TO DRAMATIZE THEIR CONCERN OF "US IMPERIALISM" AND HASTEN PENDING LEGISLATION TO COMPEL SUBS OF FOREIGN FIRMS TO OBSERVE CANADA'S NATIONAL POLICIES. HE SAID BEST US OFFICIAL REACTION HE COULD ENVISAGE WOULD BE SOME INDICATION FROM WASHINGTON THAT TRADING WITH THE ENEMY ACT WOULD BE MODIFIED OR ABROGATED. HE NOTED WITH GUARDED OPTIMISM YEAR-END NEWSWEEK INTERVIEW OF SECRETARY'S THAT THERE WOULD BE EVOLUTION IN CUBA POLICY IN 1975.

4. OFFICIAL WENT ON TO SAY HE WAS DISTRESSED OVER THIS KIND OF EPISODE JUST AT TIME NATIONALISTS IN GOVERNMENT WERE BEGINNING TO SUFFER LOSS OF MOMENTUM TO OTHERS WHO FELT BILATERAL COOPERATION WITH USG SO NECESSARY IN LIGHT OF RECESSION, INVESTMENT AND MONETARY PROBLEMS, TRADE NEGOTIAIONS, AND SO ON. EVEN EMR MINISTER MACDONALD HAD BEEN MODERATING BELLIGERENT STAND. BALANCE OF TWO FORCES WITHIN CABINET WAS SO DELICATE AT BEST, THAT THIS DEVELOPMENT COULD ONLY BE SERIOUS SETBACK FOR THOSE BELIEVING IN BASIC INTERDEPENDENCE. EDITORIAL REACTION COAST TO COAST ONLY SUPPORTED NATIONALISTS, AND LESSER LIGHTS LIKE SECSTATE FAULKNER (CHARGED WITH PROBLEM OF TIME MAGAZINE) COULD TAKE IMMEDIATE ENCOURAGEMENT TO PRESS THEIR EXTREME NATIONALISM. COMMENT: THIS OPINION, AS INDICATED, WAS VOLUNTEERED BY FRIENDLY ITC OFFICIAL WHO WE BLIEVE IS SINCERE. FACT THAT US ACCOMMODATION ALONG LINES HE RECOMMENDS, HOWEVER, WOULD NO DOUBT BE TRMPETED BY GILLESPIE AND FRIENDS AS ACHIEVEMENT SHOULD NOT SWAY OUR JUDGEMENT AS TO BEST MANNER OF DEALING WITH MATTER.

5. OFFICIAL SAID THAT "SMALL POTATO" ASPECT OF CASE (OFFICE FURNITURE, AND ONLY IN AMOUNT OF $500,000) ONLY POINTED UP UNDERLYING MISFOURTUNE THAT WE HAD BEEN UNABLE TO COPE WITH PROBLEM OF FOREIGN SUBS SOONER. HE SPECULATED THAT PERHAPS RUSSIANS HAD PUT UP CUBANS TO INSPIRE OR ENCOURAGE THE DEAL. HE DID NOT SPECULATE THAT GILLESPIE MIGHT HAVE BEEN INVOLVED AT EARLIER STAGE.

6. COMMENT: THIS ISSUE IS NO DOUBT HARBINGER OF MORE AND PERHAS WORSE TO COME. GOC IS INCREASINGLY PREOCCUPIED WITH EXPANDING ITS TIES WITH CUBA, E.G.:

A. GILLESPIE ANNOUNCED AT HIS DECEMBER 13 ANNUAL LUNCHEON FOR COMMERCIAL DIPLOMATIC REPRESENTATIVES IN CANADA THAT HE WOULD BE LEADING TRADE MISSIONS TO CUBA (AND VENEZUELA), AMONG OTHER PLACES, IN THE NEW YEAR.

B. EXPORT DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION (EDC) ANNOUNCED DECEMBER 17 SIGNING OF FINANCING AGREEMENT TO SUPPORT

EDC LOAN AGREEMENT SIGNED WITH BANCO NACIONAL DE CUBA, WHO IS BORROWER ON BEHALF OF MARPORT. FINANCING TO COVER CONSTRUCTION PERIOD OF VESSELS WILL BE PROVIDED BY BANK OF MONTREAL AND BANQUE CANADIENNE NATIONALE. REPAYMENT OF LOAN WOULD BE MADE IN 16 SEMI-ANNUAL INSTALLMENTS COMMENCING SIX MONTHS AFTER DELIVERY OF EACH TANKER. TANKERS TO BE BUILT BY MARINE INDUSTRIES LIMITED OF TRACY, QUEBEC, AND ARE SCHEDULED FOR DELIVERY JUNE AND DECEMBER, 1977 AND JUNE, 1978.

C. CBC RADIO NEWS DECEMBER 26 REPORTED EDC PRESIDENT HUGH AITKEN IN MEXICO CITY TO DISCUSS WITH CUBAN DEVELOPMENT AND FINANCIAL OFFICIALS CUBA'S DEVELOPMENT NEEDS DURING PERIOD 1976-80.

EO 11652: GDS
TAGS: PFOR, MILI, OVIP, CI
SUBJECT: CONVERSATION WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET

1. SUMMARY: PRESIDENT PINOCHET WARMLY WELCOMES SECRETARY'S VISIT; REQUESTS U.S. SUPPORT FOR PARIS CLUB DEBT RENEGOTIATIONS; HOPES U.S. CAN FIND WAY TO HELP WITH MILITARY ASSISTANCE; AND ASSERTS CENTERPIECE OF GOC POLICY IS FRIENDSHIP WITH U.S. END SUMMARY

2. I CALLED ON PRESIDENT PINOCHET JANUARY 3 TO SOLICIT ANY VIEWS HE MIGHT WISH TO EXPRESS IN ADVANCE OF MY DEPARTURE FOR PARTICIPATION IN THE COM CONFERENCE AND CONSULTATION IN WASHINGTON. FOREIGN MINISTER CARVAJAL AND DCM WERE ALSO PRESENT.

3. SECRETARY'S VISIT: PRESIDENT PINOCHET BEGAN BY EXPRESSING HIS GENUINE PLEASURE AT THE PROSPECT OF SECRETARY KISSINGER'S VISIT, ASSERTING THAT IT WOULD BE EXTREMELY HELPFUL. HE NOTED THAT THE GOC WOULD HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY TO EXPOSE THE SECRETARY TO THE SAME VIEWS WHICH HAD BEEN EXPRESSED TO MEMBERS OF HIS POLICY PLANNING STAFF DURING THEIR OCTOBER VISIT HERE. IN ADDITION, THE SECRETARY WOULD HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY TO OBSERVE FOR HIMSELF THE REALITY OF THE CHILEAN SITUATION, SO DIFFERENT FROM THE IMAGE WHICH HAS BEEN CREATED ABROAD. HE THOUGHT THIS PARTICULARLY IMPORTANT IN THE AREA OF HUMAN RIGHTS. THE SECRETARY WOULD BE ABLE TO SEE FOR HIMSELF THAT THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT RESPECTS HUMAN RIGHTS. THE PRESIDENT SAID HE WOULD

NOT CONTEND THAT ABUSES HAVE NOT OCCURRED OR THAT THEY DO NOT STILL OCCUR ON OCCASION, BUT THE FACT IS THAT A MILITARY OFFICER IS SERVING A PRISON TERM AS RESULT OF SUCH TRANS-

[redacted]

GRESSIONS AND THERE IS NO QUESTION BUT THAT ABUSES ARE RAPIDLY DECLINING.

UNCLASSIFIED

4. THE SECRETARY WOULD APPRECIATE THAT CHILE HAS SPECIAL PROBLEMS. IT IS CLEARLY IMPOSSIBLE FOR THE GOC TO HANDLE THE JURIDICAL ASPECT OF ARMED TERRORISM OTHER THAN BY MEANS OF MILITARY TRIBUNALS, SINCE THE CIVILIAN COURTS OF ORDINARY JUSTICE HAVE NO BODY OF STATUTE LAW ENVISAGING SUCH OFFENSES. THE PRESIDENT SAID HE HAD BEEN HOLDING DISCUSSIONS WITH THE MINISTER OF JUSTICE WITH A VIEW TO ATTEMPTING TO DISTINGUISH BETWEEN VIOLENT ACTS AND SUCH OFFENSES AS DISTRIBUTION OF PROPAGANDA, REMANDING PERPETRATORS OF THE LATTER OFFENSES TO CIVILIAN COURTS. I AGREED THAT A SHARPER DISTINCTION BETWEEN TERRORIST ACTIVITIES AND OTHER OFFENSES COULD BE HELPFUL.

5. THE PRESIDENT NOTED THAT OFFICIAL GOC PROPOSALS FOR THE RELEASE OF 200 PRISONERS TO MEXICO WERE BEING CARRIED FORWARD IN SUCH A WAY THAT PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA WOULD NOT BE ABLE TO SAY THAT HE HAD NO OFFICIAL KNOWLEDGE OF THE GOC OFFER. PRESIDENT PINOCHET SAID HE HOPED SOON TO BE ABLE TO DELIVER THE 200 PRISONERS, "WITH LAURA ALLENDE AT THEIR HEAD," TO MEXICO.

6. I SAID THAT AS OF NOW THE TENTATIVE DATE FOR THE SECRETARY'S VISIT REMAINED FEBRUARY 18, BUT THAT THIS OF COURSE DEPENDED UPON AGREEMENT WITH OTHER COUNTRIES TO BE VISITED WITH REGARD TO PROPOSED DATES. I SAID WE WOULD BE IN TOUCH FURTHER WITH THE GOC AS SOON AS MORE DEFINITE WORD WAS AVAILABLE.

7. THE FOREIGN MINISTER ASKED THAT I DETERMINE THE SUBJECTS THE SECRETARY WOULD LIKE TO COVER IN ORDER THAT THE GOC MIGHT BE FULLY RESPONSIVE TO HIS INTERESTS. HE SAID HE ASSUMED THAT THE SECRETARY WOULD WISH TO HAVE GOC VIEWS ON SUBJECTS ON THE AGENDA FOR THE BUENOS AIRES MFM. I SAID I WOULD SEEK TO DETERMINE THE SECRETARY'S INTERESTS AND INFORM HIM. I SAID I SHARED HIS ASSUMPTION AND FURTHER ASSUMED THAT THE SECRETARY WOULD WISH TO HAVE CHILEAN VIEWS ON BILATERAL MATTERS AND THE HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUE WHICH POSES SUCH PROBLEMS FOR US.

[redacted]

[redacted]

8. ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE: PRESIDENT PINOCHET SAID THE GOC VERY MUCH NEEDS U.S. SUPPORT IN THE NEXT ROUND OF PARIS CLUB DEBT RENEGOTIATIONS. HE NOTED THAT FALLING COPPER PRICES HAVE POSED A SERIOUS BALANCE OF PAYMENTS PROBLEM TO THE GOC AND THAT DEBT RELIEF IS ESSENTIAL FOR THE GOC TO MANAGE THE SITUATION. I SAID I WAS HOPEFUL THAT WE COULD BE OF ASSISTANCE IN THIS REGARD, AS WE HAD BEEN LAST YEAR.

9. PRESIDENT PINOCHET ALSO EXPRESSED HIS STRONG DESIRE THAT

UNCLASSIFIED

THE USG AVOID PLACING ANY OBSTACLES IN THE WAY OF POTENTIAL U.S. INVESTORS IN CHILE.

10. I SAID THAT FAR FROM IMPEDING U.S. INVESTMENT IN CHILE, WE HAD HOPED TO SEE IT REVIVE. WE HAD BEGUN SOME PRELIMINARY DISCUSSIONS WITH CHILEAN AUTHORITIES ABOUT RENEWED OPIC OPERATIONS HERE WHICH MIGHT SERVE AS A FURTHER INCENTIVE TO POTENTIAL U.S. INVESTORS. I SAID THAT I WOULD BE CONSIDERING WITH MY COLLEAGUES IN WASHINGTON OTHER POSSIBLE WAYS IN WHICH WE MIGHT BE OF ASSISTANCE, INCLUDING THE POSSIBILITIES OF GUARANTEES FOR LOW-COST HOUSING PROGRAM AND EX-IM BANK ACTIVITIES.

11. MILITARY ASSISTANCE: THE PRESIDENT SAID HE COULD NOT FAIL TO MENTION GOC INTEREST IN U.S. MILITARY ASSISTANCE, NOTING THAT THE GOC REMAINED HOPEFUL THAT WE WOULD FIND A WAY TO HELP. I SAID THAT BOTH THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE AND THE EMBASSY HAD EXERTED EVERY EFFORT TO ASSIST CHILE IN THIS AREA. THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH, FROM PRESIDENT FORD DOWN, HAD CONSISTENTLY OPPOSED RESTRICTIVE LEGISLATION WITH REGARD TO CHILE. I READ AND LEFT WITH THE FOREIGN MINISTER, PRESIDENT FORD'S DECEMBER 30 COMMENT ON AID TO CHILE IN HIS STATEMENT UPON SIGNING THE FAA OF 1974, NOTING THAT I HAD SEEN NOTHING OF THIS STATEMENT IN THE LOCAL PRESS. THE PRESIDENT GRIMACED AT THE PART OF THE STATEMENT IN WHICH PRESIDENT FORD INDICATED HE SHARED CONGRESSIONAL CONCERN ABOUT THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION, BUT SEEMED TO TAKE MY POINT ABOUT PRESIDENTIAL OPPOSITION TO THE MILITARY ASSISTANCE CUT-OFF FOR CHILE.

UNCLASSIFIED

12. I ALSO REMINDED THE PRESIDENT OF THE SECRETARY'S CONVERSATION WITH CHILEAN CHARGE GUZMAN IN WHICH THE SECRETARY SAID WE WOULD WORK TO CHANGE THE RESTRICTIVE LEGISLATION IN THE NEW CONGRESS. HOWEVER, I OBSERVED THAT THIS WOULD INEVITABLY REQUIRE SOME MONTHS. PRESIDENT PINOCHET ACKNOWELDGED THAT DELAY WOULD BE INEVITABLE AND ASSERTED HE THOUGHT THE NEW CONGRESS WOULD BE MORE DIFFICULT THAN THE OLD ONE. I SAID THAT MIGHT BE TRUE, BUT OTHER CIRCUMSTANCES MIGHT ALSO CHANGE IN THE INTERIM. I ALSO NOTED THAT WE WERE EXAMING CAREFULLY HOW MUCH LEEWAY THE RESTRICTIVE LEGISLATION LEFT US WITH REGARD TO MILITARY TRAINING, AND WOULD BE IN TOUCH WITH CHILEAN MILITARY LEADERS. PRESIDENT PINOCHET REMINDED ME AGAIN THAT [redacted]

[redacted]

DURING THE ALLENDE GOVERNMENT HE HAD MADE CLEAR TO MY PREDECESSOR, TO GENERAL UNDERWOOD, USCINCSO, AND TO GENERAL MAYBRY, USARSO, THE CHILEAN ARMY'S UNWILLINGNESS TO ACCEPT SOVIET ARMS EVEN AT THE BARGAIN PRICES AND FAVORABLE CREDIT TERMS THEN BEING OFFERED. HE REMARKED THAT CHILE WAS NOW PAYING THE PRICE OF HAVING ASSUMED THAT POSITION.

13. GOC POLICY: GENERAL PINOCHET CONCLUDED BY SAYING THE UNITED STATES WILL ONE DAY UNDERSTAND THAT CHILE IS A TRUE FRIEND, PROBABLY THE BEST, AND PERHAPS THE ONLY TRUE FRIEND IN THE HEMISPHERE. EVEN THOUGH CHILE IS A BETTER FRIEND OF THE UNITED STATES THAN THE U.S. IS OF CHILE, FRIENDSHIP WITH THE U.S. CONTINUES TO BE A CENTERPIECE OF GOC POLICY. "IN OUR CASE," HE SAID, "THAT HAS ALWAYS BEEN TRUE, AND IT IS TOO LATE TO CHANGE NOWM"

SUBJ: CHILEAN DETAINEES TO MEXICO

1. IN REGULAR FRIDAY PRESS CONFERENCE JAN 3, UNDERSEC FOREIGN AFFAIRS COLLADOS SAID MINISTRY HAD HANDED OVER NOTES TO AMBASSADORS IN CHILE OF VENEZUELA AND BRAZIL (IN ABSENCE OF CHILEAN-MEXICAN RELATIONS, THOSE TWO COUNTRIES REPRESENT INTERESTS), THUS "MAKING OFFICIAL" GOC DECISION ANNOUNCED IN PRESIDENT PINOCHET'S NEW YEARS EVE SPEECH THAT IF GOM IS WILLING TO RECEIVE THEM IN MEXICO CITY, UP TO 200 DETAINEES UNDER GOC STATE OF SIEGE STATUS WILL BE SENT THERE "AT NO COST" TO MEXICO. COLLADOS SAID THE 200 PERSONS ARE "NOT NECESSARILY" THE SAME AS THOSE NAMED IN LISTS OF DETAINEES ALREADY GIVEN TO INTERNATIONAL REFUGEE ORGANIZATIONS AS ELIGIBLE FOR RELEASE INTO EXILE. IN REPLY TO QUESTION COLLADOS SAID HE UNDERSTOOD LIST INCLUDES "SOME PERSONAGES THAT IN SOME WAY ARE OF INTEREST" TO GOM.

2. COMMENT: SANTIAGO PRESS HAS CARRIED REPORTS FROM MEXICO TO EFFECT THAT GOM KNEW NOTHING OF PINOCHET OFFER OTHER THAN WHAT IT HAD SEEN IN PAPERS.

[redacted]

3. PERSON DETAINED WHO MAY BE OF MOST INTEREST TO GOM IS LAURA ALLENDE, SISTER OF LATE PRESIDENT. FROM A REMARK MADE TO THE AMBASSADOR BY PRESIDENT PINOCHET JAN 3, WE GATHER SHE IS ON

THE LIST. AS SUCH, SHE PRESUMABLY IS BEING USED AS BAIT, TO ENSURE THAT MEXICO TAKES ALL 200; GOC WANTS TO GET RID OF THESE PEOPLE. HER INCLUSION, HOWEVER, IS ALSO INDICATION OF GROWING SENSITIVITY OF GOC LEADERS TO THEIR IMAGE PROBLEM.

SUBJECT: STATUS OF LAURA ALLENDE AND FAMILY

REF: A) SANTIAGO 7066 (1974); B) SANTIAGO 0067; C) SANTIAGO 0072

1. GIVEN INTEREST IN US AND MEXICO OVER FATE OF ALLENDE FAMILY, FOLLOWING SUMMARY OF SITUATION MAY BE USEFUL:

2. LAURA ALLENDE DE PASCAL, SISTER OF PRESIDENT SALVADOR ALLENDE, REMAINS IN GOC DETENTION AT TRES ALAMOS CENTER IN SANTIAGO. PRESS HAS STATED AND AUTHORITATIVE GOC SOURCE HAS CONFIRMED TO EMBASSY THAT SHE IS INCLUDED IN LIST OF 200 POLITICAL PRISONERS PRES. PINOCHET HAS OFFERED TO SEND TO MEXICO. SHE IS REPORTED TO BE IN GOOD HEALTH AND UNDER REGULAR SURVEILLANCE OF HER OWN DOCTOR, WHO CONFIRMS OLD CANCER IS NOT RPT NOT A PROBLEM.

3. MARIANNE PASCAL ALLENDE, LAURA'S GROWN DAUGHTER, WAS ARRESTED WITH LAURA NOV 2. UNDERSTOOD TO BE HELD WITH MOTHER AND TO BE IN GOOD SHAPE. NO MENTION OF HER EVENTUAL FATE HAS BEEN MADE, ALTHOUGH SHE MAY WELL BE OFFERED TO MEXICO AT SAME TIME AS LAURA.

[redacted]

[redacted]

4. GASTON PASCAL LYON, LONG-SEPARATED HUSBAND OF LAURA AND FATHER OF MARIANNE AND ANDRES. ARRESTED DEC 9 AND DETAINED AT TRES ALAMOS. HABEAS CORPUS (AMPARO) FILED BY ATTORNEY

UNCLASSIFIED

WAS REJECTED BY SANTIAGO APPEALS COURT JAN 2 (REF B). APPEAL FROM THIS DECISION HAS BEEN MADE TO SUPREME COURT, WHICH ON JAN 7 ASKED MIN INTERIOR TO PROVIDE COPY OF DECREE UNDER WHICH PASCAL WAS ARRESTED. ATTORNEY FOR PASCAL ALSO ASKED SUPRME COURT TO SEND JUDGE TO TRES ALAMOS TO INTERVIEW PASCAL, SINCE "UNTIL NOW HE HAS NOT BEEN INTERROGATED, NOR HAS HE BEEN TOLD THE CAUSE OR REASON FOR HIS DETENTION."

5. ANDRES PASCAL ALLENDE, SON OF LAURA. SINCE THE DEATH IN OCTOBER OF MIGUEL ENRIQUEZ, CHIEF OF THE OUTLAWED EXTREMIST MOVEMENT OF THE REVOLUTIONARY LEFT (MIR) AND A FUGITIVE. GOC HAS CLAIMED HE IS IN NORTH-CENTRAL CHILE TRYING TO GET ACROSS BORDER TO BOLIVIA OR ARGENTINA.

6. OTHER PASCAL ALLENDE CHILDREN ARE SO
JPEDRO GASTON AND DAUGHTER DENISE. PEDRO TOOK ASYLUM IN EMB OF ECUADOR AT TIME OF COUP AND SUBSEQUENTLY LEFT CHILE FOR ECUADOR. DENISE LEFT CHILE WITH PRES. ALLENDE'S WIDOW HORTENSIA BUSSI DE ALLENDE.

7. COMMENT: THERE HAS BEEN SPECULATION THAT ARRESTS OF LAURA, MARIANNE, AND GASTON PASCAL LYON WERE PRIMARILY INTENDED TO PUT PRESSURE ON MIR CHIEF ANDRES. GOC HAS CLAIMED (AND WE HAVE NO REASON TO DOUBT IT) THAT LAURA WAS INVOLVED WITH MIR HERSELF AND POSSESSED HAND GRENADES, BUT NOTHING AT ALL HAS BEEN SAID ABOUT REASONS FOR ARRESTS OF MARIANNE OR PASCAL LYON. APPARENT WILLINGNESS OF GOC TO LET LAURA DEPART FOR MEXICO MAY REPRESENT RECOGNITION THAT POLITICAL COST OF CONTINUED DETENTION IS TOO HIGH AND LIKELY EFFECT ON ANDRES TOO LITTLE. WE HAVE NOT NOTED INTEREST FROM ANY QUARTER IN FATE OF PASCAL LYON, WHO HAS BEEN SEPARATED FROM LAURA FOR YEARS AND WHO TO BEST OUR KNOWLEDGE WAS NOT INVOLVED IN POLITICAL OR EXTREMIST ACTIVITY OF ANY SORT BEFORE OR AFTER COUP.

8. CIVIL JUDICIARY NOW APPEARS TO BE TAKING SAME INTEREST IN PASCAL LYON'S CASE AS IN THAT OF EXPELLED CHRISTIAN

SUBJ: "POLITICAL PRISONERS" IN CHILE

REF: (A) SANTIAGO 6851; (B) HCS-10,345

1. SUMMARY. ACCORDING TO HEAD OF GOC'S SECRETARIAT FOR DETAINEES, A GRAND TOTAL OF 30,000 PERSONS HAVE BEEN FORMALLY PROCESSED BY THE SECURITY AUTHORITIES ON "POLITICAL" OR "NATIONAL SECURITY" GROUNDS SINCE THE COUP OF SEPT 11, 1973. OF THIS TOTAL, ABOUT 90 PERCENT ARE TODAY FREE IN CHILE OR HAVE BEEN PERMITTED TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY. OF REMAINING 10 PERCENT, 760 ARE TRUE "POLITICAL PRISONERS" IN SENSE OF BEING HELD WITHOUT FORMAL CHARGE, WHILE ANOTHER 2,900 ARE UNDER FORMAL COURT JURISDICTION, AWAITING TRIAL, OR SERVING SENTENCES. GOC HAS OFFERED OR WILL OFFER ABOUT 400 OF THE 760 FOR RE-SETTLEMENT ABROAD, AND EXPECTS THAT ANOTHER 100 WILL BE RELEASED IN CHILE. FINAL 260 ARE HARD CORE WHO ARE LIKELY TO REMAIN DETAINED INDEFINITELY. SOURCE SAID MININTERIOR BENAVIDES IS EXPECTED TO MAKE NATIONAL RADIO/TV ADDRESS THIS WEEK ON STATUS AND STATISTICS OF POLITICAL PRISONERS. END SUMMARY.

2. EMBOFF CALLED ON COL. JORGE ESPINOZA ULLOA OF NATIONAL SECRETARIAT FOR DETAINEES (SENDET) ON JAN 8 TO CLARIFY LIMITED STATISTICS ON DETAINEES GIVEN BY ESPINOZA IN PRESS CONFERENCE

UNCLASSIFIED

JAN 3. UN REFUGEE COMMISSION LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE GILLES SICOTTE CAME ON SAME ERRAND AND JOINED CONVERSATION MIDWAY. IN PRESS CONFERENCE JAN 3 ESPINOZA HAD STATED THAT THERE ARE 760 "STATE OF SIEGE" DETAINEES, PLUS 2,900 SECURITY CASES AT THE DISPOSITION OF CIVIL AND MILITARY COURTS, FOR TOTAL OF 3,660. (THESE FIGURES TALLY CLOSELY WITH THOSE GIVEN TO EMBASSY IN NOVEMBER BY UNDERSEC JUSTICE (REFTEL A) ESPINOZA REPEATEDLY USED WORDS "POLITICAL PRISONERS" TO REFER TO THESE CATEGORIES.

UNCLASSIFIED

3. TOTAL OF 2,900 IN CIVIL AND MILITARY COURT SYSTEM INCLUDES THOSE WHOSE INDICTMENTS ARE BEING PREPARED (PROCESADOS), THOSE IN TRIAL, THOSE ALREADY TRIED AND SERVING SENTENCES, AND THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN RELEASED AFTER COMPLETING SENTENCES BUT WHO STILL REMAIN UNDER SOME FORM OF COURT JURISDICTION. THIS LATTER GROUP NUMBERS SOME "30 PERCENT" (SAID ESPINOZA'S AIDE SEPARATELY) OR "600" PERSONS (SAID ESPINOZA). ESPINOSA AFFIRMED SPECIFICALLY THAT OF 2,900 IN COURT SYSTEM, ONLY SOME 2,300 ARE ACTUALLY STILL UNDER PHYSICAL DETENTION.

4. ESPINOZA SAID 760 "STATE OF SIEGE," OR UNPROCESSED CASES INCLUDE 100 NAMES ALREADY PUBLISHED OF THOSE WHO WILL BE ALLOWED TO LEAVE AS SOON AS PLACES ARE FOUND ABROAD FOR THEM (SANTIAGO 6868). GOC HAS READY A SECOND LIST OF 100 NAMES TO BE PUBLISHED WHEN FIRST 100 ARE PLACED. STILL ANOTHER 200 ARE ON LIST TO BE SENT TO MEXICO, IF THAT GOVERNMENT ACCEPTS CURRENT GOC OFFER (SANTIAGO 0072). HE SAID LAURA ALLENDE IS DEFINITELY INCLUDED IN THAT LIST. OF REMAINING 360, SOME 100 CAN BE EXPECTED TO BE RELEASED IN CHILE AFTER FURTHER INVESTIGATION AND CONSIDERATION OF THEIR CASES. CORE GROUP OF SOME 250, WHICH INCLUDES THOSE "TOO DANGEROUS" TO RELEASE, WILL REMAIN IN CUSTODY INDEFINITELY. ESPINOZA EMPHASIZED THAT ALL OF THESE FIGURES MUST BE TAKEN AS APPROXIMATE, SINCE THERE IS CONSTANT MOVEMENT IN AND OUT OF JUDICIAL CATEGORIES, NEW RELEASES, NEW ARRESTS, ETC. MOST NEW DETAINEES HELD MORE THAN FEW DAYS ARE MEMBERS OF TERRORIST MOVEMENT OF REVOLUTIONARY LEFT (MIR).

[redacted]

5. ESPINOZA PERMITTED EMBOFF AND SICOTTE A BRIEF LOOK AT A WORKING CHART WHICH PURPORTEDLY SUMMARIZED IN PERCENTAGES UP TO DEC 30, 1974, THE PROCESSING OF ALL NATIONAL SECURITY CASES FROM SEPT 11, 1973. EMBOFF WAS UNABLE TO TAKE NOTES BUT IS REASONABLY CERTAIN THAT CHART, BASED ON DECLARED TOTAL OF 30,000 NATIONAL SECURITY CASES SINCE COUP, WAS IN FOLLOWING CATEGORIES:

(A) -AT DISPOSITION OF COURTS" 8 PLUS PERCENT (THE 2,900 DISCUSSED IN PARA 3 ABOVE).

(:) "SUBTOTAL DETAINED OR PROCESSED" 10 PLUS PERCENT (TOTAL 3660 OF (A) AND (B) ABOVE);

(D) "LEFT CHILE, SAFECONDUCTS, ETC." - (PERCENTAGE NOT CLEAR BUT ESPINOZA SAID "OVER 8000 PERSONS." GOC HAS PUBLICLY CLAIMED THAT ABOUT 8400 PERSONS HAVE LEFT WITH SAFECONDUCTS AFTER TAKING ASYLUM IN FOREIGN EMBASSIES, ETC. THIS WOULD EQUAL ABOUT 27 PERCENT OF TOTAL 30,000);

(E) "SENTENCES COMPLETED" - 2 PLUS PERCENT OR ABOUT 600 TO 700 PERSONS. (PERSONS SENTENCED TO SHORT TERMS WHO HAVE COMPLETED PENALTIES AND ARE AT LIBERTY WITH NO FURTHER HOLD FROM JUDICIAL SYSTEM);

(F) "LIBERATED IN CHILE BY ORDER OF MIN JUSTICE" - ABOUT 62 PERCENT (OR 18,600 PERSONS);

THESE PERCENTAGES AND TOTALS ARE OBVIOUSLY ONLY APPROXIMATE, BUT DO MATCH WITHIN REASONABLE LIMITS OTHER INFORMATION AVAILABLE ON SOME SUBCATEGORIES. ESPINOZA SAID HE HAD RECOMMENDED PUBLICATION OF THIS CHART AND OTHER FULL DETAILS ON PRISONERS, BUT SUPERIORS HAD REFUSED TO DO SO. HE ASKED EMBOFF AND SICOTTE NOT RPT NOT TO RELEASE DATA.

6. ACCORDING TO ESPINOZA, INTELLIGENCE/SECURITY AGENCIES HAVE TIME LIMIT OF 72 HOURS TO HOLD DETAINEES BEFORE THEY MUST NOTIFY SENDET. HE EMPHASIZED THAT CONSIDERABLE NUMBERS OF PERSONS MAY BE HELD FOR A FEW HOURS WHILE POLICE VERIFY THEIR IDENTITIES, QUESTION THEM, ETC., AND THE "GREAT MAJORITY" OF THESE ARE THEN RELEASED. (IT IS CLEAR, HOWEVER, THAT WAYS ARE FOUND TO KEEP OTHER PERSONS LONGER THAN 72 HOURS--SEE SANTIAGO 0130). HE SPECULATED THAT IT MAY BE IN THIS CATEGORY THAT THERE IS MISUNDERSTANDING WHICH MAY YIELD INFLATED FIGURES ON DETAINEES APPEARING ABROAD. ANOTHER MISUNDERSTANDING MAY RESULT FROM FACT THAT STATISTICS ON DETENTIONS INCLUDE PERSONS WHO HAVE BEEN ARRESTED TWO OR MORE TIMES. HE CLAIMED THAT SOME PERSONS ARRESTED ON POLITICAL SUSPICION AND THEN RELEASED GO RIGHT BACK TO SAME ACTIVITIES, WHICH RESULTS IN REARREST. WHEN ASKED DIRECTLY IF HE WERE SATISFIED THAT SENDET IS INDEED INFORMED OF ALL DETAINEES HELD MORE THAN TIME PRESCRIBED, ESPINOZA HEDGED A BIT, EXPLAINING THAT "WE MUST UNDERSTAND" THAT IN SOME CASES SECURITY AGENCIES DO NOT WANT A DETAINEE'S ACCOMPLICES TO KNOW FOR CERTAIN THAT HE IS DETAINED (REF B). ESPINOZA'S AIDE, A CARABINERO CAPTAIN, IN SEPARATE CONVERSATION WITH EMBOFF, SHRUGGED AT SAME QUESTION AND LEFT CLEAR UNDERSTANDING THAT SENDET PROBABLY DID NOT KNOW ABOUT ALL CASES. BUT BOTH OFFICERS MADE CLEAR THAT SUCH CASES WERE FEW.

7. WHEN ASKED WHY STATISTICS ON DETAINEES AND "DISAPPEARANCES" GATHERED BY VARIOUS SOURCES, SUCH AS INTERNATIONAL INVESTIGATORY GROUPS, SEEMED TO BE GENERALLY HIGHER, ESPINOZA POINTED OUT THAT ASIDE FROM OBVIOUS POLITICAL BIAS OF SOME GROUPS, THE MIR AND OTHER OPPONENTS OF THE GOC THEMSELVES USE "TRICKS." GOC SECURITY AGENCIES HAVE NOTED NUMBER OF CASES OF APPEALS FROM FAMILIES AND FRIENDS TO SENDET, TO THE REFUGEE AND INVESTIGATORY AGENCIES, AND TO THE COURTS (THROUGH HABEAS CORPUS PETITIONS, OR AMPARO), SEEKING

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

INFORMATION ON PERSONS SUPPOSEDLY DETAINED BY THE GOC AND ABOUT WHOM THE GOC GENUINELY KNOWS NOTHING. IN A NUMBER OF INSTANCES FOREIGN POLICE (BOLIVIA, ARGENTINA) HAVE LATER REPORTED TO THE GOC THAT SUCH PERSONS HAVE BEEN ARRESTED IN THOSE COUNTRIES FOR USING FALSE DOCUMENTATION. ESPINOZA SAID THAT EVEN THE CLOSEST FAMILY MEMBERS IN MANY CASES DO NOT KNOW THAT THE SUBJECT HAS SECRETLY LEFT THE COUNTRY OR GONE INTO HIDING, AND MAKE THEIR INQUIRIES IN GOOD FAITH. THESE CASES INFLATE THE ESTIMATES ON SUPPOSED DETENTIONS.

8. ANOTHER "TRICK" WHICH HAS CAUSED CONFUSION HAS BEEN THE PRACTICE OF MIRISTAS AND OTHERS OF CARRYING OR HAVING HIDDEN IN EASILY DISCOVERABLE PLACES LISTS OF REAL OR CODE NAMES OF SUPPOSED CONTACTS. WHEN THE POLICE CAPTURE SUCH LISTS THEY NATURALLY EXPEND GREAT EFFORT IN TRYING TO FIND THE CONTACTS. THE REAL NAMES ARE OFTEN OF COMPLETELY INNOCENT PEOPLE WHO ARE RELEASED AFTER QUESTIONING, BUT WHO TAKE POLICE TIME, SWELL THE DETENTION LISTS, AND OF COURSE THEREAFTER REPRESENT "GOC TYRANNY." THE CODE NAMES ARE MORE OFTEN MEANINGLESS FALSE LEADS FOR THE POLICE.

XPECTED TO GIVE MUCH MORE DETAIL ON NUMBERS.

10. COMMENT: FIGURES GIVEN BY ESPINOZA ARE SIMILAR TO THOSE GIVEN US IN EARLY NOVEMBER BY UNDERSEC JUSTICE (REF A), AND DIFFERENCES ARE EASILY ACCOUNTABLE FOR IN SHIFTS DURING THREE MONTH PERIOD. BUT FIGURES FROM THESE TWO SOURCES FOR THE CATEGORY OF THOSE "AT THE DISPOSITION OF THE COURTS" ARE MUCH LOWER THAN THOSE ATTRIBUTED TO MININTERIOR BENAVIDES IN SRF'S REPORT (REF B).

11. ESPINOZA CONFIRMS THE GOC'S ANNOUNCED DESIRE TO REDUCE TO THE MINIMUM THE "POLITICAL PRISONER" PROBLEM BY PLACING THE MAJORITY OF THE REMAINING PERSONS WHO HAVE NOT BEEN FORMALLY ENTERED INTO THE JUDICIAL

SYSTEM (THE 760 "STATE OF SIEGE" CASES) OUTSIDE OF

E.O. 11652: GDS
TAGS: CI, SHUM
SUBJECT: RELEASE OF EX-FONMIN CLODOMIRO ALMEYDA

SUMMARY. IN MAJOR CONCESSION TO WORLD OPINION, GOC HAS RELEASED TO ROMANIA ONE OF MAJOR FIGURES FROM ALLENDE PERIOD STILL DETAINED IN CHILE. RELEASE WAS WELL TIMED TO IMPACT ON CHILEAN RELATIONS WITH THE U.S., UN AND FRG. END SUMMARY.

1. IN NATIONWIDE RADIO/TV BROADCAST EVENING JAN. 10, INTERIOR MIN. GENERAL BENAVIDES ANNOUNCED THAT GOC WOULD EXPEL TO ROMANIA JAN. 11 FORMER FOREIGN AND THEN DEFENSE MINISTER CLODOMIRO ALMEYDA MEDINA. INCLUDED WITH HIM WOULD BE FORMER JUSTICE MIN. IN ALLENDE GOVERNMENT JORGE TAPIA VALDES, AND ALLENDE PERSONALITIES OF LESSER IMPORTANCE LUIS ENRIQUE MUNOZ SCHULTZ, [redacted]

[redacted]

MAXIMO TACCHI MORAGA, AND LEOPOLDO ZULJEVIC LOBRIN.

2. BENAVIDES SAID CONDUCT OF ALMEYDA AND TAPIA

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

AS MINISTERS HAD RESULTED IN "VERY SERIOUS RESPONSIBILITIES" AGAINST NATIONAL INTEGRITY AND SOCIAL PEACE. SUCH ACTS, HOWEVER [redacted] AS ILLEGAL IMPORTATION OF ARMS INTENDED FOR CIVIL WAR, AND USE OF EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM TO IMPOSE CONTROL OF CONSCIENCE, ARE NOT COVERED IN CHILEAN LEGAL SYSTEM BY PUNISHMENTS ADEQUATE FOR CRIMES. THEY WERE IN ADDITION RESPONSIBLE FOR "OTHER MINOR CRIMES."

3. DECISION TO RELEASE THESE SENIOR DETAINEES WAS "CATEGORIC PROOF" TO WORLD OF GOC'S "GENEROSITY AND GOOD WILL" ON HUMAN RIGHTS QUESTION. RELEASE CONFIRMED GOC'S WILLINGNESS NOT TO PROLONG "UNNECESSARILY" DETENTION OF THOSE WHO HAVE NOT BEEN SENTENCED, AND ITS "EQUALLY IMMOVABLE" DETERMINATION TO GUARANTEE SECURITY OF CHILEANS, BY EXPELLING PERSONS DANGEROUS TO THE STATE.

4. COMMENT: DECISION TO RELEASE ALMEYDA WAS NOT EASY ONE TO MAKE. MANY GOC SUPPORTERS HAVE STRONG FEELINGS ABOUT HIM AND OTHER ALLENDE HIERARCHS, AND WOULD MUCH RATHER SEE THEM PUNISHED THAN EXILED. GOVERNMENT IS INVOLVED IN JUDICIAL PROCEEDING AGAINST ALMEYDA, AND RELEASE FROM DETENTION BEFORE PROCESS IS ENDED MAKES IT INCONSISTENT FOR GOC TO CLAIM IT HAS TO HOLD OTHERS UNTIL JUDICIAL PROCESS CONCLUDED. RELEASE IS ALSO EMBARRASSING ADMISSION THAT GOC AFTER SO MANY MONTHS HAS FOUND NOTHING OF REAL SUBSTANCE TO CHARGE HIM WITH. MOST IMPORTANTLY, HOWEVER, GOC BELIEVES ALMEYDA IS THE ONE SURVIVOR OF THE ALLENDE PERIOD WHO COULD BEST HEAD A CHILEAN GOVERNMENT-IN-EXILE. HIS RELEASE WAS THUS AN EXTRAORDINARY CONCESSION BY GOC TO WORLD OPINION.

5. IN ADDITION TO GOC RECOGNITION OF NEED TO IMPROVE ITS HUMAN RIGHTS IMAGE GENERALLY, WE BELIEVE FOLLOWING WERE IMPORTANT FACTORS IN DECISION ON RELEASE AND [redacted]

[redacted]

ITS TIMING: A) GOC'S EXPECTATION THAT SECRETARY KISSINGER WILL VISIT CHILE IN FEBRUARY, AND RELATED GOC DESIRE MAKE HELPFUL GESTURE WHILE AVOIDING IMPRESSION IT MAKES CONCESSIONS ON HUMAN RIGHTS UNDER OUTSIDE PRESSURE: B) FEBRUARY MEETING OF UN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (PARTICULARLY SENSITIVE BECAUSE OF UNGA RESOLUTION LAST FALL REQUESTING RELEASE OF ALMEYDA); AND C) CONNECTION BETWEEN ALMEYDA RELEASE AND GERMAN AID FOR CHILE (SANTIAGO 0047 AND BONN 18907).

3. IN ADDITION TO ALMEYDA, A SOCIALIST, FURTHER IDENTIFICATION OF OTHER MEMBERS OF GROUP AS FOLLOWS. TAPIA, MEMBER OF RADICAL PARTY, A NON-MARXIST COMPONENT OF ALLENDE'S POPULAR UNITY POLITICAL COALITION, SERVED AS MINISTER OF EDUATION IN ADDITION TO JUSTICE MINISTER. HE WAS DEEPLY INVOLVED IN EARLY 1973 "NATIONAL CONSOLIDATED EDUCATION" (ENU) PLAN TO OVERHAUL CHILEAN EDUCATION, A SCHEME CRITICS OF ALLENDE, INCLUDING TOP MILITARY OFFICERS, BITTERLY OPPOSED AS ATTEMPT AT MARXIST BRAIN-WASHINGTON. ZULJEVIC, A COMMUNIST, WAS SUPT. OF CUSTOMS FOR FIRST HALF OF ALLENDE GOVT. MUNOZ WAS MINOR OFFICIAL OF CENTRAL BANK. TACCHI WAS CITY COUNCILMAN (REGIDOR) OF VAL-PARAISO, AND WAS ALLEGEDLY INVOLVED IN ILLEGAL IMPORTATION OF ARMS. NO PARTY AFFILIATIONS FOR LATTER TWO KNOWN.

4. SANTIAGO PRESS GAVE MODERATE COVERAGE TO RELEASE AND DEPARTURE OF GROUP, ALTHOUGH STORY WAS OVERSHADOWED BY CHILEAN VICTORY IN REGIONAL DAVIS CUP TENNIS MATCHES. MEDIA TOOK CUE FROM MININTERIOR BENAVIDES (REFTEL), STRESSING GROUP'S RELEASE WAS DUE TO GOC'S RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND ITS HUMANITARIAN CONCERNS, AND WAS NOT BECAUSE OF INTERNATIONAL PRESSURE. MOST STORIES STRESSED GOOD HEALTH OF GROUP, WITH GOC'S "LA PATRIA" HEADLINING THAT ALMEYDA DEPARTED "FAT AND VERY HEALTHY." HIGH CIRCULATION "LA TERCERA" TOOK OCCASION TO PRAISE ROMANIA WHICH, LIKE PRC, RETAINED ITS EMBASSY IN SANTIAGO AFTER 1973 COUP. MAINTENANCE OF RELATIONS, TERCERA NOTED, FACILITATED ALMEYDA RELEASE AND SHOWS GOC CAN WORK CONSTRUCTIVELY WITH GOVERNMENTS OF DIFFERING IDEOLOGIES.

5. ALTHOUGH ALMEYDA RELEASE WAS HIGHPOINT OF BENAVIDES SPEECH EVENING JAN 10, HE ALSO REITEREATED, ALTHOUGH PERHAPS ONE NOTCH LESS POLEMICALLY, NOW-STANDARD GOC PROPAGANDA CHALLENGE TO USSR AND ITS COHORTS TO RELEASE THEIR POLITICAL PRISONERS. HE STRESSED THAT CHILEAN DETAINEE RELEASE PROGRAM IS MOVING FORWARD, ALBEIT SLOWLY, AND THAT PLACES FOR MORE THAN HALF

[redacted]

OF FIRST LIST OF 100 HAVE NOW BEEN FOUND ABROAD. BENAVIDES REITERATED THAT GOC IS STILL AWAITING MEXICAN REPLY TO PINOCHET OFFER TO EXILE 200 MORE TO MEXICO, AND HE CHALLENGED GOM TO PUT UP OR SHUT UP. QUESTION OF EVENTUAL RELASE OF THOSE DETAINEES AWAITING TRIAL OR ALREADY SENTENCED CONTINUES UNDER STUDY, HE SAID, BUT HE AGAIN STRESSED INDEPENDENCE OF JUDICIARY WHICH HAS CONTROL OVER THESE PERSONS.

6. COMMENT. AS REPORTED REFTEL, RELEASE OF ALMEYDA WAS SIGNIFICANT GOC CONCESSION TO WORLD OPINION, LOCAL RHETORICAL

NOTWITHSTANDING. HOWEVER, REACTION AMONG PRO-JUNTA SUPPORTERS BEST SUMMED UP BY "EL MERCURIO" EDITORIAL COMMENT THAT GOC SHOULD NOT EXPECT ITS CRITICS TO BE APPEASED BY NIMEYA RELEASE, SINCE THEY SURELY WILL FIND SOME OTHER ITEM" ISSUE WITH WHICH TO BELABOR JUNTA.

SUBJ: RELEASE OF CLODOMIRO ALMEYDA TO ROMANIA

REF: SANTIAGO 0217

1. ROMANIAN CHARGE TOLD EMBOFF JAN 14 THAT GOR AS LONG AGO AS DEC 1973 HAD INFORMED GOC OF IT WILLINGNESS TO RECEIVE EX-FONMIN ALMEYDA SHOULD GOC DECIDE TO RELEASE HIM. OFFER WAS MADE SUBSEQUENTLY TO PRESIDENT PINOCHET, MOST RECENTLY ON DEC 31, 1974, AT YEAR-END DIPLOMATIC RECEIPTION, ALSO TO FOREIGN AND INTERIOR MINISTERS, AND EXTENDED TO INCLUDE ALL OF SENIOR PERSONS DETAINED AT RITOQUE CAMP AND SOME SPECIFICALLY LISTED DETAINEES OF LESSER IMPORTANCE.

2. INTERIOR MINISTER REPORTEDLY CALLED ROMANIAN AMB AFTERNOON JAN 9 WITH OFFER TO RELEASE ALMEYDA AND OTHER FOUR TO DEPART JAN 11, AFTER JAN 10 PUBLIC STATEMENT. CHARGE SAID NO CONDITIONS HAD BEEN LAID DOWN AND THAT ALMEYDA AND OTHERS WERE FREE TO STAY IN ROMANIA OR LEAVE, AS THEY

DESIRED. HE SPECULATED THAT GOC HAD CHOSEN ROMANIA BECAUSE GOR HAD NEVER TRIED TO PRESSURE GOC ON DETAINEES. ADDED THAT RELEASED PERSONS ALL APPEARED IN GOOD HEALTH, EXCEPT THAT ONE OF LESS IMPORTANTONE HAD SOME PHYSICAL PROBLEMS CONNECTED WITH HIS AGE.

3. CHARGE STRONGLY DISCOUNTED POSSIBILITY THAT ALMEYDA WOULD BECOME HEAD OF CHILEAN GOVT IN EXILE. CHARGE SAID HE HAD FOUND FROM HIS TALKS WITH MEMBERS OF CHILEAN LEFT THAT THEY WERE DISUNITED AS EVER, IN GENERAL, BUT WERE ALMOST UNANIMOUS AGAINST ESTABLISHING GOVT IN EXILE. HE ADDED THAT SAME POINT HAD BEEN MADE BY CHILEAN EXILES WHO ATTENDED NOV 1974 MEETING OF ROMANIAN COMMUNIST PARTY.

4. COMMENT. GOC DISLIKE OF MAKING CONCESSIONS UNDER PRESSURE COULD HAVE INCLINED IT TOWARD RELEASING ALMEYDA TO ROMANIA, PARTICULARLY SINCE RELEASE IN ANY EVENT WOULD PLEASE FRG. (SANTIAGO PRESS REPORTS THAT FRG HAS NOW ALLOWED DISBURSEMENT OF 21 MILLION MARK LOAN SUSPENDED AFTER MILITARY COUP.) GOC'S CHOCE OF ROMANIA CAN ALSO BE TAKEN AS FURTHER ATTEMPT TO IMPROVE RELATIONS WITH IT, AND AS A DIG AT ROMANIA'S SOVIET AND CUBAN ALLIES.

CHILE RESPONDS TO GROWING INTERNATIONAL PRESSURES ON HUMAN RIGHTS

Chile's military government has shown itself sensitive to recent international criticisms concerning its treatment of political prisoners and its abridgment of human rights. Rebukes by the Third Committee of the UN General Assembly, the International Commission of Jurists, and the Inter-American Human Rights Commission, together with the anticipated visit of Secretary Kissinger, apparently are working to produce some liberalizing of the internal security system.

The Evidence. Former Foreign Minister Clodomiro Almeyda, the government's most important political prisoner, was released on January 11 after 16 months' imprisonment and deported to Romania. Along with Almeyda, the government also released without trial four ranking officials of Allende's Popular Unity (UP) regime. Almeyda personified the evils of the UP period in the eyes of the military junta, which repeatedly refused to release him until he had been formally tried on charges of embezzlement and misuse of government funds. His release must have been a bitter pill for the Pinochet government to swallow.

Other recent actions taken by the Chilean regime include:

--the release on January 9 of Gaston Pascal Lyon, father of Andres Pascal Allende, leader of the extremist Movement of the Revolutionary Left (MIR) and estranged husband of Laura Allende, after a month's detention without formal charges;

--a proposal by President Pinochet on New Year's Day to release 200 political prisoners, including Laura Allende, if Mexico were willing to accept them;

--the release to the US Embassy of statistics on the number of prisoners taken since the fall of Allende and the current status of detainees;

--the creation, in the face of strong opposition from within the military, of a civilian committee to study the internal security problem and make recommendations by January 31;

--generally mild sentences for Chilean Army personnel secretly tried on charges of "crimes against the order and security of the Army," in contrast to mid-1974 trials of Chilean Air Force personnel on similar charges; and

--a drastic reduction of some 30 military tribunal sentences imposed over a year ago, constituting a virtual admission that the immediate post-coup sentencing was too severe.

Intelligence reports indicate that President Pinochet and his senior military advisers are considering a number of further steps:

--In deference to Secretary Kissinger's proposed visit to Santiago in February, the government reportedly is making plans to release several senior-level detainees.

--All political prisoners may soon be able to appeal sentences imposed by military tribunals directly to the Supreme Court.

--The government seems to be moving to enforce its stated policy position against the use of torture by members of the military intelligence apparatus.

--The "state of siege" may be downgraded, which would restrict the military's authority to take extralegal actions in security cases and would restore some degree of Chile's traditional juridical-procedural safeguards.

Offer to Mexico. President Pinochet's offer to send 200 political prisoners to Mexico "at no cost" to the Mexican Government was made formal on January 3 by Chilean diplomatic notes. Their freedom is conditioned on Mexico's willingness to receive them. The majority of the prisoners are iden fied as members of the extremist MIR or MIR affiliates. principal figure on the list is former President Allende' sister, Laura Allende Gossens, who was arrested in Novem ber 1974 as an MIR collaborator.

Mexico broke diplomatic relations with Chile on November 26, 1974, over the human rights issue,* and has never disguised its hostility toward the military regime since the fall of President Allende. President Echeverri reportedly has accepted an invitation to address the thi meeting of the International Investigative Commission on the Crimes of the Military Junta in Chile, scheduled to meet in Mexico City February 18-21. Pinochet's offer to 200 prisoners to Mexico tends to place Echeverria in a "s up or shut up" position.

Prisoner Statistics. The Chilean National Secretari for Detainees has provided detailed--and apparently reli able--statistics to our embassy on the government's secu operations. According to data, some 30,000 persons have been processed by security authorities on "political" or "national security" grounds since September 1973. About percent of these individuals are free today in Chile or been allowed to leave the country.

Of the remaining 10 percent (approximately 3,660 per sons), about 760 are being held under "state of siege" authority without formal charges. This group includes:

--100 prisoners which the government offered to relea last November 1974 provided other countries would accept them;

--100 additional prisoners to be released after place ment of the above group;

--200 prisoners, including Laura Allende, offered to Mexico;

--100 prisoners whose cases are being studied further, and

* See INR IN-119, "Mexico's Break With Chile", December (SECRET/NO FOREIGN DISSEM).

--260 hard-core Allende and Popular Unity militants considered too dangerous to release (and who probably face prolonged imprisonment).

Approximately 2,900 persons are listed as being under formal court jurisdiction. This group includes:

--prisoners whose indictments are being prepared by the authorities (procesados);

--prisoners currently being tried by civilian or military courts;

--prisoners now serving sentences; and

--prisoners on probation who remain under court jurisdiction (about 600 persons).

Prospects. The Chilean Government is seriously concerned about internal security and will continue to arrest suspects. Rightly or wrongly, President Pinochet and the other chiefs of the armed forces assess the potential for violence as very high if security measures are relaxed too far. They appear to be resolved to weather international criticism for the sake of national survival. Nevertheless:

--the number of detainees probably will be reduced;

--the treatment of prisoners probably will improve; and

--the government may admit that charges against some detainees are unsubstantiated and that sentencing has been too harsh.

Statistics provided by the National Secretariat on Detainees may indicate increasing executive control over the once chaotic situation which characterized the government's security program. The offer to release prisoners to other countries suggests that the government wishes to reduce to the minimum those prisoners who have not been bound over to the judicial system. Finally, the offer to release 200 prisoners to Mexico shows that the Chilean military--in the face of what they consider to be hypocritical attacks by foreign governments--may be learning how to respond to international criticism.

to receive them. The majority of the prisoners are identified as members of the extremist MIR or MIR affiliates. The principal figure on the list is former President Allende's sister, Laura Allende Gossens, who was arrested in November 1974 as an MIR collaborator.

Mexico broke diplomatic relations with Chile on November 26, 1974, over the human rights issue,* and has never disguised its hostility toward the military regime since the fall of President Allende. President Echeverria reportedly has accepted an invitation to address the third meeting of the International Investigative Commission on the Crimes of the Military Junta in Chile, scheduled to meet in Mexico City February 18-21. Pinochet's offer to free 200 prisoners to Mexico tends to place Echeverria in a "put up or shut up" position.

Prisoner Statistics. The Chilean National Secretariat for Detainees has provided detailed--and apparently reliable--statistics to our embassy on the government's security operations. According to data, some 30,000 persons have been processed by security authorities on "political" or "national security" grounds since September 1973. About 90 percent of these individuals are free today in Chile or have been allowed to leave the country.

Of the remaining 10 percent (approximately 3,660 persons), about 760 are being held under "state of siege" authority without formal charges. This group includes:

--100 prisoners which the government offered to release last November 1974 provided other countries would accept them;

--100 additional prisoners to be released after placement of the above group;

--200 prisoners, including Laura Allende, offered to Mexico;

--100 prisoners whose cases are being studied further; and

* See INR IN-119, "Mexico's Break With Chile", December 2, 1974

--260 hard-core Allende and Popular Unity militants considered too dangerous to release (and who probably face prolonged imprisonment).

Approximately 2,900 persons are listed as being under formal court jurisdiction. This group includes:

--prisoners whose indictments are being prepared by the authorities (procesados);

--prisoners currently being tried by civilian or military courts;

--prisoners now serving sentences; and

--prisoners on probation who remain under court jurisdiction (about 600 persons).

Prospects. The Chilean Government is seriously concerned about internal security and will continue to arrest suspects. Rightly or wrongly, President Pinochet and the other chiefs of the armed forces assess the potential for violence as very high if security measures are relaxed too far. They appear to be resolved to weather international criticism for the sake of national survival. Nevertheless:

--the number of detainees probably will be reduced;

--the treatment of prisoners probably will improve; and

--the government may admit that charges against some detainees are unsubstantiated and that sentencing has been too harsh.

Statistics provided by the National Secretariat on Detainees may indicate increasing executive control over the once chaotic situation which characterized the government's security program. The offer to release prisoners to other countries suggests that the government wishes to reduce to the minimum those prisoners who have not been bound over to the judicial system. Finally, the offer to release 200 prisoners to Mexico shows that the Chilean military--in the face of what they consider to be hypocritical attacks by foreign governments--may be learning how to respond to international criticism.

2. QUOTE. MEMORANDUM.

1. BECAUSE OF THE EVENTS WHICH OCCURRED ON SEPTEMBER 11, 1973 AND BECAUSE OF THE ATTITUDE ASSUMED BY TERRORIST GROUPS, THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE WAS FORCED TO MAKE USE OF THE EXCEPTIONAL MEASURES PROVIDED IN THE POLITICAL CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE FOR USE IN A SITUATION OF INTERNAL COMMOTION OR WHEN NATIONAL SECURITY IS GRAVELY ENDANGERED.

2. THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE HAS ENDEAVORED TO AMELIORATE THE EFFECTS OF THESE EXCEPTIONAL MEASURES AS THE COUNTRY HAS BEEN RETURNING TO NORMALITY. IT WAS THIS PROCESS OF NORMALIZATION WHICH ALLOWED THE GOVERNMENT TO RESOLVE SATISFACTORILY THE SITUATION OF THE REFUGEES AND OF THE ASYLEES IN FOREIGN EMBASSIES, BOTH OF WHICH ACTIONS

6. IN VIEW OF THE SITUATION DESCRIBED ABOVE AND KEEPING IN MIND THE TRADITIONAL FRIENDSHIP WHICH UNITES OUR PEOPLES, THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE REQUESTS THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA TO SUPPORT THE DELEGATION OF CHILE TO THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION SO THAT THIS ORGANIZATION MAY NOT BE DIVERTED FROM ITS OBJECTIVES, THEREBY AVOIDING ITS TRANSFORMATION INTO AN INSTRUMENT OF POLITICAL ACTION AGAINST CHILE.

SUBJECT: CHILE -- HUMAN RIGHTS

REF: STATE 23898

1. SUMMARY: BASED ON AMBASSADOR'S CONVERSATION WITH MININT BENAVIDES, WE SUGGEST POSSIBILITY OF STEPS WHICH MIGHT RESULT IN ADMISSION OF LIMITED NUMBER OF SELECTED CHILENAS INTO US. END SUMMARY.

2. WE ARE REPORTING SEPARATELY THE GIST OF MY FEB 3 CONVERSATION WITH MININT GEN BENAVIDES IN WHICH LATTER GAVE US ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE GOC WISHES TO PUSH FORWARD WITH PROGRAM FOR RELASE OF DETAINEES INTO EXILE, BUT LITTLE INDICATION GOC YET APPRECIATES IMPORTANCE OF REIVING NORMAL LEGAL AND PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS FOR DETAINEES.

3. DURING MY JAN 29 CONVERSTATION WITH BENAVIDES I HAD RAISED QUESTION WHETHER GOC WOULD REACT NEGATIVELY IF USG SHOULD ADMIT A LIMITED NUMBER OF CHILEAN DETAINEES, OR OF CHILEAN REFUGEES IN ARGENTINA AND PERU. HE HAD NOT SEEMED CONCERNED AT THE THOUGHT, BUT WE WERE UNABLE TO PURSUE MATTER IN DETAIL.

4. AT FEB 3 MEETING, I RETURNED TO QUESTION BY ASKING HOW GOC WOULD FEEL IF USG, LIKE VARIOUS

EUROPEAN AND LATIN AMERICAN GOVERNMENTS, SHOULD INDICATED WILLINGNESS TO ACCEPT INDIVIDUAL DETAINEES-- FOR INSTANCE, PROFESSORS [redacted] IN US, OR PROFESSIONALS SUCH AS DOCTORS WITH OPPORTUNITIES THERE. SAID I WAS RAISING THIS QUESTION IN APURELY PERSONAL CAPACITY, SINCE I HAD NOT HAD OPPORTUNITY TO DISCUSS IT IN WASHINGTON.

UNCLASSIFIED

5. BENAVIDES INDICATEDAGAIN THAT GOC WOULD HAVE NO PROBLEM. HE POINTEDLY ASKED WHETHER SECRETARY'S VISIT ZUS STILL ON: WHAT SEEMS TO BE IN HIS MIND IS THOUGHT THAT RELEASE OF A NUMBER OF CHILEAN DETAINEES FOR TRAVEL TO US MIGHT BE POLITICALLY VALUABLE IN CONNECTION WITH ATMOSPHERICS SURROUNDING SECRETARY'S TRIP, WHEN HE MAKES IT.

6. COMMENT: AS RESULT THESE CONVERSATIONS WITH BENAVIDES, I THINK IT WOULD BE USEFUL TO ADDRESS TWO POSSIBLE COURSES OF ACTION. FIRST, DEPT MIGHT WISH TO PUSH FORWARD WITH PROPOSAL FOR ESTABLISHING PAROLE PROCEDURE FOR ADMISSION OF CHILEANS CURRENTLY IN OR SOUTSIDE CHILE. SECOND, DEPT MIGHT WISH TO CONSIDER SUGGESTING SHORT LIST OF NAMES OF INDIVIDUALS OF INTEREST TO AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES OR OTHER SOURCES FOR RELEASE AS "SPONTANEOUS" GESTURE BY GOVERNMENT OF CHILE, SAY SHORTLY BEFORE SECRETARY ARRIVES IN COUNTRY. SUCH INDIVIDUALS SHOULD OF COURSE BE ADMISSIBLE TO US.

7. THIS PROCEDURE WOULD AVOID THE KIND OF CRASS POLITICAL OPPORTUNISM INDULGED IN BY MEXICAN FONMIN RABSA WHEN HE VISITED CHILE LAST MAY TO BARGAIN FOR RELEASE OF CHILEAN DETAINEES. IT WOULD ALSO AVOID ANY INFERENCE THAT THE USG WAS EXERTING PRESSURE IN CHILE. AT SAME TIME, IT COULD PROVIDE DEMONSTRATION OF WAY WHICH QUIET AND DISCREET US REPRESENTATIVES RE HUMAN RIGHTS, OVER TIME, HAD PRODUCED A BENEFICIAL, HUMANITARIAN RESULT. DEPT MAY WISH TO EXAMINE CONGRESSIONAL AND OTHER ASPECTS OF THESE GENERAL SUGGESTIONS.

8. IN CONNECTION WITH FOREGOING, WITHIN LAST FEW DAYS HIGH MININT OFFICIALS HAVE BEEN SOUNDING OUT DATT WITH RESPECT TO POSSIBILITY OF FAIRLY DRAMATIC RELEASE OF, SAY, UP TO 200 DETAINEES AROUND TIME OF SECRETARY'S VISIT TO CHILE, AS MEANS OF DEMONSTATING CHILEAN DESIRE TO IMPROVE ITS IMAGE. SUGGESTION, HOWEVER, WAS NOT AT THAT TIME LINKED TO POSSIBILITY OF DETAINEES' ADMISSION TO US.

SUBJ: CHILE: HUMAN RIGHTS AND PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS

REFS: STATE 23898; SANTIAGO 723 AND 658

1. SUMMARY: MY FEB 3 CALL ON INTERIOR MINISTER GENERAL BENAVIDES PRODUCED ADDITIONAL DETAIL ON GOC POLICY OF RELEASING DETAINEES, BUT LITTLE OF SIGNIFICANCE IN CONNECTION WITH RESTORATION OF PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS AND NORMAL LEGAL PROCESSES IN NEAR FUTURE. BENAVIDES TOOK LINE THAT HIS MANDATE EXTENDED ONLY TO DETAINEE ASPECTS OF HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEM. END SUMMARY.

2. MOST OF MY CONVERSATION WITH GEN BENAVIDES COVERED STATUS OF GOC DETAINEE RELEASE PROGRAM AND GENERAL DETAINEE SITUATION, ALONG FAMILIAR LINES. IT APPEARS FROM BENAVIDES' COMMENTS THAT GOC EXPECTS VENEZUELA TO ACCEPT 26 DETAINEES AVAILABLE FOR RELEASE THROUGH THAT COUNTRY; THAT IT EXPECTS MEXICO TO ACCEPT THOSE OF THE 200 DETAINEES OFFERED BY PRESIDENT PINOCHET IN HIS DECEMBER 31 SPEECH WHO ARE WILLING TO GO THERE; AND THAT NEW LIST OF SOME 120 NAMES IS NOW BEING CIRCULATED TO RESPONSIBLE ORGANIZATIONS TO DETERMINE WHETHER THESE DETAINEES TOO CAN BE PLACED IN COUNTRIES OF RECEPTION.

3. BENAVIDES IS IMPRECISE IN HIS STATISTICS, BUT [redacted]

[redacted]

IN KEEPING WITH SOME EARLIER INDICATIONS WE HAVE RECEIVED, TOOK LINE THAT NOT ALL THOSE STILL DETAINED WITHOUT CHARGE UNDER STATE OF SIEGE LEGISLATION

UNCLASSIFIED

WOULD BE RELEASED IN IMMEDIATE FUTURE. SOME OF THEM, HE SAID, ARE MILITANTS, AND EVEN IF EXILED WOULD BE LIKELY TO RETURN ILLEGALLY TO CHILE. HOWEVER, SOME OF THESE PEOPLE HAVE BY NOW BEEN HELD FOR UP TO 16 MONTHS, AND [redacted] CASES WILL BE REVIEWED FROM TIME TO TIME, SINCE [redacted] TO GET RID OF THEM AS SOON AS IT SAFELY CAN. BENAVIDES NOTED THAT PRESIDENT PINOCHET HAS AUTHORITY TO COMMUTE SENTENCES OF INDIVIDUALS ALREADY CONVICTED, SO THAT THEY MAY GO ABROAD. INFERENCE IS THAT BARRING SOME SPECIFIC ELEMENT OF RISK FOR GOVERNMENT, MOST DETAINEES WITH PROSPECTIVE SAFE HAVENS ABROAD MIGHT EVENTUALLY BE ALLOWED TO DEPART FROM CHILE.

UNCLASSIFIED

4. I ASKED SPECIFICALLY WHAT WOULD HAPPEN TO THE REMAINING SENIOR UP OFFICIALS STILL HELD AT RITOQUE. BENAVIDES SIAD THAT THEIR FATE WAS A MATTER OF PRESIDENTIAL DECISION. HE THOUGHT IT LIKELY THAT MOST WOULD EVENTUALLY BE FREED TO GO ABROAD, BUT THAT A HARD-CORE FEW SUCH AS COMMUNIST LEADER LUIS CARVALAN WOULD BE RETAINED INDFINITELY.

5. AT SEVERAL POINTS IN CONVERSATION I TOOK OCCASION TO POINT OUT THAT WHILE GOC'S DETAINEE RELEASE POLICY WAS CONSTRUCTIVE AND CERTAINLY HELPFUL IN MODERATING CRITICISM, FOREIGN OBSERVERS WOULD BE EVEN MORE FAVORABLY IMPRESSED IF PROGRESS COULD SOON BE DEMONSTRATED TOWARD RE-STORING PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS AND NORMAL LEGAL PROCESSES. BENUVIDES AVOIDED SPECIFIC DISCUSSION OF THESE ASPECTS OF PROBLEM. HE STATED THAT HIS MANDATE DID NOT EXTEND BEYOND DETAINEE RELEASE PROGRAM, AND THAT THESE WERE MATTERS FOR MINISTRY OF JUSTICE AND OTHER GOC AUTHORITIES.

6. BENAVIDES DID HOWEVER EXPLAIN ONCE AGAIN THE UTILITY OF THE NEW LEGAL CODE OF NATIONAL SECURITY OFFENSES WHICH THE GOC NOW HAS UNDER PREPARATION. AS PREVIOUSLY REPORTED, HE NOTED IT WAS DESIGNED TO COVER CRIMES NOT PROPERLY DESCRIBED OR HANDLED IN TRADITIONAL CHILEAN LEGISLATION. IMPRESSION HE GAVE WAS THAT HIGH-JACKING, TERRORISM, AND INTERNAL SECURITY OFFENSES BROADLY DEFINED WOULD [redacted]

[redacted]

BE SHARPLY PENALIZED. BENAVIDES INDICATED SOMEWHAT VAGUELY THAT ALL SUCH OFFENSES EXCEPT THOSE DIRECTLY INVOLVING ARMED FORCES MIGHT EVENTUALLY BE HANDLED IN CIVIL COURTS. BUT IN GENERAL BENAVIDES TAKES AN EXTREMELY CONSERVATIVE VIEW RE-GARDING RESTORATION OF CIVILIAN LEGAL AUTHORITY. THOUGH ADMITTING TERRORIST GROUPS HAVE BEEN LARGELY DESTROYED IN CHILE, HE MAINTAINS THAT COMMUNIST PARTY IS BUSILY REORGANIZING, AND THAT IT HAS ALREADY LAUNCHED A PROPAGANDA PAMPHLET CAMPAIGN WHICH HAS TO BE COUNTERACTED. ACCORDINGLY, HE FEELS, MILITARY SECURITY MEASURES MUST BE RETAINED.

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

7 I OPENED UP QUESTION OF GOC'S WILLINGNESS TO RECEIVE FUTURE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEES, BUT RECEIVED [redacted] SIMPLY A REPLAY OF PINOCHET'S DEC 31 STATEMENT TO EFFECT THAT ONLY COMMISSIONS WHICH COULD INVESTIGATE HUMAN RIGHTS IN COMMUNIST COUNTRIES COULD BE RECEIVED IN CHILE. IT DID NOT THEREFORE SEEM TO ME EXPEDIENT TO PRESS QUESTION WHETHER INTER-AMERICAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION MIGHT RETURN TO CHILE. WILL HOLD THAT MATTER IN RESERVE FOR A MORE AUSPICIOUS OCCASION.

8. COMMENT: BENAVIDES REFLECTED CONFIDENCE THROUGHOUT THAT STEPS GOC HAD TAKEN TO RELEASE DETAINEES HAD SUBSTANTIALLY EASED ITS IMAGE PROBLEMS ABROAD. HE RECALLED THAT IN EARLY DAYS OF JUNTA, THERE HAD BEEN CONSTANT STREAM OF JOURNALISTS, COMMITTEES, ETC. WHO DESIRED TO VISIT HIGH-LEVEL DETAINEES. NOW SUCH EFFORTS WERE RARE. BENAVIDES APPEARS TO FEEL THAT IF DETAINEE RELEASES CONTINUE, FOREIGNERS WILL GRADUALLY TIRE OF BAITING CHILE, AS THEIR ATTENTION IS FOCUSSED ON OTHER PROBLEMS.

9. CLEARLY, IF WE ARE TO CONDUCT DIALOGUE ON BROAD HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEM, THIS WILL HAVE TO BE DONE WITH SOME ONE OTHER THAN BENAVIDES. AT SAME TIME, WE WILL STAND READY TO RESPOND TO HIS DESIRE FOR FURTHER DISCREET INFORMAL CONTACTS WITH RESPECT TO ANY ASPECTS OF THE DETAINEE PROGRAM HE CONSIDERS OF INTEREST TO USG.

SUBJECT: STATUS OF DETAINEE RELEASE PROGRAM AND RELATED HUMAN RIGHTS QUESTIONS

1. SUMMARY: THIS REPORT PROVIDES AN OVERALL REVIEW OF DETAINEE RELEASE PROGRAM AND RELATED ITEMS, RESPONSIVE TO VARIOUS REQUESTS. MOST OF INFORMATION HEREIN HAS ALREADY BEEN REPORTED SEPARATELY. REPORT DESCRIBES THE THREE CATEGORIES OF DETAINEES, THE DWINDLING DAWSON ISLAND/RITOQUE GROUP OF SENIOR ALLENDE-ERA PERSONALITIES, ASYLEES IN FOREIGN EMBASSIES, AND PROGRAM OF REUNITED CHILEAN FAMILY MEMBERS WITH EXILED CHILEANS ABROAD. WHILE APPRECIABLE PROGRESS IN DISPOSING OF DETAINEES HAS ALREADY OCCURRED AND MORE IS EXPECTED, WE THINK GOC IS INCORRECT IN ITS APPARENT BELIEF THAT THIS PROGRAM ALONE WILL REVOLVE ITS INTERNATIONAL PROBLEMS REGARDING HUMAN RIGHTS; THIS NOW APPEARS TO DEPEND AS WELL AS ON PROGRESS IN SUCH OTHER IMPORTANT AREAS AS REESTABLISHMENT OF DUE PROCESS. END SUMMARY.

1200 PERSONS, TO A HARD-CORE MINIMUM ASAP. FIRST LIST OF 100 PERSONS SLATED FOR RELEASE AND EXILE WAS MADE PUBLIC NOV 11, 1974; THEIR CASES HAVE BEEN LARGELY RESOLVED, AND MAJORITY HAVE DEPARTED CHILE. MIN INTERIOR GEN. BENAVIDES TOLD US RECENTLY A SECOND LIST WITH SOME 120 NAMES HAD BEEN PREPARED BY GOC AND GIVEN TO ICEM TO FIND PLACES OVERSEAS FOR THOSE NAMED, BUT WE HAVE NO INDEPENDENT CONFIRMATION OF EXISTENCE OF THIS LIST. LIST OF 200 TO MEXICO, NOW DOWN TO 157 SINCE GOC ADMITS 43 ON IT PREFER DETENTION AT HOME TO EXILE OVERSEAS, HAS NOT YET BEEN ACCEPTED BY GOM, BUT GOC FULLY EXPECTS EVENTUAL ACCEPTNACE. IN ADDITION, OTHER GROUPS AND INDIVIDUALS HAVE BEEN DRIBBLING OUT OF DETENTION INTO EXILE. GROUP OF 27 (ONE MORE NAME HAS BEEN ADDED TO ORIGINAL 26) TO VENEZUELA, INCLUDING FIVE IMPORTANT PERSONALITIES FROM DAWSON ISLAND/ RITOQUE GROUP, DEPARTED CHILE FEB 13. ICEM HAS SUCCESSFULLY PLACED FAIR NUMBER OF PERSONS OVERSEAS IN ADDITION TO LIST OF 100. FINALLY, GOC CONTINUES TO RELEASE PEOPLE FROM DETENTION WITHOUT IMPOSING EXILE. ALL THESE ELEMENTS ADDED TOGETHER ACCOUNT FOR MUCH OF CATEGORY I DETAINEES. ACCORDING TO BENAVIDES, REMAINDER ARE TOO DANGEROUS TO RELEASE, EVEN INTO EXILE, AND WILL CONTINUE TO BE HELD FOR FORESEEABLE FUTURE, SUBJECT TO CONTINUOUS REVIEW OF THEIR STATUS. PROBLEM OF COURSE REMAINS THAT NEW PERSONS ARE STILL BEING ADDED TO CATEGORY I, ALTHOUGH MAGNITUDE OF NEW ADDITIONS IS UNCLEAR.

UNCLASSIFIED

3. CATEGORY II - INDICTED AND/OR UNDER TRIAL

JUDICIAL SYSTEM, PRIMARILY MILITARY TRIBUNALS, CONTINUES TO MOVE RAPIDLY TO CLEAR UP ESTIMATED BACKLOG OF 700 PENDING CIVILIAN CASES. WE ALSO HEAR RUMORS, CONFIRMED IN ONE CASE, OF MILITARY COURTS TRYING MILITARY PERSONNEL, ALTHOUGH NATURE OF CHARGES IS IN DISPUTE. THIS PROCESS MAY BE CONCLUDED IN NEAR FUTURE, WITH ESSENTIALLY NO BACKLOG OF PERSONS AWAITING TRIAL.

4. CATEGORY III - CONVICTED AND SERVING SENTENCES

[redacted]

[redacted]

GOC HAS MADE NO PUBLIC MOVE TOWARD RELEASE, PRESUMABLY INTO EXILE, OF THIS GROUP OF PERHAPS 1,000 PERSONS. HOWEVER, GOC IS PUBLICLY COMMITTED TO SOME KIND OF RELEASE PROGRAM FOR SENTENCED PRISONERS. THERE IS BEHIND THE SCENES MANEUVERING, MOSTLY BY THE ENERGETIC REV. SAMUEL NALEGACH, EX. DIR. OF NATIONAL COMMITTEE FOR REFUGEES (COMAR), WHO IS PRESENTLY CIRCULATING A LIST OF NEARLY A THOUSAND NAMES OF CONVICTS IN HOPES OF INDUCING VARIOUS COUNTRIES TO TAKE THEM. ORIGIN AND OFFICIAL STATUS OF THIS LIST ARE MURKY. ACCORDING TO NALEGACH (WE CANNOT CONFIRM), GOC WOULD COMMUTE JAIL SENTENCES TO EXILE

AND OUST ALL WHO COULD BE RELOCATED ABROAD. NO INDICATION WHEN THIS MIGHT HAPPEN. NOTE: TOTAL OF ALL THREE CATEGORIES PROBABLY STILL STANDS AT OR UPWARDS OF 3,000 PERSONS. THESE DO NOT INCLUDE PEOPLE HELD IN INTERROGATION CENTERS, A CONSTANTLY SHIFTING GROUP.

UNCLASSIFIED

5. DAWSON ISLAND/RITOQUE GROUP

GROUP OF SENIOR PERSONALITIES OF ALLENDE ERA CONFINED FIRST AT DAWSON ISLAND AND NOW RITOQUE IS DWINDLING RAPIDLY. OF EMBASSY'S UNOFFICIAL ORIGINAL LIST OF 39, ONLY 17 ARE LEFT. MOREOVER, WITH DEPARTURE OF LETELIR, ALMEYDA, TAPIA, AND FIVE TO VENEZUELA, VERY FEW TRULY PROMINENT NAMES REMAIN. LUIS CORVALAN, HEAD OF COMMUNIST PARTY, HEADS LIST, FOLLOWED BY FORMER MINISTERS ANIBAL PALMA, JOSE CADEMARTORI, CARLOS MATUS, FERNANDO FLORES, LUIS MATTE, AND PEDRO FELIPE RAMIREZ; THEN FORMER UNDERSEC INTERIOR DANIEL VERGARA AND FORMER UNIVERSITY RECTOR ENRIQUE KIRBERG. BENAVIDES TOLD US THAT EACH CASE IN THIS GROUP IS DECIDED UPON PERSONALLY BY PINOCHET, BUT SAID THAT OVER TIME NEARLY ALL WOULD BE RELEASED. WE CAN EXPECT CORVALAN TO BE ONE OF THE LAST TO GO.

6. ASYLEES

TOTAL ASYLEES IN FOREIGN EMBASSIES AS OF FEB 6 WAS 140. SINCE THEN A FEW MORE HAVE DEPARTED, WITH NO KNOWN ADDITIONS. APPARENTLY GOC HAS INCREASED ITS SECURITY MEASURES AROUND SUCH PROMINENT HAVENS AS COLOMBIAN EMBASSY, THEREBY MAKING INGRESS MORE DIFFICULT. POOL OF POTENTIAL ASYLEES APPEARS INEXHAUSTIBLE, HOWEVER. FEW NOW HAVE ANY POLITICAL RECORDS OF NOTE. GOC CONTINUES TO EXPEDITE ISSUANCE OF SAFE CONDUCTS

[redacted]

[redacted]

TO ASYLEES, BUT PROBLEM REMAINS OF FINDING COUNTRIES WILLING TO ACCEPT THEM.

7. FAMILY REUNION PROGRAM

RECENTLY, NALEGACH SEEMS TO HAVE OBTAINED OR TO BE OBTAINING A GOC MANDATE TO OPERATE A REFUGEE CENTER FOR THIRD-COUNTRY NATIONALS (NEITHER A NEW NOR SIGNIFICANT ITEM) WHICH ALSO COULD PROCESS, IN CONJUNCTION WITH UNHCR, CHILEAN FAMILY MEMBERS WHO WISH TO JOIN THEIR EXILED CHILEAN HEADS OF FAMILY ABROAD. ALTHOUGH UNHCR HAS BEEN QUIETLY WORKING IN THIS AREA, PERTINENT GOC DECREE WOULD PROVIDE LEGAL AUTHORITY FOR PROGRAM. IN THE PROCESS, NALEGACH'S ORGANIZATION WOULD HAVE ITS NAME CHANGED TO "COMMISSION TO ASSIST FOREIGNERS" (CALEX). DECREE HAS NOT YET BEEN PUBLISHED IN DIARIO OFICIAL.

8. COMMENT: GOC SEEMS TO BELIEVE PROGRESS IN DETAINEE RELEASE

PROGRAM AND SUCH RELATED ACTIVITIES AS ASYLEE SAFECONDUCTS WILL RESOLVE HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEM IN CHILE AND SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED BY THE WORLD AS DOING SO. THERE HAS BEEN PROGRESS IN THIS SPECIFIC AREA AND MORE IS LIKELY, BUT THERE HAS BEEN NO SUBSTANTIAL MOVE TOWARD IMPROVING DUE PROCESS GUARANTEES, CORRECTING ABUSES BY INTELLIGENCE SERVICES, MODIFYING STATE OF SIEGE, OR RESTORING GENERAL POLITICAL RIGHTS. UNTIL THERE IS PROGRESS IN AT LEAST SOME OF THESE AREAS, GOC CAN BE EXPECTED TO HAVE A POOR WORLD IMAGE.

Information on the Case of 119 Prisoners

We have looked into the background of the two foreign publications which alleged that 119 Chileans of the Movement of the Revolutionary Left (MIR) were killed, wounded, or escaped abroad. On July 15, Lea, a Buenos Aires magazine which may have been revived on a one-time basis, printed a list of 60 names of Chileans reportedly killed in Argentina, Mexico, France, Venezuela and Colombia in an internal purge of the MIR. Source for the Lea article was an unsigned dispatch from a Mexican news service called Fonel. The latter is unknown to us. The address of the masthead for Lea's editorial offices does not exist. There is some information that Lea has antecedents associated with right-wing groups in Argentina. As to the story itself, there is no confirmation from any other source or government that such purges occurred, nor have the bodies of the 60 persons named been produced or identified. There were three bodies recently found in Argentina accompanied by papers identifying them as Chileans. Further investigation by family members did not substantiate this. The bodies remain unidentified. We have no evidence to support the Lea story.

The June 25 issue of O Dia of Curitiba, Brazil, in an article datelined from Buenos Aires (but with no date) listed 59 Miristas killed or escaped in a firefight in Salta, Argentina. There is no confirmation (or denial) by the Argentine Government that this firefight occurred in Salta or elsewhere. O Dia is an obscure, supposedly monthly newsletter, though only three issues have appeared this year. It is owned by a Curitiba business promoter. He told a U.S. official he obtained the story from a "good friend" in Buenos Aires following a recent visit. He did not elaborate. Of interest is that the alleged names of two of the bodies found in Argentina appear on the list of 59.

The appearance of the two lists in foreign publications has understandably caused consternation among many Chileans over the fate of missing family members. The Interdenominational Committee for Peace in May gave a list of 163 "disappeared" Chileans to the Minister of Justice. The Chilean courts failed to appoint a magistrate to investigate. Spurred on by the two lists published abroad, the Committee has reviewed its files. It asserts that almost all of the 119 names are on its list of 163 missing persons sent to the Ministry of Justice. In a report dated July 29, the Committee claims there is direct evidence of government detention of 77, indirect evidence of 26, and no evidence on 16. Additionally, it claims the government officially had acknowledged detention of four of the 119. The Committee representatives admit some detainees could have been released without the Committee's knowledge. They observe, however, that such persons must have gone underground without contacting their families. As a final note, the Supreme Counrt on August 13 again reaffirmed its previous decision that an investigating magistrate is unnecessary

The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) reports that on its list of 500 "missing" persons, almost all (114) of the 119 names appear. The government had not officially notified ICRC of its arrest of any of these individuals and ICRC had never seen any of them in detention. The ICRC continues in constant contact with the government on the general question of disappeared persons.

In regard to the charge that in at least four cases the government admitted detention, in one case ICRC information conflicts with that of the Committee where evidence of detention, according to the Committee, included an ICRC sighting in the Tres Alamos Center. On another two, the government now states it was in error in replying to the British Embassy that they were in custody and in good condition.

Generally,the government has denied any involvement in the stories published abroad. It has suggested a left wing plot to embarrass the government. Presumably, additional motivation would be to pressure the government into disclosing what happened to missing persons. The Church hierarchy and the pro-government El Mercurio have recommended the government investigate. The Santiago press reported August 5 that the Chilean "civil police" would look into the affair at the request of the Ministry of the Interior. A Foreign Ministry official has told us the Ministry also is reviewing the matter. Cardinal Silva and two bishops have also seen President Pinochet. We understand the President promised to investigate.

With regard to your concerns about the Peace Committee's ability to operate freely, as reflected above the Committee has been taking an energetic position in pursuing the matter of missing Chileans. Our recent communications do not reflect, or anticipate, government pressure to proscribe the Committee's activities.

The foregoing is the information we have available to the moment. It does not permit us to support, or deny, contending speculation with respect to this case. In the meantime, important Chilean elements have clearly signaled to their government that clarification is required.

2. PRESIDENT PINOCHET IN SPEECH TO CHILEAN NATIONAL PRESS ASSOC. FEB. 17 SAID THAT ALTHOUGH THERE WERE RESTRICTIONS ON PRESS DURING THE FIRST MONTHS OF JUNTA RULE, "WE CAN TODAY INDICATE THAT THERE EXISTS COMPLETE LIBERTY OF EXPRESSION, WITHOUT LIMITATION OTHER THAN THAT OF ETHICS AND COMMON SENSE, THEREBY AVOIDING A FALL INTO LICENSE OR OTHER VICES.".

3. HE WENT ON TO REMIND MEDIA REPRESENTATIVES OF THEIR RESPONSIBILITY TO BE OBJECTIVE AND REALISTIC, RELFECTING MORAL AND ETHICAL PRINCIPLES ABANDONED DURING THE RECENT PAST. HE STATED THERE CANNOT BE A RETURN TO SENSATIONALIST JORNALISM. IN CLOSING, PINOCHET CALLED UPON CHILEAN PRESS TO EXPLAIN "THE TRUTH" CONCERNING CHILE AGAINST THE DAILY LIES AND SLANDERS OF ITS ENEMIES. "TRUTH IS ON OUR SIDE", HE DECLARED.

4. SPEAKING WITH PRESS FEB. 18, PINOCHET EXPRESSED HIS SATISFACTION IN NEWS, NOT CONFIRMED, THAT MEXICO WOULD ACCEPT 151 DETAINEES, BUT SAID HE HAS NO ILLUSIONS THAT

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

THE "HUMANITARIAN ACTS" OF GOC WOULD BE UNDERSTOOD BY THE MARXISTS AND PRO-MARXISTS.

UNCLASSIFIED

5. HE SAID THE FOREIGN PRESS IGNORES MEASURES ADOPTED BY GOC IN FAVOR OF HUMAN RIGHTS, CITING THE LIFTING OF STATE OF INTERNAL WAR, THE GRANTING OF SAFE CONDUCT PASSES, THE CONTINUING RELEASE OF DETAINEES HELD UNDER STATE OF SIEGE, AND THE DROPPING OF CHARGES IN SOME CASES, ALLOWING THOSE PERSONS TO PEAVE CHILE.

6. REFERRING TO "FALSE STORIES OF TERROR", PINOCHET SAID HE PERSONALLY HAD ORDERED THE CREATION OF MEDICAL TEAMS TO MONITOR THE HEALTH OF DETAINEES, AND HAD PUNISHED TO THE MAXIMUM DEGREE THOSE OFFICIALS WHO HAD "OVERSTEPPED" THEIR AUTHORITY, SEPARATING THEM FROM THE SERVICE IN SOME CASES AND APPLYING LEGAL PENALTIES.

7. COMMENT: IN TAKING TACK THAT PRESS SITUATION IN CHILE IS OBVIOUSLY GOOD AND THAT ISSUES CONTINUALLY RAISED BY CRITICS ARE OVERSTATED OR INEXISTENT, PINOCHET IS RISKING IMPAIRMENT OF HIS CREDIBILITY. ALTHOUGH FEW IF ANY PUBLICATIONS SUFFER PRIOR CENSORSHIP, THERE REMAINS SELF-CENSORSHIP, WHICH IS IN MANY WAYS MORE CONFINING.

8. IN AREA OF HUMAN RIGHTS, WE AGREE PROGRESS IS BEING MADE ON RELEASE OF DETAINEES, BUT UNTIL THERE IS SUBSTANTIAL IMPROVEMENT ON OTHER FRONTS (DUE PROCESS, MODIFYING STATE OF SIEGE), CHILE WILL CONTINUE TO HAVE BOTH A PROBLEM AND A POOR WORLD IMAGE.

SUBJ: ALLEGED COMBINED TERRORIST ACTIVITIES

1. ON FEB 20 SECURITY OFFICER, AUSTRALIAN EMBASSY ADVISED THE RSO OF THE FOLLOWING: THE JAPANESE AMBASSADOR TO ARGENTINA HAD APPROACHED THE AUSTRALIAN AMB DURING THE COURSE OF A DIPLOMATIC FUNCTION AND ADVISED HIM THAT HE WAS IN RECEIPT OF INFORMATION, SOURCE UNIDENTIFIED, THAT AN EXTERNAL (OUT-SIDE OF ARGENTINA) EXTREMIST TERRORIST ORGANIZATION WOULD LAUNCH SIMULTANEOUS TERRORIST ATTACKS IN BOLIVIA, CHILE, URUGUAY, AND ARGENTINE. THE TARGET DATE FOR THESE ATTACKS TO START WAS IDENTIFIED AS THE 18TH OF FEBRUARY. NO OTHER DATES WERE FURNISHED CONCERNING ALLEGED ATTACKS TO BE CARRIED OUT IN OTHER COUNTRIES. THE MATTER WAS TAKEN SO SERIOUSLY BY THE BOLIVIAN GOVERNMENT THAT VARIOUS DIPLOMATIC ESTABLISHMENTS IN LA PAZ DISMISSED THEIR EMPLOYEES IN THE EARLY PART OF THE AFTERNOON FEB 18. THE AUSTRALIAN SECURITY OFFICER ADVISED THAT AS A RESULT OF THIS INFORMATION REPRESENTATIVES OF THE AUSTRALIAN, FRENCH, SWISS, AND FINNISH DIPLOMATIC ESTABLISHMENTS WITHIN ARGENTINA HELD A MEETING IN THE AFTERNOON OF FEB 18. THE RESULTS OF THE MEETING WAS THE ELECTION OF THE SENIOR DIPLOMAT PRESENT, SWISS, TO APPROACH THE ARGENTINE FOREIGN OFFICE AND ADVISE THEM OF THE INFORMATION RECEIVED AND REQUEST ADDITIONAL PROTECTION. THE SECURITY OFFICER COULD NOT COMMENT AS TO WHETHER THE APPROACH TO THE FOREIGN OFFICE HAD BEEN MADE BY THE SWISS REPRESENTATIVE, HOWEVER, HE DID STATE THAT THE FEDERAL POLICE PROTECTION OF THE AUSTRALIAN AMBASSADOR'S RESIDENCE HAD BEEN INCREASED AND THAT ADDITIONAL CONTRACT GUARDS HAD BEEN PLACED WITHIN THEIR DIPLOMATIC ESTABLISHMENT. HE FURTHER STATED THAT THE FOLLOWING WAS AN ESTIMATE ON THE PART OF THE AUSTRALIAN EMBASSY WITH RESPECT TO INFORMATION FURNISHED AND THAT THIS ESTIMATE WAS NOT BASED ON KNOWN FACT.

A. THE ALLEGED SIMULTANEIOUS TERRORISTS ATTACKS COULD POSSIBLY TAKE PLACE.

B. SHOULD SUCH BE THE COURSE THE ATTACKS WOULD BE A ONE TIME ONE THING SPECTACULAR.

C. THE ATTACKS COULD TAKE THE FORM OF EITHER KIDNAPPINGS OR ASSASSINATION.

D. THE INFORMATION FURNISHED BY THE JAPANESE AMBASSADOR WAS PROBABLY RELATED TO BUT NOT A REHASH OF SIMILAR INFORMATION FURNISHED BY THE WEST GERMANS AT AN EARLIER DATE.

E. THAT THE ERP AND MONTONEROS MAY HAVE GONE OUTSIDE OF THE COUNTRY AND RECRUITED ASSISTANCE OF SUCH ORGANIZATIONS AS THE JAPANESE RED ARMY OR PLO TO CARRY OUT SUCH SIMULTANEIOUS OPERATIONS SINCE THEY HAVE MORE EXPERIENCE IN THE AREA.

2. THE LEGAL ATTACHE ADVISED THAT ON FEB 18 THE AUSTRALIAN AMBASSADOR, HUGH DUNN, HAD CONTACTED HIS OFFICE TELEPHONICALLY:

"DUNN HAD JUST RETURNED FROM A CEREMONY INAUGURATING THE NEW MEXICAN CHANCERY BUILDING. WHILE AT THIS CEREMONY, HE WAS APPROACHED BY A JAPANESE DIPLOMATIC COLLEAGUE WHO IS GENERALLY WELL INFORMED ON THE LOCAL POLITICAL SCENE. THIS COLLEAGUE, WHOM DUNN DID NOT CARE TO IDENTIFY OVER THE TELEPHONE, INFORMED HIM THAT THE COMBINED TERRORIST ORGANIZATIONS, THE ELN OF BOLIVIA; THE MIR OF CHILE; TUPAMAROS OF URUGUAY, AND THE ERP OF ARGENTINA WERE GOING TO ESCALATE TERRORIST ACTIVITIES AGAINST DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS IN BOLIVIA, CHILE, URUGUAY AND ARGENTINA. AMBASSADOR DUNN'S COLLEAGUE TOLD HIM THAT VARIOUS DIPLOMATIC ESTABLISHMENTS IN LA PAZ WERE DISMISSING THEIR EMPLOYEES EARLY THIS AFTERNOON BECAUSE OF THIS THREAT. AMBASSADOR DUNN DESIRED TO ASCERTAIN WHETHER WE HAD ANY INTELLIGENCE WHICH WOULD TEND TO CORROBORATE HIS COLLEAGUE'S INFORMATION. I TOLD THE AMBASSADOR THAT TO THE BEST OF MY KNOWLEDGE, THERE WAS NO AVAILABLE INFORMATION INDICATING THAT THE COMBINED GROUPS OF THE EL, MIR, TUPAMAROS AND THE ERP HAD PLANNED ANY ESCALATION OF TERRORIST ACTIVITIES AGAINST DIPLOMATIC ESTABLISHMENTS".

3. THE RSO CONTACTED BOTH [redacted] CONCERNING THE REPORTED INFORMATION BY THE JAPANESE AMBASSADOR. BOTH OFFICES WERE OF THE OPINION THAT THE REPORTED INFORMATION SOUNDED LIKE A VARIATION OF INTELLIGENCE WITH A WEST GERMAN ORIGIN WHICH CIRCULATED DURING THE FIRST WEEK OF FEB 1975. NO INFORMATION HAS COME TO THE ATTENTION OF [redacted] WHICH WOULD INDICATE CURRENT INVOLVEMENT OF THE JAPANESE RED ARMY OR THE PLO IN JOINT OR SUPPORT OPERATIONS TO THE ERP OR MONTONEROS. B1

SUBJECT: STATUS REPORT ON POLITICAL DETAINEES AND ASYLEES

1. SUMMARY: GOC HAS RELEASED OFFICIAL STATISTICS ON POLITICAL PRISONERS TAKEN SINCE COUP OF 1973, AND SUBSEQUENT DISPOSITION. INFORMATION ON TOTAL AND SUBCATEGORIES OF PERSONS STILL DETAINED AGREES ROUGHLY WITH EARLIER INFORMATION REPORTED TO DEPT, BUT OVERALL TOTAL OF PERSONS DETAINED AND RELEASED HAS APPARENTLY RISEN FROM 30,000 TO 40,000 SINCE END 1974. SOME 4,500 TO 4,800 DETAINEES ARE STILL HELD ON POLITICAL OR NATIONAL SECURITY GROUNDS, ACCORDING TO GOC'S OWN ADMISSION. END SUMMARY.

2. IN PRESS CONFERENCE MARCH 14 MIN. OF INTERIOR BENAVIDES ISSUED NEW STATISTICS ON NUMBERS OF DETAINEES (UNDERSTOOD AS "POLITICAL PRISONER" OR "NATIONAL SECURITY" CASES UNDER PRESENT REGIME.

THOSE HELD WITHOUT CHARGE AND THUS NOT BEING PROCESSED IN THE MILITARY OR CIVIL COURT SYSTEMS. THUS TOTAL STILL DETAINED IN SAID CATEGORIES IS 4,853, INCLUDING 400 DESCRIBED AS COMMON CRIMINALS (WE NOTE RELATIVELY MINOR INTERNAL INCONSISTENCY OF TOTALS AND WILL CHECK GOC TRANSCRIPT OF ACTUAL BENAVIDES STATEMENT WHEN OBTAINED.)

4. IN SAME CONFERENCE, BENAVIDES ANNOUNCED THAT MEXICO HAS COMMUNICATED WILLINGNESS TO ACCEPT 95 DETAINEES OUT OF ORIGINAL LIST OF 200 OFFERED BY GOC. THOSE ACCEPTED INCLUDE LAURA ALLENDE GOSSENS. THIS GROUP MAY LEAVE FOR MEXICO BY MARCH 21. OF REMAINDER OF MEXICO LIST, 62 WERE REJECTED BY GOM AND 43 HAD EARLIER REFUSED GOC OFFER TO LEAVE FOR MEXICO. LISTS OF THOSE ACCEPTED AND REJECTED ARE BEING POUCHED TO DEPT. AND MEXICO.

5. COUNT OF ASYLEES IN SANTIAGO EMBASSIES RELEASED BY FONMINISTRY MAR. 13 TOTALS 75: ITALY 52, VENEZUELA 21, COLOMBIA 1, COSTA RICA 1. DURING WEEK OF MAR. 10, 22 MORE ASYLEES DEPARTED UNDER SAFE CONDUCT, REDUCING TOTAL FROM 96 OR 97 REPORTED MAR. 6.

6. COMMENT: ANNOUNCEMENT BY BENAVIDES MAY BE LOWER-PROFILE OUTCOME OF PLAN FOR NATIONWIDE RADIO/TV ADDRESS UNDER GOC CONSIDERATION IN EARLY JAN (REFTEL A). FIGURES IN SUBTOTALS MATCH THOSE GIVEN EMBASSY BY INFORMATIVE

GOC SOURCE AT THAT TIME, WITHIN REASONABLE DEGREE OF VARIATION CONSIDERING DATES OF DATA. DIFFICULT TO EXPLAIN IS JUMP FROM TOTAL OF 30,000 DETAINEES SINCE COUP AND 27,000 RELEASED IN COUNTRY OR EXPELLED, TO BENAVIDES' ALMOST 42,000 DETAINEES AND OVER 36,000 RELEASED OR EXPELLED. THESE DIFFERENCES ARE NOT SIGNIFICANTLY REFLECTED IN CHANGES IN SUBTOTALS OF THOSE DETAINED; DIFFERENCE OF 10,000 MAY REPRESENT NEW DETENTIONS AND RELEASES IN PERIOD JAN - FEB 1975, OR MORE COMPLETE DATA INCLUDING FULLER REPORTING FROM

Enclosures are divided, within each case file, into three categories each with a covering list: a) documents the Embassy judges suitable for release; b) documents provided by officials of the Government of Chile on a confidential or non-attributable basis and whose release, if desired, the Embassy believes should be cleared with the GOC; and c) handwritten work notes the Embassy believes should not be released as explained above.

The Department may wish to advise Senator Kennedy, if he does not already know, that a Government Accounting Office review team visited Santiago for over three weeks in late 1974, was shown copies of all records relating to the Teruggi and Horman cases, and discussed these cases at length with all Embassy officers concerned.

SUBJECT : Human Rights Situation in Chile

REF : (A) State 12320; (B) State 34811; (C) State A-1045

I. INTRODUCTION. To assist in meeting Congressional requirements, the Department's instruction of January 17 (ref A) requested of posts a documented and updated appraisal of the record, current status and prospects of host governments "in discharging their obligations under international law" to respect human rights and fundamental freedoms.

There is no doubt regarding the nature of the human rights situation in Chile. The country is living under an authoritarian regime, controlled by its military leaders. Eighteen months after the coup which brought the regime to power, a legal State of Siege continues to exist. Under its authority, the constitutional and legal safeguards granted to Chileans and to others under the political constitution of 1925 and long-standing legal provisions have in many important respects ceased to prevail. While violent internal opposition has been virtually wiped out, at least for the time being, there has been no substantial relaxation of the government's internal security controls. However, as indicated below, steps are being taken to reduce the number of detainees held on internal security grounds, primarily through exile to other countries.

We are not asked in this report to apply judgmental criteria to the human rights record of the present government of Chile. Rather, we assume, we are asked to document the failure of the government to observe the standards laid down in the International and Inter-American Declarations, the International Covenants, treaty provisions regarding the treatment of civilians during hostilities, and the country's own constitutional and legal instruments.

Nevertheless, in doing so we would note, for whatever they may be worth, the mitigating circumstances cited by the government to justify its current practices.

The Junta maintains that it assumed power to prevent economic chaos and an impending leftist dictatorship. It contends, rightly or wrongly, that the measures it has taken are a transitory necessity sanctioned under the existing provisions of Chilean law covering emergency situations. It further asserts that it intends to return the country to a democratic system more just and stable than that of the past, when it believes it can safely do so. Accordingly, it has initiated work on a new constitution, and on new legislation which will reflect the need to deal effectively with modern terrorism and other forms of latter-day violence.

Finally, the Junta considers that Chile has been singled out for unprecedentedly harsh treatment, in a world in which scores of other countries carry on similar or worse practices; and it notes that in international agencies its principal accusers are communist states whose control of the individual is much more stringent than that applied in Chile.

We do not defend the Junta's human rights practices. They fall short of those prevalent in many, though not all, countries. Nor do we regard the evolution of Chilean life toward a new democratic order as by any means assured. But we do believe that these factors may to a degree be relevant to a documented survey of the human rights situation in Chile. It should not be forgotten that Chile has normally lived under democratic regimes for generations, and that the bulk of the country accepts the present restrictions, uncomfortably, as temporary expedients to deal with a situation unprecedented in its history.

II. AUTHORITARIANISM, TOTALITARIANISM, AND INTERNAL SECURITY.

Speaking for the GOC, Under Secretary of Interior Lt. Col. Enrique Montero stated during a nationwide radio/television address November 28, 1974: "This is an authoritarian government, and this authority will prevail even though /for it to do so/ may be hard or painful" (Santiago 7280, November 19, 1974). We have no quarrel with Montero's description of his own government. In Webster's words, the military government has imposed "a political system that concentrates power in the hands of a leader or a small autocratic elite not constitutionally responsible to the body of the people."

It is not, however, a totalitarian system, defined as "a political regime based on subordination of the individual to the state and strict control of all aspects of the life and productive capacity of the nation" (Webster's Third International Dictionary, Unabridged). As will be shown below, there are definite trends in this direction. Yet, although there are some GOC leaders and others in influential positions who would like to impose their vision of the ideal society on Chile, the GOC has not yet made any sustained effort at regimentation of the private lives of Chileans.

The GOC's overriding concern has been and probably will continue to be internal security. The government has made clear that it will pursue, destroy, or neutralize all those who would oppose it by force of arms or internal subversion, and that it will take whatever measures it believes necessary to this end. The GOC appears to conceive of the restrictions it has imposed as limited in nature and time, amply justified given the political turbulence of recent Chilean history, and only prudent in the face of a vengeful and implacable enemy. Yet it is precisely the GOC's zeal for internal security at all costs which has led to the most serious violations of human rights.

III. RIGHTS VIOLATED.

Note: In both this section and the next, we have generally followed the listing of human rights contained in the UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights since the Declaration is the most widely accepted international yardstick in measuring a country's human rights practices.

1. Right to life

During the first four months after the coup, some 100 people were executed as the result of death sentences issued by military tribunals. In addition, an undetermined number of people, perhaps another 100, were killed "trying to escape" from GOC authorities. An undetermined but much larger number were killed as a result of military/police roundups of activist supporters of the Allende government in the weeks immediately following the coup. Since early 1974, however, to our knowledge no executions as a result of court-ordered death sentences have taken place, nor are we aware of any instances of persons "killed trying to escape." Reports of people "disappearing" are still occasionally heard, and their bodies are sometimes thereafter recovered. Yet this type of execution, usually attributed to government security forces, seems to be relatively rare. One such confirmed case occurred in August, and another recently (Santiago 937).

Documentation: OAS Human Rights Commission Report, especially pp. 150-152 and 168; Amnesty International Report, especially pp. 31-37.

2. Torture or cruel, inhuman, or degrading treatment or punishment.

GOC leaders have admitted that some "abuses," including torture, have been committed against detainees, especially in the early days after the coup. They have denied, however, that torture or other mistreatment of prisoners is in any way government policy; have stated that they have ordered that it cease; and have claimed that officials have been punished for abusing prisoners. The most recent statement along these lines was made by President Pinochet on February 18, 1975 (Santiago 1118). See also General Leigh's speech, April 29, 1974 (Santiago 2373, May 3, 1974). We know of no instance, however, in which the names of those officials so punished, or the punishment they received, has been announced.

There is overwhelming circumstantial evidence that torture of prisoners does take place, and that it has done so since the Junta has been in power. In nearly all cases, when it does occur, it does so during the interrogation of a person just after his initial detention, and takes place in locations other than the long-term detention centers. Torture does not appear to be applied to all persons being interrogated but only to those whom the security services believe are unwilling to talk or who are suspected of lying. A wide variety of methods appears to be employed, including application of electricity to sensitive parts of the body, beatings, degradation, deprivation of sleep, sexual abuse, and witnessing torture of others including family members.

Documentation: OAS Human Rights Commission Report, especially pp. 77-138 and p. 169; Amnesty International Report, pp. 57-63; International Commission of Jurists Report, pp. 24-26.

3. Equal protection of the law; right to an effective remedy for violation of rights by competent national tribunals; fair and public hearings by an independent and impartial tribunal; presumption of innocence until proved guilty; freedom from ex post facto penalties.

A State of Siege, still in effect, was imposed on the day of the coup. A State of War was also declared at that time, thereby giving military tribunals operating under the Code of Military Justice jurisdiction over nearly all types of security cases. The Junta maintains that it is entitled to exercise its extraordinary powers in this way, pursuant to the Chilean Political Constitution of 1925 and various Chilean statutes of long standing.

Although the legal State of War was ended September 11, 1974, Decree Law 640 of that date set out a new range of graduated options for government through emergency measures, and Decree Law 641 declared a "State of Siege, level of Internal Defense," in which the wartime provisions of the Code of Military Justice and the emergency powers of the government apply substantially as they do under the State of External or Internal War (see Santiago A-181. September 25, 1974). Thus, despite a few changes in nomenclature, the practices of the regime with respect to persons detained on internal security grounds remain virtually unchanged, even though internal, politically motivated violence has become very rare.

The system of military justice, as applied in Chile since the coup, has been exhaustively analyzed and heavily criticized by numerous investigative bodies. As indicated below, internal security suspects are typically seized without warrants or in major dragnet operations; their families are not informed of their whereabouts; and they may be detained indefinitely without charges. Other criticisms center around disregard for due process, including use of confessions obtained through torture, denial of any or of adequate access of lawyers to their clients, secret trials, inadequate time to prepare legal defense, application of internal security legislation retroactively, denial of the right of habeas corpus (amparo), and inability to appeal to civilian tribunals. The Chilean civil courts have also been sharply criticized for almost invariably refusing to become involved in security cases, especially in refusing to hear amparo requests. Further, Decree Law 788 (Santiago 7433 December 6, 1974) which declared that previous decree laws which touched on provisions of the Constitution ipso facto amended the Constitution, has caused considerable confusion about which provisions of the Constitution are actually in force, have been amended, have been suspended, or have been repealed. This decree law also in effect gave constitutional status to any future decisions to which the regime wishes to apply it.

In a related area, the GOC has not fully honored its obligations under Article 36 of the Vienna Consular Convention. Within the last few months, the USG has protested GOC failure promptly to notify the Embassy of an arrest of an American citizen (Conger case), GOC failure to authorize timely consular access to arrested Americans (Cerretti et al case), and mistreatment of arrested American citizens by GOC authorities (Cerretti et al). Other embassies have also experienced difficulties in these areas (e.g. case of a Swiss newsman, case of a Dutch priest).

Documentation: ICJ Report, pp. 5-15; OAS Human Rights Commission Report, pp. 139-149; Santiago 7264, November 27, 1974; Santiago 1304; Santiago 1370.

4. Freedom from arbitrary arrest, detention, or exile.

In the days following the coup, mass arrests involving thousands of people took place. In an attempt to regularize the use of the arresting power, the Junta issued Decree Law 228 (published January 3, 1974) which specifies that the power to detain people under a State of Siege shall be exercised by the Junta through the issuance of decrees. In addition, government security agencies are supposed to notify the Secretariat of Detainees within 72 hours after a person is detained (Santiago 196). It is clear that both provisions are consistently ignored by GOC security agencies. Many, if not most, persons are detained without warrant and taken to an interrogation center where they are often held for more than 72 hours (see also Santiago 0647, para 3). During this period, family members are not notified of the detainees' whereabouts; in his September 11, 1974 speech General Pinochet specifically rejected this possibility, alleging that to provide such notification could prevent the security services from following up leads developed during interrogation. After interrogation, many persons are released rather than sent on to detention centers.

The GOC operates several major detention centers (Tres Alamos, Quiriquina, Chacabuco, Ritoque, Puchuncavi are the best known). These centers are visited by ICRC representatives, and detainees may receive visits from relatives, friends, and lawyers. There appears to be almost unanimous agreement among qualified observers that conditions at these centers are adequate if Spartan. Torture does not appear to take place in any of these centers, in contrast to the interrogation centers.

Most foreign groups tend to describe all persons detained for security reasons as "political prisoners." The GOC, however, sharply divides this group into three categories: Category I--persons detained without charge under State of Siege regulations (GOC officials and the Santiago press often refer to this category as "political prisoners" -- reos políticos); Category II--those subject to and under the control of the judicial process, nearly always military rather than civilian justice, and awaiting trial; and Category III--those convicted by tribunals, again nearly always military, and serving their sentences. In a March 14, 1975 statement, Minister of Interior Benavides gave the following figures for persons held in each category: Catego 1,417; Category II--1,780; Category III--1,557 (Santiago 1678). The GOC has generally excluded all common criminals from these categories, and has consistently distinguished them from security detainees. The GOC has never, however, provided any figures on persons held in interrogation centers. Thus, the combined total of all three categories is less than the actual number of persons being held at any one time for security reasons.

On September 11, 1974, General Pinochet announced that the GOC was willing to release into exile nearly all of its security detainees. The detainee release program got off to a slow start, but on November 11 a list of 100 persons (apparently all Category I) was announced (Santiago 6868, November 12, 1974) with subsequent lists promised once these first 100 were placed. No subsequent public lists have yet appeared, although there are at least two other lists of uncertain status which are presently being circulated to embassies and others who might be able to arrange for countries of reception. Most but not all of the persons on the original list of 100 have now departed for exile abroad. In addition, 95 detainees have been sent at GOC expense to Mexico, 26 to Venezuela, and lesser numbers to other countries. The GOC has also released into exile several prominent leaders of the Allende era, including former Cabinet Ministers Clodomiro Almeyda, Orlando Letelier, Jaime Tohá, and Jorge Tapia, and such senior political leaders as Hugo Miranda, Anselmo Sule, and Carlos Morales. Another dozen or so top Allende era leaders remain in detention with no charges brought against them, however, and two have died while in GOC custody (Jose Tohá, General Alberto Bachelet).

Various GOC critics have charged that forced exile as the price for release from detention is, in effect, arbitrary exile within the meaning of Article 9 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Decree Law 81 empowers the GOC to exile citizens in the interests of State security; this decree was used in November 1974 in the highly publicized expulsion case of former Senator and Christian Democratic Party President Renán Fuentealba (Santiago 7433, December 6, 1974, and previous).

Beginning in mid-1974, combined military/police sweeps of entire neighborhoods have taken place. Troops have sealed off an entire area, usually in the early morning hours after curfew, and systematically searched all homes in the area and checked the identity and police records of most residents. The announced GOC goal is to suppress crime and to control common criminals (delinquentes), but some persons caught in these sweeps have admittedly been processed on security grounds.

In addition, several hundred persons described by the GOC as hard-core common criminals have been sent without trial to GOC workcamps in Pisagua and elsewhere for "rehabilitation" (Santiago 4446, July 26, 1974).

Documentation: OAS Report, pp. 70-76; ICJ Report, pp. 19-27; ICRC Half-Yearly Report on Chile, January-June 1974; Amnesty International Report, pp. 15-30.

5. Freedom from arbitrary interference with privacy, family, home, or correspondence, and from attacks on honor and reputation.

All constitutional guarantees regarding searches and seizures have been suspended under the State of Siege regulations, and the home is no longer inviolate to GOC security forces. Many of the detentions of persons without warrant described above have taken place at their homes. Many homes have been searched without warrant, particularly in the mass military/police sweeps, and property including books and personal papers has been confiscated. There is a pervasive belief among Chileans, although with little documentation to support it, that the GOC has installed a large number of telephone taps and reads private correspondence in the postal system, particularly that going to or coming from abroad. The GOC has publicly admitted that it censors correspondence to and from security detainees.

In the area of attacks on honor and reputation, there does not appear to be a deliberate GOC policy of slander against its opponents, in spite of sometimes vicious press campaigns against such prominent figures of the Allende era as Orlando Letelier. Most of the GOC statements in this area have been political attacks on political opponents (e.g. March 20, 1975 Foreign Ministry press release on Carlos Altamirano), although occasionally the distinction tends to blur.

Documentation: OAS Report, pp. 70-76; ICJ Report, pp. 19-27; Amnesty International Report, pp. 15-30; Santiago 1164.

6. Freedom of movement and residence within the borders of the State; the right to leave and to return to the country.

There is no restriction on internal movement within Chile. Nor is there any political restriction on Chileans traveling abroad, although a high exit tax (relative to other Western Hemisphere countries) may serve to limit international travel somewhat for economic reasons. Decree Law 604, however, provides that the GOC may bar entry into Chile of any Chilean or foreigner who "dishonors, defames, or deprecates" Chile or the GOC (Santiago 4803, August 20, 1974); this decree law was apparently applied to former Senator Aniceto Rodriguez in mid-September 1974 (Santiago 5612, September 13, 1974). In other words, this decree law raises the prospect of permanent exile of Chileans from Chile. The GOC has also announced that Chileans exiled abroad must apply for readmission to Chile and that each case would be studied individually.

7. Freedom from arbitrary deprivation of nationality.

Decree Law 175 empowers the GOC to deprive Chileans of their citizenship for activities abroad "against the interests of the State" (Santiago 6074, December 11, 1973). This decree law has been applied in at least two cases, Herman Uribe Ortega (Santiago 5494, September 9, 1974) and Luis Figueroa Mazuela (Santiago 5870, September 26, 1974).

8. Freedom from arbitrary deprivation of property.

As well as outlawing political parties and groups of the Left, Decree Law 77 also provides that property belonging to such entities will be confiscated by the government. In addition to the political parties themselves, this Decree Law has been applied to dozens of individuals, business enterprises, and other entities. A substantial number of automobiles, private homes, and other goods have been confiscated without compensation.

On the other hand, the regime is committed to the protection of private property belonging to other segments of the population. Land and belongings illegally expropriated under the Allende regime are in many cases being restored to their owners, through normal judicial processes. The home of the late Pablo Neruda, at the seaside resort of Isla Negra, was taken over by the government, but his widow has been allowed to continue in occupancy and it is expected to become a national monument after her death.

Documentation: OAS Report, p. 162.

9. Right to freedom of opinion and expression.

GOC leaders have repeatedly stated that Marxism as an ideological doctrine is unacceptable in Chile. The clearest statement of this position is contained in the "Declaration of the Principles of the Government of Chile" (Section III, Article 5) and in Decree Law 77. The GOC has moved forcefully to translate these statements of ideological position into concrete action. All newspapers, magazines, radio broadcasts, books, and other expressions of opinion which reflect a "Marxist" point of view, as determined by the GOC, have been banned. All media outlets are presently subject to "self-censorship;" in the past, some have had prior censorship (Ercilla, Que Pasa, Mensaje, Radio Balmaceda). The limitation was made more clear in an interview published on March 6, 1975, in which the Junta Director for Information and Social Communications said: "Currently all means of diffusion have self-censorship . . . That means that each of the editors, in good conscience, has to decide if there is anything that does not agree with the general principles of the Junta of Government." Nevertheless, Junta policy was put in other words by President Pinochet on February 17, 1975, when he claimed publicly that "there exists complete liberty of expression, without limitation other than that of ethics and common sense" (Santiago 1118).

There is no free discussion of any political themes in Chile today, except for the political philosophy of the Junta, and there is a pervasive reluctance to engage in such discussion for fear of possible denunciation and subsequent incarceration. Many Chileans believe, rightly or wrongly, that the security services have established a network of informers (soplones) who are constantly alert for criticism of the Junta and its policies. In one widely publicized case, the GOC brought charges, later dismissed by the courts, against former University of Chile Law School Dean Eugenio Velasco, for sharply criticizing GOC human rights policies. Velasco is clearly non-Marxist and was in the forefront of opposition to the Allende Government.

Diversity of opinion in the educational system, particularly at the university level, has been restricted to a fairly narrow range, and substantial numbers of university students and professors have been expelled. In some cases, entire departments have been abolished (e.g. Center for the Study of the National Reality - CEREN - at Catholic University Santiago). A system of military monitors at the secondary school level has also been established, although the principal motivation appears to be order and discipline rather than the control of substantive educational content.

Documentation: OAS Report, pp. 153-155 and p. 170; ICJ Report, pp. 10-11; ICJ Press Release, December 5, 1974.

10. Freedom of peaceful assembly and association.

Meetings of such organizations as trade unions and civic associations are strictly controlled, usually requiring a previous government permit and often including a government monitor. In sharp contrast to previous Chilean governments, there has been only one major street rally (September 11, 1974) in the 18 months the Junta has been in power, and that occurred with explicit GOC authorization and tacit support. An unauthorized street demonstration, a political rally, or a trade union strike is unthinkable in the present environment.

Those political parties which supported the Allende government are outlawed (Decree Law 77) and, according to GOC statements, will remain so indefinitely. Those that opposed Allende have been "recessed" (Decree Law 78), also apparently indefinitely, and are prevented from engaging in such standard political party activities as recruiting members, holding meetings, presenting views on public issues, or nominating candidates for public office.

Documentation: OAS Report, p. 162; Report to ILO Governing Body, Document GB, 195/3/1, 195th Session.

11. Right to take part in the government, directly or through freely chosen representatives; expression of the popular will through periodic and genuine elections.

There are no elections of government officials of any kind at any level, nor are there elections for officers of most private groups. With but minor exceptions, all such officials are appointed directly or indirectly by the government, and "political suitability" is often applied as a criterion. All general electoral rolls have been destroyed (Decree Law 130). As noted above, political parties no longer perform their traditional function of ensuring interaction between the government and the populace. Although the GOC has created a regionalization scheme and several new institutions directed, for example, at women and youth to play this role, there is great doubt that they genuinely allow the citizen the full participation in civic life which the GOC alleges. The GOC view of "participation" appears to be a paternalistic, from-the-top-down type of arrangement, with no effective decision-making power at the grass-roots level.

Documentation: OAS Report, pp. 156-157; Santiago A-40, February 26, 1975.

12. Right to work, to free choice of employment, to protection against unemployment, to an existence worthy of human dignity, to form and to join trade unions, and to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of the individual and his family.

After the coup, the GOC disbanded only a few trade unions and trade union federations, the most important of which were the Chilean Workers Confederation (CUT) and the Teachers Union (SUTE). Although the remainder continue to exist, their activities are sharply circumscribed by Decree Law 198. The right to strike and to bargain collectively has been "suspended;" trade union meetings are subject to prior government approval and monitoring; and election of officers has also been suspended.

There has been discrimination in employment against persons known to hold or suspected of holding Marxist beliefs or otherwise out of favor with the GOC, and many have been dismissed from government and private employment. Moreover, many of these persons have had serious problems in finding new jobs.

As one result of the GOC's policy of economic austerity, the official unemployment rate has hit nearly unprecedented levels (10.4 percent in October 1974 and 9.5 percent in November 1974, according to official government figures, which may be considerably understated--see Santiago A-30, January 5, 1975). Public concern about the unemployment problem has been rising (see Santiago A-36, February 19, 1975). The GOC has established an expanded unemployment insurance program and has announced a program of public works employment for the unemployed, but both measures have been criticized as "too little and too late" to alleviate suffering among some low-income unemployed. Families of security detainees, in addition to suffering the absence of the principal bread-winner, have apparently been subjected to other kinds of economic discrimination.

Documentation: ILO Report; OAS Report, especially p. 162.

IV. RIGHTS RELATIVELY UNENCUMBERED.

1. Freedom from discrimination on grounds of race, color, sex, language, religion, political or any other opinion, national or social origin, property, or birth.

As noted above, however, there is discrimination on the basis of political opinion.

2. Freedom from slavery.

3. Recognition as a person before the law.

4. Right to asylum.

After the coup hundreds of persons, both Chileans and foreigners resident in Chile, sought political asylum in foreign embassies. Although initially slow to process these cases, once the new government was able to get the bureaucratic machinery moving again the asylees began to move out of Chile at a reasonable pace. However, a hard core of some 250-300 remained, nearly all of whom had played an active role in the Allende government. A GOC decision was made in mid-1974 to let this group go as well and the Embassies were generally clear soon thereafter, with the exception of the Italian Embassy, where bilateral relations problems hampered progress. However, as the GOC security forces successfully broke the terrorist-inclined Movement of the Revolutionary Left (MIR) starting in October, and as the economic situation became increasingly difficult, a new wave of asylees composed mainly of disillusioned MIRistas and persons seeking a better economic situation abroad began entering the embassies. This situation prevails today. The GOC has processed these cases efficiently, and the undeniable delays in the physical departure of these asylees are largely the result of the unwillingness of many countries to accept them. As the supply of potential asylees appears to be inexhaustible, however, the asylee problem will continue for the foreseeable future, though doubtless at a reduced rate.

In the area of refugees, a number of third-country nationals, perhaps as many as 15,000, were in Chile at the time of the coup, and many had good reason to fear for their safety. Nevertheless, with some exceptions including the deaths of two US citizens in the early days of the coup, under circumstances that have never been clarified, the GOC's record in dealing with the refugee problem is good. The GOC authorized the operation of an interdenominational committee to assist refugees, respected the several safe havens which this committee established, cooperated fully with the UNHCR and related agencies, and expedited the issuance of safe conduct and the physical departure of those who chose to leave Chile. Consequently, the refugee problem was effectively resolved within four or five months after the coup, and has not been an issue since.

Documentation: OAS Report, pp. 158-161.

5. Marriage and the family.

6. Freedom of thought, conscience, and religion.

The GOC has placed no restrictions on the mainstream religions--Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish. However, two quasi-religious sects, Divine Light and SILO, were forcibly disbanded, and a few of their leaders were detained without charge for long periods.

UNCLASSIFIED

7. Right to social security.

8. Right to rest and leisure.

9. Right to an education.

10. Free participation in cultural life.

There is one other area in which the GOC's record is good--its openness in receiving foreign investigators checking into human rights violations. Of the dozens of public and private groups who have requested entry to Chile, only two have been turned down: delegations of the International Transport Workers Federation in November 1974 (according to the GOC, due to scheduling conflicts with an ILO investigating team visiting at the same time), and of the International Parliamentary Union. Although General Pinochet warned in his December 31, 1974, year-end speech that such investigatory bodies might henceforth be denied entry to Chile unless they also investigated reports of human rights violations in such countries as Cuba and the Soviet Union (Santiago 1134), to date there has been no important problem in this area.

V. CONCLUSION.

It is clear that normal human rights standards customarily observed in Chile have in many respects been seriously impaired under the Junta's authority. Many human rights abuses and denials of fundamental freedoms have been instituted through Government decision, on the ground that the suppression of certain rights is required during the present period of emergency, to deal with actual or potential violence and subversion. In this sense, those in authority in Chile explicitly "encourage and direct" violations.

The evidence also leads to the conclusion that Chilean authorities "ignore (i.e., do not react to) and condone" certain violations not sanctioned by any type of law. It is unthinkable, for example, that the use of the Air Force War Academy as an interrogation center in which torture is applied, a charge repeatedly made in the available documentation, is unknown to Air Force Commander and Junta member General Gustavo Leigh. Nor can the wide-ranging activities of DINA (Dirección de Inteligencia Nacional) have escaped their scrutiny.

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

The great majority of Chileans in Chile do not have problems with the GOC and are not subject to persecution. They live a generally normal life. The military government has brought order and tranquility out of the political chaos inherited from Allende, and most Chileans appreciate this. However, many of those Chileans who do have problems with the GOC--and there are thousands of them--appear frequently to be the victims of arbitrary and draconic procedures inconsistent with approved human rights standards.

Moreover, there is a concern among people in all sectors of the society that one day they too could face such problems. And, except in a few limited areas, there has been no recent indication that the overall human rights situation will improve dramatically in the near future.

I. INTRODUCTION. To assist in meeting Congressional requirements, the Department's instruction of January 17 (ref A) requested of posts a documented and updated appraisal of the record, current status and prospects of host governments "in discharging their obligations under international law" to respect human rights and fundamental freedoms.

There is no doubt regarding the nature of the human rights situation in Chile. The country is living under an authoritarian regime, controlled by its military leaders. Eighteen months after the coup which brought the regime to power, a legal State of Siege continues to exist. Under its authority, the constitutional and legal safeguards granted to Chileans and to others under the political constitution of 1925 and long-standing legal provisions have in many important respects ceased to prevail. While violent internal opposition has been virtually wiped out, at least for the time being, there has been no substantial relaxation of the government's internal security controls. However, as indicated below, steps are being taken to reduce the number of detainees held on internal security grounds, primarily through exile to other countries.

We are not asked in this report to apply judgmental criteria to the human rights record of the present government of Chile. Rather, we assume, we are asked to document the failure of the government to observe the standards laid down in the International and Inter-American Declarations, the International Covenants, treaty provisions regarding the treatment of civilians during hostilities, and the country's own constitutional and legal instruments.

Nevertheless, in doing so we would note, for whatever they may be worth, the mitigating circumstances cited by the government to justify its current practices.

The Junta maintains that it assumed power to prevent economic chaos and an impending leftist dictatorship. It contends, rightly or wrongly, that the measures it has taken are a transitory necessity sanctioned under the existing provisions of Chilean law covering emergency situations. It further asserts that it intends to return the country to a democratic system more just and stable than that of the past, when it believes it can safely do so. Accordingly, it has initiated work on a new constitution, and on new legislation which will reflect the need to deal effectively with modern terrorism and other forms of latter-day violence.

Finally, the Junta considers that Chile has been singled out for unprecedentedly harsh treatment, in a world in which scores of other countries carry on similar or worse practices; and it notes that in international agencies its principal accusers are communist states whose control of the individual is much more stringent than that applied in Chile.

We do not defend the Junta's human rights practices. They fall short of those prevalent in many, though not all, countries. Nor do we regard the evolution of Chilean life toward a new democratic order as by any means assured. But we do believe that these factors may to a degree be relevant to a documented survey of the human rights situation in Chile. It should not be forgotten that Chile has normally lived under democratic regimes for generations, and that the bulk of the country accepts the present restrictions, uncomfortably, as temporary expedients to deal with a situation unprecedented in its history.

II. AUTHORITARIANISM, TOTALITARIANISM, AND INTERNAL SECURITY.

Speaking for the GOC, Under Secretary of Interior Lt. Col. Enrique Montero stated during a nationwide radio/television address November 28, 1974: "This is an authoritarian government, and this authority will prevail even though /for it to do so/ may be hard or painful" (Santiago 7280, November 19, 1974). We have no quarrel with Montero's description of his own government. In Webster's words, the military government has imposed "a political system that concentrates power in the hands of a leader or a small autocratic elite not constitutionally responsible to the body of the people."

It is not, however, a totalitarian system, defined as "a political regime based on subordination of the individual to the state and strict control of all aspects of the life and productive capacity of the nation" (Webster's Third International Dictionary, Unabridged). As will be shown below, there are definite trends in this direction. Yet, although there are some GOC leaders and others in influential positions who would like to impose their vision of the ideal society on Chile, the GOC has not yet made any sustained effort at regimentation of the private lives of Chileans.

The GOC's overriding concern has been and probably will continue to be internal security. The government has made clear that it will pursue, destroy, or neutralize all those who would oppose it by force of arms or internal subversion, and that it will take whatever measures it believes necessary to this end. The GOC appears to conceive of the restrictions it has imposed as limited in nature and time, amply justified given the political turbulence of recent Chilean history, and only prudent in the face of a vengeful and implacable enemy. Yet it is precisely the GOC's zeal for internal security at all costs which has led to the most serious violations of human rights.

III. RIGHTS VIOLATED.

Note: In both this section and the next, we have generally followed the listing of human rights contained in the UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights since the Declaration is the most widely accepted international yardstick in measuring a country's human rights practices.

1. Right to life

During the first four months after the coup, some 100 people were executed as the result of death sentences issued by military tribunals. In addition, an undetermined number of people, perhaps another 100, were killed "trying to escape" from GOC authorities. An undetermined but much larger number were killed as a result of military/police roundups of activist supporters of the Allende government in the weeks immediately following the coup. Since early 1974, however, to our knowledge no executions as a result of court-ordered death sentences have taken place, nor are we aware of any instances of persons "killed trying to escape." Reports of people "disappearing" are still occasionally heard, and their bodies are sometimes thereafter recovered. Yet this type of execution, usually attributed to government security forces seems to be relatively rare. One such confirmed case occurred in August, and another recently (Santiago 937).

Documentation: OAS Human Rights Commission Report, especially pp. 150-152 and 168; Amnesty International Report, especially pp. 31-37.

2. Torture or cruel, inhuman, or degrading treatment or punishmen

GOC leaders have admitted that some "abuses," including torture, have been committed against detainees, especially in the early days after the coup. They have denied, however, that torture or other mistreatment of prisoners is in any way government policy have stated that they have ordered that it cease; and have claime that officials have been punished for abusing prisoners. The most recent statement along these lines was made by President Pinochet on February 18, 1975 (Santiago 1118). See also General Leigh's speech, April 29, 1974 (Santiago 2373, May 3, 1974). We know of no instance, however, in which the names of those officials so punished, or the punishment they received, has been announced.

There is overwhelming circumstantial evidence that torture of prisoners does take place, and that it has done so since the Junta has been in power. In nearly all cases, when it does occur, it does so during the interrogation of a person just after his initial detention, and takes place in locations other than the long-term detention centers. Torture does not appear to be applied to all persons being interrogated but only to those whom the security services believe are unwilling to talk or who are suspected of lying. A wide variety of methods appears to be employed, including application of electricity to sensitive parts of the body, beatings, degradation, deprivation of sleep, sexual abuse, and witnessing torture of others including family members.

Documentation: OAS Human Rights Commission Report, especially pp. 77-138 and p. 169; Amnesty International Report, pp. 57-63; International Commission of Jurists Report, pp. 24-26.

3. Equal protection of the law; right to an effective remedy for violation of rights by competent national tribunals; fair and public hearings by an independent and impartial tribunal; presumption of innocence until proved guilty; freedom from ex post facto penalties.

A State of Siege, still in effect, was imposed on the day of the coup. A State of War was also declared at that time, thereby giving military tribunals operating under the Code of Military Justice jurisdiction over nearly all types of security cases. The Junta maintains that it is entitled to exercise its extraordinary powers in this way, pursuant to the Chilean Political Constitution of 1925 and various Chilean statutes of long standing.

Although the Legal State of War was ended September 11, 1974, Decree Law 641 of that date set the precedent of unilateral executive declaration of [illegible] and Decree Law 640 declared a State of Siege [illegible] with the various provisions of the Code of Military Justice and the emergency powers of the government apply substantially as they do under the State of External or Internal War (see Santiago A-181, September 25, 1974). Thus, despite a few changes in nomenclature, the practices of the regime with respect to persons detained on internal security grounds remain virtually unchanged, even though internal, politically motivated violence has become very rare.

The system of military justice, as applied in Chile since the coup, has been exhaustively analyzed and heavily criticized by numerous investigative bodies. As indicated below, internal security suspects are typically seized without warrants or in major dragnet operations; their families are not informed of their whereabouts; and they may be detained indefinitely without charges. Other criticisms center around disregard for due process, including use of confessions obtained through torture, denial of any or of adequate access of lawyers to their clients, secret trials, inadequate time to prepare legal defense, application of internal security legislation retroactively, denial of the right of habeas corpus (amparo), and inability to appeal to civilian tribunals. The Chilean civil courts have also been sharply criticized for almost invariably refusing to become involved in security cases, especially in refusing to hear amparo requests. Further, Decree Law 788 (Santiago 7433 December 6, 1974) which declared that previous decree laws which touched on provisions of the Constitution ipso facto amended the Constitution, has caused considerable confusion about which provisions of the Constitution are actually in force, have been amended, have been suspended, or have been repealed. This decree law also in effect gave constitutional status to any future decisions to which the regime wishes to apply it.

In a related area, the GOC has not fully honored its obligations under Article 36 of the Vienna Consular Convention. Within the last few months, the USG has protested GOC failure promptly to notify the Embassy of an arrest of an American citizen (Conger case), GOC failure to authorize timely consular access to arrested Americans (Cerretti et al case), and mistreatment of arrested American citizens by GOC authorities (Cerretti et al). Other embassies have also experienced difficulties in these areas (e.g. case of a Swiss newsman, case of a Dutch priest).

4. Freedom from arbitrary arrest, detention, or exile.

In the days following the coup, mass arrests involving thousands of people took place. In an attempt to regularize the use of the arresting power, the Junta issued Decree Law 228 (published January 3, 1974) which specifies that the power to detain people under a State of Siege shall be exercised by the Junta through the issuance of decrees. In addition, government security agencies are supposed to notify the Secretariat of Detainees within 72 hours after a person is detained (Santiago 196). It is clear that both provisions are consistently ignored by GOC security agencies. Many, if not most, persons are detained without warrant and taken to an interrogation center where they are often held for more than 72 hours (see also Santiago 0647, para 3). During this period, family members are not notified of the detainees' whereabouts; in his September 11, 1974 speech General Pinochet specifically rejected this possibility, alleging that to provide such notification could prevent the security services from following up leads developed during interrogation. After interrogation, many persons are released rather than sent on to detention centers.

The GOC operates several major detention centers (Tres Alamos, Quiriquina, Chacabuco, Ritoque, Puchuncavi are the best known). These centers are visited by ICRC representatives, and detainees may receive visits from relatives, friends, and lawyers. There appears to be almost unanimous agreement among qualified observers that conditions at these centers are adequate if Spartan. Torture does not appear to take place in any of these centers, in contrast to the interrogation centers.

Most foreign groups tend to describe all persons detained for security reasons as "political prisoners." The GOC, however, sharply divides this group into three categories: Category I--persons detained without charge under State of Siege regulations (GOC officials and the Santiago press often refer to this category as "political prisoners" -- reos políticos); Category II--those subject to and under the control of the judicial process, nearly always military rather than civilian justice, and awaiting trial; and Category III--those convicted by tribunals, again nearly always military, and serving their sentences. In a March 14, 1975 statement, Minister of Interior Benavides gave the following figures for persons held in each category: Category 1,417; Category II--1,780; Category III--1,557 (Santiago 1678). The GOC has generally excluded all common criminals from these categories, and has consistently distinguished them from security detainees. The GOC has never, however, provided any figures on persons held in interrogation centers. Thus, the combined total of all three categories is less than the actual number of persons being held at any one time for security reasons.

On September 11, 1974, General Pinochet announced that the GOC was willing to release into exile nearly all of its security detainees. The detainee release program got off to a slow start, but on November 11 a list of 100 persons (apparently all Category I) was announced (Santiago 6868, November 12, 1974) with subsequent lists promised once these first 100 were placed. No subsequent public lists have yet appeared, although there are at least two other lists of uncertain status which are presently being circulated to embassies and others who might be able to arrange for countries of reception. Most but not all of the persons on the original list of 100 have now departed for exile abroad. In addition, 95 detainees have been sent at GOC expense to Mexico, 26 to Venezuela, and lesser numbers to other countries. The GOC has also released into exile several prominent leaders of the Allende era, including former Cabinet Ministers Clodomiro Almeyda, Orlando Letelier, Jaime Tohá, and Jorge Tapia, and such senior political leaders as Hugo Miranda, Anselmo Sule, and Carlos Morales. Another dozen or so top Allende era leaders remain in detention with no charges brought against them, however, and two have died while in GOC custody (Jose Tohá, General Alberto Bachelet).

Various GOC critics have charged that forced exile as the price for release from detention is, in effect, arbitrary exile within the meaning of Article 9 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Decree Law 81 empowers the GOC to exile citizens in the interests of State security; this decree was used in November 1974 in the highly publicized expulsion case of former Senator and Christian Democratic Party President Renán Fuentealba (Santiago 7433, December 6, 1974, and previous).

Beginning in mid-1974, combined military/police sweeps of entire neighborhoods have taken place. Troops have sealed off an entire area, usually in the early morning hours after curfew, and systematically searched all homes in the area and checked the identity and police records of most residents. The announced GOC goal is to suppress crime and to control common criminals (delinquentes), but some persons caught in these sweeps have admittedly been processed on security grounds.

In addition, several hundred persons described by the GOC as hard-core common criminals have been sent without trial to GOC workcamps in Pisagua and elsewhere for "rehabilitation" (Santiago 4446, July 26, 1974).

Documentation: OAS Report, pp. 70-76; ICJ Report, pp. 19-27; ICRC Half-Yearly Report on Chile, January-June 1974; Amnesty International Report, pp. 15-30.

5. Freedom from arbitrary interference with privacy, family, home, or correspondence, and from attacks on honor and reputation.

All constitutional guarantees regarding searches and seizures have been suspended under the State of Siege regulations, and the home is no longer inviolate to GOC security forces. Many of the detentions of persons without warrant described above have taken place at their homes. Many homes have been searched without warrant, particularly in the mass military/police sweeps, and property including books and personal papers has been confiscated. There is a pervasive belief among Chileans, although with little documentation to support it, that the GOC has installed a large number of telephone taps and reads private correspondence in the postal system, particularly that going to or coming from abroad. The GOC has publicly admitted that it censors correspondence to and from security detainees.

In the area of attacks on honor and reputation, there does not appear to be a deliberate GOC policy of slander against its opponents, in spite of sometimes vicious press campaigns against such prominent figures of the Allende era as Orlando Letelier. Most of the GOC statements in this area have been political attacks on political opponents (e.g. March 20, 1975 Foreign Ministry press release on Carlos Altamirano), although occasionally the distinction tends to blur.

Documentation: OAS Report, pp. 70-76; ICJ Report, pp. 19-27; Amnesty International Report, pp. 15-30; Santiago 1164.

6. Freedom of movement and residence within the borders of the State; the right to leave and to return to the country.

There is no restriction on internal movement within Chile. Nor is there any political restriction on Chileans traveling abroad, although a high exit tax (relative to other Western Hemisphere countries) may serve to limit international travel somewhat for economic reasons. Decree Law 604, however, provides that the GOC may bar entry into Chile of any Chilean or foreigner who "dishonors, defames, or deprecates" Chile or the GOC (Santiago 4803, August 20, 1974); this decree law was apparently applied to former Senator Aniceto Rodriguez in mid-September 1974 (Santiago 5612, September 13, 1974). In other words, this decree law raises the prospect of permanent exile of Chileans from Chile. The GOC has also announced that Chileans exiled abroad must apply for readmission to Chile and that each case would be studied individually.

7. Freedom from arbitrary deprivation of nationality.

Decree Law 175 empowers the GOC to deprive Chileans of their citizenship for activities abroad "against the interests of the State" (Santiago 6074, December 11, 1973). This decree law has been applied in at least two cases, Herman Uribe Ortega (Santiago 5494, September 9, 1974) and Luis Figueroa Mazuela (Santiago 5870, September 26, 1974).

8. Freedom from arbitrary deprivation of property.

As well as outlawing political parties and groups of the Left, Decree Law 77 also provides that property belonging to such entities will be confiscated by the government. In addition to the political parties themselves, this Decree Law has been applied to dozens of individuals, business enterprises, and other entities. A substantial number of automobiles, private homes, and other goods have been confiscated without compensatio

On the other hand, the regime is committed to the protection of private property belonging to other segments of the population. Land and belongings illegally expropriated under the Allende regime are in many cases being restored to their owners, through normal judicial processes. The home of the late Pablo Neruda, at the seaside resort of Isla Negra, was taken over by the government, but his widow has been allowed to continue in occupancy and it is expected to become a national monument after her death.

Documentation: OAS Report, p. 162.

9. Right to freedom of opinion and expression.

GOC leaders have repeatedly stated that Marxism as an ideological doctrine is unacceptable in Chile. The clearest statement of this position is contained in the "Declaration of the Principles of the Government of Chile" (Section III, Article 5) and in Decree Law 77. The GOC has moved forcefully to translate these statements of ideological position into concrete action. All newspapers, magazines, radio broadcasts, books, and other expressions of opinion which reflect a "Marxist" point of view, as determined by the GOC, have been banned. All media outlets are presently subject to "self-censorship;" in the past, some have had prior censorship (Ercilla, Que Pasa, Mensaje, Radio Balmaceda). The limitation was made more clear in an interview published on March 6, 1975, in which the Junta Director for Information and Social Communications said: "Currently all means of diffusion have self-censorship . . . That means that each of the editors, in good conscience, has to decide if there is anything that does not agree with the general principles of the Junta of Government." Nevertheless, Junta policy was put in other words by President Pinochet on February 17, 1975, when he claimed publicly that "there exists complete liberty of expression, without limitation other than that of ethics and common sense" (Santiago 1118).

There is no free discussion of any political themes in Chile today, except for the political philosophy of the Junta, and there is a pervasive reluctance to engage in such discussion for fear of possible denunciation and subsequent incarceration. Many Chileans believe, rightly or wrongly, that the security services have established a network of informers (soplones) who are constantly alert for criticism of the Junta and its policies. In one widely publicized case, the GOC brought charges, later dismissed by the courts, against former University of Chile Law School Dean Eugenio Velasco, for sharply criticizing GOC human rights policies. Velasco is clearly non-Marxist and was in the forefront of opposition to the Allende Government.

Diversity of opinion in the educational system, particularly at the university level, has been restricted to a fairly narrow range, and substantial numbers of university students and professors have been expelled. In some cases, entire departments have been abolished (e.g. Center for the Study of the National Reality - CEREN - at Catholic University Santiago). A system of military monitors at the secondary school level has also been established, although the principal motivation appears to be order and discipline rather than the control of substantive educational content.

Documentation: OAS Report, pp. 153-155 and p. 170; ICJ Report, pp. 10-11; ICJ Press Release, December 5, 1974.

10. Freedom of peaceful assembly and association.

Meetings of such organizations as trade unions and civic associations are strictly controlled, usually requiring a previous government permit and often including a government monitor. In sharp contrast to previous Chilean governments, there has been only one major street rally (September 11, 1974) in the 18 months the Junta has been in power, and that occurred with explicit GOC authorization and tacit support. An unauthorized street demonstration, a political rally, or a trade union strike is unthinkable in the present environment.

Those political parties which supported the Allende governmen are outlawed (Decree Law 77) and, according to GOC statements will remain so indefinitely. Those that opposed Allende have been "recessed" (Decree Law 78), also apparently indefinitely, and are prevented from engaging in such standard political pa activities as recruiting members, holding meetings, presentin views on public issues, or nominating candidates for public office.

Documentation: OAS Report, p. 162; Report to ILO Governing Body, Document GB, 195/3/1, 195th Session.

11. Right to take part in the government, directly or through freely chosen representatives; expression of the popular will through periodic and genuine elections.

There are no elections of government officials of any kind at any level, nor are there elections for officers of most privat groups. With but minor exceptions, all such officials are appointed directly or indirectly by the government, and "politic suitability" is often applied as a criterion. All general elec toral rolls have been destroyed (Decree Law 130). As noted above, political parties no longer perform their traditional function of ensuring interaction between the government and the populace. Although the GOC has created a regionalization scheme and several new institutions directed, for example, at women and youth to play this role, there is great doubt that they genuinely allow the citizen the full participation in civi life which the GOC alleges. The GOC view of "participation" appears to be a paternalistic, from-the-top-down type of arran ment, with no effective decision-making power at the grass-roots level.

Documentation: OAS Report, pp. 156-157; Santiago A-40, February 26, 1975.

12. Right to work, to free choice of employment, to protection against unemployment, to an existence worthy of human dignity, to form and to join trade unions, and to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of the individual and his family.

After the coup, the GOC disbanded only a few trade unions and trade union federations, the most important of which were the Chilean Workers Confederation (CUT) and the Teachers Union (SUTE). Although the remainder continue to exist, their activities are sharply circumscribed by Decree Law 198. The right to strike and to bargain collectively has been "suspended;" trade union meetings are subject to prior government approval and monitoring; and election of officers has also been suspende

There has been discrimination in employment against persons known to hold or suspected of holding Marxist beliefs or otherwise out of favor with the GOC, and many have been dismissed from government and private employment. Moreover, many of these persons have had serious problems in finding new jobs.

As one result of the GOC's policy of economic austerity, the official unemployment rate has hit nearly unprecedented levels (10.4 percent in October 1974 and 9.5 percent in November 1974, according to official government figures, which may be considerably understated--see Santiago A-30, January 5, 1975). Public concern about the unemployment problem has been rising (see Santiago A-36, February 19, 1975). The GOC has established an expanded unemployment insurance program and has announced a program of public works employment for the unemployed, but both measures have been criticized as "too little and too late" to alleviate suffering among some low-income unemployed. Families of security detainees, in addition to suffering the absence of the principal bread-winner, have apparently been subjected to other kinds of economic discrimination.

Documentation: ILO Report; OAS Report, especially p. 162.

IV. RIGHTS RELATIVELY UNENCUMBERED.

1. Freedom from discrimination on grounds of race, color, sex, language, religion, political or any other opinion, national or social origin, property, or birth.

As noted above, however, there is discrimination on the basis of political opinion.

2. Freedom from slavery.

3. Recognition as a person before the law.

4. Right to asylum.

After the coup hundreds of persons, both Chileans and foreigners resident in Chile, sought political asylum in foreign embassies. Although initially slow to process these cases, once the new government was able to get the bureaucratic machinery moving again the asylees began to move out of Chile at a reasonable pace. However, a hard core of some 250-300 remained, nearly all of whom had played an active role in the Allende government. A GOC decision was made in mid-1974 to let this group go as well, and the Embassies were generally clear soon thereafter, with the exception of the Italian Embassy, where bilateral relations problems hampered progress. However, as the GOC security forces successfully broke the terrorist-inclined Movement of the Revolutionary Left (MIR) starting in October, and as the economic situation became increasingly difficult, a new wave of asylees composed mainly of disillusioned MIRistas and persons seeking a better economic situation abroad began entering the embassies. This situation prevails today. The GOC has processed these cases efficiently, and the undeniable delays in the physical departure of these asylees are largely the result of the unwillingness of many countries to accept them. As the supply of potential asylees appears to be inexhaustible, however, the asylee problem will continue for the foreseeabl future, though doubtless at a reduced rate.

In the area of refugees, a number of third-country nationals perhaps as many as 15,000, were in Chile at the time of the coup, and many had good reason to fear for their safety. Nevertheless, with some exceptions including the deaths of two US citizens in the early days of the coup, under circumstances that have never been clarified, the GOC's record in dealing with the refugee problem is good. The GOC authorize the operation of an interdenominational committee to assist refugees, respected the several safe havens which this committee established, cooperated fully with the UNHCR and related agencies, and expedited the issuance of safe conduct and the physical departure of those who chose to leave Chile Consequently, the refugee problem was effectively resolved within four or five months after the coup, and has not been an issue since.

Documentation: OAS Report, pp. 158-161.

5. Marriage and the family.

6. Freedom of thought, conscience, and religion.

The GOC has placed no restrictions on the mainstream religions--Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish. However, two quasi-religious sects, Divine Light and SILO, were forcibly disbanded, and a few of their leaders were detained without charge for long periods.

7. Right to social security.

8. Right to rest and leisure.

9. Right to an education.

10. Free participation in cultural life.

There is one other area in which the GOC's record is good--its openness in receiving foreign investigators checking into human rights violations. Of the dozens of public and private groups who have requested entry to Chile, only two have been turned down: delegations of the International Transport Workers Federation in November 1974 (according to the GOC, due to scheduling conflicts with an ILO investigating team visiting at the same time), and of the International Parliamentary Union. Although General Pinochet warned in his December 31, 1974, year-end speech that such investigatory bodies might henceforth be denied entry to Chile unless they also investigated reports of human rights violations in such countries as Cuba and the Soviet Union (Santiago 1134), to date there has been no important problem in this area.

V. CONCLUSION.

It is clear that normal human rights standards customarily observed in Chile have in many respects been seriously impaired under the Junta's authority. Many human rights abuses and denials of fundamental freedoms have been instituted through Government decision, on the ground that the suppression of certain rights is required during the present period of emergency, to deal with actual or potential violence and subversion. In this sense, those in authority in Chile explicitly "encourage and direct" violations.

The evidence also leads to the conclusion that Chilean authorities "ignore (i.e., do not react to) and condone" certain violations not sanctioned by any type of law. It is unthinkable, for example, that the use of the Air Force War Academy as an interrogation center in which torture is applied, a charge repeatedly made in the available documentation, is unknown to Air Force Commander and Junta member General Gustavo Leigh. Nor can the wide-ranging activities of DINA (Direccion de Inteligencia Nacional) have escaped their scrutiny.

The great majority of Chileans in Chile do not have problems with the GOC and are not subject to persecution. They live a generally normal life. The military government has brought order and tranquility out of the political chaos inherited from Allende, and most Chileans appreciate this. However, many of those Chileans who do have problems with the GOC--and there are thousands of them--appear frequently to be the victims of arbitrary and draconic procedures inconsistent with approved human rights standards.

Moreover, there is a concern among people in all sectors of the society that one day they too could face such problems. And, except in a few limited areas, there has been no recent indication that the overall human rights situation will improve dramatically in the near future.

SUBJECT: IAHRC'S REPORT ON CHILE

REF: A) STATE 082252; B) STATE 083614

1. CONVERSATION APRIL 14 BETWEEN AMBASSADOR TRUCCO AND DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SHED FURTHER LIGHT ON CHILE'S INTENTIONS REGARDING OAS GENERAL ASSEMBLY CONSIDERATION OF IAHRC'S REPORT ON CHILE. TRUCCO REVIEWED HIS RECENT ACTIONS IN OAS AND SPECIFICALLY HIS EXCEPTION TO THE FACT THAT IAHRC REPORT WAS SENT TO THE UN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION WITHOUT THE AUTHORIZATION OF THE PERMANENT COUNCIL OR THE OAS GENERAL ASSEMBLY. TRUCCO CONTENDS THAT THE REPORT IS NOT A FINAL DOCUMENT AND AS SUCH SHOULD NOT HAVE BEEN DISTRIBUTED TO THE UN BODY. TRUCCO COMPARED PERFORMANCE OF THE IAHRC UNFAVORABLY WITH THAT OF THE UN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION. HE COMMENTED THAT NOW THAT THE [redacted]

IAHRC REPORT HAD BEEN SUBMITTED TO THE UN BODY, HE FELT THAT OASGA WOULD DEFER TO THE LATTER IN ITS CONSIDERATION OF THE ISSUE AS THE "EASIEST WAY OUT."

2. TRUCCO NOTED THAT CHILE WOULD PREFER TO DEAL WITH THE MATTER IN THE SMALLER AND FRIENDLIER OAS CONTEXT. HOWEVER, IT WAS PREPARED TO WORK AS COOPERATIVELY AS POSSIBLE WITH THE UNHRC. TRUCCO SAID HE WOULD NOT ATTEMPT TO AVOID DEBATE ON THE ISSUE DURING THE OASGA BUT RATHER WELCOMED IT. HE SAID HE WOULD RECOMMEND SOME PROCEDURAL CHANGES SO THAT THE IAHRC COULD AVOID SOME OF THE "MISTAKES" MADE IN CHILE IN FUTURE CASES.

3. TRUCCO SAID HE DID NOT ANTICIPATE ANY DIFFICULTIES DURING THE OASGA BUT ACKNOWLEDGED THAT MEXICO CONCEIVABLY MIGHT BE TROUBLESOME. HE TENDED TO DISMISS THIS POSSIBILITY BUT ADDED THAT SHOULD IT PROVE TO BE THE CASE HE WAS QUITE PREPARED TO TAKE ON THE MEXICANS. HE STATED THAT AS THERE ARE NO DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES, HE WOULD NOT HESITATE TO RAISE SOME EMBARRASSING ITEMS FOR MEXICO SUCH AS THE TLATELOLCO INCIDENT.

4. ROGERS SAID HE WAS PLEASED TO HEAR THAT CHILE WOULD NOT ATTEMPT TO SWEEP THIS ISSUE UNDER THE RUG, ADDING THAT HE THOUGHT THAT WOULD BE A MISTAKE. HE APPLAUDED TRUCCO'S POSITIVE APPROACH WITH RESPECT TO RECOMMENDATIONS CONCERNING FUTURE PROCEDURES, BUT EXPRESSED DOUBT AS TO THE WISDOM OF ENGAGING IN A DIVISIVE POLEMIC WITH MEXICO.

5. TRUCCO SAID THAT CHILE WOULD ANSWER ANY SPECIFIC INQUIRIES CONCERNING ALLEGED HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, BUT HE MADE CLEAR THAT UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES WOULD CHILE ENTERTAIN A FURTHER VISIT IN COUNTRY FROM THE IAHRC. HE REITERATED THIS POINT WHEN ASKED WHETHER CHILE HAD INVITED THE IAHRC TO VISIT CHILE AGAIN TO INVESTIGATE A SPECIFIC CASE.

6. FOR USUN: IN REVIEWING THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE UNHRC WHICH HE ATTENDED, TRUCCO SAID HE HAD WITH GREAT DIFFICULTY PERSUADED THE GOC TO AGREE TO RECEIVE THE [redacted]

SUBJECT : ICEM Activities in Chile

REF :

Roberto Kozak, head of the ICEM office in Santiago, called on Ambassador Popper April 3 seeking support for ICEM activities in Chile, and specifically for U.S. contributions to ICEM/Latin America's budget. The Ambassador said that he understood the USG contributes to the UNHRC but did not know about ICEM/LA. He offered to pass on Kozak's appeal to the Department. Kozak later sent further documentation to the Embassy on ICEM activities, and some charts of their resettlement accomplishments are enclosed.

Kozak made the following comments of interest:

ICEM Caseload - About four months ago ICEM's caseload was about 800, mostly families of asylees and refugees. They have since then moved 400-600 persons a month out of Chile, and their current caseload is 2,500 persons.

GOC Cooperation and Resettlement Possibilities - The GOC on the whole has been quite cooperative with ICEM since it began its resettlement program in October 1973. There is one very troublesome problem, however, that ICEM

TELCON
Mr. Sisco
Sec. Kissinger
May 8, 1975

K: Chuck Percy is in my office and -- about several things, including the Mexican Charter -- are you familiar with that.

S: Sure.

K: He says there is a meeting set up that he set up with the Zambian For. Min. and Schwebal to see whether they would help us modify the Charter. He says that meeting was cancelled on instructions -- the night before last -- from the Department.

S: Never heard of it.

K: When Percy has arranged something we cannot have subordinates cancelling.

S: We certainly cannot. I will look into it right away and will give him a call.

K: I told him I am not as optimistic as he is about what can be achieved.

S: Nevertheless we should not take that kind of action without checking with him. I will look into it and give him an early call.

K: Appreciate it.

SUMMARY OF LONG-TERM U.S. INTERESTS IN CHILE

For a variety of reasons Chile enjoys greater influence in the hemisphere and greater attention there and elsewhere, particularly in Europe, than would appear warranted by the country's size and power.

Chile's small economy is a market for some $400-$500 million per year of U.S. exports. U.S. investment in Chile, once valued at somewhere around $1 billion, is now only something more than $100 million, although it is expected to grow during the next five years. More significantly for the moment, Chile owes the U.S. $1.5 billion in debt and $500 million in compensation for expropriated enterprises.

In addition to its position as a major world supplier of copper, Chile also has important known reserves of iron ore, molybdenum and nitrates and is believed to have other important unexploited mineral reserves. There is a U.S. interest in their sound development, with appropriate American participation.

In the event of closure of the Panama Canal or a general war situation, Chile's geographic location and long coastline would assume importance in terms of anti-submarine warfare and surveillance capabilities and port facilities. Chile's simmering territorial controversy with Peru could erupt in a conflict which would impair political stability in South America and confront us with difficult alternatives, especially if Peru were supported by communist elements.

Temporarily overshadowing all the foregoing is an intangible U.S. political interest: quite erroneously, much of the world considers us to have been involved in the overthrow of the Allende regime and to be insufficiently concerned with the restoration of democratic government in Chile. To the extent that we can properly encourage Chile to return to its normal governmental practices, our general political credit among the nations most friendly to us, and in multilateral organizations, will be enhanced. Such a development would contribute materially to our ability to promote all U.S. interests in Chile.

AMBASSADOR'S OVERVIEW

The year 1975 finds the Chilean Junta firmly established in power. Contrary to our expectations a year ago, the regime has been extraordinarily successful in stifling terrorist activity--so much so that the state of public order in Chile, however produced, ranks high.

On the other hand, the country's economic situation has deteriorated much more sharply than we had anticipated. World economic conditions, and particularly the persistence of unrenumerative prices for copper, have been largely responsible for Chile's deep depression. The country has been plagued by continuing inflation and high unemployment, while the government's austerity measures have hampered the private sector without stemming the economic decline.

During the CASP period, accordingly, economic pressures may subject the Junta to the severest tests it has yet experienced. If the current steps to curb inflation and stimulate production fail, elements in the government and outside it will press for the only visible alternative: reversion to a state-directed, populist economic system, allocating resources without much regard for the market mechanism.

In such circumstances, changes in the Junta and in the composition of the government could not be excluded. It is impossible to foresee to what degree additional or different civilian elements might be brought into the Administration, or whether continued economic stress would pave the way for an ultimate, violent Leftist take-over. Trends of this character develop slowly; I would not anticipate fundamental shifts during the next year. But the situation must be carefully watched.

Chile's difficulties are of course enormously complicated by the continuing international furor over its human rights practices. Indeed, improvement in this area may in the end be critical to the Junta's survival. The inequity involved in singling out Chile in a world of sinners in this regard is patently clear, but largely irrelevant. The broad front of democratic European communist bloc and radical third-world countries opposing Chile in the political and economic arenas can only be breached if the Junta moves more rapidly toward relaxation of its authoritarian internal security controls, and toward restoration of traditional Chilean democratic practices.

American policy toward the Junta must be formulated against this background. It is clear from the legislative record and the American press that Congress and a vocal element of American opinion have wanted to withhold U.S. military and to some degree economic assistance to Chile, to bring about a change in the practices of the Chilean regime if not to displace the regime itself. Several members of the Embassy staff believe that the United States should apply its power and influence a good deal more vigorously than it has, to improve the Junta's human rights practices. A paper embodying this view is appended to this document.

Emotionally satisfying though it might be, I would not consider a major change of this character in U.S. policy toward Chile to be justified in present circumstances. Nothing that has happened in the interim has changed the view expressed in the last CASP paper that United States interest can best be served by maintaining and strengthening the present government in Chile, while encouraging it to eradicate its human rights abuses and broaden its political base as quickly as possible consistent with domestic security. In conventional political and economic terms it is after all a highly friendly government.

There has been some progress toward human rights improvements. While less than satisfactory from our point of view, this has provided a base for additional efforts by Chileans in and outside the government to move further ahead. We can offer incentives in this regard, by pointing out that our ability to help Chile depends largely on the Chileans' performance in this area. The more rapidly they make the needed adjustments, the more effectively we can seek to dismantle the Congressional ban on military assistance and limitations on our economic aid. But we are unlikely to gain ground by direct pressure tactics which would undercut the moderates in Chile, force the Junta to react in paranoid fashion, and create a Chilean siege mentality which could only be breached by violence.

What does this mean in practical terms, during the CASP period?

First, we should continue to make our preferences on human rights clear to the Chileans, to encourage them to move in the directions we consider beneficial, and to acknowledge progress made and to be made. In multilateral forums, we should seek similar objectives, through balanced judgments reached in the context of a comparison of Chile's behavior with that of other authoritarian regimes.

UNCLASSIFIED [redacted]

Second, we should continue to maintain economic and financial aid to Chile, at approximately the current level of $150 million annually in loans, grants, and other types of assistance plus generous debt rescheduling terms, and should use our influence in the international financial institutions to increase the level of multilateral support. Our aid plays a major part in satisfying minimum nutritional levels, helping Chile to deal with its housing and agricultural development problems, and reducing Chile's balance of payments strains. The loss of our economic support would bring disaster to the country. Continuing it preserves the possibility of a return to greater normality.

Third, the Executive Branch should do what it can to restore the modest military assistance program, which was brought to a halt by Congress at the end of 1974. We should make it clear to the Chileans that they can influence the outcome of this process by what they do to improve their human rights situation.

This should not, however, be the sole or perhaps even the main justification for resumption of military aid. The extreme imbalance in military capability as between Chile and Peru is a highly destabilizing factor on the South American continent. If Peru were to be tempted because of its superiority to launch a military adventure, the resulting destruction of hemisphere stability could only be harmful to us.

For this reason, the existing program comprising the supply of F-5E aircraft, M-48 tanks and TOW anti-tank weapons should be reactivated. At the very least, the ancillary equipment and training support for items already purchased, which were retroactively cut off by the Congressional arms ban, should be provided. If some element of constraint were still needed, this could be met by a requirement that acquisitions be entirely by purchase rather than by FMS credit.

The Department asked to have included in this statement my recommendation on the most effective way to achieve whatever saving may be necessary in the Peace Corps budget. The Country Team's judgment, in which I concur, is to the effect that we should seek direct contributions from the GOC and, failing that, that a gradual reduction in the Peace Corps presence would be the best solution.

I do not believe that either of these courses would significantly affect U.S.-Chilean relations.

Current and proposed funding levels for U.S. agencies operating in Chile are adequate. Staffing levels are tight, and the entire Mission is working to capacity. I note one existing problem and one potential one. First, the Embassy Administrative Section badly needs an Assistant GSO position. Second, the Embassy Consular Section has been under considerable pressure because of sharply increased requests for non-immigrant visas. The demand went down to a manageable level after some recent changes in GOC policy, but if it should go up again I would have to ask for an additional position.

We have also submitted a request for an additional local position in the Commercial Unit. I urge approval of this request to enable the Embassy to devote increased resources to the promotion of U.S. exports.

ISSUE NO. 3

Should U.S. military sales, credit and grant training for Chile be resumed?

ISSUE ANALYSIS

STATEMENT OF ISSUE NO. 1

How can the United States best induce the GOC to bring its human rights practices up to acceptable standards?

IMPORTANT ASSUMPTIONS

1. The military will remain in power during the CASP period and will improve its human rights practices only slowly, usually in response to international pressure.

2. There continues to be a difference in perception between the USG and the GOC on the importance of human rights.

3. It is stated US policy to ascertain the facts and to promote respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms, consistent with the US commitment to other goals, including that of maintaining international peace and security.

4. The human rights issue will remain the prime item of concern of the U.S. Congress and important elements of U.S. public opinion vis-a-vis Chile, and will be the major factor affecting our bilateral relations with Chile.

5. There is some prospect that the judicious use of leverage available to the United States would result in improvements in GOC human rights practices.

ISSUE RESOLUTION

Recommendation: That the United States continue to try to convince the GOC that it is in the latter's interest to treat its own citizens properly:

-- that it maintain and, in order to reestablish a normal bilateral relationship, emphasize somewhat more forcefully that the ability of the United States to cooperate with the GOC is closely related to GOC performance in the area of human rights;

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED [redacted]

-- that it demonstrate its continuing concern in this area through its public and active cooperation with responsible international organizations concerned with human rights;

-- that the Embassy continue to use its full resources to monitor carefully GOC performance in the human rights area.

Reasons for Recommendation: The GOC's human rights practices have caused widespread concern in the United States and in many other countries and have contributed materially to isolating the present Chilean Government. Because of some U.S. Government identification with current Chilean regime in the eyes of the world, we tend to be tarred by the Chilean brush. Moreover, the image and reality of the Junta's behavior in the human rights area have directly limited the ability of the USG to assist the Chilean Government in those areas in which we, for our own interests, wish to do so.

The USG has made this point to senior Chilean Government officials orally and repeatedly at various levels, places and times. It has indicated its concern publicly, and supported objective international studies of the Chilean situation. U.S. officials have maintained contact with persons and organizations interested in the subject, and have reported on GOC actions. Through an informal channel (Foreign Ministry), the Chilean Government has been made aware of special U.S. interest in certain individual cases involving Chilean citizens.

The Chilean Government persists in its practices because it believes they are necessary to ensure the maintenance of internal security and political control. Although there have been improvements in some of those practices as the security situation has improved, sustained external pressure on the GOC, plus incentives for change, offer the best hope of convincing it of the need to make more basic changes and thus to conform more closely to internationally recognized standards. The United States is the most influential single country in this regard. If the GOC restores normal human rights safeguards, the likelihood of improper treatment of U.S. citizens who have run afoul of Chilean authorities should be largely eliminated.

UNCLASSIFIED [redacted]

Alternatives: The first alternative is a shift to passivity. This posture would be indicated if (a) we judged that our other interests in Chile outweighed our concern with human rights and that pressures with respect to human rights would endanger these interests; and/or (b) we concluded that international pressure from other sources would be sufficient to cause the GOC to modify its behavior without our intervention; or (c) we decided that we would put no more pressure on Chile than we do on other countries which engage in similar human rights practices, (at a risk of continued conflict over the issue between the Executive Branch and important sectors of Congress and U.S. domestic and world opinion.) We conclude that none of the above factors apply. In addition, such a policy would be out of line with the mainstream of U.S. opinion and with USG policy.

The second alternative is to speak out much more strongly on the issue and to take firm and public action against the GOC, through the further reduction or elimination of U.S. assistance through sponsorship or endorsement of condemnatory actions in international forums. As described more fully in the discussion of alternatives for Issue No. 2, such a course of action ignores our other interests in Chile, would engender marked Chilean Government hostility to the United States, and would not necessarily produce the desired changes in the Chilean Government's human rights practices.

The USG could also decide to express its concern exclusively in international forums, with the goal of keeping the human rights issue out of our bilateral relations. A decision would still be required on a basic U.S. stance, however, and the USG could not avoid being held accountable by the GOC.

STATEMENT OF ISSUE NO. 2

How much and what kind of U.S. economic resources should be provided the GOC?

IMPORTANT ASSUMPTIONS

1. Terms of trade, particularly low copper prices, will inhibit Chile's ability to invest and grow.

2. The GOC will follow economic policies designed to attain eventual economic recovery and growth.

3. The U.S. Congress will continue to place limits on economic assistance to Chile as long as Chilean human rights practices are not materially improved, but will distinguish between it and military assistance, which has been banned.

4. Economic assistance is essential to Chile's political development and contributes to U.S. economic prosperity.

ISSUE RESOLUTION

Recommendation: Through a mixture of new credits, deferral of old debts and economic aid, the United States should assist Chile in closing the balance of payments gap so that a satisfactory rate of economic development will be possible. (U.S. aid would total approximately $150 million each year, exclusive of debt relief.) We should also encourage other countries and international financial institutions to do the same, and continue to remind the GOC that its human rights practices affect the degree of economic cooperation we can offer.

Reasons for Recommendation: For the first time in several decades Chile is following economic policies which, if successfully pursued, should eventually allow it to set its economic house in order. It is important to the U.S. that the GOC's economic program succeed. Part of our stake is economic: Chile owes the U.S. $1.5 billion in debt and $500 million in compensation claims; U.S. investment here is valued at over $100 million, and sizeable additions to this amount are expected during the next five years; and the U.S. traditionally runs a large trade surplus with Chile. An expanding economy may be a necessary (although not in itself sufficient) condition for relaxation of the present authoritarian political system.

Without substantial foreign assistance, a significant portion of which must come from the U.S., Chile's economic program is likely to fail. The country is presently under extraordinary economic pressure, largely beyond its control, and some traditional creditors are reluctant to offer assistance or cooperate economically with the present GOC because of political considerations. An abrupt change in the present U.S. policy of economic support to Chile would adversely affect overall U.S.-Chilean relations and probably further discourage other creditors from helping the GOC.

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED [redacted]

Alternatives: Our policy recommendation is a package of USG assistance in FY 76 and FY 77 totaling approximately $150 million each year, exclusive of Paris Club debt rescheduling. There are essentially three alternatives to this policy: (a) more aid than we have recommended; (b) a cutoff of all aid to Chile; and (c) continuing aid to Chile, but at a reduced level.

Although a higher level of resources transfer to Chile is in some ways desirable and justifiable, we seriously doubt that significantly greater amounts can be obtained from the various U.S. trade and aid agencies. Our recommendation therefore is tailored to what we perceive to be Washington realities. Chile could use more. Any attempt to increase the assistance level would, however, almost certainly run into strong Congressional opposition. This opposition could endanger our ability to conduct even our more modest aid proposal.

Termination of economic assistance to Chile would have the virtue of eliminating a source of friction between the Administration and elements of the U.S. Congress and the media. Some of our European allies would also applaud. This reflects their belief that an aid cutoff is the best way to get improvements in GOC human rights practices.

Such a decision on our part would almost surely alter the nature of the present Chilean regime. We believe, however, that these changes probably would be contrary to our other political and economic interests in Chile and in this hemisphere. We are also skeptical that the desired human rights effects would be obtained. The Chilean Government would be likely to react with hostility toward the U.S., renege on its debt and compensation obligations to us, and become more repressive.

A more modest level of U.S. assistance than the $150 million recommended was also considered. By reducing our aid level we might alter the image that we are closely linked with Chile's military regime and, thereby, lessen Congressional and media criticism of our present policy. It could also be argued that a lower level of aid could be used as a bargaining chip with the GOC to try to get them to improve their human rights practices. Since Chile is also one of the comparatively well-to-do countries in the less developed world, a case can be made that our aid should be channeled to the more needy.

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

We have concluded that the recommended U.S. aid level of $150 million, together with other foreign credit available to the GOC, is about the minimum which will allow Chile to scrape through the CASP period. A more modest aid level would neither spare us from Congressional and media criticism nor be adequate to meet Chile's minimum needs.

STATEMENT OF ISSUE NO. 3

Should U.S. military sales, credit and grant training for Chile be resumed?

IMPORTANT ASSUMPTIONS

1. The military will remain in power through the CASP period.

2. There will be tension between Chile and Peru and and danger of conflict. A continued or increasing military imbalance vis-a-vis Peru will increase the danger of war.

3. In principle, Chile will be prepared to cooperate with regional or other diplomatic initiatives to reduce the chance of conflict.

4. The Chilean Armed Forces have a valid requirement to modernize and rationalize their equipment; developments which at least temporarily reduce the threat of Peruvian aggression would likewise reduce the urgency of modernization.

5. The Armed Forces will make strenuous efforts to modernize. They will look to any source willing and able to supply arms (although preferring the United States) and will, if they believe it necessary, divert money from development to arms purchases.

6. U.S. Congressional and public attitudes toward Chile will improve very slowly if at all unless the GOC acts favorably on human rights.

ISSUE RESOLUTION

Recommendation: That the United States resume grant training and credit and cash sales of military equipment to Chile at current planning levels for FY 76 and after.

Reasons for Recommendations:

1. Maintaining the arms limitation would seriously erode the favorable disposition of the Chilean military toward the United States and lead to a deterioration in the Armed Forces' capabilities, thus making it more difficult to secure Chilean cooperation in other areas where U.S. interests are involved.

2. The creation of a minimum Chilean deterrent is the most effective way of reducing the chance of war with Peru. The provision of U.S. equipment is the most effective way of creating the deterrent. At the same time, reduction of the Peruvian threat by diplomacy (presumably with Chilean cooperation) should also be pursued. Any success would help reduce Chilean pressure for arms purchases.

3. Since the provision of U.S. military assistance is closely linked to GOC human rights practices, the most effective way of inducing the U.S. Congress to authorize the resumption of assistance would be through improvements in Chilean human rights practices. It seems probable that if such improvements do not take place this year, Congress will reaffirm the arms ban. The result would be to turn the GOC to alternate sources of arms supplies and probably to harden its resistance to human rights changes. ..

Alternatives: The first possibility is to make no serious attempt to remove the congressional arms ban. This alternative would reduce tension between the U.S. Congress and the Executive Branch, and might help improve the United States' world image. At the same time, however, it would remove a potentially significant element of leverage the USG has with the GOC on the human rights issue and perpetuate a major source of discord in United States-Chile bilateral relations. All of the drawbacks of the present Congressionally imposed policy would continue.

The second alternative is to center the major USG effort to prevent a Chile-Peru war on the forceful and consistent use of bilateral and multilateral diplomatic channels. We believe that such efforts in and of themselves would not be sufficient ot deter an arms race or to convince the GOC that it could rely on international assurances to prevent a conflict or to provide concrete and timely support in case of Peruvian aggression. Such a policy would force the USG into a high profile stance in which it might possibly antagonize one or both of the parties to the dispute. Moreover, this alternative is not responsive to the other justifications for supplying arms to Chile.

NON-MAJOR ISSUE

STATEMENT OF ISSUE

How should the United States encourage the GOC to move toward reviving democratic institutions and civilian participation in the government?

ASSUMPTIONS

This issue may be viewed within the major human rights framework, but there are also important differences. The Chilean Government is expected to stay in power and to move of its own volition only slowly, if at all, toward a restoration of democratic institutions and greater civilian participation. The Country Team considered questionable the IG thesis in connection with the 1975-76 CASP that an authoritarian government is inherently unstable in the Chilean environment. In the long term, however, a democratic system is in keeping with Chilean traditions and expectations, and attempts to establish a permanent dictatorship would be opposed by many Chileans. Concern with this issue in the United States is less acute than in the case of human rights, and foreign interference in this area is likely to be less acceptable and effective in Chile. Nevertheless, if the human rights problem is largely removed from controversy, U.S. public and Congressional attention is likely to turn to the problem of democracy in Chile.

ISSUE RESOLUTION

Recommendation: That the USG continue to seek to encourage the reestablishment of some type of democratic system; that particular attention be paid to maintaining an independent judiciary and Controller General's Office, preserving the option for the reconvening of a legislative assembly, ensuring the survival of democratic political parties, and encouraging increased civilian participation in government.

Reason for Recommendations: There are obvious limits to the pressure which the USG can exert on the Chilean government to move toward a full restoration of some type of democratic system. Nevertheless, the longer term prospects for stability in Chile and for a government responsive to U.S. interests would be greater if there were an evolution in this direction.

INTEREST, POLICY AND RESOURCE ANALYSIS

1. POLITICAL DEVELOPMENT OF CHILE

The U.S. interest in the Political Development of Chile is reflected in three primary areas of concern, and (treated below) one area of lesser concern:

(1) Human rights;
(2) Revival of civil rights and democratic political institutions; and
(3) Professionalism and favorable disposition of the Armed Forces.

Human Rights. The GOC's human rights practices have caused concern. Further, because of some USG identification with the GOC, we tend to be tarred by the GOC brush. Moreover, the image and reality of the GOC's behavior in the human rights area have directly limited the ability of the USG to assist the GOC in those areas in which the USG, in its interests, wishes to do so. There has been some improvement in GOC practices, but little change in the institutional framework.

Revival of Civil Rights and Democratic Political Institutions. The GOC has made no significant progress toward the restoration of such rights as freedom of expression, freedom of assembly, or the right to participate in government, or toward the creation or revival of institutions that give effect to these rights. Moreover, world hostility to the present regime has helped create a siege mentality, in which reestablishment of a more traditionally Chilean political system becomes more difficult.

Professionalism and Favorable Disposition of Armed Forces. Since the coup, the officer corps has worked under great pressure. It had to shift abruptly from conventional professional military duties (still of high priority because of tension with Peru) to management of the government and the assurance of internal security The attitudes toward the United States of the officers now leading the country, and their analysis of USG policy, are reflected directly in Chilean policy. The corps' traditionally favorable disposition toward the United States has been affected by what many officers consider a lack of U.S. understanding for what they are doing in Chile, as heightened by the Congressional ban on U.S. military assistance to Chile.

ANTICIPATED CHALLENGES OR OPPORTUNITIES

-- Although there may be improvements, on balance the GOC's behavior in the human rights area is expected to continue to be contrary to U.S. interests and to U.S. international human rights commitments, thus to impair U.S.-Chilean bilateral relations.

-- While the United States favors the development of democratic institutions, there is as yet no visible tendency toward a return to democratic patterns in Chile.

-- The professionalism of the Armed Forces will deteriorate as long as senior officers continue to hold dual responsibilities and are identified with and absorbed in political roles.

-- Assuming that the Congressional arms ban continues, the present favorable disposition of the Armed Forces toward the United States will be further eroded.

SIGNIFICANCE OF CHALLENGES OR OPPORTUNITIES

Chile attracts world and U.S. political attention to a much greater degree than its size and intrinsic importance would suggest. Political developments here, and U.S.-Chilean bilateral relations, therefore take on added significance.

ADDITIONAL CONSIDERATION

Insufficient or Poorly Used Resources. The GOC may fail to generate sufficient internal and external resources, or use what are available to it so inefficiently, that it cannot finance economic growth and social programs at an acceptable level. Economic growth and social development will not guarantee political stability, increased personal freedom, or eventual movement to revive democratic institutions, but their absence will make such developments less likely, and could increase U.S. humanitarian concern for the Chilean people.

Comment: This level of military assistance will help Chile to build up its deterrent against Peru, and thus contribute to reducing Chilean-Peruvian tension.

2. U.S. ECONOMIC PROSPERITY

U.S. Economic Prosperity as it relates to Chile is reflected in three areas of primary concern:

(1) Rapid improvement in Chile's economic situation to allow Chile to finance imports from the United States, compensate for expropriated private properties, and make payments on its debt to the United States;
(2) Increased level of U.S. trade with Chile; and
(3) Continued unimpeded U.S. access to raw materials.

Chilean Economic Policies. The GOC will attempt to minimize its net payments on debt during the CASP period. Low copper prices, however, will inhibit Chile's ability to invest and grow. To the extent that it is able to reschedule foreign obligations, and that additional resources become available and are added to the country's productive capacity, Chile's longer term ability to meet its financial obligations and be a good trading partner will be enhanced. In any case, Chile will continue to be heavily dependent on foreign resources to carry out its development program. Assuming a rise in copper prices, there should be some improvement in the balance of payments during FY 77. This would enable Chile to meet a higher proportion of its foreign obligations and to rely less on concessionary assistance.

There will be growing impatience, already discernible, with the present market-oriented economic program as economic recovery lags behind expectations. This will be accompanied by pressures to return to uneconomic populist programs and state intervention. Nevertheless, in balance we believe that a major role will be preserved for free market forces.

The GOC will rely principally on exchange rate adjustments to dampen import demand and promote exports, although the severe BOP situation in CY 1975 may force it to suspend or counteract recent import liberalization measures. The Foreign Investment Statute will be implemented and will encourage additional U.S. investment.

UNCLASSIFIED

Efforts by the Chilean Armed Forces to modernize their equipment inventories rapidly could interfere with efforts to reschedule foreign debt and with economic development, particularly if the United States is not available as a source.

U.S.-Chilean Trade. Import growth will slow in FY 1976 because of balance of payments difficulties; the currently growing U.S. share of the Chilean market should level off at the historic average of around 30 percent. Chile's ability to import and its choice of sources will depend heavily on credit availabilities and a successful foreign debt renegotiation. EXIM Bank, PL 480-Title I and CCC credits will be key determinants of the level of U.S. exports. Toward the end of the CASP period, the GOC will be increasingly concerned with access to the U.S. market as it attempts to diversify its exports.

Chilean Raw Material Exports. It is likely that Chile, because of its own financial difficulties and because of the world trend toward producer associations, will join producer-association efforts to manage exports of iron ore, as well as copper. Even though the United States does not usually import significant quantities of Chilean raw materials, Chilean cooperation with a cartel could adversely affect U.S. purchases of the commodity concerned in third countries. Additionally, Chilean membership in such cartels could make Chile subject to exclusion from the GSP, and to other U.S. legislative restrictions. Chile will not however, discriminate against the United States in terms of access.

ANTICIPATED CHALLENGES OR OPPORTUNITIES

-- Continued low copper prices will make it impossible for the United States to collect net compensation and debt payments and/or expand the volume of trade. Simultaneously, severe impor constraints caused by the low prices will adversely affect Chile economic recovery efforts and increase pressure for inefficient allocation of resources.

-- Chilean attempts to diversify exports to the United States will increase the likelihood of bilateral trade disputes.

-- Chilean membership in cartel commodity arrangements that attempt to manipulate prices may complicate U.S.-Chilean relatic

SIGNIFICANCE OF CHALLENGES AND OPPORTUNITIES

The GOC is pursuing policies that tend to channel resources into those areas where Chile has comparative advantage. It is making increasing use of market forces to decide the size and pace of those flows. The program is related to U.S. economic prosperity, because in the longer run its success will increase Chile's ability to meet its massive foreign obligations and to become a healthy trade partner. External factors such as the adverse

UNCLASSIFIED

[redacted]

adverse terms of trade currently obscure the benefits of the national policies being pursued and make them more vulnerable to attack from Chileans who feel themselves affected adversely by the results of the program.

ADDITIONAL CONSIDERATION

Optimum Level of U.S. Investment in Chile. U.S. direct investment in Chile is not large at present--between $100-150 million. Many U.S. firms are interested in investing here in the coming year, particularly in mineral exploitation. These new investment flows, while they might eventually be substantial, are not expected to be very great during the CASP period, nor are they expected to cause bilateral difficulties between Chile and the United States.

3. FAIR TREATMENT AND SAFETY OF U.S. CITIZENS AND PROPERTY

The U.S. interest in Fair Treatment and Safety of U.S. Citizens and Property as related to Chile is reflected primarily in the concern that the GOC treat fairly U.S. citizens suspected of subversive or criminal activity.

Continuing Chilean Violation of International Standards. Chilean military leaders are likely to continue their hardline approach to internal security matters. This approach allows Chilean security organizations to operate with few restrictions, and without close supervision. Evidence indicates they operate autonomously with little coordination. In this environment there is the possibility of U.S. citizens suspected of subversive, or criminal, activities being detained and mistreated without the knowledge of the U.S. Embassy or possibly of responsible senior Chilean authorities. As a result of recent experience, however, the GOC should perform better in the future.

ANTICIPATED CHALLENGES OR OPPORTUNITIES

-- The GOC may continue to violate international standards and mistreat U.S. citizens suspected of subversive or criminal activities.

SIGNIFICANCE OF CHALLENGES AND OPPORTUNITIES

The mistreatment of a U.S. citizen by Chilean authorities will bring an immediate negative reaction from the U.S. public and Congress, with possible serious consequences for U.S.-Chilean relations.

PROPOSED ACTION PLAN

OBJECTIVE 1: To ensure that the GOC treat American citizens fairly.

4. WORLD ORDER

The U.S. interest in World Order as it relates to Chile is reflected primarily in the area of concern over the possibility of war between Chile and Peru. A minor area of concern related to the U.S. interest in world order is that Chile maintain its acceptable record (apart from the human rights problem) of adherence to international law, peaceful settlement of disputes, and support for international peacekeeping and arms control efforts.

Chile-Peru Tensions. Tensions between Chile and Peru have increased at the approach of the centennial of the War of the Pacific (1879-83), in which Peru lost large areas to Chile. Peruvian revanchism, Chile's weakened economic and military position, recent Peruvian purchases of substantial amounts of modern weapons, and Peru's increasingly close relations with the Soviet Union and Cuba have convinced the Chilean government that an attack by Peru is possible within the next year or two. Chile has been engaged in an all-out search for arms to redress the serious imbalance with Peru, a country that has some motivation and a clear capability for mounting an attack on Chile.

Chil ANTI

ANTICIPATED CHALLENGES AND OPPORTUNITIES

The United States can reduce the possibility of war between Chile and Peru.

SIGNIFICANCE OF CHALLENGES OR OPPORTUNITIES

A Chile-Peru conflict would adversely affect the peace and stability of the hemisphere and the political and economic recovery of Chile.

Comment: Facilities that would be made available to the GOC should U.S. military assistance be resumed would be used to build up the Chilean deterrent (see Political Development section).

5. OTHER INTERESTS

Control of Movement of People and Goods to and from the United States. GOC cooperation in disrupting the cocaine traffic from Chile to the United States continues to be excellent and deserving of U.S. support. Deterioration of this cooperation could quickly become an important challenge to U.S. interests.

Chile's economic (and, to a lesser extent, political) difficulties have intensified efforts by Chileans to emigrate illegally to the United States. The increased demand for non-immigrant visas has sorely strained the capabilities of our Consular Section, and the rising refusal rate for NIV's has had some adverse effect on Chileans' favorable disposition toward the U.S. However, recent GOC measures limiting the amount of foreign exchange available to international travelers and imposing a sharply higher exit tax seem to be inhibiting travel by Chileans, thereby keeping our visa problems within manageable limits.

Under the current regime in Chile, there has been a perceptible decline in sympathy for the United States among those who support the military government and believe that the United States has let Chile down after it ousted an anti-U.S. Marxist government. Economic and Social Development of Chile. Chile's economic and social development is of concern to the U.S. insofar as it affects U.S. economic prosperity and Chile's political development. This sector is therefore discussed and analyzed, and resources are attributed, under those two priority interests.

Humanitarian Assistance. During the economically difficult period ahead there will be an increasing number of unemployed in Chile. The Government is expected to increase expenditures to maintain food consumption at pre-existing levels in order to keep this problem from affecting political, economic or social development. Food supply will be tight, however, and a further deterioration in Chile's terms of trade or a natural disaster could make hunger a major problem. In this event, large additional resources would be needed.

Open Channels of Communication Between the United States and Chile. The Mission has open and easy access to leaders of the Government, the military institutions, the media, the universities, cultural entities, and other groups of interest to the United States, including such democratic political groups as the recessed Christian Democratic Party. The Mission will have to remain in touch with important in and out groups and individuals in order to keep itself well informed. That contact is also important for maintaining USG credibility and access to groups and individuals who may hold positions of greater importance in Chile's future. As far as communication from the United States to Chile is concerned, the shrinking number of media outlets and the direct or indirect GOC control under which they operate will make it increasingly important for USIS to place materials which keep the United States and its policies and actions in focus for the Chilean people.

CASP EVALUATION REPORT FY 1975-76

CASP OBJECTIVES

POLITICAL DEVELOPMENT OF CHILE

A. Maintenance of political stability in Chile.

Remarks: The IG review of the current CASP stated that "the chief U.S. political goal in Chile is that there should not be retrogression to a government hostile to U.S. interests in the Hemisphere." Foreign economic assistance up to December 1974 has helped promote conditions of basic internal order and economic recovery, although the economic situation is serious in CY 1975. Chile was politically stable during the period of review. This stability has a strongly authoritarian cast, however, and there has been little movement toward the reconciliation and democratic development envisioned in the CASP. Economic problems and Chile's isolation contributed to the GOC's siege mentality.

B. Encourage respect for human rights.

Remarks: Under the general topic of political liberalization, the IG review decided to place the "greatest emphasis on promoting respect for human rights." Progress has been unsatisfactory. In important areas, the GOC has not "adhered to recognized standards of governmental conduct in the area of human rights," and this failure has directly impaired the ability of the USG to cooperate with the GOC. In accordance with the CASP, representations have been made to the GOC, and have contributed to a greater GOC awareness of the problem. There has been progress in releasing detainees, and procedural changes have been made recently of some importance, if carried out. Perhaps because of different perceptions of the security threat they face, however, GOC leaders have not made the substantial modifications of human rights practices likely to modify Congressional and other attitudes on assistance.

C. Encourage eventual revival of democratic political institutions.

Remarks: Progress has been scant. The judiciary and the Controller General's Office continue to be independent, but they have not challenged the authority of the Junta, and their institutional role is more limited than under previous governments. There has been no progress toward the reconvening of a legislative assembly, or toward restoration of general political rights. The non-UP political parties still exist legally, but their activities are severely restricted. There has been progress toward increased civilian presence in government only in the economic area. The GOC's intention to maintain its authoritarian character has become more clear during this period.

D. Encourage democratic pluralism in information, culture, education and labor.

Remarks: Unsatisfactory progress. Mission officers continue to have ready and direct access to key people in the GOC, in the media and in all other fields concerned, but the GOC has if anything strengthened its general authoritarian control. A few foreign correspondents (including Americans) have been expelled and/or barred from Chile for writing what the Junta considers "falsehoods" or tendentious information about Chile, but the GOC is now more careful. Trade unions continue to exist but cannot adequately protect labor's interests.

E. Contribute to traditional role of Chilean Armed Forces and their favorable disposition toward the U.S.

Remarks: Progress was reasonably satisfactory until Congress' imposition of the military assistance ban in December 1974. Because of the direct and indirect impact of the ban on all aspects of the objective, prospects for the remainder of FY 75 are not good. There are signs of increased anti-Americanism in the officer corps.

U.S. ECONOMIC PROSPERITY

A. Resolve US-GOC bilateral economic problems concerning debt, compensation, and return of U.S. properties.

Remarks: Our objectives of compensation and return of U.S. properties have been achieved. Progress toward settling debt obligations continues.

B. Increase U.S. exports to Chile to 30 percent of the import market.

Remarks: Progress satisfactory.

ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT OF CHILE

A. Provision of level of international financial assistance needed if GOC economic recovery program is to have a good chance of success.

Remarks: Progress satisfactory until last quarter of FY 1975.

B. Sound GOC economic and social policies as a basis for a stable political and economic system.

Remarks: Progress on developing sound economic policies is satisfactory, although implementation has been sluggish. Progress on developing sound social policies is fair. The GOC has taken some measures to alleviate the effect of the austerity program on the poor, but those at the bottom of the economic scale and the lower middle class have apparently paid a higher price than others.

OPEN CHANNELS OF COMMUNICATION BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND CHILE

A. Maintain intellectual, professional and cultural contact with the United States.

Remarks: Overall progress has been mixed. We have been successful in those areas in which the Mission has direct action; independently of U.S. official efforts, the number of international congresses in Chile, of visiting academics, professionals and cultural individuals and groups has risen, but is far below what it would normally be.

Negatively, the disapproval of the Chilean regime shown by many American academics and intellectuals has resulted in some reduction of contacts.

FAIR TREATMENT AND SAFETY OF U.S. CITIZENS AND PROPERTY

A. Safety of U.S. citizens and property.

Remarks: Progress has been satisfactory in establishing physical protection of U.S. citizens and property from terrorist attacks. The terrorist threat envisioned in the CASP has not materialized, and there is no indication it will in the near future. Progress has been mixed on safeguarding the legal rights of U.S. citizens. In one highly publicized case in which a U.S. citizen was detained, the GOC did not carry out its responsibilities under the Vienna Convention. After a USG protest, the GOC apologized and promised full compliance in the future. In another case involving three U.S. citizens, consular access was not granted quickly enough, and there were charges of torture. A few other problems have arisen involving U.S. citizens who, although not detained or arrested, have had sufficiently serious difficulties with the GOC to require USG intervention. There is no resolution in sight of the St. George's School problem.

OTHER INTERESTS

1. Control of movement of people and goods to and from the United States.

Remarks: GOC cooperation in disrupting the cocaine traffic from Chile to the United States has been excellent. The austere Chilean economic situation has led to increased illegal immigration of Chileans to the United States and to growing pressure by Chilean citizens for issuance of non-immigrant visas. The non bona fides of many visa applicants and the consequently sharply higher refusal rate has led to some minor public relations problems and put the Consular Section under greater pressure.

2. Favorable disposition of Chilean people toward U.S.

Remarks: Mixed progress. The majority of Chileans still holds the United States and the American people in high esteem. However, this favorable disposition has suffered some erosion over the past year on the part of: (a) pro-Junta Chileans, because of continuing criticisms of Chile in the United States, U.S. failure to support the GOC wholeheartedly, and of supposed U.S. softness toward communism; and (b) those who are in varying degrees critical of or against the Junta, many of whom believe the United States is too closely identified with it.

3. World Order.

Remarks: Progress has been satisfactory except, as noted previously, in the human rights area.

4. Humanitarian assistance.

Remarks: Progress satisfactory.

US POLICY TOWARD CHILE -- AN ALTERNATIVE

Why an alternative proposal?

In last year's CASP (FY 75-76), this Mission concluded that it was in the U.S. interest to support this GOC, but recognized that human rights might be a problem. The recommended and approved policy was to try privately and quietly to persuade the GOC to improve its human rights practices, without threatening or imposing sanctions. This policy of friendly persuasion has not worked, and the GOC has not significantly modified its human rights practices.

Meanwhile, Congress, a substantial portion of U.S. public opinion, and the majority of the "free world" nations and international organizations have increasingly come to regard the GOC as an international pariah, largely because of its human rights practices. Some punitive actions have already been taken (e.g. the Congressional ban on military assistance to the GOC), and others are threatened (e.g. refusal by some countries to renegotiate the GOC's foreign debt).

Yet this year's CASP fails to take into account either the past failure of our efforts or the new situation. The key human rights recommendation is no different in any respect than the FY 75-76 CASP. There is no reason to believe that persuasion alone will be any more successful than it has been in the last year. Nowhere in the CASP is the recommendation further defined in terms of specific tools and concrete actions.

The alternative discussed below argues basically that the cost to the United States of continued support of the GOC now outweighs the benefits obtained therefrom. It proposes a course of action, including tangible measures, which has the best chance of furthering U.S. interests while at the same time causing real changes in the GOC's behavior.

Premises

1. As the FY 76-77 CASP now states, the military are and will be in control of Chile for at least the length of the CASP period. Withdrawal of U.S. political, economic, and military support will not cause the GOC to fall during the CASP period, nor most probably for the remainder of this decade.

[redacted]

2. The military leaders of Chile have lost their best chance to build the new and better society which they envision. In the political area, the military have failed to build a consensus, to broaden their political base, or to reconcile a bitterly divided nation, but instead have chosen to establish an authoritarian government intent upon imposing its will and its ideas. In the social area, in spite of a concern for the well-being of their fellow citizens and especially for the problems of the disadvantaged, they do not seem to know what to do or how to do it, and few concrete developments have taken place. In the economic area, the general thrust of their policies has been endorsed by many observers as having the potential for eventually achieving a strong and healthy economy, but the social cost at the moment is great and has the potential of alienating large segments of the population.

3. Yet the military government still remains sufficiently flexible and non-ideological to be able to change course and recoup some of its lost opportunities if it were motivated to do so.

4. At least in the human rights area, however, and probably others as well, as the CASP states, the GOC "will improve its human rights practices only slowly, usually in response to international pressure".

5. In the absence of that pressure, the GOC will continue doing what it is doing, i.e. failing to make meaningful changes in its human rights behavior. Continued U.S. support for the GOC, as proposed in the CASP, in effect, is support for an unacceptable status quo.

Issue

Is a status quo policy by the USG toward the GOC in the overall U.S. interest now and throughout the CASP period? The basic premise of this paper is that it is not.

Recommendation:

That it should be U.S. policy to inform the GOC that we will take no new initiatives to assist Chile politically, economically, or militarily unless and until its human rights practices have reached an acceptable standard. It should be made clear that existing commitments will be honored and economic and military assistance presently in the pipeline will be delivered. It should also be made clear that the GOC's human rights practices shall be deemed

[redacted]

"acceptable" only when there is a reasonable consensus to this effect of such impartial international bodies concerned with this area as the International Committee of the Red Cross, the OAS Human Rights Commission and the UN Human Rights Commission. Further, that this policy decision be publicly reported to the Congress in accordance with Section 32 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1973 and Section 46 of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1974.

Reasons for Recommendation

1. As noted earlier, there is no reason to believe that persuasion in and of itself, as advocated in the CASP, will be any more successful in modifying GOC behavior than it has been in the past, even with the addition of the Congressionally-imposed ban on military assistance as a bargaining chip.

2. On the other hand, an immediate cutoff of all U.S. support, including pipeline assistance, and an immediate move into a "cool and correct" relationship with the GOC somewhat along the lines of U.S./Chile relations during the Allende period, could produce shock and confusion and increase the chances of GOC leaders withdrawing into an unproductive siege mentality.

3. The above recommendation is a more measured approach and provides the GOC time to react in an orderly fashion during which pipeline aid and other U.S. assistance is continuing.

4. It also provides the most effective incentive to the GOC to improve its human rights behavior and to make other desirable changes in its practices, especially in the area of establishing a more open society and reviving democratic political institutions.

5. U.S. foreign policy spokesmen have stated that the human rights question is only one factor in U.S. relations with any given country. In Chile at this time, it is and should be the dominant factor. There are no other U.S. interests in Chile, individually or collectively, which outweigh it. Further, the cost to the U.S. of continued identification as the principal supporter of the present GOC significantly outweighs the benefits received. This point requires further elaboration.

Costs and Benefits:

Continued USG support to a regime of the type of the present GOC, in a country of little strategic importance whose natural resources are not important to the United States, gives the appearance that the USG in practice attributes a low priority to human rights considerations. The U.S. Congress, reflecting the will of significant groups in the United States, is now giving human rights a much higher priority in its view of desirable foreign policy, as shown among other actions by the ban on military assistance to Chile which Congress directly linked to human rights. The U.S. Executive Branch is having increasing difficulty with Congress in obtaining support for its foreign policy, in part because of failure to demonstrate conclusively a sufficiently high concern for human rights considerations abroad. To continue our present support for the GOC in the face of its continued serious human rights violations is to squander Executive Branch capital and credibility with Congress over a relatively unimportant issue when much more important ones are at stake. Further, by acting as a GOC advocate and protector in international fora and in representations to other governments (e.g. the 1975 Paris Club Chilean debt renegotiations), we are expending our influence and effectiveness with our traditional friends and world allies over an issue of relatively little vital importance to us. The benefits received in return for our present policy of support for the GOC are relatively insignificant -- another favorable vote in the UN, the possibility that someday Chile may repay a substantial part of its monumental debt to the United States, continued close military cooperation in a country with little strategic importance, a chance to sell more U.S. exports to a market of minor importance, and close narcotics control cooperation. Even if all of these benefits were to evaporate as a result of adoption of the recommendation, an unlikely event, the damage to fundamental U.S. interests would be minimal.

If the above recommendation were adopted, the authors of this paper estimate the chances as six out of ten that the GOC would respond favorably and would markedly and rapidly improve its human rights practices. In this eventuality, we believe that all but one of the U.S. interests in Chile identified in the CASP would be advanced. The exception is the favorable disposition of the Armed Forces, and this would probably be only temporary. The military would resent being seen as having been publicly forced by the USG to take remedial action in human rights and possibly other areas, but it is unlikely they would or could take important countermeasures against us, and their hurt pride would heal in time, especially if as a result of an improved human rights situation the United States were able to resume military assistance.

If the recommendation were adopted and the US action were forcefully rejected by the GOC, it is possible that the GOC could withdraw into a siege mentality similar to that of Rhodesia or South Africa. The authors of this paper estimate the chances of this eventuality at three in ten. In this situation, there could be some damage to U.S. interests but, as noted above, none of our interests would be damaged beyond a tolerable degree. The GOC needs U.S. support too badly, and it neither could nor would enter into an alliance with Cuba or the USSR. There could be a tendency to clamp down even harder in the human rights area; there would be even less chance of a revival of democratic institutions; favorable disposition of the Chilean military would go by the boards along with the ability of the U.S. military to influence them; in the long run, the economy would be less able to service debts to the U.S. or to import U.S. goods, although a total default on debts to the U.S. would be unlikely; the chance of a Peruvian attack on Chile could increase as the GOC was seen to be almost totally isolated in the world; and there could be less open communication channels with the GOC, although this might be balanced somewhat by better communication with other sectors of Chilean opinion. In other areas, the effects of this "worst case" possibility would not be marked. In terms of protection and welfare of U.S. citizens, the GOC would still be bound by its responsibilities under the Vienna Convention; for its own reasons, the GOC would continue its programs to control the narcotics traffic, although perhaps without the present close cooperation with DEA and therefore less effectively; in terms of favorable disposition of the Chilean populace, every Chilean who became angry at the United States for our action would probably be balanced by one or more who applauded it; and adoption of the recommendation would in no way bar U.S. humanitarian assistance to Chile in case of earthquake or other natural disaster.

If the recommendation were adopted and there were no change in GOC policy, an eventuality that the authors of this paper estimate at only one in ten, there would nevertheless be some damage to U.S. interests. This damage would be reduced in degree from the "worst case" outlined above, however, and therefore even more acceptable to us.

Other Alternatives:

In addition to this policy proposal and the one contained in the CASP, there are two other possibilities. As the CASP notes, the USG could, in effect, ignore the human rights situation in Chile and mount a major program of political, economic, and military assistance. This is what some Chileans and perhaps the GOC expected, especially shortly after the coup when the then Foreign Minister spoke of a possible U.S. "mini Marshall Plan" for Chile. In the present atmosphere, such a possibility is unrealistic for Chile or probably any other country.

The second possibility, again as the CASP notes, is that the USG could assume a posture of open and notable hostility toward the GOC, more or less along the lines that Mexico is following today. This alternative is unwarranted and undesirable at this time. However, it should be kept in mind in the eventuality that the GOC does not respond favorably to our efforts within a reasonable period of time, say by the time of the next CASP. Even if the recommendation in this paper were adopted, the USG would not thereby have exhausted its ability to influence events in Chile. Additional measured responses such as withdrawing our Ambassador and voting with the GOC's critics in the UN and elsewhere would remind the GOC that the USG could take even harsher measures if it chose.

REF: STATE 177261 (NOTAL)

1. SUMMARY. ICEM REP URGES GREATER U.S. FINANCIAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO ICEM'S LATIN AMERICAN OPERATIONS, EXPRESSES HOPE FOR RAPID AUTHORIZATION OF A U.S. PAROLE PROGRAM FOR CHILEAN REFUGEES/DETAINEES, AND REPORTS PROGRESS IN GOC'S DETAINEE RELEASE PROGRAM. END SUMMARY.

2. ICEM RESIDENT REP. ROBERTO KOZAK CALLED ON AMBASSADOR MAY 22 TO APPEAL FOR ADDITIONAL U.S. FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE FOR ICEM PROGRAMS AND TO URGE RAPID U.S. DECISION ON ESTABLISHMENT OF A PAROLE PROGRAM FOR CHILEAN REFUGEES/DETAINEES. KOZAK LEFT COPY OF TELEGRAM FROM ICEM DIRECTOR JOHN THOMAS NOTING ACTION BY SENATE APPROPRIATIONS SUBCOMMITTEE CUTTING $460,000 FROM U.S. CONTRIBUTION TO ICEM'S REGULAR OPERATING PROGRAM FOR LATIN AMERICA. KOZAK ADDED THAT THIS FIGURE REPRESENTED ABOUT HALF OF REGULAR U.S. CONTRIBUTION, AND THAT CUT IF SUSTAINED WOULD MEAN SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTION IN ICEM'S REGULAR OPERATIONS. HE WAS CAREFUL TO SEPERATE REGULAR PROGRAM [redacted]

3. AMBASSADOR NOTED SHORTAGE OF FUNDS FOR REFUGEE PROGRAMS, GIVEN SOUTHEAST ASIA REFUGEE PROBLEM (REFTEL). SAID HE WAS UNABLE TO COMMENT KNOWLEDGEABLY ON ICEM'S REGULAR LATAM PROGRAM. AMBASSADOR FURTHER STATED THAT, ALTHOUGH CONGRESSIONAL CONSULTATIONS ON POSSIBLE PAROLE PROGRAM FOR CHILEANS ARE WELL ADVANCED ON POSSIBLY CONCLUDED, FINAL USG DECISION HAS NOT YET BEEN MADE.

UNCLASSIFIED

4. KOZAK REPORTED IN PASSING THAT GOC APPEARS TO BE ANXIOUS TO SPEED ITS DETAINEE RELEASE PROGRAM. AS OFF-HAND ESTIMATE, HE SAID PERHAPS AS MANY AS 2,000 PERSONS SENTENCED BY MILITARY TRIBUNALS (CONDENADOS--OUR CATEGORY III) MAY EVENTUALLY DEPART; ICEM HAS ALREADY PLACED FIRST 14 CONDENADOS UNDER PROVISIONS OF RECENT GOC DECREE AND ICEM/GOC AGREEMENT (SANTIAGO 3247 NOTAL). KOZAK CLAIMED ICEM HAS ALREADY BEEN ABLE TO LOCATE SOME 1,000 "SLOTS" IN COOPERATING COUNTRIES TO ACCOMMODATE ADDITIONAL PERSONS. MEANWHILE, RELEASE INTO EXILE OF THOSE HELD WITHOUT CHARGE UNDER STATE OF SIEGE PROVISIONS (OUR CATEGORY I) IS PROCEEDING (SANTIAGO 3374 NOTAL), AND CLAIMED PANAMA HAD AGREED TO TAKE 300 PERSONS (COUNTING FAMILY MEMBERS). HE IS ALSO ACTIVELY PURSUING POSSIBILITY OF VENEZUELAN FINANCING FOR ADDITIONAL RESETTLEMENT OF REFUGEES/DETAINEES IN MEXICO. KOZAK CLAIMED THAT GOC HAS NOW GIVEN HIM PERMISSION TO ATTEMPT TO RESETTLE 464 CATEGORY I DETAINEES.

5. CABLE FROM THOMAS MENTIONED LATTER'S APPEARANCE BEFORE THE EILBERG HOUSE JUDICIARY SUBCOMMITTEE AND STATED THOMAS HAD BEEN PROVIDED WITH COPY OF LETTER FROM EILBERG TO FRANK KELLOGG (SIR) INDICATING SUB-COMMITTEE WAS WILLING TO SUPPORT PAROLE OF 400 CHILEANS IN US. MESSAGE SAYS NO FURTHER WORD HAS BEEN GIVEN BY STATE. IT ALSO REQUESTS AMBASSADOR'S SUPPORT FOR SUPPLEMENTAL REQUEST FOR FUNDS TO BE SUBMITTED TO CONGRESS TO RESTORE US CONTRIBUTION TO ICEM'S LATIN AMERICAN PROGRAMS TO PREVIOUS LEVEL.

6. COMMENT: BELIEVE KOZAK UNDERSTANDS THAT THERE IS LITTLE WE CAN DO FOR HIM IN CONNECTION WITH ICEM'S REGULAR LATIN [redacted]

AMERICAN PROGRAM. WE WOULD LIKE TO KEEP HIM INFORMED AS CLOSELY AS POSSIBLE REGARDING POSSIBILITY OF PAROLE FOR CHILEAN REFUGEES/DETAINEES.

7. KOZAK'S STATISTICS ON DETAINEE RELEASE PROGRAM INDICATE SOME PROGRESS IS BEING MADE IN SPEEDING UP DEPORTATION OF DETAINEES HELD UNDER STATE OF SIEGE AND, MORE RECENTLY, OF PRISONERS CONDEMNED FOR INTERNAL SECURITY OFFENSES. HOWEVER, SINCE GOC'S SECURITY AGENCIES CONTINUE TO ARREST AND HOLD POLITICAL PRISONERS, ICEM IS LIKELY TO BE IN RESETTLEMENT BUSINESS FOR THEM FOR A CONSIDERABLE PERIOD TO COME.

3. HUMAN RIGHTS. RYAN ASKED IF TRUCCO COULD REPORT ANY POSITIVE DEVELOPMENTS. TRUCCO PARRIED QUESTION BY ANTICIPATING THAT ANTI-JUNTA PROPAGANDA CAMPAIGN IN CHILE AND ABROAD WOULD ACCELERATE AS GOC'S ENEMIES TAKE ADVAN- TAGE OF THE DIFFICULT WINTER CHILEANS FACE, THE US CONGRESS'S CONSIDERATION OF MILITARY ASSISTANCE AND THE IBRD'S CONSIDERATION OF NEW LENDING. HE SAID HE WOULD BE SURPRISED, GIVEN EXPECTED ARRIVAL SOON OF UNHRC TEAM, IF HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION TOOK TURN FOR WORSE. IN PASSING HE NOTED THAT DEPARTURE OF CONTROVERSIAL FUGITIVE SERGIO ZAMORA HAD BEEN IGNORED BY INTERNATIONAL PRESS. RYAN INTERJECTED THAT NEW JUSTICE MINISTER SCHWEITZER DID NOT SEEM TO BE HAVING MUCH IMPACT ON HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION THUS FAR. TRUCCO COMMENTED THAT HE WAS IN DIRECT TELEPHONE CONTACT WITH SCHWEITZER ON HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEMS THAT COME TO HIS ATTENTION. IN THIS CONTEXT, HE NOTED THAT SCHWEITZER HAD ASSURED HIM THAT ENRIQUE KIRBERG WOULD BE FREE TO LEAVE CHILE AS SOON AS JUDICIAL PRO- CEEDINGS AGAINST HIM ARE CONCLUDED. RYAN REMINDED TRUCCO OF SERGIO DIEZ' PROMISE TO CONGRESSMAN FRASER TO INFORM LATTER FULLY ABOUT GOC IMPLEMENTATION OF NEW INTERNAL SECURITY LAW SAFEGUARDS. TRUCCO SAID HE WOULD REMIND DIEZ (NOW IN GENEVA CONSULTING WITH UNHRC) TO DO SO.

4. FOREIGN ASSISTANCE ACT. TRUCCO INQUIRED WHEN NEW FAA MIGHT BE EXPECTED. WE POINTED OUT THAT NORMALLY THE FAA

WE ANTICIPATED THAT AT MINIMUM CONGRESSIONAL CRITICS WOULD CONSIDER SAME RESTRICTIONS ON CHILE TO APPLY IN CONTINUING RESOLUTION AND QUITE POSSIBLY AMEND THE CR WITH EVEN MORE RESTRICTIVE LANGUAGE. SUBJECT: PAROLE OF CHILEAN REFUGEES

1. FOLLOWING IS TEXT OF PREPARED STATEMENT USED BY ASSISTANT SECRETARY ROGERS IN EXECUTIVE SESSION TESTIMONY BEFORE SENATE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE JUNE 12.

2. QUOTE: MR. CHAIRMAN, I WELCOME THE OPPORTUNITY TO APPEAR BEFORE THIS COMMITTEE TO SPEAK ON THE SUBJECT OF CHILEAN REFUGEES. MY STAFF AND I HAVE BEEN WORKING HARD FOR MANY MONTHS TO OBTAIN APPROVAL OF A PROPOSAL TO PAROLE INTOTHE UNITED STATES A LIMITED NUMBER OF CHILEAN REFUGEES AND DETAINEES FROM CHILE AND PERU, PLUS SPOUSES AND DEPENDENTS. SO WHEN THIS HEARING WAS SUDDENLY CALLED I SIMPLY TORE UP MY SCHEDULE FOR TODAY AND CAME ON UP.

UNCLASSIFIED

LIMITED OFFICIAL USE

FIRST LET ME REVIEW BRIEFLY THE HISTORY OF THE CHILEAN REFUGEE PROBLEM. THERE HAVE BEEN THREE DISTINCT RESETTLEMENT EFFORTS FOR REFUGEES IN AND FROM CHILE. THE FIRST, IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE SEPTEMBER, 1973 OVERTHROW OF THE ALLENDE GOVERNMENT, INVOLVED THE RESETTLING OF ALMOST 3,600 NON-CHILEAN REFUGEES AND THEIR DEPENDENTS IN 41 DIFFERENT COUNTRIES. THE MAJOR PARTICIPATING COUNTRIES WERE

ARGENTINA, FRANCE, SWEDEN, SWITZERLAND AND THE FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF GERMANY, WHICH TOOK A TOTAL OF OVER 2,300 OF THESE PEOPLE. NINETEEN WERE PAROLED INTO THE UNITED STATES.

THE SECOND EFFORT INVOLVED CHILEAN REFUGEES IN PERU. WE ESTIMATE THAT UP TO 4,000 CHILEANS FLED TO PERU FOLLOWING THE COUP. THE PERUVIAN GOVERNMENT ADMITTED THEM IN TRANSIT ONLY AND ASKED THE UNITED NATIONS HIGH COMMISSIONER TO CONDUCT A RESETTLEMENT PROGRAM. IN 1974 OVER 1,500 WERE RESETTLED IN SOME 15 COUNTRIES, PRINCIPALLY CANADA, NEW ZEALAND, AUSTRALIA, LUXEMBURG, HUNGARY AND ROMANIA. THE UNITED STATES HAS NOT ACCEPTED ANY. THERE ARE STILL ABOUT 1,200 IN PERU. ONLY LAST WEEK THE OFFICE OF THE UNITED NATIONS HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR REFUGEES, IN LIMA, CALLED IN AMBASSADORS FROM A NUMBER OF COUNTRIES REPRESENTED IN PERU, ASKING FOR A RENEWED EFFORT TO RESETTLE THESE PEOPLE.

THE THIRD REFUGEE EFFORT INVOLVES DETAINEES IN CHILE. OUR BEST INFORMATION INDICATES THERE ARE APPROXIMATELY 4,000 TO 5,000 CHILEANS CURRENTLY IN DETENTION IN CHILE. THEY INCLUDE MEMBERS OF A NUMBER OF POLITICAL PARTIES. SOME OF THEM HAVE BEEN CONVICTED AND OTHERS HAVE NOT. THE GREAT MAJORITY OF SENTENCES WERE PASSED BY MILITARY, NOT CIVILIAN, COURTS. SOME DETAINEES HAVE BEEN HELD WITHOUT CHARGE FOR AS LONG AS 21 MONTHS. THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT ACKNOWLEDGES HAVING DETAINED OVER 41,000 PERSONS AT ONE TIME OR ANOTHER SINCE THE COUP. OF THE 36,000 RELEASED, 9,000 HAVE BEEN REQUIRED TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY. IN A SPEECH LAST SEPTEMBER, CHILEAN CHIEF OF STATE PINOCHET OFFERED TO RELEASE AND EXILE DETAINEES WHO COULD BE RESETTLED IN OTHER COUNTRIES. RECENTLY THE CHILEAN GOVERN-

*MENT BROADENED THE CRITERIA TO INCLUDE THOSE CHILEANS WHO HAVE BEEN CONVICTED OF CRIMES RELATED TO "INTERNAL SECURITY". A CHILEAN COMMISSION HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED TO RULE WHETHER SENTENCES CAN BE COMMUTED TO ENABLE DEPORTATION OF THESE PEOPLE. SOME HAVE BEEN RELEASED AND WILL BE RESETTLED IN CANADA AND IN MEXICO. THE UNITED STATES HAS NOT OFFERED TO RESETTLE ANY OF THEM.

NOW LET ME SPELL OUT THE REASONS WHY I HAVE BEEN WORKING SO HARD TO OBTAIN AUTHORIZATION TO PERMIT THE RESETTLEMENT OF CHILEAN DETAINEES AND REFUGEES, AND THEIR FAMILIES, IN THE UNITED STATES.

FIRST AND FOREMOST, THERE IS A HUMANITARIAN NEED FOR SUCH ACTION. WE SYMPATHIZE WITH THE PLIGHT OF THE REFUGEES AND DETAINEES AND WE WISH TO DO OUR PART IN THE INTERNATIONAL RESETTLEMENT EFFORT.

SECONDLY, THERE IS STRONG RELIGIOUS SUPPORT IN CHILE FOR SUCH A U.S. EFFORT. FOR EXAMPLE, BOTH FATHER POBLETE, ADVISER TO CARDINAL SILVA OF CHILE, AND BISHOP FRENZ, LUTHERAN LEADER OF CHILE, HAVE REPEATEDLY URGED US TO TAKE THIS ACTION. WE ARRANGED FOR BOTH OF THEM TO MEET WITH STAFF COUNSEL FOR THE SENATE AND HOUSE COMMITTEE.

THIRD, WE HAVE BEEN ASKING THE U.N. HIGH COMMISSIONER OF REFUGEES TO GET OTHER COUNTRIES TO TAKE IN VIETNAMESE REFUGEES. IT IS INCONSISTENT TO SEEK COOPERATION FROM INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION AND OTHER COUNTRIES ON THE VIETNAMESE REFUGEE PROBLEM IF WE REFUSE TO LIFT A FINGER TO HELP THE CHILEANS. RECENTLY THE INTERGOVERNMENTAL COMMITTEE FOR EUROPEAN MIGRATION EXPRESSED TO OUR SANTIAGO EMBASSY ITS HOPE FOR RAPID AUTHORIZATION OF THE ENTRY OF CHILEANS INTO THE U.S.

FOURTH, OUR ACCEPTANCE OF CHILEANS WILL DEMONSTRATE THAT OUR CONCERN FOR REFUGEES EXTENDS TO ALL PERSONS IN NEED, REGARDLESS OF THE NATURE AND POLITICAL COLORATION OF THE GOVERNMENT FROM WHICH THEY ARE FLEEING. SUCH ACTION WILL ALSO HELP TO IMPROVE THE U.S. IMAGE IN THE EYES OF MILLIONS OF PEOPLE IN CHILE AND MANY OTHER COUNTRIES.

FIFTH, THE SECURITY RISK TO US IS MINIMAL. ALL CHILEANS WILL BE CAREFULLY SCREENED, ON AN INDIVIDUAL BASIS. IT IS NOT PROPOSED TO BRING IN COMMUNISTS, TERRORISTS OR ECONOMIC DISTRESS CASES. IN THE COURSE OF OUR CONSULTATION WITH CONGRESS WE HAVE BEEN TOLD REPEATEDLY THAT IT IS UNDESIRABLE TO BRING IN COMMUNISTS. ALL I CAN DO IS SAY ONCE AGAIN THAT WE DO NOT, REPEAT NOT, INTEND TO BRING IN COMMUNISTS.

SIXTH, SO FAR AS I CAN DISCERN, IMPLEMENTATION OF THIS PROPOSAL WILL IN NO WAY HELP THE COMMUNIST PARTY. ON THE CONTRARY, I AM CONVINCED THAT REFUSAL TO ACCEPT CHILEAN DETAINEES AND REFUGEES WOULD SERVE COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA PURPOSES.

SEVENTH, THERE IS GREAT DOMESTIC INTEREST IN THIS PROPOSAL. WE HAVE BEEN RECEIVING DAILY CALLS FROM

REPRESENTATIVES OF MANY ORGANIZATIONS AND GROUPS INCLUDING, FOR EXAMPLE, THE U.S. CATHOLIC CONFERENCE, AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL, THE AMERICAN FRIENDS SERVICE COMMITTEE, THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES, AND THE LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES ASSOCIATION. THEY ASK WHY, AFTER ALL THESE MONTHS, WE DO NOT MOVE AHEAD.

NOW, IN CONCLUSION, LET ME REVIEW BRIEFLY THE STEPS WE HAVE TAKEN IN OBTAINING APPROVAL FOR OUR PLAN. FOLLOWING THE SECRETARY'S DECISION, LAST NOVEMBER, TO REQUEST THE ATTORNEY GENERAL TO EXERCISE HIS PAROLE AUTHORITY ON BEHALF OF CHILEAN REFUGEES AND DETAINEES, WE BEGAN OUR CONSULTATIONS WITH CONGRESS. BOTH COMMITTEES WERE INFORMED OF THE PROPOSAL IN WRITING ON DECEMBER 16 AND WERE ASKED FOR COMMENTS. WE HAD TWO MEETINGS WITH THE HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE, THE LATEST IN FEBRUARY, IN A LETTER DATED MARCH 25 THE COMMITTEE RECOGNIZED THE HUMANITARIAN CONSIDERATIONS INVOLVED AND SAID IT DID NOT OBJECT TO A PAROLE PROGRAM FOR CHILEAN DETAINEES ON A CASE BY CASE BASIS. WE ALSO REQUESTED CONSULTATION WITH THE SENATE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE. WE MET WITH MR. LOUGHRAN OF YOUR STAFF EARLIER THIS YEAR.

[redacted]

[redacted]

ON APRIL 23, DEPUTY SECRETARY INGERSOLL WROTE TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL URGING THAT HE UTILIZE HIS AUTHORITY UNDER SECTION 212 (D) (5) OF THE IMMIGRATION AND NATIONALITY ACT TO PAROLE INTO THE UNITED STATES 400 REFUGEES AND DETAINEES, AND THEIR FAMILIES.

ON MAY 29, THE DEPUTY SECRETARY MET WITH THE ATTORNEY GENERAL AND GENERAL CHAPMAN. THE ATTORNEY GENERAL AND GENERAL CHAPMAN INDICATED THEY DID NOT FAVOR A CLASS PAROLE FOR A FIXED NUMBER OF PEOPLE. THEY DID, HOWEVER, OFFER TO CONSIDER CAREFULLY, PURSUANT TO THEIR STANDARD POLICIES, ON A CASE BY CASE BASIS, THOSE CHILEAN REFUGEES AND DETAINEES FAVORABLY RECOMMENDED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE. THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE FINDS THIS ACCEPTABLE. WE HAVE SINCE WORKED OUT WITH THE IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE THE PROCEDURES AND GUIDANCE FOR OUR EMBASSIES IN SANTIAGO AND LIMA FOR IMPLEMENTING THIS PROJECT. WE ARE SATISFIED THOSE PLANS ARE SOUND AND REALISTIC, AND WE ARE READY AND EAGER TO GET STARTED.

THANK YOU. END QUOTE.

3. FYI. ROGERS APPEARANCE BEFORE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE CAME IN RESPONSE TO LAST-MINUTE REQUEST BY COMMITTEE

CHAIRMAN EASTLAND. JUSTICE DEPARTMENT PREVIOUS DAY HAD INFORMED SENATE AND HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEES OF PLANS TO MOVE AHEAD ON CASE-BY-CASE PAROLE PROPOSAL. SENATORS EASTLAND, BURDICK, HRUSKA, KENNEDY AND ABOUREZK ATTENDED HEARING. REACTION WAS MIXED. KENNEDY WAS SUPPORTIVE OF DEPT'S EFFORTS AND TRIED TO COUNTER EASTLAND'S INITIAL MISGIVING. AT END OF HEARING, EASTLAND APPEARED SATISFIED WITH WHAT WE ENVISAGED. DEPARTMENT HAS INFORMED CHILEAN EMBASSY HERE OF CIRCUMSTANCES OF ROGERS TESTIMONY AND GENERAL OUTLINES OF PAROLE MECHANISM. SUBJECT: SAN JOSE CONFERENCE (RIO TREATY)

1. DURING CONVERSATION WITH ME MORNING JULY 2, FOREIGN MINISTER FACIO SAID THAT MEXICAN FOREIGN MINISTER RABASA WILL MAKE AN UNPUBLICIZED VISIT TO COSTA RICA TODAY FOR DISCUSSION WITH HIM ABOUT THE OAS CONFERENCE. HE DOES NOT KNOW EXACTLY WHAT RABASA HAS IN MIND BUT WILL TALK TO ME MORE ABOUT IT LATER.

2. FACIO ALSO SAID THE FOREIGN MINISTER OF CHILE HAD TOLD HIM THAT HIS COUNTRY WOULD NOW VOTE FOR THE AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE 17 OF THE RIO TREATY. IN ADDITION, HE HAD HEARD THAT URUGUAY HAD NOW DECIDED NOT TO OPPOSE THE AMENDMENT TO THE TREATY. CONSEQUENTLY, FACIO THOUGHT THERE WOULD BE NO PROBLEM IN GETTING THE NECESSARY VOTES TO AMEND THE TREATY.

3. FACIO SAID HE CONTINUES TO BELIEVE THAT THE BEST ACTION IS TO PROCEED FROM THE AMENDMENT OF THE TREATY TO A VOTE ON A RESOLUTION FOR LIFTING THE SANCTIONS. HE FELT, HOWEVER, THAT THIS ACTION SHOULD BE A SURPRISE MOVE TO AVOID UNNECESSARY ADVANCE PUBLICITY AND FUSS.

SUBJECT: ECHEVERRIA VISIT TO ISRAEL AND HIS SECGEN CHANCES

REF: MEXICO 5894

1. ISRAELI AMBASSADOR AYNOR CALLED ON ME YESTERDAY AFTERNOON TO "ASK ADVISE". SAID HE HAD HEARD, WITH SOME DISMAY, ON EVENING NEWSCAST LAST NIGHT THAT PRES. ECHEVERRIA PLANNED TO VISIT ISRAEL IN THE COURSE OF HIS TOUR OF MIDDLE EAST, AFRICA, AND SOUTH ASIA BEGINNING LATER THIS MONTH. NO PRIOR ISRAELI CLEARANCE HAD BEEN OBTAINED AND, RATHER INGENUOUSLY, HE ASKED WHETHER IN MY EXPERIENCE THIS WAS THE WAY ECHEVERRIA NORMALLY PROCEEDED IN MATTERS OF THIS SORT.

2. HAVING JUST COME FROM PRESIDENCY MYSELF AFTER PRESENTING SENATOR MANSFIELD TO PRESIDENT, I WAS ABLE TO PASS ON TO HIM ECHEVERRIA'S CONFIRMATION THAT HE DID INDEED HOPE TO VISIT ISRAEL, WHERE (ECHEVERRIA EXPLAINED) MEXICO HAD IMPORTANT POLITICAL AND COMMERCIAL INTERESTS TO PURSUE. I REMARKED UPON ECHEVERRIA'S NON-PROTOCOLARLY MANNER AND SAID I WAS SURE NO OFFENSE WAS MEANT. I ALSO MENTIONED ECHEVERRIA'S OWN REFERENCE TO SUDDEN VISIT OF PRESIDENT JOHNSON TO

MEXICO IN 1966 WITH ONLY 27 HOURS' ADVANCE NOTICE. AMB. AYNOR SEEMED REASSURED AND AGREED WITH ME THAT IT WAS ESSENTIAL THAT NEITHER PROTOCOL NICETIES NOR CORRENT POLITICAL DIFFICULTIES BETWEEN MEXICO AND ISRAEL PREVENT HIS BEING WARMLY WELCOMED THERE.

3. ON LARGER SUBJECT OF TRIP'S PURPOSE, AMB. AYNOR AGREED THAT ECHEVERRIA'S CAMPAIGN FOR UN SECRETARY GENERALSHIP WAS A KEY MOTIVATING FACTOR. MOREOVER (TO MY SURPRISE) HE SEEMED NOT TO LOOK WITH DISFAVOR UPON THAT EVENTUALITY, OPINING THAT HE WOLD CERTAINLY BE AN IMPROVEMENT UPON WALDHEIM. HE COULD NOT IMAGINE THAT EITHER US OR USSR WOULD EXERCISE VETO ON HIS CANDIDACY. IN ANY CASE, A THIRD WORLD SECGEN WAS WHAT WAS NEEDED TO MAKE THE UN WORK PRECISELY BECAUSE OF THE PROBLEMS CREATED BY A THIRD WORLD DOMINATED GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

4. AN EQUALLY IMPORTANT FACTOR, HE THOUGHT, WAS ECHEVERRIA'S DESIRE TO B A GENUINE THIRD WORLD LEADER. HE MENTIONED A RECENT CONVERSATION WHICH HE HIMSELF HAD HAD WITH ECHEVERRIA, IN WHICH THE LATTER INQUIRED IN DETAIL ABOUT PRESIDENT TITO'S AGE AND HEALTH, LEAVING THE IMPRESSION THAT HE ASPIRED TO SUCCEED TITO AS LEADER OF THE THIRD WORLD NATIONS.

5. I REMARKED TO AMB. AYNOR THAT I THOUGHT IT WAS IMPORTANT TO ENCOURAGE ECHEVERRIA TO PLAY A CONCILIATORY ROLE IN OUR RELATIONS WITH THE THIRD WORLD. FOR THIS REASON ALONE, IT SEEMED TO ME MORE THAN WISE TO ENDORSE HIS PLANS TO VISIT NOT ONLY ARAB COUNTRIES BUT ISRAEL AS WELL, AND TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF HIS VISIT TO STRESS THIS POINT WITH HIM (ESPECIALLY IN LIGHT OF CONFRONTATION OVER "ZIONISM" AT WCIWY HERE). SUBJECT: PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA'S UNEXPECTED INVITATION TO PRESIDENT FORD

1. SENATOR MANSFIELD AND I HAD A MOST CORDIAL CONVERSATION LASTING MORE THAN AN HOUR WITH PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA WHO RECEIVED THE SENATOR AT THE DOOR OF HIS CAR.

2. THE FIRST PART OF THE CONVERSATION WAS DOMINATED BY ECHEVERRIA WHO DESCRIBED HIS FORTHCOMING TRIP TO AFRICA AND THE MID EAST (REPORTED IN SEPTEL) AND STRESSED THE COMPARATIVE POLITICAL PEVGS#ENJOYED BY MEXICO DURING HIS ADMINISTRATION THANKS TO HIS TACTICS OF OPENING DOORS TO THE LEFT, BOTH DOMESTICALLY AND INTERNATIONALLY.

3. WHEN SENATOR MANSFIELD HAD OPPORTUNITY TO SPEAK, HE MENTIONED THAT HE BROUGHT GREETINGS FROM PRESIDENT FORD WHOM HE HAD SEEN JUST PRIOR TO TRAVELING TO MEXICO. THE SENATOR SAID THAT HE HAD OBSERVED TO PRESIDENT FORD THAT NO U.S. PRESIDENT HAD VISITED MEXICO CITY SINCE JOHNSON'S TIME AND THAT IN HIS OPINION SKCH A VISIT WAS NOW DUE. HE SAID THAT PRESIDENT FORD HAD REPLIED THAT WHILE HE WOULD ENJOY VISITING MEXICO, HE DID NOT WISH TO COME AT SUCH A TIME AS MIGHT INTERFERE WITH THE DELICATE POLITICAL PROCESS CONNECTED WITH THE FORTHCOMING MEXICAN PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

RM ECHEVERRIA RESPONDED WITH ENTHUSIASM SAYING THAT HE WISHED SENATOR MANSFIELD WOULD ASSURE PRESIDELA FORD ON A PERSONAL BASIS, WHILE AT THE SAME TIME HE REQUESTED THE AMBASSADOR TO DO SO ON AN OFFICIAL BASIS, THAT PRESIDENT FORD WOULD BE WELCOMED WITH ENTHUSIASM AT ANY TIME HE CHOSE TO COME. ECHEVERRIA SAID THAT HE HIMSELF WOULD NOT RETURM FROM HIS TRIP TO AFRICA AND THE FAR EAST UNTIL MID-AUGUST, BUT HOPED THAT WE COULD WORK OUT A MUTUALLY SATISFACTORY DATE FOR A VISIT BY PRESIDENT FORD, HOPEFULLY ACCOMPANIED BY MRS. FORD, ANY TIME AFTER HIS RETURN IN MID-AUGUST.

5. IN THIS CONNECTION, HE OBSERVED THAT THE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES WOULD BE CHOSEN BY THEIR PARTIES POSSIBLY IN SEPTEMBER OR OCTOBER, THAT THE PRI CANDIDATE WOULD WIN (UNDERSTATEMENT OF THE YEAR) BY AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY WHILE THE PAN CANDIDATE WOULD GET A MAXIMUM OF PERHAPS 12 TO 14 PERCENT OF THE VOTE. HE COULD ASSURE US THAT THE MEXICAN POLITICAL PROCESS WOULD NOT BE AFFECTED BY A PRESIDENTIAL VISIT AND THAT PRESIDENT FORD WOULD BE EVEN MORE ENTHUSIASTICALLY RECEIVED THAN DURING HIS VISIT TO LAREDO AND MAGDALENA DE KINO. HE REMINISCED REGARDING PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S VISIT WHICH WAS DONE, (HE SAID NOT WCTHOUT TRACES OF DISMAY) WITH ONLY 28 HOURS' NOTICE, THAT HE WAS THE ARRANGER FOR THYS VISIT AND IT WAS ONE OF THE MOST GRANDIOSE MEXICO HAS HAD -- WITH MORE NOTICE PRESIDENT FORD WOULD GET AN EVEN BETTER RECEPTION.

6. AT THE END OF OUR CONVERSATION ECCEVERRIA HIMSELF AGAIN RAISED THE MATTER OF A POSSIBLE PRESIDENTIAL VISIT AND WARMLY REITERATED HIS INVITATION.

7. COMMENT: REGARDLESS OF ECHEVERRIA'S OPEN-HEARTED STATEMENT OF WELCOME, I WOULD RECOMMEND AGAINST ANY PRESIDENTIAL VISIT, IF INDEED ONE IS TO TAKE PLACE, UNTIL AFTER THE MEXICAN PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES HAVE BEEN CHOSEN. A VISIT BEFORE THAT MIGHT BE INTERPRETED AS AN ATTEMPT TO INFLUENCE THE CHOICE OF THE CANDIDATES. JOVA

3. HIS VISIT TO GUYANA WAS MAKING THE VENEZUELANS UNHAPPY BECAUSE OF THEIR BORDER DIFFICULTIES BUT GUYANA WAS AN IMPORTANT LINK OF HIS NEW CARIBBEAN STRATEGY. SIMILARLY, HE WOULD VISIT TRINIDAD TOBAGO TO OFFSET PRIME MINISTER WILLIAMS SENSITIVITY BECAUSE OF HIS GROWING FRIENDSHIP WITH MANLEY OF JAMAICA.

4. ECHEVERRIA SAID THE MAIN PURPOSE OF HIS TRIP WAS TO CARRY MEXICO'S MESSAGES OF PEACE AND OF GREATER WORLD SOCIAL JUSTICE.

5. DURING THE COURSE OF THE CONVERSATION THE PRESIDENT TOLD SENATOR MANSFIELD THAT HE WOULD BE UNDER GREAT PRESSURE DURING THIS TRIP TO JOIN OPEC AND ALSO TO JOIN THE NON-ALIGNED GROUP. WHILE HE DESIRED GOOD RELATIONS WITH BOTH THESE GROUPS, HE MAINTAINED STOUTLY THAT HE WOULD NOT JOIN THEM.

6. ECHEVERRIA SAID HE KNEW HIS TRIP WOULD HAVE GREAT HAZARDS BUT AS IN SECRETARY KISSINGER'S VISIT IN THE SAME AREA, THE RISKS WERE WORTH TAKING.

MEMORANDUM

TO: ARA - Mr. William D. Rogers

FROM: ARA/BC - John E. Karkashian JEK

SUBJECT: UN Human Rights Commission

On July 7 a working group of the United Nations Human Rights Commission will arrive in Santiago to study the Human Rights situation in Chile. The group will be composed of: Ghulam Ali Allana, Chairman, (Pakistan); Leopoldo Benites (Ecuador); Abdoulaya Dieye (Senegal); Felix Ermacora (Austria); and Mrs. M. J. T. Kamora (Sierra Leone). Also accompanying the Group is Marc Schreiber, Head of the U.N. Secretariat Human Rights Office and two members of his staff.

As far as we know, the UNHRC group is composed of able and unbiased people. We expect it will conduct its investigation competently and report fairly. The Group has held a preliminary meeting in Geneva and has already interviewed some Chilean exiles. It expects to present its final report in January of 1976.

After nearly two years in power, the GOC remains determined to give overriding priority to its internal security requirements, broadly construed. Exercizing state of siege powers, conventional procedural safeguards are largely lacking for persons detained and interrogated; treatment is often harsh; long delays before trial are the rule. We estimate that more than 4000 persons are under detention. Indications that the GOC might "demilitarize" its judicial procedures and curb the far-ranging authority of the security agencies, particularly DINA, have not materialized.

The GOC's human rights practices have created a highly critical climate in the U.S. Congress, particularly with liberal members, as well as with much of the media. The Chilean failure to effect fundamental changes in those practices was responsible for the inclusion of Section 25 in last year's Foreign Assistance Act. This section effectively prohibited military assistance to Chile by the U.S. Government and limited economic assistance to a level of $25 million during FY 1975. The GOC's human rights practices have also been the subject of resolutions in the last UN General Assembly, in the International Labor Organization, in UNESCO, in the OAS, the Paris Club creditors meeting in May and the current UN International Women's Year Conference in Mexico.

The critical congressional and media reaction in the U.S. has made it extremely difficult to carry out a supportive bilateral policy or to be helpful to Chile's needs on the international level. We have attempted to modify the more strident and politically motivated actions against the GOC in various international fora with some success. We were instrumental at the last Paris Club meeting to obtain a multilateral agreement among Chile's major creditors to reschedule its 1975 debts to them. In the World Bank, we were successful in obtaining support for a $20 million agricultural loan.

We have been particularly forthcoming in our bilateral economic assistance. A.I.D. loans in FY 1975 totaled $20 million, while our PL 480 Title I program totaled approximately $57.8 million. We were unable to provide any military assistance in FY 1975 due to the restrictions of Section 25 of the FAA of 1974.

In our contacts with GOC officials we have reiterated that without real improvements in the human rights field, we do not anticipate any change in the attitude of Congress, various interested international organizations and the media. So far, very little improvement has been made beyond the release of a large number of detainees. It was hoped that the Internal Security Law, promulgated in April, would serve to provide effective habeas corpus and prompt notification to relatives of detainees. As far as we can tell, these provisions of the law are not being effectuated. Until the GOC takes some concrete steps to restore habeas corpus, trial - or at least review - by civilian courts, and judicial warrants for arrest, Chile's present image outside the country will remain the same.

EO 11652: GDS
TAGS: PINT, SHUM, CI
SUBJ: PINOCHET CANCELS UNHRC VISIT TO CHILE

1. SUMMARY. IN SURPRISE SPEECH JULY 4 PRESIDENT PINOCHET SAID: "I HAVE MADE MAJOR DECISION: I HAVE DIRECTED THAT HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION NOT COME TO CHILE." HE PUT HIS DECISION IN CONTEXT OF WORLD COMMUNIST CAMPAIGN AGAINST CHILE, FACT THAT COMMUNIST COUNTRIES WOULD NOT SUBMIT TO INVESTIGATION, AND UNFORTUNATE FACT THAT THOSE WHO COULD HELP DO NOTHING FOR CHILE. DECISION THUS REPRESENTS REVERSION TO ORIGINAL PINOCHET LINE THAT CHILE WOULD RECEIVE SUCH STUDY GROUPS ONLY IF THEY ALSO INVESTIGATED USSR AND CUBA. END SUMMARY.

2. PINOCHET'S SPEECH WAS GIVEN LATE IN DAY IN NORTHERN TOWN OF VALLERNAR AT BEGINNING OF TOUR THROUGH NORTH. TEXT WAS RELEASED BY GOC INFORMATION OFFICE LATER.

3. PINOCHET PUT DECISION IN CONTEXT OF ASSERTION THAT ARMED FORCES TOOK OVER COUNTRY IN SEPT 1973 AND WOULD REMAIN IN POWER

[redacted]

[redacted]

DESPITE POLITICIANS' CONTINUING "DEMOGOGIC" ATTEMPT TO RETURN TO OFFICE. HE SAID WORLD COMMUNISM WAS REACTING AGAINST TAKEOVER, SINCE IT HAD LOST BATTLE IN CHILE, AND "IT DOES NOT HESITATE TO SLANDER, BY SENDING PERMANENT COMMISSIONS TO SEE IF HUMAN RIGHTS ARE RESPECTED." HE ASKED RHETORICALLY HOW MANY SUCH COMMISSIONS HAD BEEN SENT TO CUBA AND USSR, OR TO VIETNAM, LAOS AND CAMBODIA, AND TO OTHER PARTS OF WORLD "WHERE THE MOST HORRIBLE CRIMES ARE COMMITTED" THESE COUNTRIES, HOWEVER, ARE EXEMPT FROM EXAMINATION BECAUSE THEY BEAR "SHIELD OF MARXISM-LENINISM."

4. PRESIDENT RECOGNIZED HIS DECISION WOULD CAUSE REACTION FROM MARXIST WORLD, AND CONTINUED: "UNFORTUNATELY THAT WORLD WHICH CAN DEFEND US, WITH A COWARDICE THAT I DO NOT KNOW HOW TO JUDGE, HIDES ITS HEAD AND LEAVES THIS DAVID FIGHTING AGAINST GOLIATH. BUT DO NOT FORGET THAT DAVID DEFEATED GOLIATH."

5. COMMENT: IN LAST DECEMBER 31 SPEECH TO NATION PINOCHET LAID DOWN LINE (STATED NOT QUITE SO FORCEFULLY IN SEPT 11, 1974, ANNIVERSARY SPEECH) THAT IN GENERAL CHILE WOULD NOT RECEIVE HUMAN RIGHTS STUDY GROUPS UNLESS USSR AND CUBA WERE ALSO INVESTIGATED. APPARENTLY WITH CONSIDERABLE NUDGING, HIS ADVISORS GOT HIM TO ALLOW UNHRC GROUP TO COME, IN BELIEF THEY HAD OBTAINED REASONABLE GUARANTEES OF GROUP'S OBJECTIVITY. JUGDING FROM INFORMED COMMENT AT AMBASSADOR'S JULY 4 RECEPTION, PINOCHET DECISION WAS SET OFF BY (1) RECENT CHILEAN EXPERIENCES AT ILO MEETING IN GENEVA AND UN-SPONSORED CONFERENCE ON INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S YEAR IN MEXICO, WHERE ANTI-GOC RESOLUTIONS WERE POLITICALLY INSPIRED AND WENT BEYOND CONCLUSIONS DRAWN BY PREVIOUS INVESTIGATIVE BODIES, AND (2) FACT THAT UNHRC GROUP HAD TAKEN TESTIMONY FROM CHILEAN EXILES BEFORE ARRIVAL IN CHILE. QUESTION THEREFORE ARISES WHETHER STUDY GROUP ENTRY WOULD BE ALLOWED IF IT INVESTIGATED ONLY SITUATION AT TIME OF ITS ARRIVAL.

6. PINOCHET SPEECH WAS EMPHATIC THAT DECISION WAS HIS OWN. AT EARLIER STAGE, ANY DECISION OF SUCH IMPORTANCE WOULD HAVE BEEN ANNOUNCED IN NAME OF ENTIRE JUNTA. WE ARE STRUCK WITH USE OF FIRST PERSON PRONOUN IN THIS CASE, AND WILL BE WATCHING CAREFULLY FOR ANY INTERNAL GOC REACTION.

1. SUMMARY. EMBASSY TRANSMITS SUMMARY OF GOC EXPLANATION OF WHY PRESIDENT PINOCHET CANCELLED VISIT OF UNHRC STUDY GROUP. OFFICIAL DOCUMENT IS SCHEDULED TO BE PRESENTED TO DEPARTMENT AND TO UN ASAP. TO US EXPLANATION IS FAR FROM CONVINCING, AND IT LENDS CREDENCE TO EMBASSY'S BELIEF THAT PINOCHET WAS AHEAD OF HIS STAFF IN ANNOUNCING DECISION. HIS ORIGINAL STATEMENT APPEARED TO BE AN UNCONDITIONAL REJECTION OF STUDY GROUP VISIT, AND SANTIAGO PRESS HAS SO TAKEN IT. EXPLANATION LEAVES OPEN POSSIBILITY OF VISIT LATER, UNDER UNDEFINED CONDITIONS. END SUMMARY.

2. IN HANDING AMBASSADOR ADVANCE COPY OF GOC STATEMENT ON CANCELLATION OF UNHRC STUDY GROUP VISIT TO CHILE (REFTEL), FONMIN CARVAJAL JULY 7 GAVE ORAL EXPLANATION OF GOC POSITION DRAWING ON STATEMENT BUT PRESENTING IT IN MORE REASONABLE LANGUAGE. KEY, FINAL TWO PARAGRAPHS WERE REPORTED IN REFTEL. BULK OF STATEMENT EXPLAINED GOC DECISION. STATEMENT SHOULD NOT BE DISCUSSED

3. IN GESTURE THAT DID NOT SATISFY ITS "INTERNATIONAL DETRACTORS," STATEMENT SAYS GOC ACCEPTED VISIT OF UNHRC GROUP TO STUDY "PRESENT SITUATION" RE HUMAN RIGHTS. GOC COOPERATED FULLY IN PREPARING FOR VISIT.

4. IT WAS LATER SHOWN THAT CAMPAIGN OF POLITICALLY MOTIVATED LIES AGAINST CHILE INTENSIFIED, PARTICULARLY IN UN FORUMS, AS EXEMPLIFIED BY ILO MEETING IN GENEVA AND INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S YEAR CONFERENCE IN MEXICO WHICH SHOWED DISDAIN FOR UNHRC STUDY BY PREJUDGING SITUATION AND CONDEMNING CHILE. THIS DEMONSTRATED THAT DEFAMATORY CAMPAIGN WAS STILL DECEIVING WORLD PUBLIC OPINION AND THAT THERE WAS NO "SERIOUS DISPOSITION" IN INTERNATIONAL ARENA TO INVESTIGATE AND ADMIT TRUTH ABOUT CHILEAN SITUATION.

5. ORALLY, CARVAJAL EMPHASIZED FURTHER POINT THAT UNHRC WORKING GROUP HAD EXCEEDED ITS MANDATE TO INVESTIGATE "PRESENT SITUATION" BY TAKING TESTIMONY IN EUROPE AND NEW YORK FROM EXILES AND REFUGEES WHO HAD BEEN ABROAD FOR MORE THAN A YEAR AND HAD NOTHING TO SAY ABOUT CURRENT SITUATION. FURTHERMORE, ON EVE OF GROUP'S ARRIVAL, THERE WAS DETECTED "SUBVERSIVE DESIGN" INTENDED TO PRODUCE "FALSE IMAGE" OF CHILE (CARVAJAL'S PHRASE) THAT WOULD UNFAVORABLY IMPRESS GROUP. DESIGN WAS INSPIRED BY RADIO MOSCOW; IT SOUGHT TO FILL EMBASSIES WITH "PHONY PERSECUTED POLITICIANS, FOMENT STREET AGITATION, AND UNLEASH GUERRILLA STRUGGLE." AIM WAS TO CREATE PUBLIC ALARM AND PROVOKE SECURITY COUNTER MEASURES.

6. THESE CIRCUMSTANCES LED GOC TO CONCLUSION GROU COULD NOT NOW CARRY OUT ITS TASK PROPERLY OR COME TO KNOW "PRESENT REALITY" OF CHILE. PENDING REESTABLISHMENT OF NECESSARY CONDITIONS OF OBJECTIVITY AND CARRYING OUT HIS PRIMARY DUTY OF PRESERVING DOMESTIC PEACE, PRESIDENT THEREFORE TO HIS GREAT TEGRET HAD TO HALT (DEJAR SIN EFECTO LA VISITA) STUDY GROUP VISIT "UNTIL MORE PROPITIOUS OCCASION."

[redacted]

[redacted]

7. COMMENT: THIS LINE OF ARGUMENT HAS MERIT AND IS FIRMLY BELIEVED BY MANY CHILEANS. IT SEEMS FORCED, HOWEVER, AND NOT LIKELY TO CONVINCE THOSE WHO DO NOT ALREADY ACCEPT CHILEAN POSITION.

8. MOREOVER, GOVERNMENT EXPLANATION OF PRESIDENT PINOCHET'S DECISION FOLLOWS BY SEVERAL DAYS ANNOUNCE-MENT OF DECISION ITSELF; AND ANNOUNCEMENT WAS COUCHED IN LANGUAGE SO TOUGH AS NOT TO ADMIT POSSIBILITY OF COMPROMISE THAT IS IMPLICIT IN EXPLANATORY STATE-

MOVED WELL AHEAD OF HIS STAFF, LEAVING TO THEM
UNGRATEFUL TASK OF JUSTIFYING WHAT HE HAD DONE.

SUBJECT: FOREIGN SECRETARY NOT TO ACCOMPANY ECHEVERRIA ON ALL OF TRIP

REF MEXICO 5984

1. AMBASSADOR MANUEL TELLO, FOREIGN SECRETARIAT DIRECTOR-IN-CHIEF (BILATERAL AFFAIRS), INFORMED THE AMBASSADOR YESTERDAY THAT HE AND UNDER SECRETARY JOSE GALLASTEGUI, BUT NOT SECRETARY RABASA, WILL ACCOMPANY PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA ON HIS THIRTEEN-COUNTRY VISIT (SEE REFTEL). SUBSEQUENTLY, RABADA'S (RECENTLY REASSIGNED) CHEF DE CABINET GONZALIZ PARRODI TOLD AMBASSADOR THAT RABASA WILL JOIN PRESIDENTIAL PARTY FOR PART OF TRIP. HE SAID RABASA HAS TO GO TO BELGIUM (REPORTEDLY TO SIGN GOM AGREEMENT WITH COMMON MARKET) AND TO MOSCOW. REASON FOR MOSCOW VISIT UNKNOWN.

2. COMMENT: IT IS ALWAYS POSSIBLE THAT RABASA MIGHT DECIDE TO ATTEND ALL OR PART OF SAN JOSE CONFERENCE ON RIO TREATY BEGINNING JULY 16. HIS ABSENCE FROM PRESIDENTIAL ENTOURAGE DURING PART OF TRIP REVEALS ONCE MORE PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA'S VERY GREAT CONFIDENCE IN HIS OWN GRASP OF AND COMPETENCE IN FOREIGN POLICY, BOTH IN GENERAL AND IN DETAIL.

EO 11652: NA
TAGS: PFOR, MX
SUBJECT: LEA'S TRAVELS: IS THIS TRIP REALLY NECESSARY?

1. DESPITE THE FAWNING AND HOOPLA WITH WHICH PRES. ECHEVERRIA'S TRICONTINENTAL TRIP WAS LAUNCHED, BY NO MEANS EVERYONE IN MEXICO IS CONVINCED THAT HIS 42-DAY ABSENCE FROM THE COUNTRY IS A GOOD THING. PRIVATELY, MORE THAN A FEW MEXICANS HAVE EXPRESSED CONCERN AT THE SIZE OF HIS ENTOURAGE (SOME 200-ODD WITH HANGERS-ON), ITS COSTS, ITS DUBIOUS PURPOSES, AND ITS INTERRUPTION OF ONGOING GOVERNMENTAL WORK AT HOME.

2. A FEW BRAVE SOULS HAVE CUTIOUSLY EXPRESSED THEIR MISGIVINGS IN PRINT IN RECENT DAYS, USUALLY IN OBLIQUE FASHION BY UNDER-SCORING PRESSING PROBLEMS WHICH THE PRESIDENT WILL BE LEAVING BEHIND. A NOTABLE EXAMPLE WAS A COLUMN IN INFLUENTIAL "EXCELSIRO" JULY 8 BY SAMUEL DEL VILLAR. WITH DEFT SARCASM; DEL VILLAR:

-- PRESUMES ECHEVERRIA TRIP MUST BE EXTRAORDINARILY IMPORTANT TO MEXICO'S INTERESTS, SINCE OTHERWISE PRESIDENT'S LENGTHY ABSENCE DURING PERIOD OF ECONOMIC DIFFICULTY AND POLITICAL SENSITIVITY WOULD NOT BE JUSTIFIED.

-- DESCRIBES AS "ABSURD" THE NOTION THAT MEXICO FACES ANY SORT OF CRISIS SO SERIOUS THAT IT COULD WEAKEN THE SYSTEM'S STABILITY UNLESS PRESIDENT WERE ON HAND TO DEAL WITH IT.

-- NOTES NEVERTHELESS THAT TRADE DEFICIT HAS BECOME SO SERIOUS THAT EMERGENCY MEASURES MAY SOON BE REQUIRED, AND THAT POLITICALLY THIS PORTION OF EACH PRESIDENT'S TERM (WHEN HIS SUCCESSOR IS CHOSEN) IS FAR AND AWAY THE MOST DELICATE.

-- DISMISSES AS "FRIVOLOUS" THE EXPLANATION THAT THE TRIP'S PURPOSE LIES IN ADVANCING ECHEVERRIA'S CANDIDACY FOR UN SECRETARY GENERALSHIP, OBSERVING THAT THE PRESIDENT HAD HIMSELF ALREADY DISMISSED HIS CHANCES FOR THAT POST.

-- SIMILARLY DOWNPLAYS TRIP'S VALUE IN TERMS OF IMPROVING MEXICO'S IMAGE ABROAD, SINCE PREVIOUS TRIPS HAVE OBVIOUSLY LEFT LITTLE MORE THAN MOST GENERAL IMPRESSION OF THIS COUNTRY'S POLICIES AND PURPOSES.

-- CONCLUDES THAT PRIME JUSTIFICATION MUST LIE IN PROSPECTS FOR CLOSER TIES WITH OPEC COUNTRIES, TIES WHICH REQUIRE THE PERSONAL ATTENTION OF THE PRESIDENT (AND THE MOST EXPENSIVE TRIP TO DATE) TO SOLIDIFY, AND WHICH MIGHT BE EXPECTED TO HELP MEXICO OUT OF ITS CURRENT ECONOMIC DIFFICULTIES.

3. COMMENT: WE CANNOT HELP BUT AGREE WITH DEL VILLAR'S IMPLICATIONS THAT THE PRESIDENT'S SIX-WEEK ABSENCE FROM HIS POST DURING A PERIOD OF GROWING ECONOMIC STRAINS AND INTENSE POLITICAL MANEUVERING SUCH AS THE PRESENT ONE REFLECTS AN ATTITUDE OF SUPREME SELF-CONFIDENCE -- IF NOT OUTRIGHT ARROGANCE.

2. FOLLOWING BACKGROUND MAY BE USEFUL TO POSTS ALONG ROUTE OF ECHEVERRIA'S TRIP. DURING HIS FOUR AND A HALF YEARS AS MEXICO'S PRESIDENT, ECHEVERRIA HAS BROUGHT UNACCUSTOMED ACTIVISM TO GOM FOREIGN RELATIONS AND ATTEMPTED TO INSCRIBE MEXICO FIRMLY AMONG LEADING NATIONS OF THE THIRD WORLD. IN THIS QUEST FOR LEADERSHIP, MEXICAN FOREIGN POLICY HAS BEEN GEARED INCREASINGLY TOWARD PROMOTING THIRD WORLD UNITY IN SUPPORT OF A "NEW INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ORDER." ECHEVERRIA IS ENORMOUSLY PROUD OF HIS INITIATIVE IN PROPOSING THE CHAPTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF STATES (CERDS) AT THE UNCTAD CONFERENCE IN CHILE IN APRIL 1972, AND OF THE LEADING PART TAKEN BY THE GOM IN ITS ADOPTION AT THE UNGA IN DECEMBER 1974. SINCE ITS APPROVAL, HE HAS TIRELESSLY SOUGHT TO PROMOTE THE CHARTER AS THE IDEAL"FRAMEWORK" FOR A NEW INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ORDER.

3. ECHEVERRIA'S THIRD WORLD STANCES AND RHETORIC ARE DESIGNED NOT ONLY TO PUT HIM IN WHAT WE BELIEVES IS THE VANGUARD OF THE MOVEMENT BUT ALSO TO WIN SUPPORT FROM THE NATIONALISTIC AND LEFTIST ELEMENTS WITHIN MEXICO AND DEMONSTRATE GOM INDEPENDENCE OF US INFLUENCE. IN PURSUIT OF THE LATTER, THE GOM IS ACTIVELY SEEKING NEW SOURCES OF TRADE, INVESTMENT AND TEHCNOLOGY TO OFFSET THE CURRENT US PREPONDERANCE IN THESE AREAS(THE US ACCOUNTS FOR TWO-THIRDS OF MEXICO'S TRADE AND 80 PERCENT OF ITS FOREIGN INVESTMENT).

4. THERE HAVE ALSO BEEN NUMEROUS OFFICIAL AND UNOFFICIAL HINTS FROM THE GOM THAT ECHEVERRIA, WHO CANNOT SEEK ANOTHER TERM AS PRESIDENT OF MEXICO WHEN HIS CURRENT TERM EXPIRES IN DECEMBER OF 1976, IS INTERESTED IN HEADING AN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION. BOTH SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UN AND HEAD OF THE FOOD AND AGRICULTURAL ORGANIZATION HAVE BEEN MENTIONED. IN PUBLIC, ECHEVERRIA IS CURRENTLY DOWNPLAYING THIS AS "PREMATURE". NEVERTHELESS, HE HAS INTENSIFIED HIS ALREADY SUBSTANTIAL LEVEL OF ACTIVITIES IN THE FOREIGN RELATIONS SPHERE: SINCE TAKING OFFICE IN 1970, ECHEVERRIA HAS TRAVELLED ABORAD 7 TIMES TO A TOTAL OF 23 NATIONS. HIS CURRENT (8TH) TRIP WILL BE HIS LONGEST IN TERMS OF BOTH DURATION (42 DAYS) AND NUMBER OF NATIONS VISITED (13).

[redacted]

[redacted]

DURING THE LAST TWELVE MONTHS, ECHEVERRIA HAS SUBSTANTIALLY INCREASED THE TEMPO OF FOREIGN VISITS TO MEXICO AND OF INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES HELD HERE.

5. ECHEVERRIA'S TRIPS ABROAD ARE GENERALLY CHARACTERIZED BY AN ARDUOUS SCHEDULE OF HIGHLY VISIBLE ACTIVITY. THE MEXICAN CHIEF OF STATE SEEKS TO CULTIVATE AN IMAGE AS A TIRELESS AND DYNAMIC LEADER. HE LOVES TO HAVE CROWDS TURNED OUT FOR HIM AND TO MEET PEOPLE. IN PARTICULAR, ECHEVERRIA LIKES TO MEET WITH INTELLECTUALS FOR INFORMAL AND GENERALLY ONE-SIDED "DISCUSSIONS" WHICH OCCASIONALLY ARE EMBARRASSING TO HIS HOSTS AND DRAG ON FOR HOURS, DISRUPTING HIS SCHEDULE. ECHEVERRIA'S DISLIKE OF FORMALITY IS LEGEND. NEVERTHELESS, MEXICANS ATTACH CONSIDERABLE IMPORTANCE TO JOINT COMMUNIQUES AND NEGOTITATE TENACIOUSLY TO OBTAIN AGREEMENT ON SUCH PET TOPICS AS CERDS AND NIEO.

6. THE DOMESTIC POLITICAL CONTEXT IN WHICH TRIP TAKES PLACE IS EVE(FOUR MONTHS HENCE) OF PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION. SELECTION(NOT ELECTION) IS ESSENTIALLY CLOSED PROCESS IN WHICH CURRENT RULING ELITE, HEADED BY PRESIDENT, MAKES THE CHOICE. ECHEVERRIA'S ABSENTING HIMSELF FOR 42 DAYS AT THIS TIME REFLECTS CONFIDENCE IN HIS CONTROL OF DOMESTIC SITUATION.

7. AS USUAL PRESIDENT IS TRAVELING WITH HUGE ENTOURAGE, WHICH REPRESENTS MAJOR GOVERNMENTAL, PRIVATE, AND POLITICAL INTERESTS(HOWEVER, NONE OF THREE OPPOSITION PARTIES IS REPRESENTED).

8. REPORTS ON SUBSTANCE AND ATMOSPHERICS OF ECHEVERRIA'S VISITS, AND IN PARTICULAR ANY IMPRESSIONS FROM PRESS OR HOST GOVERNMENT SOURCES OF DYNAMICS AMONG SUPPORTING ACTORS, WOULD BE APPRECIATED.

CHILE

Human Rights

Question: What is the current state of human rights in Chile?

Answer: The Chilean government acknowledges the suspension of many constitutional guarantees because of the threat it perceives from armed extremist elements in Chile. While reaffirming its intent eventually to comply strictly with all of its obligations under international conventions on human rights, it points out that these conventions recognize the prerogative of governments to suspend some of these rights temporarily. While there have been indications of some easing of the more serious restrictions of civil liberties, no real changes have as yet taken place. Government statistics show a downward trend in the number of detainees. The program to release into exile many detainees has been in operation and it has been extended to persons already convicted and serving sentences. New legislation has been enacted for procedural safeguards against arbitrary and unacknowledged detentions, but little change in actual detention practices has been reported. The United Nations Human Rights Commission has formed a Working Group which was planning to visit Chile. This visit was cancelled by the GOC on the grounds that it had uncovered subversive plans to create public alarm and commotion that would make it impossible for the Working Group to fulfill its task adequately. If not admitted later, the Working Group intends to submit a partial report to the UN Secretary General based upon interviews of Chileans residing in New York, Paris, Mexico and Peru.

Question: What is the Executive Branch doing about the human rights situation in Chile?

Answer: Among other things --

-- Ambassador Popper in Santiago and Department officials have repeatedly alerted the Chilean Government to the importance we, the Congress and broad sectors of the American public attach to respect for human rights. We have also transmitted inquiries to the GOC about the welfare and whereabouts of detainees, primarily those having American relatives.

-- We are funding part of the Chile budget of the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), which traces detainees and monitors their treatment.

-- We are also funding part of the budget of the UN High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) for resettlement of third-country refugees and resettlement or integrations of Chilean refugees now in Peru and Argentina. The Attorney General has agreed to exercise his authority under Section 212(D)(5) of the Immigration and Nationality Act to parole into the U.S. a limited number of Chilean refugees in Peru and detainees in Chile eligible for release, subject to security and other screening.

-- We have sought with other members of the United Nations -- in the UN Human Rights Commission, the Economic and Social Council, the General Assembly, UNESCO and the International Labor Organization -- to assure concerned and objective attention to human rights problems in Chile. Depending on their nature, we have supported or abstained on resolutions emanating from these bodies. Our objective has been to encourage a useful dialogue between the UN and Chile rather than politically motivated invective.

-- At the recent OAS General Assembly, Assistant Secretary Rogers forthrightly supported the fact finding efforts of the Inter-American Human Rights Commission and took the position that its findings and recommendations, together with Chilean Government comments, merited the attentive consideration of the OAS.

Question: Why should we aid the government which so flagrantly violates the civil rights of its citizens?

Answer: The intent of our proposals is to help foster conditions leading to economic recovery and normalization, after the severe economic and social dislocation of recent years. Although we have strong preferences for democratic institutions, we recognize that we can neither impose our own political and legal structures on other nations nor sit in judgment on whether internal circumstances may justify the interruption of traditional democratic practice in other countries. There are many ways to express concern about human rights. We do not believe that sanctions such as the withholding of assistance are a desirable or effective method. I might note that the bulk of our assistance is targeted at small farmers, agrarian reform recipients and cooperative members. Spokesmen for the Catholic Church of Chile, whose concern about human rights is not open to question, have expressed oppostión to proposals to deny external assistance to Chile.

SUBJECT: MEETING WITH PRESIDENT PINOCHET ON UNHRC STUDY GROUP

SUMMARY. PRESIDENT JUSTIFIES DECISION ON UNHRC WORKING GROUP; INDICATES BAN ON VISIT NOT NECESSARILY FINAL; SUGGESTS WILLINGNESS RECEIVE "TRULY IMPARTIAL" INVESTIGATIVE GROUP; RECOGNIZES DICISION POSES DIFFICULTIES FOR USG; BUT NEVERTHELESS REQUESTS US ASSISTANCE. END SUMMARY.

1. PRESIDENT PINOCHET ASKED ME TO SEE HIM AT HIS HOME AT 11:30 A.M. TODAY, JULY 10. FONMIN CARVAJAL AND DCM ALSO PRESENT. MEETING LASTED FORTY MINUTES AND WAS CORDIAL THROUGHOUT.

2. PINOCHET BEGAN WITH A JUSTIFICATION OF HIS ACTION IN BANNING VISIT OF UNHRC WORKING GROUP. THIS WAS COUCHED IN NOW FAMILIAR TERMS OF EVIDENCE THAT BY COMMUNIST DESIGN CARDS ARE STACKED AGAINST CHILE IN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS. RECITAL ON THIS POINT INCLUDED ALLEGEDLY IMPROPER TRANSMITTAL TO UN BY OAS HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION SECRETARY REQUE OF INCOMPLETE AND CLASSIFIED REPORT ON CHILE, WITHOUT CHILEAN COMMENTS SUBMITTED THEREON, WHICH SUBSEQUENTLY PUBLISHED BY UN AND NOW SELLING IN US; THE PROCEDURAL IRREGULARITIES IN THE ILO CONDEMNATION OF CHILE AND THE ACTION OF THE MEXICO CITY CONFERENCE ON INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S YEAR; EVIDENCE THAT COMMUNISTS WERE DETERMINED TO UTILIZE WORKING GROUP VISIT, THROUGH STAGED SEEKING OF ASYLUM IN EMBASSIES, DEMONSTRATIONS, ETC., TO PROVOKE GOC REACTIONS WHICH WOULD MAR CHILEAN IMAGE; AND IMPROPER BEHAVIOR OF WORKING GROUP

3. I SAID I COULD APPRECIATE CHILEAN MOTIVATION AND COULD UNDERSTAND AN EMOTIONAL REACTION. HOWEVER, I WONDERED WHETHER COST OF TAKING THIS STEP MIGHT NOT EXCEED COST WHICH GOC FORESAW WAS INVOLVED IN VISIT.

4. PRESIDENT SAID HE HAD CONSIDERED MATTER VERY CAREFULLY AND WAS PERSUADED THAT THE GROUP WOULD CONDEMN GOC IF IT CAME. HE THOUGHT THAT THE VERY ACT OF ACCEPTING THE VISIT OF THIS WORKING GROUP TENDED TO CONVEY AN IMPRESSION THAT ITS IMPARTIALITY WAS LIKEWISE ACCEPTED. IF GROUP THEN CONDEMNED CHILE, AS HE FULLY EXPECTED, CONSEQUENCES WOULD BE WORSE THAN THOSE OF DENYING THE GROUP ENTRY.

5. I SAID THAT PART OF THE PROBLEM WAS THE DRAMATIC IMPACT OF THIS DBRL UJUJ(#)
AFTER CHILE HAD ADMITTED A NUMBER OF OTHER INVESTIGATIVE GROUPS AND HAD AGREED TO ADMIT THIS ONE. IF GROUP CAME AND THEN CONDEMNED CHILE, AND GOC THEN WISHED SAY THERE WAS EVIDENCE THAT IT COULD NOT OBTAIN A FAIR AND IMPARTIAL INVESTIGATION AND WOULD NOT ACCEPT SUCH SUCH GROUPS IN THE FUTURE, THAT WOULD BE ONE POSITION. BUT TO HAVE ACCEPTED THE GROUP AND THEN TO REFUSE ENTRY SEEMED DIFFICULT TO JUSTIFY PUBLICLY IN A CONVINCING WAY. FURTHERMORE, A REPORT ISSUED BY THE STUDY GROUP WITHOUT VISITING CHILE WOULD PROBABLY BE WORSE FOR CHILE THAN ONE ISSUED AFTER A VISIT.

6. PRESIDENT REVERTED TO POINT THAT CHILEAN EXPERIENCE WITH PREVIOUS GROUPS HAD BEEN HIGHLY UNSATISFACTORY. HE WAS PERSUADED IT WAS BETTER TO REFUSE UNHRC GROUP ENTRY THAN TO LEND CREDENCE TO ITS INEVITABLE CONDEMNATION OF CHILE BY PERMITTING IT TO COME.

7. I SAID THAT COL. VALDES, UNDER SECRETARY OF FOREIGN RELATIONS, AND AMB. TRUCCO HAD SEEN ACTING SECRETARY INGERSOLL AND ASST. SEC. ROGERS YESTERDAY. I UNDERSTOOD THAT THE ACTING SECRETARY HAD EXPLAINED THAT WHILE WE HAD MADE EVERY EFFORT TO BE HELPFUL

TO CHILE, INEVITABLY THIS DECISION MADE IT MORE DIFFICULT FOR US TO CONTINUE TO DO SO. THE HOPE HAD BEEN EXPRESSED THAT IT MIGHT BE POSSIBLE TO CONSIDER THE DECISION TAKEN NOT AS A CONCELLATION OF THE VISIT BUT AS A POSTPONEMENT, AND TO WORK TOWARD RESCHEDULING THE VISIT.

8. THE PRESIDENT SAID THAT THE DECISION COULD BE REGARDED AS A POSTPONEMENT RATHER THAN A DEFININTIVE CANCELLATION. POSSIBLY SOMETHING COULD BE DONE TOWARD THE END OF THE YEAR. HE SAID HE WAS NOT OPPOSED TO THE VISIT OF AN IMPARTIAL GROUP;

INDEED HE WOULD WELCOME A VISIT BY TRUSTWORTHY, PRESTIGIOUS "MEN OF GOOD WILL". HE THEN COMMENTED AGAIN ON THE EVIDENCE OF PARTIALITY IN THE BEHAVIOR OF THE WORKING GROUP IN TAKING TESTIMONY BEFORE COMING TO CHILE AND IN PLANNING TO GO TO CARACAS THERAFTER.

9. I SAID I DID NOT FIND IT UNREASONABLE FOR THE GROUP TO TAKE TESTIMONY PRIOR TO ARRIVAL IN CHILE, TO GAIN PERSPECTIVE ON THE PRESENT SITUATION, THOUGH PERHAPS ITS PLAN TO PROCEED TO CARACAS COULD BE CONSIDERED IMPRUDENT. HOWEVER, THESE ITEMS WERE NOT NECESSARILY EVIDENCE THAT IT WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE TO OBTAIN A FAIR HEARING FROM THE WORKING GROUP. OBVIOUSLY THE GROUP WAS NOT GOING TO DEPART SAYING THAT THE SITUATION IN CHILE WAS PERFECT. ON THE OTHER HAND, I THOUGHT IT ENTIRELY POSSIBLE THAT HAVING SEEN THE SITUATION IN CHILE FOR ITSELF, HAVING HAD FREEDOM TO TALK TO DETAINEES AND THE MAN IN THE STREET, AS WELL AS TO GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, IT MIGHT VERY WELL PRODUCE A BALANCED REPORT.

10. THE PRESIDENT LAUGHINGLY SAID THAT I WAS A GOOD ADVOCATE, BUT HE STILL THOUGHT DECISIVE ACTION OF THE KIND HE HAD TAKEN WAS WHAT THE POLITICAL SITUATION AT THE UN REQUIRED. HE NOTED THAT THE US SOMETIMES ACTED DECISIVELY TOO, AND IN HIS OPINION TO VERY GOOD EFFECT. HE RECOGNIZED THE DECISION POSED PROBLEMS FOR US AND OUR RELATIONSHIP WITH CHILE. HE REITERATED THAT CHILE IS AND HAS BEEN A GREATER FRIEND OF THE US THAN THE US IS OF CHILE. HE REMARKED, AS HE HAD WITH ME A FEW DAYS PREVIOUSLY, UPON CHILE'S TRULY DESPERATE PLIGHT IN TERMS OF LACK OF MILITARY SUPPLIES AND SAID HE REALLY DID NOT KNOW WHERE TO TURN. HE EXPRESSED HOPE FOR US UNDERSTANDING AND SUPPORT.

11. I SAID I WOULD BE DEPARTING THIS EVENING ON CONSULTATION IN WASHINGTON AND NATURALLY THESE MATTERS WOULD BE OF TOP PRIORITY IN MY TALKS.

UNCLASSIFIED

12. COMMENT: THE PRESIDENT REALLY HAS NOT PROVIDED ANYTHING NEW IN THE WAY OF JUSTIFICATION FOR HIS ACTION, SAVE POSSIBLE HIS CONCERN THAT CONDEMNATION BY A UNINVESTIGATIVE GROUP WOULD REPRESENT A SERIOUS WATERSHED IN TERMS OF CHILE'S FUTURE IN THE UN AND RELATED AGENCIES, AND POSSIBLY WITH US.

13. THE PRESIDENT NOW TAKES THE POSITION THAT HIS DECISION WAS TO POSTPONE RATHER THAN CANCEL THE VISIT OF THE GROUP. MY IMPRESSION IS THAT POSITION IS MORE FORMAL AND TACTICAL THAN A MATTER OF CONVICTION. BUT IT IS SOMETHING FOR US TO WORK ON.

14. PRESIDENT'S REFERENCE TO THE VISIT OF A TRULY IMPARTIAL GROUP [redacted]

MIGHT LATER CONCEIVABLY PROVIDE A BASIS FOR SOME PROGRESS IN THIS AREA. OF COURSE, WHAT CHILE MOST WANTS IS A PRESTIGIOUS GROUP WHICH WILL JUSTIFY GOC ACTIONS PAST AND PRESENT. THIS IS OBVIOUSLY IMPOSSIBLE TO ACHIEVE. ON THE OTHER HAND, IT MIGHT BE POSSIBLE TO SUGGEST A GROUP SUFFICIENTLY OBJECTIVE TO BE FREE, EVEN IN CHILE'S EYES, OF THE TAINT OF COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OR MANIPULATION AND WHICH WOULD BE WILLING TO CARRY OUT AN INVESTIGATION HERE. ONE POSSIBILITY MIGHT BE A GROUP OF JURISTS SELECTED FROM THE MEMBERSHIP OF THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE, OR SOME SIMILAR GROUP OF UNCOMMITTED PERSONALITIES. THERE WOULD STILL REMAIN, HOWEVER, THE QUESTION OF WHO WOULD CREATE, ORGANIZE AND FINANCE SUCH AN OPERATION. END COMMENT.

SUBJECT: CHILEAN FORMIN SUB SECRETARY'S CALL ON ACTING SECRETARY

1. AMBASSADOR MANUEL TRUCCO, COLONEL ENRIQUE VALDEZ, AND CHEF DE CABINET DEMETRIO INFANTE MET WITH ACTING SECRETARY INGERSOLL LATE AFTERNOON JULY 10. ALSO ATTENDING MEETING WERE UNDERSECRETARY MAW AND DEPUTY ASSISTANT SECRETARY RYAN. VALDEZ CAME TO DELIVER MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT PINOCHET. MESSAGE TURNED OUT TO BE SAME AS STATEMENT CHILE'S PERMREP GAVE TO THE UN SECGEN AND FOREIGN MINISTER CARVAJAL DELIVERED TO OUR AMBASSADOR IN SANTIAGO. IT GIVES REASONS FOR "WITHDRAWAL OF PERMISSION" OF UNHCR WORKING GROUP TO CHILE.

2. VALDEZ WENT ON TO AMPLIFY REASONS WHY PRESIDENT PINOCHET HAD "MOST REGRETFULLY" MADE HIS DECISION. HIS EXPLANATION CLOSELY FOLLOWED STATEMENT. HE FURTHER ALLEGED THAT "MORE THAN 1,000 PERSONS" HAD RECENTLY RETURNED CLANDESTINELY TO CHILE FROM ARGENTINA AND WERE PREPARING TO DISRUPT PUBLIC ORDER. VALDEZ ALSO POINTED

78D14,2426

OUT WORKING GROUP'S "IMPROPRIETY" IN TAKING TESTIMONY FROM CHILEANS IN PARIS, NEW YORK AND LIMA BEFORE GOING TO SANTIAGO. ALSO WORKING GROUP CHAIRMAN ALLANA HAD MADE "DISTORTED" STATEMENTS TO PRESS. VALDEZ CONFIRMED THAT GOC HAD SENT A COMMISSION TO LIMA TO TALK TO GROUP CHAIRMAN ALLANA. THE COMMISSION CARRIED THE PERSONAL INVITATION OF PINOCHET TO VISIT CHILE WHEN CIRCUMSTANCES ARE MORE PROPITIOUS. THESE CONVERSATIONS ARE STILL GOING ON IN LIMA. HE ALLEGED THAT INTERNATIONAL CAMPAIGN IN THE PRESS AND ESPECIALLY IN THE UN BODIES HAD PREJUDICED THE WORKING GROUP. VALDEZ CLOSED BY ASKING THAT CONSIDERATIONS SURROUNDING THE CHILEAN DECISION BE MADE KNOWN TO PRESIDENT FORD.

3. THE ACTING SECRETARY, WHILE NOTING THAT PRESIDENT PINOCHET IS IN BEST POSITION TO JUDGE EVENTS IN CHILE, SAID IT WAS "UNFORTUNATE" THAT VISIT WAS POSTPONED. HE POINTED OUT THAT USG HAD BEEN ABLE TO BE HELPFUL TO CHILE AT OASGA AND PARIS CLUB MEETING PRECISELY BECAUSE OF ANTICIPATED VISIT OF WORKING GROUP. HE FURTHER POINTED OUT THAT HIS DECISION WAS GOING TO CREATE DIFFICULTIES IN CONGRESS WHEN PROPOSED MILITARY AND ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS WERE UNDER CONSIDERATION LATER THIS YEAR. VALDEZ REPLIED THAT DECISION HAD BEEN "DULY PLANNED," AND THAT GOC HAD BEEN AWARE OF CONSEQUENCES. ACTING SECRETARY REPLIED THAT CHILE'S INTERNATIONAL CRITICS, "WILL BE GIVEN MORE AMMUNITION," THAT THE DECISION CREATES DOUBTS ABOUT WHAT THE TRUE SITUATION IN CHILE IS.

4. MR. INGERSOLL THEN ASKED WHAT CONDITIONS MIGHT HAVE TO PREVAIL SO THAT PRESIDENT PINOCHET MIGHT PERMIT THE WORKING GROUP TO COME TO CHILE. VALDEZ REPLIED, "FUNDAMENTALLY, A CHANGE IN THE INTERNATIONAL CLIMATE", BUT A VISIT WAS IMPOSSIBLE NOW. VALDEZ SAID THAT CHILE HAS NOTHING TO HIDE, THAT CHILE WOULD WELCOME VISITS BY DISTINGUISHED U.S. CITIZENS, SUCH AS CONGRESSMEN AND UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS.

5. A DISCUSSION FOLLOWED ON WHAT MIGHT BE DONE TO RECONSTITUTE UNHRC WORKING GROUP AND ON HOW ANOTHER GROUP MIGHT BE SENT IN ITS PLACE. [redacted] IN REPLY TO A QUESTION FROM AMBASSADOR RYAN, AMBASSADOR TRUCCO SAID THAT HE HOPED TO ARRANGE APPOINTMENTS WITH CONGRESSMAN FRASER AND SENATOR MCGEE FOR COL. VALDEZ. IN CLOSING MR. INGERSOLL ASKED

THE CHILEANS TO THINK ABOUT ALTERNATIVES BEFORE THEY CAME TO LUNCH WITH HIM JULY 11.

6. TWO CONCLUSIONS EMERGE AS POSSIBLE EXPLANATIONS OF PINOCHET'S DECISION TO POSTPONE THE UNHRC WORKING GROUP VISIT. THE FIRST IS THAT PINOCHET, WHO ANNOUNCED HIS DECISION DURING ONE OF HIS WORKING TOURS IN THE PROVINCES, MADE UP HIS MIND INDEPENDENTLY WITHOUT CONSULTING THE OTHER MEMBERS OF THE JUNTA OR HIS MINISTERS. PINOCHET IS SENSITIVE TO INTERNATIONAL CRITICISM OF CHILE'S HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES. HE MIGHT HAVE DECIDED THAT CHILE HAD SUFFERED ENOUGH AT THE HANDS OF "TAINTED" INTERNATIONAL GROUPS. THE OTHER, POSSIBILITY, IF INDEED THE DECISION WAS "DULY PLANNED," IS THAT THE GOC NOTED THE WORKING GROUP TAKING TESTIMONY IN PARIS, NEW YORK AND LIMA, AND THEN, IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE VOTE AGAINST CHILE IN THE ILO AND THE WOMEN'S CONFERENCE IN MEXICO, DECIDED THAT THE GROUP WOULD WRITE AN UNFAVORABLE REPORT. BASED ON THIS ASSUMPTION, ALONG WITH THE NEAR CERTAINTY THAT DISSIDENT LEFT WING GROUPS WOULD DO ALL IN THEIR POWER TO EMBARRASS THE GOC DURING THE GROUP'S VISIT, THE PRESIDENT TOOK THE ADVICE OF THE HARD LINERS IN THE GOC THAT IT WOULD BE BETTER TO PUT OFF THE VISIT AND TAKE THE CONSEQUENCES RATHER THAN TAKE THE CONSEQUENCES OF STILL ANOTHER UNFAVORABLE REPORT FROM AN INTERNATIONAL GROUP. REGARDLESS OF THE REASON, THE GOC'S ACTION HAS MADE FAVORABLE CONSIDERATION OF CHILE DURING CONGRESSIONAL DEBATE ON THIS YEAR'S FAA AND IN INTERNATIONAL FORA MUCH MORE DIFFICULT IF NOT IMPOSSIBLE. 44

The Acting Secretary opened the conversation asking about the planned Congressional contacts which Ambassador Trucco had mentioned at the Wednesday meeting. Trucco replied that he had been in touch with Congressman Fraser's staff but the Congressman had been unable to find time to see him and Under Secretary Valdez. Trucco said that he had nevertheless had a long, substantive conversation with the Congressman's Administrative Assistant, John Salzburg, in which he had put forth the Chilean position on the UNHRC Working Group situation. Attempts to arrange a meeting with Senators McGee and Stone had likewise not been successful. The Ambassador affirmed his intention to continue his efforts with Congress upon his return from San Jose at the end of the month.

Mr. Ingersoll then stated that after a full review of the situation he wanted the Chilean Government to clearly understand that he could see no chance of resuming military sales to Chile at this time under the present circumstances. He expressed the earnest hope that President Pinochet might review the situation, reconsider his decision and renew the invitation for the UNHRC Working Group to go to Chile. He also emphasized the hope that this might take place sooner than later.

Ambassador Trucco did not reply directly to the Acting Secretary's statement but rather launched into a long discussion of the biased nature of the Working Group, and its selection process.

He also discussed at length the GOC intention to invite U.S. congressmen and public figures to go to Chile in order to see the true state of human rights there.

Finally referring back to the Acting Secretary's statement Trucco pointed out that President Pinochet had stated on July 4 that the visit of the UNHRC group had been put off "until a more propitious occasion" and that it would not be realistic to think of anything happening in so short a time which could be interpreted as a sufficient change in the situation to justify renewing the invitation to the Working Group. At this juncture he reiterated the desire of the GOC to encourage the visit of as many people and groups as possible in order to demonstrate that Chile is an open country and an open society. At the same time he reiterated the fact that the situation was such that a visit of the UNHRC Working Group would not be possible this soon after the President's withdrawal of the invitation.

Trucco then described GOC plans to host a meeting of the Latin American Conference of Municipalities in October. This will involve delegations from all of Latin America, Spain and the Phillipines. The Mayoress of Santiago is presently travelling around the continent extending invitations and they are hopeful of attracting a large number of delegates and feel this will have a positive impact on Latin American public opinion. He asked for State Department assistance in extending an official invitation to the American League of Municipalities to send delegates or observers to this Conference. He also indicated his intention to invite U.S. senators and congressmen to the conference or to come to Chile either in groups or individually to observe the state of human rights.

Assistant Secretary Rogers suggested that the Ambassador see the Chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Sparkman, about the possibility of inviting members of the Committee or its staff to Chile, a suggestion which Trucco eagerly embraced.

The Ambassador then described his plans to sponsor high-level academic seminar on "An International View of Chile" to which he hoped to invite a group of prestigious university figures including the Presidents of MIT and Columbia University.

There ensued a discussion of the unjustified bias against Chile in the U.S. academic community. This led Trucco to review in considerable detail the history of the condemnation of Chile in various international fora including the ILO, the OAS, the International Commission of Jurists and the International Women's Conference in Mexico. He also described the absurdity of the recent election of Cuba to the UN Human Rights Commission.

Ambassador Popper indicated that while all this may be true there is the fact that the UNHRC Working Group is presently seized of the Chile situation and will be presenting two reports - a preliminary one to the UNGA in September and a final report to the UNHRC in February. He made the point that these reports will certainly be more condemnatory of Chile without the possibility of a Working Group visit to Chile than with such a visit.

Trucco countered with what he termed "the reality of the July 7 decision" which to him meant that action plans must be made on the basis of what can be done in light of the decision and not on what might have been more appropriate.

The Acting Secretary offered the assistance of the Department in encouraging Congressional visits to Chile.

Mr. Rogers asked about the status of a planned visit to the US by GOC Minister of Justice Miguel Sweitzer, a project which he had discussed with Trucco prior to the withdrawal of the UNHRC invitation.

Trucco stated that he still hoped that such a visit could be arranged to coincide with the American Bar Association Convention in August.

Mr. Maw pointed out that the Convention would be held in Montreal this year. Trucco indicated that he intended to follow through on this visit.

The discussion then turned to the UNHRC Working Group and a possible rescheduling and readjustment in makeup. Ambassador Popper observed that from his experience with the UN it would not be possible to change the composition of the Group. However it was agreed that changes in modalities (particularly the inclusion of GOC rebuttals in any printed reports) should be considered. Also a clearer definition of the Working Group's terms of reference would be desirable.

The Acting Secretary again reiterated his concern over the "loss of momentum" toward a better international understanding of the Chilean situation and again expressed hope that the situation could be turned around promptly.

Mr. Maw stressed the need for "on the spot" observers to report on their findings in order to dispel the almost overwhelming negative impact of the withdrawal of the invitation.

The Acting Secretary then excused himself to attend to other pressing business.

Discussion after his departure centered on the need to act within a compressed time framework, further mention of the need to involve the US Congress and a final reprise of rationale of Pinochet's action by Ambassador Trucco.

SAN JOSE CONFERENCE. THE COMMUNIQUE READS AS FOLLOWS:
" ON THE EVE OF THE CONFERENCE OF THE PLENIPOTENTIARIES FOR THE REFORM OF THE INTER-AMERICAN TREATY OF RECIPROCAL ASSISTANCE WHICH IS TO BE HELD IN SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA JULY 16, THE MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS EXPRESSES THE FOLLOWING:

"(1) THIS MEETING HAS AS ITS EXCLUSIVE OBJECTIVE THE ADOPTION OF DECISIONS ON THE AMENDMENTS PRESENTED TO SAID TREATY; ADJUST AND COORDINATE THE TEXTS AND PREPARE THE PROTOCOL OF REFORM OF THE INTER-AMERICAN TREATY OF RECIPROCAL ASSISTANCE AND ACCEDE TO IT.

"ALL OF THIS AS PART OF THE PROCESS OF REFORM OF THE INTER-AMERICAN SYSTEM BEGUN IN APRIL 1973.

"(2) WHATEVER OTHER MATTER WHICH WOULD BE BROUGHT UP, THEREFORE, IS OUTSIDE OF THE PURPOSE OF THE MEETING AND, THEREFORE, COULD NOT BE A SUBJECT TO BE CONSIDERED.

"(3) THE AMENDMENTS TO THE INTER-AMERICAN RECIPROCAL ASSISTANCE TREATY WHICH MAY BE ADOPTED IN SAN JOSE WILL COME INTO EFFECT WHEN THOSE AMENDMENTS HAVE BEEN RATIFIED BY THE MAJORITY OF THE MEMBER STATES WHICH MAY BE ESTABLISHED IN THE PROTOCOL AMENDMENT. UNTIL THEN THE AMENDMENTS DO NOT CONSTITUTE A JURIDICAL BASIS FOR THE ADOPTION OF DECISIONS.
"(4) TAKING INTO CONSIDERATION THE CHARACTER OF THE MEETING, THE GOVERNMENT OF URUGUAY HAS MADE UP ITS DELEGATION TO THIS EVENT WITH THOSE SPECIALISTS IN THE SUBJECT WHO HAVE PARTICIPATED IN PREVIOUS STUDIES IN THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO STUDY THE INTER-AMERICAN SYSTEM AND PROPOSE MEASURES FOR RESTRUCTURING IT."

3. IN A BRIEF STATEMENT TO REPORTERS, FOREIGN MINISTER BLANCO REPORTEDLY SAID "THE URUGUAYAN POSITION IS MADE UP OF VARIOUS POINTS. PRINCIPALLY WE MAINTAIN THAT THE MEETING IN SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA WAS CALLED TO CONSIDER A VERY PRECISE SUBJECT WHICH IS THE REFORM OF THE INTER-AMERICAN SYSTEM OR, MORE CORRECTLY, OF THE TREATY OF RECIPROCAL ASSISTANCE OF RIO DE JANEIRO. THEREFORE, THERE MUST ONLY BE ANALYZED THE PLANS AND DOCUMENTS RELATIVE TO THE REFORMS AND THE INCLUSION OF ANY OTHER SUBJECT IS NOT IN ACCORDANCE WITH LAW. THE MEETING HAS BEEN CONVOKED FOR A SUBJECT AND IT MUST BE CONFINED TO THAT." BLANCO ALSO SAID: "THE [redacted]

URUGUAYAN GOVERNMENT BELIEVES THAT WHAT IS AGREED TO IN SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA, CONCERNING REFORM OF THE REFERRED TREATY, WILL ENTER INTO FORCE WHEN THE COUNTRIES OF THE OAS RATIFY THE REFORMS IN ACCORDANCE WITH RATIFICATION PROCEDURES. THE DESIRE TO GIVE IMMEDIATE EFFECT TO WHATEVER RESOLUTION WITHOUT WAITING FOR RATIFICATION, WE BELIEVE HAS NO JURIFICIAL VALIDITY." FINALLY THE MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS SAID THAT WITH THE UNDERSTANDING THAT THE MEETING WILL ONLY CONSIDER ASPECTS OF THE REFORM OF THE TREATY, THE GOU WOULD ONLY SEND A DELEGATION TO ANALYZE THOSE SUBJECTS.

4. GOU HAS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED THAT ITS DELEGATION WILL BE HEADED BY AMBASSADOR TO OAS MATEO MARQUES SERE. OTHER DELEGATES REPORTED REF C ARE CONFIRMED, AS WELL.

5. COMMENT. FOREIGN MINISTER BLANCO INFORMED AMABSSADOR OF THE ABOVE SEVERAL HOURS BEFORE RELEASE.THE PETITION IS CONSISTENT WITH URUGUAY'S ROLE UP TO NOW AND CONTAINS NO SURPRISES. BLANCO WAS VERY STRONG IN EXPRESSING THE VIEW THAT ANY MANEUVER DESIGNED TO SUBSTITUTE FOR FORMAL RATIFICATION ACCORDING TO ESTABLISHED TREATY PROCUDURES WOULD NOT BE JURIDICIALLY CORRECT OR ACCEPTABLE TO URUGUAY. WE CAN EXPECT, THEREFORE, STRONG OPPOSITION BY URUGUAY TO THE KINDS OF "FREEDOM OF ACTION" DEVICES, ETC. WHICH ARE BEING TALKED ABOUT TO DEAL IN SAN JOSE WITH THE SANCTIONS ISSUE.

FOR THIRD WORLD UNITY IN CREATING NEW INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ORDER (NIEO) AND COOPERATION IN ARRESTING DETERIORATION IN TERMS OF TRADE. ECHEVERRIA WAS PRAISED PUBLICLY AS INITIATOR OF CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES. HOWEVER, IN PRIVATE, SOME SENEGALESE LEADERS EXPRESSED FEELING HE WAS TRYING TOO HARD TO CATAPULT HIMSELF TO THIRD WORLD LEADERSHIP POSITION. END SUMMARY

2. WHILE IN SENEGAL PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA AND HIS ENTOURAGE HAD MEETINGS WITH GOS OFFICIALS, ATTENDED LUNCH GIVEN BY PRESIDENT SENGHOR, VISITED INDUSTRIES AND TECHNOLOGICAL INSTITUTES IN DAKAR AREA, VISITED VARIOUS MUSEUMS AND MADE SIDE TRIP TO GOREE ISLAND FROM WHERE MANY SLAVES LEFT AFRICA FOR WESTERN HEMISPHERE YEARS AGO. ECHEVERRIA REQUESTED TOUR OF TYPICAL SENEGALESE MARKET WHICH HE FOUND SIMILAR TO MARKETS IN MEXICO. HE LATER RELATED HIS VISIT THERE TO NEED FOR COUNTRIES SUCH AS MEXICO AND SENEGAL TO DEVELOP THEIR OWN ECONOMIC SYSTEMS BASED ON THEIR OWN TRADITIONS WITHOUT ASSUMING FOREIGN WAYS ALWAYS BEST.

3. IN TOAST MADE AT LUNCH FOR PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA, PRESIDENT SENGHOR PRAISED COURAGEOUS POSITION ECHEVERRIA TOOK IN FORMULATING CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES. HE DWELT AT LENGTH ON COMMON PROBLEMS FACING MEXICO AND SENEGAL IN STRUGGLE AGAINST IMPERIALISM OF GREAT POWERS. HE STRESSED NEED FOR THIRD WORLD SOLIDARITY AND NOTED THAT MEXICO BY ITS SIZE, POLITICAL TRADITION, AND ACTION OF ITS PRESIDENT HAD BECOME A MOVING FORCE IN LATIN AMERICA, THE THIRD CONTINENT OF THIRD WORLD.

4. ECHEVERRIA REPLIED BY ALSO UNDERLINING NECESSITY FOR COOPERATION AMONG NATIONS OF THIRD WORLD. ECHEVERRIA STRESSED THAT PRODUCERS OF FOOD ON LARGE SCALE SHOULD NOT ONLY PRODUCE FOR THEIR OWN NEEDS AND IN EXPECTATION OF COMMERCIAL PROFIT, BUT WITH VIEW TOWARDS CREATION OF FOOD RESERVES FOR ALL HUMANITY. HE SAID NOTHING COULD BE MORE SHAMEFUL THAN TO USE FOOD AID AS NEW ELEMENT OF DOMINATION. PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA IN HIS REMARKS ALSO WELCOMED INDEPENDENCE OF PORTUGUESE TERRITORIES, CONDEMNED APARTHIED, ILLEGAL OCCUPATION OF NAMIBIA AND DENIAL OF POLITICAL RIGHTS IN [redacted]

RHODESIA. HE MADE SPECIAL POINT OF ANNOUNCING THAT UNIVERSITY OF THIRD WORLD AND INSTITUTE OF THIRD WORLD HAD BEEN OPENED IN MEXICO CITY.

5. IN PRESS CONFERENCE HELD JOINTLY WITH PRESIDENT SENGHOR, PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA CALLED FOR ACCELERATING PACE TOWARDS NIEO. ON SUBJECT OF CUBA, HE AVERRED THAT AT COSTA RICAN MEETING OF OAS, MEXICO WOULD PROPOSE THAT DECISION WITH REGARD TO RELATIONS WITH CUBA SHOULD BE TAKEN BY SIMPLE RATHER THAN TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY VOTE. HE SAID MEXICO NOT YET MEMBER OF OPEC BECAUSE IT HAD NOT BEEN OFFICIALLY INVITED AND WAS NOT YET LARGE PETROLEUM EXPORTER. AFTER HISTORICAL REVIEW OF US-AMERICAN RELATIONS AND US-MEXICAN WAR OF CENTURY AGO, ECHEVERRIA NOTED THAT EXPANSION OF US HAD NOT BEEN ONLY WESTWARD BUT SOUTHWARD. INVADERS OF MEXICO, FRENCH OR ANGLO-SAXON, HE CONTINUED, HAD ALWAYS BENEFITED FROM COMPLICITY OF MEXICAN BOURGEOISIE. HE SAID THAT IS WHY MEXICO DECIDED TO TURN TOWARDS OTHER COUNTRIES IN PARTICULAR TOWARDS THIRD WORLD.

6. JOINT COMMUNIQUE SIGNED BY TWO PRESIDENTS SAID CONSTRUCTION OF NIEO SHOULD BE ON BASIS OF PRINCIPLES ENUNCIATED IN CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES. IT TOO CALLED FOR LDC SOLIDARITY AND COOPERATION ON RAW MATERIALS. IT SAID THAT PEACE IN WORLD MUST BE FACILITATED BY DIALOGUE AND DETENTE. SERIOUS PROBLEMS HAD TO BE RESOLVED WITH HELP OF ALL COUNTRIES, AND THIRD WORLD COUNTRIES SHOULD HAVE A GREATER ROLE THAN HITHERTO. TWO CHIEFS OF STATE BELIEVED STRICT MEASURES NEED TO BE TAKEN WORLDWIDE AND URGENTLY TO BRING ABOUT GENERAL AND TOTAL DISARMAMENT. ON BILATERAL COOPERATION, TWO PRESIDENTS NOTED NEW ACCORDS (1) CREATING A JOINT COMMISSION OF COOPERATION, (2) ESTABLISHING COOPERATION ON MATTERS OF TOURISM, AND (3) PROVIDING FOR COPRODUCTION OF MOVIES. CULTURAL EXCHANGE PROGRAMS WERE ALSO APPROVED AND IT WAS AGREED THAT SENEGAL WOULD SEND MISSION TO MEXICO TO STUDY ECONOMIC AND COMMERCIAL COOPERATION, AGRICULTURE, STOCK-RAISING, FOOD TECHNOLOGY, WATER MANAGEMENT AND IRRIGATION.

SUBJECT: SAN JOSE CONFERENCE (CUBA) - MEXICAN RESOLUTION

REF: SAN JOSE 2923 ~ SHOULD BE 2932

FOR USDEL TO SAN JOSE MEETING

SUMMARY: EXCEPT FOR THE QTE DESIRING UNQTE PARAGRAPH AND THE WORD, QTE NORMALIZE, UNQTE IN THE PENULTIMATE PARAGRAPH, MEXICAN TEXT IS ACCEPTABLE, BUT YOU SHOULD AVOID COMMITMENT TO CO-SPONSOR AT THIS TIME. END SUMMARY

1. PRESENT QTE DESIRING UNQTE PARAGRAPH GIVES US THE FOLLOWING PROBLEMS:

A. WE DO NOT ACCEPT THE NOTION THAT THE APPLICATION OF THE RIO TREATY IMPOSES QTE LIMITATIONS ON THE SOVEREIGN POWERS OF THE STATES PARTY. UNQTE PARTNERSHIP IN THE

[redacted]

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

TREATY AND ACCEPTANCE OF ITS OBLIGATIONS ARE SOVEREIGN ACTS.

B. DO YOU THINK THIS PARAGRAPH WOULD BE INTERPRETED TO COVER ALL SANCTIONS IMPOSED AGAINST CUBA RATHER THAN JUST THOSE IMPOSED BY RESOLUTION I OF THE 9TH MFM (SUSPENSION OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS, TRADE, AND TRANSPORTATION)? AS WRITTEN, THE PARAGRAPH APPEARS TO EMBRACE ALSO THE 8TH MFM (1962) RESOLUTIONS WHICH PROVIDED THE BASIS FOR THE EXCLUSION OF CUBA FROM THE OAS SYSTEM AND THE IADB, AND PROHIBITED ARMS TRADE WITH CUBA.

C. THE CLOSING PHRASE, QTE WHICH NO LONGER HAVE THE SUPPORT OF THE TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY ORIGINALLY REQUIRED TO ADOPT THEM, UNQTE DOES NOT, IN OUR VIEW, NECESSARILY FOLLOW FROM A VOTE BY THE MAJORITY TO AMEND ARTICLE 17. IT IMPLIES THAT SANCTIONS SHOULD NOT BE MAINTAINED WHEN THERE IS NO LONGER TWO-THIRDS MAJORITY SUPPORT FOR THEM, WHICH IS NOT CONSISTENT WITH THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE 17.

2. IF THE PRESENT QTE DESIRING UNQTE PARAGRAPH IS DROPPED, WE CAN ACCEPT THE ALTERNATIVE LANGUAGE ALREADY PROPOSED BY THE MEXICANS. OTHERWISE, WE HOPE THE PARAGRAPH COULD BE REVISED AS FOLLOWS:

QTE DESIRING TO ELIMINATE THE LIMITATIONS IMPOSED ON THE STATES PARTY TO THE RIO TREATY BY RESOLUTION I OF THE 9TH MFM, APPROVED IN ACCORDANCE WITH ARTICLES 8, 17, AND 20 OF SAID TREATY. UNQTE.

3. WE WOULD LIKE TO REPLACE QTE NORMALIZE UNQTE IN PENULTIMATE PARAGRAPH WITH QTE DETERMINE UNQTE OR QTE ESTABLISH UNQTE, SINCE EITHER IS MORE CONSISTENT WITH NOTION THAT STATES SHOULD BE FREE TO ACT AS THEY SEE FIT, AND WOULD LEAVE US A SOMEWHAT STRONGER LEGAL BASIS FOR CONTINUING OUR BILATERAL SANCTIONS POLICY.

4. ALSO WE WONDER TO WHAT DEGREE YOU THINK THE PRESENT WORDING OF THIS PARAGRAPH, TAKEN IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE PRESENT QTE DESIRING UNQTE PARAGRAPH, MIGHT IMPLY INVITATION TO READMIT CUBA TO OAS PARTICIPATION. WOULD

[redacted]

[redacted]

IT BE PREFERABLE TO BEGIN THIS PARAGRAPH, QTE TO LEAVE EACH STATE PARTY TO THE RIO TREATY FREE TO ... UNQTE?

5. FINALLY, WE HOPE QUESTION OF CO-SPONSORSHIP CAN BE DEFERRED AT THIS TIME PENDING YOUR FURTHER ASSESSMENT OF THE NEED FOR IT. IN GENERAL, OUR VIEW IS THAT TO CO-SPONSOR WOULD PUT US IN A MORE ACTIVIST STANCE THAN WE WANT TO ASSUME- WE HOPE EITHER THAT MEXICANS COULD FIND 14 CO-SPONSORS WITHOUT INCLUDING US OR THAT THEY MIGHT AGREE TO PRESENT THE PROPOSAL ON THE BASIS OF ASSURANCES SHORT OF CO-SPONSORSHIP. BASED ON YOUR RECOMMENDATIONS WE WOULD REVIEW THIS POSITION IF CO-SPONSORSHIP WERE THE ONLY WAY TO GET THIS OR A SIMILAR RESOLUTION CONSIDERED. KISSINGER

REF: A) STATE 95205; B) DAKAR 3474; C) DAKAR 3505; D) DAKAR 4129 (NOTAL)

1. IN TOAST GIVEN DURING LUNCHEON FOR MEXICAN PRESIDENT LUIS ECHEVERRIA, PRESIDENT SENGHOR STATED HIS VIEWS ON CONVENING SECOND CONSUMERS PRODUCERS MEETING WHICH HE REFERRED TO AS PARIS CONFERENCE.

2. PRESIDENT SAID: QUOTE OF COURSE WE WOULD NOT OPPOSE PROJECT OF CREATING THREE COMMISSIONS WHICH WOULD STUDY EACH ELEMENT OF PROBLEM SEPARATELY. NOR WOULD WE OPPOSE BEGINNING THE SPECIAL CONFERENCES WITH (ONE ON) ENERGY, WHICH PARTICULARLY INTERESTS THE DEVELOPED COUNTRIES. WHAT WE HAVE ASKED, WHICH IS RATIONAL, AND EFFECTIVE, IS THAT WHEN THE PARIS CONFERENCE RECONVENES, IT BEGIN WITH A GENERAL DISCUSSION ON RAW MATERIALS, A DISCUSSION WHICH WOULD LEAD TO THE DEFINITION OF CERTAIN BASIC PRINCIPLES. IF THEY DO NOT WANT TO GIVE US THIS SATISFACTION, WHICH IS LEGITIMATE BECAUSE IT IS MORAL, TO TWO-THIRDS OF HUMANITY, I DO NOT SEE HOW WE CAN AVOID CONFRONTATION. UNQUOTE

3. COMMENT: SENGHOR'S POSITION THUS SEEMS TO BE IN ACCORD WITH THAT GIVEN BY YOUSSOUPH SYLLA, CABINET DIRECTOR IN FOREIGN MINISTRY IN HIS EARLIER DISCUSSION WITH AMBASSADOR (REFTEL B) AND COUNTER TO US POSITION IN THAT IT STRESSED PRIOR AGREEMENT ON THEORETICAL PRINCIPLES RATHER THAN CONCENTRATION ON ACHIEVABLE, PRACTICAL SOLUTIONS. THERE COULD BE SOME COMMON GROUND, HOWEVER, IF BY BASIC PRINCIPLES SENGHOR DOES NOT NECESSARILY MEAN THOSE SET FORTH IN NEW INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ORDER OR CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES.

4. AMBASSADOR HAS MEETING WITH PRESIDENT SENGHOR EVENING JULY 19 AND COULD RAISE QUESTION OF RAW MATERIALS AND PARIS CONFERENCE. WOULD APPRECIATE RECEIVING ANY GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT MAY WISH TO PROVIDE BEFORE THAT MEETING.

1. SUMMARY: DE LA COLINA OF MEXICO HAS CIRCULATED A SECOND DRAFT OF HIS RESOLUTION ON CUBA. IT REFLECTS SUGGESTIONS MADE BY VARIOUS DELEGATIONS, INCLUDING OURS. CASTILLO ARRIOLA OF GUATEMALA IS PUSHING HARD TO GET A BRIEF DELAY AND A DIFFERENT VENUE TO APPROVE THE FREEDOM OF ACTION FORMULA. (USDEL 006) INSTRUCTIONS REQUESTED. END SUMMARY.

2. DE LA COLINA HAS DISCUSSED HIS DRAFT RESOLUTION ON FREEDOM OF ACTION ON CUBA WITH ALARGE NUMBER OF DELEGATIONS HERE AND HAS MADE ANUMBER OF DELETIONS AND CHANGES WHICH HE BELIVES WILL MAKE IT MORE GENERALLY ACCEPTABLE. THE FOLLOWING IS OUR TRANSLATION FROM SPANISH OF THE REVISED DRAFT:

3. QUOTE: THE XVI MEETING OF CONSULTATION OF MINISTERS OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS SERVING AS ORGAN OF CONSULTATION, UNDER THE RIO TREATY,

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

THAT THE MEMBER STATES PARTY TO THE RIO TREATY HAVE RENWED THEIR ADHERENCE TO THE PRINCIPLES OF SOLIDARITY AND INTER--AMERICAN COOPERATION, NON-INTERVENTION AND RECIPROCAL ASSISTANCE SET FORTH IN THE RIO TREATY AND THE CHARTER OF THE ORGANIZATION, AND

DESIRING

TO PROMOTE INTER-AMERICAN RELATIONS IN THE BROADEST MANNER POSSIBLE;

RESOLVES

I. TO SOLEMNLY REAFFIRM THE PRINCIPLE OF NON-INTERVENTION AND TO URGE THE STATES PARTY TO WATCH OVER LHKQUE VELEN) ITS OBSERVANCE IN THE HEMISPHERE, IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE CHARTER OF THE ORGANIZATION, TO WHICH END THEY PROCLAIM ONCE AGAIN THEIR SOLIDARITY AND REITERATE THEIR WILL FOR CONSTANT COOPERATION WITH THE AIM OF REALIZING FULLY THE PURPOSES OF A PLICY OF PEACE;

II. TO LEAVCTHE STATES PARTY TO THE RIO TREATY FREE TO CONDUCT, UNILATERALLY AND ACCORDING TO THE NATIONAL POLICIES AND INTERESTS OF EACH ONE, THEIR RELATIONS WITH THE REPUBLIC OF CUBA AT THE LEVEL AND IN THE MANNER THAT EACH STATE MAY CONSIDER APPROPRIATE, AND

III. TO TRANSMIT TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL OF THE UNITED NATIONS THE TEXT OF THIS RESOLUTION. END QUOTE.

4. DE LA COLINA HAS MADE UNEQUIVOCALLY CLEAR THAT HE DOES NOT PLAN TO TAKE ANY ACTION ON CUBA UNLESS HE HAS AT LEAST FOURTEEN CO-SPONSORS, THE TWO-THRIDS MAJORITY REQUIRED FOR SUCCESS. HE AHS BEEN EQUALLY FORTHRIGHT IN SAYING THAT TUE U.S. MUST BE AMONG THE FOURTEEN CO-SPONSORS.

5. AMBASSADOR MAILLIARD HAS TOLD DE LA COLINA THAT HE WOULD TENTATIVELY AGREE TO U.S. CO-SPONSORSHIP PROVIDED THERE ARE THIRTEEN OTHER CO-SPONSORS AND PROVIDED HE COULD OBTAIN AUTHORIZATION FROM WASHINGTON.

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

6. DESPITE SOME OPPOSITION MENTIONED IN USDEL 006, GUATEMALA'S PROPOSAL TO DEAL FINALLY WITH THE SANCTIONS IS STILL VERY MUCH ALIVE. CASTILLO ARRIOLA HAS TOLD DE LA COLINA THE SAME THING HE TOLD US, I.E., THAT GUATEMALA WOULD PQUE IN FAVOR OF A FREZQOM OF ACTION FORMULA IF IT IS DEALT WITH IN A SEPARATE MEETING IN A COUPLE OF WEEKS.

7. OUR SOUNDINGS WITH BOLIVIA AND BRZIL HERE INDICATE THAT THEY TOO MIGHT BE GROUGHT AROUND TO VOTING IN FAVOR OF FREEDOM OF ACTION IN A SEPARATE MEETING SOON AFTER THE SAN JOSE CONFERENCE IS OVER, AT A DIFFERENT PLACE.

8. DE LA COLINA'S CURRENT THINKING IS, PROVIDED ALL GOES WELL WITH HIS DRAFT RESOLUTION, TO HAVE THE PERMANENT COUNCIL MEET HERE IN SAN JOSE. THE COUNCIL WOULD DEAL WITH ONLY ONE ITEM; IT WOULD CONVOKE A MEETING OF THE ORGAN OF CONSULTATION AT A GIVEN PLACE AND TIME FOR THE SOLE PURPOSE OF VOTING ON THE FREEDOM OF ACTION RESOLUTION (WHICH WOULD OF COURSE HAVE ENOUGH SPONSORS TO ASSURE APPROVAL).

9. COMMENT: THE MOOD HERE IS GOOD, BOTH WITH RESPECT TO THE AMENDMENT OF THE TREATY AND ON CUBA. PERU AND MEXICO, OUR CHIEF ANTAGONISTS IN THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE, HAVE BOTH GONE OUT OF THE WAY TO COOPERATE WITH US IN AN EFFORT TORESOLVE SOME OF THE PROBLEMS WE HAVE WITH THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE DRAFT OF THE TREATY AMENDMENTS. OUR OBVIOUS GOOD WILL ON THE CUBA QUESTION HAS BEEN CRUCIAL IN SECURING THIS COOPERATION.

10. WE ARE NOT ENCOURAGING THE GUATEMALAN PROPOSAL, BUT WE TEND TO THINK IT WOULD BE WORTHWHILE TO GO ALONG WITH IT IF IT MEANS APPROVAL BY 16 OR 17 VOTES RATHER THAN A MERE 14.

11. ACTION. REQUEST AUTHORITY, IF CONSENSUS DEVELOPS,

A. TO CO-SPONSOR MEXICAN RSSOLUTION PROVIDED AND ONLY PROVIDED THERE ARE AT LEAST THIRTEEN OTHER CO-SPONSORS.

B. TO AGREE TO THE GUATEMALAN PROPOSAL TO CALL A MEETING OF THE PERMANENT COUNCIL HERE IN SAN CSE TO CONVOKE THE ORGAN QD CONSULTATION UNDER THE RIO TREATY LJB A SPECIFIED TIME AND PLACE (ROUGHLY TWO WEEKS, PROBABLY IN TRINIDAD) FOR THE SOLE PURPOSE OF ADOPTING THE MEXICAN REENOLUTION CO-SPONSORED BY FOURTEEN OR MORE STATE SIVFATORY TO THE RIONBREATY.

SUBJECT: SAN JOSE CONFERENCE

1. CUBA WAS STILL FRONT AND CENTER JULY 16, THOUGH WITH THE FORMAL OPENING OF THE CONFERENCE DELEGATES BEGAN TO SETTLE DOWN TO THE WORDADAY BUSINESS OF AMENDING THE RIO TREATY.

2. THE IDEA THAT THE 14 VOTES REQUIRED TO APPROVE A FREEDOM OF ACTION FORMULA IS PROBABLY AVAILABLE HAS BEGUN TO SINK HOME TO SOME OF THE RELUCTANT DELEGATIONS. AMBASSADOR CASTILLO ARRIOLA APPROACHED US TO SAY THAT GUATEMALA IS NOT YET PREPARED TO VOTE FOR FREEDOM OF ACTION AT SAN JOSE, BUT WOULD SUPPORT IT IF A SEPARATE CONFERENCE WERE TO BE HELD TEN DAYS OR TWO WEEKS AFTER THE CLOSE OF THIS CONFERENCE. CASTILLO'S ARGUMENT WAS THAT IF WE SHOULD MOVE DIRECTLY FROM AMENDMENT OF THE RIO TREATY TO THE CUBA QUESTION HERE, IT WOULD DETRACT FROM THE IMPORTANT WORK DONE ON RIO TREATY REFORM AND INDEED WOULD LEAD TO INTERPRETATIONS THAT THE WHOLE REFORM EFFORT HAD BEEN A COVER TO DEAL WITH THE CUBA PROBLEM. CASTILLO SAID HE HAD TALKED WITH BOLIVIAN AMBASSADOR

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

SANZ AND BELIEVED THAT BOLIVIA WOULD FOLLOW GUATEMALA'S LEAD ON SUPPORTING A FREEDOM OF ACTION FORMULA AT A LATER DATE.

3. WE PROMISED TO TRANSMIT GUATEMALA'S VIEWS TO WASHINGTON. DE LA COLINA OF MEXICO, WHO IS STILL THE QUARTERBACK ON THIS MATTER, SAID THAT HE WAS RECEPTIVE TO GUATEMALA'S APPEAL, SINCE HE WAS DESIROUS OF GETTING AS LARGE A MAJORITY AS POSSIBLE FOR HIS INITIATIVE, AND A FEW DAYS WOULD HARDLY MATTER. HE SUGGESTED TRINIDAD AS A GOOD PLACE TO HOLD A MEETING SOMETIME IN AUGUST. HE SAID, HOWEVER, AND WE AGREED, THAT NOTHING SHOULD BE DONE ON THIS WITHOUT THE APPROVAL OF FACIO, WHOSE VIEWS WE DO NOT YET HAVE. THE CHIEFS OF THE COLOMBIAN AND VENEZUELAN DELEGATION HAVE TOLD US THEY DO NOT LIKE GUATEMALA'S PLOY.

4. THE CONFERENCE PR
THE ELECTIONODYFACIO AS CHAIRMAN AND THE DECISION TO GET RIGHT DOWN TO BUSINESS. NICARAGUA TRIED TO CHANGE THE RULES APPROVED BY THE PERMANENT COUNCIL SO THAT THIS CONFERENCE COULD APPROVE AMENDMENTS ONLY BY TWO-THIRDS VOTE BUT THE MAJORITY-VOTE FORMULA WON WITH ONLY FIVE VOTES OPPOSED (U.S. INCLUDED). RATIFICATION WILL REQUIRE TOW-THIRDS OF ALL MEMBERS.

5. THE SPEECHES AT THE FORMAL OPENING SESSION BY FACIO, ORFILA, ODUBER AND VENEZUELAN AMBASSADOR MACHIN WERE UNEXCEPTIONABLE. ODUBER'S WAS THE MOST INTERSTING. HE MADE AN IMPRESSIVE APPEAL FOR A STRONG TREATY, SAYING THAT ONLY THE PROTECTION PROVIDED BY THE TREATY MADE IT POSSIBLE FOR COSTA RICA TO DISPENSE WITH AN ARMY. HE MENTIONED SPECIFICALLY (PERHAPS TO THE DISCOMFITURE OF SOME PRESENT) PAST INCURSIONS BY COSTA RICA'S NEIGHBORS, IN WHICH THE TREATY HAD COME TO THE RESCUE.

6. THE AFTERNOON SESSION WAS TAKEN UP WITH A DISCUSSION OF ARTICLE 2 OF THE RIO TREATY. THE U.S. SOUGHT TO RETAIN THE SPECIFIC INJUNCTION THAT AN EFFORT SHOULD BE MADE TO RESOLVE DISPUTES IN THE HEMISPHERE BEFORE TAKING THEM TO THE UN. THIS VIEW GOT SOME SUPPORT (BRAZIL, CHILE, ITSELF TO A SUFFICIENT NUMBER OF COUNTRIES. THAT POSITION IS CONSISTENT WITH THE ONE WE HELD TO AT THE MAY MEETING OF THE OAS GENERAL ASSEMBLY. FOURTEEN COUNTRIES WOULD HAVE TO APPROVE ANY PROPOSAL ON CHANGING CUBAN SANCTIONS. IF ANY COUNTRY COULD BE SAID TO BE TAKING THE LEAD, IT IS MEXICO.

Q: IS THE U.S. CIRCULATING A PROPOSAL THAT MEMBERS BE GIVEN FREEDOM OF ACTION WITH RESPECT TO CUBA?

A: NO. THERE IS NO U.S. PROPOSAL. WE UNDERSTAND THAT VARIOUS DELEGATIONS ARE CIRCULATING PROPOSALS. THE MEXICANS IN PARTICULAR HAVE A DRAFT RESOLUTION IN SPANISH AND IN ENGLISH THEY ARE SUPPORTING AND SHOPPING AROUND.

Q: IS IT TRUE AS AMBASSADOR MAILLIARD IS REPORTED TO HAVE SAID THAT THERE ARE ENOUGH VOTES TO SOLVE THIS PROBLEM IN SAN JOSE?

A: AMBASSADOR MAILLIARD SAID THAT HE THOUGHT THERE MIGHT BE 14 VOTES, BUT THAT HE WAS NOT DOING THE COUNTING AND WAS NOT SURE.

Q: WILL THE U.S. VOTE TO LIFT THE SANCTIONS?

A: THAT DEPENDS ON THE TEXT OF THE RESOLUTION, AND HOW STRONG THE CONSENSUS AMONG THE LATINS IS WHEN AND IF IT IS PUT TO A VOTE. KISSINGER

2. ECHEVERRIA MADE OBVIOUS EFFORT IN SPEECHES AND PRESS CONFERENCES TO INGRATIATE HIMSELF. HE STRESSED IDENTITY OF ALGERIAN AND MEXICAN EXPERIENCES (REVOLUTIONARY TRIALS, AGRARIAN REFORM, NATIONALIZATION OF OIL RESOURCES) AND EMPHASIZED MEXICO'SSOLIDARITY WITH ALGERIA'S "AVANT GARDE AND REALISTIC POLICY" AND INTERNATIONAL VIEWS AND WITH NONALIGNED/THIRD WORLD ECONOMIC DEMANDS.

3. HE ALSO CALLED FOR JUSTICE FOR PALESTINIANS BASED ON UN RESOLUTIONS, EXPRESSED DESIRE MEET WITH ARAFAT, STATED HE DID NOT SEE MEXICO JOINING OPEC FOR MOMENT, AND PARADED MEXICO'S CUBA AND ALLENDE TIES AT EVERY OPPORTUNITY.

4. COMMERICAL AGREEMENT SIGNED BY COMMERCE MINISTERS. ACCORDS BEING PREPARED ON ECONOMIC, TECHNICAL, COMMERCIAL, CULTURAL AND SCIENTIFIC MATTERS. WE UNDERSTAND MEXICANS TRYING TO WIN AUTO PLANT PROJECT FOR MEXICAN VOLKSWAGEN AFFILIATE, ARGUING NEED FOR THIRD WORLD MUTUAL SUPPORT; WE DOUBT THEIR PROSPECTS ARE VERY GOOD.

5. FINAL COMMUNIQUE STRESSED ALGERIAN-MEXICAN AGREEMENT ON THIRD WORLD SOLIDARITY AND ON NECESSITY OF NEW INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ORDER AND OF REINFORCEMENT OF BATTLE AGAINST IMPERIALISM, RACISM, COLONIALISM, ETC. COMMUNIQUE SALUTED VICTORIES OF INDOCHINA PEOPLES, CONDEMNED SOUTH AFRICA AND RHODESIA, OPPOSED CUBA EMBARGO, SUPPORTED PANAMA CLAIMS TO SOVEREIGNTY OVER CANAL AND PAID HOMAGE TO ALLENDE.

6. AFTER PRESENTING BOUMEDIENE'S EXPLANATION OF MIDDLE EAST SITUATION, COMMUNIQUE SIMPLY REMARKED THAT ECHEVERRIA HAD "LISTENED WITH GREAT INTEREST." WOULD NOTE THAT CONTENTS OF FBIS REPORT OF ECHEVERRIA PRESS CONFERENCE REMARKS ON KISSINGER "RECENT THREATS" (FBIS LONDON LD 170241Y) WERE NOT CARRIED IN LOCAL PRESS.

7. WE WOULD CLASSIFY VISIT AS FAIRLY ROUTINE IN TERMS FESTIVITIES ARRANGED AND RESULTS ACCOMPLISHED. THERE CONSIDERABLY LESS HOOPLA, FOR INSTANCE, THAN THERE WAS FOR KIM IL SUNG VISIT. BOUMEDIENE'S DINNER FOR ECHEVERRIA ND LATTER'S DINNER IN RETURN, BOTH HELD AT PALAIS DU PEUPLE, UNINSPIRING. THERE ONLY SO MANY THINGS ALGERIAN COOKS CAN DO WITH BOILED

[redacted]

MUTTON. IN THEIR SPEECHES TWO HEADS OF STATE VIED WITH EACH OTHER IN MONOTONY OF DELIVERY, BUT BOUMEDIENE WON HANDS DOWN. FOR THE OCCASION, ALGERIANS IMPORTED SPANISH-SPEAKING INTERPRETER WHO IS SECOND SECRETARY OF EGYPTIAN EMBASSY MADRID, INDICATING

LENGTHS TO WHICH ARABIZATION BEING PURSUED. NON-SPANISH, NON-ARABIC SPEAKERS AT DINNER LEFT IN TOTAL IGNORANCE AS TO PROCEEDINGS. MRS. BOUMEDIENE MUCH IN EVIDENCE AT DINNER TABLE AND AT AIRPORT FAREWELL, LOOKING VERY PRETTY. SHE AND MEXICAN LADIES PROVIDED ONLY NOTE OF GAIETY TO PROCEEDINGS.

8. CONTACT WITH PARTY LIMITED BY ALGERIAN PROTOCOL ARRANGEMENTS. ONLY COMMENTS ON VISIT WE ABLE TO EXTRACT FROM TWO BRIEF CONTACTS WERE THAT VISIT HAD GONE WELL BUT PARTY TIRED AND HOT (TEMPERATURE WAS LOCALLY UNHEARD OF 102 ON SECOND DAY OF VISIT). AT THIS RATE, THEY SHOULD BE EXHAUSTED BY TIME THEY GET TO CAIRO.

9. OF SOME INTEREST TO US IS FACT THAT MINISTR OF INTERIOR ABDELGHANI GIVEN SECOND-RANKING ALGERIAN SEAT AT DINNER TABLE, WELL ABOVE HIS SENIORS, PRESUMABLY MEANING HE DESIGNATED AS ESCORT OFFICER, BUT PERHAPS SAYING SOMETHING ABOUT HIS PLACE IN THE PECKING ORDER. FOREIGN MINISTER BOUTEFLIKA ABSENT AS USUAL.PARKER

SUBJ: AMBASSADOR'S CONVERSATION WITH PRESIDENT SENGHOR: INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION AND MIDDLE EAST ISSUES

1. SUMMARY: DURING TWO-HOUR PRIVATE DINNER WHICH HE GAVE FOR ANDRE COULBARY, HIS AMBASSADOR TO US, AND AMBASSADOR AND MRS. AGGREY, PRESIDENT SENGHOR COMMENTED ON VARIOUS AFRICAN, INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION, MIDDLE EAST AND INTERNAL SENEGALESE ISSUES. THIS MESSAGE DEALS WITH INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION AND MIDDLE EAST ISSUES. SENGHOR SAID APPARENT HARDENING OF SENEGALESE POSITION IN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS HAD LED HIM TO SUMMON HIS UN AMBASSADOR FOR CONSULTATIONS. HE ALSO SAID HE HAD INSTRUCTED HIS UN AMBASSADOR AND FOREIGN MINISTER TO OPPOSE MOVES TO OUST ISRAEL FROM UN. HE CONTINUES URGE ALL PARTIES TO MODERATION IN MIDDLE EAST AND TO HOLD HIMSELF OPEN FOR CONTACTS WITH BOTH SIDES. HE

[redacted]

[redacted]

NOTED SENEGALESE FIGURE HAD BEEN PROPOSED TO HEAD ISLAMIC SECRETARIAT. PRESIDENT WAS NONCOMMITTAL ON KOREA. FINALLY HE AGAIN REITERATED HIS APPRECIATION OF US CONCESSIONS ON DC-LDC ISSUES, ACCEPTANCE OF THREE-COMMISSION PROPOSAL OF SECRETARY KISSINGER AND BELIEF GENERAL DISCUSSION OF PRINCIPLES STILL REQUIRED AT START ANY PRODUCER/CONSUMER CONFERENCE. END SUMMARY.

2. SENEGALESE ROLE IN UN. SENGHOR SAID REPORTS FROM MANY SOURCES THAT SENEGALESE POSITION IN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS SEEMED TO HAVE HARDENED HAD LED HIM TO SUMMON AMBASSADOR TO UN MEDOUNE FALL TO DAKAR FOR CONSULTATIONS. I SAID I HOPED THIS CONSULTATION WOULD MEAN THAT SENEGAL WOULD HAVE A MODERATING INFLUENCE IN UN COUNCILS. I NOTED GREAT US CONCERN WITH THE TREND TOWARD EXPELLING ISRAEL FROM UN AND INDICATED THAT RESOLUTION WHICH HAD BEEN PUSHED THROUGH ISLAMIC FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE WAS MOST DISQUIETING DEVELOPMENT.

3. THE UN AND ISRAEL. SENGHOR AGREED AND SAID FOREIGN MINISTER ASSANE SECK AND AMBASSADOR MEDOUNE FALL HAVE BEEN INSTRUCTED TO OPPOSE IN AFRICAN AND OTHER COUNCILS RESOLUTIONS CALLING FOR ISRAEL OUSTER, SENEGAL BELIEVED IN UNIVERSALITY OF UN AND PRESIDENT SENGHOR HAD REITERATED IN TUNIS SENEGAL'S BELIEF THAT GUARANTEEING FUTURE OF ISRAEL AND OF A PALESTINIAN STATE WERE ESSENTIAL TO PEACE IN REGION.

4. MIDDLE EAST CONFLICT. HE HAD WRITTEN TO PLO LEADER ARAFAT AND PRIME MINISTER RABIN URGING THEM TO DO ALL IN THEIR POWER TO SUPPORT CURRENT INITIATIVES FOR PEACE SETTLEMENT. HE TOLD RABIN HE WOULD BE IN PARIS ON JULY 24 AND WOULD BE WILLING TO RECEIVE HIS ENVOY, BUT HE DOUBTED IF RABIN WOULD HONOR HIS OFFER. SENGHOR SAID HE CONSIDERED SADAT COURAGEOUS MAN WHO REALLY WENT OUT ON A LIMB IN HIS EFFORTS FOR PEACE, BUT PROBLEM OF ISRAELI LEADERS WAS THAT THEY SEEMED TO TRUST NOTHING BUT FORCE. SENEGAL WOULD TRY TO HAVE MODERATING ROLE, BUT MANY OF THESE ISSUES WERE FRAMED NOW IN TERMS OF FUNDAMENTAL THIRD-WORLD PRINCIPLES AND ADOPTED BY CONSENSUS. IT WOULD BE HELPFUL IF ISRAEL COULD TAKE A FEW MORE POSITIVE STEPS TO STRENGTHEN THE HAND

[redacted]

[redacted]

OF MODERATE AFRICANS WHO DID NOT OPPOSE HER EXISTENCE.

5. SENEGALESE PROPOSED AS SECRETARY GENERAL ISLAMIC SECRETARIAT. PRESIDENT SENGHOR SAID ISLAMIC CONFERENCE HAS REQUESTED THAT PRESIDENT SENGHOR PERMIT KARIM GAYE, PRESENT PRESIDENT OF SENEGALESE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL AND A FORMER SENEGALESE FOREIGN MINISTER, TO BECOME SECRETARY GENERAL OF ISLAMIC SECRETARIAT. COMMENT: ONE OF PROBLEMS SENGHOR HAD WITH GAYE AS FOREIGN MINISTER WAS THAT HE TENDED TO BE TOO PRO-ARAB. THUS FROM POINT OF VIEW OF ISLAMIC STATES HE MIGHT BE GOOD CHOICE, ESPECIALLY SINCE IT WOULD TEND TO BOX IN SENEGALESE ON ARAB-ISRAELI ISSUE. END COMMENT.

6. KOREA. I TOLD SENGHOR ANOTHER IMPORTANT ISSUE ON WHICH WE HOPED SENEGAL COULD HAVE A HELPFUL AND MODERATING ROLE WAS KOREAN QUESTION, ABOUT WHICH WE HAD TALKED FREQUENTLY IN PAST, AND WE WOULD AGAIN BE IN TOUCH WITH GOS WITH AIDE MEMOIRE ON POSITION WE HOPED THEY COULD SUPPORT. SENGHOR SAID KOREAN QUESTION AND PROBLEM OF FORMOSA WERE TWO REMAINING DIFFICULT ASIAN PACIFIC ISSUES. HE WOULD HEAR OUR VIEWS ON KOREAN ISSUE BUT HE COULD NOT MAKE COMMITMENT.

7. DC-LDC RELATIONS. ON COMMODITIES ISSUE, SENGHOR FEARED DEVELOPED AND DEVELOPING COUNTRIES WERE IN FOR ABOUT THREE YEARS OF NEGOTIATIONS. HE HAD BEEN ENCOURAGED BY THE RECENT CHANGES IN THE US POSITION THAT MOVED CLOSER TO MAIN CONCERN OF PRODUCER STATES. HE REPEATED STATEMENT HE MADE DURING ECHEVERRIA VISIT THAT HE ACCEPTED KISSINGER PROPOSAL OF COMMISSIONS AND OF DISCUSSING COMMODITIES, ONE BY ONE BEGINNING WITH ENERGY, BUT HE FELT THERE SHOULD BE GENERAL DISCUSSION OF PRINCIPLES AS PRELUDE TO DETAILED CONSIDERATIONS.

1. DE LA COLINA RECEIVED A CALL THIS MORNING FROM DOMINICIAN FOREIGN MINISTER, JIMEREZ, WHO SAID THAT HE WOULD ARRIVE BACK IN SAN JOSE WEDNESDAY AND SIGN THE SPONSORSHIP DOCUMENT. LIKE THE U.S. AND EL SALVADOR HE WILL SIGN ON AS A SUPPORTER BUT NOT A CO-SPONSOR. THIS DEVELOPMENT RELIEVED AN UNEASINESS THAT HAD BUILT UP YESTERDAY BECAUSE OF CONTINUING SILENCE FROM SANTO DOMINGO, WHERE JIMEREZ HAS BEEN THE PAST FEW DAYS.

2. ACCORDING TO THE CHIEF OF THE COLOMBIAN DELEGATION, THE BOLIVIAN AMBASSADOR HAS RECOMMENDED THAT BOLIVIA ALSO SIGN. COLOMBIA AND VENEZUELA ARE ALLEGEDLY TRYING TO TRADE THEIR SUPPORT ON A BOLIVIAN ACCESS - TO - THE - SEA RESOLUTION IN THE PERMANENT COUNCIL NEXT MONTH FOR BOLIVIAN COOPERATION ON THE CUBA QUESTION. WHETHER BOLIVIA GOES ALONG WITH THIS, OF COURSE, REMAINS TO BE SEEN.

3. IT APPEARS THAT NICARAGUA AND GUATEMALA WILL ABSTAIN.

1. SUMMARY. MEXICAN PRESIDENT'S IRANIAN VISIT BROUGHT FORTH STATEMENTS BY BOTH HEADS OF STATE SUPPORTING HIGHER OIL PRICES. SHAH REPEATED HIS DETERMINATION TO USE OIL WEALTH TO BUILD UP IRAN'S MILITARY STRENGTH. IRANIAN PRESS SAID EACH SIDE AGREED TO MAKE A $400 MILLION CREDIT AVAILABLE FOR JOINT VENTURES IN BOTH COUNTRIES, BUT FONMIN'S SOURCE INDICATED ECONOMIC AGREEMENT LIMITED TO IRAN'S INVESTING $400 MILLION IN MEXICO, IF MONEY AVAILABLE LATER. END SUMMARY

2. AT THE CLOSE OF THE JULY 17-21 VISIT TO IRAN OF PRESIDENT LUIS ECHEVERRIA, A JOINT PRESS CONFERENCE CARRIED OVER NATIONAL IRANIAN RADIO AND TV WAS HELD IN WHICH THE SHAH REITERATED AT SOME LENGTH THE JUSTIFICATION FOR AN INCREASE IN THE PRICE OF OIL TO COVER THE ALLEGED 30-35 PERCENT DECLINE IN OIL REVENUES' PURCHASING POWER BECAUSE OF WORLD INFLATION. HE SAID IRAN WOULD NOT INSIST ON AN INCREASE IN OIL PRICES COMMENSURATE WITH THE OIL EXPORTING COUNTRIES' ERODED BUYING POWER, BUT HE STATED THE AMOUNT OF THE INCREASE IN THE PRICE OF OIL WOULD BE DETERMINED BY "MANY FACTORS" IN CONSULTATION WITH OTHER MEMBERS OF OPEC. HE CLAIMED HIGHER OIL PRICES WOULD NOT UNDLY HURT THE WORLD ECONOMY AND REITERATED THE IRANIAN VIEW THAT PAST OIL PRICE INCREASES WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR ONLY A SMALL PART OF WORLD INFLATION. PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA STATED THAT MEXICO WOULD UPHOLD A PRICE INCREASE AND NOT UNDERCUT OPEC BY SELLING OIL AT A LOWER PRICE. THE OFFICIAL COMMUNIQUE RELEASED AT THE CLOSE OF THE VISIT STATED THAT THE TWO HEADS OF STATE "REAFFIRMED THAT THE PRICES OF OIL AND OTHER RAW MATERIALS SHOULD BE CLOSELY RELATED TO THAT OF OTHER COMMODITIES."

3. WHEN QUESTIONED ABOUT STORIES APPERING IN WESTERN PRESS THAT OUL-PRODUCING STATES WERE SQUANDERING THEIR WEALTH ON WEAPONS, SHAH RECALLED THAT IRAN HAD BEEN INVADED BY FOREIGN POWERS IN BOTH WORLD WARS, ALTHOUGH IT HAD DECLARED ITS NEUTRALITY AND THAT "OUR COUNTRY WILL NOT BE TAKEN BY SURPRISE AGAIN. WE HAVE DECIDED TO DESTROY OUR COUNTRY OURSELVES BEFORE ALLOWING IT TO BE OCCUPIED BY THE ENEMY, BUT BEFORE THAT WE WILL FIGHT AND TO FIGHT WE NEED WEAPONS."

4. SHAH REAFFIRMED IRAN'S SUPPORT FOR NON-PROLIFERATION TREATY AND ITS DESIRE THAT THE MEDEAST BE DECLARED A NUCLEAR-FREE ZONE, BUT NOTED IRAN IS ATTAINING THE CAPACITY TO BECOME A NON-MILITARY NUCLEAR POWER.

[redacted]

5. VISIT WAS ROUTINE BUT SUCCESSFUL IMAGE-BUILDING EXERCISE BY 184-MAN MEXICAN DELEGATION. IN PUBLIC PRONOUNCEMENTS, ECHEVERRIA

STRESSED SIMILARITY MEXICAN AND IRANIAN REVOLUTIONS AND DESIRE FOR ECON, SOCIAL, AND CULTURAL COOPERATION BETWEEN THIRD WORLD PARTNERS. TWITTING OF SUPERPOWERS WAS HELD TO MINIMUM, APPARENTLY WELL BELOW OTHER ECHEVERRIA VISITS SUCH AS ALGIERS. LITTLE OF SUBSTANCE ACCOMPLISHED, THOUGH THREE ECONOMIC AGREEMENTS SIGNED: (1) PAYMENTS AGREEMENT BETWEEN BOTH COUNTRIES' CENTRAL BANKS; (2) FINANCIAL PROTOCOL BETWEEN THE GOI MINISTRY OF ECONOMIC AFFAIRS AND FINANCE AND THE MEXICAN FINANCE MINISTRY, AND (3) LETTER OF ASSOCIATEION BY THE PRESIDENTS OF EACH COUNTRY'S CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SETTING UP A JOINT IRANIAN/MEXICAN BUSINESS COMMITTEE WHICH WILL MEET ANNUALLY. IRANIAN PRESS REPORTED EACH COUNTRY AGREED TO MAKE AVAILABLE $400 MILLION CREDIT FOR FINANCING JOINT VENTURES IN BOTH COUNTRIES, BUT DIRECTOR AMERICAN DIVISION AT FONMINISTRY HATEF SAID AGREEMENT WAS ONLY FOR IRANIAN INVESTMENT IN MEXICO, AND MEXICANS WERE TOLD IRAN WOULD HAVE NO MONEY FOR THIS BEFORE LATE SEPTEMBER AT EARLIEST. COMMUNIQUE INDICATED JOINT VENTURE PAPER MILLS, CEMENT PLANTS, MAN-MADE FIBERS, SUGAR MILLS, HEAVY EQUIPMENT MANUFACTURING (MAINLY FOR CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY AND OIL DRILLING PLATFORMS), COOPERATION IN PETROLEUM AND PETRO-CHEMICALS AND IN URBAN DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS WERE DISCUSSED. THESE COVER SIMILAR TERRITORY TO PROJECTS REVIEWED AT THE JOINT MEXICAN-IRANIAN ECONOMIC COMMISSION MEETING (SUBCABINET AND TECHNICAL LEVEL) DURING THE EARLY JUNE VISIT OF A MEXICAN DELEGATION LED BY THE FINANCE UNDER SECRETARY.NOTHING YET ACCOMPLISHED ON ANY JOINT VENTURE AGREEMENTS, WHICH WOULD REQUIRE FURTHER CONCURRENCE OF BOTH GOVERNMENTS. CULTURAL AND SCIENTIFIC AGREEMENTS ALSO WERE SIGNED, BUT THESE COVER ROUTINE EXCHANGES OF TEACHERS, STUDENTS, AND TECHNICAL PERSONNEL.

6. HATEF ALSO THOUGH THERE HAD BEEN NO REPEAT NO DISCUSSION OF FUTURE ECHEVERRIA ROLE IN AN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION (PARA FOUR REFTEL).

SUBJECT: SAN JOSE OAS MEETING AND THE CUBAN SANCTIONS QUESTION

THE FOLLOWING EXCHANGE TOOK PLACE AT THE DEPARTMENT'S NOON BRIEFING, JULY 24:

Q: CAN YOU TELL US WHAT IS GOING ON IN SAN JOSE WITH RESPECT TO THE CUBA SANCTIONS QUESTION?

A: I'LL TRY. IT'S MY UNDERSTANDING THAT THE DELEGATIONS IN SAN JOSE DISPLAYED A DECIDED CONSENSUS IN FAVOR OF THE PRINICPLE OF LIFTING SANCTIONS BY SIMPLE MAJORITY WHEN THEY VOTED 19 TO 2 TO AMEND THE RIO TREATY TO PERMIT THIS. BECAUSE THE AMENDMENTS TO THE TREATY MUST BE RATIFIED BEFORE COMING INTO FORCE, THIS ACTION DOES NOT DIRECTLY AFFECT THE CURRENT OAS SANCTIONS AGAINST CUBA. HOWEVER, THIS VOTE OF 19 TO 2 OBVIOUSLY SETS THE STAGE AND GREATLY INCREASES THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE CUBAN SANCTIONS ISSUE ITSELF WILL BE DEALT WITH IN SAN JOSE.

UNCLASSIFIED

PAGE 02 STATE 174995

NOW YOU RECALL THAT THE DELEGATIONS--I DON'T HAVE INFORMATION AS TO WHAT'S HAPPENED AT TODAY'S DELIBERATIONS--BUT THE DELEGATIONS WERE EXPECTED TO VOTE OR CONSIDER CONSTITUTING THEMSELVES AS A SPECIAL ORGAN OF CONSULTATION UNDER THE RIO TREATY TO CONSIDER THE MEXICAN PROPOSAL WHICH WOULD FREE EACH MEMBER INDIVIDUALLY TO DETERMINE THE CONDUCT OF ITS RELATIONS WITH CUBA. IT IS MY UNDERSTANDING THAT IF THIS WAS ADOPTED THIS MEETING WOULD THEN TAKE PLACE

NEXT WEEK, I BELIEVE TUESDAY.

AND OUR POSITION ON THIS MEXICAN RESOLUTION THAT IS EXPECTED TO BE INTRODUCED AT THIS SPECIAL ORGAN OF CONSULTATION IS THAT, AS YOU KNOW, WE HAVE BEEN COMMITTED FOR SOME TIME TO GO ALONG WITH AN ACCEPTABLE SOLUTION PROVIDED IT ENJOYED ADEQUATE SUPPORT AMONG THE OTHER MEMBERS. AND IT LOOKS NOW AS THOUGH SUCH SUPPORT EXISTS. KISSINGER

1. MEXICAN FOREIGN MINISTER EMILIO RABASA CAPPED OFF HIS THREE-DAY STAY AT THE OAS MEETING OF PLENIPOTENCIARIES TO REFORM THE RIO TREATY IN SAN JOSE WITH A PRESS CONFERENCE JULY 23 AT WHICH TIME HE ANNOUNCED THAT THERE WERE 14 FIRM VOTES FOR A FREEDOM OF ACTION FORMULA ON CUBA SANCTIONS. EXCEPT FOR A BRIEF APPEARANCE, HE DID NOT PARTICIPATE IN THE FORMAL RIO TREATY MEETINGS. HE LEFT FOR MEXICO ON JULY 24.

2. RABASA EMBELISHED HIS CUBA SANCTIONS ANNOUNCEMNT BY NOTING, ACCORDING TO LOCA MEDIA, THAT "THE COUNTRIES WILL BE AT LIBERTY, WITHOUT VIOLATING THE

HE DESCRIBED THE BLOCKADE OF CUBA S A "MALIGNANT FISTULA THAT IS NECESSARY TO CUT AWAY AS SOON AS POSSIBLE." THE FOREIGN MINISTER AFFIRMED THAT THE ORGAN OF CONSULTATION WOULD MEET JULY 29 OR 30, EMPHASIZING THAT SAN JOSE WOULD NOT BE ANOTHER QUITO.

3. RABASA CHARACTERIZED THE CONFERENCE AS A VERY IMPORTANT MEETING TO BRING THE TREATY UP TO DATE, AND TO MAKE IT MORE FLUID AND DYNAMIC. HE IS ALSO REPORTED TO HAVE SAID THAT THERE HAS BEEN A GOOD DEAL OF PROGRESS ON REFORM, BUT THAT MEXICO IS "NOT TOTALLY SATISFIED."

SUBJECT: ECHEVERRIA PRESS CONFERENCES FEATURE OLD AND NEW REFERINS

1. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS REACHING US HERE,PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA REPEATED SOME WELL-KNOWN POSITIONS AND ADVANCED A FEW NOVEL ONES IN PRESS CONFERENCES JULY 23 AND 24 IN NEW DELHI AND COLOMBO. AMONG THE FAMILIAR REFRAINS:

-- OPEC: MEXICO WILL CONTINUE TO KEY EXPORT PRICES FOR ITS PETROLEUM TO OPEC PRICES. IF LATTER GO UP, MEXICO'S WILL FOLLOW.

-- OAS AND CUBA: RECENT ACTION TO AMEND RIO TREATY AND PAVE WAY FOR LIFTING SANCTIONS AGAINST CUBA WAS A "POSTIVE" STEP BUT TOO LATE IN COMING. THERE IS NO CONTINENT ON EARTH WHERE POLITICAL DIFFERENCES DO NOT EXIST AMONG NATIONS; HARMONIC COEXISTENCE IS ESSENTIAL.
ARMS -- GREAT POWERS ARE STILL SPENDING ENORMOUS SUMS ON ARMS WHICH SHOULD BE CHANNELED INSTEAD INTO THIRD WORLD DEVELOPMENT.

-- UNITED NATIONS: NO NATION SHOULD WITHDRAW,

SINCE U.S, REPRESENTS HOPE FOR DIALOGUE, FOR EXCHANGE OF IDEAS,AND FOR DISCUSSIONS WHICH PROMOTE PEACE.

2. ECHEVERRIA REVISED OR ELABORATED HIS VIEWS ON A FEW TOPICS:
-- U.N. SECGENSHIP: ALTHOUGH UNLIKELY OF SUCCESS, LDCS SHOULD UNITE TO ENSURE THAT NEXT SECGEN IS A MAN FROM THE THIRD WORLD, SINCE PERIOD OF CRISIS AHEAD REQUIRES SOMEONE WHO CAN UNDERSTAND THEM.(HE MADE NO CLAIM THAT THAT MAN OUGHT TO BE HE, OF COURSE.)
-- DETENTE: GREAT POWER EFFORTS HAVE BEEN SUPERFICIAL, SHALLOW, PEDESTRIAN, AND THEIR ACHIEVEMENTS UNDERMINED BY TENSION-PRODUCING ACTIONS ELSEWHERE. THEY TALK IN ONE WAY AND ACT IN ANOTHER.
-- NON-ALIGNED GROUP: MEXICO IS WATCHING WITH MUCH INTEREST AND CONSIDERS ALL OF THEM ITS FRIENDS.IN MANY WAYS, THEIR EFFORTS DUPLICATE THOSE OF G-77; A UNITED FRONT IS NEEDED TO ACHIEVE ECONOMIC SOLIDARITY. MEXICO WILL JOIN THE NON-ALIGNED GROUP WHEN THERE IS SUFFICIENT COOPERATION AMONG THESE COUNTRIES TO GUARANTEE THEIR GENUINE NON-ALIGNMENT.
-- AID AND NIEO: INDUSTRIALIZED COUNTRIES' ASSISTANCE TO LDCS MUST NOT BE AN ACT OF CHARITY WHICH DISGUSTS GIVER AND HUMILIATES RECEIVER. IT MUST BE AN INSTITUTIONALIZED ACT OF COOPERATION WITHIN FRAMEWORK OF NEW INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ORDER, BASED ON JUSTICE AND RECOGNITION OF ESSENTIAL EQUALITY AMONG NATIONS.

1. SUBJECTS RAISED FOR COMMENT IN REFTEL ARE ADDRESSED IN SAME ORDER BELOW:

A. DISMANTLING OF OAS SANCTIONS HAS BEEN MATTER OF FIRST IMPORTANCE FOR GOM IN REGIONAL AFFAIRS. AS YOU KNOW, NOT ONLY RABASA BUT PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA HAS HAMMERED AWAY AT THIS ISSUE FOR A LONG TIME. DESPITE RABASA'S COMMENT IN SAN JOSE EXPRESSING LESS THAN TOTAL SATISFACTION WITH CONFERENCE RESULTS, I AM SURE HE IS PLEASED. THE SAME IS TRUE OF ECHEVERRIA, NOW IN THE MIDDLE EAST. OBVIOUSLY, THE MEXICANS WILL CLAIM AS MUCH CREDIT AS POSSIBLE FOR THE SAN JOSE RESULTS BUT THERE SHOULD ALSO BE A FAVORABLE FALL-OUT IN OUR BILATERAL RELATIONS.

B. RECIPROCAL MOVES BETWEEN THE U.S. AND CUBA, DEPENDING UPON THEIR NATURE, WOULD MAKE FAVORABLE IMPRESSION HERE. GIVEN SUCCESS OF SAN JOSE MEETING FROM GOM VIEW, TEDIOUS OR PROLONGED PROCESS IN IMPROVING U.S.-CUBA RELATIONS MIGHT

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

GENERATE IMPATIENCE HERE.

C. A NEW PANAMA CANAL TREATY, ACCEPTABLE TO PANAMA, WOULD BE EXTREMELY WELL RECEIVED HERE. MEXICO HAS BEEN IN FOREFRONT OF THOSE PRESSING US TO CONCLUDE A TREATY.

D. A BREAKDOWN IN TREATY NEGOTIATIONS, UNLESS CLEARLY NOT THE FAULT OF THE USG, WOULD UNQUESTIONABLY SUBJECT US

TO SHARP CRITICISM FROM GOM AND IN LOCAL PRESS.

E. AT SOMEWHAT LESSER LEVEL OF INTENSITY, FAILURE TO GET OPEC EXCLUSION FROM GSP IN THE TRA REMOVED WOULD ALSO DRAW CRITICISM.

2. WITH RESPECT TO E. ABOVE, WE MUST REMEMBER THAT MEXICO HAS TRADITIONALLY STRONGLY OPPOSED WHAT THEY SAW AS ECONOMIC AGGRESSION. EVEN THOUGH MEXICO MAY BENEFIT FROM TRA, GOM IS ON PRINCIPLE OPPOSED TO EXCLUSION CITED AND WOULD UNDOUBTEDLY FEEL BOUND TO EXPRESS SOLIDARITY WITH L.A. COUNTRIES AFFECTED. SIMILARLY, WITH RESPECT TO D, THOUGH CANAL TREATY DOES NOT IMPINGE DIRECTLY UPON MEXICAN VITAL INTERESTS, GOM WILL CONTINUE TO DEMONSTRATE STRONG SUPPORT FOR PANAMA.

3. MY LETTER TO YOU OF JULY 22 ADDRESSES IN SOMEWHAT GREATER DETAIL ASPECTS OF THESE THIRD COUNTRY ISSUES WHICH UNDER ECHEVERRIA ADMINISTRATION ARE SO SIGNIFICANT IN OUR BILATERAL RELATIONS.

1. FOLLOWING IS THE ENGLISH TRANSLATION OF THE TEN COUNTRY RESOLUTION WHICH WAS TRANSMITTED IN THE ORIGINAL SPANISH IN REFTEL. IT WAS ADOPTED BY THE PERMANENT COUNCIL IN THE EARLY MORNING OF JULY 26.

QUOTE WHEREAS:

THE COUNCIL HAS TAKEN COGNIZANCE OF THE NOTE FROM THE REPRESENTATIVES OF ARGENTINA, COLOMBIA, COSTA RICA, ECUADOR, HAITI, MEXICO, PANAMA PERU, TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, AND VENEZUELA THROUGH WHICH THEIR GOVERNMENTS REQUEST THE CONVOCATION OF MEETING OF CONSULTATION OF MINISTERS OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS TO SERVE AS ORGAN OF CONSULTATION IN APPLICATION OF THE INTER-AMERICAN TREATY OF RECIPROCAL ASSISTANCE IN ORDER TO STUDY THE FOLLOWING MATTER, UNCLASSIFIED

WHICH THEY CONSIDER URGENT AND OF COMMON CONCERN:

'"FREEDOM OF ACTION OF THE STATES PARTIES TO THE INTER-AMERICAN TREATY OF RECIPROCAL ASSISTANCE TO NORMALIZE OR TO CONDUCT THEIR RELATIONS WITH CUBA AT THE LEVEL AND IN THE FORM DEEMED ADVISEABLE BY EACH;"'

"THE COUNCIL HAS ALSO TAKEN NOTE OF THE VARIOUS STATEMENTS MADE

BY THE REPRESENTATIVES IN THE COURSE OF THE MEETING OPENED BY THAT ORGAN ON JULY 25, 1975; AND

"THE GOVERNMENT OF COSTA RICA HAS STATED THAT IT WOULD BE PLEASED TO BE HOST TO THE MEETING OF CONSULTATION IN SAN JOSE, STARTING ON JULY 29, 1975; AND ".THE PERMANENT COUNCIL OF THE ORGANIZ ATION OF AMERICAN STATES,.
RESOLVES:

"1. TO CONVOKE A MEETING OF CONSULTATION OF MINISTERS OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS TO SERVE AS ORGAN OF CONSULTATION IN APPLICATION OF THE INTER-AMERICAN TREATY OF RECIPROCAL ASSISTANCE, IN ORDER TO STUDY THE FOLLOWING MATTER: '"FREEDOM OF ACTION OF THE STATES PARTIES TO THE INTER-AMERICAN TREATY OF RECIPROCAL ASSISTANCE TO NORMALIZE OR TO CONDUCT THEIR RELATIONS WITH CUBA AT THE LEVEL AND IN THE FORM DEEMED ADVISABLE BY EACH."'

"2. TO THANK THE GOVERNMENT OF COSTA RICA AND ACCEPT ITS GENEROUS OFFER TO BE HOST TO THE MEETING OF THE ORGAN OF CONSULTATION IN SAN JOSE BEGINNING ON JULY 29, 1975.

"3. TO TRANSMIT THE TEXT OF THIS RESOLUTION TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL OF THE UNITED NATIONS AND TO KEEP IT INFORMED OF ANY DECISIONS TAKEN BY THE MEETING."

2. 18 COUNTRIES VOTED FOR THE RESOLUTION; ONLY THREE (CHILE, PARAGUAY AND BRAZIL) ABSTAINED. IN THE DEBATE CHILE, PARAGUAY AND URUGUAY COMPLAINED ABOUT THE HASTE OF CONVOCATION. SUPPORTERS OF THE RESOLUTION, INCLUDING THE U.S., FOR THE MOST PART CHOSE NOT TO ENTER THE DEBATE.

3. PERMANENT COUNCIL THEN TOOK UP CHILEAN RESOLUTION PRESENTED TODAY TO REQUEST INTER-AMERICAN DEFENSE BOARD TO PRESENT AN UNCLASSIFIED

OPINION TO THE 16TH MFM ON WHETHER CUBA HAD CEASED TO CONSTITUTE A DANGER TO THE PEACE AND SECURITY OF THE HEMISPHERE. THE CHILEAN RESOLUTION FAILED WITH FOUR COUNTRIES (URUGUAY, CHILE, PARAGUAY AND SALVADOR) VOTING YES, FIVE VOTING NO AND 12 - INCLUDING THE U.S. ABSTAINING.

4. BRAZIL ABSTAINED ON EVERYTHING BROUGHT TO A VOTE; EVEN TO THE POINT OF BEING THE ONLY COUNTRY NOT TO VOTE FOR THE REGULATIONS FOR THE MFM. TODMAN

1. THE MEXICO CITY PRESS JULY 27 QUOTES GUYANA'S MINISTER OF TRADE, GEORGE KING AS SAYING: "THE NATIONS OF THE THIRD WORLD MUST BEGIN WORKING NOW IN ORDER THAT THE NEXT SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UN IS ONE OF ITS REPRESENTATIVES AND TO PREVENT THE FIVE(PERMANENT MEMBERS OF) THE SECURITY COUNCIL FROM VETOING THIS." KING WENT ON TO SAY THAT IT IS HIGH TIME THE INDUSTRIALIZED NATIONS STOP DOMINATING THE UN.

2. WITH RESPECT TO ECHEVERRIA'S CANDIDACY, KING ASSERTED MEXICO HAS WON THE RESPECT OF THE ENTIRE THIRD WORLD AND THAT FOR GUYANA IT WILL BE A PLEASURE TO SUPPORT ECHEVERRIA'S CANDIDACY FOR SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UN.

3. KING MADE HIS REMARKS ON ARRIVAL IN MEXICT JULY 26 WITH A NINE-MAN ECONOMIC AND TECHNICAL MISSION CALLED FOR IN THE JOINT COMMUNIQUE WHICH PRIME MINISTER BURNHAM AND PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA SIGNED ON JULY 10 AT THE END OF THE LATTER'S STATE VISIT TO GUYANA. SUBJECT: FOREIGN SECRETARY RABASA DEFENDS MEXICO'S VIGOROUS THIRD WORLD POSITIONS

1. RABASA, WHO LEFT PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA'S 14-COUNTRY TOUR TO GO TO SAN JOSE RIO TREATY CONFERENCE, TOUCHED BASE IN MEXICO OVER WEEKEND BEFORE REJOINING PRESIDENTIAL PARTY. (SOME PRESS ACCOUNTS, BUT NOT SECRETARIAT SOURCES, SAID RABASA WOULD GO TO MOSCOW TO SIGN COMECON AGREEMENT BEFORE JOINING ECHEVERRIA). DURING HIS BRIEF VISIT HOME, RABASA TALKED WITH EXCELSIOR REPORTER WHO RAISED SEVERAL ISSUES OF INTEREST.

2. ASKED WHETHER MEXICO WAS "UNDER PRESSURE FROM GREAT POWERS" BECAUSE OF THIRD WORLD INITIATIVE, RABASA REPLIED IN NEGATIVE. SHOULD SUCH PRESSURES BE EXERTED, HE SAID, THEY WOULD BE "ENERGETICALLY REJECTED". DID THIS MEAN, REPORTER ASKED, THAT GREAT POWERS HAD ABANDONED "COERCIVE ACTIONS"? NO, RABASA SAID, BUT PRESSURE FORMERLY EXERTED THROUGH ARMED INTERVENTION IS NOW APPLIED THROUGH ECONOMIC MEASURES. HENCE THE NEED FOR THE CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF STATES ERCERDSL.

3. IS MEXICO TRYING TO LEAD IN LATIN AMERICA? NO,

RABASA SAID; MEXICO HAS NEVER SOUGHT A LEADERSHIP ROLE, THOUGH "SOME COUNTRIES BELIEVE OR WANT TO BE LEADER."

4. DOES MEXICO'S INTERNATIONAL IMAGE SQUARE WITH ITS NATIONAL REALITY? (THIS PENETRATING QUESTION, SELDOM PUBLICLY RAISED THOUGH FREQUENTLY PRIVATELY DISCUSSED IN MEXICO, TROUBLED RABASA ACCORDING TO THE REPORTER.) "ABROAD, WE HAVE NEVER CONCEALED THAT WE ARE A COUNTRY OF GREAT PRIVATIONS AND THAT UNFORTUNATELY THERE ARE MANY UNSATISFIED NEEDS, IN THE FIELDS OF PUBLIC HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND PRODUCTION. NOR HAVE WE DENIED THAT THERE ARE LARGE NUCLEI OF DISADVANTAGED (WITHIN MEXICAN SOKMCIETY). NONETHLESS, THE GOVERNMENT IS MAKING CONSTANT EFFORTS TO (AMERLIORATE) HEALTH CONDITIONS, (REDUCE), IGNORANCE AND LACK OF DEVELOPMENT ...IN HIS MANY TALKS WITH HEADS OF GOVERNMENT. ...PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA HAS ALWAYS SPOKEN CLEARLY ABOUT THE SITUATION IN MEXICO."

5. DIPLOMATICALLY SPEAKING, ISN'T IT DANGEROUS FOR MEXICO (TO FOLLOW) SUCH AGGRESSIVELY INDEPENDENT POLICIES, HAVING AS A NEIGHBOR THE WORLD'S MOST POWERFUL COUNTRY? RABASA: "ITS'S WORTH RUNNING THE RISK, SO LONG AS MEXICO'S FOREIGN POLICY MEANS A REAFFIRMATION OF NATIONAL AUTONOMY."

6. RABASA FURTHER COMMENTED THAT MEXICO(AND, OBVIOUSLY, THE THIRD WORLD) HAS THE RIGHT TO FIX PRICES OF RAW MATERIALS. HIS RESPONSE TO A QUESTION AS TO WHETHER THE GREAT POWERS DO NOT HAVE A RIGHT TO "GIVE CREDIT, BUY OR NOT BUY, AID OR NOT AID" LDC'S WAS THAT "WE LIVE IN AN INTERDEPENDENT WORLD."

7. WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO THE UN WITHOUT THE ECONOMIC CONTRIBUTION OF THE U.S., WHICH THREATENS TO WITHHOLD IT? RABASA: " IF THE U.S. REALLY WANTS PEACE IN OUR TIME, IT SHOULD CONSIDER THAT THE BEST MEANS OF ACHIEVING IT IS THROUGH--AND COMPLYING WITH THE POSTULATES OF--THE U.N."

8. COMMENT: OF SOME INTEREST IS THAT RABASA'S COMMENTS, SOMEWHAT DEFENSIVE IN TONE, ARE CONSIDERABLY LESS AGGRESSIVE THAN THOSE OF HIS UNDERSECRETARY, RUBEN GONZALEZ [redacted]

[redacted]

SOSA(WHOSE STATEMENTS IN CONNECTION WITH JUST CONCLUDED CLUB OF ROME MEETING IN GUANAJUATO WILL BE SUGJECT OF SEPTEL.) RABASA'S COMMENTS(AND REPORTER'S QUESTIONS) ALSO

SEEM TO REFLECT CONSIDERATION OF POINTS MADE IN SECRETARY KISSINGER'S JULY 14 MILWAUKEE SPEECH. (EMBASSY SENT TEXT OF SPEECH TO HIM UNDER FIRST PERSON NOTE OF JULY 16; TEXT WAS PRESUMABLY TRANSMITTED TO HIM BY SECRETARIAT OR CAME TO HIS ATTENTION DURING BRIEF STOPOVER IN MEXICO CITY.) QUESTION AND ANSWER ON MEXICO'S INTERNATIONAL IMAGE VS ITS NATIONAL REALITY ALSO HAVE OVERTONES OF PORTION OF AMB. MOYNIHAN'S COMMENTARY ARTICLE, WHICH HAS RECEIVED CONSIDERABLE ATTENTION IN LOCAL INTELLECTUAL CICRLES, PRESS, AND FOREIGN SECRETARIAT.

1. HOUSEKEEPING DETAILS WERE QUICKLY CLEARED AWAY IN MORNING SESSIONS; IT BECAME OBVIOUS THAT THOSE OPPOSED COULD NOT ENGAGE IN DELAYING TACTICS, BUT INTENDED TO CATCH THE PLANE ALONG WITH EVERYONE ELSE. INAUGURAL SESSION CONSISTED OF BRIEF STATEMENT BY COSTA RICAN PRESIDENT ODUBER. ODUBER POINTED OUT THAT COSTA RICA HAD STRONGLY SUPPORTED SANCTIONS IN 1964 BUT STRESSED FACT THAT TIME HAD COME FOR CHANGE FOR THE GOOD OF THE SYSTEM, AND REITEREATED COSTA RICA'S CONTINUING ADHERENCE TO THE JREISIONS OF THE ORGAN OF CONSULTATION. BY THAT TIME A RESPECTABLE NUMBER OF FOREIGN MINISTERS WERE PRESENT (SEVEN), MEXICO, PERU, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC, NICARAGUA, HONDURAS, TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO, AND COSTA RICA.

2. GENERAL COMMITTEE DEBATE ON THE RESOLUTION INCLUDING EXPLANATIONS ODLVOTE, WAS RELATIVELY BRIEF (2 1/2 HOURS). MEXICO SPOKE IN SUPPORT OF THEIR FREEDOM OF ACTION FORMULA, [redacted]

[redacted]

AND URGED ITS PASSAGE. GUATEMALA PRODUCED ONLY MILD SURPRISE OF

SESSION. AMBASSADOR CASTILLO GAVE HIS BRIEF REMARKS, PERILS OF PAULINE TREATMENT, LEAVING EVERYONE IN DOUBT UNTIL FINAL LINE WHEN HE SAID GUATEMALA WOULD SUPPORT RESOLUTION. CHILE, PARAGUAY, URUGUAY AND NICARAGUA STRESSED THAT CUBAN INTERVENTION CONTINUED AND CRITICIZED PROCEDURES. BRAZIL DID NOT SPEAK AT ALL.

3. EXPLANATIONS OF VOTE. ALL MEMBERS WHO HAD NOT SPOKEN EARLIER, EXCEPT BRAZIL, PANAMA AND COSTA RICA (WHOSE PRESIDENT HAD ALREADY EXPLAINED VOTE) SPOKE. THE NEWLY COMPLETED RIO TREATY PROTOCOL, INTER-AMERICAN SOLIDARITY, PRINCIPLE OF NON-INTERVENTION, NEED TO LET EACH COUNTRY DETERMINE ITS OWN RELATIONSHIP WITH CUBA IN ACCORDANCE WITH ITS OWN INTEREST WERE FREQUENTLY CITED. EL SALVADOR ARGUED, AS THEY HAD IN QUITO, THAT SANCTIONS WERE NO LONGER JUST, THAT THEY CONFLICT WITH SOVEREIGNTY AND IMPEDED INTER-AMERICAN SOLIDARITY. COUNTRIES WHICH HAD ALREADY REESTABLISHED RELATIONS WKQH CUBA, SUCH AS ARGENTINA AND VENEZUELA, TENDED TO STRESS SOVEREIGN NATURE OF THEIR ACTS AND TO CHARACTERIZE THE SANCTIONS AS OUTMODED. HOWEVER, WITH EXCEPTION OF MEXICO (SEE BELOW) NONE CALLED INTO QUESTION ORIGINAL VALIDITY OF 1964 OAS RESOLUTION.

4. RABASA (MEXICO) CHARACTERIZED THIS AS A DAY OF LIBERATION FOR THE AMERICAS AND NOT SURPRISINGLY REITERATED TRADITIONAL MEXICAN POSITION THAT THE SANCTIONS NEVER WERE LEGALLY PROPER. HE MENTIONED IN PASSING THAT MEXICO CONSIDERED 1962 CUBAN EXCLUSION RESOLUTION AN ERROR. HE NOTED WITH APPROVAL NEW RIO TREATY ARTICLE 11 ON NON-INTERVENTION AND IDEOLOGICAL PLURALISM AND STRESSED RELEVANCE OF ECONOMIC ISSUES. THE RIO TREATY, HE SAID, SHOULD NEVER AGAIN BE USED AS A MEANS OF REPRESSION ON IDEOLOGICAL GROUNDS.

5. TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO MANAGED TO RAISE A FEW EYEBROWS BY CALLING FOR CUBAN REINTEGRATION INTO REGIONAL ECONOMIC SYSTEM (ESPECIALLY IN THE CARIBBEAN) BUT INDICATED CLEARLY THAT THE PRESENT RESOLUTION DID NOT PROVIDE FOR THIS. FOREIGN MINISTER JOSEPH THEN OBSERVED THAT RESOLUTION DID NOT GO FAR ENOUGH: HE WOULD HAVE LIKED TO HAVE SEEN THE 9TH MFM RESOLUTION REVOKED OUTRIGHT.

[redacted]

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

HE ALSO REFERRED TO INCLUSION OF BELIZE IN CARIBBEAN COMMUNITY, WHICH BROUGHT A PREDICTABLE (BUT LOW KEY) RESPONSE FROM GUATEMALA. URUGUAY, IN A BRIEF STATEMENT ENDORSED BY CHILE, STRESSED THAT THE ORGAN OF CONSULTATION HAD NOT REQUAT NOT LIFTED THE SANCTIONS BUT HAD LEFT THEIR CONTINUATION IN EACH INDIVIDUAL CASE TO EACH MEMBER COUNTRY. URUGUAY ALSO STATED THAT RESOLUTION HAD NO EFFECT ON CUBAN EXCLUSION FROM OAS, AN INTERPRETATION THAT WAS NOWHERE CONTRADICTED BUT ALSO WAS IGNORED.

6. BRIEF STATEMENT IN EXPLANATION OF VOTE BY USDEL SENT SEPTEL.

WOULD BE UP TO ISRAELI OFFICIALS; HE HOPED TO VISIT BOTH CITIES AS WELL AS COUNTRYSIDE, LABOR CENTERS, AND HOLY SHRINES.

C. ECHEVERRIA FORCEFULLY AFFFIRMED GOM OPPOSITION TO ISRAEL'S EXPULSION FROM UNITED NATIONS, ADDING THAT IF ILLEGAL SEIZURE OF TERRIORIES WERE USED AS CRITERIA MANY OTHER NATIONS WOULD HAVE TO BE EXPELLED AS WELL, BEGINNING WITH SOME GREAT POWERS. ISRAEL'S EXPULSION WOULD ONLY MAKE IT APPEAR THE VICTIM IN THE CASE. U.N. SHOULD REMAIN FORUM FOR DIALOGUE AND NEGOTIATION OF SUCH PROBLEMS.

D. PRESSED FOR HIS IDEAS ON AN EVENTUAL MIDEAST SOLUTIONS, ECHEVERRIA SAID THE ANSWER WAS ALL RIGHT THERE IN (WHAT ELSE?) THE CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AMD DUTIES, AND HE WHIPPED OUT A COPY AND QUOTED AT LENGTH FVOM ART. 16: NATIONS WHICH PRACTIC COLONIALISM, AGRESSION, OCCUPATION ETC., ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR COMPENSATING AFFECTED PEOPLES, FOR DAMAGES CAUSED. "NO ARAB COUNTRY, NOR THE PALESTINIANS, HAS YET SPOKEN OUT SO FUPLY AS DOES THIS ARTICLE OF THE CHARTER WHICH THEY'VE ALL SIGNED."

E. RE PALESTINIANS, ECHEVERRIA SAID HE WANTED TO HEAR ARAFAT'S ARGUMENTS, JUST AS HE WANTED TO HEAR ISRAEL'S. AT SAME TIME, HE CONCEDED THAT MEXICO HAD ALREADY MADE UP ITS MIND IN SUPPORT OF PALESTINIANS' "HISTORIC RIGHTS", EVEN THOUGH ALL ACTS MIGHT NOT YET BE IN AND EVEN THOUGH "HISTORIC RIGHTS" RAMINED TO BE CLEARLY DEFINED.

3. CUBA SANCTIONS AND CUBAN BEHAVIOR
UNCLASSIFIED

A. ECHEVERRIA CALLED 16TH MFM'S "FREEDOM OF ACTION" RESOLUTION "A VERY POSITIVE MEASURE, ONE WE HAD BEEN HOPINGXER." ADDED THAT IT WAS NECESSARY FOR NATIONS

OF AMERICA TO WORK OUT FREER AND MORE EQUITABLE RELATIONSHIPS, AND MFM ACTION REPRESENTED STP FORWARD. "DISTINGUISHED CUBAN OFFICIALS," HE SAID, HAD LATERLY STATED THAT CUBA'S PERIOD OF EXPORTING ITS REVOLUTION WAS OVER, AND ACTION TAKEN AT SAN JOSE MEANT OTHER GOVERNMENTS SHARED THE SAME VIEW.

B. ECHEVERRIA SAID HE HOPED DECISION WOULD LEAD TOWARD MORE BALANCED COEXISTENCE AND THAT THERE WOULD BE NO INTERVENTION IN CUBA'S AFFAIRS EITHER BY LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES OR BY U.S. ADDED THERE SHOULD BE RESPECT ON BOTH (UNDERSCORE BOTH) SIDES, "SINCE REVOLUTIONS REALLY ARE NOT EXPORTABLE" AND PROGRESSIVE MOVEMENTS HAVE TO GROW OUT OF THE DISTINCT, IDIOSYNCRATIC CHARACTER OF EACH COUNTRY.

C. PRESIDENT EXPECTED INTERCHANGE WITH CUBA TO BE BENEFICIAL TO BOTH SIDES. CUBA'S PROGRESS UNDER REVOLUTIONARY GOVERNMENT WOULD NOW BE MORE WIDELY KNOWN AND OBJECTIVELY APPRECIATED ELSEWHERE IN LATIN AMERICA. WOULD ALSO BE USEFUL FOR CUBA TO LEARN OF DEVELOPMENT EXPERIENCES IN OTHER LATIN COUNTRIES, SINCE CUBA IMPORTS MANY PRODUCTS IT HAS NOT YET LEARNED TO PRODUCE FOR ITSELF.

D. ECHEVERRIA GAVE GENEROUS PRAISE TO FOREIGN SECRETARIAT STAFF FOR HAVING PERSISTED OVER THE YEARS IN EFFORTS TO END SANCTIONS AND FINALLY SUCCEEDING.

4. UNITED NATIONS AND SECGENSHIP

A. NAMED BY ONE NEWSMAN AS A CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED WALDHEIM, ECHEVERRIA ADMITTED THAT HE HAD SEEN REPORTS THAT HE WAS IN THE RUNNING. BUT HE NOTED THAT NO ONE HAD ACTUALLY NOMINATED HIM, THAT WALDHEIM'S TERM WAS UNCLASSIFIED

FAR FROM OVER, AND THAT WALDHEIM "WHO IS DOING A GOOD JOB" MIGHT EVEN BE REELECTED.

B. U.N. AS AN ORGANIZATION, ADDED ECHEVERRIA, BADLY NEEDED STRENGTHENING SO THAT IS DECISIONS COULD BT IMPLEMENTED. UNFORTUNATELY, IT WEAKENED U.N. FURTHER TO HAVE PEOPLE ON ONE HAND -- LIKE U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE -- THREATEN TO CUT OFF ITS ECONOMIC SUPPORT, AND ON

OTHER HAND NATIONS CALLING FOR EXPULSION OF ONE OF ITS MEMBER. UNITED NATIONS MUST BE STRENGTHENED SO THAT GRAVE WORLD PROBLEMS WILL NOT BE WITHHELD FROM ITS JURISDICTION, AS HAS RECENTLY BEEN THE CASE. FURTHER WEAKENING WILL MEAN THAT ONLY AVAILABLE SOLUTION TO THESE PROBLEMS WILL BE THOSE OF FORCE, INCLUDING NUCLEAR FORCE.

C. UNITED NATIONS IS NO LONGER MERELY A BIG MEETING PLACE IN NEW YORK BUT FALEMPLEX OF VALUABLE INSTRUMENTS WHICH POOR COUNTRIES MUST LEARN TO USE TO THEIR ADVANTAGE. WHY WEAKEN IT BY EXPELLING MEMBERS, WHEN IT COST SO MUCH WORK TO BUILD, AND WHEN IT CAN BE PUT TO USE TO SOLVE THIRD WORLD PROBLEMS? "INTERESTED PARTIES" HAVE ASSERTED THAT U.N. HAS BEEN TURNED INTO A FORUM OF CONFRONTATION RULED BY "TYRANNY OF THE MAJORITY." WE MUST COMBAT THIS ASSERTION, HE SAID.

5. TRIP'S PURPOSE: A THIRD WORLD SELA?

A. ECHEVERRIA REMARKED THAT HE HAD SET OUT ON 14-NATION TRIP OVER OBJECTIONS OF MANY OF HIS COLLABORATORS AND DESPITE CRITICISM THAT MEXICO WOULD DERIVE LITTLE BENEFIT FROM IT. BUT RESULTS AT MID-POINT SEEMED WHOLLY POSITIVE. HE HAD NOT BROUGHT SUITCASE FULL OF MEXICAN MERCHANDISE TO SELL, NOR WAS HE GOING ABOUT WITH OUTSTRETCHED HAND ASKING UNCLASSIFIED

FOR LOAND. MEXICAN INDUSTRIALISTS, BANKERS, TECHNICIANS, STUDENTS., ETC., WOULD COME LATER TO BROADER CONTACT HE HAS INITIATED.

B. BUT ECHEVERRIA'S PURPOSE AND MSSAGE WERE MORE TRANSCENDENTAL: MEXICO, HE SAID, IS SKETCHING OUTLINES OF AN ECONOMIC ORGANIZATION WHICH IT SEES AS INCREASINGLY NEEDED AMONG THIRD WORLD COUNTRIES TO STRENGTHEN THEIR NEGOTIATING POSITIONS. JUST AS MEXICO PROPOSED ECONOMIC SYSTEM FOR LATIN AMERICA (SELA), WHICH LATIN AMERICAN NATIONS ARE JUST NOW LAUNCHING, IT HOPED TO PROPOSE SIMILAR THIRD WORLD ORGANIZATION WHICH -- BEYOND GENERAL PURPOSES OF NON-ALIGNED GROUP AND G-77 -- MIGHT HAVE SOME PRACTICAL CONTENT. FOR THE SECRETARY FROM ASST SECY ROGERS AND AMBASSADOR MAILLIARD

1. WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS THE U.S. MEDIA (MOSTLY EAST COAST SO FAR) HAVE WELCOMED OUR POSTURE ON THE OAS RESOLUTION IN SAN JOSE TO GIVE FREEDOM OF ACTION ON BILATERAL POLICY TOWARD CUBA.

2. A NUMBER OF EDITORIALS CAUTION THAT PROBLEMS SUCH AS HUMAN RIGHTS AND COMPENSATION FOR EXPROPRIATION COMPLICATE THE OUTLOOK FOR U.S. CUBA RELATIONS. BUT THERE IS A DISTINCT AIR OF EXPECTATION, THOUGH EDITORIALISTS DIFFER ON WHETHER WE WILL MOVE FORWARD ON BILATERAL RELATIONSHIPS RIGHT AWAY OR LATER.

4. U.S. BUSINESS INTEREST IN THE QTE MEANING UNQTE OF SAN JOSE HAS BEEN BRISK. SO FAR ARA HAS RECEIVED INQUIRIES FROM ABOUT 30 U.S. FIRMS ON OUR BILATERAL AND THIRD-COUNTRY SANCTIONS ON CUBA. COMMERCE HAS ALSO RECEIVED SIMILAR INQUIRIES. IN ADDITION, THE JAPANESE, YUGOSLAVIAN, WEST GERMAN AND GREEK EMBASSIES HERE HAVE MADE INQUIRIES. EMBASSY BEIRUT REPORTS THAT IT EXPECTS MOUNTING PRESSURES FROM THE LEBANESE GOVERNMENT TO IGNORE SHIPPING SANCTIONS.

5. THE CANADIAN EMBASSY HAS INFORMALLY REMINDED US THAT CANADA AGREED NOT TO PRESS PENDING LICENSE APPLICATIONS OF U.S. SUBSIDIARIES BECAUSE OF ITS UNDERSTANDING THAT THE USG WOULD HAVE CLARIFIED ITS POLICY BY THE END OF JULY. WE REMINDED THE CANADIANS THAT WE WOULD EXAMINE LICENSE APPLICATIONS WHICH ARE PARTICULARLY TROUBLESOME TO THEM ON A CASE-BY-CASE BASIS. WE CAN EXPECT A FORMAL DEMARCHE FROM THE CANADIANS VERY SOON. WE HAVE HAD NO SPECIFIC APPROACH FROM THE MEXICANS SINCE SAN JOSE, BUT PRESSURE ON U.S. SUBSIDIARIES IN MEXICO IS LIKELY TO INCREASE NOW.

SUBJECT: DEATHS AND DISAPPEARANCES OF CHILEAN EXTERMISTS: CURRENT STATUS

REFS: (A) STATE 183642 (NOTAL) (B) SANTIAGO 5384

1. SUMMARY: LENGTHY COMMITTÉE FOR PEACE REPORT RAISES ADDITIONAL QUESTIONS CONCERNING VERACITY OF "LEA" AND "O DIA" LISTS. SANTIAGO PRESS AND PRIVATE COMMENTS OF FOR MINISTRY OFFICIAL INDICATE GOC INVESTIGATION IS UNDER WAY. HOWEVER, THERE IS NO DIRECT REACTION YET TO "NY TIMES" AND "WASH. POST" STORIES. END SUMMARY.

2. EMBASSY HAS RECEIVED LENGTHY MIMEOGRAPHED LOW-KEY REPORT, DATED JULY 29, FROM INTERDENOMINATIONAL COMMITTEE FOR PEACE ENTITLED " CONCERNING THE SUPPOSED DEATH OF 119 CHILEANS." UNCLEAR WHAT DISTRIBUTION THIS REPORT HAS RECEIVED, BUT IT HAS NOT YET BEEN MENTIONED IN SANTIAGO PRESS. SELF-PROCLAIMED GOAL OF REPORT IS TO "CONTRIBUTE TO CLARFYING THE TRUTH" IN THIS AFFAIR.

[redacted]

3. REPORT NOTES THAT "HUNDREDS" OF PERSONS HAVE "DISAPPEARED" IN CHILE SINCE SEPTEMBER 11, 1973 COUP. IN "MAJORITY OF CASES,"

THERE IS DIRECT EVIDENCE PERSONS WERE DETAINED BY GOC SECURITY FORCES AND THERE IS INDIRECT EVIDENCE OF SAME IN MOST OF REMAINING CASES. IN SPITE OF NUMEROUS JUDICIAL ACTIONS, ESPECIALLY REQUESTS FOR AMPARA (HABEAS CORPUS), THESE PERSONS HAVE NOT BEEN SEEN AGAIN, AND GOVERNMENT HAS IN MOST CASES DENIED THEY WERE EVER DETAINED.

4. REPORT STATES THAT IN "MORE THAN HALF" OF DETENTION CASES, THERE IS A PERIOD OF "DISAPPEARANCE" LASTING DAYS OR WEEKS BEFORE PERSON "REAPPEARS" IN DETENTION CENTER, IS RELEASED, OR IS FORMALLY CHARGED WITH A CRIME. HOWEVER, "IT IS EXTREMELY RARE THAT PERSONS REAPPEAR AFTER FIVE OR SIX MONTHS." PEACE COMMITTEE HAS BEEN LOGGING CASES OF DISAPPEARED PERSONS SINCE COUP, AND HAS FOUND THAT MOST SUCH CASES OCCURRED IN 1974. RECENTLY, COMMITTEE PRESENTED LIST OF 163 (NOT 166 AS WE HAVE PREVIOUSLY REPORTED) TO COURT SYSTEM WITH REQUEST TO INVESTIGATE. (COMMENT: BOTH SANTIAGO APPEALS COURT AND SUPREME COURT REJECTED REQUEST.)

5. REPORT STATES RECENT "LEA" AND "O DIA" LISTS SHOULD BE SEEN IN THIS CONTEXT. OF 119 NAMES CITED IN THE LISTS, REPORT CONTINUES, THERE IS DIRECT EVIDENCE OF DETENTION BY GOC SECURITY FORCES FOR 77 OF THEM, INDIRECT EVIDENCE FOR 26, AND NO INFORMATION ON REMAINING 16. OF 119, 115 HAD BEEN SUBJECTS OF AMPARO REQUESTS. 105 OF THE 119 WERE ON COMMITTEE'S LIST OF 163 SENT TO THE COURTS. OF THE 119, LARGEST NUMBER (83) WERE REPORTED DETAINED BETWEEN MAY AND OCTOBER 1974, 22 MORE IN NOVEMBER-DECEMBER 1974, AND REMAINING 14 IN 1975. IN 4 CASES, GOC OFFICIALS HAD OFFICIALLY ACKNOWLEDGED THESE PERSONS WERE DETAINED.

6. REPORT CONCLUDES BY CITING NUMEROUS "CONTRADICTIONS" IN "LEA" AND "O DIA" ACCOUNTS, THEN NOTES THE SUFFERING OF FAMILY MEMBERS OF THE 119 PLUS THE "UNCERTAINTY" LISTS HAVE AROUSED AMONG FAMILY MEMBERS OF OTHER DISAPPEARED PERSONS.

7. IN OTHER DEVELOPMENTS, SANTIAGO PRESS AUGUST 5 REPORTS CHILEAN "CIVIL POLICE" HAVE LAUNCQGD INVESTIGATION OF AFFAIR AT REQUEST OF MINISTRY OF INTERIOR. CHILEAN EMBASSY IN BUENOS AIRES HAS REPORTEDLY BEEN INSTRUCTED TO REQUEST INFORMATION FROM

[redacted]

ARGENTINE OFFICIALS.

8. AUGUST 5 SANTIAGO PRESS ALSO CARRIES OFFICIAL DENIAL BY GOC COMMUNICATIONS DIRECTOR COL. ORLANDO JEREZ OF PURPORTED HUNGER STRIKE BY POLITICAL PRISONERS AT PUCHUNCAVI DETENTION CENTER DEMANDING CLARIFICATION OF LISTS. SAME STORY ALSO REPORTS SANTIAGO AUXILLIARY BISHOP ALVEAR WILL HOLD SPECIAL MASS "TO ASK FOR CLARIFICATION OF WHAT HAS HAPPENED."

9. KANDELL AND OMANG STORIES (REF A) STILL NOT REPORTED IN SANTIAGO

MEDIA.

10. FOR. MINISTRY DIR. OF INTL (POLITICAL) AFFAIRS (PROTECT) TOLD EMBOFF AUG 5 THAT MINISTRY HAS BEEN UNABLE TO ESTABLISH EXISTENCE OF "O DIA." SOURCE FOR "LEA"ARTICLE WAS ALLEGEDLY A "MEXICAN NEWS SERVICE" CALLED FONEL WHICH NO ONE HERE HAS HEARD OF. SOURCE STATED CHILEAN CONSUL IN BA IS DEEPLY SUSPICIOUS THAT ANY OF THREE BODIES WHICH HAVE APPEARED IN BUENOS AIRES MATHC THEIR ACCOMPANYING CHILEAN IDENTIFICATION DOCUMENTS. SOURCE COMMENTED THAT BOTH LISTS "SMELL" AND WERE OBVIOUSLY PLANTED BY SOMEONE. FOREIGN MINISTRY IS INVESTIGATING.

11. COMMENT: WE FIND NO MAJOR FACTUAL FAULT WITH EITHER KANDELL OR OMANG STORIES. LATTER TENDS TO EXTRAPOLATE FROM KNOW FACTS PERHAPS MORE THAN PRESENTLY JUSTIFIED, BUT LINE OF SPECULATION IS LEGITIMATE. WE NOTE CONGEN SAO PAULO HAS FOUND "O DIA" WHERE APPARENTLY "NY TIMES" AND "WASHINGTON POST" WERE UNABLE TO DO SO, BUT WE READILY UNDERSTAND HOW THAT PUBLICATION COULD HAVE BEEN OVERLOOKED. WE WILL BE ANALYZING THIS AFFAIR IN SEPTEL.

12. FOR SAO PAULO: GIVEN DEPT INTEREST IN THIS SUBJECT, SUGGEST YOU REPEAT SAO PAULO 1595 AND 1608 TO DEPARTMENT.

SUBJECT: ANALYSIS OF DEATHS AND DISAPPEARANCES OF CHILEAN EXTREMISTS

REFS: (A) STATE 183642 (B) STATE 184296

1. SUMMARY: WE CONCLUDE THAT REPORTS DESCRIBING DEATHS OR DISAPPEARANCES OF 119 CHILEAN EXTREMISTS OUTSIDE OF CHILE ARE PROBABLY UNTRUE, THOUGH MOST OR ALL CONCERNED ARE PROBABLY DEAD. MOST PLAUSIBLE EXPLANATION WE CAN PIECE TOGETHER FOR WHAT WILL PROBABLY REMAIN SOMETHING OF A MYSTERY IS THAT GOC SECURITY FORCES ACTED DIRECTLY OR THROUGH THIRD PARTY, PLANTED REPORTS IN OBSCURE PUBLICATIONS TO PROVIDE SOME MEANS OF ACCOUNTING FOR DISAPPEARANCE OF NUMEROUS VIOLENT LEFTISTS. GOC SECURITY FORCES MAY HAVE [redacted]

[redacted]

KILLED SOME OR ALL OF THEM. END SUMMARY.

2. WHAT DO WE KNOW? -- FIRST LIST (SANTIAGO 5039) APPEARED

UNCLASSIFIED [redacted] SECRET

9862.

UNCLASSIFIED

IN ARGENTINA MAGAZINE "LEA." STORY WAS THAT 60 CHILEAN EXTREMISTS HAD BEEN KILLED OUTSIDE OF CHILE AS RESULT OF INTERNAL PURGES IN EXTREMIST GROUPS ARISING OUT OF CONFLICTS OVER MONEY, IDEOLOGY, ETC. KILLINGS WERE ALLEGED TO HAVE TAKEN PLACE IN ARGENTINA, MEXICO, FRANCE, COLOMBIA, VENEZUELA AND PANAMA.

3. "LEA" IS OBSCURE PUBLICATION WHICH MAY HAVE APPEARED FOR ONLY ONE ISSUE, MAY HAVE USED FALSE PUBLISHING ADDRESS, AND APPEARS TO BE TIED TO LOPEZ REGA AND RIGHT-WING ARGENTINE GROUPS.

4. SOURCE OF "LEA" STORY IS ALLEGEDLY OBSCURE MEXICAN NEWS SERVICE CALLED FONEL, UNKNOWN TO US AND TO CHILEAN FONMINISTRY. THERE IS NO CONFIRMATION FROM ANY OTHER SOURCE OR COUNTRY THAT SUCH PURGES HAVE OCCURRED, NOR HAVE THE BODIES OF THE 60 PERSONS NAMED BEEN PRODUCED OR IDENTIFIED.

5. SECOND LIST (SANTIAGO 5185) FIRST APPEARED IN JUNE 25 ISSUE OF "O DIA" OF CURITIBA, BRAZIL. ARTICLE ALLEGED THAT AN ADDITIONAL 59 CHILEAN EXTREMISTS "DIED, WERE WOUNDED, OR ESCAPED" IN ARMED CONFRONTATIONS WITH ARGENTINE SECURITY FORCES IN SALTA AREA. STORY WAS DATELINED BUENOS AIRES, BUT WAS NOT ATTRIBUTED TO ANY WIRE SERVICE.

6. "O DIA" EXISTS, BUT IT IS AN OBSCURE, MORE-OR-LESS MONTHLY NEWSLETTER PUT OUT BY ONE PERSON IN CURITIBA (SAO PAULO 1595), WHO CLAIMS HE GOT THE STORY FROM "A FRIEND" ON A RECENT TRIP TO BUENOS AIRES (SAO PAULO 1608). THERE IS NO CONFIRMATION THAT SUCH A CLASH IN SALTA OR ANYWHERE ELSE ACTUALLY TOOK PLACE.

7. THERE IS SOME REASON TO BELIEVE "O DIA" LIST WAS DISTRIBUTED IN SANTIAGO BY A GOC SOURCE; ONE SANTIAGO NEWSPAPER SPECIFICALLY SO STATED. THERE IS NO INDICATION ANY HIGH-LEVEL GOC ELEMENT INVOLVED IN DISTRIBUTION.

8. NEARLY ALL OF 119 PERSONS WERE ON PEACE COMMITTEE LIST [redacted]

OF 163 DISAPPEARED PERSONS PRESENTED TO SANTIAGO APPEALS COURT AND SUPREME COURT IN MAY, AND HANDED PERSONALLY TO SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT EYZAGUIRRE AND MIN JUSTICE SCHWEITZER. MOST OF 119 HAD BEEN OBJECTS OF PREVIOUS AMPARO (HABEAS CORPUS) REQUESTS (SANTIAGO 5190). ORDINARILY THESE REQUESTS INCLUDE SWORN STATEMENTS THAT PERSONS CONCERNED HAD BEEN DETAINED.

9. PEACE COMMITTEE ALSO CLAIMS TO HAVE "DIRECT" EVIDENCE IN 77 OF THESE CASES AND "INDIRECT" EVIDENCE IN ANOTHER 26

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

THAT THESE PERSONS WERE DETAINED IN CHILE BY GOC SECURITY FORCES. WE HAVE SEEN SEVERAL COMMITTEE FILES ON INDIVIDUALS INCLUDED IN THE 119, AND THEY APPEAR CONVINCING; SOME MIGHT BE FALSIFIED TO A GREATER OR LESSER DEGREE, BUT WE DOUBT ALL ARE. FURTHER, COMMITTEE CLAIMS THAT IN FOUR CASES GOC HAD OFFICIALLY ACKNOWLEDGED PERSONS WERE DETAINED (SANTIAGO 5405). IN NO CASE DOES COMMITTEE HAVE KNOWLEDGE THAT PERSON WAS EVENTUALLY RELEASED OR SUBSEQUENTLY CONTACTED RELATIVES. ALL 119 NAMES ARE ON ICRC'S REFINED LIST OF PERSONS PRESUMED DETAINED BY GOC (SANTIAGO 5428), AND BRITISH EMBASSY/SANTIAGO TOLD US GOC HAD ASSURED EMBASSY THAT TWO PERSONS WHO SUBSEQUENTLY APPEARED AMONG 119 WERE IN GOC CUSTODY AND IN GOOD CONDITION (SANTIAGO 5280).

10. THREE BODIES ONLY (TWO OF THEM AMONG THE 119 AND THE OTHER OF SAME TYPE OF CASE) HAVE APPEARED IN BUENOS AIRES, ACCOMPANIED BY ALLEGED CHILEAN IDENTIFICATION DOCUMENTS. HOWEVER FAMILY MEMBERS HAVE SWORN TO DETAILED STATEMENTS THAT BODIES DO NOT BELONG TO THEIR MISSING RELATIVES. IN TWO OF THE THREE CASES, THEY HAVE FURTHER CLAIMED THAT ALLEGED IDENTIFICATION DOCUMENTS ARE CRUDE FORGERIES.

11. POSSIBLE EXPLANATIONS: PRESS STORIES ARE TRUE AS PRINTED -- FOR VARIETY OF REASONS CITED ABOVE, IT IS DIFFICULT TO ACCEPT "LEA" AND O DIA" STORIES AT FACE VALUE. FURTHER, WE KNOW OF NO RESPONSIBLE SOURCE (SENIOR GOVERNMENT CIVILIAN ADVISER, FOREIGN MINISTRY OFFICIAL, SENIOR CHILEAN MILITARY INTELLIGENCE OFFICER, PEACE COMMITTEE OFFICIALS AND CLERGYMEN, DEFENSE LAWYERS AND MANY OTHERS) WHO WILL PUBLICLY ACCEPT STORIES AS TRUE. AFTER PERIOD OF INITIAL ACCEPTANCE (E.G. "EL MERCURIO" JULY 25 EDITORIAL - SANTIAGO

MOTIVATION, IN ADDITION TO EMBARRASSING GOC IN CONJUNCTION WITH ABORTIVE UNHRC VISIT, WOULD BE TO PRESSURE GOC INTO DISCLOSING WHAT HAPPENED TO DISAPPEARED EXTREMISTS/COMRADES. (WE DO NOT QUESTION ASSERTION THAT ALL OR MOST OF 119 WERE OPPONENTS OF PRESENT GOC, ALTHOUGH NOT ALL ARE/WERE MEMBERS OF EXTREMIST MIR. NOR DO WE DOUBT THAT MIR, OTHER ORGANIZED OPPONENTS, OR PERHAPS EVEN INDIVIDUAL PEACE COMMITTEE STAFFERS WOULD BE WILLING TO PLANT SUCH LISTS). TENDING TO UNDERCUT THIS THEORY, HOWEVER, IS POSSIBILITY THAT SOME ONE CONNECTED WITH GOC DISTRIBUTED "O DIA" LIST BEFORE PUBLICATION IN CHILE. MORE IMPORTANT, EVEN ASSUMING THE "OPPOSITION" HAD THE CAPABILITY FOR MOUTING SUCH AN OPERATION, IT SEEMS UNLIKELY THEY WOULD OR

[redacted]

[redacted]

PAGE 02 SANTIA 05483 02 OF 02 082116Z

COULD HAVE USED THA RIGHT-WING CONTROLLED "LEA" AND THE "O DIA" CHANNELS TO DISSEMINATE THE LISTS. FINALLY, IF THIS WERE AN OPPOSITION MANEUVER AND ANY OF THE 119 WERE STILL DETAINED, GOC COULD DISPROVE ARTICLES BY PRODUCING ALIVE AND WELL SOME OF PERSONS NAMED IN LISTS -- SOMETHING THAT HAS NOT YET OCCURRED -- OR BY RELEASING SOME INFORMATION ON HOW THEY ACTUALLY DIED.

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

13. THE GOC PLANTED THE STORIES -- TO ASSUME THIS, ONE MUST EXPLAIN WHY GOC OR SOME AGENCY OR OFFICIAL WOULD FEEL COMPELLED TO CONCOCT A COVER STORY ON DISAPPEARED PERSONS. WE SEE THREE POSSIBLE REAONS: (A) UNHRC WOULD INEVIABLY LOOK INTO QUESTION OF DISAPPEARED PERSONS, AND SOME KIND OF PRIOR PUBLIC EXPLANATION OF WHAT HAPPENED TO THEM WAS URGENTLY NEEDED; (B) PRESSURE WAS ON GOC FROM PEACE COMMITTEE LIST AND IN COURTS; AND (C) EYZAGUIRRE AND SCHWEITZER MAY HAVE BEEN DEMANDING EXPLANATION FROM GOC ON WHAT HAPPENED TO THESE PEOPLE. WE CONCLUDE THAT GOC MIGHT WELL HAVE BEEN IMPELLED TO PLANT LISTS.

14. ADDITIONALLY, IT WOULD BE PLAUSIBLE TO ASSUME THAT ARGENTINE SECURITY FORCES AND/OR RIGHT-WING GROUPS SUCH AS AAA AND LOPEZ REGA ELEMENTS EXTENDED AT LEAST TACIT COOPERATION TO GOC IN THIS MATTER. "LEA" APPARENTLY HAS SOME CONNECTION WITH LOPEZ REGA; AND ARGENTINES HAVE NEITHER CONFIRMED NOR DENIED ALLEGED CLASH IN SALTA.

15. IF THESE ASSUMPTIONS ARE JUSTIFIED, IT SEEMS TO US PROBABLE THAT MOST OR ALL OF THE 119 ARE DEAD (NONE HAS BEEN HEARD FROM) AND THAT SOME OR ALL MAY HAVE BEEN KILLED WHILE DETAINED, OR PERHAPS IN ENCOUNTERS WITH GOC SECURITY FORCES WITHIN CHILE. THE EVIDENCE IS CIRCUMSTANTIAL, BUT IT IS CONSISTENT WITH RECURRENT SECOND-AND THIRD-HAND REPORTS OF THE DEATHS OF VIOLENT LEFTIST EXTREMISTS AT THE HANDS OF THESE FORCES.

16. SEE ALSO [redacted] WHICH CONFIRMS IN SEVERAL RESPECTS PLAUSIBILITY OF ARGUMENT THAT SOME ELEMENT OF GOVERNMENT WAS INVOLVED IN PLANTING TWO LISTS TOTALLING 119 PERSONS.

SUBJECT: FOREIGN MINISTER MONTIEL'S PRESS CONFERENCE

1. NICARAGUAN FOREIGN MINISTER ALEJANDRO MONTIEL SARGUELLO SAID THAT HIS GOVERNMENT HAS ABSTAINED DURING THE VOTE TO LIFT THE OAS BLOCKADE OF CUBA BECAUSE THE DANGER OF CUBAN INTERVENTION IN THE OTHER NATIONS OF LATIN AMERICA CONTINUES.

2. MONTIEL ALSO SAID THAT HE BELIEVES IT IS INDEED POSSIBLE TO ACHIEVE PAN AMERICAN UNITY. HE ADDED THAT THE OAS IS AN ORGANIZATION WHICH FULFILLS ITS MISSION BUT CONCEDED THAT IT HAS TO BE RESTRUCTURED IN ORDER TO OPERATE MORE EFFICIENTLY.

3. WITH RESPECT TO ECHEVERRIA'S POSSIBLE CANDIDACY FOR UN SECRETARY GENERAL, MONTIEL SAID THAT HIS COUNTRY WOULD SUPPORT THE MEXICAN LEADER'S NOMINATION AND THAT "IT WOULD BE A GREAT SOURCE OF PRIDE FOR ALL OF US IF (ECHEVERRIA) WERE TO BECOME THE FIRST LATIN AMERICAN SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UN."

4. MONTIEL, WHO ESCORTED THE BODIES OF 17 MEXICAN VICTIMS OF AN AIR CRASH IN NICARAGUA, MADE HIS REMARKS TO THE PRESS DURING HIS BRIEF VISIT TO THIS COUNTRY AUGUST 6.

1. SUMMARY: ECHEVERRIA ARRIVED IN CUBA AUGUST 18 TO BEGIN THE LAST AND LONGEST STATE VISIT OF HIS CURRENT 14 NATION TOUR. ECHEVERRIA AND CASTRO'S PRONOUNCEMENTS DURING THE COURSE OF THE FIRST DAY OF THIS VISIT (AS REPORTED IN THE MEXICAN PRESS) ARE LACED WITH MILITANT THIRD WORLD RHETORIC BUT NOT QUITE AS SHRILL AS HAS BEEN HEARD FROM THE TWO LEADERS IN THE PAST. THE MOST IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENT OF THE VISIT THUS FAR IS CASTRO'S REPORTED ACCEPTANCE OF ECHEVERRIA'S INVITATION TO VISIT MEXICO. END SUMMARY.

2. ON HIS ARRIVAL IN CUBA AUGUST 18, ECHEVERRIA WAS MET AT THE AIRPORT BY PRIME MINISTER FIDEL CASTRO AND PRESIDENT OSVALDO DORTICOS. TELEVISION AND NEWSPAPERS ACCOUNTS (REPLETE WITH PHOTOGRAPHS) INDICATE THAT CROWDS OF HALF A MILLION PEOPLE LINED THE ROUTE FROM THE AIRPORT TO GREET ECHEVERRIA WITH SHOUTS OF "VIVA MEXICO."

3. CASTRO WAS EFFUSIVE IN PRAISING ECHEVERRIA NOT ONLY FOR HIS POLICY TOWARD AND FRIENDSHIP FOR CUBA BUT ALSO FOR HIS ROLE IN LEADING LATIN AMERICAN INTEGRATION. IN A DECLARATION SYMBOLIC OF THIS FRIENDSHIP, CASTRO DECLARED THAT HE PERSONALLY WOULD "GO WITH HIM (ECHEVERRIA) WHEREVER HE GOES" DURING THIS TRAVELS

IN CUBA. ECHEVERRIA IN TURN CALLED CASTRO ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL PROTAGONISTS OF MODERN HISTORY. ADDITIONALLY, CASTRO REPORTEDLY ACCEPTED ECHEVERRIA'S INVITATION TO VISIT MEXICO SOMETIME DURING THE COMING YEAR.

4. WHILE THE TWO LEADERS'S SPEECHES WERE PREDICTABLY LACED WITH THIRD WORLD RHETORIC, NEITHER WAS AS SHRILL IN HIS MILITANCY AS BOTH HAVE BEEN IN THE PAST ACCORDING TO PRESS ACCOUNTS PUBLISHED THUS FAR IN MEXICO CITY. TYPICAL OF ECHEVERRIA'S REMARKS: "THE CUBAN REVOLUTION, THE VIETNAMESE STRUGGLE, AND THE INDEPENDENCE OF THE COUNTRIES OF AFRICA ARE AMONG MANY OTHER INDISPUTABLE INDICATIONS THAT OUR TIME IS ONE OF SOCIAL CHANGE, OUR EPOCH IS ONE OF THE REAFFIRMATION OF THE THIRD WORLD AND OUR TASK IS THAT OF CONSTRUCTING A MORE JUST AND HUMANE SOCIETY. SUBJECT: THIRD COUNTRY RESTRICTIONS AGAINST TRADE WITH CUBA

FOR THE AMBASSADOR

1. AS MOST ADDRESSES AWARE, THE OAS ADOPTED ON JULY 29 A FREEDOM OF ACTION RESOLUTION ON CUBAN SANCTIONS. THE US GOVERNMENT HAS DECIDED TO MODIFY US RESTRICTIONS AGAINST TRADE WITH CUBA AS THEY RELATE DIRECTLY TO THIRD COUNTRIES.

[redacted]

[redacted]

BECAUSE EXISTING RESTRICTIONS HAVE AFFECTED YOUR HOST GOVERNMENT, WE SUGGEST YOU INFORM IT EARLY IN THE MORNING OF AUGUST 21.

2. THE MODIFICATIONS ARE BEING UNDERTAKEN BY THE USG IN LIGHT OF THE DECISION TAKEN BY THE ORGAN OF CONSULTATION OF THE ORGANIZATION OF AMERICAN STATES ACTING UNDER THE RIO TREATY TO LEAVE TO EACH MEMBER STATE TO DETERMINE FOR

ITSELF THE NATURE OF ITS ECONOMIC AND DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH THE GOVERNMENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF CUBA. THE US SUPPORTED THE FREEDOM OF ACTION RESOLUTION. IN LIGHT OF THE ACTION BY THE OAS, THE US BELIEVES IT DESIRABLE TO CHANGE THOSE ASPECTS OF OUR CUBAN DENIAL POLICY WHICH DIRECTLY AFFECT THIRD COUNTRIES IN ORDER TO MAKE US

POLICY CONSISTENT WITH THE END OF MANDATORY OAS SANCTIONS. WE WOULD NOT WISH TO TAKE ACTION DETRIMENTAL TO OTHER COUNTRIES, WHICH FAVOR TRADE WITH CUBA, ONCE THE OAS MANDATORY SANCTIONS HAVE TERMINATED.

3. THE USG WILL GRANT LICENSES PERMITTING TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN US SUBSIDIARIES AND CUBA FOR TRADE IN FOREIGN-MADE GOODS WHEN THOSE SUBSIDIARIES ARE OPERATING IN COUNTRIES WHERE LOCAL LAW OR POLICY FAVORS TRADE WITH CUBA. SPECIFIC LICENSES WILL CONTINUE TO BE REQUIRED IN EACH CASE AND THEY WILL REMAIN SUBJECT TO REGULATIONS CONCERNING US ORIGIN PARTS, COMPONENTS, STRATEGIC GOODS AND TECHNOLOGY.

4. IN THE VERY NEAR FUTURE, WE WILL ALSO TAKE STEPS TO PERMIT THE CONTINUATION OF ASSISTANCE UNDER THE FOREIGN ASSISTANCE ACT OF 1961 TO COUNTRIES WHICH PERMIT SHIPS AND AIRCRAFT UNDER THEIR REGISTRY TO TRANSPORT GOODS TO OR FROM CUBA AND TO PERMIT BUNKERING OF FOREIGN FLAG VESSELS IN THE CUBA TRADE. ADDITIONALLY, WE WILL SEEK AUTHORITY FROM THE US CONGRESS FOR BROADER WAIVER AUTHORITY REGARDING THE EXISTING PL 480, TITLE 1, FOOD SALES SUSPENSION REQUIREMENT FOR COUNTRIES THAT TRADE WITH CUBA. AT PRESENT WAIVER AUTHORITY EXTENDS ONLY TO CASES OF TRADE WITH CUBA IN AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES AND FOODSTUFFS, NON-STRATEGIC RAW MATERIALS AND MEDICAL SUPPLIES.

5. ALTHOUGH SECRETARY KISSINGER HAS SAID WE ARE PREPARED TO START A BILATERAL DIALOGUE WITH CUBA, THE LIFTING OF US THIRD COUNTRY RESTRICTIONS AGAINST CUBA SHOULD NOT BE REGARDED IN THAT CONTEXT, BUT AS A COROLLARY TO THE OAS FREEDOM OF ACTION RESOLUTION. KISSINGER UNQUOTE MAW

7. WHEN ASKED WHETHER SOCIALISM COULD BE ESTABLISHED PEACEFULLY, CASTRO RESPONDED: "I FEEL THAT REVOLUTIONS WILL CONTINUE TO BE PRODUCED IN THE WORLD IN ONE FORM OR ANOTHER. I WOULD NOT DARE TO SAY THAT THERE COULD NOT BE PEACEFUL CHANGE IN ANY COUNTRY. VERY STRONG POPULAR MOVEMENTS HAVE RISEN IN LATIN AMERICA... WHICH CAN CREATE THE CONDITIONS FOR A PEACEFUL TRANSITION. ADDITIONALY, CASTRO DESCRIBED WATH HE CALLED "A LATIN AMERICAN BLOCKADE AGAINST THE UNITED STATES" AS FOLLOWS: "IT'S A BLOCKADE IN THE CONSCIENCE OF THE RURAL WORKERS, OF THE LABORERS OF THE UNIVERSITY STUDENTS (AND) OF TME NEW GENERATIONS. IT'S A PSYCMOLOGICAL (AND) A MORAL BLOCKADE WHICH THE UNITED STATES CANNOT DILUTE SIGNIFICANTLY WITHOUT RADICALLY CHANGING ITS POLICY TOWARD ALL LATIN AMERICA". (NOTE: SOME NEWSPAPERS ATTRIBUTED AN ALMOST IDENTICAL STATEMENT TO MEXICAN PRESIDENT LUIS ECHEVERRIA, BUT IT IS NOT IN-CLUDED IN EITHER SUMMARY OR TRANSCRIPT OF PRESS CONFERENCE PUBLISHED BY SEMI-OFFICIAL EL NACIONAL.)

7. WHEN ASKED WHETHER SOCIALISM COULD BE ESTABLISHED PEACEFULLY, CASTRO RESPONDED: "I FEEL THAT REVOLUTIONS WILL CONTINUE TO BE PRODUCED IN THE WORLD IN ONE FORM OR ANOTHER.

I WOULD NOT DARE TO SAY THAT THERE COULD NOT BE PEACEFUL CHANGE IN ANY COUNTRY. VERY STRONG POPULAR MOVEMENTS HAVE RISEN IN LATIN AMERICA... WHICH CAN CREATE THE CONDITIONS FOR A PEACEFUL TRANSITION. I WOULD NOT WANT TO ASSERT, IN ANY MANNER, NOR ESTABLISH AS A DOGMA THAT PEACEFUL TRANSITION IS IMPOSSIBLE. UP TO NOW IT HAS NOT BEEN POSSIBLE, BUT I BELIEVE IT WILL BE POSSIBLE IN MANKIND'S FUTURE DESPITE OUR OWN EXPERIENCES".

8. CASTRO WARMLY PRAISED VISITING MEXICAN PRESIDENT LUIS ECHEVERRIA, AS "A DISTRINGUISHED STATESMAN OF THE WORLD", AS "THE GUIDING FORCE" BEHIND THE CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF STATES, SELA, AND NAMUCAR, AND "AS A STATESMAN WHO LIFTED HIS VOICE THROUGHOUT ALL LATIN AMERICAN IN CONDEMNATION COMMENDATION OF THE BLOCKADE AGAINST CUBA."

SUBJECT : Mexican President's Visit to Tanzania

REF : (A) Mexico 6020; (B) Mexico A-207

Mexican President Echeverria visited Tanzania July 25-28 as part of his current "third world" tour. The visit brought no surprises, and the rhetoric was as usual in such visits, with the Mexican President promoting his role as a third world spokesman. Aside from ceremonial and travel, President Echeverria laid the corner-stone of the $16,000,000 sisal mill agreed on during President Nyerere's visit to Mexico last April (Ref. B). A modest exchange program was also agreed to.

These doings are outlined in the Joint Communique (Enclosure 1), while the Mexican President's familiar views on the third world were outlined in his speech at the dinner given in his honor (Enclosure 2). Details of the Sisal Factory were included in a newspaper article printed July 24 (Enclosure 3).

Comment: The Mexican President was cordially received, but the visit came and went with few obvious repercussions. Mexico is anxious to improve its standing and influence in the Afro-Asian area, and Tanzania is anxious to expand its contacts with the more militant Latin American nations, so we can expect a gradual upswing in the up-to-now almost dormant level of Tanzanian-Mexican relations.

JOINT COMMUNIQUE OF THE VISIT TO TANZANIA OF THE PRESIDENT OF MEXICO

Mexico

(1) At the invitation of the President of the United Republic of Tanzania, H.E. Mwalimu Julius K. Nyerere, the President of Mexico, H.E. Luis Echeveria Alvarez, made a State visit to Tanzania from July, 25th to July, 28th 1975.

(2) The President of Mexico was accompanied by his wife Mrs. Maria Esther Zuno de Echeveria, Senator Enrique Olivares Santana, President of the Permanent Commission of the Congress and President Great Commission of the Chamber of Senators, Deputy Carlos Sansores Perez, President of the Great Commission of the Chamber of Deputies, Mr. Euquerio Guerrero Lopez, President of the Supreme Court of Justice, as well as high ranking officials of his government.

(3) While in Tanzania, Presodent Echeverria and his entourage had the opportunity to visit the site of the new capital of Tanzania, Dodoma, where he met and discussed with the officials of the Capital Development Authority.

(4) Later President Echeveria and his entourage visited the Tanga Region where he inspected the Sisal Estates at Mombo, and noted the advanced techniques that have been developed for the growth of sisal. In Korogwe, the two Heads of States laid down the Foundation Stone of the TANZAMEX Sisal Factory that will be constructed through the cooperation of both countries.

(5) President Echeveria and his entourage spent sometime in the Serengeti National Park viewing the Game and the manner in which these natural reserves are administered and how the animals are protected.

(6) The two Presidents had the opportunity to renew the dialogue initiated in Mexico during the course of the State visit that the President Nyerere made in April, 1975.

They held broad ranging discussions that developed in an atmosphere of cordiality and fraternity befitting the relations existing between the two States.

(7) The two Presidents welcomed the independence of Mozambique, Cape Verde Islands, Sao Tome and Principe and expr ssed their conviction that these new states should now take their rightful places, as full member States of the United Nations. They saluted the Declaration of Independence of the Comoro Islands, and expressed their satisfaction at the forthcoming independance of Angola and the Sychelles Islands.

(8) On the question of Namibia, they expressed their deep disappointment at the recent veto cast by the three of the Permanent Members of the Security Council and reaffirmed their conviction that South Africa racist regime is illegally occupying Namibia in contavention of the resolutions that have been adopted by the United Nations.

(9) The two Presidents reaffirmed the right of the people of Zimbabwe to self determination and indepence.

(1) As regards South Africa, the two Heads of State reiterated their condemnation of the racial policies of Apertheid as practiced in South Africa and called upon that regime to abolish these laws forthwith. In this regard they held the conviction that it is indispensable for the international community to apply strictly the measures adopted by the United Nations in order to eradicate completely the apertheid and other discriminatory practices.

(11) Aware of the serious economic problems the World faces today, and concerned about the negative effects of this situation, particularly on developing nations, the two leaders expressed their conviction that the only manner of insuring valid, permanent and general solution is by the creation of a new international economic order based on equity, justice and cooperation among states. They coincided in the opoinion that the new international economic order should be built on the principles of the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States, the complete application of which, should be considered absolutely indispensable.

(12) Both Leaders emphatically reafirmed that their two nations are active members of the Third World and agreed that it is essential to broaden and perfect the bonds among nations forming part ofthis economic reality. Consequently, they ½ointed out that the Third World countries should adopt common policies aimed at developing joint actions and coordinating their activities in relation to production of raw materials and their sale on world markets for just and stable prices.

(13) They agreed that the Tanganyika Coffee Board and the Mexican Institute of Coffee will coordinate their commercial policies in order to defend permanently the prices of their production of renumerative levels. In the negotiations on a new International Coffee Agreement, they will seek a minimum guarantee of income in foreign exchange for the producing countries.

(14) During their conversations President Echeveria explained the aims and purpose of the University and the Institute of Social and Economic Studies of the Third World that are beign established in Mexico, on the technology that is being developed by Third World countries for their use in programmes of development.

President Nyerere congratulated him for the initiative and offerred to senda to the University all available information about Tanzania.

(15) The two Heads of States expressed their satisfaction over the existing cooperation between Mexico and Tanzania in different areas and stated that this cooperation would be increased and cover wider areas in the future.

(16) In this regard they welcomed the progress already made in the field of Sisal, though the establishment of the terms and conditions between the two countries, for their trai ning in cultivation and industrialisation of this important natural resource.

(17) They expressed their satsfaction for the progress already accomplished in the cooperation that Mexico has given in the planning of the construction of the new capital in Dodoma; and particularly the training programme of Tanzania technicians in Mexico, in the fields of construction, architecture, urban planning, sociology and economis. This programme is to be put into operation imeediately.

(18) The President of Mexico retariated his offer of 10 full scholarships to 10 young Tanzanians to study in any fields taught at the National Centre of Technical and Industrial Learning in Mexico City. President Nyerere also reiterated his offer of scholaships to Mexican technicians to come to Tanzania to specialire in Wildlife preservation and Natinal Parks anagement.

The two Heads of States agreed these programme of fellowship would begin in September, 1975.

(19) President Luis Echeveria Alvarez expressed to President Julius K. Nyerere his warm appreciations for the cordial and friendly welcome he received as well as the courtesies that he, his wife and members of his party, were accorded during their stay in Tanzania.

Julius K. Nyerere, President of the United Republic of Tanzania.

Luis Echeverria Alvarez, President of Mexico.

DAR ES SALAAM, 28th July, 1975.

ADDRESS BY LUIS ECHEVERRIA, PRESIDENT OF MEXICO, AT THE OFFICIAL RECEPTION GIVEN AT DAR ES SALAAM BY HIS EXCELLENCY, DR. JULIUS NYERERE, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED REPUBLIC OF TANZANIA, DURING THE VISIT OF THE MEXICAN HEAD OF STATE AND MRS. ECHEVERRIA.

25 JULY 1975.

MR. PRESIDENT:

In the name of the people of Mexico, I bring cordial greetings to the vigorous people of Tanzania, and express my deep appreciation for the warm hospitality my wife and I have received since our arrival in this beautiful country.

Your words and particularly the high honor you have done me by this fraternal reception unhampered by the trappings of protocol constitute for me a clear indication of the close ties which unite our two nations and echo the personal regard we hav for each other.

Under your inspired leadership, Tanzania achieved its independence and attained the integration which characterizes it today. The country continues to progress under the aegis of African cultural values and the generous philosophy of solidari of this continent.

The antisocial vestiges of the colonial era, the formation of life styles alien either to our realities or to our possibilities, and the fostering of discord among developing peoples have been and continue to be instruments for perpetuati subjugation and postponing the solution to our problems.

The formation of a new international society, on the other hand, calls for the strengthening of the identity of sovereign nations and the certainty that they may effect their own transformation in accordance with the political and social systems freely chosen by them.

In this way, the peoples of the Third World are gradually changing from spectators to actors on the stage of history. They analyse and transform reality on their own terms and unite, by bridging their differences, in order to overcome their common adversities.

The Constitution of Tanzania, its plans for development and the Declaration of Arusha set forth the necessity for a more equitable distribution of wealth, participation by all in progress, and the full utilization of natural resources in accordance with the best interests of the people. The same precepts govern its international policy.

We are at the threshold of a new era. Mexico and Tanzania, like an increasing number of other nations, are dedicating their efforts to the structuring of free societies, based on the development of the potentialities of their people as well as their resources.

The coordinated action of our peoples has already resulted in significant advances: the growing organization for price stabilization by countries which produce raw materials; the gradual complementarity of our economies and the adoption of common platforms all combine to increase the possibilities of finding a new and genuinely equitable type of co-existence.

We cannot accept the conditions imposed by an international structure which continues to demand stagnation and sacrifice of impoverished peoples and insists upon fulfilling the needs of a few powerful groups dedicated to sterile accumulation and waste.

To remedy this unjustice, it is essential to modify the present international division of labor that relegates us to the role of economic and cultural satellites of the major powers.

The emphatic support by Tanzania of the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States adopted by the international community in December of last year is convincing proof of its congruent political ideology and its solidarity with the causes of developing countries.

It is indispensable that the small and medium sized nations put the postulates of the Charter into practice through numerous agreements among themselves concerning the fields for logical and simultaneous action planned to eliminate the true causes of war: hunger and discrimination.

Respect for independence, for sovereignty, for the juridical equality of States and for territorial integrity, as well as repudiation of intervention in the internal affairs of other nations, are prerequisites of harmony and progress.

Our devotion to the cause of peace is opposed to the absurd race for armament. Those who encourage the race situate our planet on the rim of total destruction and defy the will of the vast majority of mankind, they distort the true meaning of all scientific progress and channel toward death the resources that should be employed for life.

The entrance of new nations to a state of independence and the growing force of democratic movements are unmistakable signs of our times.

Africa, which for so many years was subject to a prolonged, heterogeneous and conflicting colonial domination, is recognized today as the continent of liberation and, together, with Asia and Latin America, has joined the advance on the Twentieth Century. From here, I reiterate the fraternal greeting of my people to Mozambique and Cape Verde who have so recently attained the right to decide their destinies autonomously.

We likewise ratify, as we did during your visit to Mexico, our repudiation to the policy of "aparthoid", to the illegal occupation of the territory of Namibia, and to the rule that impedes the majority of Rhodesia's population from exercising their political rights.

Until only a few years ago, the relations between Africa and Latin America belonged to the sphere of good intentions; they were confined to infrequent visits of delegations and sporadic meetings which took place at the headquarters of international organizations. The walls of misinformation and the distance between our continents tried to keep us apart. Our interviews have proved the utter failure of this attempt.

Last June, we founded in Mexico an Institute and an Open University of the Third World as a means of exchanging experiences among developing countries and producing technologies appropriate to their needs and freely interchangeable.

I formally invite your country to take part in the work of these institutions, contributing the valuable knowledge you have attained in technical planning at the level of the masses and in the practice of the unique "Ujamaa" system of Tanzania.

MR. PRESIDENT:

Your people's efforts, integrated today in a social revolution, give a new meaning to a patriotism expressed in persevering labor and creative imagination.

The policy of collectivism that you are encouraging in rural areas is a fundamental premise for attaining the goals of self-sufficiency that Tanzania has set itself. Your "Ujamaa" reminds Mexicans of the structure for agricultural production utilized by our indigenous communities and of the collective farms or "ejidos" of our modern agricultural reform.

Aside from these, there are other affinites that you undoubtedly noted during your recent stay in Mexico. Many of them come from the past, but an even greater number will unite us in the future, for both of us aspire to the supremacy of our countries and the consolidation of world peace.

A new phase of our relations, which began with your visit, opened wide horizons of cultural, economic and technical cooperation which we have come here to consolidate today.

My most fervent hopes are that the people of Tanzania and you, President Nyerere, will enjoy success in the plans you have undertaken, not only in winning your own well-being and prosperity but also in aiding other African countries and the rest of humanity to attain such worthy objectives.

Mexicans in Dar for talks on sisal firm

By Herbert Temba

A FIVE-MAN delegation from Mexico has arrived in Dar es Salaam to hold talks with officials of the Government and the Tanzania Sisal Corporation on the proposed sisal yarn factory to be constructed in Korogwe, Tanga Region.

The delegation which arrived on Tuesday, is part of the entourage of President Luis Echeverria who is expected to begin a four-day state visit to this country tomorrow.

In April this year, President Nyerere paid a six-day visit to Mexico during which he signed an agreement for the construction of the factory.

Expected to have a 20,000-ton yearly production capacity of agricultural sisal thread, the factory will involve a 113 million/- investment. Mexico is to provide about 22 million/- as well as managers and technicians.

About 50 per cent of the total investment will be financed by the machinery suppliers while the remaining will be covered by the Tanzania Sisal Corporation and Cordemex, a Mexican sisal parastatal firm.

Cordemex will also be in charge of construction and technical direction. Its Director General, Dr. Federico Rioseco, who is leading the delegation said yesterday the talks with the Tanzanian officials would focus on the creation of the state-owned bi-national company, Tanzanex Cordage Company.

The delegation will meet officials of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Ministry of Agriculture and the Tanzania Sisal Corporation.

The General Manager of Tanzanex has already been appointed and he is a Mexican, Mr. Francisco Faillo Contreras. Before the incorporation of the firm which took place during Mwalimu's visit to Mexico, various meetings between officials of the two countries had taken place.

SUBJECT: ECHEVERRIA PROPOSALS RE MIDDLE EAST

FOR SECRETARY KISSINGER FROM AMBASSADOR

1. ECHEVERRIA ASKED ME TO CALL ON HIM LAST NIGHT TO HEAR HIS VERSION OF HIS RECENT THIRD WORLD TRIP, DETAILS OF WHICH ARE BEING REPORTED SEPARATELY. DURING CONVERSATION HE ASKED ME SPECIFICALLY TO RAISE WITH YOU FOLLOWING PROPOSAL REGARDING PALESTINE SITUATION, WHICH HE SAID WOULD BE MAIN SUBJECT OF RABASA'S PROPOSED VISIT WITH YOU.

(A) ECHEVERRIA IS FOLLOWING CLOSELY YOUR EFFORTS TO ESTABLISH PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST AND WISHES YOU ALL POSSIBLE SUCCESS.

(B) HE HIMSELF WAS ANGUISHED BY SITUATION AND TENSIONS THAT HE ENCOUNTERED IN AREA. HE DID EVERYTHING WHILE IN ARAB COUNTRIES TO PREACH AGAINST EXPULSION OF ISRAEL FROM UN AND WHILE IN ISRAEL TO ADVOCATE A NATIONAL HOME FOR PALESTINIAN PEOPLE.

(C) EXCEPT FOR BOUMEDIENNE, WHOM HE FOUND VERY CLOSE-MINDED, HE FOUND OTHER LEADERS RELATIVELY RESPONSIVE. ARAFAT WAS AN EMOTIONAL MYSTIC BUT IN HIS OPINION BASICALLY A GOOD BUT SOMEWHAT SHALLOW MAN, EXCEPT FOR THE FACT THAT HE SEEMED TO BE VERY MUCH UNDER INFLUENCE OF THE SOVIETS.

SHOULD YOUR PRESENT MISSION SUCCEED, AS HE SINCERELY HOPES, WE MUST STILL WORRY LEST SYRIA AND OTHER ARAB STATES TURN AGAINST EGYPT AND THIS MIGHT REQUIRE SOME OTHER TYPE OF CONTINUING ATTENTION. SIMILARLY, SHOULD YOUR MISSION NOT PROSPER FULLY, HE HOPES THAT YOU COULD CONTINUE TO WORK WITH DISCRETION UNDER SOME SORT OF INTERNATIONAL SCREEN WHICH HE PROPOSED AS FOLLOWS:

(1) ECHEVERRIA ON HIS FORTHCOMING VISIT TO UNGA (AND PRESUMABLY AFTER CONVERSATIONS WITH OTHER INTERESTED PARTIES) WOULD PROPOSE THAT UN INVITE THREE CHIEFS OF STATE TO FORM A CONCILIATION COMMITTEE TO WORK FOR MIDDLE EAST PEACE, BOTH ON THE SPOT IN EGYPT, ISRAEL AND FROM UN HEADQUARTERS. HE WOULD PROPOSE THAT SUCH A COMMITTEE BE COMPOSED OF THE SHAH OF IRAN ("A MOSLEM WHO HAS GOOD RELATIONS WITH THE ARABS AND AT THE SAME TIME IS A GOOD FRIEND OF ISRAEL'S, HAVING CONTINUED TO SELL THEM OIL"), THE PRESIDENT OF MEXICO HIMSELF ("UNIQUELY QUALIFIED BY VIRTUE OF HIS UNPRECEDENTED TRIP THROUGH THE AREA"), AND A EUROPEAN LEADER SUCH AS THE PRIME MINISTER OF SWEDEN, THE PRESIDENT OF FINLAND OR THE PRESIDENZ OF THE SWISS CONFEDERATION.

(2) SUCH A CONCILIATION COMMITTEE WOULD BE MORE THAN MERELY A SCREENAS IT WOULD SERVE A USEFUL PURPOSE IN ITSELF. IT WOULD ALSO PROVIDE A COVER FOR YOUR OWN CONTINUED ACTIVITIES, SHOULD YOUR PRESENT MISSION REGRETTABLY NOT REACH A FINAL SOLUTION. EVEN IF YOU SHOULD SUCCEED, THE PROPOSED CHIEFS OF STATE COMMITTEE WOULD SERVE TO KEEP OTHER ARAB STATES FROM NIBBLING AWAY AT THE EGYPTIAN AGREEMENT. MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL, BY PLACING THIS MATTER IN A UN CONTEXT (WHILE AT THE SAME TIME LINKING IT IN SUCH A WAY AS TO KEEP IT OUT OF THE BROUHAHA OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY POLITICS) IT WOULD STRENGTHEN THE UN SYSTEM AS A WHOLE AND HELP TO RESTORE ITS LUSTRE.

2. I THANKED PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA FOR THE EXPOSITION OF HIS PLAN AND PROMISED TO REPORT IT TO YOU AT ONCE, OBSERVING THAT PRIOR KNOWLEDGE WOULD MAKE YOUR CONVERSATION WITH RABASA MORE MEANINGFUL. I ASKED ECHEVERRIA WHETHER HIS PLAN ENVISAGED A WILLINGNESS TO STATION ON-THE-SPOT OBSERVERS REPRESENTING THE PROPOSED THREE CHIEFS OF STATE. ECHEVERRIA APPARENTLY HAD [redacted]

NOT THOUGHT OF THIS BUT ON REFLECTION SAID THAT HIS PLAN SHOULD IN INDEED INCLUDE ON-THE-SPOT OBSERVERS AND THAT THEY COULD EITHER WORK ALONG SIDE THE PROPOSED AMERICAN OBSERVERS, THUS

DILUTING THEIR PRESENCE, OR COULD EVEN CARRY OUT THEIR OBSERVER FUNCTION WITHOUT THE AMERICANS, SHOULD YOUR OWN PLAN NOT SUCCEED.

3. IN CLOSING EHCEVERRIA REITERATED AGAIN HIS VERY STRONG HOPES FOR YOUR OWN SUCCESS, REPEATING THAT HIS PLAN WOULD BE PROPOSED ONLY AS A SUPPLEMENT TO YOUR EFFORTS AND INSURANCE IN CASE YOU DID NOT SUCCEED FULLY, AS WELL AS A MEANS OF RESTORING LUSTRE TO THE UN SYSTEM. JOVA

From: ARA - Ambassador Ryan

Subject: GAO Draft Report

Attached to this memorandum are observations on the draft report by our Embassy in Santiago, Chile and by Consul Fred Purdy, now stationed in Manila. We have also discussed the matter with Assistant Secretary Nathaniel Davis. We include a list of suggested changes in the draft which we believe to be factually correct or strike a better balance in the account of events.

ARA supports the judgment made by Santiago that Embassy personnel did their best under especially difficult circumstances and were effective in rendering protective services to the large number of U.S. citizens caught in events in Chile in September 1973. Embassy personnel checked on the welfare of over 600 American citizens and reported to relatives or friends in the United States. Embassy officers were instrumental in securing the release of 17 Americans detained by Chilean authorities and obtained safe conduct passes and helped arrange transportation for over 40 American citizens who would have been unable to leave Chile otherwise. This was accomplished in the midst of street violence and Chilean administrative disorganization, and with efforts impeded by the lack of diplomatic relations with the new regime, difficulties in communication, a strict curfew, and severe military restrictions on personnel movement and activity.

As the report notes, all Americans being held in detention were released within two days of the assumption of diplomatic relations with the Military Government on September 24. This contrasts favorably with such references in the report to nationals of other countries being held "long periods of time," and "three months."

The full resources of the Embassy were committed to the effort to verify detentions of Americans, locate any American detainees, and obtain their release. The Embassy's military attaches and Military Group officers were the principal ones who were in a position to make informal contact with the Chilean military officers who had assumed control. These officers spent much of their time in the days following the coup calling on Chilean officers who might be knowledgeable about detained Americans, reviewing lists of detainees, checking out reports on individual Americans, and making informal representations for release. There was not an office of the Embassy which was not involved in the Embassy's efforts to afford consular protection and assistance to Americans.

Four additional personnel were immediately available to the Consulate as it concentrated its work on welfare and whereabouts of U.S. citizens because visa functions were suspended for two weeks. Another Vice Consul and two secretaries were added a few days later. As the Chairmen (Senator Kennedy and Congressman Fascell) noted in their letter of October 3, 1974, "trained consular personnel" were the key factor, and untrained recruits might have been of marginal use. The Embassy's experienced consular officers who were knowledgeable in Chilean law and practice were, of course, the principle asset the Embassy had in this regard. In answer to the Chairmen's question - and as the report notes - these personnel devoted maximum efforts to consular responsibilities and were not diverted to other, non-consular functions.

Refuge was given Americans in a number of cases, both in the homes of Embassy officers (which were located in safer places than the Embassy offices) and on occasion in the Chancery. For example, the wife of one of the Americans later found dead was given refuge, first in an officer's home and later in the Chancery. As the report notes, some Americans' attitudes toward the U.S. Government were such that they were reluctant to register, reluctant to seek assistance at U.S. offices, and suspicious of official efforts on their behalf. Some persons turned elsewhere.

We see two contributing factors, duly noted by the GAO report, which inhibited the Embassy from a more constructive role following the intervention of the military on September 11, 1973. As pointed out by the Embassy, and noted by the GAO report, a serious flaw was the physical separation of the Consulate from the Chancery. This affected coordination, and within the first few days at least, injected an element of danger in communications between the Chancery and the Consulate. The latter became attenuated in the immediately succeeding day[redacted] permitted the Chancery to direct inquiring Americans to the Consulate.

The second factor touches upon the clarity of Department policy on Vienna Convention violations during the period of nonrecognition and the legal issues involved. This uncertainty extends to policy on guidelines governing admittance of U.S. citizens to Embassy premises for protection. The Embassy's effort during this period before diplomatic contact was resumed was on intense but informal representations rather than formal demarches or public confrontational tactics. The objective was to facilitate access to detained Americans and to set them free. To have approached the GOC formally and at the top level would have been regarded as precipitate recognition. The de facto regime which was seeking immediately to legitimize itself most likely would have publicly portrayed such U.S. approaches as recognition. We leave for L in its memoranda to address these issues.

With respect to the declassification of the classified documents referred to in the report, Embassy, Santiago has no objections. For our part, we are seeking GAO identification of the documents for ARA review and possible declassification.

Finally, we believe that the recommendations made are constructive and would help make more responsive the ability of Consulate officials to be of assistance during crises and other emergencies.

SUGGESTED DRAFTING CHANGES

Page 4, Para 3: The Embassy estimates that there were approximately 2,800 Americans resident in Chile on September 11, 1973.

Page 9, Para 2: This subparagraph is confusing. A consulate in a capital city is part of the diplomatic mission, regardless of whether its offices are physically located in the same building as other elements of the Embassy. Consulates in cities other than the capital are independent posts. Although known bureaucratically as "constituent posts", they are in fact independent of the Embassy. In practice they operate in close collaboration with an Embassy, but they can and do report independently to the Department.

Page 12, Registration System ff: As the report correctly points out, Americans residing abroad are reluctant to register with our Embassies and Consulates for a variety of reasons. Further, when U.S. citizens do register, they rarely take the trouble to report any subsequent changes of address. The point is that when an emergency comes any registration list will be nearly useless, and the Embassy will just have to cope. Finally, in the specific Chilean circumstance the Ambassador judged that asking American citizens to register in the public media would have led to undue alarm in a situation which at no time contemplated general evacuation of American citizens in Chile.

Page 13, Para 3: Registration is a simple process. Rarely, if ever, would an American citizen have to stand in line to register.

Page 14, Para 2: During the period in question there were hour-by-hour reports and expectations that the authorities would open the Santiago airport. Two points: (1) until the airport opened no foreign aircraft could have landed, and (2) once opened commercial flights resume, thus eliminating the need for evacuation aircraft.

Page 20, Para 3: The Embassy suspended visa services for almost two weeks, thus effectively increasing the staff available for protective services from 1 to 5 officers. Further, the Embassy got the services of another Vice Consul and two American secretaries. The Embassy also had a 24-hour watch system operating in the Chancery proper during the first days after the coup. This watch system handled many protection problems. Finally, the Embassy simply was not informed that Americans were being arrested immediately after the 11th, and thus, had no reason to increase the Consulate staff. Once it realized what was happening, it took appropriate steps.

Page 22, Para 1: See remarks for Page 20, para 3. Further, the Embassy believed at that time that it was doing all that could be done. It is only in hindsight that it now realizes that extra staff would have been handy even if it were not being used all the time. The report should note that protection work by its nature depends on good contacts in the field. Thus, extra help would have been marginally useful.'

Page 22, Para 3: We were not aware of any case of Americans receiving protection by a foreign embassy except with the possible exception of (1) a woman who asked help for the Brazilian father of the child she was carrying (we believe she wound up at the Swedish Embassy), and (2) the Boorstin family, which was flown out on a Mexican plane and apparently never approached our Embassy.

Page 22, Para 4: There is no record of most calls made to a Consulate. Our Consular Sections do not have the time or resources to make a record of every call. Even though the Embassy tried to make a record during the period immediately after the coup, it could only log those it considered to be most important.

Page 29, Para 1: Here, the report accepts as fact that the calls were made.

Page 23, Para 3: The Chief of the Consular Section tried to telephone many American citizens who had indicated anxiety to leave Chile as soon as possible on the night of September 18/19 concerning the UN flight. Several could not be reached at the telephones they had given the Embassy, some only a few days before. We do not believe that more staff in the Consular Section would have solved this problem.

Page 23, Para 4: How many are many? The Embassy also has "many" letters indicating exactly the opposite. (See Santiago 5989 attached.) The report also ignores the simple truth that in a situation like the coup, Consular officers are not going to be able to do everything Americans may ask or demand. As usual, some customers will not be satisfied. But most, as in this case, are satisfied.

Page 28, Para 2: See comments on Page 12, Registration System ff. At no point, before, during or after September 11 did the Embassy see the need for evacuation. The situation, in its judgment, did not require it.

This is a dubious judgment in our opinion. The Embassy expected the airport to open at any time. Thus, the need for a special evacuation flight did not exist because commercial flights would have been available.

Page 31, Para 2: "Since the September 1973 coup, Chilean authorities have frequently violated..." We believe that "frequently" overstates the case. "Several times" would be better.

Page 32, Para 1: The Junta placed Chile under a constitutional "State of War" for a year, starting on September 11, 1973. In September 1974, the Junta lowered this to a "State of Siege." "State of Siege" concepts exist in almost all Latin American constitutions. During a state of siege or state of war, normal constitutional rights are suspended, including the "48-hour provision" mentioned in this paragraph. Thus, the Junta was acting within its constitutional rights, if not in accordance with the Vienna Convention.

Page 32, Para 3: Consulates find out about detained Americans in two ways: (1) when a witness brings it to the Consulate's attention and (2) more usually when local authorities inform the Consulate. A Consulate is dependent on the good faith of a local government in observing the Vienna Convention. During the period of administrative chaos after the coup in Chile, it is no surprise that we were often not informed of detentions. The surprise is that we heard anything at all.

Page 33, Para 2: This paragraph we feel wrongly implies that we did not talk to the GOC about imprisoned or missing Americans until formal recognition. The Embassy did talk to the GOC, such as it was at that time, on several different levels. This was especially true of our military attaches and the Military Group officers.

Page 33, Para 3: This paragraph ignores the fact that without diplomatic relations there cannot be any diplomatic notes. Further, the paragraph ignores the fact that the Ambassador and the mission have other compelling responsibilities as well as the important one of protecting American citizens. Finally, until the U.S. Government recognized the new military government, the Ambassador was constrained from approaching the Chileans about anything, much less detained American citizens.

Page 36, Para 2: U.S. policy with regard to asylum for third country nations is that it can only take place in U.S. territory. Thus, the paragraph's premise that non-Americans, therefore, have an advantage not enjoyed by U.S. citizens is incorrect.,

Page 39, Para 1: Except in the case of a Professor Harrison, we have no records showing that American citizens requested protection in U.S. facilities.

Page 48, Para 2: This paragraph probably refers to the Boorstin family. See remarks for Page 22, para 4. As we noted there, we have no indication that the Boorstins ever asked for U.S. protection.

Page 41, "PROTECTION OF PRIVATE PROPERTY": So far as property and manuscripts were concerned, the problem was principally one of requests to send materials through the diplomatic mail, a service which the Embassy was not authorized to provide, and which we believe is probably contrary to law.

Page 45, Para 3: See remarks for Page 33, para 3 about diplomatic notes.

Page 48, Para 2: To the best of our knowledge, only the Dutch Vice Consul was able to gain admittance to the National Stadium. He was allowed entry only once.

Page 50, Para 1: This paragraph overlooks the fact that once the Embassy found out that an American citizen was detained, it was able to obtain quick release.

Page 50, Para 2: The first sentence appears to contradict the rest of the paragraph.

Page 52, Para 4: This is done at most posts informally. Most Consular officers maintain fairly close liaison with their colleagues, especially those representing European countries.

Page 65, Paras. 1 & 2: These paragraphs incorrectly imply that task forces and country desks exist exclusively for protection functions.

General Observations:

1. Apparently the GAO investigators were unable to recreate mentally the atmosphere of chaos in Santiago during and after the coup.

2. The report places a great deal of faith in "formal diplomatic notes" of protest. The formal protest is used after all other means have failed. The report does not make clear how such notes would have improved the lot of any American detainees. In the case of U.S. citizens subsequently expelled, such as the two priests mentioned, there were government suspicions of their involvement in activities inimical to Chile. We believe it is highly unlikely that the new military government would have allowed these Americans to remain in Chile under any circumstances after they were arrested. In the case of the two Americans killed during the coup, they were dead before the Embassy knew they were detained.

SUBJECT: Chile and the Human Rights Issue - UN and OAS Meetings

The Situation:

-- The second anniversary of the Chilean Junta has come and gone. Real progress on the human rights issue is yet to be observed.

-- The GOC has not changed its mind about denying further entry of investigative groups.

-- The OASGA resolution of May 19, 1975 on the "Status of Human Rights in Chile" requested the Inter-American Human Rights Commission to "secure by all appropriate means, additional information, to consider that information, and to submit a report on the status of the human rights in Chile to the next session of the General Assembly ensuring that the Government of Chile has reasonable time to submit its own observations."

-- In the next few ~~days~~ weeks the UN will be focusing on the Working Group report in Chile.

-- The IAHRC will meet in Washington October 6-24

-- In your statement at the last OASGA you said we should remain seized of the problem.

reportedly

-- OAS S/G Orfila has/been encouraging a new visit to Chile by the IAHRC.

-- Ambassador Trucco has offered Santiago as the site of ~~the~~ next May's OASGA.

Discussion:

-- Unless the IAHRC visits Chile again, its report to the 1976 General Assembly will be dated, incomplete and unfair. It will focus on past sins and not on present reality.

-- The Allana report at the UN will also have the same deficiencies.

-- Trucco's invitation for the next OAS General Assembly to be held suggests he is looking for a less painful way to refurbish Chile's reputation. A quick count of the delegates leads us to believe the offer will prosper despite exception by Mexico, Venezuela, and perhaps several others. Their alternative would be to offer another site rather than see the OAS presence as a benediction to the Chilean Junta.

-- In the meantime, there will be pressure for Chile to accept another IAHRC visit. If this is rejected, any chance for bringing the General Assembly to Santiago would immediately disappear.

Course of Action:

-- We should push for a request by the IAHRC to enter Chile to up-date its earlier report. We should use the leverage provided us by Trucco's [redacted] invitation. If Chile accepts, this could prod Chile into improved internal security practices, the IAHRC would be strengthened, and the Congress appeased to some degree.

-- If Chile declines, the Junta will have defined more clearly its pariah status. While this would be unfortunate, it would help us clarify our own position. In the OAS we would oppose a GA meeting in Santiago or "individual" visits by OAS leaders.

-- We should link the foregoing to our posture at the UN on the Allana report. At that time we should commend Chile's initial willingness to receive a number of investigating groups, regret that it reversed this posture, thus preventing the more balanced and fair account which Chile desires, and we should note the reasons the GOC gave for withdrawing its invitation. We should observe that the unfortunate result is a dated report which might not reflect the situation now existing in Chile following new measures announced by the GOC. With the forthcoming meeting of the IAHRC in October, suggest the UN ask that the OAS group remain seized of the problem and urge the GOC to accept a visit by that group.

COPIES TO:

Foreign Minister: I want to thank you for giving us this opportunity to talk to you.

The Secretary: Well, I read the Briefing Paper for this meeting and it was nothing but Human Rights. The State Department is made up of people who have a vocation for the ministry. Because there were not enough churches for them, they went into the Department of State.

Foreign Minister: We would like to leave these documents with you.

The Secretary: My God! What's that? One of your speeches?

Foreign Minister: It consists of several documents. One explains the current status of the economy. Another explai the requirements of the armed forces. Another is the state of the laws under the new level in the state of seige; one concerns the new Council of State, and the final one explains the legal dispositions the government is thinking of taking.

The Secretary: My view on the question of human rights is that it is on two levels. One is that it is a total injustice. Nobody goes around making statements regarding what is going on in Kampala or the Central African Republic or hundreds of other countries around the world. The other is the problem of helping your government under the present conditions, which we did not create, but which make it difficult for us. It would help enormously if something can be done. We will study the documents. We understand the problem. It is not in the interest of the United States to turn Chile into another Portugal. (I'll be in great trouble when this is leaked to the papers.) However this is my personal conviction, and I stand behind it.

What can be done visibly to bring about a change in Congressional attitudes? We do not need to discuss it now. However it is our problem. Otherwise, Congress will place restrictio upon restriction against U.S. interests. Look at Turkey-- the restrictions there do not serve any U.S. interest.

This is the issue we face. (I have not read fully all the Briefing Papers.) I do not know what can be done. Anything to alleviate that situation, and in a somewhat visible way, would be enormously helpful. This is the basic orientation, but the solution has to be a Chilean one. We don't know the details of what you can do.

[redacted]

We have a problem with the Turks. They from Cyprus? so adhered to principal that they withdrew 15,000 troops without telling us. This is something we could have used with our Congress. But they were intent on showing they could not yield to pressures. It would have ended the whole thing if we could have issued a communique stating the reduction. They had 35,000 troops, and now they only have 20,000. This is not exactly analogous.

Foreign Minister: Regarding Human Rights, first I am convinced that the alleged violations of Human Rights are absolutely false. I have conducted my own personal investigation in my own country to be absolutely convinced in my own conscience to make sure they are not taking place.

The Secretary: Why did you cancel United Nations group? You shouldn't have invited them in the first place. Why did you invite them?

Foreign Minister: We had to cancel because there was a bad a phere to begin with. They started badly. Both here in New Y and in Lima they talked to people regarding the situation. T were supposed to investigate the present situation. However, were hearing old testimony. And the atmosphere inside and ou the country was being artificially made into a commotion(sic). The commotion made impossible a thorough and impartial investigation, and I think the government was right in not authorizing the visit. The Working Group has prepared a report which is not fair. My President left the door open for a later visit of the Working Group, but with the report I feel the door is closed. It was unfortunate. We have admitted the Inter-American Human Rights Commission, and the International Committee of the Red Cross has been there since 1973.

The Secretary: Why did you invite the group to begin with?

Foreign Minister: They created artificially a very bad atmosphere. The Government of Chile has followed a plan to liberalize emergency measures, but the Government of Chile must take measures to control terrorism. Terrorism is a very serious problem all over the world.

The Secretary: That does not happen in the United States. In this country they only shoot at the President.

Foreign Minister: I have asked David Popper whether he would prefer to live in Buenos Aires or Santiago. He answered "no" because his colleague in Buenos Aires lives like a prisoner in his Embassy.

The Secretary: I have no precise suggestions to make. I don't know the conditions. Our point of view is if you do something, let us know so we can use it with Congress.

I see in this document you paroled 200 people, and they have gone to Panama.

Ambassador Trucco: We have authorized more than 200 people to leave the country, and they have no place to go because no one will allow them in. The President of Colombia said he would have to take measures against the Chileans already there. And Facio says some are creating trouble in Costa Rica. Costa Rica is not willing to accept any more Chileans. They are creating problems.

The Secretary: You will know what to do. We cannot go beyond what we have said. What other problem do we have to discuss?

Ambassador Trucco: One problem we are having is with the Ex-Im Bank limitation of the $500,000(sic).

The Secretary: Why?

Ambassador Trucco: The previous listing on Chile has not changed with circumstances. This situation dates from the Popular Unity Government.

The Secretary: It took me two years to get our institutions to reduce credit to your country. (To Rogers) Will you call Casey?

Assistant Secretary Rogers: [redacted] I'll call today. Everything is fine with the IDB and the World Bank?

Ambassador Trucco: With the World Bank we are experiencing certain delays, but we are not pressing the World Bank.

Assistant Secretary Rogers: We should have no problem. We are leaning hard on the bureaucracy.

[redacted]

The Secretary: Bill, talk to the Ex-Im Bank. These are vestiges of the previous government.

Your situation with the private banks?

Assistant Secretary Rogers: Do you need any help?

Ambassador Trucco: No, we don't. Our Finance Minister is coming next month, and presently their offers have doubled.

The Secretary: As I understand it, with commercial sales you're alright--the problem's with FMS.

Ambassador Trucco: The problem with commercial sales is that no export licenses have been approved since 1974.

Assistant Secretary Rogers: It is cleared now for purchases made prior to June 1974.

The Secretary: How about the $10 million of sales you are talking about. We could go forward in Congress with a proposal for $20 million in credit, but Congress would throw it out. Our tentative judgment is not to do it. Do you have any problems with that? On cash sales, could we do more?

Assistant Secretary Rogers: The original figure was $6 million, but we changed it to $10 million.

Foreign Minister: On our list here we have items which are in excess of $10 million.

The Secretary: Why do we have to say no commercial sales? Why don't we go through with it? If $10 million are not enough, we could add a few millions.

Assistant Secretary Rogers: We are prepared to be responsive

The Secretary: If $10 million is not enough, add more.

What next, part of south Peru or part of western Bolivia?

Foreign Minister: The new government in Peru is improved. We have hope for better relations with this President. And with Bolivia we are working earnestly to resolve our problems, but we have made no commitments regarding the form of the solution.

The Secretary: Thank you. That would be very helpful.

Foreign Minister: Regarding Peru, we still have Soviet influence. They are receiving a Soviet training vessel in Callao with over 100 "cadets."

The Secretary: But how many Soviets are there now?

Assistant Secretary Rogers: In southern Peru?

The Secretary: What is our position? Soviets in the north are alright; but in the south, they are bad?

Foreign Minister: We have just heard that the Soviets are on board a ship. But this just proves the continued close relation between the armed forces and the Soviet Union.

The Secretary: The new Government of Peru has not been in office long enough to make any changes yet.

Foreign Minister: On the day of the coup--August 29--at 8:00 a.m., the Peruvian colleague of the Chilean military commander in Arica called him to say that they were going to take over the government, "and we are going to eradicate communism and Marxism from Peru." That morning I sent a cable to my Embassy in Lima. The Embassy said it was 9:30 a.m and all was normal. We hope to have better relations, but there is still some Soviet influence.

The Secretary: We will treat these requests sympathetically. On PL 480 I understand Chile is getting 2/3 of the total for Latin America.

Ambassador Trucco: Yes, this is going well.

The Secretary: How is the economic situation? Is it improvin

Foreign Minister: Yes, it is improving. I believe the economic measures to be sound. The Finance Minister is very strict. I have never seen a Finance Minister like this one in Chile. Traditionally, after the budget was approved, we used to ask the Foreign Minister for more money. But this is not the case with this government. Now he asks for cuts. He has cut us to 80% of the original budget. The measures are very strict, but they are good for the country. I am convinced that next year it will be better. We have been expanding our nontraditional exports, and next year we may not have to renegotiate the external debt. The measures are very good and the people willing to cooperate.

Ambassador Trucco: The Balance of Payments deficit is wiped out and completely financed.

The Secretary: (To a whispered exchange in Spanish between Trucco and Carvajal about a copper producer-consumer conferen

We have agreed to do it.

Ambassador Trucco: We are attending a copper exporters meeting in Lima.

The Secretary: Stay in touch with us. We can set up some sort of ad hoc group which can set objective criteria to define the interests of the producers and the interests of the consumers. This might be according to a percentage of production and consumption.

Ambassador Trucco: Ambassador Popper has had recent meeting with the three Financial Ministers to discuss the Chilean position.

Foreign Minister: Our impression is very good regarding your speech on the matter.

The Secretary: As I stated in my speech we favor this. Why don't you coordinate among the producers? We will set this up.

One other thing: I have heard that you want to invite the OAS General Assembly to Santiago.

Foreign Minister: Yes, in April of next year.

The Secretary: Do you think that would be alright with the other countries?

Foreign Minister: Nobody had made any statement against it.

The Secretary: How about Mexico?

Ambassador Trucco: I have spoken to Colina (of Mexico).

He was skeptical. He said that the situation had passed. But I do not know what situation he was referring to.

The Secretary: Maybe Echeverria?

Ambassador Trucco: I also talked with President Lopez of Colombia.

The Secretary: We won't oppose.

Ambassador Trucco: I have talked with BurelliRivas of Venezuela; and he talked to President Perez; and Perez thought it had some merit. Panama also is in favor. I believe a meeting of the OAS General Assembly would do a lot of good.

The Secretary: I would rather like it.

Ambassador Trucco: It would show the real situation and how it has been distorted. They would see the effect of the social programs and the economic programs to bring the country back to normalcy.

The Secretary: Would I have to stay the whole week? I would have to listen to too many speeches.

Assistant Secretary Rogers: Last year the meeting was good. It only lasted two days.

The Secretary: Last year was outstanding. It was the best I ever attended. The Foreign Ministers met for two days, and the other sessions were left to the experts. I would be in favor of such a meeting.

Ambassador Trucco: The only country with which we might have some problems is Mexico, but they can be assured they would receive all courtesies.

The Secretary: Do you have the facilities?

Assistant Secretary Rogers: They are excellent.

Foreign Minister: I am sure they are better than those (OAS) in Washington.

The Secretary: That is not hard to do.

Ambassador Trucco: They would be the same facilities arranged for the 1972 UNCTAD.

The Secretary: If you can get your Latin American friends to support it, the U.S. will have no difficulties.

Ambassador Trucco: (Handing over another document) This is on the talks in Santiago among the countries of the Andean Pact on the limitation of armaments. Ambassador Bernstein presided over these talks.

Assistant Secretary Rogers: Should we make a public statement on these talks?

Ambassador Trucco: Nothing at this time.

This version was agreed upon by Ambassador Lackington, Desk Officer Driscoll, and interpreter Hervas.

SUBJECT: CAMPORA'S RETURN TO ARGENTINA

REF: BA 6490

SUMMARY: WHILE NO DEFINITIVE EXPLANATION HAS YET BEEN GIVEN FOR HECTOR CAMPORA'S SUDDEN RETURN TO ARGENTINA, IT SEEMS CLEAR THAT SOMEONE WITHIN PRESENT GOVERNMENT GAVE CAMPORA GREEN LIGHT TO RETURN. LIKELY FIGURE WITH MOST TO GAIN FROM CAPORA'S RETURN IS FOREIGN MINISTER ROBLEDO, WHO, IT IS SPECULATED, WILL COLLECT DUE BILL FROM CAPORA BY ENLISTING HIM IN DRIVE TO REORGANIZE PARTY FOR '77 ELECTIONS. END SUMMARY.

1. FOLLOWING HIS RETURN TO ARGENTINA SEPTEMBER 27, FORMER PRESIDENT HECTOR CAMPORA MADE SHORT STATEMENT AT AIRPORT WHICH HINTED STRONGLY AT HIS INTENTION TO AGAIN PARTICIPATE ACTIVELY IN ARGENTINE POLITICS (REFTEL). ON SEPTEMBER 29 FROM HIS COUNTRY ESTATE IN SAN ANDRES DE GILES, CAMPORA ISSUED A STATEMENT TO NEWSMEN, THRUST OF WHICH WAS THAT HE HAD RETURNED TO ARGENTINA AT THIS DIFFICULT MOMENT BECAUSE THE COUNTRY AND THE JUSTICIA-

3. WEIGHT TO SPECULATION THAT CAMPORA'S FUTURE POLITICAL ACTIVITIES WILL TAKE PLACE WITHIN FRAMEWORK OF ORTHODOX PERONIST PARTY ORGANIZATION. THESIS IS BUTTRESSED BY FACT THAT SINCE HIS ARRIVAL NO STATEMENT BY AUTENTICO PARTY SPOKESMEN HAS BEEN MADE CONCERNING CAMPORA'S RETURN NOR HAVE ANY AUTENTICO LEADERS TO OUR KNOWLEDGE PAID CALL ON CAMPORA. THIS IS PARTICULARLY PUZZLING SINCE DURING HIS EXILE AUTENTICOS EXPENDED GREAT EFFORT IN IDENTIFYING CAMPORA AS ONE OF LEADING LIGHTS OF DISSIDENT PERONIST LEFT.

3. MOST SERIOUS POLITICAL OBSERVERS BELIEVE THAT DESPITE HIS DENIALS INTERIOR MINISTER ANGEL ROBLEDO (FORMER GOA AMBASSADOR TO MEXICO) IS MAN WITHIN GOA MOST RESPONSIBLE FOR CAMPORA'S RETURN. ACCORDING TO THIS LINE OF REASONING, ROBLEDO IS AT PRESENT MANEUVERING TO PLACE HIMSELF IN STRONGEST POSSIBLE POSITION FOR '77 ELECTIONS. HIS TWO MOST OBVIOUS RIVALS IN '77 FROM WITHIN PERONISM ARE PROVISIONAL PRESIDENT ITALO LUDER AND ECONOMY MINISTER CAFIERO.
ASSUMING MRS. PERON DEPARTS FROM SCENE, LUDER, WOULD HAVE AT LEAST A YEAR TO BUILD RECORD FROM WITHIN THE CASA ROSADA WHICH HE COULD TAKE TO THE PEOPLE IN NEXT ELECTION. SIMILARLY, CAFIERO, WITH CONTROL OF ECONOMY MINISTRY, COULD EMERGE AS STRONG CANDIDATE PROVIDED HE MAKES SOME PROGRESS IN SOLVING COUNTRY'S ECONOMIC PROBLEMS. IN THESE CIRCUMSTANCES, ROBLEDO, DESPITE HOLDING ON TO INTERIOR MINISTRY, WOULD FIND IT DIFFICULT TO BUILD BASE FROM WITHIN ADMINISTRATION FOR A CREDIBLE CANDIDACY. AS ODD MAN OUT WITHIN ADMINISTRATION, ROBLEDO'S ONLY POSSIILITY OF BUILDING POWER BASE WOULD COME FROM HIS POSITION AS JUSTICIALISTA PARTY LEADER. ALL PERONIST FACTIONS, INCLUDING THOSE WHO WOULD WISH TO SUPPORT LUDER OR CAFIERO, REALIZE THAT HETEROGENOUS PERONIST MOVEMENT, WHOSE ONLY AGGLUTINATING FORCE WAS GENERAL PERON, MUST CONVERT ITSELF INTO INSTITUTIONALIZED POLITICAL PARTY OR FORFEIT ALL HOPES FOR 1977 THIS CIRCUMSTANCE GIVES ROBLEDO AS FIRST VICE PRESIDENT OF JUSTICIALIST PARTY A MEANS TO FURTHER HIS PRESIDENTIAL AMBITIONS AS MAN WHO REORGAN-IZED AND REUNITED PERONISTS AND MADE THEM INTO A COHERENT POLITICAL PARTY WITH AN INSTITUTIONALIZED STRUCTURE.

4. ON DAY ROBLEDO WAS NAMED INTERIOR MINISTER (SEPTEMBER 15) HE GAVE TELEVISION INTERVIEW IN WHICH HE MADE REFERENCE TO SEVERAL OF THE PROMINENT PERONISTS WHO FELL INTO DISREPUTE JUST BEFORE, DURING AND SHORTLY AFTER CAMPORA'S PRESIDENCY. ROBLEDO NOTED AT TIME THAT WHILE CAMPORA HAD BEEN EXPELLED FROM PERONIST PARTY HE "HAD NOT APPEALED EXPULSION" AND SUGGESTED APPEAL ROUTE OPEN AS COURSE CAMPORA MIGHT WISH TO TAKE. WITH RESPECT TO JORGE DANIEL PALADINO, WHO UNTIL FALL FROM GRACE IN 1971 HAD BEEN EXPECTED TO BE PERONIST CANDIDATE IN 1973 ELECTIONS, ROBLEDO OPINED THAT PALADINO WAS STILL A MEMBER IN GOOD STANDING OF PERONIST PARTY. AT TIME OF THESE STATEMENTS, MOST PUBLIC ATTENTION WAS FOCUSED ON QUESTION OF MRS. PERON'S DEPARTURE, LUDER'S FIRING OF DAMASCO, AND THE CAFIERO MISSION TO THE U.S.

NOW, WITH CAMPORA'S RETURN, ROBLEDO'S EARLIER OBSERVATIONS ARE BEING RE-EXAMINED AND GIVEN GREATER POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE. INDEED WHILE ROBLEDO HAS BEEN IN THE U.S. FULFILLING LAST DUTIES AS FOREIGN MINISTER, SOURCES FROM WITHIN THE PERONIST SUPERIOR COUNCIL WHO RESPOND TO THE VERTICALISTA LINE HAVE LEAKED OBVIOUSLY INSPIRED STORIES THAT AS PART OF PARTY REORGANIZATION AN "AMNESTY" WILL BE OFFERED TO MANY IF NOT ALL OF THE "EXCOMMUNICATED" AND LAPSED PERONISTS.

5. CLEARLY, IF IT IS ROBLEDO'S INTENTION TO USE A REORGANIZED AND REVITALIZED PERONIST PARTY AS HIS VEHICLE TO THE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDACY, THEN CAMPORA'S RETURN UNDER ROBLEDO'S SPONSORSHIP MAKES A LOT OF POLITICAL SENSE. THOUGH NEVER ACTUALLY A LEFTIST, CAMPORA, DURING HIS BRIEF AND INEPT INCUMBENCY, ALLOWED HIMSELF TO BE USED BY MONTONERO AND LEFTIST PERONIST YOUTH FACTIONS. HE BECAME THEIR SYMBOL OF GENUINE PERONISM WHICH THEY CONSTANTLY OPPOSED TO THE USURPATION OF THE FALSE PERONIST LOPEZ REGA. WHILE IT IS DOUBTFUL THAT EVEN WITH CAMPORA'S HELP ROBLEDO COULD BRING MANY OF THESE LEFTISTS BACK INTO THE FOLD, HIS REINCORPORATION OF CAMPORA INTO THE ORTHODOX PERONIST MOVEMENT WOULD, HOWEVER, DEPRIVE LEFTISTS OF THEIR ONLY FIGURE OF NATIONAL STATURE. SIMILARLY, IF PALADINO AND MANY OTHER PROMINENT PERONISTS COULD BE RETURNED TO THE FOLD FROM WHICH THEY FELL DURING THE INTENSE INFIGHTING WHICH PRECEDED PERON'S RETURN TO ARGENTINA, ROBLEDO COULD THUS DEMONSTRATE HIS SKILLS
CONFIDENTIAL

AS A PARTY HEALER AND EMERGE AS A SYMBOL OF UNITY AND CONTINUITY WHICH PARTY COULD CHOOSE TO LEAD IT IN THE ELECTIONS OF 1977.

6. COMMENT: GIVEN THE CENTRIFUGAL FORCE NOW AT WORK IN THE PERONIST PARTY, BRINGING IT TOGETHER AGAIN WILL BE A HERCULEAN TASK--AND ROBLEDO DOES NOT GIVE THE IMPRESSION OF BEING A HERCULES. HOWEVER, PROVIDED CAMPORA PLAYS THE ROLE WHICH APPEARS TO HAVE BEEN ASSIGNED HIM (I.E., RE-ENTERING THE ORTHODOX RANKS AND SIDING WITH THE CENTRISTS RATHER THAN WITH THE LEFT), THE EFFECTS OF HIS RETURN ARE LIKELY TO BE POSITIVE FOR THE GOA AND FOR CONSTITUTIONALISM.

K: Did you see that INR summary that the Panimanian military delegation is leaving for Cuba?

R: I did.

K: Raise cain with them. Go to Lopez and tell him it is tough enough to do the things we have promised them without such nonsense.

R: Let's do that. The Mexican's have offered to help us.

K: Good. Tell Rabasa.

R: O.K. I will prepare something right away.

K: Second I could take the trip on November 6, but I think early January is realistic.

R: That would beO.K. I don't think there is a difference between the two dates. I would like to tell everyone to stand down on November as soon as you decide.

K: I will let you know tomorrow. I will be gone most of December.

R: You have a vicious travel schedule starting tomorrow.

K: I will be back until the middle of November.

R: We can do it in January. I don't think it would be that bad.

K: Yes. O.K. Is it going to be very hot in January?

R: No. Rio will be warm, but not as bad as Washington in the summer.

K: I would aim for January 10.

R: Don't you have -- there was some rumor about the Soviets coming?

K: No.

R: Let's don't do anything until we have fixed dates.

K: O.K. Good.

3. "POCKET AF REBELLION" SERVED TO UNDERLINE IMPOTENCE OF MRS. PERON'S GOVERNMENT, SHE APPEARED IMMOBILIZED AND NEVER GAVE ORDER THAT IT BE SUPPRESSED. AF DID IT ON ITS OWN. THUS, HER SPEECH LAST NIGHT (TEXT OF WHICH WE ASSUME DEPARTMENT HAS VIA FBIS) REFLECTED AN ALMOST BIZARRE DIVORCEMENT FROM REALITY. SHE SPOKE IN FIRST PERSON OF HAVING PUT DOWN REBELLIION WITH SERENITY, OF AVOIDING BLOODSHED AND ACCOMPLISHING GREAT THINGS FOR ARGENTINE PEOPLE. IN FACT, HOWEVER, SHE WAS NOT EVEN A PROTAGONIST. .AS LA OPINION PUTS IT THIS MORNING, SPEECH REFLECTS "CERTAIN MISINFORMATION CONCERNING REALITY OF THE SITUATION THROUGH WHICH COUNTRY IS PASSING." MILITARY ARE BOUND TO HAVE BEEN PROFOUNDLY IRRITATED BY TONE AND CONTENT OF SPEECH, WHICH TOOK ALL CREDIT FOR HERSELF AND BARELY MENTINED MILITARY.

4. MILITARY WILL ALSO BE DISTURBED BY IMPLICATION THAT SHE CLEARLY DOES NOT PLAN TO GO ON LEAVE. ON CONTRARY, SHE EMPHASIZED HER INTENTION OF CONTINUING IN OFFICE. DOUBTLESS HER REPEATED USE OF FIRST PERSON WAS ALSO MEANT TO SIGNAL THAT INTENTION. MEANWHILE, HER PERFORMANCE OF PAST FEW DAYS HAS SIMPLY UNDERLINED HER INCAPACITY. EXCEPT FOR HOLDING STERILE CABINET MEETINGS AND ISSUING WEIRD COMMUNIQUES (SEE SEPTEL) SHE TOOK NO ACTION AT ALL. PUBLIC IMAGE IS ONE OF MRS. PERON COWERING AND THEN FAINTING IN CASA ROSADA BASEMENT DURING DECEMBER 20 AIR-RAID SCARE. AN AMERICAN NEWSPAPERWOMAN WHO WAS A CLOSE EYEWITNESS REPORTS THAT WHEN MRS. PERON EMERGEED FROM CASA ROSADA ABOUT 10:00 P.M. DECEMBER 20, SHE APPEARED TO BE IN A TRANCE, GRIMACING AND STUMBLING. SEVERAL OF HER BODYGUARDS REPORTEDLY GRABBED HER AND VIRTUALLY THREW HER IN THE BACK OF HER CAR. OTHER REPORTS INDICATE THAT EVEN DURING CRISIS SHE REFUSED TO SPEAK TO INTERIOR MINISTER ROBLEDO, WHOM SHE HAS COME TO DETEST. THE TWO COMMUNICATE THROUGH A THIRD PARTY RATHER THAN SPEAKING DIRECTLY TO ONE ANOTHER.

IT APPEARS, NONETHELESS, THAT ITS EXISTENCE AS A LVIING CORPSE HAS BEEN PROLONGED FOR YET ANOTHER FEW DAYS, OR EVEN WEEKS. TO THEIR CREDIT, THE ARMED FORCES ARE STILL HOPING CIVILIANS WILL PRODUCE SOME CONSTITUTIONAL MEANS OF REMOVING MRS. PERON FROM OFFICE. BUT TIME IS CLEARLY RUNNING OUT. UNLESS MORE GRACEFUL WAY IS FOUND, MILITARY MAY SOON HAVE TO PUT HER ON A PLANE TO MADRID, AS THEY DID LOPEZ REGA.

6. GOVERNMENT, AND COUNTRY, REMAIN IN STATE OF CRISIS, BUT CRISIS COULD CONTINUE FOR YET SOME TIME TO COME. IMMEDIATE ISSUE, THAT OF AF REVOLT, HAS PASSED. THUS, WHILE WE WAIT FOR THE OTHE SHOE TO DROP, EMBASSY WILL TERMINATE SITREP SERIES. MEMORANDUM OF LAW

This memorandum presents views of the Republic of Chile concerning a legal proceeding that is reportedly pending in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia under Civil Action No. 86-3085. This legal proceeding is apparently brought by Veronic DeNegri and others against the Republic of Chile and the Armed Forces of Chile. It is referred to below as "the DeNegri proceeding."

Preliminarily, the Republic of Chile advises that the Armed Forces of Chile are not a separate legal person either under Chilean law or under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. 1603(b). The Armed Forces are an integral part of the Chilean state. The Armed Forces have no separate capacity to bring legal proceedings, to defend legal proceedings, or to engage in legal transactions except on behalf of the Republic of Chile itself.

I. INTRODUCTION

The plaintiffs in the DeNegri proceeding have attempted to serve legal documents upon the Embassy of Chile and its military mission. The Clerk of the District Court has also mailed legal documents to the military mission. As discussed under point IV below, such methods both violate the diplomatic immunities of the Republic of Chile and its diplomatic mission, and are improper under Section 1608 of the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. 1608. The Republic of Chile, nevertheless, is concerned about a possible exercise of jurisdiction in the DeNegri proceeding, as a result of these invalid and improper attempts to serve legal process and, thus, suggests consideration of the legal standards presented in this memorandum.

The Republic of Chile also presents this memorandum so that the District Court may determine, at the earliest appropriate occasion, the lack of jurisdiction over the subject matter of this legal proceeding. The Republic of Chile is advised that the District Court is empowered to determine, at any time and at its own initiative, that it lacks jurisdiction over the subject matter of a legal proceeding. See Rule 12(h)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and Louisville and Nashville Railroad v. Motley, 211 U.S. 149 (1908). Professor Moore of the United States has also written that when a court lacks jurisdiction over the subject matter and even when the parties before the court do not call attention to this lack of jurisdiction, "the court at any stage of the proceedings has a duty to raise such a defense on its own initiative." Moore's Federal Practice, Vol. 2A, Section 12.23, page 12-204 (second edition 1986).

When a foreign sovereign is the defendant, the United States Supreme Court has ruled that a court must determine its jurisdiction over the subject matter, and sovereign immunity, "even if the foreign state does not enter an appearance to assert an immunity defense . . . ." Verlinden B. V. v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 461 U.S. 480, 493-494 n.20 (1983). Other United States courts have also determined that they must independently determine their own jurisdiction in all cases against foreign sovereigns. MOL, Inc. v. People's Republic of Bangladesh, 736 F.2d 1326, 1328 (9th Cir. 1984); Frolova v. Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, 761 F.2d 370, 373 (7th Cir. 1985); Jackson v. The People's Republic of China, 794 F.2d 1490 (11th Cir. 1986); In Re Korean Airlines Disaster of September 1, 1983, M.D.L. Docket No. 565 (D.D.C. Memorandum and Order of August 1, 1985); McKeel v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 722 F.2d 582, 585-87 (9th Cir. 1983); Meadows v. Dominican Republic, 628 F. Supp. 599, 603 (N.D. Cal. 1986).

The DeNegri proceeding presents this question of lack of jurisdiction. It also raises the most serious questions about the principle of sovereign immunity under international law and the competence of a court in one country to assert jurisdiction against a foreign sovereign with respect to matters that have occurred exclusively within the territory of that foreign sovereign. In this regard, all of the events in question occurred entirely within Chile. All participants in the events were Chilean nationals and were present in Chile at all times. The injuries and death occurred in Chile to Chilean nationals. As a result, formal charges have been filed in Chile by Chilean authorities and criminal proceedings are pending in Chile. To assert jurisdiction in such circumstances would be inconsistent with the concern of the United States Congress in adopting the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, that United States courts not be "turned into small 'international courts of claims' . . . open to all comers to litigate any dispute which any private party may have with a foreign state anywhere in the world." Verlinden B.V. v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 461 U.S. at 490, citing Hearings on H.R. 11315, page 31.

The plaintiffs in the DeNegri proceeding have remedies available in Chile. They have retained Chilean counsel who has participated directly on their behalf in the criminal proceedings in Chile. As a result, the plaintiffs have acquired the legal status, under Chilean law, of "interested parties" in those Chilean criminal proceedings. Plaintiffs have not, however, attempted to avail themselves of civil tort remedies available in Chile. See point VII below. They have preferred instead to initiate the civil proceedings in question within the United States.

Because of the impropriety of these civil proceedings and their implications under international law and for ongoing criminal proceedings in Chile, the Republic of Chile desires that the District Court promptly determine its own jurisdiction concerning the subject matter, and suggests that the authorities discussed below be given consideration.

II. THE COURT LACKS JURISDICTION OF THE SUBJECT MATTER UNDER UNITED STATES LAW

A. The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act Governs Jurisdiction In Every Case Against a Foreign Sovereign.

The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. 1330, 1604-1607, is the exclusive basis by which a United States court may have subject matter jurisdiction in cases against a foreign sovereign government. The United States Supreme Court made this clear in its decision in Verlinden B.V. v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 461 U.S. 480 (1983). The Supreme Court recognized that all actions against foreign sovereigns involve important federal and international concerns: "Actions against foreign sovereigns in our courts raise sensitive issues concerning the foreign relations of the United States, and the primacy of federal concerns is evident." 461 U.S. at 493. In view of these concerns, the Supreme Court concluded that the United States Congress had intended the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act to be the exclusive basis for determining jurisdiction in "every" case against a foreign sovereign:

> To promote these federal interests, Congress exercised its Article I powers by enacting a statute comprehensively regulating the amenability of foreign nations to suit in the United States. The statute must be applied by the district courts in every action against a foreign sovereign, since subject matter jurisdiction in any such action depends on the existence of one of the specified exceptions to sovereign immunity . . . . At the threshold of every action in a district court against a foreign state, > therefore, the court must satisfy itself that one of the exceptions applies--and in doing so it must apply the detailed federal law standards set forth in the Act.

461 U.S. at 493-494 (emphasis supplied). In this regard, the legislative history to the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act states that it was "intended to preempt any other State or Federal law . . . for according immunity to foreign sovereigns." House of Representatives Report No. 94-1498, 94th Congress, 2d Session (referred to below as "House Report"), page 12.

Other United States courts have also ruled that the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. 1330(a), is the only basis for subject matter jurisdiction in cases against a foreign sovereign. For example, while aliens may possibly sue individual persons for torts in violation of the "law of nations" under 28 U.S.C. 1350, they may not sue a foreign sovereign under this statute--because a foreign sovereign may only be sued under 28 U.S.C. 1330. Amerada Hess Shipping Corp. v. Argentine Republic, 638 F.Supp. 73 (S.D.N.Y. 1986), appeal pending; In Re Korean Airlines District of September 1, 1983, M.D.L. Docket No. 565 (D.D.C. Memorandum and Order of August 1, 1985); Tel-Oren v. Libyan Arab Republic, 726 F.2d 774 (D.C. Cir. 1984), at 776 n. 1 (opinion of Judge Edwards) and at 805 n. 13 (opinion of Judge Bork). Nor may a foreign sovereign be sued under 28 U.S.C. 1331 or 1332. McKeel v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 722 F.2d 582, 585-587 (9th Cir. 1985); O'Connell Machinery Co. v.

M. V Americana, 734 F.2d 115, 116 (2d Cir. 1984); Goar v. Compania Peruana de Vapores, 688 F.2d 417, 421-422 (5th Cir. 1982); Rex v. Cía. Peruana de Vapores, 660 F.2d 61, 64-65 (3d Cir. 1981); Williams v. Shipping Corp. India, 653 F.2d 875, 880-881 (4th Cir. 1981).

The United States Government has adopted the same view, that 28 U.S.C. 1330(a) is the only basis for subject matter jurisdiction in cases against a foreign sovereign. See Statement of Interest of the United States, in Guy von Dardel v. Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, United States District Court for the District of Columbia, Civil Action No. 84-0353 (filed December 8, 1986), page 25. Thus, if jurisdiction is lacking under this statute, no jurisdiction may exist against a foreign sovereign under United States law.

B. A Foreign Sovereign Is Immune From Jurisdiction Unless An "Exception" In 28 U.S.C. 1604-1607 Clearly Applies.

The jurisdictional framework established by the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act "begins with the presumption that foreign states are immune from suit." Frolova v. Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, 761 F.2d at 372. Thus, the Supreme Court in the Verlinden case noted that the jurisdictional section of the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. 1330(a), confers jurisdiction only where a foreign sovereign does not have sovereign immunity under one of the "exceptions" of 28 U.S.C. 1604-1607:

> If one of the specified exceptions to sovereign immunity applies, a federal court may exercise subject matter jurisdiction under 1330(a); but if the claim does not fall within one of the exceptions, federal courts lack subject matter jurisdiction.

461 U.S. at 489.

The first immunity section, 28 U.S.C. 1604, states the basic presumption, that a foreign sovereign is to be accorded immunity unless one of the limited exceptions in sections 1605-1607 applies. The principal immunity exceptions then appear in 28 U.S.C. 1605. (The next section, 28 U.S.C 1606, states consequences that may result if sovereign immunity is not conferred. The final section, 28 U.S.C. 1607, applies only to counterclaims.)

An analysis of 28 U.S.C 1605 indicates that none of its limited exceptions to sovereign immunity applies to the apparent subject matter of the DeNegri proceeding. Some of these exceptions are totally irrelevant, such as the "commercial activity" exception of Section 1605(a)(2); the expropriated property exception of Section 1605(a)(3); the real estate and inheritance exception of 1605(a)(4); and the maritime claim exception of Section 1605(b).

The discussion below establishes that the other potential exceptions to the fundamental rule of sovereign immunity also do not apply--specifically, the tort claim exception of Section 1605(a)(5), the waiver exception of Section 1605(a)(1), and the international agreement clause of Section 1604.

C. All Foreign Sovereigns Are Immune From Non-Commercial Tort Claims Unless Both the Injury and the Alleged Tortious Acts Have Occurred Within the United States.

Besides occurrence of the injury in the United States, the tort claim exception, 28 U.S.C. 1605(a)(5), removes sovereign immunity and provides jurisdiction only for limited types of tort claims. Significantly, it permits a district court to exercise jurisdiction against a foreign sovereign only where the injury occurs "in the United States" itself. 28 U.S.C. 1605(a)(5); Persinger v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 729 F.2d 835 (D.C. Cir 1984); Perez v. The Bahamas, 652 F.2d 196 (D.C. Cir. 1981) (ruling that The Bahamas were immune from tort claims based on injuries in Bahamian territorial waters inflicted by Bahamian gunboats). The apparent subject matter of the DeNegri proceeding involves injuries that occurred entirely within Chile, not at all within the United States. For this sole reason, the district court may not exercise jurisdiction.

Besides occurrence of the injury in the United States, the legislative history to 28 U.S.C. 1605(a)(5) shows that the United States Congress intended a second requirement--that the tortious act or omission must also occur within the United States. House Report, page 21. The United States courts have, thus, ruled that not only the injury, but also the tortious act or omission, must occur within the United States and not abroad. Persinger v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 729 F.2d at 842-843; Asociacion de Reclamantes v. United Mexican States, 735 F.2d 1517, 1524-1525 (D.C. Cir. 1984); Frolova v. Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, 761 F.2d 370, 379-380, (7th Cir. 1985); Olsen v. Government of Mexico, 729 F.2d 641, 645-646 (9th Cir. 1984); Kline v. Republic of El Salvador, 603 F. Supp. 1313, 1315-1316 (D.D.C. 1985).

The apparent subject of the DeNegri proceeding concerns not only injuries occurring entirely within Chile, but also alleged acts and omissions entirely within Chile. None were within the United States. For this reason, the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act prevents the District Court from exercising jurisdiction.

D. The Republic of Chile Has Never Waived Its Immunity, Either By International Agreement Or By Any Other Act.

The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. 1605(a)(1), allows a court to exercise jurisdiction where a foreign sovereign has waived its immunity either explicitly or by implication. In view of the purposes of the statute and the potential "sensitivity" of all actions against foreign sovereigns, Verlinden B.V. v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 461 U.S. at 493, these waiver exceptions have been very narrowly interpreted.

The legislative history lists only three examples of waivers by implication: (1) an agreement to arbitration by the foreign state of the dispute in question, (2) an agreement by a foreign state in a contract dispute that the contract is governed by the law of a particular country, and (3) the filing of a responsive pleading by a foreign state in a case in the United States without raising the defense of sovereign immunity. House Report, at page 18. The "courts have been reluctant to stray beyond these examples when considering claims that a nation has implicitly waived its defense of sovereign immunity." Frolova v. Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, 761 F.2d at 377. Even "provisions allegedly waiving sovereign immunity are narrowly construed." 761 F.2d at 377. The same court has said that "courts rarely find that a nation has waived its sovereign immunity . . . without strong evidence that this is what the foreign state intended." 761 F.2d at 377, referring to Maritime Int'l Nominees Establishment v. Republic of Guinea, 693 F.2d 1094, 1100 n. 10 (D.C. Cir. 1982). Thus, a foreign state does not waive its sovereign immunity, unless there has been "an intentional and knowing relinquishment of the legal right." Castro v. Saudi Arabia, 510 F. Supp. 309, 312 (W.D. Tex. 1980).

The Republic of Chile has never explicitly or otherwise waived its right of sovereign immunity in connection with any subject matter involved in the DeNegri proceeding. It has never made "an intentional and knowing relinquishment of the legal right" to sovereign immunity. It has never intended to waive its sovereign immunity. In fact, as discussed under point III below, the Republic of Chile adheres to the absolute principle of sovereign immunity under international law, and retains its sovereign immunity unless it has explicitly relinquished that immunity in writing in a particular case. Moreover, under Chilean law, there is a statute that provides a detailed procedure that must be followed before the Republic of Chile may relinquish its sovereign immunity in particular cases. Decree Law No. 2349, Article 4, Diario Oficial No. 30,201, October 13, 1978. Neither that law nor its detailed procedures have been followed in connection with the subject matter of the DeNegri proceeding.

In addition, the Republic of Chile has never waived its sovereign immunity in any international agreement that might in any way be relevant to the DeNegri proceeding. In this regard, it has been claimed before other courts, that other foreign states waived their sovereign immunity by entering into international agreements which do not specifically address the subject of sovereign immunity--such as the United Nations Charter and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. The courts, however, "have generally required convincing evidence that a treaty was intended to waive sovereign immunity before holding that a foreign state may be sued in this country." Frolova v. Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, 726 F.2d at 378. Accordingly, the courts have rejected the view that adherence to such general international agreements have, in any way, resulted in any waiver of sovereign immunity. Frolova v. Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, 761 F.2d at 376-378; Berkovitz v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 735 F.2d 329, 333 (9th Cir. 1984); Rio Grande Transport Inc. v. Compagnie Nationale Algerienne de Nauvigation, 517 F.2d 1155, 1160 (S.D.N.Y. 1981); In re Korean Airlines Disaster of September 1, 1983, United States District Court for the District of Columbia, M.D.L. Docket No. 565 (opinion of August 1985) at p. 5-6. The United States Government has also adopted this view. See Statement of Interest of the United States, in Guy Von Dardel v. Union of Soviet Socialists Republics, United States District Court for the District of Columbia, Civil Action No. 84-0353 (filed December 8, 1986), at pages 22-24.

For these reasons, the Republic of Chile may not be deemed, in any fashion, to have waived its sovereign immunity.

E. No International Agreement Deprives the Republic of Chile of Its Sovereign Immunity.

The basic immunity provision in the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. 1604, is "subject to existing international agreements of which the United States is a party at the time of enactment of this Act. . . ." The legislative history to this clause indicates that it applies only "in the event an international agreement expressly conflicts" with the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act. House Report, page 17. The provision was intended not to upset the NATO Status of Forces Agreement or other "agreements to which the United States is a party, calling for exclusive non-judicial remedies through arbitration or other procedures for the settlement of disputes." House Report, page 17. Moreover, the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act prevails whenever "international agreements are silent on a question of immunity . . .; the international agreement would control only where a conflict was manifest." House Report at 18.

The United States Government, in another case before the District Court, has made clear that for an international agreement to deprive a foreign sovereign of its sovereign immunity, that international agreement "must expressly provide for amenability to suit or otherwise conflict with the FSIA's immunity provisions." Statement of Interest of the United States, in Guy Von Dardel v. Union of Soviet Socialists Republics, cited above, page 21. The same conclusion was reached in Colonial Bank v. Compagnie General Maritime et Financiere, 645 F. Supp. 1457, 1460-1461 (S.D.N.Y. 1986). The Republic of Chile has never entered into any international agreement that would relinquish or limit, in any respect, its sovereign immunity in cases of tort. No such international agreement exists.

For all of the above reasons, the District Court, under United States law, lacks jurisdiction in the DeNegri proceeding.

III. THE COURT LACKS JURISDICTION UNDER INTERNATIONAL LAW

As discussed below, any exercise of jurisdiction in the DeNegri proceeding by a United States court against the Republic of Chile would also violate international law and, thus, give rise to an international claim by the Republic of Chile against the United States. See Restatement of the Law Second, Foreign Relations Law of the United States, Sections 3 and 8 (1965), pages 8-14, 23-25. Principles of international law are, in addition, relevant to the interpretation of the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act. Congress purported to base the main principles of this statute on "international law." See 28 U.S.C. 1602. The legislative history has numerous references to the intent of Congress to conform to international law:

> Sovereign immunity is a doctrine of international law under which domestic courts, in appropriate cases, relinquish jurisdiction over a foreign state. . . .
>
> Sovereign immunity as a doctrine of international law was first recognized in our courts in the landmark case of The Schooner Exchange v. M'Faddon, 7 Cranch 116 (1812).

House Report, page 8.

> In virtually every country, the United States has found that sovereign immunity is a question of international law to be determined by the courts.

House Report, page 9.

> Section 1602 sets forth the central premise of the bill: That decisions on claims by foreign states to sovereign immunity are best made by the judiciary on the basis of a statutory regime which incorporates standards recognized under international law.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

House Report, page 14.

It is universally recognized under international law that a foreign state, like the Republic of Chile, may not be sued in the national courts of another country (like the United States) with respect to alleged torts that occurred within the foreign sovereign's own territory. Indeed, for the majority of the world's countries, sovereign immunity is absolute. There are no exceptions to sovereign immunity unless a foreign sovereign explicitly relinquishes its sovereign immunity. Most Latin American countries adhere to this view. Indeed, virtually all countries of Latin America are parties to the Inter-American Convention on Private International Law of 1928 (Bustamante Code). Under Articles 333-335 of this international treaty, foreign states are entitled to immunity, except in certain cases involving real property and inheritances and except where the foreign state has voluntarily and intentionally submitted to a court's jurisdiction.

The Republic of Chile has consistently applied these principles. For example, the case of Senerman Rapaport v. Republic of Cuba, Revista De Derecho Jurisprudencia, Vol. 72 (1975), Part II, Page 54; 65 International Law Reports 29 (Chile Supreme Court 1975), decided that legal proceedings could not be maintained in Chile against a foreign state, even for a contract to sell real property, in view of the equality of sovereigns and the "principle of international law . . . that a sovereign State shall not be subject to the jurisdictional power of the courts of another State." 64 International Law Reports at 30. This principle applied even to Cuba, a hostile nation with which Chile did not maintain diplomatic relations. In fact, the Government Attorney's Office of the Republic of Chile asserted sovereign immunity to the Supreme Court of Chile on Cuba's behalf. See also Oppenlander De Soska v. Embassy of Ecuador, Fallos de la Corte Suprema, Vol. 221, 1959, page 171, 65 International Law Reports 2 (Argentina Supreme Court, 1951), holding that a tort claim based on an industrial accident could not be maintained where "the government of Ecuador does not consent to this Court trying the action."

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

Many developing countries and socialist nations adhere to this absolute view of sovereign immunity. Indeed many such countries have specific statutes adopting this absolute view of sovereign immunity. See for example Argentina, Act No. 21,708, Boletin Oficial 28-12-77, Article 24, reprinted in United Nations Legislative Series, Materials On Jurisdictional Immunities Of States And Their Property, ST/LEG/SER.B/20 (1982), page 4 (this is referred to below as "U.N. Legislative Series"); Czechoslovakia, Act Concerning Private International Law And The Rules Of Procedure Relating Thereto, Section 47, in U.N. Legislative Series, pages 14-15; Hungary, Law Degree No. 13 Of 1979 On Private International Law, Section 17(c), in U.N. Legislative Series, page 17; Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, Law Dated 8 December, 1961, Proceedings of the Supreme Soviet of the USSR, 1961, No. 50, page 526, Article 61, in U.N. Legislative Series, page 40. Colombia, Brazil, Ecuador, Portugal, Sudan, Syria, Trinidad, and Venezuela, also follow the absolute view of sovereign immunity under their laws. See U.N. Legislative Series, pages 78-79, 559-560, 564-565, 592-593, 601, 604-605, 610-611, 638. The views of such countries are to be respected by United States courts. See Banco Nacional de Cuba v. Sabbatino, 376 U.S. 398, 429-430 (1964).

Certain western countries have a more liberal view of sovereign immunity. Some have adopted statutes that restrict, in a limited fashion, the traditional immunities of foreign sovereigns. For tort claims, however, each of these statutes creates only a very limited exception, requiring at a minimum that either the injury, or the tortious act, or both, occur entirely within the forum:

United Kingdom. The State Immunity Act, Section 5, requires that any injury, death or damage to property be "caused by an act or omission in the United Kingdom." U.N. Legislative Series, page 43; 17 International Legal Materials 1123 (1978).

Canada. The Canadian statute, An Act to Provide for State Immunity in Canadian Courts, Section 6, limits immunity only with respect to an injury, death or property damage "that occurs in Canada." 21 International Legal Materials 798 (1982).

Pakistan. State Immunity Ordinance, 1981 Sections 5 and 7 would appear to permit tort actions only where the tort relates to a commercial transaction or to the possession or use of immovable property in Pakistan. U.N. Legislative Series, pages 20-27.

Singapore. The State Immunity Act 1979, Section 7, limits immunity in tort actions, only where the death, injury or damage is "caused by an act or omission in Singapore." U.N. Legislative Materials, page 30.

South Africa. The Foreign Sovereign Immunity Act (1981), Section 6, limits immunity in tort actions, only where the death, injury or damage is "caused by an act or omission in the Republic" of South Africa. U.N. Legislative Series, pages 36-37.

European Convention. There exists a European Convention on State Immunity. Article 11 of that Convention restricts sovereign immunity in tort cases only "if the facts which occasioned the injury or damage occurred in the territory of the State of the forum, and if the author of the injury or damage was present in that territory at the time when those facts occurred." Council of Europe, No. 74 (1972); U.N. Legislative Series, page 159; 11 International Legal Materials 470 (1972).

Foreign courts have, understandably, rarely been confronted with tort claims against foreign sovereigns where the events have occurred abroad. On the few occasions when those cases have been brought, however, immunity has always been granted and the case dismissed:

Amanat-Kahn v. Fredson Travel Inc. (1982) 36 Ontario Reports 17, 64 International Law Reports 733 (Canada, High Court of Ontario 1982), an airline crash tort action against the Government of Pakistan for negligence in failing to provide proper security at Karachi Airport. The Canadian court dismissed the case on grounds of sovereign immunity from jurisdiction, holding that operation of an airport is a sovereign act and noting that "the acts alleged to have created liability upon the government of Pakistan all arose in Pakistan or other foreign countries." 64 International Law Reports, at 737.

Church of Scientology Case, Case No. VI ZR 27-76, 65 International Law Reports 193 (Federal Republic of Germany, Federal Supreme Court 1978). A tort claim was asserted against the head of New Scotland Yard for having made false accusations against plaintiff in a report issued in the United Kingdom. The court concluded that it lacked jurisdiction because the head of Scotland Yard was carrying out police functions of the British Government and, thus, entitled to sovereign immunity.

German court. That court refused to exercise jurisdiction on grounds of sovereign immunity.

Societe Anonyme Eau, Gaz, Electricite et Applications v. Office D'Aide Mutuelle, 23 International Law Reports 205 (Belgium: Ct. of App. Brussels, January 25, 1956). The plaintiff suffered damages in a traffic accident involving a British military truck transporting troops in Belgium. The court concluded that claims relating to the transport of troops on the order of a foreign government (apparently from abroad) could not be heard because the foreign state was entitled to immunity.

U Kyaw Din v. The British Government, 23 International Law Reports 209 (Burma: High Court of Rangoon, July 14, 1948), where immunity was accorded in a tort action relating to the deliberate destruction of property by the British forces when evacuating Rangoon in 1942.

The United States is participating in an effort by the International Law Commission of the United Nations to draft an international convention on the jurisdictional immunities of foreign states. Article 14 of that draft convention, in its initial form, would have deprived a foreign state of its sovereign immunity in tort actions only where:

> the act or omission . . . occurred wholly or partly in the territory of the State of the forum, and if the author of the act or omission was present in that territory at the time of the act or omission.

Yearbook of the International Law Commission, 1984, Vol. II, Part Two, United National Publication No. A/CN.4/SER.A/1984/Add.1 (Part 2), page 66. The commentary to this provision indicates the limited nature of this exception:

> The existence of two cumulative conditions is necessary for the application of this exception. The act or omission causing the death, injury or damage must occur in whole or in part in the territory of the State of the forum so as to locate the locus delicti commissi within the territory of that State. In addition, the author of such act or omission must also be present in that State at the time of the act or omission so as to render even closer the territorial connection between the State of the forum and the author or individual whose act or omission was the cause of the damage in the State of the forum.

Ibid, pages 66-67.

Even with these limitations, Article 14 was criticized within the International Law Commission because it "found no support in the general practice of States." Yearbook of the International Law Commission 1984, Vol. II, Part One, page 10. Accordingly, Artitle 14 has been further limited to apply only to "insurable risks" arising from the occupation of real property or the transport of passengers or cargo, provided the act or omission occur in the forum and provided the author of the act or omission be also within the forum at the time of the occurrence. Ibid., page 11.

Sixtieth Conference, Montreal, 1982 (London 1983), 22 International Law Materials 287, which would require that the tortious act or omission "occur wholly or partly in the forum State" before jurisdiction could be asserted; Inter-American Draft Convention on Jurisdictional Immunity of States (1983), Articles 5 and 6(e), 22 International Legal Materials 292 (1983), which, though never adopted, would have restricted immunity only if the tort arose from commercial activity in the forum.

The subject matter of the DeNegri proceeding would not satisfy any of these criteria which reflect the most liberal view of international law on sovereign immunity. Under the laws of all nations, and the law of nations, the Republic of Chile is immune from jurisdiction in this proceeding. The Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act was intended to reflect, not depart from, this consensus as to sovereign immunity under international law. For these reasons as well, the District Court lacks jurisdiction.

IV. THE COURT LACKS PERSONAL JURISDICTION; NO VALID SERVICE HAS OCCURRED

Under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, 28 U.S.C. 1330(b), a court may obtain personal jurisdiction over a foreign sovereign only if (A) jurisdiction over the subject matter exists under 28 U.S.C. 1330(a), and (B) valid service has occurred under 28 U.S.C. 1608.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

A. In analyzing 28 U.S.C. 1330(b), the United States Supreme Court has stated:

> Under the Act, however, both statutory subject matter jurisdiction (otherwise known as "competence") and personal jurisdiction turn on application of the substantive provisions of the Act. . . . 1330(b) provides personal jurisdiction whenever subject matter jurisdiction exists under subsection (a) and service of process has been made under 28 U.S.C. 1608. Thus, if none of the exceptions to sovereign immunity set forth in the Act applies, the District Court lacks both statutory subject matter jurisdiction and personal jurisdiction.

Verlinden B.V. v. Central Bank of Nigeria, 461 U.S. at 485 n.5.

As discussed in points II and III above, the Republic of Chile has clear sovereign immunity from the subject matter jurisdiction of the court in the DeNegri proceeding. For this reason, "the District Court lacks both statutory subject matter jurisdiction and personal jurisdiction."

B. The second requirement for personal jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. 1330(b), is that valid service of legal documents must occur under 28 U.S.C. 1608. The provisions of Section 1608 are "the exclusive means of service under the FSIA." Lippus v. Dahlgren Mfg. Co., 644 F. Supp. 1473, 1476 (E.D.N.Y. 1986); Luccino v. Foreign Countries, 631 F. Supp. 821, 825 (E.D. Pa. 1986). The Section 1608 requirements must be strictly followed. Gray v. Permanent Mission of People's Republic of China, 443 F. Supp. 816, 821 (S.D.N.Y. 1978); Magnus Electronics, Inc. v. Royal Bank of Canada, 620 F. Supp. 387, 389 (D.C. Ill. 1985),

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

> It is also contemplated that the courts will not direct service in the United States upon diplomatic representatives . . . or upon consular representatives . . . .
>
> A second means, of questionable validity, involves the mailing of a copy of the summons and complaint to a diplomatic mission of the foreign state. Section 1608 precludes this method so as to avoid questions of inconsistency with section 1 of article 22 of the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations, 23 UST 3227, TIAS 7502 (1972), which entered into force in the United States on December 13, 1972. Service on an embassy by mail would be precluded under this bill. See 71 Dept. of State Bull. 458-59 (1974).

House Report, pages 25-26 (emphasis supplied). Courts have thus rejected service of process by mail on diplomatic missions. See 40 D. 6262 Realty Corp. v. United Arab Emirates Government, 447 F. Supp. 710, 712 (S.D.N.Y. 1978); Lucchino v. Foreign Countries, 631 F. Supp. 821, 826-827 (E.D. Pa. 1986).

For these reasons, the above attempts do not constitute proper or valid service under 28 U.S.C. 1608 against the Republic of Chile (including the Armed Forces of Chile which, as discussed above, is not a separate legal person but is an integral part of the Republic of Chile).

C. The Republic of Chile reserves its position under international law that no proper service of process can be made against a foreign state in a legal proceeding of this nature, whether or not the method of service is provided under United States law.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

D. Where a foreign government is concerned, United States law on personal jurisdiction also requires "minimum contacts" with the forum. This requirement has four parts:

> [T]he court must examine the extent to which defendants availed themselves of the privileges of American law, the extent to which litigation in the United States was foreseeable to them, the inconvenience to defendants of litigating in the United States, and the countervailing interest of the United States in hearing the suit.

Texas Trading v. Federal Republic of Nigeria, 647 F.2d 300, 314 (2d Cir. 1981).

These factors cannot depend on diplomatic and other governmental activities of a foreign government in the United States. General governmental and diplomatic activities do not create "minimum contacts." See Fandel v. Arabian American Oil Company, 345 F.2d 87 (D.C. Cir. 1965). Foreign states "should not be subject to suit for conducting internationally protected activities". Statement of Interest of the United States, in Von Dardel v. Union of Soviet Socialist Republic, cited above, page 27. Instead, "minimum contacts" for a foreign government require a connection with the specific activity on which the alleged cause of action is based. Ibid., pages 26-27.

When these standards are applied, the required "minimum contacts" are missing for the events in question. The Republic of Chile has never "availed [itself] of the privileges of American law" with respect to any matter involved in the DeNegri proceeding. Such litigation in the United States was not "forseeable".

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

In view of the pending criminal proceeding in Chile and the connection of all events and participants with Chile, the factors of "convenience" to defendants and "countervailing interest of the United States in hearing the suit" also cannot be met. For these reasons as well, personal jurisdiction is lacking.

V. THE COURT SHOULD NOT EXERCISE JURISDICTION BECAUSE NO COGNIZABLE "CAUSE OF ACTION" EXISTS, AND NONE MAY PROPERLY EXIST

Before a court may exercise jurisdiction in any matter, whether against a private defendant or a foreign sovereign, there must be a cause of action or claim recognized by the tribunal. This requirement is not met here: (A) United States law does not provide a cause of action in cases between foreign parties involving foreign events that have no connection with the United States; (B) United States courts have refused to recognize a cause of action for foreign events involving conduct by military personnel, even United States military personnel; (C) recognition of a cause of action or claim would exceed international rules on jurisdictional competence; and (D) international law creates no private cause of action where the "responsibility" of a foreign sovereign itself is in question. Thus, even if the District Court believes, incorrectly, that it has jurisdiction, there is not any claim cognizable in United States courts as to which jurisdiction may be exercised.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

A. Under United States law, courts may exercise jurisdiction only if a private right of action, or cause of action, has been accorded with respect to the subject matter. Davis v. Passman, 442 U.S. 228, 239 (1979). The existence of a cause of action, however, must be carefully reviewed when a case involves international relations. Tel-Oren v. Libyan Arab Republic, 726 F.2d 774 (D.C. Cir. 1984), at 801-802 (concurring opinion of Judge Bork).

Reserving the right to address specific claims in the event a complaint is validly served, the Republic of Chile suggests that no cause of action has been conferred by United States law that would apply to a case between foreign parties involving events and injuries that occurred entirely within a foreign land. Even where private parties are defendants, United States courts rarely imply a cause of action in cases between foreign parties with respect to foreign events. As stated in Lauritzen v. Larsen, 345 U.S. 571, 578 (1953), quoting Rex v. Jameson, [1896] 2 Q.B. 425, 430:

> . . . if any construction otherwise be possible, an Act will not be construed as applying to foreigners in respect to acts done by them outside the dominions of the sovereign power enacting. This is a rule of international law, by which one sovereign power is bound to respect the subjects and the rights of all other sovereign powers outside its own territory.

The Supreme Court in the Lauritzen case ruled that the Jones Act did not grant a cause of action to a Danish seaman hired in the United States, but injured aboard a Danish ship while in a Cuban port. Other decisions have consistently denied causes of action in similar circumstances. See Restatement of the Law Second, Foreign Relations Law of the United States, Section 38 (1965), pages 107-111 (referred to below as "Restatement"); Foley Bros. v. Filardo, 336 U.S. 281 (1949)(Eight Hour law provides no cause of action covering employment in foreign country); McCulloch v. Sociedad Nacional de Marineros de Honduras, 372 U.S. 10 (1963) (National Labor Relations Act does not provide cause of action to foreign seamen on foreign-flag ships); Commodity Futures Trading Commission v. Nahas, 738 F.2d 487, 493 (D.C. Cir. 1984); Fitzgerald v. Texaco, Inc., 521 F.2d 448, 454 (2d Cir 1975), (plaintiffs can recover under a statute "only if they are able to establish some significant national contacts warranting application of the statute to non-resident aliens"); Montreal Trading Ltd. v. Amax, Inc., 661 F.2d 864, 870 (10th Cir. 1981) (no anti-trust cause of action where transactions occurred in Canada and were directed toward trade with Korea); Nat. Bank of Canada v. Interbank Card Association, 666 F.2d 6, 8-9, (2d Cir. 1981); Fidenas AG v. Compagnie Internationale, 606 F.2d 5 (2d Cir. 1979) (no cause of action under securities laws where transactions and parties were foreign); Mormel v. Girofinance, S.A., 544 F.Supp 815 (S.D.N.Y. 1982) (U.S. securities laws do not provide cause of action for predominantly foreign frauds). These limitations also apply to causes of action under state laws. In fact, state laws must be more restrictive in their scope, so that they do not have "a direct impact upon foreign relations . . . [or] adversely affect the power of the central government to deal with those problems." Zschernig v. Miller, 389 U.S. 429, 441 (1968).

Thus, United States laws should not be interpreted as affording a cause of action with respect to a foreign dispute between foreign parties involving injuries abroad.

B. Even where a cognizable cause of action or claim might otherwise exist with respect to a foreign dispute between foreign parties, the cause of action may not be extended to cover acts of military personnel abroad, especially not acts of a foreign sovereign's soldiers within that sovereign's own territory.

The United States Supreme Court has refused to extend causes of action, where United States military personnel are involved. In Feres v. United States, 340 U.S. 135 (1950), the Supreme Court refused to interpret the Federal Tort Claims Act to cover military torts. In Chappell v. Wallace, 462 U.S. 296 (1983), soldiers brought claims of blatant racial discrimination against their superior officers. Of course, such racial discrimination would violate the United States Constitution as well as international law. Nevertheless, the Supreme Court ruled that civilian courts should not imply a cause of action under the Constitution and that "such a remedy will not be available when 'special factors counseling hesitation' are present." 462 U.S. at 298.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

In Sanchez-Espinoza v. Reagan, 770 F.2d 202 (D.C. Cir. 1985), the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit ruled that the courts should be "hesitant" to recognize damage remedies for foreign nationals who have been injured by tortious acts abroad of U.S. military personnel. The Sanchez-Espinoza case involved injuries inflicted by "Contra" forces in Nicaragua, who were allegedly aided by U.S. military personnel in Central America. The plaintiffs, Nicaraguan nationals, alleged that torts were committed by United States military forces in violation of international law. The Court of Appeals ruled that it would not find a cause of action against the United States Government in these circumstances:

> Just as the special needs of the Armed Forces require the courts to leave to Congress the creation of damage remedies against military officers for allegedly unconstitutional treatment of soldiers, see Chappell v. Wallace, supra, so also the special needs of foreign affairs must stay our hand in the creation of damage remedies against military and foreign policy officials for allegedly unconstitutional treatment of foreign subjects causing injury abroad. The foreign affairs implications of suits such as this cannot be ignored . . . . Whether or not the present litigation is motivated by considerations of geopolitics rather than personal harm, we think that as a general matter the danger of foreign citizens' using the courts in situations such as this to obstruct the foreign policy of our government is sufficiently acute that we must leave to Congress the judgment whether a damage remedy should exist.

770 F.2d at 208-209.

Certainly, if alleged torts in violation of international law and committed abroad by U.S. military personnel will not give rise to a cause of action in United States courts, then it follows that similar tort allegations against a foreign sovereign for acts of its military personnel cannot properly give rise to a cause of action in the same United States courts.

UNCLASSIFIED

C. International law places limitations on the ability of one nation to regulate, and impose liability rules concerning, disputes between foreign parties with respect to events abroad. These international limitations on a nation's "jurisdiction to prescribe or jurisdiction to enforce" a rule of law with respect to foreign disputes, are recognized in the United States. Restatement, cited above, Sections 8 and 38, pages 23-25, 107-111; Lauritzen v. Larsen, 345 U.S. at 578; F.T.C. v. Compagnie de Saint-Gobain-Pont-A-Mousson, 636 F.2d 1300, 1315-1317 (D.C. Cir. 1980); Commodity Futures Trading Commission v. Nahas, 738 F.2d 487, 493 (D.C. Cir. 1984). By contrast, United States courts have usually found a cause of action covering foreign events to be consistent with international law, only where the parties are United States citizens or where the events include significant conduct or effects within the United States. Blackmer v. United States, 284 U.S. 421, 437 (1931) (U.S. citizens as parties); Leasco Data Processing Equipment Corp. v. Maxwell, 468 F.2d 1326, 1332 (2d Cir. 1982) (significant conduct within United States); Tumari v. Bache & Co. (Lebanon) S.A.L., 730 F.2d 1103, 1107 n.11 (7th Cir. 1984). Compare Steele v. trademark laws may cover trademark infringement by U.S. citizens abroad), with Vanity Fair Mills, Inc. v. T. Eaton Co., 234 F.2d 633, 641-643 (2d Cir. 1956) (no cause of action for trademark infringement against a Canadian citizen for use abroad of a trademark that the defendant registered in Canada). These international constraints on the ability of one nation to prescribe causes of action with respect to events in another nation, are additional reasons why the District Court should not recognize a cause of action in the DeNegri proceeding.

D. Finally, a state's responsibility for injuries to individuals, under international law, may only be asserted by another sovereign state, not by a private plaintiff. Restatement, cited above, Sections 174 and 175, pages 526-527. The only exceptions are where there is an explicit international agreement giving an alien a remedy (such as an international claims agreement), or where the foreign state itself provides a remedy under its own laws or by agreement. Restatement, Section 175, page 527. See Dames & Moore v. Reagan, 453 U.S. 654, 679-680 (1981). Compare Restatement, Section 3, for issues other than state responsibility.

In fact, international law itself does not provide any cause of action to individuals. "To imply a cause of action from the law of nations would completely defeat the critical right of the sovereign to determine whether and how international rights should be enforced in that municipality." Handel v. Antukovic,

UNCLASSIFIED

601 F.Supp. 1421, 1428 (C.D. Calif. 1985). As the Supreme Court has stated:

> The traditional view of international law is that it establishes substantive principles for determining whether one country has wronged another. Because of its peculiar nation-to-nation character the usual method for an individual to seek relief is to exhaust local remedies and then repair to the executive authorities of his own state to persuade them to champion his claim in diplomacy or before an international tribunal.

Banco Nacional de Cuba v. Sabbatino, 376 U.S. 398, 422, (1964) (emphasis supplied); see Dreyfus v. Von Finck, 534 F.2d 24, 31 (2d Cir. 1976) (international law "deals primarily with the relationship among nations rather than among individuals . . . . Like a general treaty, the law of nations has been held not to be self-executing so as to vest a plaintiff with individual legal rights"); Hunt v. BP Exploration Co. (Libya) Ltd., 492 F.Supp. 885, 903 (N.D. Texas 1980):

> It is doubtful that Hunt, as a private individual, would have standing to raise as a cause of action . . . violation of customary international law . . . . Even where the United States enters into a treaty with another nation, . . . unless the treaty is self-executing it must be implemented by legislation before it gives rise to a private cause of action.

Compare Tel-Oren v. Libyan Arab Republic, 726 F.2d at 811-819 (concurring opinion of Judge Bork) with Filartiga v. Pena-Irala, 630 F.2d 876, 887 (2d Cir. 1980), ruling that a cause of action existed under the law of nations against a private defendant. Where a foreign sovereign is the defendant, there is no basis for contending that international law provides a private cause of action on issues of state responsibility. See Banco Nacional de Cuba v. Sabbatino, 376 U.S. at 422; compare Statement of Interest of the United States, in Von Dardel v. Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, United States District Court for the District of Columbia, Civil Action No. 84-0353 (filed December 8, 1986), pages 24-25.

Thus, issues of state responsibility under international law are left to sovereign states for resolution among themselves either diplomatically or through other international procedures. International law confers no private cause of action in this area. In addition, before the issue of state responsibility can even be considered, the individual in question must have exhausted all domestic remedies within the foreign state concerned. Restatement, Section 206, pages 610-614. As discussed in point VII below, plaintiffs in the DeNegri proceeding have not pursued, or exhausted, domestic remedies within Chile. Moreover, these remedies apply only in Chile. Chilean law provides no cause of action against the Chilean state that may be exercised outside Chile.

All these considerations further suggest that the District Court in the DeNegri proceeding should not recognize a claim or cause of action. The Republic of Chile also reserves its position under international law that the United States may not prescribe a cause of action in its courts or otherwise exercise jurisdiction with respect to the events in question.

VI. THE RESPONSIBILITY OF A FOREIGN SOVEREIGN FOR CLAIMS BASED ON ALLEGED ACTS OF ITS SOLDIERS IN ITS OWN TERRITORY IS NOT JUSTICIABLE UNDER EITHER THE "POLITICAL QUESTION" OR "ACT OF STATE" DOCTRINES

Extension of any cause of action to a foreign government defendant presents an additional issue--justiciability of the claim. The Republic of Chile suggests that the District Court is being asked to decide a non-justiciable question: Whether the Republic of Chile itself should be held "responsible" by a United States Court for acts of military personnel within Chile. The Republic of Chile itself is conducting its own criminal proceedings with respect to the events and soldiers involved. The Republic of Chile has not sought, and indeed strongly opposes, the intervention of any United States court with respect to these matters. Understandably, a finding by a United States court that a foreign government itself is "responsible" for these events should be expected to affect the sensitivities of any sovereign.

A. Issues affecting foreign relations have been viewed as non-justiciable "political questions", especially when no treaty or statute expressly confers a cause of action for the particular issue. Diggs v. Richardson, 555 F.2d 848, 851 (D.C. Cir. 1976) (claim for violation of a United Nations resolution is not justiciable, "in the absence of domestic legislation evincing an intention for judicial enforcement" of the resolution's terms); Tel-Oren v. Libyan Arab Republic, 726 F.2d at 823-827

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

(concurring opinion of Judge Robb); Cranston v. Reagan, 611 F. Supp. 247, 253 (D.D.C. 1985) (even where a statute puts the issue "within the court's province to decide," possible foreign policy consequences of judicial action "render the case non-justiciable"); In re Korean Air Lines Disaster of September 1, 1983, 597 F. Supp. 613, 616-617 (D.D.C. 1984) (tort claims against United States under the Federal Tort Claims Act were not justiciable, when based on the exercise of military and national security activities abroad).

The basis of the political question doctrine is that certain questions either are not suited to resolution by United States courts, or have been allocated to the political branches of the United States Government. The Supreme Court has expressed the following criteria for a "political question":

> It is apparent that several formulations . . . may describe a political question, although each has one or more elements which identify it as essentially a function of the separation of powers. Prominent on the surface of any case held to involve a political question is found a textually demonstrable constitutional commitment of the issue to a coordinate political department; or a lack of judicially discoverable and manageable standards for resolving it; or the impossibility of deciding without an initial policy determination of a kind clearly for non-judicial discretion; or the impossibility of a court's undertaking independent resolution without expressing lack of the respect due coordinate branches of government; or an unusual need for unquestioning adherence to a political decision already made; or the potentiality of embarrassment from multifarious pronouncements by various departments on one question.

Baker v. Carr, 369 U.S. 186, 217 (1962) (emphasis supplied).

UNCLASSIFIED

Only one of these criteria need be present. Cranston v. Reagan, 611 F. Supp. at 252; In re Korean Air Lines Disaster, 597 F. Supp. at 616. Certainly, "one or more elements" described by the Supreme Court are present here. Finding a foreign state "responsible" for acts of its military personnel within its own borders involves a "demonstrable constitutional commitment of the issue to a coordinate political department." The reasons for this are that (1) questions of state responsibility for injuries to individuals are, under international law, left for resolution among nations through diplomatic and political means (see point V.D. above); and (2) under the United States Constitution, such diplomatic and political remedies are allocated to the Executive Branch. In these areas, "the President alone has the power to speak or listen as a representative of the nation." United States v. Curtiss-Wright Export Corp., 299 U.S. 304, 319 (1936); Chicago & Southern Air Lines v. Waterman S.S. Corp., 333 U.S. 103, 111 (1948). United States positions on a foreign nation's responsibility, and similar matters "intimately related to foreign policy . . . are rarely proper subjects for judicial intervention." Haig v. Agee, 453 U.S. 280, 292 (1981). See Matthews v. Diaz, 426 U.S. 67, 81 (1976).

Holding a foreign state "responsible" in these circumstances also involves "an initial policy determination of a kind clearly for non-judicial discretion" as well as "the potentiality of embarrassment from multifarious pronouncements by various departments on one question." Not only has the issue of state responsibility for acts of military personnel abroad been an issue committed to foreign relations between nations, but also courts have been reluctant to recognize any cause of action even where United States military personnel are involved. See Sanchez-Espinoza v. Reagan, 770 F.2d at 208-209. Compare, Japan Whaling Assn. v. American Cetacean Society, 106 S. Ct. 2860 (1986), where the existence of an express Congressional statute and treaty made justiciable the issue of the Secretary of Commerce's statutory actions in response to violations of whaling quotas by Japanese fishermen.

B. Moreover, this issue of state "responsibility" for acts of military personnel within the foreign state's own territory, is also not justiciable under the "act of state" doctrine:

> Every sovereign state is bound to respect the independence of every other sovereign state, and the courts of one country will not sit in judgment on the acts of the government of another done within its own territory. Redress of grievances by reason of such acts must be obtained through the means open to be availed of by sovereign powers as between themselves.

Underhill v. Hernandez, 168 U.S. 250, 252 (1897), ruling that a claim of assault by a Veneuelan military commander against an American citizen in Venezuela could not be adjudicated by United States courts; Oetjen v. Central Leather Co., 246 U.S. 297 (1918), ruling that a seizure by a Mexican general of a Mexican citizen's property in Mexico could not be adjudicated; Ricaud v. American Metal Co., 246 U.S. 304 (1918), ruling that a seizure by a Mexican general of an American citizen's property in Mexico could not be adjudicated. These decisions were cited with approval in Banco Nacional de Cuba v. Sabbatino, 376 U.S. 398, 416-418 (1964).

UNCLASSIFIED

The "act of state" doctrine precludes judicial inquiry into the validity or lawfulness of alleged foreign state acts performed within a foreign state's own territory. Ibid., 376 U.S. at 401. The doctrine reflects "the proper distribution of functions between the judicial and political branches of government on matters bearing on foreign affairs." 376 U.S. at 427-428. Consequently, it even precludes judicial inquiry into the propriety or motivations of foreign government actions within its own borders. Hunt v. Mobil Oil Corp., 550 F.2d 68 (2d Cir. 1977). The issue of state responsibility in the DeNegri proceeding would involve such judicial inquiry into alleged foreign government acts. In addition, the act of state doctrine should be applied so that the District Court does not violate the international law principle of non-intervention into the internal affairs of a sovereign nation: "No State or group of States has the right to intervene, directly or indirectly, for any reason whatever, in the internal or external affairs of any other State." Charter of the Organization of American States, Article 18, 2 U.S.T. 2394; Declaration of Principles of International Law Concerning Friendly Relations, Principle 3, GA Res. 2625 (XXV), 25 UN GAOR, Supp. (No. 28), page 121, U.N. Doc. A/8028

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

(1970). For these reasons also, the issue is not justiciable.

VII. THE COURT SHOULD NOT EXERCISE JURISDICTION BECAUSE THE UNITED STATES IS NOT A PROPER OR CONVENIENT FORUM

In the event the District Court decides to exercise jurisdiction despite the authorities discussed in points II through VI above, it should then consider the doctrine of forum non conveniens, as applied by the United States Supreme Court in Piper Aircraft Company v. Reyno, 454 U.S. 235 (1981). The case involved an aircraft crash in Scotland and a suit against the American airplane manufacturer. The Supreme Court ruled that a foreign forum could not be rejected simply because the rules of liability, or potential damages, in the foreign forum would be less favorable than in the United States. In its decision, the Supreme Court stated that the appropriate analysis requires a "balancing" of both private and public interests. 454 U.S. at 257.

With respect to "private interest" factors, the Supreme Court in the Piper Aircraft case considered the location of witnesses and evidence. It ruled that it was reasonable to find that many of the relevant interests were located in Great Britain, even though the claims against the American manufacturer would involve evidence in the United States. 454 U.S. at 257-58. In the DeNegri proceeding, virtually all of the relevant evidence and witnesses are located in Chile.

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

With respect to "public interest" factors, the Supreme Court in the Piper Aircraft case stated:

> Scotland has a very strong interest in this litigation. The accident occurred in its airspace. All of the decedents were Scotish. Apart from Piper and Hartzell, all potential plaintiffs and defendants are either Scotish or English. As we stated in Gilbert, there is "a local interest in having localized controversies decided at home."

454 U.S. at 260.

In the DeNegri proceeding, the Republic of Chile has an overwhelming interest in the subject matter of the litigation. All events were in Chile. The potential defendants are all Chilean. The Republic of Chile has brought criminal proceedings against one of its soldiers, in Chile, in connection with these Chilean events. There is an overriding interest in having any other proceedings also occur in Chile.

The Supreme Court in the Piper Aircraft case also addressed the question of whether there is an adequate remedy in the foreign country. The laws of Chile clearly provide such remedies for the plaintiffs. A leading precedent in Chile is Pino Silva v. Republic of Chile, Docket No. 16,129 (Court of Appeals of Concepion, June 15, 1982). The plaintiff in that case was permanently crippled from an assault by a soldier, during the martial law imposed twelve days after the military government came to power in September 1973. The soldier was charged and convicted of unnecessary violence. Following the conviction, the victim brought a civil tort action against the Republic of Chile. Under Chilean law, a civil proceeding cannot be completed until a verdict is reached in a related criminal proceeding; however, a criminal conviction is conclusive evidence of tort liability. The Court of Appeals affirmed a judgment of 8,390,000 pesos (approximately $195,000 in June 1982), concluding that there was a civil tort remedy against the Republic of Chile in these circumstances.

The plaintiffs in the DeNegri proceeding have such an avenue available to them in Chile. The plaintiffs have also shown an ability to participate in Chilean legal proceedings, because they have hired counsel and have become "interested parties" in the pending criminal proceedings in Chile involving these same events.

By contrast, a decision to exercise jurisdiction in the United States would present the "practical problems" that concerned the Supreme Court in the Piper Aircraft case:

> The American courts, which are already extremely attractive to foreign plaintiffs, would become even more attractive. The flow of litigation to the United States would increase and further congest already crowded courts.

454 U.S. at 251-252. See also, Castillo v. Shipping Corp. of India, 606 F. Supp. 497, 503-504 (S.D.N.Y. 1985) (dismissal in favor of forum in India, and on grounds of sovereign immunity);

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

Cheng v. The Boeing Company, 708 F.2d 1406 (9th Cir. 1983) (dismissal in favor of Taiwanese forum despite presence of American as well as foreign plaintiffs and argument that Taiwanese court might have to apply U.S. law).

For these reasons as well, the District Court should not exercise jurisdiction.

VIII. CONCLUSION

The United States District Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over the DeNegri proceeding, and personal jurisdiction over the Republic of Chile. Valid service also has not occurred. Moreover, even if the District Court should, incorrectly, believe that it has jurisdiction, it should not exercise jurisdiction because no cognizable "cause of action" exists, because the issue of government "responsibility" is not justiciable in this case, and because the United States is not a proper or convenient forum. Thus, the case should be dismissed.

EXCMA. CORTE,

ALFREDO ETCHEBERRY, por el Gobierno de los Estados Unidos, en las gestiones relativas al exhorto enviado por mi representado para recabar el testimonio del General HECTOR OROZCO SEPULVEDA, a US. Excma. digo:

Que vengo en formular las observaciones que siguen, en relación con el dictamen emitido por el señor Fiscal de este Excmo. Tribunal, a fin de que US. Excma. se sirva tomarlas en consideración al resolver en definitiva sobre la procedencia o improcedencia de las preguntas y cuestiones formuladas en el exhorto.

1. El señor Fiscal opina, primeramente, que por su naturaleza el exhorto es susceptible de ser acogido a tramitación, y en cuanto a su contenido, que son procedentes las preguntas (a) hasta (g) de las páginas 5 a 8 del exhorto; (cc) de la pág. 21; (h), (i), (j), (k), (l) e (y) de las páginas 9 a 19, en todo lo cual este apoderado está de acuerdo.

2. El señor Fiscal estima que son improcedentes para interrogatorio las materias indicadas en las letras (m), (n), (o), (p), (q), (r), (s), (t), (u), (v), (w) y (x) de las páginas 10 a 18, "salvo que su contenido no constare en las actuaciones del proceso o no aparezcan directamente relacionadas con la actividad judicial del declarante en dicha causa". Fundamenta su opinión el señor Fiscal (página 2 de su dictamen) en que tales preguntas se referirían a actuaciones del señor OROZCO como Fiscal instructor en la causa 192-78 del Segundo Juzgado Militar, y que por lo tanto no sería ajeno al juicio, y que "es de la esencia del testigo que sea una persona extraña al acto que se trata de probar". Esta afirmación debe aceptarse con reservas. Es cierto que el testigo debe ser "ajeno" o "extraño" al acto, pero sólo en el sentido de que no debe encontrarse respecto de éste en una situación de la que derive responsabilidad civil o penal a su respecto. Un testigo de un accidente automovilístico pude haber "intervenido" en éste socorriendo a las víctimas, conversando con los protagonistas, etc., sobre todo lo cual es habitual y corriente que testifique. Los testigos de un testamento o escritura pública han estado presentes en su otorgamiento y los han firmado: no son, por lo tanto "ajenos" al acto en un sentido absoluto, sino sólo respecto de los derechos y obligaciones que pueden emanar de tal acto.

UNCLASSIFIED

Por lo tanto, no divisa esta parte inconveniente en que se interrogue al señor OROZCO sobre actuaciones suyas en calidad de Fiscal instructor, ya el procedimiento en que tuvo tal calidad tenía por objeto establecer la posible responsabilidad de terceros, y en ningún caso del propio Fiscal.

3. El señor Fiscal estima también improcedentes para su interrogatorio las preguntas de las letras (z), (aa) y (bb) de la página 20; (dd), (ee) y (ff) de las páginas 22 y 223. Aduce para ello que ellas tendrían clara vinculación con el sumario instruído por el señor OROZCO, razón respecto de la cual podemos formular las mismas consideraciones que en el párrafo anter para manifestar nuestra discrepancia con la opinión señor Fiscal.

UNCLASSIFIED

Respecto de las tres últimas: (
(ee) y (ff), agrega el señor Fiscal otra razón: que e declaración del señor OROZCO se solicita como test tales preguntas pudieren comprometerlo personalmente algún acto ilícito, tiene otras vías, dentro de la chilena, para negarse a contestar. En cambio, al formulársele las preguntas, se le priva de una oportuni para afirmar la corrección de su desempeño. Por lo der las preguntas en cuestión no son en el fondo sino un pe

La opinión del señor Fiscal parecería sugerir que el se

OROZCO había actuado ilícitamente, cosa que no puede presumirse mientras él no responsa a las preguntas.

Disiente, por lo tanto, este apoderado, de la opinión del señor Fiscal en estas preguntas y estima que ellas pueden legalmente ser formuladas al testigo.

4. En cuanto a los párrafos relativos a los "Procedimientos que habrán de seguirse", este apoderado está en principio de acuerdo con el señor Fiscal en que la forma de producir el testimonio solicitado debe ajustarse a la lex fori (la de Chile), pero estima igualmente que los puntos (1), (2), (6) y (7) no son en absoluto incompatibles con la ley procesal penal chilena (que el testigo declare bajo juramento, que responda a las preguntas por separado y dé razón de sus dichos, etc.), de manera que ningún inconveniente habría en proceder de la manera que allí se indica, salvo en cuanto específicamente ello estuviere prohibido por la ley chilena. En cuanto a los puntos (3), (4) y (5) de este párrafo, en realidad ellos no son de procedimiento, sino de fondo, ya que se refieren a las materias sobre las cuales deberá interrogarse al testigo, aunque se las haya incluído en el acápite relativo al procedimiento. Por lo tanto, puede procederse así, ya que en materias vinculadas al fondo rige la ley del país exhortante.

En esta virtud,

SIRVASE US. EXCMA. tener presentes estas consideraciones y en definitiva resolver como en ellas se indica, acerca de la procedencia de las peticiones formuladas en el exhorto.

SOBRE LA ESTRUCTURA Y FUNCIONAMIENTO DE LA JUSTICIA MILITAR CHILENA

UNCLASSIFIED

1.- La Justicia Militar de Chile está, desde hace más de cincuenta años regida por un Código que se llama Código de Justicia Militar. (Su primer texto oficial fue promulgado el 24 de diciembre de 1925).

2.- Si bien dicho texto original ha tenido numerosas modificaciones, principalmente encaminadas a aumentar el número de Juzgados Militares, en líneas generales se ha mantenido el mismo sistema: La Justicia Militar se ejerce por los Juzgados militares y navales (posteriormente se han creado los de aviación), por los Fiscales, los auditores, las Cortes Marciales y la Corte Suprema. Es oportuno señalar que el artículo 86 de la Constitución Política, (en vigencia desde el 18 de septiembre del mismo año 1925, en que se dictó el Código de Justicia Militar), dispone que la Corte Suprema "tiene la superintendencia directiva, correccional y económica de todos los Tribunales de la República".

3.- En concordancia con esa disposición, el Código de Justicia Militar establece (artículos 171 y 172 del texto vigente) que contra las sentencias de las Cortes Marciales procederá, para ante la Corte Suprema el recurso de casación, en la forma y en el fondo y el de revisión, en términos semejantes a los que rigen los recursos en contra de las sentencias de las Cortes de Apelaciones.

4.- Respecto de la manera de nombrarse sus miembros de la actual composición de la Corte Suprema, la Dirección Jurídica redactó en agosto de 1978 un Memorándum que fue remitido en Circular al Cuerpo Diplomático chileno. Se acompaña fotocopia de ese estudio.

5.- Los Tribunales Militares chilenos tienen jurisdicción para juzgar todos los asuntos de la jurisdicción militar y para conocer de los delitos cometidos fuera del territorio nacional en los casos siguientes :

a) Cuando ocurran en territorio ocupado por las armas chilenas;

b) Cuando se trate de delitos cometidos por militares en el ejercicio de sus funciones o en comisión del servicio; y

c) Cuando se trate de delitos contra la soberanía del Estado o de su seguridad exterior o interior.

6.- El Tribunal competente para juzgar al autor de un delito lo es también para juzgar a los cómplice y encubridores.

7.- En todo lo no previsto especialmente en el Código de Justicia Militar es aplicable a los Tribunales Militares lo establecido en las disposiciones pertinentes del Código Orgánico de Tribunales. Asimismo se aplican las disposiciones pertinentes de los Códigos de Procedimiento Civil y Penal en aquellas materias no reguladas por el Código de Justicia Militar.

8.- La jurisdicción militar de un determinado sector del territorio nacional corresponderá ejercerla al Comandante en Jefe de la respectiva División, Brigada o Escuadra, quién actuará asistido por un Fiscal letrado (abogado) para la sustanciación de los procesos y por un auditor para la dictación de las resoluciones y sentencias. Tanto los Fiscales como los Auditores son abogados pertenencientes a un escalafón especial.

9.- Cuando una misma persona hubiere cometido delitos de jurisdicción militar y de jurisdicción común, que no sean conexos, el Tribunal Militar conocerá de los primeros y el Tribunal Ordinario de los segundos.

10.- Hay una Corte Marcial, con asiento en Santiago, que ejerce jurisdicción sobre todos los fiscales, auditores y jueces militares de la República, la cual está formada por dos Ministros de la Corte de Apelaciones de Santiago y por un representante del ejército, aviación y carabineros. Presidirá el Tribunal el Ministro más antiguo de la Corte de Apelaciones; la Corte podrá funcionar con tres de sus miembros, debiendo siempre estar integrada y presidida por un Ministro de Corte. Los dos Ministros de Corte que integran el Tribunal se designarán anualmente por sorteo. Se aplican a la Corte Marcial las disposiciones pertinentes del Código Orgánico de Tribunales y de los Códigos de Procedimiento Civil y Penal, a falta de disposiciones especiales. Corresponde a la Corte Marcial resolver las cuestiones de competencia, implicancia y recusación deducidas ante los juzgados militares; asimismo conocerán de los recursos de amparo en favor de detenidos por orden de una autoridad judicial del fuero militar.

11.- De la implicancia o recusación de miembros de la Corte Marcial y de las cuestiones de competencia entre un Tribunal Militar y otro del fuero común conocerá la Corte Suprema.

12.- El procedimiento penal que debe seguirse en los procesos militares es muy semejante al que se sigue por los Tribunales ordinarios: Todo proceso criminal debe comenzar por la instrucción de un sumario mandado instruir por el Juez correspondiente y que, en el caso de la jurisdicción militar es llevado adelante por un Fiscal. La duración del sumario es normalmente a veinte días, pero el Juez puede ampliar ese plazo según las circunstancias. El sumario es normalmente secreto para asegurar el éxito de la investigación.

13.- Cuando haya motivo para sospechar que una persona es autor, cómplice o encubridor de un delito el Fiscal podrá decretar su prisión o limitarse a citarlo a prestar declaración. Si el preso es un civil la prisión se hace efectiva en un lugar público de detención; si fuere un militar en el cuartel o en el establecimiento de la institución que el mandamiento de detención indique.

14.- Cerrado el sumario el Fiscal elevará el proceso al Juez, junto con su dictamen. El Juez puede según los casos ordenar el sobreseimiento (declaración de no culpabilidad) o bien la continuación del proceso en forma plenaria, esta es pública y con intervención de las partes interesadas. El sobreseimiento, sino es apelado, debe ser elevado en consulta a la Corte Marcial cuando se trate de delitos que la Ley castigue con penas aflictivas. De la sentencia de dicha Corte Marcial puede recurrirse a la Corte Suprema, como se ha expresado más arriba.

COMPOSICION Y ANTECEDENTES SOBRE LA CORTE SUPREMA

UNCLASSIFIED

1.- Al principio de nuestra vida independiente, la administración de justicia continuó rigiéndose por las leyes españolas. En 1981 se suprimió la Real Audiencia, la que fué reemplazada por una Corte de Apelaciones. La Constitución de 1918 mantuvo dicha Corte de Apelaciones y creó la Corte Suprema. Las Constituciones que se han dictado a continuación (1823, 1828, 1839 y 1925) mantuvieron y respetaron la total independencia de la Corte Suprema, la que tiene a su cargo "la superintendencia directiva, correccional y económica de todos los tribunales de la Nación, con arreglo a la ley que determine su organización y atribuciones".

2.- En cumplimiento de dicha disposición se dictó el 15 de octubre de 1875 la ley de Organización y Atribuciones de los Tribunales, la que ha regido sobre la materia durante 88 años.

3.- En efecto el 15 de junio de 1943 en cumplimiento de lo dispuesto en la ley Nº 7.200, que puso en vigencia el Código Orgánico de Tribunales, que sobre la base de la ley de 1875, rigen actualmente estas materias con muy leves modificaciones.

4.- En conformidad con dichos textos constitucionales y legales, "En facultad de juzgar las causas civiles y criminales pertenece exclusivamente a los Tribunales establecidos por la ley".

5.- Ahora bien, la generación del Poder Judicial chileno, desde el nombramiento del más modesto Secretario de un Juzgado de Menor Cuantía (8ª categoría del escalafón judicial) hasta el nombramiento de los Miembros y Fiscal de la Corte Suprema (1ª categoría) se hace mediante "la formación de las listas, ternas y propuestas" que debe hacer el tribunal respectivo (Corte de Apelaciones o Corte Suprema) mediante votación secreta y por mayoría absoluta de los magistrados presentes. (artículo 282 del C.Orgánico de Tribunales).

6.- Los ascensos dentro del servicio se hacen con sujeción al "Escalafón Judicial" que será formado por la Corte Suprema y publicado en el Diario Oficial antes del 15 de marzo de cada año. De los errores u omisiones en que se incurra en el Escalafón se puede reclamar a la Corte Suprema.

7.- Para las designaciones de jueces letrados, ministros y fiscales de las Cortes de Apelaciones se forman ternas previo concurso público. En cambio "para proveer el cargo de ministro o fiscal de la Corte Suprema, este tribunal enviará al presidente de la República una lista de cinco personas, en la que deberán figurar los dos miembros más antiguos de las Cortes de Apelaciones". (Artículo 283).

8.- Según el artículo 254 del C. Orgánico de Tribunales "para ser miembro de la Corte Suprema se requiere: 1º Ciudadanía natural o legal; 2º Tener 26 años de edad; 3º Tener título de abogado; y 4º Haber ejercido por 15 años la labor de abogado; o servido por seis años un juzgado de departamento, o por 6 años uno de capital de provincia, o por 4 años uno donde tenga asiento una Corte de Apelaciones o por 2 años el cargo de miembro de una de estas Cortes".

9°.- Las estrictas y precisas disposiciones que someramente se ha señalado permiten afirmar, clara y documentadamente, que los miembros que componen en la actualidad la Corte Suprema de Chile, son todos funcionarios de carrera del servicio judicial chileno, con la antiguedad que se señala en las respectivas hojas de servicio.

II.- La independencia del Poder Judicial, establecidas en las disposiciones constitucionales y legales citadas más arriba, y que la tradición chilena señala con orgullo, se han mantenido inalterables en los últimos años, como lo demuestran por ejemplo las siguientes sentencias:

a) La sentencia del 20 de agosto de 1976, que declaró inaplicable, por ser inconstitucional, el artículo 15 del decreto ley Nº128;

b) La sentencia de 11 de octubre de 1976 que declaró inaplicable, por inconstitucional, el decreto ley Nº 1247;

c) La sentencia de 7 de abril de 1977, por la cual se acogió un recurso de amparo deducido por la detención ilegal del señor Carlos Contreras Maluje; y

d) La sentencia de 19 de diciembre de 1977, por la cual se acogió el reclamo interpuesto en contra del decreto supremo que ordenó privar de la nacionalidad chilena al señor Humberto Elgueta Guerin, dejándo sin efecto, a lo que al señor Elgueta Guerin se refiere, dicha privación de nacionalidad.

En todas las sentencias mencionadas la Corte Suprema ha llegado a conclusiones contrarias a lo sostenido por el Gobierno actual y ha dejado sin efecto algunos de sus decretos o resoluciones.

1. Counselor Edgardo Flores, a career diplomat, has recently come to the Foreign Ministry's human rights working group from his former post in Switzerland. Flores served a total of six years in the US in the early 1960s, four in the Argentine Embassy in Washington, and two in the consulate in New York. He has two children born in the US. Flores' English is excellent, although our discussions are held in Spanish. Captain Roberto Seisdedos has now proceeded to his new command in Trelew and, according to Flores, will not be replaced by a Navy (or other military) officer in the working group. The group is now headed by Counselor Juan Carlos Arlia, another career diplomat. The working group is located in office of Under Secretary Allara, and is probably to be overseen by Navy Captain Santoianni of the Under Secretary's staff.

2. In two meetings with Emboffs, Flores has been friendly and correct; also increasingly frank about the limitations on what information he is able to get from the Interior Ministry in answer to informal Embassy inquiries. On Jan. 6 he informed Emboff that due to its heavy workload the Interior Ministry is no longer able to make checks on cases without more detailed information, i.e. the full name, birth date, address, identification card number, parents' names and address, if known, etc. Without refusing to take names lacking the additional information, Flores indicated that it is doubtful the Interior Ministry would or would take the time to run checks.

3. In answer to general questions asked in a previous meeting, Flores said that the Interior Ministry does not intend to inform foreign embassies of the specific charges against Argentine citizens being held under the state of siege. Anyway, he remarked, in most cases the answer would only be that the person is being held on suspicion of committing acts against the national security (subversive acts or affiliation). Flores also said that the Interior Ministry would not reveal the names of those on the "Christmas lists" who have actually been released or of those who have been turned over to the courts to answer civil or criminal charges. As the Ministry of Justice is responsible for civil and criminal proceedings, Flores said, relatives would have to query the Justice Ministry for information on specific cases. (Embassy continues to seek information on the significance of these lists, but we increasingly hear allegations that a large number of those appearing on these lists have not returned to their homes and we are only aware of a few who have been remanded to the normal judicial process.)

4. Flores also advised that the Interior Ministry does not intend to "facilitate" access of foreign consular officials to detainees in the case of third-country nationals and Argentines. The issue arose during an earlier discussion about the parole program: whether consular officers would be able to interview detained refugees who might potentially be considered for parole into the US either in jail or some other location. The question is also pertinent to the new program of the Interior Ministry to allow detained Argentines to petition to leave the country if accepted by a foreign country. (We have several cases--Juan Carlos Gallardo, Juan Mendez, Dora Goldfarb--in which the family has asked whether the Embassy could provide a visa should their relative be authorized to leave the country. The Embassy was interested in knowing how the required visa interview might take place, since the detainee would probably not be released from jail to make a personal appearance to the consular officer. Although we have no test cases yet, it appears that the Interior Ministry does not intend to simplify the problem of access should such a case arise.)

5. On Antonio Misetich [redacted], Flores said the Argentine Embassy's reply was in error, that Misetich was not in the hands of the Executive and had, in fact, disappeared. The Argentine Ambassador has received instructions to correct any misunderstandings on this case, he said.

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

6. Flores said the status of Juan Mendez was unchanged (reftel A). (Embassy heard from Mendez' father ~~today~~ yesterday morning that a decree authorizing him to leave the country lacked only the President's signature. See septel.)

7. Embassy ~~today~~ On Jan. 6 asked for information on Claudia Ines Peiro, Mr. and Mrs. Americo Delia Sady, Angel Bustalo, Edmundo and Susanna Szapiro, and Miguel Angel Poinsteau (Amcit mother). From Flores' discussion, Embassy does not expect replies will be forthcoming unless more identification can be obtained.

8. Juan Mendez' father told Emboff ~~today~~ on Jan. 6 that he received letter from Cong. Koch in December saying Koch and group of congressmen intend to submit a bill when January session opens requesting expansion of parole program to include Argentine citizens. Embassy would appreciate learning of further developments.

9. Embassy has learned from wife of Juan Carlos Gallardo, who we note is subject of considerable Department communication, that Professor Gallardo is currently being held in Sierra Chica prison in Buenos Aires province, that she has visited him and he wishes to go to US, and that he has submitted petition to leave the country (see reftel B).

10. COMMENT: In view of Flores' comments, Embassy would appreciate an effort to obtain identification information on each case submitted for inquiry.

D: Hello. Hello Mr. Secretary.

K: How are you?

D: Fine. Thank you for returning my call. I had subsequent to our conversation yesterday I talked with Rabin. With regard to the UNDOF with the Syrians we have no intention of working towards the expulsion of the UNDOF. He will make a statement tomorrow in the papers that we are interested in keeping the agreement. The other thing, he told me that Allon will see you on the 12th. Did you know that?

K: Yes, he invited himself.

D: He called Rabin from the airport before he left for Mexico.

K: Allon went to Toon and said he could stop in Washington on the way back if I could see him.

D: I didn't hear from you so Rabin asked me to check to see if this was arranged. Toon said you invited him for lunch which is fine.

K: I try to be friendly.

D: I am going to see Allon tomorrow when I go to Miami. Do you want lunch for just the two of you?

K: No, you too.

D: I didn't know whether there was any intention of you being alone.

K: Absolutely not.

D: I will see Allon tomorrow.

K: Make a suggestion of whom to have there at the lunch. I think the fewer the better.

D: It should be a working lunch since it is the only meeting -- you thought about four people besides?

K: Fine -- four, five, three -- whatever you want.

D: I will deliver the resumee of our conversation also.

K: Yes.

D: I told him that you appreciated that he has done this.

K: There is no problem between him and me.

D: I told him about UNDOF and he said call you immediately and say you shouldn't be concerned because that is not the line of the government. Do you have anything else -- I will relate what was in our conversation yesterday. I suggested to Rabin that instead of teams of lawyers that we should send our description of what we consider to be the end.....

K: I am not so eager to hurry things along.

D: I understand. Rabin understands the difficulty of the publication but he had no choice. O.K. Mr. Secretary.

SUBJECT: RECOGNITION OF NEW GOA
REF: BA 2076 (NOTAL)

1. FOREIGN MINISTRY INFORMED US THIS AFTERNOON (MARCH 31) THAT 52 STATES HAVE RECOGNIZED NEW GOVERNMENT SO FAR. ALL SCANDINAVIAN COUNTRIES, IRAN, GABON, IRELAND, NORTH KOREAN, RED CHINA, ALBANIA, LEBANON, AND COLOMBIA, AMONG OTHERS, HAVE EXTENDED RECOGNITION SINCE REFTEL. VENEZUELA STILL HAS NOT DONE SO, BUT SINCE WE UNDERSTOOD BOGOTA AND CARACAS WERE COORDINATING MATTER OF RECOGNITION, WE ASSUME THAT AS FIRST HAS RECOGNIZED, SECOND WILL DO SO SHORTLY. PANAMANIAN AMBASSADOR STILL INDICATES HE EXPECTS MOMENTARILY TO RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS TO PRESENT RECOGNITION NOTE.

2. MEXICO HAD INDICATED EARLIER THAT IT WOULD APPLY ESTRADA DOCTRINE AND THUS RECOGNITION WAS AUTOMATIC. IT HAS SUBSEQUENTLY INDICATED THAT DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS TOO WILL BE CONTINUED. HOWEVER, SOME 28 ASYLEES MANAGED TO GET INTO

MEXICAN EMBASSY BEFORE TROOPS SEALED IT OFF. PROBLEM OF WHAT TO DO WITH THEM COULD RAISE FUTURE IRRITATIONS BETWEEN TWO GOVERNMENTS.

3. SOVIET UNION HAS NOT YET RECOGNIZED. SOVIET DCM, HOWEVER, CONTINUES TO MAINTAIN THAT HE ENVISAGES NO PROBLEMS AND EXPECTS INSTRUCTIONS SHORTLY. IF AND WHEN USSR RECOGNIZES, WE WOULD EXPECT EASTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES TO FOLLO SUIT, THUS BRINGING NUMBER OF RECOGNITIONS CLOSE TO 60-- AND. ARGENTINA MAINTAINED RELATIONS WITH ONLY 64 COUNTRIES BEFORE COUP.

4. QUESTION OF CUBAN RECOGNITION IS PUZZLING ONE (SEE REFTEL). FOREIGN MINISTRY TODAY TOLD US CUBAN RECOGNITION WAS "CONDITIONAL," BUT WOULD NOT ELABORATE FURTHER. SOME REPORTS HAVE INDICATED JUNTA IS CONSIDERING WAYS AND MEANS TO BREAK OR BRING ABOUT SEVERANCE OF RELATIONS WITH CUBA. SO FAR, HOWEVER, WE HAVE NO CONFIRMATION OF THOSE REPORTS. HILL

SUBJECT: OASGA AND ORFILA'S INTERVIEW WITH PINOCHET
1. OPPOSITION TO MEXICO'S PARTICIPATING IN JUNE OASGA AT SANTIAGO SEEMS TO BE RISING, IN NO SMALL PART THANKS TO SECGEN ORFILA'S APPARENTLY COMPLIMENTARY REMARKS ABOUT GEN. PINOCHET. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS HERE, ORFILA DESCRIBED PINOCHET AS A PERSON OF "GREAT SENSITIVITY, PERSONALITY, AND SIMPLICITY." MEXICANS, OF COURSE, ARE MORE ACCUSTOMED TO HEARING HIM DESCRIBED BY THEIR LEADERS AS GORILLA NUMBER ONE IN LATIN AMERICA.

2. INFLUENTIAL EXCELSIOR EDITORIALIZED MARCH 18 THAT ORFILA HAD GONE BEYOND BOUNDS OF POLITICAL PROPRIETY IN GIVING A TACIT BLESSING TO PINOCHET GOVERNMENT. EXCELSIOR POINTED OUT THAT "EVEN U.S., WHOSE GOVERNMENT HAS SHOWN OBVIOUS PARTIALITY TO CHILEAN JUNTA, HAS ALSO EXPRESSED CONDEMNATION OF PINOCHET REGIME." IT ADDED THAT LAST OCTOBER USG ACCEPTED SANTIAGO AS SITE FOR OASGA ON THE CONDITION THAT CHILE PERMIT AN INVESTIGATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, NOTING THAT SUBSEQUENTLY U.S., ARGENTINE, AND URUGUAYAN MEMBERS OF IAHRC HAD RESIGNED "IN DISILLUSION" BECAUSE OAS HAD IGNORED ITS DENUNCIATION OF

SUBJECT: VIDELA'S MODERATE LINE PREVAILS
1. SUMMARY: IT IS TOO EARLY TO MAKE ANY FIRM PREDICTIONS CONCERNING FINAL SUCCESS OF THE EXPERIMENT IN GOVT UNDERTAKEN BY THE ARMED FORCES ON MAR 24. EVEN SO, WITH VIDELA NOW NAMED PRES AND HIS NEW CABINET NOW NAMED, IT IS PERHAPS A CONVENIENT MOMENT TO REPORT SEVERAL SHORT-TERM CONCLUSIONS: A) VIDELA IS AT LEAST FOR THE TIME BEING IN A STRONG ENOUGH POSITION TO KEEP THE HARDLINERS IN CHECK AND IMPOSE A MODERATE APPROACH; B) THE TERRORISTS ARE LIKELY TO KEEP A RELATIVELY LOW PROFILE FOR THE NEXT FEW WEEKS, ESPECIALLY IN VIEW OF THE FACT THAT THE ARMED FORCES HAVE LAUNCHED A MASSIVE DRIVE AGAINST THEM; C) THE NEW PAGE 02 BUENOS 02061 01 OF 02 301250Z

UNCLASSIFIED

GOVT HAS NOT YET PRESENTED ITS FULL ECONOMIC PROGRAM, BUT THE APPROACH EVIDENCED SO FAR IS ENCOURAGINGLY PRAGMATIC AND DELIBERATE, AND D) ONCE THE GOVT BEGINS TO IMPOSE AN AUSTERITY PROGRAM, LABOR REACTION MAY STIFFEN, BUT SO FAR IT HAS BEEN ALMOST NONEXISTENT; INDEED, ABSENTEEISM REPORTEDLY CEASED TO BE A PROBLEM ALMOST THE DAY AFTER THE COUP. THE USG OF COURSE SHOULD NOT BECOME OVERLY IDENTIFIED WITH THE JUNTA, BUT SO LONG AS THE NEW GOVT CAN HEW TO A MODERATE LINE THE USG SHOULD ENCOURAGE IT BY EXAMINING SYMPATHETICALLY ANY REQUESTS FOR ASSISTANCE. END SUMMARY.

2. THE COUP D'ETAT WHICH CULMINATED DURING THE EARLY HOURS OF MAR 24 CAN NOW DEFINATELY BE JUDGED AS MODERATE IN CHARACTER. IN THEIR FIRST STATEMENTS THE THREE MEMBERS OF THE JUNTA INDICATED THEY HAD TAKEN POWER ONLY TO SAVE THE COUNTRY AND THAT THEIR TAKEOVER WAS NOT DIRECTED AT ANY GROUP OR SECTOR. THEY DID NOT ATTACK THE MEMORY OF GEN PERON, NOR DID THEY SAY ANYTHING DEROGATORY ABOUT PERONISM OR ANY OTHER PARTY. THEY HAVE ARRESTED SOME HIGH OFFICIALS SUCH AS RAUL LASTIRI, JULIO GONZALEZ AND GOV CARLOS MENEM WHO ARE BELIEVED TO BE GUILTY OF MAL-FEASANCE OR ABUSE OF POWER AND THEY HAVE ROUNDED UP A GOOD NUMBER OF SUSPECTED TERRORISTS. BUT IT IS NOW CLEAR THAT THERE HAVE BEEN NO MASSIVE ARRESTS. NO ONE HAS BEEN PUT AGAINST A WALL AND NO ONE HAS BEEN PULLED IN SIMPLY BECAUSE THEY HAPPENED TO BE A PERONIST OR BECAUSE THEY SERVED IN THE LAST GOVT. MOST CONGRESSMEN, GOVERNORS AND OTHER DEPOSED OFFICIALS HAVE SIMPLY BEEN TOLD TO GO HOME. MRS. PERON HERSELF IS IN CUSTODY BUT CLEARLY THE JUNTA DOES NOT INTEND TO MAKE A MARTYR OF HER. IF THERE IS AN INVESTIGATION OF HER QUESTIONABLE ACTIVITIES, IT WILL PROBABLY BE A FAIR ONE, AND IF SHE IS CONVICTED, HER SENTENCE IS LIKELY TO BE NOTHING MORE THAN EXILE. INDEED, MANY IN THE MILITARY WOULD LIKE TO PUT HER ON A PLANE TO MADRID EVEN WITHOUT AN INVESTIGATION.

3. SEVERAL EXTREME LEFT-WING PARTIES, MOSTLY TROTSKYITES AND MAOISTS IN ORIENTATION, HAVE BEEN BANNED, BUT THE CHARTERS OF OTHER PARTIES, INCLUDING THE ORTHODOX

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

COMMUNIST PARTY (PCA), REMAIN IN FORCE. POLITICAL ACTIVITY IS SUSPENDED TEMPORARILY AND THE VARIOUS PARTIES HAVE HAD TO REMOVE SIGNS AND SLOGANS FROM THEIR HEADQUARTERS. THEIR ORGANIZATIONS ARE INTACT, HOWEVER, AND SEVERAL OF THE EMBASSY'S SOURCES WITHIN THE PARTIES HAVE EXPRESSED HOPE THAT LIMITED POLITICAL ACTIVITY MAY RESUME WITHIN SIX MONTHS OR SO.

4. PRIOR TO THE COUP, THERE HAD BEEN FEARS THAT HARDLINE COMMANDERS IN THE FIELD MIGHT EXCEED THEIR ORDERS AND ARBITRARILY SHOOT OR ARREST ANY LABOR LEADERS, PERONIST OR LEFTIST THEY DID NOT LIKE. AS INDICATED ABOVE, HOWEVER, THIS DID NOT HAPPEN. VIDELA AND HIS MODERATE COLLEAGUES KEPT THE HAWKS IN LINE. FURTHER, THE SMOOTHNESS WITH WHICH THE COUP WAS CARRIED OUT AND THE WAY IN WHICH IT WAS ACCEPTED BY THE PEOPLE DID MUCH TO ENHANCE VIDELA'S IMAGE. PROBABLY AT LEAST FOR THE NEXT SEVERAL MONTHS, THEREFORE, HIS POSITION RELATIVE TO THAT OF THE HARDLINERS WILL BE OVERPOWERING. IT IS MOST UNLIKELY THAT ANY OF THEM WOULD TRY TO MOVE AGAINST HIM. IF THEY DID, THEY WOULD LOSE. THUS, FOR NOW, VIDELA'S MODERATE POLICIES SEEM SAFE.

5. IF FENDING OFF THE HAWKS WAS VIDELA'S FIRST CONCERN, COMING TO GRIPS WITH THE TERRORISTS WAS HIS SECOND. INDEED, IN ORDER OF IMPORTANCE THE SECOND OUTRANKS THE FIRST, BUT THE NEW GOVT NEEDED A FIRM POLITICAL BASE IN ORDER EFFECTIVELY TO CONFRONT THE TERRORISTS AND THUS ITS FIRST THOUGHT HAD TO BE FOR INSTITUTIONAL UNITY. WITH THAT NOW ASSURED, AT LEAST FOR THE TIME BEING, THE ARMED FORCES HAVE LAUNCHED A NATIONWIDE EFFORT AGAINST THE TERRORISTS. MANY SUSPECTED TERRORISTS HAVE BEEN ROUNDED UP. WIDESPREAD SEARCHES ARE BEING CONDUCTED AND SHIFTING ROADBLOCKS HAVE RESULTED IN THE CAPTURE OF SEVERAL GUERRILLAS IN CORDOBA AND ELSEWHERE.

6. FOR THEIR PART, THE GUERRILLAS ARE LIKELY TO CONTINUE SOME HIT-AND-RUN OPERATIONS SUCH AS TODAY'S ASSASSINATION OF A POLICE COMMISSIONER, BUT THEY WILL PROBABLY KEEP A FAIRLY LOW PROFILE FOR THE NEXT FEW WEEKS. TACTICALLY, THEY WILL PROBABLY WANT TO GET THE LAY OF THE LAND AND

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

WAIT FOR THE MILITARY TO DROP ITS GUARD. STRATEGICALLY, THEY PROBABLY HOPE POPULAR OPINION WILL BEGIN TO SWING AGAINST THE MILITARY GOVT WITHIN A FEW WEEKS. THAT WOULD BE THE TIME TO MOVE. THEY MAY HAVE SOME RECALCULATING TO DO, HOWEVER, FOR SO FAR THE MILITARY HAVE NOT BEHAVED IN THE REPRESSIVE WAY THE TERRORISTS SEEM TO HAVE EXPECTED. IF VIDELA CAN HOLD TO HIS MODERATE COURSE, THE GUERRILLAS MAY BE SURPRISED TO FIND SEVERAL WEEKS FROM NOW THAT THE GOVT CONTINUES TO ENJOY POPULAR SUPPORT.

7. EQUALLY AS PRESSING AS THE TERRORIST PROBLEM IS THAT OF THE ECONOMY. THE GOVT HAS NOT YET HAD A CHANCE TO PRESENT ITS PLAN, BUT THE ECONOMIC TEAM IS NOW IN PLACE AND LOOKS IMPRESSIVE. THE CONTACTS THE EMBASSY HAS HAD SO FAR WITH ECON MIN MARTINEZ DE HOZ AND SOME OF HIS ASSISTANTS INDICATE THEY HAVE A FIRM GRASP OF THE PROBLEMS AND HOPEFULLY WILL HAVE A PRACTICAL APPROACH TO THEIR SOLUTION. DETAILED ANALYSIS OF ECONOMIC PROGRAM WILL FOLLOW ASAP.

8. AS ENCOURAGING AS THE NEW GOVT'S OWN PERFORMANCE SO FAR HAS BEEN PUBLIC REACTION TO IT. MOST ARGENTINES WERE GLAD TO BE RID OF MRS. PERON'S PATHETICALLY INCOMPETENT GOVT. BUT THEY DID NOT RUSH INTO THE STREETS TO CHEER

THE ARMED FORCES OR JEER THE PERONISTS. THEY APPROVE OF WHAT THE ARMED FORCES HAVE DONE, BUT THEY HAVE SOME HEALTHY RESERVATIONS. THEY HAVE SEEN MILITARY GOVTS START OFF WELL BEFORE, ONLY TO FAIL FURTHER DOWN THE ROAD. THEY HOPE THIS ONE WILL BE DIFFERENT AND AT THIS POINT ARE WILLING TO GIVE IT THEIR SUPPORT. BUT NO ONE SEEMS TO EXPECT MIRACLES, AND THAT IS ONE OF THE MOST MATURE PHENOMENON ABOUT THIS COUP.

9. EVEN LABOR SO FAR IS QUIESCENT. ABSENTEEISM, FOR EXAMPLE, DISAPPEARED AS A MAJOR PROBLEM ON MAR 25. MANY LABOR LEADERS HAVE MADE THEIR PEACE WITH THE MILITARY AND ARE WILLING TO COOPERATE. FOR ITS PART, THE JUNTA HAS HANDLED LABOR INTELLIGENTLY AND WITH PRUDENCE. SOME OF THE MORE CORRUPT LABOR LEADERS HAVE BEEN ARRESTED, BUT MOST LEADERS HAVE BEEN LEFT ALONE. THE CGT IS INTERVENED BUT MOST UNIONS WITHIN IT ARE FUNCTIONING MORE OR LESS NORMALLY. THE CRUNCH, HOWEVER, HAS NOT YET COME AND WILL NOT UNTIL THE GOVT INTRODUCES ITS ECON PROGRAM AND BEGINS TO IMPOSE AUSTERITY MEASURES.

10. US POSITION. THIS WAS PROBABLY THE BEST EXECUTED AND MOST CIVILIZED COUP IN ARGENTINE HISTORY. IT WAS UNIQUE IN OTHER WAYS TOO. THE US HAS NOT BEEN ACCUSED OF BEING BEHIND IT, EXCEPT BY NUESTRA PALABRA, THE ORGAN OF THE PCA. THE EMBASSY HOPES TO KEEP IT THAT WAY. CLEARLY, WE SHOULD NOT BECOME OVERLY IDENTIFIED WITH THE JUNTA. THAT WOULD NOT BE GOOD FOR THEM OR FOR US. NONETHELESS, ARGENTINA'S BEST INTERESTS, AND OURS, LIE IN THE SUCCESS OF THE MODERATE GOVT NOW LED BY GEN VIDELA. HE HAS A CHANCE OF PULLING ARGENTINA TOGETHER AGAIN, STOPPING TERRORISM AND GETTING THE ECONOMY GOING. HIS GOVT, MOREOVER, HAS PROMISED TO SOLVE QUICKLY OUR VARIOUS INVESTMENT PROBLEMS (EXXON, CHASE MANHATTAN, STANDARD ELECTRIC, ETC.) AND TO BRING ABOUT A BETTER CLIMATE IN GENERAL FOR FOREIGN INVESTMENT. SHOULD VIDELA'S GOVT FAIL, THAT MIGHT ON THE ONE HAND OPEN THE DOOR TO THE HARDLINERS, WHO WOULD RETURN ARGENTINA TO THE POLARIZATION OF THE PAST AND WHO, BEING MORE NATIONALISTICALLY INCLINED THAN THE MODERATES, WOULD NOT TAKE AS FAVORABLE AN ATTITUDE TOWARD THE US

AND US INVESTMENTS. ON THE OTHER SIDE, VIDELA'S FAILURE COULD ALSO BRING ABOUT CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH THE EXTREME LEFT MIGHT HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE A BID FOR POWER, WHICH WOULD CLEARLY RUN CONTRARY TO ALL OUR INTERESTS.

10. THUS, WHILE WE SHOULD MOVE DISCREETLY AND KEEP OUR DISTANCE, WE SHOULD ALSO, SO LONG AS THE VIDELA GOVT STICKS TO A MODERATE COURSE, LOOK SYMPATHETICALLY ON ANY REQUESTS FOR ASSISTANCE IT MAY DIRECT TO US.

1. Summary: It is too early to make any firm predictions concerning final success of the experiment in govt undertaken by the Armed Forces on Mar 24. Even so, with Videla now named Pres and his new cabinet now named, it is perhaps a convenient moment to report several short-term conclusions: a) Videla is at least for the ~~present~~ time being in a strong enough position to keep the hardliners in check and impose a moderate approach; b) The terrorists are likely to keep a relatively low profile for the next few weeks, especially in view of the fact that the Armed Forces have launched a massive drive against them; c) The new govt has not yet presented its full economic program, but the approach evidenced so far is encouragingly pragmatic and deliberate, and d) Once the govt begins to impose an austerity program, labor reaction may stiffen, but so far it has been almost nonexistent; indeed, absenteeism reportedly ceased to be a problem almost the day after the coup. The USG of course should not become overly identified with the Junta, but so long as the new govt can hew to a moderate line the USG should encourage it by examining sympathetically any requests for assistance. End Summary.

2. The coup d'etat which culminated during the early hours of Mar 24 can now definitely be judged as moderate in character. In their first statements the three members of the Junta indicated they had taken power only to save the country and that their takeover was not directed at any group or sector. They did not attack the memory of Gen Peron, nor did they say anything derogatory about Peronism or any other party. They have arrested some high officials such as Raul Lastiri, Julio Gonzalez and Gov Carlos Menem who are believed to be guilty of malfeasance or abuse of power and they have rounded up a good number of suspected terrorists. But it is now clear that there have been no massive arrests. No one has been put against a wall and no one has been pulled in simply because they happened to be a Peronist or because they served in the last govt. Most congressmen, governors and other deposed officials have simply been told to go home. Mrs. Peron herself is in custody but clearly the Junta does not intend to make a martyr of her. If there is an investigation of her questionable activities, it will probably be a fair one, and if she is convicted, her sentence is likely to be nothing more than exile. Indeed, many in the military would like to put her on a plane to Madrid even without an investigation.

3. Several extreme left-wing parties, mostly Trotskyite and Maoist in orientation, have been banned, but the charters of other parties, including the orthodox Communist Party (PCA), remain inforce. Political activity is suspended temporarily and the various parties have had to remove signs and slogans from their headquarters. Their organizations are intact, however, and several of the Embassy's sources within the parties have expressed hope that limited political activity may resume within six months or so.

4. Prior to the coup, there had been fears that hardline commanders in the field might exceed their orders and arbitrarily shoot or arrest any labor leader, Peronist or leftist they did not like. As indicated above, however, this did not happen. Videla and his moderate colleagues kept the hawks in line. Further, the smoothness with which the coup was carried out and the way in which it was accepted by the people did much to enhance Videla's image. Probably at least for the next several months, therefore, his position relative to that of the hardliners will be overpowering. It is most unlikely that any of them would try to move against him. If they did, they would lose. Thus, for now, Videla's moderate policies seem safe.

5. If fending off the hawks was Videla's first concern, coming to grips with the terrorists was his second. Indeed, in order of importance the second outranks the first, but the new govt needed a firm political base in order effectively to confront the terrorists and thus its first thought had to be for institutional unity. With that now assured, at least for the time being, the Armed Forces have launched a nationwide effort against the terrorists. Many suspected terrorists have been rounded up. Widespread searches are being conducted and shifting roadblocks have resulted in the capture of several guerrillas in Cordoba and elsewhere.

6. For their part, the guerrillas are likely to continue some hit-and-run operations such as today's assassination of a Police Commissioner, but they will probably keep a fairly low profile for the next few weeks. Tactically, they will probably want to get the lay of the land and wait for the military to drop its guard. Strategically, they probably hope popular opinion will begin to swing against the military govt within a few weeks. That would be the time to move. They may have some recalculating to do, however, for so far the military have not behaved in the repressive way the terrorists seem to have expected. If Videla can hold to his moderate course, the guerrillas may be surprised to find several weeks from nowthat the govt continues to enjoy popular support.

7. Equally as pressing as the terrorist problem is that of the economy. The govt has not yet had a chance to present its plan, but the economic team is now in place and looks impressive. The contacts the Embassy has had so far with Econ Min Martinez de Hoz and some of his assistants indicate they have a firm grasp of the problems and hopefully will have a practical approach to their solution. Detailed analysis of economic program will follow ASAP.

8. As encouraging as the new govt's own performance so far has been public reaction to it. Most Argentines were glad to be rid of Mrs. Peron's pathetically incompetent govt. But they did not rush into the streets to cheer the Armed Forces or jeer the Peronists. They approve of what the Armed Forces have done, but they have some healthy reservations. They have seen military govts start off well before, only to fail further down the road. They hope this one will be different and at this point are willing to give it their support. But no one seems to expect miracles, and that is one of the most mature phenomenon about this coup.

9. Even Labor so far is quiescent. Absenteeism, for example, disappeared as a major problem on Mar 25. Many labor leaders have made their peace with the military and are willing to cooperate. For its part, the Junta has handled Labor intelligently and with prudence. Some of the more corrupt labor leaders have been arrested, but most leaders have been left alone. The CGT is intervened but most unions within it are functioning more or less normally. The crunch, however, has not yet come and will not until the govt introduces its econ program and begins to impose austerity measures.

10. US Position. This was probably the best executed and most civilized coup in Argentine history. It was unique in other ways too. The US has not been accused of being behind it, except by Nuestra Palabra, the organ of the PCA. The Embassy hopes to keep it that way. Clearly, we should not become overly identified with the Junta. That would not be good for them or for us. Nonetheless, Argentina's best interests, and ours, lie in the success of the moderate govt now led by Gen Videla. He has a chance of pulling Argentina together again, stopping terrorism and getting the economy going. His govt, moreover, has promised to solve quickly our various investment problems (Exxon, Chase Manhattan, Standard Electric, etc.) and to bring about a better climate in general for foreign investment. Should Videla's govt fail, that might on the one hand open the door to the hardliners, who would return Argentina to the polarization of the past and who, being more nationalistically inclined than the moderates, would not take as favorable an attitude toward the US and US investments. On the other side, Videla's failure could also bring about conditions under which the extreme left might have an opportunity to make a bid for power, which would clearly run contrary to all our interests.

10. Thus, while we should move discreetly and keep our distance, we should also, so long as the Videla govt sticks to a moderate course, look sympathetically on any requests for assistance it may direct to us.

SUBJECT: DETENTION OF CHILEAN LAWYER: HERNAN MONTEALEGRE KLENNER

1. SUMMARY: GOC SECURITY FORCES (DIRECTORATE OF NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE - DINA) EARLY MAY 12 PICKED UP CHILEAN LAWYER HERNAN MONTEALEGRE KLENNER AND TOOK HIM TO CUATRO ALAMOS, AN AUTHORIZED PLACE OF DETENTION. ALL FORMALITIES OF SD 187 WERE OBSERVED. MONTEALEGRE AS A LAWYER HAS WORKED CLOSELY WITH DEFUNCT PEACE COMMITTEE AND SUCCESSOR VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY. HE HAS DEFENDED MANY PERSONS IN TROUBLE WITH GOC FOR POLITICAL/ SECURITY REASONS, BUT ALSO NATIONAL UNIFORMED POLICEMEN (CARABINEROS) ACCUSED OF MURDER. AS FAR AS EMBASSY KNOWS, HE HAS NOT BEEN INVOLVED IN POLITICS. HE WAS ONE OF LARGE GROUP THAT MET WITH CODEL MOFFETT AT VICARIATE. REASON OF DETENTION IS UNKNOWN; EMBASSY WILL REPORT FURTHER AS INFORMATION BECOMES AVAILABLE.

2. MONTEALEGRE'S WIFE, MARIA LUZ NOVOA DE MONTEALEGRE, CALLED ADCM'S HOME THEN VISITED HIM MORNING MAY 12. SHE SAID THAT AT 5:15 IN THE MORNING (JUST BEFORE END OF CURFEW) DINA AGENTS CAME TO THEIR HOUSE WITH WRITTEN AUTHORIZATION TO DETAIN HER HUSBAND AT CUATRO ALAMOS CENTER. SHE SIGNED AUTHORIZATION, AND IT WAS COUNTERSIGNED BY DINA AGENT (CLAUDIO TORRES)--ALL IN

WENT THROUGH HIS PAPERS CURSORILY, TAKING SOME DOCUMENTS CONCERNING TRIAL HE JUST ENTERED AS DEFENSE LAWYER (BELOW).

4. WIFE HAD NO IDEA WHY MONTEALEGRE WOULD BE WANTED. SAID HE HAD NEVER ENGAGED IN POLITICS (CONFIRMED BY PRECT OF VICARIATE), THAT HIS CONSUMING PASSION WAS LAW, AND THAT AS REPRESENTATIVE OF PEACE COMMITTEE/VICARIATE OF SOLIDARITY HE HAD DEFENDED MANY PERSONS CHARGED WITH POLITICAL/SECURITY OFFENSES. HE ALSO, HOWEVER, HAD BEEN ASKED BY MILITARY TO HANDLE DEFENSE OF SEVERAL CARABINEROS ACCUSED OF HAVING KILLED SEVERAL PEOPLE NOT IN LINE OF DUTY. (PROTECT).

5. MONTEALEGRE HAD BEEN CAREER DIPLOMAT FOR NINE YEARS, WAS IN LONDON AT TIME OF SEPTEMBER 1973 COUP. HE WAS FIRED IN OCTOBER 1973 ON BASIS THAT CHILEAN CHARGE IN LONDON FOUND HIM UNWORTHY OF CONFIDENCE. HIS WIFE BELIEVES HE WAS IN FACT SACKED BECAUSE OF HER FATHER, EDUARDO NOVOA MONREAL, INFLUENTIAL LEGAL ADVISER TO ALLENDE GOVERNMENT. NOVOA WAS ABROAD AT TIME OF COUP AND TOOK UP RESIDENCE IN MEXICO WITHOUT RETURNING TO CHILE.

6. WIFE NOTED THAT MONTEALEGRE IS CLOSE PERSONAL FRIEND AND COLLEAGUE OF JOSE ZALAQUETT, FORMER PEACE COMMITTEE LAWYER EXPELLED LAST MONTH. HE WORKED ON ZALAQUETT'S HABEAS CORPUS REQUEST AND ACCOMPANIED HIM TO AIRPORT AT TIME OF EXPULSION. ZALAQUETT ALSO GAVE SOME LEGAL ADVICE TO WIFE OF JOSE WEIBEL (SANTIAGO 3746), COMMUNIST YOUTH LEADER WHO DISAPPEARED UNDER SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES IN MARCH.

7. DEPARTMENT WILL NOTE THAT MRS. MONTEALEGRE ALSO SAID, WITH VICARIATE CONFIRMATION, THAT HER HUSBAND HAD BEEN AMONG OTHER DEFENSE LAWYERS AT LARGE MEETING (PERHAPS 30 PEOPLE) SET UP BY VICARIATE IN MARCH FOR CODEL MOFFETT. SHE SAID MONTEALEGRE HAD NOT MET CODEL OUTSIDE OF THAT MEETING, AND SHE DID NOT SPECULATE THAT PRESENT DETENTION RESULTED FROM [redacted]

CODEL VISIT.

8. SHE THOUGHT DETENTION MIGHT SOMEHOW BE CONNECTED TO MONTEALEGRE'S RECENT ENTRANCE AS DEFENSE LAWYER IN IMPENDING TRIAL OF EXTREMIST MIR MEMBERS ACCUSED OF ASSAULTING POLICE STATION AT NELTUME (VILLAGE NEAR ARGENTINE BORDER IN SOUTH CHILE DIRECTLY EAST OF VALDIVIA) IN EARLY SEPTEMBER 1973 BEFORE COUP. CASE WAS CELEBRATED AND AMONG JUNTA SUPPORTERS AS FAMOUS EXAMPLE OF TERRORIST ACTIVITY UNDER ALLENDE GOVERNMENT. EMBASSY'S FILES DO NOT GO BACK THAT FAR.

9. WIFE ASKED IF EMBASSY COULD INTERVENE. ADCM SAID EMBASSY THOUGHT ITS INFLUENCE WAS MORE EFFECTIVELY USED ON GENERAL MATTERS, BUT THAT WE WOULD WATCH FOR OPPORTUNITY TO RAISE CASE INFORMALLY.

10. COMMENT: MONTEALEGRE IS WELL KNOWN TO EMBASSY AND HAS BEEN EXCELLENT SOURCE. HE SEEMS GENERALLY WELL BALANCED, AND WE KNOW HE IS TRUSTED BY SENIOR CATHOLIC CHURCHMEN AS DISCREET AND RELIABLE. ONLY ADDITIONAL PERSONAL INFORMATION WE HAVE IS THAT HE WAS ONCE A JESUIT PRIEST, AND A BIOGRAPHIC CARD WITHOUT SOURCE DESCRIBING HIM AS CHRISTIAN DEMOCRAT. AS FAR AS WE KNOW, HE HAS NOT BEEN INVOLVED IN POLITICS.

11. WE CAN EXPECT THAT NEWS OF MONTEALEGRE'S DETENTION WILL GET TO THE US SOON, AND THAT CODEL MOFFETT WILL IMMEDIATELY CONCLUDE DETENTION RESULTED FROM HIS PRESENCE AT VICARIATE MEETING WITH THEM. EMBASSY HAS NO BASIS FOR MAKING JUDGMENT ON THIS POINT NOW. WE SHALL BE IN TOUCH WITH WIFE AND VICARIATE AND COMMENT AS MORE INFORMATION BECOMES AVAILABLE.

12. FROM CORRECT MANNER OF DETENTION (PRECHT DESCRIBED IT AS "FIRST-CLASS") WE JUDGE THAT MONTEALEGRE IS IN NO DANGER OF MISTREATMENT OR OF DISAPPEARING. WE EXPECT TO FIND EARLY OPPORTUNITY TO BRING INFORMALLY TO GOC'S ATTENTION REACTION THE DETENTION IS LIKELY TO PRODUCE IN THE US.

K: What is that letter in the Washington Post today that Mexico is going Communist and we have kept it from the President.

R: I didn't even see it.

K: It is in the Post and the President asked me to comment on it and it will of course mean a visit of me to Mexico announced on May 24.

R: Let me take a look at it and get back to you.

K: Can you draft an answer for me.

R: I didn't notice it. Nobody brought it to my attention.

K: You better hold off on when we should make the announcement.

R: We will hold it off.

K: It will not be this Friday.

R: When is a good time?

K: Before this primary is not.

R: Wednesday or Thursday of next week?

K: Yes, but even then it will get us into the California primary. First tell me the facts on this gd thing.

R: Let me get back to you.

K: I would think you could balance a Communist against a Fascist regime.

R: (laughs) We have. It is a balanced trade.

K: It is not exactly clear to me in what wat Mexico is Communist.

R: Okay. I will get on that.

K: Okay.

URUGUAY - SURVEY OF EVENTS AND CONGRESSIONAL ACTION

On the morning of May 18 two prominent Uruguayan parliamentarians former Speaker of the Chamber of Deputies Hector Gutierrez Ruiz and former Senator Zelmar Michelini--were abducted noisily and without ha from their respective places of residence in downtown Buenos Aires. adductions occurred in the presence of numerous witnesses, including police and military personnel whose failure to intervene can only ind: cate that they had received orders to that effect. In the three days that followed, the Argentine authorities showed total disinterest in t matter: relatives of the victims were refused permission to lodge offi complaints; investigations were promised but not undertaken; no one ev came to collect the fingerprints left by the adductors at the scenes o both crimes. On the evening of May 21, the bullet-ridden bodies of Michelini and Gutierrez Ruiz were discovered in an abandoned car along with those of Mr. and Mrs. William Whitelaw, allegedly former Tupamaro guerrillas; papers found in the car attributed the murders to an Argentine guerrilla organization. A third prominent Uruguayan, former Senat Wilson Ferreira Aldunate, narrowly escaped the fate of his friends and colleagues when he managed to gain asylum in the Austrian Embassy.

It is clear that the abduction and execution of the two outstanding Uruguayan parliamentarians and human rights advocates was carried out officially by the Argentine government. Equally obvious is the complic of the Uruguayan government, which instigated and ordered the assassina tion of its principal adversaries. Senator Michelini had left with a friend a note indicating that he had learned of plans to "remove him from Argentina"--plans that were discussed with the Argentines by Urugu Foreign Minister Juan Carlos Blanco shortly before Michelini'a abductic Evidence of serious splits existing at the time within the Uruguayan government, and the increasing political isolation of President Bordabe suggest that the latter may well have decided to eliminate major opposi tion leaders at just that moment. Moreover, both men had been placed under a virtual death sentence by the Uruguayan authorities; for months the Uruguayans had been issuing communiques to the Argentines referring to Michelini and Gutierrez Ruez as "dangerous Tupamaro leaders"; addinally, by revoking Michelini's travel documents, they had made it impos r him to flee to safety.

As US citizens, we feel obliged to point out an element of US responsib rough inaction for these tragic events. While the international press, man rights organizations, the UN High Commissioner for Refugees, the Pop veral foreign governments and numerous internationally-known public figu cluding many members of the US Congress--urged respect for the lives and fetv of the two murdered parliamentatians; while it received numerous fo l requests for prom t action; the US State Department made only token stures on their behalf. Since the Argentine government, anxious for US cs, is highly sensitive to pressure from the US on human rights, it is p ole that swift and strong pressure at top diplomatic levels could at lea ve saved the lives of Michelini and Gutierrez Ruiz.

The murders of Michelini and Gutierrez Ruiz were followed only days lat the equally "official" execution of former Bolivian President Juan Jose orres; by the theft of a list containing the names and addresses of thous aliens residing in Argentina; and by the subsequent abduction and tortu 26 individuals whose names figured on that list. All of these developm dicate dramatically that official violence in Uruguay and Argentina resp national borders, and that--notwithstanding the reassuring statements m General Jorge Videla when he assumed the presidency of Argentina--human ghts are in no better shape there than they were under the government of abel Peron.

Only weeks after the assassination of Michelini and Gutierrez Ruiz, the uguayan government announced the removal from office of President Juan M ordaberry, and his replacement on an interim basis by octogenarian lawyer lberto Demichelli--appointed vice-president and head of the Uruguayan Cou State, which since the coup, has advised the President in the absence o arliament. The removal of Bordaberry from office marks the disappearance uguay of the last vestiges of a constitutionally elected government. Wh he emotional shock caused by the death of Michelini and Gutierrez Ruez th as undoubtedly the factor which percipated Bordaberry's downfall, it had pparent for some time that the President had outlived his usefulness. In op secret memorandum sent to the generals last fall and later leaked to t exican daily Excelsior, he had advocated the definitive demise in Uruguay olitical parties and an electoral system. That Bordaberry should actuall ave said such a thing instead of simply delaying elections year after yea as probably what made his removal inevitable; a cosmetic job was necessar o clean up the immage of the regime. Consequently, the Uruguayan general eportedly backed by the US Embassy, have announced plans for what they uphemistically label "a return to democracy" in Uruguay; following severa ntermediate steps, including the replacement within a 70-day period of Pr ent Demichelli, "elections" are to be held in 1984. However, only the tw raditional parties will be allowed to participate in those elections; and ven they will only be able to vote for a single presidential candidate, p iously designated by the Armed Forces.

A further sign that the Uruguayan government now includes murder in its rsenal of repressive weapons has been the discovery in recent weeks of at east 12 bodies on the Uruguayan shores of the River Plate. All of them w orribly mutilated and had been underwater for prolonged periods of time. hough the authorities claim that the victims were of oriental stock (the ad swollen their facial features, thus stretching their eyes), at least everal have been identified as Uruguayans who had disappeared following rrest in Uruguay or Argentina. not true

The US Congress has responded in several ways to continuing gross viol f human rights in Uruguay and to crimes perpetuated against Uruguayans a ther foreigners in Argentina:

. In mid-June, the Sub-Committee on International Organizations and Mov ents of the House Committee on International Relations (headed by Congre on Fraser), held preliminary hearings on human rights in Uruguay and hea estimony from Senator Wilson Ferreira Aldunate, sole survivor of the inc hich took the lives of his two colleagues in Buenos Aires. Senator Ferr ldunate described the murder of his friends, as well as the wholesale vi ion of human rights for which the Uruguayan government is responsible, a aised the issue of US complicity in both. He accused the US Embassy in ontevido and the US State Department of intervening in Uruguayan affairs artificially stabilizing" a tyrannical regime which, lacking popular sup ould not survive without massive moral and material assistance from the vidence of US intervention on behalf of the Uruguayan dictatorship inclu tate Department letters addressed to members of the US Congress, in whic naccurate statements and incorrectly quoted documents are used to delibe ely misrepresent the human rights situation in Uruguay. Senator Ferreir ldunate urged that in the future, the US government let the Uruguayan pe fight their own battles". In supplementary hearings on human rights in ruguay scheduled for late July, the Sub-Committee will receive testimony rom representatives of the human rights organizations, the US academic c unity, and the Department of State.

. Contained in the Appropriations Bill for FY 77 just approved by the ouse is an amendment sponsored by Congressman Edward Koch cutting off ilitary aid to Uruguay. This amendment, which would deny the Uruguayan overnment a projected $3,000,000 in military aid, is intended fundamenta s a sign of outrage over continuing violations of human rights. Since t enate version of the Bill does not contain language pertaining to Urugua the fate of the Koch amendment will be decided in Conference some time af after the July 4 recess. The State Department is planning to pressure in Conference for removal of the Koch amendment; it is therefore especially important that our constituents register their concern with the House and Senate Conferees, including Representatives Mahon (D.-Tx.), Cederberg (R. Mich.), Passman (D.-La.), Long (D.-Md), Roush (D-Ind.), Obey (D.-Wisc.), Bevill (D.- Ala.), Chappel (D.-Fla.), Shriver (R.-Kan.), Conte (R.-Mass.) and Senators Inoye (D-Hawaii), Proxmire (d.-Wisc.), McGee (D.-Wyoming) Chiles (D.-Fla.), Johnston (D.-La.), Brooke (R.-Mass.), Hatfield (R.-Oreg

ERGENCY PAROLE PROGRAM FOR REFUGEES FROM ARGENTINA AND URUGUAY

On June 15, 1976, Senator Kennedy and Congressman Donald Fraser and Edw ch introduced concurrent resolutions in the House and Senate. It states

"Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring). Tha is the sense of the Congress that the Attorney General, in accordance w isting law and US hamanitarian tradition, should parole into the United ates those aliens having fled to Argentina and those Uruguayans in Urugu o are in danger of losing their lives because of their political beliefs

The fact sheet on the plight of South American refugees living in Argen na inserted into the Congressional record by Congressman Koch states:

The U.N. High Commissioner on Refugees has sent out an "urgent appeal" mber countries of the UN to accept k,000 refugees living in Argentina.
ferred to the "marked deterioration" of the situation. The UN is mainta g close contact with the Argentine government and pressing that governme portect the refugee centers, but stresses resettlement of refugees as t lution of "most pressing urgency". Three thousand (3,000) refugees livi Argentina have already been resettled in Western Europe and Communist b untries. The United States has to date done nothing.

The positive support of Senator James O. Eastland (D.-Ms.) and of ngressman Peter Rodino (D.-NJ), Chairman of the respective Judiciary Com ttees for this resolution is extremely important. Also important is the pport of Congressman Joshua Eilberg (D.-Pa.), Chairman of the Subcommitt Refugees. On June 23 he formally requested a report from both the Depa nt of State and Justice on the possibility of the U.S. receiving refugee om Argentina and Uruguay. The State Department recommendation, if appro

OREIGN MILITARY AUTHORIZATION - HUMAN RIGHTS AND LATINAMERICAN INTERESTS

Sifting through the Conference Report on the Foreign Military Authoriation Bill is like trout fishing. If you stay long enough you are bound o catch or at least snag something interesting. The House-Senate Conerence concluded their work on June 16. Among the provisions that effect OLA's continuing concern for human rights are the following:

HUMAN RIGHTS - Congress went on record as delcaring that the principle oal of U.S. foreign policy shall be to promote the increased observance f internationally recognized human rights. The language provides that o security assistance be provided to any country which engages in a conistent pattern of gross violations of human rights except in cases where xtraordinary circumstances effecting the security of the country obtain.

Secondly, the position of Coordinator for Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs within the Department of State was established. Furthermore, it required reports by the Secretary of State on human rights conditions in a particular country upon request by the International Relations Committee of the Foreign Relations Committee or of the Senate or House as a whole. The report is to contain: 1) overview of human rights practices; 2) remedial steps already taken by the United States; and 3) whether any extraordinary circumstances exist which necessitate continuing such assistance.

Finally, it allowed termination, restriction, or continuation of assistance by joint resolution of Congress.*

ANNUAL ARMS CEILING: The House has approved a $9 billion ceiling on U.S. arms sales. The Conference could only agree that U.S. arms sales should exceed the current level and that the President should examine the ramifications of a ceiling on arms sales and the possibilities of multilateral negotiations with other arms suppliers toward this end.

REPORTS ON COMMERCIAL LICENSES: Conferees agreed to a provision which required that all proposed licenses for the export of "major defense equipment" valued at $7 million or more be reported to the Congress. A stipulation that Congress would have 30 calendar days to disapprove the issuance of the licenses by concurrent resolution was deleted.

EXTORTION AND ILLEGAL PAYMENTS: A report is required if the President determines that officials of a foreign country receiving security assistance have received illegal or otherwise improper payments from a U.S. corporation in return for a contract to purchase defense articles or services or that such officials extort money in return for allowing a U.S. citizen or corporation to conduct business in that country.

U.S. CITIZENS IMPRISONED IN MEXICO: The President is directed to communicate with the President of Mexico emphasizing the continuing desire of the U.S. to maintain friendly relations and the concern of the U.S. over treatment of U.S. citizens arrested in Mexico. The Secretary of State is directed to report every 4 months to both the House and the Senate on progress toward full respect for the human and legal rights of all U.S. citizens detained in Mexico.

CHILE LEGISLATION - A REVIEW

On June 2 the House passed an amendment by Donald Fraser (D.-Minn.), which limited assistance to Chile to $25 million and also a weak military amendment which permitted government and commercial cash sales.

On June 11 Senator Humphrey (D.-Minn.), brought to the Senate floor an

---

* Ed. note: The House version read that aid could be cut off by a concurrent resolution. The joint resolution requires the President's signaendment limiting economic aid to $30 million. It won Senate approval. dy's strong amendment prohibiting military assistance was also ratified.

In Conference, both houses met to reconcile their differences on provis r economic and military assistance. The result looks like this:

A complete cut-off of all military assistance (including grants and edits) and government and commercial arms cash sales to Chile. Pipeline d was not terminated.

A ceiling of $27.5 million on economic assistance to the Chilean Junta is includes AID development assistance, PL480 Food for Peace Title I ans, and Housing Guaranty loans. Eximbank, OPIC and Commodity Credit ans were included under this ban in the original House and Senate bills, t were deleted in the Conference report. There was also agreement on a iver provision which would free up to $27.5 million if the President of e US certified to Congress that certain conditions had been met: a) that e Junta "does not engage in a consistent pattern of gross violations of ternationally recognized human rights, including torture....." b) "has rmitted the unimpeded investigation by internationally recognized com- ssions on human rights...." and c) "has taken steps to inform the familie prisoners of the conditions and charges against such prisoners."

Though the amendments were somewhat weakened in Conference, they will ad to a powerful condemnation by Congress of the violation of human rights Chile and should translate into strong pressure on the Junta to ease up newhat.

For their substantial efforts in behalf of human rights in Chile, WOLA uld like to urge letters of appreciation to Senators Kennedy, Humphrey, /its, Case, Brooke and McGee and Representatives Fraser, Fascell, Whalen, l Hamilton.

LTILATERAL BANKS

Though much has been done by Congress, much remains to be done. The Jun still receiving large amounts of US aid through the multilateral banks.

The Harkin Amendment, attached to the replenishment bills for the Inter- erican Development Bank and the African Development Fund and signed into v on May 31, 1976, instructs the U.S. Executive Director to the Banks to te against any loan to any country engaging in human rights violations, less the loan would directly benefit the needy people. On June 17 the U.S rector to the IDB voted against a $ 21 million industrial loan to Chile to mply with the Harkin Amendment. This is the first time this human rights gislation has been implemented and the first time the U.S. has ever voted ainst a loan in the Bank because of the violation of human rights. This an important precedent.

Early in 1977 there will be two important issues for all individuals and oups interested in human rights. The replenishment bill for the World ank comes up between January and May. Then OPIC comes up for Congressio ction. The House Banking and Currency Subcommittee on International Dev ent Institutions and Finance will begin hearings on the replenishment bi n January.

The Washington Office on Latin America will be carefully monitoring the ssues and keep the readers of the Legislative Update informed. The U.S, as large voting shares in the multilateral banks, and if they are not mad ensitive to human rights issues, they can counteract these positive con- ressional initiatives.

ENTRAL AMERICA - CONGRESSIONAL ACTION AT LAST

Much of the interest of heretofore ignored Central Americanists the Hous nternational Relations Committee, Subcommittee on International Organiza- ons recently held hearings on Nicaragua, Guatemala, and El Salvador.

The June 8 and 9 , 1976, hearings focused on human rights violations and e relationship between U.S. military and economic assistance and the main nance of military dictatorships in those three countries.

The hearings generated some controversy in diplomatic circles. In addi- on to provoking official denunciations of this "invasion into internal fairs" by the governments of Nicaragua and El Salvador, they motivated ists by both Nicaraguan dictator Anastasio Somoza and U.S. Ambassador to caragua, James Theberge to Rep. Edward Koch (D-N.Y.), an outspoken critic U.S. support of the Somoza regime. Ambassador Theberge told Mr. Koch at he knew of no pattern of human rights violations in Nicaragua, and ged him to be careful about alienating a strong friend and ally. Somoza so assured Koch that there were no human rights violations in his country d, in response to Koch's inquiry, he stated that all the Nicaraguans who d signed affadavits stating that they were victims of torture or prolonged tention without charges had perjured themselves!

The first day of hearings began with Representative Jack Murphy who had latedly requested permission to testify. Characterizing Somoza as a aceful civilian leader, Murphy went on to say that in Nicaragua there are political prisoners, no torture, and no government sanctioned assassina- ons. Under rigorous cross examination by Koch, Murphy revealed his long d enduring friendship with Somoza.

Following Murphy, Lic Rene de Leon Schlotter, Guatemalan Christian Demo- at leader, Dr. Fabio Castillo, former rector of the National University El Salvador, but now exiled in Costa Rica, and Father Fernando Cardenal, otnote: On June 24, 1976, Senators Humphrey and Kennedy charged that the ate Department is rushing through a new $9.2 million commitment for the lean air force to beat a congressional ban on further weapons aid for le. Kennedy, author of the legislation banning aid to Chile, said, "It's rageous. It's a clear total violation of the spirit" of the provision.

icaraguan Jesuit priest and university professor testified. They all reorted that their governments are committing gross violations of human and olitical rights and that the U.S. aid programs serve to perpetuate the rul
: military dictatorships in their countries. (Pedro Joaquin Chamorro, caraguan newspaper publisher, had been invited to testify, but his goverr nt would not allow him to leave the country due to charges of slander ich had been brought against him approximately six months earlier by a moza crony. After many months of judicial inaction, during the course of ich Chamorro was not allowed to leave Nicaragua, judgment on his case wa ddenly reached, within hours of the termination of the hearings.)

The second day of the hearings, the Rev. William Wipfler, Mission Direct r Latin America of the National Council of Churches, Professor Miles Wolp the State University of New York at Pottsdam, Betty Sumner of Syracuse iversity, and Hewson Ryan, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-erican Affairs testified.

The testimony of Wipfler, Wolpin, and Sumner reinforced and complemented at of the national witnesses. Ryan, however, refused to comment on human ghts violations in the three countries. He alternately claimed that the
S. embassies had not been advised of these human rights violations, that ey would not have enough staff to investigate the veracity of the charges they had been advised of them, that to attempt to investigate such arges would violate the sovereignty of the nation involved, and that each arge brought a counter-charge which cancelled it out.

Congresspersons Donald Fraser, Michael Harrington, and Koch showed imtience with the State Department's evasiveness. As Subcommittee Chair-rson Fraser adjourned the hearings, he expressed an interest in holding ture hearings and requested that the State Department investigate each of e charges made by the witnesses. The State Department is currently work-g on that task.

The official hearing report, which will contain each of the witnesses' atements, the transcripts of the hearings, and material submitted for the cord, should be available for distribution by the House International lations Committee by the end of the summer.

SUBJECT: CGT INTERVENTOR KIDNAPPED

[redacted]

1. IN THEIR MOST SIGNIFICANT OPERATION SINCE THE MILITARY TAKEOVER MARCH 24, TERRORISTS KIDNAPPED COL. JUAN ALBERTO PITA, MILITARY INTERVENTOR OF THE CGT, SUNDAY EVENING (MAY 30) AS HE WAS DRIVING HOME WITH HIS WIFE NEAR THE CITY OF LA PLATA.

2. FEDERAL AND LOCAL POLICE IMMEDIATELY CORDONED OFF THE SURROUNDING STREETS AND LAUNCHED A NATIONWIDE DRAGNET FOR THE ABDUCTORS. PITA, WHO HAD NO BODYGUARD AND HAD TAKEN NO SPECIAL SECURITY PRECAUTIONS SINCE BEING NAMED CGT INTERVENTOR A MONTH AGO, WAS APPARENTLY FORCED AT GUNPOINT TO BOARD ANOTHER CAR WHICH DROVE OFF, LEAVING MRS. PITA UNHARMED.

3. THE ARMY GENERAL HIGH COMMAND ISSUED A TERSE STATEMENT ANNOUNCING THE KIDNAPPING. PITA WAS THE HIGHEST RANKING OFFICIAL ATTACKED SINCE THE MARCH 24 COUP. HIS ABDUCTION WAS APPARENTLY TIMED TO EMBARRASS AND DISCREDIT THE GOA ON THE EVE OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION'S ANNUAL CONFERENCE WHICH OPENED TODAY (JUNE 1) IN GENEVA.

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

[redacted]

[redacted]

4. PITA HAD DEFINED HIS MISSION AS A "STRATEGY OF DIALOGUE" BETWEEN GOVERNMENT AND LABOR. HE PLEDGED TO COMBAT SUBVERSION AND CORRUPTION IN THE LABOR MOVEMENT AND TO FOLLOW THE NEW GOVERNMENT'S DIRECTIVES IN ESTABLISHING A SINGLE, CENTRALIZED AND APOLITICAL LABOR MOVEMENT.

5. PITA HAD MADE IT CLEAR HE INTENDED TO WORK EXCLUSIVELY THROUGH MILITARY OFFICIALS, WHILE MAINTAINING OPEN COMMUNICATIONS WITH LABOR LEADERS "ON CONCRETE SUBJECTS." HE SAID ONLY "AUTHENTIC LEADERS WHO ACT AS GENUINE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE ARGENTINE WORKER" WOULD BE ALLOWED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE NATIONAL REORGANIZATION.

6. PITA WAS BORN IN SAN CARLOS DE BARILOCHE. HE ENTERED MILITARY ACADEMY IN 1944 AND OCCUPIED A NUMBER OF HIGH POSTS IN THE ARMY HIGH COMMAND. FOR THE LAST TWO YEARS HE SERVED AS CHIEF OF THE INFORMATION DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY GENERAL STAFF.

7. COMMENT. THE ABDUCTION OF PITA HAS BEEN VIEWED BY MANY AS A "TACTIC OF DESPERATION," A RELATIVELY SIMPLE, LOW-RISK ATTACK CALCULATED TO REAP WIDESPREAD PUBLICITY FOR ARGENTINE TERRORISTS. GOA HAS BEEN PARTICULARLY CONCERNED TO PRESENT A UNIFIED FRONT AT THE LABOR CONFERENCE IN GENEVA AND TO GAIN INTERNATIONAL SUPPORT FOR ITS POLICIES OF LOCAL LABOR REORGANIZATION, AS WELL AS INTERNATIONAL SYMPATHY IN ITS BATTLE AGAINST SUBVERSIVE TERRORISM.

8. THE KIDNAPPING, HOWEVER, WAS AGAIN A REMARKABLY SMOOTH, SWIFT OPERATION CARRIED OUT IN DAYLIGHT HOURS IN A HEAVILY TRAVELED LOCATION, NOT 20 MINUTES FROM PITA'S HOME.

9. A NUMBER OF ARGENTINE PAPERS HAVE SUGGESTED THAT THE PITA CASE ILLUSTRATES HOW THE BADLY BATTERED TERRORIST GROUPS HAVE BEEN REDUCED TO SPOT ACTIONS AGAINST EASY TARGETS. (TERRORISTS HAVE SUFFERED HEAVY LOSSES IN RECENT WEEKS, INCLUDING 18 DEAD IN A SPATE OF RAIDS OVER THE WEEKEND.) AS THEY CONTINUE TO SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES, LA OPINION PREDICTS, THE TERRORISTS MAY BE FORCED TO FALL BACK ON ACTIONS THAT PRODUCE THE MOST PUBLICITY WITH THE LEAST WASTE OF THEIR HARD-PRESSED RESOURCES.

This morning's discovery of the body of former Bolivian (now officially confirmed) President Torres, who was reported missing June 1, came not long after Interior Minister Gen Harguindeguy called an evening press conference (June 2) to charge that Torres' disappearance was part of an "international campaign to discredit Argentina's military government."

2. At the hastily called press conference, following his meeting with Pres Videla, Harguindeguy insisted Torres was neither arrested nor being detained by Argentine authorities and suggested Torres might as easily have disappeared "of his own free will". 3. Referring to Torres case and international press coverage of Michelini/Gutierrez Ruiz cases, Harguindeguy said there is no doubt an organized campaign exists, directed from outside the country, to discredit the present authorities and obstruct the process of national reorganization. (The Michelini/Gutierrez Ruiz cases and Torres disappearance were both covered--but very discreetly--by the local press.)

4. GOA, Harguindeguy said, is "no less concerned than the press about this problem of the disappearance of political personalities and prisoners." He reiterated the govt's "absolute repudiation of violence, of any extreme ideology."

5. Harguindeguy referred to press commentary, particularly in the foreign press, as "a total deformation of national reality". He said thousands of letters arrive each day, mostly from Europe, full of false information and requests for the liberation of people who have never even set foot in Argentina. The similarity of the letters, he said, supports his charge of a coordinated concerted foreign campaign to defame the country.

6. Harguindeguy refused to answer questions but added that the Federal Police and a Federal Judge were continuing investigation into abduction and deaths of Michelini and Gutierrez Ruiz, and that search continues for missing Colonel Pita who was kidnapped May 30.

COMMENT: Harguindeguy's charge of an international campaign has an overly defensive ring to it and will not be well received by reps of the foreign press/here or by other skeptical observers. It does, however, at least indicate concern at top levels over rapidly tarnishing Argentine image abroad.

BRIEFING MEMORANDUM

S/S 7611411

UNCLASSIFIED

JUN 3 1976

[redacted]

To: The Secretary

From: INR - Harold H. Saunders HS

The OAS in Perspective: What Kind of Inter-American Organization?

You have already received the normal briefing paper on issues and talking points for your various meetings at the OAS General Assembly. The purpose of this memorandum is to offer a background picture of the inter-American dynamics that have produced the positions that you will encounter and to analyze the broader options for inter-American organization. This follows from our earlier memorandum to you discussing the nature in today's world of the "special relationship" and the "new realities" of Latin America. The question here is: "What kind of inter-American organization suits the present relationship?"

As you know, only three issues on the OAS agenda are likely to stir much interest and debate at either the formal or the informal sessions:

OAS Charter Reform. We have expressed:

--our displeasure with the Permanent Council's proposals; and

--our preference for a streamlined institution capable of effective action in peacekeeping, protection of human rights, and cooperation for development.

The US position is now clear to all, but in identifying those Latins who are willing to assume paternity for reform proposals that are essentially ours, it is important to understand how present positions have evolved.

Cooperation for Development. Because of the broad concerns with development and North-South economic issues, the Latins will perhaps be watching us more closely in this area than in any other to determine our readiness to help make the OAS an organization that can be useful in present circumstances. Practical steps for technical exchanges can:

--help diffuse radical pressures for condemning "economic aggressors";

--provide a framework for explaining what we can and cannot do; and

--move discussion to applying regionally the elements of our position at Nairobi and at last year's UN 7th Special Session.

Human Rights. The Latins will respond soberly and positively, and in some cases sincerely, to anything you say regarding the importance of protecting human rights, but they are just as likely to acquiesce in Chile's attempt to trim the Inter-American Human Rights Commission's sails, if indeed that is Chile's aim. The reason is simple: too many OAS members have been, are, or can easily see themselves one day in a situation similar to Chile's.

We explore the three issues at greater length below:

Charter Reform

A critical point has been reached in the process of reforming the OAS Charter that began three years ago. Since the last OASGA, the drafting task has been in the hands of the Permanent Council, which will present the fruit of its labors to the Santiago meeting. In the US estimation, the draft:

--is badly drawn and embodies no vision of the OAS or its role in the inter-American system;

[redacted]

UNCLASSIFIED

--enshrines concepts such as Collective Economic Security that are totally unacceptable to the US and objectionable to some other member states; and

--leaves untouched structural deficiencies that contribute to the OAS's inefficiency and wastefulness.

In specific terms, the draft articles least acceptable to the US resulted from an effort, primarily by Peru, Panama and Mexico, to restrain US economic influence in the hemisphere. When the reform process began in mid-1973, there was considerably more tension and animosity in the inter-American atmosphere than exists today, and the Latins transformed the reform effort into a search for means to curb US "economic aggression." In fact, Latin leaders had long viewed the OAS as an instrument for controlling US political and military adventurism in the hemisphere, and they now have shifted their focus and tactics to using the OAS to control US economic activity.

In more general terms, charter reform problems are an outgrowth of an OAS in transition. Everyone agrees that a new charter should mirror the "new realities" in hemispheric relations, but few agree on what the "new realities" are. Throughout the 1950s and well into the 1960s, the OAS role derived from the Cold War context within which it was created in 1948. The organization functioned largely as an instrument of US policy designed to safeguard our strategic interests in the Western Hemisphere. The Latins may have been unhappy about the failure of the OAS to channel significant developmental aid in their direction, but there was little that they could or tried to do about it.

As East-West strategic concerns have increasingly given way to the North-South developmental debate, the Latins have--in charter reform discussions and elsewhere--emphasized the OAS role in economic matters. The US has not resisted exploring the OAS's potential contribution to cooperation for development, but the issues involved entail all the complexity of the global dialogue transferred to the regional setting, and disagreements have resulted.

One issue that has been settled, if only implicitly, is the most basic one of all: "Should there be an OAS?" The organization has been the target of unending criticism, and it is an efficiency expert's nightmare, but it is perceived by the Latins as a necessary and sometimes useful instrument of inter-American diplomacy, a judgment in which we have concurred. The reasons vary with the size and situation of each country, but at the heart of the matter is the overwhelming presence of US power--economic, political, military and social-cultural--in the hemisphere. So great is the power disparity that not even a solidly united Latin front (as in an OAS without the US) would restore a semblance of symmetry.

UNCLASSIFIED

Within this context, the OAS assures the Latins of an opportunity to bring their concerns and demands to the attention of the US in a regularly constituted forum. That they often fail to curb or control the impact of US actions, real or potential, is a result of the power discrepancy involved rather than an inherent defect in the OAS.

From the Latin perspective, two things can occur when the OAS addresses significant hemispheric items:

--The organization can provide unique access to the US policymaking process, thus assuring consideration or at least an airing of their interests.

--When their interests are ignored or damaged, the OAS becomes a convenient public platform from which to denounce the US.

Either way, the Latins reap benefits from an organization that costs them very little monetarily.

From our viewpoint, the irritation and frustration are probably worthwhile:

--The OAS still has a hemispheric peacekeeping role, last exercised in the El Salvador-Honduras dispute of 1969, but residually available if needed.

--While the OAS may not be a spectacularly effective institution, US participation signals our commitment to hemispheric cooperation and development. To withdraw would result in political damage to our hemispheric position that is not warranted by the cost of continuing membership.

--It is better to deal with the Latins directly in an organization to which we belong and can influence than indirectly through something akin to SELA from which we would be excluded.

UNCLASSIFIED

--In a more positive light, a revitalized OAS might further US policy aims by performing useful service in some areas of economic development and protection of human rights.

While continued existence of the OAS is a basic assumption of all parties concerned, the specific role it should play in hemispheric affairs is unclear, and here we return to the charter reform difficulties. Depending upon how the issues are resolved, the OAS of the future may be:

--A slightly altered version of the current model: an organization to be used or misused by the Latins as the occasion demands and tolerated by the US for the lack of a more appealing alternative. This would be the outcome if an impasse in the reform debate forced a premature termination of the entire reform effort. No one relishes this prospect, but most of the Latins could live with it and we would have no other choice.

--An effective institution for promoting inter-American cooperation in a limited number of areas, especially cooperation for development, peacekeeping, and human rights. Given this version of the OAS, the organization's bureaucracy would be reduced, its attention and resources focused on technical rather than political questions, and its image as a truly inter-American rather than a US-dominated institution refurbished. This is the direction in which the US would prefer to see the OAS proceed, and majority Latin support would be forthcoming if they were to perceive tangible economic benefits in the offing.

--A Latin-dominated institution designed to promote Latin economic interest vis-a-vis the US and control US economic power in the hemisphere. An OAS of this type is implicit in the charter reform proposals of Peru and its supporters, Panama, Ecuador and Mexico. The OAS would become a channel for conveying Latin demands to the US, and given the Peruvian concept of Collective Economic Security, an instrument to punish US "economic aggression."

The US has yet to set forth in detail its version of a new inter-American approach that we believe should be embodied in a revised charter. We have indicated our displeasure with the Permanent Council's handiwork and registered a strong preference for a bureaucratically-streamlined institution capable of effective action in three specific fields--peacekeeping, protection of human rights and cooperation for development. Otherwise, we have merely attempted to expand the debate beyond the frequently parochial confines of the Permanent Council and sought to elicit fresh ideas from the Latins themselves. This strategy has been well-advised in light of the fact that reform proposals--and almost any other initiatives which we favor--stand a much better chance of prospering if they emerge publicly under Latin sponsorship.

Through extensive travel, including your own five-nation tour last February, US representatives have engaged high-level Latin officials directly in the reform process. The US position is now clear to all, and an encouraging degree of Latin support has been forthcoming. The Costa Rican, Colombian and Uruguayan Foreign Ministers are the most likely candidates for Latin leadership in circumventing anti-Washington bias.

When the General Assembly considers the Permanent Council's report, it will have essentially three tactical alternatives:

--Instruct the Permanent Council to rework its draft. This option offers no prospect for an improved draft and has no support among member states.

--Instruct the Permanent Council to convene a special General Assembly to consider the present draft. Favored by Peru, Ecuador, and perhaps Mexico, countries that approve of the economic concepts embodied in the Permanent Council's draft.

--Determine that the draft should be reviewed by some group other than the Permanent Council before being presented to a special General Assembly for final consideration. This is preferred by us. We are currently trying to develop consensus support for a small six-to-eight member study group composed of prominent inter-American personalities who have not previously participated in the reform effort.

Probably the best that the US can expect at Santiago is a decision to pass the present draft to an intermediate study group to which all member states would appoint representatives. Many Latins have expressed approval in principle for the US suggestion of a more limited, workable committee, but none are willing to be excluded from the group.

Even the creation of a larger study group is not a foregone conclusion. The Peruvians are apparently lobbying heavily, and in some cases successfully, for submitting the Permanent Council's draft directly to a special OAS General Assembly to be held in December in Lima. The Peruvians are probably peddling the notion that:

--an intermediate study group is another US contrivance to sidetrack the entire reform effort; and

--the US should state specifically what it cannot abide in the draft charter, and the points at issue could be negotiated.

If this is the Peruvian strategy, and it works, the Santiago discussions could penetrate more deeply into substantive charter issues than we or most of the Latins would prefer.

Cooperation for Development

Of all the topics that might conceivably be raised at Santiago, none will inspire more Latin interest than this one or offer a better handle for trying to turn the OAS into practical avenues. Human rights and peacekeeping are widely acknowledged as suitable concerns for the OAS, and in both areas the organization has well-established procedures and reasonably good track records. Latins will judge the sincerity of our intentions primarily by our record on economic cooperation. It is a relatively new area for institutionalized OAS action, and the task is made all the more difficult by the suspicion, if not cynicism, with which the Latins have come to regard US responses to their felt needs. From their perspective, the notion of a "special relationship" can best be made tangible through US actions that serve their developmental aspirations.

As Santiago, your hemispheric counterparts will expect a strong reaffirmation of US intention to accord Latin America special consideration despite the global nature of developmental problems. They will have read and carefully analyzed your Nairobi address, and they will want to know precisely what special advantages they can expect from the implementation of US proposals on subjects dealt with at Nairobi. Hemispheric trade and technology transfer are priority concerns for them, and any specific initiatives you offer will be welcome.

At a minimum, US initiatives to direct discussion toward hemispheric cooperation for development may help resolve the charter reform debate over Collective Economic Security. We have strongly resisted the implementation of this concept in the form of a semi-juridical framework within which "economic aggressors" would be tried and penalized. Instead, we have urged that the term be understood in a constructive sense--i.e., cooperation for development. Substantive US proposals on matters such as trade and technology transfer would lend credence to our past protests and weaken the advocates of an inter-American economic court system.

Beyond that, the most likely outcome at Santiago is an agreement to convene committees of technical experts on inter-American trade and technology transfer, perhaps as adjuncts to standing OAS committees, or perhaps in the more grandiose form of a special General Assembly of hemispheric Finance Ministers, a proposal already made by the Panamanians. Entrusting future discussions to technical experts should help channel them in a productive direction.

In a more general sense, the Santiago discussions will be helpful if they result in a more precise understanding of the possibilities and limitations of the OAS as a vehicle for promoting regional development. Hopefully, the Latins will come to perceive cooperation for development as:

--A two-way process rather than a US giveaway: a process in which they will participate as donors and recipients, although not necessarily in equal measure.

--A regional undertaking which must ultimately be viewed within the larger North-South developmental context, and as such, an undertaking that cannot be expected to yield definitive solutions to what are essentially global problems.

Human Rights

If for no other reason than the site, the protection of human rights in the hemisphere will be a significant issue at the Santiago General Assembly. Nonetheless, majority support for an action oriented resolution against Chile or anyone else is unlikely.

Traditionally, general assemblies have simply received the Inter-American Human Rights Commission's (IAHRC) report and acknowledged the commission's services, but this year a more extended and pointed discussion may develop. Should you make a strong statement regarding the protection of human rights, your comments will probably:

--be echoed strongly by at least Jamaica, which opposed holding the OASGA in Santiago on human rights grounds, and perhaps Costa Rica; and

--strike a sympathetic but less enthusiastic chord with the representatives of Venezuela, Colombia, and some of the other Caribbean nations.

The remaining member states, and especially Brazil, Uruguay, Paraguay and Argentina, will prefer silence, but, if forced, will adopt the position that human rights is an area of vital concern in which they cannot permit interference with their sovereign rights and obligations.

The specific case of Chile's human rights performance is inscribed in the agenda, but the broader question involves the role of the IAHRC. Chile has placed on the agenda an item entitled "Means for the Promotion of Respect for Human Rights and Facilitating the Cooperation of Member States to that End." The Chileans maintain that their objective is to strengthen the IAHRC, but it is difficult to stifle the suspicion that they seek precisely the opposite. They speak of defining more precisely the role and procedures of the IAHRC when, in fact, the Commission has been reasonably effective in the past by proceeding on the basis of a loose, permissive interpretation of a vague mandate. The Chileans may be trying to hem in the IAHRC by explicitly setting forth its powers. The Chilean initiative probably reflects their feeling that they have been singled out for discriminatory treatment by the IAHRC, but the impact of diminishing the IAHRC's powers will be felt throughout the continent, not just in Chile.

The Latins will tolerate the IAHRC because dismantling it is politically inconceivable, and because it heralds their respect for human rights. But they will not be enthusiastic about increasing its powers, and many will probably welcome a chance to circumscribe its activities somewhat.

UNCLASSIFIED

If you have not had a chance recently to review the present situation in Chile, you may want to glance at the attached rundown on current human rights practices there.

Summary Reflections

At Santiago, the atmosphere will reflect neither a new and robust OAS rising Phoenix-like from the ashes, nor a dying corpse sounding its death rattle. Rather you will be dealing with an organization in transition: one that once discharged its duties in a reasonably precise and parochial fashion but now must deal with global developmental problems that cannot be resolved within its regional framework.

The charter reform debate illustrates the difficulty in defining the OAS's role within this new context, but solid bases for profitable hemispheric cooperation do exist. Because both we and the Latins have prominent stakesin the North-South debate, and because Latin America is, by almost any standard, the third world area most intimately and importantly linked to the US, the OAS is a potentially useful forum for regional discussion of global problems.

If the OAS's potential is to be realized, however, its limitations as well as its possibilities have to be understood. If a new, modified "special relationship" is to emerge, it must evolve out of a mutual effort to solve common global problems, rather than out of a US willingness to yield regional concessions to its hemispheric neighbors. Minimizing possibilities for rhetorical politicking in the OAS and encouraging the discussion of troublesome economic issues by technical experts might be steps in the right direction.

Whether or not we succeed in streamlining the OAS and whether or not it becomes the institutional expression of a revitalized "special relationship", its residual function as a potential hemispheric peacekeeper probably makes it worth all the fuss and expense--to both us and the Latins.

Human Rights Practices in Chile

Although some tentative signs of improvement in human rights practices are now evident, the Chilean Government remains an authoritarian regime obsessed with internal security problems. Santiago appears unlikely to modify temporarily or rescind any of the extraordinary security measures in force since the September 1973 coup which overthrew Salvador Allende.

An Authoritarian Regime. The military government now in power in Santiago is an aberration in Chile's long tradition of civilian parliamentary rule. There are currently no elected officials at any level--the election rolls were destroyed by the military shortly after coming to power in 1973--and elections are unlikely for at least the next 2-3 years. Guarantees of personal and civil rights long held to be an integral part of the Chilean political system have been suspended in political or security cases--a category which continues to be very broadly defined.

Legally, the military govern under the State of Siege provisions of the 1925 Constitution.

--Military courts have almost exclusive jurisdiction in cases involving national security, with appeal to the Supreme Court possible only in limited cases.

--Civilian courts have shown great reluctance in pursuing writs of habeas corpus (amparo) on behalf of security detainees or missing persons assumed to be under arrest, and in reviewing military court decisions.

--Search warrants are technically necessary, but their use by the security forces has not been widespread.

Chileans widely believe that the Government monitors telephone conversations and intercepts mail. The security forces, especially the National Directorate of Intelligence (DINA), continue to detain and interrogate suspected subversives and those they feel might provide information on anti-government plotting and terrorism. The majority of the most serious current violations of personal and human rights occur during this initial period of detention and interrogation. Treatment of long-term prisoners in regularly established centers is generally acceptable, although conditions are described as spartan. Medical attention is considered adequate.

Human Rights Violations. Since the coup, the Chilean Government has been widely accused of violating virtually all of the internationally recognized standards established for the protection of human rights. These violations include:

--Loss of life, including military court death sentences and cases of prisoners who have died while in custody.

--Arbitrary arrest, detention and exile, the first two widespread and difficult to quantify, the latter being intensified in recent months.*

--Torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment, primarily during the interrogation process when security personnel have reason to believe that the detainee has timely intelligence.

--Arbitrary deprivation of property, both of individuals and outlawed political groups, which was very common in the months following the coup and continues to be used on a regular, if more selective, basis.

--Repression of freedom of expression and opinion, including direct government supervision of education, manifesting itself in clearly understood guidelines for self-censorship, the closure of radio stations, confiscation and shutdown of independent magazines, and the ouster of hundreds of university professors, staff and students.

Some Signs of Improvement. The numbers of political/security detainees officially acknowledged by the Government have fluctuated considerably in the two and one half years since the coup. As of November 1975, there were 4,027 detainees, down some from 4,754 in March 1975, and the backlog of pending cases seemed to be clearing up. Specifically, between March and November 1975:

--those detained without charges under the State of Siege fell from 1,417 to 512;

* Internal exile, or relegacion, in which the Government requires suspected individuals or dissidents to take up residence in remote regions of Chile and restricts their right to work and travel, has also been common.

UNCLASSIFIED

--those with legal proceedings pending declined from 1,780 to 1,398; and

--those convicted and serving sentences increased from 1,557 to 2,117.

As of January 30, 1976, however, the number of category one detainees--those detained without charges and most clearly identified as "political prisoners"--had risen to 667, of which some 300 were considered too dangerous to either release or put on trial. The number is probably even greater now.

The Government has cooperated with an international program to exile political/security prisoners. As of early March:

--some 330 persons, presumably including family members of detainees, had actually left Chile under this program; and

--about 850 petitions for commutation of sentence had been approved.

Immediately prior to Treasury Secretary Simon's visit to Santiago on May 7, 49 category 1 prisoners (detained without charge), including four prominent Allende-era political figures, were released, some to go into exile. Announcement of the release of a second group of 50 detainees was made public on May 19, and on May 25 Santiago officially publicized its intention to free an additional 207 political prisoners.

Chilean procedures for accounting for detainees have been clarified and regularized during the last 12-18 months--a considerable improvement over the chaotic period immediately after the coup, when the lack of precise information gave rise to highly exaggerated estimates on the numbers of dead, missing and detained. However; the exact number of "political prisoners" is still virtually impossible to estimate, since the definition of that category is unclear, and since the government, for intelligence reasons, does not reveal the names of all security detainees.

Chilean Self-Regulation. Stricter legal guidelines for the arrest and interrogation of suspected political enemies were instituted in May 1975 and in January 1976. The May law:

--clarifies the state of emergency under which the military governs;

--prohibits torture;

UNCLASSIFIED

--establishes conditions regarding the notification of families of arrestees; and

--sets limits on the time suspects may be held by security forces without charging them for specific violations.

The January decree put some teeth into the earlier measure, which had not been rigorously observed by the security forces. It specified the detention centers in which security cases could be held, prescribed medical examinations to preclude torture during interrogation, and authorized independent on-site inspection of the official centers.

Supreme Court President Eyzaguirre and Minister of Justice Schweitzer have separately conducted independent inspections of the authorized centers and found nothing serious amiss. Their obvious seriousness of purpose in carrying out the provisions of the January decree will probably help to discourage abuses, although there could be "unofficial" detention and interrogation centers which would not fall within the purview of the independent inspectors. On the whole, at least until very recently, the January decree has been observed by the security forces, and complaints of this type of human rights abuse have diminished considerably.

Other encouraging developments are:

--The revelation of Secretary Simon that 41 security force personnel have been tried and convicted for abuses of detainees.

--Chilean agreement to meet soon--in order to discuss procedures for an on-site review of the human rights situation in Chile--with the UN Human Rights Commission working group that was denied permission to visit Chile at the last minute last July.

Contrary to US hopes, however, Chile did not, during the Simon visit, budge on the restoration of habeas corpus or the elimination of the state of siege, and refuses to consider the release of Luis Corvalan, Secretary General of the banned Chilean Communist Party.

Finally, according to reliable clandestine reports, President Pinochet is considering a reorganization of the intelligence forces which, if implemented, would restrict DINA and the service groups to a strict intelligence function, and delegate responsibility for arrest and interrogation of suspected subversives to the police. The plan has not been implemented, and is unlikely to be in the near future. Nonetheless, it points to serious high-level consideration of the problems caused by an uncontrolled security force.

Prospects. Chile lobbied extensively to have the OAS General Assembly meet in Santiago, in order that the world could appreciate the exaggerations and distortions fabricated by the "international communist conspiracy against Chile." However, as the date of the Santiago meeting approaches, the strategy could backfire.

--Aside from image problems caused by stepped-up detentions of potential troublemakers and enemies of the regime, the government could be embarrassed by security measures designed to prevent spontaneous popular demonstrations against the government or a stampede of asylees into Santiago's foreign embassies.

--Public manifestations of the grinding poverty to which most lower class Chileans have passively submitted will probably be obvious to the visiting delegations, and are likely to be quickly reported by representatives of the international media.

--Despite announcements to the contrary, the Government will probably try to prevent the accreditation of journalists known to be unfriendly to the regime, which will cause more unfavorable publicity.

--Even normal security precautions designed to protect the delegates will probably be widely misinterpreted and could cause disagreeable incidents.

The Chilean National Directorate of Intelligence (DINA) does not now anticipate major security problems during the General Assembly, but is well prepared for the possibility of minor acts of spontaneous violence or protest.

. EMBASSY CAN NOT ESTIMATE HOW MANY OF THE APPROXIMATELY 00,000 PARAGUAYANS LIVING IN ARGENTINA COULD BE LASSIFIED AS POLITICAL REFUGEES BUT THE VAST MAJORITY MIGRATED FOR ECONOMIC REASONS. MOST OF THOSE WHO WERE XILED OR FLED PARAGUAY FOR POLITICAL REASONS DID SO IN HE LATE 1950S AND EARLY 60S. SINCE THEN THIS PRACTICE AS VIRTUALLY CEASED.

2. THE POLITICAL ORIENTATION OF THESE "REFUGEES" RANGES OVER THE ENTIRE SPECTRUM: THEIR COMMON DENOMINATOR IS BEING ANTI-STROESSNER. MANY ARE DISSIDENTS FROM THE RULING COLORADO PARTY ITSELF. THERE ARE ALSO SOME COMMUNISTS AND ACTIVE TERRORISTS AMONG THEM. SOME PARAGUAYANS WERE REPORTEDLY INVOLVED IN A TERRORIST SKYJACKING INCIDENT IN THE ARGENTINE BORDER TOWN OF FORMOSA LAST YEAR, AND A RECENT PRESS REPORT FROM BUENOS AIZDES SAID SEVERAL PARAGUAYAN NATIONALS HAVE BEEN SHOT BY ARGENTINE SECURITY FORCES IN ANTI-TERRORIST ACTIONS IN THAT CITY.

3. MOST PARAGUAYAN POLITICAL EXILES ARE ARGENTINE RESIDENTS OF LONG STANDING, OFTEN AS MUCH AS TWENTY YEARS. THEY HAVE SETTLED THERE PERMANENTLY AND THEIR PRESENCE HAS BEEN TOLERATED BY SUCCESSIVE ARGENTINE GOVERNMENTS. WE ARE NOT AWARE THAT THE PARAGUAYAN REFUGEE COMMUNITY IN ARGENTINA IS IN ANY PARTICULAR DANGER NOW FROM THOSE WHO WOULD SEEK TO EMBARRASS THE NEW MILITARY GOVERNMENT OR FROM ANY OTHER QUARTER. OF COURSE IT IS ALWAYS POSSIBLE THAT SOME OF THEM COULD BE THE OBJECT OF AN ASSASSINATION ATTEMPT, BUT SINCE NONE IS WELL KNOWN INTERNATIONALLY, WE CONSIDER THIS UNLIKELY. FROM THIS VANTAGE POINT WE DO NOT SEE THE NEED TO PAROLE ANY OF THESE PEOPLE, WHO NOW HAVE LIVED IN ARGENTINA FOR ONE OR TWO DECADES, INTO THE UNITED STATES.

Carvajal

If you do not mind, I believe it is better for Cauas to take the lead.

Cauas

Today a $21 million loan to Chile for the private sector was to have come up on the IDB agenda. Yesterday the Chilean Director told us that the United States wanted to delay the vote on this loan for one week so as to comply with informing Congress because of the Harkin Amendment. The loan had been technically agreed to, but now we have learned that Simon has gotten in touch with Congress again on the vote.

The Secretary

Look, I am going to get this situation under control when I get back to Washington. We will not have harrassment of Chile. I will not have my statements on human rights here used to injure Chile. I told your President, and I repeat it to you: we trust your good faith and your good will on this matter. You must do as circumstances require. But the decision to do what must be done must be a Chilean decision.

UNCLASSIFIED

I will see to this matter when I get back to Washington. [To Rogers] Why don't we send a cable to tell them we support the loan from the foreign policy viewpoint?

Rogers

I don't understand what the problem is. I just spoke to Parsky.

The Secretary

They want to get into the human rights business.

Rogers

Yes, but they promised to check with us.

The Secretary

What can they be asking Congress? It is not a good idea to get Congress into the specifics of IDB lending. If we allow that to happen now, the process that will be unleashed will be an extremely regrettable one.

Cauas

Yes. For Chile, and for the IDB.

The Secretary

It is a bad precedent to let Congress approve loans. I've got to have a meeting with Simon Monday. I will not favor taking this up with Congress. If they get worried about every loan, then the IFI's will become like the Appropriations Committee. I am extremely worried. This is a question of principle. It has nothing to do with Chile. I would say the same of France.

Rogers

Yes. Then we would have government by the press.

The Secretary

It is not good for Congress to get into the details of every loan to every country.

Cauas

It will be bad for the IDB, and bad for the World Bank and the IMF as well.

The Secretary

I am strongly in favor of the loan. My prime function in government this year is to take the blame. Let them say that Henry Kissinger with his well known fondness for dictatorship has ordered this. Einaudi here believes that too. He would have me cut Chile off completely.

Cauas

When I learned of the problem, I took responsibility for a week's delay myself so as not to create problems.

Rogers

It would be a fatal precedent. The IDB and the World Bank have important loans coming up for Brazil, Chile, Argentina. They would all be attacked.

The Secretary

It would ruin our foreign policy. If you think you have problems . . . We have a bunch of Congressmen who think that Mexico is going communist. The next thing we'll hear is that we must stop loans to Mexico.

My position is for the loan and against consulting with Congress on it. I will try to resolve this with Simon. When asked, he will say that in view of my foreign policy interest, he has decided to approve the loan.

Cauas

The second point I wanted to bring up relates to Great Britain. [Hands the Secretary a document.]

The Secretary [Reads]

I will take it up with the British Foreign Secretary in two weeks. Is there time for that?

Cauas

Yes.

The Secretary

I want to tell you that I appreciate the way things have been conducted here. I have been very impressed by Chile and particularly by the Chilean people. You have handled the OAS meeting with great dignity. Few countries would permit a meeting with an agenda as explicitly directed against them. It has been a great credit to you. And that is one thing I will not fail to point out to Congress.

We have told you what, in our judgment, will be helpful in the general situation. We have also heard what you have said. The decision you must take is a matter of your own judgment. As I told your President, we don't want to weaken your government, we want to strengthen our capacity to help.

Carvajal

Thank you very much. You are very kind.

The Secretary

It has been a very good visit. I have really been impressed by your people. We wish you well.

Carvajal

That was our intention when we offered Santiago as a site for the Assembly.

The Secretary

You showed great courage and great dignity.

Carvajal

And on human rights, the publicity you gave it is testimony to our concerns as well.

I will be at the airport to say goodbye.

If I say something to the press along these lines about my general impression, will I embarrass you?

SUBJECT: NOON PRESS BRIEFING OF JUNE 10, 1976
THE FOLLOWING ARE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS QUOTED FROM THE TRANSCRIPT OF THE DEPARTMENT SPOKESMAN'S NOON BRIEFING ON JUNE 10.
1. Q. DOES THE DEPARTMENT HAVE ANY RESPONSE TO THE REPORT THIS MORNING IN THE WASHINGTON POST THAT THE GOVERNMENT OF CHILE WAS OFFICIALLY INVOLVED IN THE MURDER OF A UNITED STATES CITIZEN THERE AFTER THE CHANGE OF GOVERNMENTS IN 1976?
A. YOU ARE REFERRING TO THE POST STORY?
2. IT WAS WRITTEN BY JOANNE OMANG AND WAS DATELINED -- I THINK IT WAS OUT OF CHILE. IT WAS IN ONE OF THE BACK SECTIONS OF THIS MORNING'S PAPER.
A. YES I HAVE SOMETHING ON THAT. THE U.S. CONSUL HAS BEEN VISITING MR. GONZALES AND HIS FAMILY BECAUSE HIS SON IS A U.S. CITIZEN SINCE HE TOOK REFUGE IN THE ITALIAN EMBASSY SOME MONTHS AGO. THE CONSUL REPORTS THE FAMILY APPEARS WELL AND THAT THEY HAVE HAD ACCESS TO MEDICAL ASSISTANCE.

IN THE VISIT BY OUR CONSUL ON JUNE 9 -- THAT IS YESTERDAY -- MR. GONZALES REFERRED TO THE HORMAN CASE -- AND YOU ARE REFERRING TO MR. HORMAN -- FOR THE FIRST TIME. AND THE EMBASSY IS PREPARING A REPORT ON THE MATTER.
NOW I WOULD ADD, DESPITE OUR NORMAL PRACTICE OF NOT COMMENTING ON INTELLIGENCE MATTERS, WE STATE CATEGORICALLY THAT NO U.S. INTELLIGENCE REPRESENTATIVES WERE PRESENT WHEN THIS ALLEGED ORDER WAS GIVEN. NOR WAS THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT AWARE OF OR IN ANY WAY INVOLVED IN ANY CHILEAN INTERROGATION OF HORMAN.
Q. THAT IS RATHER AMAZING. HOW CAN YOU KNOW WHO WAS PRESENT? HAVE YOU CHECKED ALL THE RECORDS OF ALL THE MOVEMENTS OF ALL THE U.S. INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS WITHIN THE LAST FEW HOURS WHO WERE MOVING AROUND THERE SEVERAL YEARS AGO?

A. HENRY, I THINK THE STATEMENT IS PRETTY CLEAR.
4. Q. IT'S CLEAR. BUT IS IT BELIEVABLE?
Q. TO REFER BACK TO THE NON-REPRESENTATIVES. DOES THIS INCLUDE INTELLIGENCE -- THEY MAKE A DISTINCTION OUT AT THE AGENCY BETWEEN INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS AND AGENTS AND CONTRACTORS -- THIS INCLUDES ALL THOSE CATEGORIES?
A. I AM NOT GOING TO GO BEYOND WHAT I HAVE SAID ON THIS PARTICULAR SUBJECT.
5. Q. FRED, CAN YOU AT LEAST CLEAR UP THE DISTINCTION BETWEEN U.S. INTELLIGENCE REPRESENTATIVES NOT BEING PRESENT AND THE U.S. GOVERNMENT NOT BEING AWARE? IT SEEMS TO ME YOUR SECOND STATEMENT LEAVES OPEN THE POSSIBILITY THAT SOMEBODY MIGHT HAVE BEEN THERE BUT DID NOT INFORM THE U.S. GOVERNMENT.

A. NO. I DO NOT READ THAT INTO THE STATEMENT AT ALL. BUT I AM NOT GOING TO ADD TO WHAT I HAVE SAID WITH REGARD TO THE POST STORY.
6. Q. HAS THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT EVER SAID ANYTHING ABOUT WHATEVER HAPPENED TO THIS FELLOW?
A. I DO NOT KNOW.
7. DO YOU KNOW WHERE HE IS FROM?
A. I DO NOT HAVE THAT INFORMATION WITH ME. I THINK THE POST ARTICLE MAY HAVE HAD A REFERENCE TO HIS HOME TOWN. I AM NOT SURE ON THAT.
8. Q. DOES THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT KNOW HOW HE DIED?
A. IAPS. I AM NOT GOING TO SAY ANYTHING MORE ON THIS PARTICULAR SUBJECT.
9. Q. FRED. MAY I REPEAT A QUESTION I ASKED EARLIER? DOES THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT KNOW HOW MR. HORMAN DIED?
A. AND I WILL HAVE TO REPLY THE WAY I DID BEFORE: SIMPLY THAT I AM GOING TO LIMIT MY COMMENTS ON THE SUBJECT TO WHAT I HAVE ALREADY SAID.
10. Q. CAN YOU SAY WHETHER THE REPORT WHEN IT IS COMPLETED WILL BE MADE PUBLIC OR WHETHER IT IS FOR INTERNAL USE ONLY?
A. I DO NOT KNOW THE ANSWER TO THAT.
11. FRED. ARE YOU SAYING YOU DON'T KNOW THE ANSWERS TO LARS' QUESTION OR YOU DO KNOW AND WON'T TELL US?
A. I AM SAYING I DO NOT WANT TO GO BEYOND PRECISELY

RELEASED IN PART
B6

C: How are you, Henry?

K: I am in good shape.

C: Listen, I am calling with respect to Coca Cola and something that has happened in Cuba. From two different areas Coke has gotten signals from Cuba -- one directly from the Cuban minister of finance and commerce who had been seen by a Mexican national who runs Coke in Mexico in connection with a football game. That one was renewed within the last month or so. They past word they would be interested. Secondly, through Colombia. The Cuban attache in Colombia said to a Coca Cola bottler that we would be interested in having Coke come into Cuba.

K: We would be violently against it.

C: You would. Well here is why I am calling. You know how much they want to get in there. You and I talked about this some months ago, but Herbie Jones who probably you don't know, went to Cuba with Mancowitz and they got interviews with Castro. He went on television and said Pepsi would soon be in Cuba. He said he was working through an Italian company to get them into Cuba. Austin was watching this and then these other things happened a few weeks afterwards.

K: [redacted] B6

C: Austin would like to go to Cuba, but I take it you don't want him to go?

K: I don't want him to go. It will give all the wrong signals. I will tell [redacted] about this, but I don't think he is as likely to listen to me as you are. B6

C: Well I guess there is nothing -- there is no way to do it but there is no way that he will do it without licensing. He won't let them do it if it is a problem. I don't know if you can have any inpact on [redacted]. Herbie Jones made some money off of interviewing Castro and now thinks — well, is there any way you can get a message to [redacted]? B6 B6

K: This I will do. I will tell him we will make it as hard as possible for him if he goes ahead. [redacted] B6

C: I would rather have the [redacted] in the world. O.K. Henry, take care of yourself. B6

K: You will be doing your best to take care of me.

C: We will have a lively few months. I think Reagan has a better than 50/50 chance of getting the nomination.

K: My hope will be to keep foreign policy from not being to devisive.

I think if the democrats get in, they will be doing most of what we are doing. You think Reagan has a chance?

C: Oh hell yes. I think he has a tremendous chance. Some think he is going to get it.

K: I read your article in the Post this weekend. I thought it was very good.

C: It seems arrogant for people to be preparing -- you can't just come in.

K: They will be assailed by conflicting pressures, the democrats. You have so many premadonas in the democratic party.

C: I think you will be surprised on the foreign policy thing aside from an over-simplification of the defense debate and isolated issues that may explode over the Middle East, etc. I don't think foreign policy will be a major issue.

K: If they keep it to that platform I don't have to rush out to defend our foreign policy. Why on Africa?

C: Just a problem -- it can always explode there or in the Middle East.

K: I don't think that the democrats would be less for majority rule than the Lusaka Speech.

C: No, I was using it just in case it explodes. I don't see it as a major issue aside from the Defense budget. Those I think will be and they are debated unrealistically -- everyone knows you can't transfer defense spending to the domestic budget. Even two years out 75% of that budget he won't be able to touch. I would like to be ablt to tell him...

K: It was a very good piece. You can tell him that I will get in touch with [redacted] B6

C: O.K. Henry. Thank you and bye.

K: Bye, bye.

SUBJECT: ABDUCTION OF REFUGEES IN ARGENTINA
REF: (A) STATE 143914, (B) BUENOS AIRES 3960, (C) BUENOS AIRES 3918

1. PER REF A, CHARGE OBTAINED APPOINTMENT WITH DIRECTOR GENERAL OF INTERNATIONAL POLICY PEREYRA, SENIOR FONOFF CIVILIAN, EVENING JUNE 14.

2. CHARGE EXPRESSED USG CONCERN OVER REFUGEE ABDUCTION, AND RAISED BROADER ISSUE OF HUMAN RIGHTS. TO ILLUSTRATE FOR HIM HOW FOREIGN PRESS COVERED SUCH MATTERS AND HOW CONGRESSIONAL CRITICS DEALT WITH THEM, HE WAS ALSO PROVIDED WITH COPIES OF WASHINGTON POST STORY ON ABDUCTION AND REMARKS OF CONGRESSMAN KOCH AT CIAR ON JUNE 7. CHARGE ALSO TOLD HIM HE HAD RAISED MATTER WITH AMBASSADOR-DESIGNATE TO US, ARNALDO MUSICH. MUSICH, WHO IS ACCOMPANYING MINECON MARTINEZ DE HOZ ON US VISIT, WAS ADVISED THAT HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUE WOULD PROBABLY PLAY A ROLE IN CONVERSATIONS DURING VISIT.

3. PEREYRA'S RESPONSE WAS AN IMPASSIONED, ALMOST FANATIC DEFENSE OF GOA. WITH REGARD TO SUBSTANCE OF THE ISSUE, PEREYA CONTENDED THAT GOA WAS DOING BEST IT COULD IN AN ALL-OUT WAR WITH

UNCLASSIFIED

[redacted]

EXTREMISTS: THAT IT WAS NOT POSSIBLE TO PREVENT OCCASIONAL EXCESSES BY EMBATTLED SECURITY FORCES WHO SHED THEIR BLOOD DAILY, AND THAT HE AND PRESIDENT VIDELA WERE AS DEEPLY AND GENUINELY CONCERNED ABOUT THE PROBLEMS OF HUMAN RIGHTS AS ANY FOREIGN OBSERVER. HE DID NOT COMMENT DIRECTLY ON THE TRUTH OR FALSEHOOD OF THE ABDUCTION REPORTS.

4. WHEN HE REACHED THE TOPIC OF THE UNHCR, PEREYRA'S INDIGNATION WAS BARELY CONTROLLED. HE SAID THAT ARGENTINA HAD PROVIDED A REFUGE FOR OVER 500,000 ALIENS SINCE 1973, MOST OF THEM CHILEANS. THE COUNTRY HAD MADE AN ENORMOUS EFFORT TO DEAL WITH THIS PROBLEM, AND THE EFFORT WAS TOTALLY UNRECOGNIZED. HE SAID THAT THE UNHCR HAD, ON ITS OWN, CHOSEN SOME OF THESE ILLEGAL ALIENS TO BE SUPPORTED IN THE STATUS OF REFUGEES AND CLAIMED THE RIGHT TO REPRESENT THEM BEFORE THE GOA. HE NOTED THAT ARGENTINA DID NOT RECOGNIZE ANY STANDING OF THE UNHCR ON BEHALF OF LATIN AMERICANS SINCE ARGENTINA HAD APPROVED IT'S ACTIVITIES WITH A HEMISPHERIC RESERVATION. HE SAID THAT THE UNHCR CLAIMED STATUS MERELY ON THE BASIS OF A UN RESOLUTION, AND ASKED IF THE US WAS PREPARED TO ABIDE BY EVERY RESOLUTION PASSED BY THE UN. HE MADE THE ANALOGY OF THE UNHCR ATTMEPTING TO REPRESENT ALL THE ILLEGAL MEXICAN IMMIGRANTS IN THE US. AS FOR HIS OWN CONCERN FOR THE ABDUCTED CHILEANS, PEREYRA STRESSED THAT HE, HIMSELF, HAD TURNED OUT IN THE MIDDLE OF THE NIGHT ON FIRST HEARING OF THE INCIDENT AND HAD PERSONALLY ARRANGED FOR STATIONING POLICE AT 25 LODGING PLACES HOUSING CHILEAN REFUGEES.

5. IN A REVIEW OF EVENTS AT THE OASGA, PEREYRA EXPRESSED SATISFACTION OVER HIS CONCLUSION THAT SECRETARY KISSINGER WAS REALISTIC AND UNDERSTOOD THE GOA PROBLEMS. ON HUMAN RIGHTS. HE STATED THAT THE SECRETARY HAD QUOTED FROM HERODOTUS A REFERENCE TO REFUGEES TAKING OVER THE CITY THAT GAVE THEM REFUGE, AND THIS INDICATED HIS IMPLICIT AGREEMENT WITH THE GOA'S POSITION.

6. COMMENT: PEREYRA WAS NOT DISPOSED TO GIVE ONE INCH ON THE ISSUE OF HUMAN RIGHTS. WHILE HE DISPLAYS ALMOST ALL ASPECTS OF THE SEIGE MENTALITY, CHARGE CREDITS HIM WITH SINCERITY IN HIS EXPRESSION OF CONCERN OVER HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. IF GOA IS IN FACT UNABLE TO CONTROL SECURITY FORCES HE HAS GREAT JUSTIFICATION FOR CONCERN.

Although the Argentinian authorities have instructed all foreigners to regist the majority have not done so for fear of reprisals. On 10 June, a list of refugees was stolen from the refugee agency in Buenos Aires. The next day, 25 (mainly Chilean) were abducted from two hotels in Buenos Aires. They were fre. 24 hours later, but all had been tortured. Protection therefore, even for recognized refugees is totally inadequate.

Some of the refugees are accused of having no documents or false ones. As many have had to flee their native country because of political persecution, they are unable to obtain the necessary papers. In other cases, governments refuse to renew the passports of political exiles, which effectively means that they are stranded in Argentina.

Prisoners are often allegedly tortured at the investigation stage. From information received, it would seem that once detainees are transferred to Villa Devoto, they are not in actual danger.

The detained Chileans are in a comparably better condition that the Argentinians. They are not in isolation, but are not allowed visitors. Food appears to be passable.

This list should be used in conjunction with Amnesty International Circular NS 103/76 - The Situation of Refugees in Argentina.

SUBJ: CHILEAN REACTION TO SECRETARY'S TRIP
REF: (A) STATE 141319 (B) SANTIAGO 5750

1. FROM THE BILATERAL POINT OF VIEW, THE SECRETARY'S SANTIAGO VISIT WAS MOST HELPFUL. THE HUMAN RIGHTS EMPHASIS, THOUGH PERFECTLY CLEAR, WAS CAST IN TERMS WHICH DID NOT ANTAGONIZE THE CHILEANS. THE SECRETARY'S PUBLIC STATEMENT TO THE OASGA (PARTICULARLY THE SENTENCE ON THE "IMPAIRMENT" OF US-CHILEAN RELATIONS) AND, AS FAR AS WE KNOW, HIS PRIVATE COMMENTS TO PINOCHET AND OTHERS WERE BALANCED BUT FIRM. FROM OUR CONTACTS WITH CHILEAN LEADERS WE SENSE THAT THE MESSAGE GOT THROUGH: THEY UNDERSTAND THAT THE U.S. DOMESTIC ASPECT OF THE CHILEAN HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEM IS REAL AND NOT A CHIMERA OF CONGRESSIONAL EXTREMISTS; THAT THE USG DESIRES MORE PRODUCTIVE RELATIONS WITH THE GOC; AND THAT IT IS NOW UP TO CHILE TO CREATE THE CONDITIONS FOR THEM.

2. THE ISSUE NOW IS SHALL ADHERE TO THE GUIDANCE GIVEN IN THE SECRETARY'S MEXICO PRESS CONFERENCE, WITHHOLDING JUDGMENT UNTIL THE GOC PROMULGATES AND IMPLEMENTS ITS NEW CONSTITUTIONAL ACT ON HUMAN RIGHTS. THAT ACT MAY BE USEFUL, BUT NO MATTER HOW SWEEPING ITS LANGUAGE, IT WILL MEAN LITTLE UNLESS IT IS PUT INTO EFFECT QUICKLY AND -- CONTRARY TO OUR PRESENT EXPECTATIONS -- IS EFFECTIVE EVEN DURING THE CURRENT STATE OF EMERGENCY.

3. THE PROSPECTS IN THIS REGARD HAVE UNFORTUNATELY BEEN DIMMED BY THE HARSH TERMS OF THE SECURITY ASSISTANCE BILL. WE WILL SHORTLY REPORT ON HOW AND TO WHAT EXTENT IT DAMAGES THE OUTLOOK.

4. MEANWHILE, AS THE LEFTIST OPPOSITON CONDEMNS THE SECRETARY FOR STRENGTHENING THE JUNTA, A CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC LEADER HAS TOLD US THAT SENIOR PARTY LEADERSHIP WAS QUITE HAPPY WITH THE SECRETARY'S POSITION. IT IS NO MEAN FEAT TO PLEASE BOTH THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT AND ITS DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION AT THE SAME TIME.

5. THIS MESSAGE SHOU
5750, ON THE RECEPTION ACCORDED THE SECRETARY IN CHILE. HIS VISIT WAS THE CLIMACTIC ELEMENT IN CHILE'S SUCCESS IN STAGING THE OASGA. IN SOUTH AMERICA, IF NOT EVERYWHERE OUTSIDE IT, THE CHILEANS BELIEVE THEY HAVE MADE IT PLAIN THAT THEY CAN BE CONSIDERED AS A FULL AND RESPECTABLE MEMBER OF THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY.

SUMMARY: THREE CENTRAL ISSUES -- HUMAN RIGHTS, ECONOMIC RELATIONS, AND OAS REFORM -- CONFRONTED YI OASGA, AND CHOICE OF SANTIAGO AS SITE FOR MEETING MADE IT INEVITABLE THAT HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUE WOULD DOMINATE. CHILE'S REPUTATION FOR SYSTEMATIC VIOLATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS, INCLUDING UNHRC CHARGE OF "INSTITUTIONALIZED TORTURE", MADE IT CERTAIN THAT OAS WOULD HAVE TO FACE ISSUE SQUARELY OR LEAVE SANTIAGO WITH ITS OWN REPUTATION TARNISHED. BEYOND SENSITIVE ISSUE OF HUMAN RIGHTS, COMPLEX SUBJECTS OF COOPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT AND OAS CHARTER REFORM PROVIDED BROAD SCOPE FOR NEGOTIATION AND POTENTIAL FOR FIREWORKS. POSSIBILITY OF LOSING SUBSTANTIAL GROUND IN HEMISPHERIC ARENA OF NORTH-SOUTH DIALOGUE OR CONFRONTATION OVER BASIC UNDERPINNINGS OF OAS WERE MUCH IN MINDS OF USDEL DURING CONFERENCE PREPARATIONS. DECISION TO AVOID PURELY REACTIVE STANCE AND TO PUT FORWARD INITIATIVES OF OUR OWN ON EACH OF THE CENTRAL ISSUES GAVE USDEL MORE ACTIVIST AND FORTHRIGHT ROLE THAN LATINS HAVE BEEN USED TO IN OAS FORUMS. RESULT WAS NOT ONLY A STRENGTHENED US NEGOTIATING STANCE, BUT ALSO, IT SEEMS TO US, A PERCEPTIVE REDUCTION IN LATIN AMERICAN CYNICISM REGARDING USEFULNESS OF THE ORGANIZATION. KEY ELEMENT OF STRATEGY WAS SECRETARY'S ATTENDANCE AND ABILITY TO CONVEY ESSENCE OF US POSITIONS IN SERIES OF PERSUASIVE STATEMENTS ON EACH OF THREE MAIN ISSUES. OBJECT WAS TO SET TONE FOR LATER COMMITTEE WORK, DEFUSE POTENTIALLY EXPLOSIVE SIDE ISSUES (TRADE ACT, PANAMA CANAL, INES, ETC.) AND LAY GROUNDWORK FOR FINAL RESOLUTIONS REFLECTING BASIC US GOALS.

HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE AND ELSEWHERE IN THE AMERICAS PROVED TOUCHIEST SUBJECT OF GA, AS ANTICIPATED. UNLIKE OTHER YEARS, HOWEVER, IT WAS SUBJECT OF FRANK EXCHANGE AMONG FONMINS, SERIOUS NEGOTIATIONS AT COMMITTEE LEVEL AND BROADLY SUPPORTED RESOLUTIONS ENDORSING WORK OF IAHRC AND DEMONSTRATING BASIC COMMITMENT OF US TO CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN THIS HEMISPHERE. CHILE, WHICH TOOK CALCULATED RISK IN SPONSORING GA, SAW ITSELF VINDICATED BY NEARLY UNIVERSAL ATTENDANCE OF FONMINS, BALANCED TREATMENT OF CHILE'S FAULTS AND PROGRESS IN DEBATE AND RESOLUTIONS, AND NET GAIN FOR ITS INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL IMAGE. MANY DELEGATES EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT PUBLIC SCRUTINY BY OAS, ESPECIALLY CHILE PUBLICATION OF FULL REPORT OF IAHRC AND GOC'S REPLY IN PRESS, MARKED SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS TOWARD REESTABLISHMENT OF FREEDOM HERE.

COOPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT WAS TREATED IN SECRETARY'S LENGTHY STATEMENT IN PRIVATE DIALOGUE THAT WAS GREETED AS POSITIVE CONTRIBUTION BY MAJORITY OF OAS FONMINS. PUB-

[redacted]

LISHED VERSION OF SOME 27 PAGES WILL BE ONE OF BASIC DOCUMENTS FOR SPECIAL GENERAL ASSEMBLY ON DEVELOPMENT AGREED TO IN PRINCIPLE FOR 1977. ECUADOR'S RESOLUTION ATTACKING US TRADE ACT WAS TURNED ASIDE BY COMBINATION OF LA/CARIBBEAN DELEGATIONS, STRONGLY ENCOURAGED BY USDEL, AND WAS REPLACED BY MILDER VERSION THAT REFLECTS MORE HARMONIOUS INTER-AMERICAN RELATIONSHIP ESTABLISHED IN COURSE OF THIS GA.

PERVASIVE QUESTION OF FUTURE OF OAS, EMBEDDED IN THREE-YEAR LONG PARLAY OVER CHARTER REFORM, WAS RESOLVED TEMPORARILY BY USDEL RESOLUTION TO HOLD SPECIAL GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN LIMA AN UNSPECIFIED DATE BUT AUTHORIZING THE PERMANENT COUNCIL TO PRECEDE THE SPECIAL GA BY SOME FORM OF HIGH LEVEL REVIEW OF THE DRAFT CHARTER AND OTHER PROPOSALS AT A TIME AND PLACE DECIDED BY THE PC. COMPROMISE ON STUDY PANEL VERSUS FIXED DATE FOR SPECIAL GA AVOIDED POTENTIALLY EMBARRASSING SHOWDOWN HERE AND PROVIDES ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY FOR CONFLICTING VIEWPOINTS TO BE RECONCILED BEFORE PROTOCOL OF AMENDMENT STAGE IS REACHED. AMONG BASIC DOCUMENTS FOR POSSIBLE INTERMEDIATE STUDY PHASE WILL BE SECRETARY'S OUTLINE OF VIEWS ON MEASURES TO REVITALIZE THE OAS.

OVERALL CONCLUSIONS OF USDEL AS VI GA CONCLUDES ITS DELIBERATIONS ARE THAT HERE IN SANTIAGO OAS HAS MADE SOLID PROGRESS TOWARD REESTABLISHING ITS IDENTITY AS AN IMPORTANT FORUM FOR PRESENTATION OF MEMBER STATES' CANDID VIEWS ON INTER-AMERICAN ISSUES. NO STATE PROVED MORE WILLING TO SPEAK OUT AND ENGAGE IN FRANK DIALOGUE THAN USA, TO RELIEF OF MAN ELEMENTS OF OAS, BOTH MEMBER STATE DELEGATIONS AND SECRETARIAT, WHO THOUGHT WE HAD ABANDONED INTEREST IN ITS PRESENT AND FUTURE. PERHAPS MOST NOTABLE FEATURES OF VI OASGA WERE OPEN AND SERIOUS DEBATE OF HUMAN RIGHTS, NEITHER UNANTICIPATED NOR RESENTED BY CHILE, AND UN-CHARACTERISTIC LACK OF DISCORD ON CORE POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC ISSUES OF THIS HEMISPHERE. END SUMMARY

1. HUMAN RIGHTS: GIVEN THE LOCALE OF THE GA, THIS WAS CERTAIN TO BE THE MOST CONTROVERSIAL ISSUE. OUR STRATEGY WAS TO MAINTAIN UNITY OF PURPOSE WITH THE DEMOCRATICALLY-INCLINED LA AND CARIBBEAN STATES, PARTICULARLY VENEZUELA

[redacted]

[redacted]

AND COLOMBIA. USDEL'S STRATEGY WAS TO MEET THE CHILE ISSUE SQUARELY, STATE OUR CONVICTIONS IN TERMS OF UNIVERSAL/INTER-AMERICAN DECLARATIONS, SUSTAIN THE IAHRC REPORTS, AND ADVOCATE PRACTICAL MEASURES TO STRENGTHEN IAHRC. STRAIGHTFORWARD EXPRESSION OF VIEWS BY SECRETARY DURING INFORMAL DIALOGUE PUT USDEL SQUARELY ON RECORD AS SUPPORTER OF IAHRC, SPECIFICALLY ITS ANNUAL REPORT AND SPECIAL REPORT ON CHILE WHICH RECOGNIZED GOC'S EFFORTS TO RECTIFY BAD SITUATION, CALLED UPON ALL MEMBER GOVERNMENTS TO COOPERATE WITH IAHRC, AND ADVOCATED BROADENING AND STRENGTHENING OF IAHRC MANDATE TO REPORT ON STATUS OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN ALL HEMISHPERE COUNTRIES. THIS WAS LINE USDEL PURSUED IN LATER COMMITTEE WORK AND IN CORRIDOR COVERSATIONS. KEY ARENA WAS WORKING GROUP SET UP BY COMMITTEE I (POLITICAL/JURIDICAL AFFAIRS) TO ARRIVE AT SPECIFIC LANGUAGE OF RESOOLUTIONS ON THREE HUMAN RIGHTS AGENDA ITEMS -- IAHRC ANNUAL REPORT, SPECIAL REPORT ON CHILE, AND CHILEAN PROPOSALS TO REGULATE PROCEDURES OF IAHRC.

2. BASIC CONFLICT BETWEEN CONSERVATIVE/LIBERAL REGIMES, EVIDENT IN PUBLIC DEBATE IN COMMITTEE I, MIRRORED IN LATE-NIGHT DELIBERATIONS OF WORKING GROUP THAT PITTED COLOMBIA/TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO AGAINST BRAZIL/URUGUAY/HONDURAS. ALTHOUGH NOT A MEMBER, USDEL REPRESENTATIVE ATTENDED WORKING GROUP SESSIONS AND SUPPORTED PRO-HUMAN RIGHTS VIEWPOINT. RESULT WAS THREE SEPARATE RESOLUTIONS THAT STRENGTHENED HAND OF IAHRC, RECOGNIZED CHILE'S EFFORTS TO IMPROVE, RENEWED MANDATE OF IAHRC TO CONTINUE MONITORING PROGRESS ELSEWHERE AND IN CHILE, AND SENT CHILEAN PROPOSALS FOR RESTRICTIONS ON IAHRC TO PERMANENT COUNCIL TO STUDY AND REPORT TO NEXT OASGA. VENEZUELA, COLOMBIA, AND US SUPPORTED SOFTER RESOLUTION ON CHILE CASE ONLY ON CONDITION THAT CHILE NOT VOTE FAVORABLY ON RESOLUTION.

3. EXCEPT FOR RESOLUTION ON CHILE, ON WHICH CHILE AND BRAZIL ABSTAINED AND JAMAICA SWITCHED IN PLENARY FROM YEA TO NAY, VOTES WERE UNANIMOUS. ACCORDING TO IAHRC PRESIDENT AGUILAR AND US MEMBER AMBASSADOR WOODWARD, FULL DEBATE OF SENSITIVE QUESTION AND NEAR-UNANIMOUS APPROVAL OF RESOLUTIONS CONSTITUTED STRONG ENDORSEMENT OF COMMISSION'S WORK TO DATE AND SOLID MANDATE FOR RENEWED EFFORT TO INCREASE RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS IN THIS HEMISPHERE. THEY SALUTED COURAGEOUS STAND OF SECRETARY AND STAFF WORK OF USDEL FOR ACHIEVEMENT OF REAL BREAKTHROUGH IN OAS TREATMENT OF THIS SENSITIVE AND VITAL TOPIC. CHILEAN DELEGATION, MEANWHILE, WAS NOT DISPLEASED WITH OUTCOME WHICH WAS PRESENTED BY CONTROLLED PRESS AS CHILEAN DELEGATION, MEANWHILE, WAS NOT DISPLEASED WITH OUTCOME WHICH WAS PRESENTED BY CONTROLLED PRESS AS CHILEAN VICTORY AND AS VINDICATION OF GOC'S EFFORTS TO

[redacted]

CHANGE CHILE'S IMAGE IN THE AMERICAS.

4. COOPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT: OUR STRATEGY WAS TO DEMONSTRATE CONTINUING COMMITMENT OF USG TO ECONOMIC PROGRESS IN LATIN AMERICA, RELATE THE SECRETARY'S UNCTAD PROPOSALS TO THE OAS FRAMEWORK, SUPPORT CONVOCATION OF A SPECIAL GA ON DEVELOPMENT AND, ABOVE ALL, MOVE DIALOGUE ON COOPERATION FROM POLITICAL/IDEOLOGICAL PLANE TO A TECHNICAL/OPERATIONAL LEVEL. HERE AGAIN, SECRETARY'S ROLE WAS CRUCIAL IN SETTING STAGE FOR AMICABLE TREATMENT OF KEY ECONOMIC ISSUES IN COURSE OF NEXT 10 DAYS OF COMMITTEE WORK. AGREEMENT IN PRINCIPLE WAS ACHIEVED TO HOLD SPECIAL GA ON COOPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT, DATE AND PLACE TO BE SET BY PERMANENT COUNCIL, IN WHICH THE SECRETARY'S PROPOSALS WILL BE DEALT WITH IN BROAD CONSIDERATION OF NORTH-SOUTH ISSUES IN GENERAL AND SPECIAL US-LA RELATIONSHIP IN PARTICULAR.

5. OASGA PASSED SET OF RESOLUTIONS THAT ESTABLISHED MACHINERY FOR EXAMINATION OF VARIOUS PROPOSALS -- INCLUDING THE SECRETARY'S AS WELL AS LIEVANO AND FACIO PLANS FOR SPECIAL U.S. TRADE PREFERENCES FOR LATIN AMERICA -- LEADING TO CONSIDERATION AT SPECIAL GA ON DEVELOPMENT, ANTICIPATED FOR SOME TIME IN SPRING OF 1977. TWO AREAS WERE GIVEN SPECIAL TREATMENT: (A) BY TERMS OF RESOLUTION ORIGINALLY SUBMITTED BY DOMINICAN REPUBLIC, RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT FINANCING (INTERNATIONAL RESOURCES BANK PROPOSAL, WITHOUT STIPULATION WHETHER REGIONAL OR WORLDWIDE) WAS REFERRED TO CEPCIES FOR A STUDY, DRAWING UPON ADVICE OF IDB, AND (B) RECOMMENDATIONS ON TECHNOLOGY COOPERATION WILL BE DEVELOPED BY SPECIAL WORKING GROUP ACCORDING TO TERMS OF CHILEAN-SPONSORED RESOLUTION.

6. TWO OTHER ECONOMIC SUBJECTS EMERGED FROM FONMINS' PRIVATE AGENDA AS FOCUS FOR COMMITTEE II DISCUSSIONS: RESOLUTION EXPRESSING REGRET FOR ECUADOR/VENEZUELA EXCLUSION FROM GSP UNDER 1974 TRADE ACT, AND SPECIAL TREATMENT FOR MOST SERIOUSLY AFFECTED, MIDDLE-INCOME, AND LANDLOCKED COUNTRIES OF HEMISPHERE. WORKING GROUP ON TRADE ACT RESOLUTION HELD FOUR LENGTHY SESSIONS

[redacted]

BEFORE COMBINATION OF MODERATE LA/CARIBBEAN DELEGATIONS, WITH STRONG PROMPTING FROM USDEL, ERODED SUPPORT FOR PUNITIVE ECUADOREAN LANGUAGE AND ISOLATED GOE DELEGATION. VENEZUELAN DELEGATION CONCURRED WITH US POSITION THAT CONFRONTATIONAL TRADE ACT RESOLUTION COULD SOUR NEW CLIMATE OF US-LA COOPERATION THAT DEVELOPED OUT OF FONMINS' PRIVATE DIALOGUE AND TO WHICH SECRETARY'S MESSAGE MADE SIGNAL CONTRIBUTION. OFFENSIVE RHRASING WAS GRADUALLY STRIPPED AWAY, US AND LA POSITIONS CLEARLY LABELED, AND OPERATIVE CLAUSES BROUGHT GENERALLY INTO LINE WITH PAST US STATEMENTS. ONCE TEXT WAS AGREED TO IN WORKING GROUP, RESOLUTION WAS ACCEPTED WITHOUT COMMENT BY COMMITTEE II AND PLENARY. SITUATIONS OF MOST SERIOUSLY AFFECTED, MIDDLE INCOME AND LANDLOCKED COUNTRIES DEALT WITH BY NOW-TRADITIONAL SET OF RESOLUTIONS POINTING TO NEED FOR SPECIAL ATTENTION TO THEIR PROBLEMS.

7. OAS REFORM. OUR STRATEGY WAS TO WRENCH THE OAS OUT OF ITS STEADY DESCENT INTO IRRELEVANCE BY PRESENTING A STRONG CASE THAT USG INTEREST LIES IN A REVITALIZED OAS WITH LEADERSHIP LEVELS IN FREQUENT CONTACT AND PRESENT BUREAUCRATIC CLUTTER ELIMINATED. SECRETARY WAS UNABLE TO ADDRESS OAS REFORM PERSONALLY IN INFORMAL DIALOGUE BUT LEFT BEHIND BRIEF MEMORANDUM OUTLINING HIS RECOMMENDATIONS FOR STRUCTURAL AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS IN ORGANIZATION. SINCE WE BEGAN THE EFFORT LAST FALL AND WINTER TO REFOCUS ATTENTION OF MEMBER GOVERNMENTS ON INADEQUACIES OF CHARTER TEXT ABOUT TO EMERGE FROM PERMANENT COUNCIL, A NUMBER OF GOVERNMENTS EXPRESSED INTEREST IN OUR IDEAS, AND WE CAME TO SANTIAGO HOPING TO ENGINEER REFERRAL OF THE PC DRAFT TO SOME FORM OF INTERMEDIATE STUDY PANEL. WE WERE ALREADY ON RECORD AGREEING TO THE CONVOCATION OF A SPECIAL GA ON CHARTER REFORM IN LIMA AT AN UNSPECIFIED DATE, SO THE OBJECTIVE WAS TO WIN AGREEMENT FOR RECONSIDERATION OF THE PRESENT DRAFT IN LIGHT OF OUR PROPOSALS SOMETIME BEFORE GOING TO LIMA.

8. GENERAL COMMITTEE MET JUNE 14 TO CONSIDER NEXT STEPS IN OAS REFORM. PERU PRESENTED RESOLUTION INSTRUCTING

[redacted]

PC TO COMPLETE WORK ON PRESENT DRAFT AND FORWARD IT, TOGETHER WITH OTHER PROPOSALS (E.G., THE SECRETARY'S MEMORANDUM) TO MEMBER-STATE GOVERNMENTS FOR COMMENT PRIOR TO CONVENING OF SPECIAL GA IN LIMA. SUPPORTED WEAKLY BY URUGUAY, USDEL ARGUED NEED FOR SOME INTERMEDIATE STUDY OF PC DRAFT BEFORE CONVOCATION OF LIMA GA. PERU ACCEDED TO REWORDING OF ITS DRAFT RESOLUTION, AND RESULTING TEXT, UNANIMOUSLY APPROVED BY GENERAL COMMITTEE AND PLENARY, INSTRUCTS PC TO COMPLETE WORK ON ITS TEXT AND, IF MEMBER GOVERNMENTS DEEM IT NECESSARY, TO CONVOKE "A MEETING OF SPECIAL HIGH-LEVEL REPRESENTATIVES TO REVIEW AND SEEK TO RECONCILE DIFFERENT POINTS OF VIEW AND TO SUBMIT RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE SPECIAL GENERAL ASSEMBLY." ARGENTINA, TRINIDAD/TOBAGO, URUGUAY, NICARAGUA AND CHILE SPOKE OF CLEAR NEED FOR INTERMEDIATE REVIEW BECAUSE OF GENERAL AGREEMENT THAT NEW OAS CHARGER SHOULD BE ONE ALL MEMBERS CAN ACCEPT. OTHER DELEGATIONS SUGGESTED THAT STUDY PANEL WAS MERE CONTINGENCY BUT ALL AGREED TO CHANGE IN WORDING THAT MET MINIMAL US REQUIREMENTS.

9. EVEN SO, REFORM IDEAS SUGGESTED IN SECRETARY'S MEMORANDUM DID NOT PRODUCE GROUNDSWELL OF SUPPPORT HERE. THIS IS UNDERSTANDABLE AS AFTER INFORMAL DIALOGUE CONCLUDED MOST FOREIGN MINISTERS DEPARTED AND WE WERE LEFT WITH THE PERMANENT COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVES MEETING AS THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

BEYOND SENSITIVE ISSUE OF HUMAN RIGHTS, COMPLEX SUBJECTS OF COOPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT AND OAS CHARTER REFORM PROVIDED BROAD SCOPE FOR NEGOTIATION AND POTENTIAL FOR FIREWORKS. POSSIBILITY OF LOSING SUBSTANTIAL GROUND IN HEMISPHERIC ARENA OF NORTH-SOUTH DIALOGUE OR CONFRONTATION OVER BASIC UNDERPINNINGS OF OAS WERE MUCH IN MINDS OF USDEL DURING CONFERENCE PREPARATIONS. DECISION TO AVOID PURELY REACTIVE STANCE AND TO PUT FORWARD INITIATIVES OF OUR OWN ON EACH OF THE CENTRAL ISSUES GAVE USDEL MORE ACTIVIST AND FORTHRIGHT ROLE THAN LATINS HAVE BEEN USED TO IN OAS FORUMS. RESULT WAS NOT ONLY A STRENGTHENED US NEGOTIATING STANCE, BUT ALSO, IT SEEMS TO US, A PERCEPTIVE REDUCTION IN LATIN AMERICAN CYNICISM REGARDING USEFULNESS OF THE ORGANIZATION. KEY ELEMENT OF STRATEGY WAS SECRETARY'S ATTENDANCE AND ABILITY TO CONVEY ESSENCE OF US POSITIONS IN SERIES OF PERSUASIVE STATEMENTS ON EACH OF THREE MAIN ISSUES. OBJECT WAS TO SET TONE FOR LATER COMMITTEE WORK, DEFUSE POTENTIALLY EXPLOSIVE SIDE ISSUES (TRADE ACT, PANAMA CANAL, INES, ETC.) AND LAY GROUNDWORK FOR FINAL RESOLUTIONS REFLECTING BASIC US GOALS.

HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE AND ELSEWHERE IN THE AMERICAS PROVED TOUCHIEST SUBJECT OF GA, AS ANTICIPATED. UNLIKE OTHER YEARS, HOWEVER, IT WAS SUBJECT OF FRANK EXCHANGE AMONG FONMINS, SERIOUS NEGOTIATIONS AT COMMITTEE LEVEL AND BROADLY SUPPORTED RESOLUTIONS ENDORSING WORK OF IAHRC AND DEMONSTRATING BASIC COMMITMENT OF US TO CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN THIS HEMISPHERE. CHILE, WHICH TOOK CALCULATED RISK IN SPONSORING GA, SAW ITSELF VINDICATED BY NEARLY UNIVERSAL ATTENDANCE OF FONMINS, BALANCED TREATMENT OF CHILE'S FAULTS AND PROGRESS IN DEBATE AND RESOLUTIONS, AND NET GAIN FOR ITS INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL IMAGE. MANY DELEGATES EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT PUBLIC SCRUTINY BY OAS, ESPECIALLY CHILE PUBLICATION OF FULL REPORT OF IAHRC AND GOC'S REPLY IN PRESS, MARKED SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS TOWARD REESTABLISHMENT OF FREEDOM HERE.

COOPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT WAS TREATED IN SECRETARY'S LENGTHY STATEMENT IN PRIVATE DIALOGUE THAT WAS GREETED AS POSITIVE CONTRIBUTION BY MAJORITY OF OAS FONMINS. PUB-

[redacted]

LISHED VERSION OF SOME 27 PAGES WILL BE ONE OF BASIC DOCUMENTS FOR SPECIAL GENERAL ASSEMBLY ON DEVELOPMENT AGREED TO IN PRINCIPLE FOR 1977. ECUADOR'S RESOLUTION ATTACKING US TRADE ACT WAS TURNED ASIDE BY COMBINATION OF LA/CARIBBEAN DELEGATIONS, STRONGLY ENCOURAGED BY USDEL, AND WAS REPLACED BY MILDER VERSION THAT REFLECTS MORE HARMONIOUS INTER-AMERICAN RELATIONSHIP ESTABLISHED IN COURSE OF THIS GA.

PERVASIVE QUESTION OF FUTURE OF OAS, EMBEDDED IN THREE-YEAR LONG PARLAY OVER CHARTER REFORM, WAS RESOLVED TEMPORARILY BY USDEL RESOLUTION TO HOLD SPECIAL GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN LIMA AN UNSPECIFIED DATE BUT AUTHORIZING THE PERMANENT COUNCIL TO PRECEDE THE SPECIAL GA BY SOME FORM OF HIGH LEVEL REVIEW OF THE DRAFT CHARTER AND OTHER PROPOSALS AT A TIME AND PLACE DECIDED BY THE PC. COMPROMISE ON STUDY PANEL VERSUS FIXED DATE FOR SPECIAL GA AVOIDED POTENTIALLY EMBARRASSING SHOWDOWN HERE AND PROVIDES ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY FOR CONFLICTING VIEWPOINTS TO BE RECONCILED BEFORE PROTOCOL OF AMENDMENT STAGE IS REACHED. AMONG BASIC DOCUMENTS FOR POSSIBLE INTERMEDIATE STUDY PHASE WILL BE SECRETARY'S OUTLINE OF VIEWS ON MEASURES TO REVITALIZE THE OAS.

OVERALL CONCLUSIONS OF USDEL AS VI GA CONCLUDES ITS DELIBERATIONS ARE THAT HERE IN SANTIAGO OAS HAS MADE SOLID PROGRESS TOWARD REESTABLISHING ITS IDENTITY AS AN IMPORTANT FORUM FOR PRESENTATION OF MEMBER STATES' CANDID VIEWS ON INTER-AMERICAN ISSUES. NO STATE PROVED MORE WILLING TO SPEAK OUT AND ENGAGE IN FRANK DIALOGUE THAN USA, TO RELIEF OF MAN ELEMENTS OF OAS, BOTH MEMBER STATE DELEGATIONS AND SECRETARIAT, WHO THOUGHT WE HAD ABANDONED INTEREST IN ITS PRESENT AND FUTURE. PERHAPS MOST NOTABLE FEATURES OF VI OASGA WERE OPEN AND SERIOUS DEBATE OF HUMAN RIGHTS, NEITHER UNANTICIPATED NOR RESENTED BY CHILE, AND UNCHARACTERISTIC LACK OF DISCORD ON CORE POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC ISSUES OF THIS HEMISPHERE. END SUMMARY

1. HUMAN RIGHTS: GIVEN THE LOCALE OF THE GA, THIS WAS CERTAIN TO BE THE MOST CONTROVERSIAL ISSUE. OUR STRATEGY WAS TO MAINTAIN UNITY OF PURPOSE WITH THE DEMOCRATICALLY-INCLINED LA AND CARIBBEAN STATES, PARTICULARLY VENEZUELA

[redacted]

AND COLOMBIA. USDEL'S STRATEGY WAS TO MEET THE CHILE ISSUE SQUARELY, STATE OUR CONVICTIONS IN TERMS OF UNIVERSAL/INTER-AMERICAN DECLARATIONS, SUSTAIN THE IAHRC REPORTS, AND ADVOCATE PRACTICAL MEASURES TO STRENGTHEN IAHRC. STRAIGHTFORWARD EXPRESSION OF VIEWS BY SECRETARY DURING INFORMAL DIALOGUE PUT USDEL SQUARELY ON RECORD AS SUPPORTER OF IAHRC, SPECIFICALLY ITS ANNUAL REPORT AND SPECIAL REPORT ON CHILE WHICH RECOGNIZED GOC'S EFFORTS TO RECTIFY BAD SITUATION, CALLED UPON ALL MEMBER GOVERNMENTS TO COOPERATE WITH IAHRC, AND ADVOCATED BROADENING AND STRENGTHENING OF IAHRC MANDATE TO REPORT ON STATUS OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN ALL HEMISHPERE COUNTRIES. THIS WAS LINE USDEL PURSUED IN LATER COMMITTEE WORK AND IN CORRIDOR COVERSATIONS. KEY ARENA WAS WORKING GROUP SET UP BY COMMITTEE I (POLITICAL/JURIDICAL AFFAIRS) TO ARRIVE AT SPECIFIC LANGUAGE OF RESOOLUTIONS ON THREE HUMAN RIGHTS AGENDA ITEMS -- IAHRC ANNUAL REPORT, SPECIAL REPORT ON CHILE, AND CHILEAN PROPOSALS TO REGULATE PROCEDURES OF IAHRC.

2. BASIC CONFLICT BETWEEN CONSERVATIVE/LIBERAL REGIMES, EVIDENT IN PUBLIC DEBATE IN COMMITTEE I, MIRRORED IN LATE-NIGHT DELIBERATIONS OF WORKING GROUP THAT PITTED COLOMBIA/TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO AGAINST BRAZIL/URUGUAY/HONDURAS. ALTHOUGH NOT A MEMBER, USDEL REPRESENTATIVE ATTENDED WORKING GROUP SESSIONS AND SUPPORTED PRO-HUMAN RIGHTS VIEWPOINT. RESULT WAS THREE SEPARATE RESOLUTIONS THAT STRENGTHENED HAND OF IAHRC, RECOGNIZED CHILE'S EFFORTS TO IMPROVE, RENEWED MANDATE OF IAHRC TO CONTINUE MONITORING PROGRESS ELSEWHERE AND IN CHILE, AND SENT CHILEAN PROPOSALS FOR RESTRICTIONS ON IAHRC TO PERMANENT COUNCIL TO STUDY AND REPORT TO NEXT OASGA. VENEZUELA, COLOMBIA, AND US SUPPORTED SOFTER RESOLUTION ON CHILE CASE ONLY ON CONDITION THAT CHILE NOT VOTE FAVORABLY ON RESOLUTION.

3. EXCEPT FOR RESOLUTION ON CHILE, ON WHICH CHILE AND BRAZIL ABSTAINED AND JAMAICA SWITCHED IN PLENARY FROM YEA TO NAY, VOTES WERE UNANIMOUS. ACCORDING TO IAHRC PRESIDENT AGUILAR AND US MEMBER AMBASSADOR WOODWARD, FULL DEBATE OF SENSITIVE QUESTION AND NEAR-UNANIMOUS APPROVAL OF RESOLUTIONS CONSTITUTED STRONG ENDORSEMENT OF COMMISSION'S WORK TO DATE AND SOLID MANDATE FOR RENEWED EFFORT TO INCREASE RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS IN THIS HEMISPHERE. THEY SALUTED COURAGEOUS STAND OF SECRETARY AND STAFF WORK OF USDEL FOR ACHIEVEMENT OF REAL BREAKTHROUGH IN OAS TREATMENT OF THIS SENSITIVE AND VITAL TOPIC. CHILEAN DELEGATION, MEANWHILE, WAS NOT DISPLEASED WITH OUTCOME WHICH WAS PRESENTED BY CONTROLLED PRESS AS CHILEAN DELEGATION, MEANWHILE, WAS NOT DISPLEASED WITH OUTCOME WHICH WAS PRESENTED BY CONTROLLED PRESS AS CHILEAN VICTORY AND AS VINDICATION OF GOC'S EFFORTS TO

CHANGE CHILE'S IMAGE IN THE AMERICAS.

4. COOPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT: OUR STRATEGY WAS TO DEMONSTRATE CONTINUING COMMITMENT OF USG TO ECONOMIC PROGRESS IN LATIN AMERICA, RELATE THE SECRETARY'S UNCTAD PROPOSALS TO THE OAS FRAMEWORK, SUPPORT CONVOCATION OF A SPECIAL GA ON DEVELOPMENT AND, ABOVE ALL, MOVE DIALOGUE ON COOPERATION FROM POLITICAL/IDEOLOGICAL PLANE TO A TECHNICAL/OPERATIONAL LEVEL. HERE AGAIN, SECRETARY'S ROLE WAS CRUCIAL IN SETTING STAGE FOR AMICABLE TREATMENT OF KEY ECONOMIC ISSUES IN COURSE OF NEXT 10 DAYS OF COMMITTEE WORK. AGREEMENT IN PRINCIPLE WAS ACHIEVED TO HOLD SPECIAL GA ON COOPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT, DATE AND PLACE TO BE SET BY PERMANENT COUNCIL, IN WHICH THE SECRETARY'S PROPOSALS WILL BE DEALT WITH IN BROAD CONSIDERATION OF NORTH-SOUTH ISSUES IN GENERAL AND SPECIAL US-LA RELATIONSHIP IN PARTICULAR.

5. OASGA PASSED SET OF RESOLUTIONS THAT ESTABLISHED MACHINERY FOR EXAMINATION OF VARIOUS PROPOSALS -- INCLUDING THE SECRETARY'S AS WELL AS LIEVANO AND FACIO PLANS FOR SPECIAL U.S. TRADE PREFERENCES FOR LATIN AMERICA -- LEADING TO CONSIDERATION AT SPECIAL GA ON DEVELOPMENT, ANTICIPATED FOR SOME TIME IN SPRING OF 1977. TWO AREAS WERE GIVEN SPECIAL TREATMENT: (A) BY TERMS OF RESOLUTION ORIGINALLY SUBMITTED BY DOMINICAN REPUBLIC, RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT FINANCING (INTERNATIONAL RESOURCES BANK PROPOSAL, WITHOUT STIPULATION WHETHER REGIONAL OR WORLDWIDE) WAS REFERRED TO CEPCIES FOR A STUDY, DRAWING UPON ADVICE OF IDB, AND (B) RECOMMENDATIONS ON TECHNOLOGY COOPERATION WILL BE DEVELOPED BY SPECIAL WORKING GROUP ACCORDING TO TERMS OF CHILEAN-SPONSORED RESOLUTION.

6. TWO OTHER ECONOMIC SUBJECTS EMERGED FROM FONMINS' PRIVATE AGENDA AS FOCUS FOR COMMITTEE II DISCUSSIONS: RESOLUTION EXPRESSING REGRET FOR ECUADOR/VENEZUELA EXCLUSION FROM GSP UNDER 1974 TRADE ACT, AND SPECIAL TREATMENT FOR MOST SERIOUSLY AFFECTED, MIDDLE-INCOME, AND LANDLOCKED COUNTRIES OF HEMISPHERE. WORKING GROUP ON TRADE ACT RESOLUTION HELD FOUR LENGTHY SESSIONS

[redacted]

BEFORE COMBINATION OF MODERATE LA/CARIBBEAN DELEGATIONS, WITH STRONG PROMPTING FROM USDEL, ERODED SUPPORT FOR PUNITIVE ECUADOREAN LANGUAGE AND ISOLATED GOE DELEGATION. VENEZUELAN DELEGATION CONCURRED WITH US POSITION THAT CONFRONTATIONAL TRADE ACT RESOLUTION COULD SOUR NEW CLIMATE OF US-LA COOPERATION THAT DEVELOPED OUT OF FONMINS' PRIVATE DIALOGUE AND TO WHICH SECRETARY'S MESSAGE MADE SIGNAL CONTRIBUTION. OFFENSIVE PHRASING WAS GRADUALLY STRIPPED AWAY, US AND LA POSITIONS CLEARLY LABELED, AND OPERATIVE CLAUSES BROUGHT GENERALLY INTO LINE WITH PAST US STATEMENTS. ONCE TEXT WAS AGREED TO IN WORKING GROUP, RESOLUTION WAS ACCEPTED WITHOUT COMMENT BY COMMITTEE II AND PLENARY. SITUATIONS OF MOST SERIOUSLY AFFECTED, MIDDLE INCOME AND LANDLOCKED COUNTRIES DEALT WITH BY NOW-TRADITIONAL SET OF RESOLUTIONS POINTING TO NEED FOR SPECIAL ATTENTION TO THEIR PROBLEMS.

7. OAS REFORM. OUR STRATEGY WAS TO WRENCH THE OAS OUT OF ITS STEADY DESCENT INTO IRRELEVANCE BY PRESENTING A STRONG CASE THAT USG INTEREST LIES IN A REVITALIZED OAS WITH LEADERSHIP LEVELS IN FREQUENT CONTACT AND PRESENT BUREAUCRATIC CLUTTER ELIMINATED. SECRETARY WAS UNABLE TO ADDRESS OAS REFORM PERSONALLY IN INFORMAL DIALOGUE BUT LEFT BEHIND BRIEF MEMORANDUM OUTLINING HIS RECOMMENDATIONS FOR STRUCTURAL AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS IN ORGANIZATION. SINCE WE BEGAN THE EFFORT LAST FALL AND WINTER TO REFOCUS ATTENTION OF MEMBER GOVERNMENTS ON INADEQUACIES OF CHARTER TEXT ABOUT TO EMERGE FROM PERMANENT COUNCIL, A NUMBER OF GOVERNMENTS EXPRESSED INTEREST IN OUR IDEAS, AND WE CAME TO SANTIAGO HOPING TO ENGINEER REFERRAL OF THE PC DRAFT TO SOME FORM OF INTERMEDIATE STUDY PANEL. WE WERE ALREADY ON RECORD AGREEING TO THE CONVOCATION OF A SPECIAL GA ON CHARTER REFORM IN LIMA AT AN UNSPECIFIED DATE, SO THE OBJECTIVE WAS TO WIN AGREEMENT FOR RECONSIDERATION OF THE PRESENT DRAFT IN LIGHT OF OUR PROPOSALS SOMETIME BEFORE GOING TO LIMA.

8. GENERAL COMMITTEE MET JUNE 14 TO CONSIDER NEXT STEPS IN OAS REFORM. PERU PRESENTED RESOLUTION INSTRUCTING

[redacted]

PC TO COMPLETE WORK ON PRESENT DRAFT AND FORWARD IT, TOGETHER WITH OTHER PROPOSALS (E.G., THE SECRETARY'S MEMORANDUM) TO MEMBER-STATE GOVERNMENTS FOR COMMENT PRIOR TO CONVENING OF SPECIAL GA IN LIMA. SUPPORTED WEAKLY BY URUGUAY, USDEL ARGUED NEED FOR SOME INTERMEDIATE STUDY OF PC DRAFT BEFORE CONVOCATION OF LIMA GA. PERU ACCEDED TO REWORDING OF ITS DRAFT RESOLUTION, AND RESULTING TEXT, UNANIMOUSLY APPROVED BY GENERAL COMMITTEE AND PLENARY, INSTRUCTS PC TO COMPLETE WORK ON ITS TEXT AND, IF MEMBER GOVERNMENTS DEEM IT NECESSARY, TO CONVOKE "A MEETING OF SPECIAL HIGH-LEVEL REPRESENTATIVES TO REVIEW AND SEEK TO RECONCILE DIFFERENT POINTS OF VIEW AND TO SUBMIT RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE SPECIAL GENERAL ASSEMBLY." ARGENTINA, TRINIDAD/TOBAGO, URUGUAY, NICARAGUA AND CHILE SPOKE OF CLEAR NEED FOR INTERMEDIATE REVIEW BECAUSE OF GENERAL AGREEMENT THAT NEW OAS CHARGER SHOULD BE ONE ALL MEMBERS CAN ACCEPT. OTHER DELEGATIONS SUGGESTED THAT STUDY PANEL WAS MERE CONTINGENCY BUT ALL AGREED TO CHANGE IN WORDING THAT MET MINIMAL US REQUIREMENTS.

9. EVEN SO, REFORM IDEAS SUGGESTED IN SECRETARY'S MEMORANDUM DID NOT PRODUCE GROUNDSWELL OF SUPPPORT HERE. THIS IS UNDERSTANDABLE AS AFTER INFORMAL DIALOGUE CONCLUDED MOST FOREIGN MINISTERS DEPARTED AND WE WERE LEFT WITH THE PERMANENT COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVES MEETING AS THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

SUBJ: IRRESPONSIBLE CHARGES BY WILSON FERREIRA ALDUNATE

REF: USINFO MESSAGE 172034Z

1. USINFO MESSAGE 172034Z, COVERING WILSON FERREIRA ALDUNATE'S TESTIMONY BEFORE FRASER COMMITTEE, STATES HE SAID ZELMAR MICHELINI AND GUTIERREZ RUIZ, URUGUAYANS RECENTLY MURDERED IN ARGENTINA, HAD APPLIED FOR VISAS TO COME TO THE US THROUGH US EMBASSY BUENOS AIRES. HE ALSO CHARGED, ACCORDING TO THIS REPORT, THAT THE US AMBASSADOR TO URUGUAY HAD RELAYED THIS INFORMATION TO URUGUAYAN GOVERNMENT WHICH PROMPTLY CANCELLED ALL THEIR PAPERS, LEAVING THEM STRANDED IN ARGENTINA, AND THAT THIS WAS REALLY A DEATH SENTENCE CARRIED OUT AT THE BEHEST OF THE URUGUAYAN GOVERNMENT. THE OBVIOUS IMPLICATION OF THIS TOTALLY UNFOUNDED AND IRRESPONSIBLE CHARGE IS THAT THE US AMBASSADOR TO URUGUAY HAD PARTICIPATED IN WHAT HE CHOSE TO CALL "A DEATH SENTENCE".

2. NEITHER THIS EMBASSY NOR EMBASSY BUENOS AIRES (CONFIRMED IN BUENOS AIRES 4035 TO MONTEVIDEO ON JUNE 19, 1976) HAS ANY RECORD THAT EITHER MICHELINI OR GUTIERREZ RUIZ EVER APPLIED FOR A VISA, WERE EVER ISSUED OR REFUSED A VISA, OR WERE EVER THE SUBJECTS OF A VISA CLEARANCE INQUIRY TO EMBASSY MONTEVIDEO. ALSO SEE BUENOS AIRES 6629 OF OCTOBER 3, 1975. MOREOVER, I DID NOT AT ANYTIME DISCUSS IN ANY MANNER WITH GOU OFFICIALS THESE INDIVIDUALS, OR THEIR STATUS. INSOFAR AS I HAVE BEEN CONCERNED THEY, AS WELL AS WILSON FERREIRA ALDUNATE, WERE PERSONAGES INVOLVED IN URUGUAYAN INTERNAL POLITICS FROM WHICH THIS EMBASSY HAS REMAINED SCRUPULOUSLY ALOOF.

3. THE SAME INTEGRITY CANNOT BE ATTRIBUTED TO SILSON FERREIRA ALDUNATE WHO HAS EITHER DIRECTLY, OR THROUGH HIS ASSOCIATES, ATTEMPTED AT VARIOUS TIMES TO INVOLVE THIS EMBASSY, ME PERSONALLY OR OTHER OFFICIALS IN POLITICAL AFFAIRS; FOR EXAMPLE:

A) BEFORE I WAS ASSIGNED TO THIS POST, AS THE DEPARTMENT IS FULLY AWARE, HE AND OTHER URUGUAYAN POLITICAL FIGURES IN BUENOS AIRES, NOTABLY EX-SENATOR ERRO, PARTICIPATED IN A DELIBERATE SMEAR CAMPAIGN CHARGING THAT I WAS A CIA AGENT, THAT I HAD PARTICIPATED IN A WHOLE SERIES OF NEFARIOUS DEALS IN LATIN AMERICA ETC., ETC.; THE OBJECTIVE OBVIOUSLY BEING TO CLOUD MY ACCEPTANCE TO THIS COUNTRY AND MY RELATIONS WITH A GOVERNMENT HEADED BY HIS POLITICAL ENEMIES.

B) UPON HIS DEPARTURE FROM HERE TO ASSUME THE DIRECTORSHIP OF APU IN WASHINGTON, FRANK ORTIZ, WHO HAD BEEN CHARGE FOR YEAR BEFORE MY ARRIVAL, VISITED BUENOS AIRES AS PART OF PREPARATION FOR HIS NEW ASSIGNMENT. IMMEDIATELY AFTER THERE CAME BACK REPORTS FROM BUENOS AIRES THAT ORTIZ HAD MET SECRETLY WITH WILSON FERREIRA ALDUNATE. THIS ALLEGATION WAS TOTALLY FALSE AND WAS PRECISELY AGAIN INTENDED TO DIMINSH THE CREDIBILITY OF ORTIZ AND ME, THE NEW AMBASSADOR, WITH THE URUGUAYAN AUTHORITIES.

C) AT VARIOUS TIMES ACCUSATIONS OF MY HAVING INTERVENED IN ONE SIDE OR OTHER IN LOCAL POLITICS CAME TO MY ATTENTION AND WERE TRACEABLE TO ADHERENTS OR ASSOCIATES OF WILSON FERREIRA. IN NOT ONE SINGLE INSTANCE (MOSTLY INVENTIONS CHARGING ME WITH SECRET MEETINGS WITH POLITICAL FIGURES ETC.) WAS THERE EVEN A SHRED OF TRUTH. AS A MATTER OF POLICY, I HAVE DIRECTED OFFICIALS OF THIS EMBASSY TO MAINTAIN REGULAR CONTACT WITH THE POLITICAL OPPOSITION, INCLUDING WILSON FERREIRA ADHERENTS. BUT THIS IS ALWAYS DONE OPENLY, MOSTLY IN PUBLIC PLACES, NEVER IN SECRET AND NEVER BY ME.

D) MORE RECENTLY, WHEN WILSON FERREIRA ALDUNATE'S SON WAS BRIEFLY HELD IN PRISON AND THEN RELEASED HERE, HE THANKED AN EMBASSY OFFICER FOR MY SUPPOSED INTERCESSION FOR HIM. THE FACT IS THAT I HAD NOT INTERCEDED AND THE OBVIOUS PURPOSE OF THIS PLOY, WHICH WAS WIDELY COMMENTED ON IN MONTEVIDEO, WAS AGAIN TO SEEK TO INVOLVE ME IN URUGUAYAN POLITICS.

E) ABOUT ONE YEAR AGO THE UN REP. IN BUENOS AIRES, WHO WAS VISITING MONTEVIDEO, TOLD THE DCM THAT WILSON FERREIRA WANTED TO MEET WITH HIM IN BUENOS AIRES. THE DCM OF COURSE DECLINED THE INVITATION. HOWEVER, THE MERE FACT OF TRANSMITTING THE MESSAGE WOULD ENABLE FERREIRA TO SAY THAT HE HAD BEEN IN CONTACT WITH THE EMBASSY.

4. THE OBVIOUS OBJECTIVE OF THE TACTICS WHICH HAVE BEEN USED BY WILSON FERREIRA AND HIS ADHERENTS IS THAT OF THE DOUBLE-EDGED SWORD;

A) FOR INTERNAL IMPACT HERE HE SEEKS TO DISCREDIT ME AND THIS MISSION WITH THE URUGUAYAN GOVERNMENT BY CHARGING SOME SECRET LIAISON WITH HIM--THE PURPOSE BEING TO UPSET GOOD RELATIONS AND THEREBY, PRESUMABLY,

p2

WEAKEN HIS URUGUAYAN POLITICAL ENEMIES; AND

B) FOR EXTERNAL IMPACT, HE CHARGES ME AND THIS EMBASSY WITH SUPPORTING A DICTATORIAL VIOLATOR OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN ORDER TO UNDERMINE COOPERATIVE RELATIONS BETWEEN THE US AND URUGUAY, THUS AGAIN REDUCING THE BENEFITS WHICH HIS POLITICAL ENEMIES MIGHT DERIVE FROM NORMALLY GOOD RELATIONS.

5. AS THE DEPARTMENT IS AWARE THIS EMBASSY HAS DONE ITS UTMOST TO REPORT OBJECTIVELY ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN URUGUAY, TO INFLUENCE PRIVATELY THE GOU TO CORRECT SUCH ABUSES AS EXIST, AND TO REMAIN SCRUPULOUSLY OUT OF INTERNAL URUGUAYAN POLITICS. WHILE THERE IS OBVIOUSLY SOME SUBSTANCE TO THE CHARGES THAT WILSON FERREIRA HAS MADE ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES IN THIS COUNTRY, IN CONJUNCTION WITH THOSE OF AI WHICH APPARENTLY SPONSORS HIM, THE TRUTH IS SO FAR REMOVED FROM THE EXAGGERATIONS AND DISTORTIONS WHICH HE AND AI HAVE TYPICALLY ENGAGED IN THAT THE URUGUAYAN GOVERNMENT HAS RECENTLY CONCLUDED, APPARENTLY, THAT ITS BEST DEFENSE IS SIMPLY TO PUBLISH WHAT HE HAS BEEN SAYING ABROAD. WHATEVER THE IMPACT ON THE WORLD MAY BE, HIS RECENT DECLARATIONS HAVE TENDED TO UNDERMINE HIS CREDIBILITY IN URUGUAY WHERE THE PEOPLE KNOW BETTER WHAT HAS APPENED.

6. ACTION REQUESTED

A) I ASK THAT THE DEPARTMENT INFORM CONGRESSMEN FRASER AND KOCH, AND OTHERS WHO MAY BE INTERESTED IN THESE MATTERS, OF THE FALSENESS OF WILSON FERREIRA ALDUNATE'S CHARGE AGAINST ME IN REGARD TO MICHELINI AND GUTIERREZ RUIZ, AS REPORTED USINFO. THEY SHOULD ALSO BE MADE AWARE, IN THIS ERA OF GROWING DANGER TO DIPLOMATS, OF THE IRRESPONSIBILITY OF SUCH CHARGES WHICH OBVIOUSLY EXPOSE ME, MY FAMILY AND ASSOCIATES HERE TO THE POSSIBILITY OF REPRISALS BY THOSE WHOULD WOULD BELIEVE, AS WILSON FERREIRA HAS IMPLIED, THAT I PARTICIPATED IN THE "DEATH WARRANT" OF POLITICAL FIGURES IN BUENOS AIRES. OUR FLAG AT HALF-MAST IN MEMORY OF OUR DIPLOMATS MURDERED IN THE MIDDLE EAST IS TESTIMONY TO THIS DANGER. IT IS DOUBLY DANGEROUS THAT THE US CONGRESS BE USED AS SPRINGBOARD FOR SUCH ACCUSATIONS BECAUSE OF THE PRESTIGE AND WIDE AUDIENCE THIS FORUM COMMANDS. SINCE U.S. REPRESENTATIVES HAVE EMONSTRATED COMMENDABLE INTEREST AND CONCERN FOR HUMAN RIGHTS BY GIVING WILSON FERREIRA A HEARING, PERHAPS THEY CAN ALSO INFLUENCE HIM ON THE VIRTUES OF THE TRUTH AND DANGER OF IRRESPONSIBILITY.

B) PROVIDE THIS EMBASSY WITH FULL TEXT OF WILSON FERREIRA'S TESTIMONY. SIRACUSA

SUBJ: DEATH OF FORMER BOLIVIAN PRESIDENT: CIRCULAR LETTER

UN HAS CIRCULATED TO ALL PERMANENT MISSIONS LETTER FROM BOLIVIAN PERM REP CONCERNING DEATH OF FORMER BOLIVIAN PRESIDENT JUAN JOSE TOYRES. EXCERPTS FROM THE LETTER ARE TRANSMITTED BELOW:

SIR,

AT A MEETING OF THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL HELD ON 11 MAY 1976 IT WAS THE PAINFUL DUTY OF THIS MISSION TO ANNOUNCE THE ASSASSINATION OF THE AMBASSADOR OF BOLIVIA TO THE GOVERNMENT OF FRANCE, GENERAL JOAQUIN ZENTENO ANAYA, FORMER MINISTER FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS OF THE REPUBLIC AND FORMER COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE ARMED FORCES OF THE NATION, WHICH TOOK PLACE IN PARIS ON 11 MAY. THE TREACHEROUS NATURE OF THE CRIME OBLIGED US TO PROTEST PUBLICLY AGAINST THIS ACT OF TERRORIISM WHICH PLUNGED THE BOLIVIAN FAMILY INTO MOURNING AND WAS AN EXPRESSION OF THE POLICY OF FRATRICIDAL VIOLENCE WHICH IS FRIGHTENING PEOPLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

TODAY I MUST INFORM YOU OFFICIALLY OF THE CRIME WHICH TOOK THE LIFE OF GENERAL JUAN JOSE TORRES IN THE CITY OF BUENOS AIRES, IN THE REPUBLIC OF ARGENTINA, ON 2 JUNE 1976. AFTER BEING KIDNAPPED BY AN EXTREMIST COMMANDO, HE WAS FOUND DEAD UNDER A BRIDGE, HAVING BEEN SHOT SEVERAL TIMES IN THE HEAD.

ALL BOLIVIA WAS DEEPLY SADDENED BY THIS DEATH OF A FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE COUNTRY, WHO WAS PREVIOUSLY COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE ARMED FORCES OF THE NATION. THE CONDEMNATION HAS BEEN GENERAL AND COMPLETE.

AS A RESULT OF THESE CRIMES, WHICH WE ALL DEPLORE, MY COUNTRY HAS BECOME THE VICTIM OF AN INTERNATIONAL CONSPIRACY OF UNSUSPECTED SCOPE. ALTHOUGH WE BOLIVIANS ALWAYS STRUGGLE COURAGEOUSLY AS REGARDS OUR INTERNAL AFFAIRS, WE HAVE NEVER RESORTED TO POLITICAL CRIMES AS A MEANS OF GAINING POWER.

Subject: Charles Horman

Bob Driscoll talked to Herb Thompson in Mexico June 21. He explained Diuguid's allegation that a reliable Chilean had informed the Embassy of Horman's death before it was confirmed to his parents and that the Embassy had done nothing to check it out. Herb said that he does not remember any such information ever coming to him. He thinks he would remember if it had. However, he was in the Department on consultation when the Embassy supposedly received this information. He does recall on his return that everything that could be done to find Horman was being done. He reminded Driscoll that at the time the Embassy was tracking down several hundred Americans whose relatives had reported them missing. There was no way to know then that Horman would turn out to be one of two Americans killed. Horman, as the Embassy later found, was dead before the Embassy knew he was missing.

Disagreed about source.

2. SCHWEITZER CONFIRMED THAT WORKING GROUP WAS PLANNING TO MEET IN NEW YORK LATE IN JULY. HE SAID, HOWEVER, THAT WORKING GROUP HAD TYPICALLY STACKED ITS ACTIVITIES IN SUCH A WAY AS TO MAKE GOC COOPERATION AS DIFFICULT AS POSSIBLE. IT HAD DONE THIS BY ANNOUNCING THAT IT WOULD FIRST MEET IN MEXICO -- PRINCIPAL CENTER OF CHILEAN EXILE ACTIVITIES -- BETWEEN JULY 12 AND JULY 22, AND THEN BY INFORMING GOC THAT, "IF IT WISHED", IT MIGHT MEET WITH WORKING GROUP ON JULY 25 AND 26. END SUMMARY.

2. THE SECRETARY TO THE CHILEAN COMMITTEE FOR CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM CONFIRMED TO EMBOFF THAT WITHIN 30 DAYS THE COMMITTEE PLANS TO PRESENT TO THE TEXT OF FOUR CONSTITUTIONAL ACTS TO THE PRESIDENT FOR HIS APPROVAL. THE GOC INTENDS TO PROMULGATE THESE ACTS ON SEPTEMBER 11, 1976, THE 3RD ANNIVERSARY OF THE COUP.

3. THE FOUR ACTS, REPORTED IN REFTEL, DEAL WITH THE FUNDAMENTAL BASES OF THE NEW INSTITUTIONALITY, NATIONALITY, GOVERNMENTAL AUTHORITY DURING EMERGENCY SITUATIONS, AND "HUMAN RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF CITIZENS." THE LAST WILL BE THE MOST NOTEWORTHY AND WILL [redacted]

HAVE APPROXIMATELY 30 ARTICLES. THIS WEEK'S "ERCILLA/ NEWS-MAGAZINE REPORTEDLY WILL INCLUDE AN INTERVIEW WITH COMMITTEE PRESIDENT ENRIQUE ORTUZAR, WHO WILL DISCUSS THE FOUR ACTS IN SUBSTANCE. EMBASSY WILL REPORT FURTHER IF APPROPRIATE.

4. THE FOUR ACTS ARE THE SAME ONES MENTIONED BY PRESIDENT

UNCLASSIFIED

PINOCHET IN THE LATTER'S SEPTEMBER 11, 1975 SPEECH (PARA 7 REFTEL). IN THIS SPEECH, THE PRESIDENT PROMISED THEIR PROMULGATION WITHIN THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1976. WHEN ASKED ABOUT THE DELAY IN PROMULGATION, THE COMMITTEE SECRETARY STATED THAT THE STUDIES AND RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE PRESIDENT HAD BEEN READY FOR PRESENTATION EARLIER, BUT IT WAS DECIDED TO ISSUE THE ACTS AFTER THE OAS GENERAL ASSEMBLY. ACCORDING TO THE SECRETARY, THE GOC DID NOT WANT THE MEDIA TO "MISINTERPRET" THE PROMULGATION AND THINK THAT THE OAS PRESENCE IN ANY WAY INFLUENCED THEIR ISSUANCE.

5. WHEN ASKED ABOUT A TIME SCHEDULE FOR FINISHING THE CONSTITUTION, THE SECRETARY REPLIED THAT THE COMMITTEE HAD AGREED NOT TO ESTABLISH ONE. CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM, HE ADDED, WAS TOO IMPORTANT TO RUSH, AND THE COMMITTEE'S THINKING IS TO TAKE THE TIME "NECESSARY" TO COME UP WITH A CONSTITUTION THAT WILL FIT WITHIN THE "NEW DEMOCRACY" ENVISIONED BY THE JUNTA. (THIS THOUGHT IS THE SAME AS THAT REPORTED IN SANTIAGO A-28 OF JANUARY 5, 1975).

6. COMMENT: SECRETARY KISSINGER IN REMARKS MADE TO THE PRESS JUNE 11 IN MEXICO CITY, NOTED THAT A CONSTITUTIONAL ACT ON HUMAN RIGHTS WOULD BE FORTHCOMING AND THAT THE USG WOULD WITHOLD JUDGMENT ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN CHILE UNTIL THEN. OUR UNDERSTANDING WAS THAT THE ACT WOULD BE ISSUED SOONER THAN SEPTEMBER 11, BUT THAT DATE IS AN ENTIRELY APPROPRIATE ONE FOR THE GOC. IT IS ALSO PLAUSIBLE THAT GOC HELD UP PROMULGATION OF THE ACTS BECAUSE OF THE OASGA. INERTIA AND LACK OF ENTHUSIASM MAY ALSO HAVE CONTRIBUTED TO THE DELAY.

7. THE COMMITTEE SECRETARY NOTED THAT THE CONSTITUTIONAL ACT ON EMERGENCY POWERS WOULD PROVIDE FOR THE TEMPORARY SUSPENSION OF CERTAIN CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS DURING EMERGENCY SITUATIONS. HE SAID THE COMMITTEE WOULD PROBABLY RECOMMEND TO THE GOC A REDUCTION IN THE CURRENT LEVEL OF STATE OF SIEGE ON SEPTEMBER 11. EVEN WITH SUCH A REDUCTION WE CONSIDER IT UNLIKELY THAT THE NEW CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS WILL COME FULLY INTO EFFECT ON SEPTEMBER 11.

SUBJECT: The Charles Horman Case.

Chile Project (#S199900006)
U.S. Department of State
X Release ___ Excise ___ Deny X Declass
Exemption(s) _____

Here is a draft letter to Kennedy on the Horman case. Factually, it is the best Driscoll and I have been able to dredge up in about four man-days. It will not do. It will only deepen suspicions by the Washington Post and by the Hill that we have deliberately been less than candid. The letter does not, cannot, lay to rest suspicions that the USG "fingered" Horman and Teruggi:

-- We "withheld" for almost two years any reference to a Chilean memorandum which accused Teruggi, and Horman, of leftist activities. At these times we are not accused of ineptness but of byzantine maneuverings.

-- We failed to pursue the basis for the GOC's allegations concerning Horman and Teruggi. This is a lead. We have done nothing about it.

-- The Horman family reportedly has a letter from CIA in response to an FOI request, which "admits" the Agency knew something of Horman's alleged activities. However, CIA told ~~Teruggi~~ their information was unrelated to Horman's death. CIA is checking this out for me.

-- Lew Diuguid insists he has a source for his assertion that the Embassy superiors were informed early on of Horman's fate but failed to follow-up. (He claims similar reports from Chilean sources were also ignored.) Lew hints broadly that his source is an FSO here in Washington who was in Santiago at the time of the coup. Lew has asked this person to repeat his statements to us.

-- Vice Consul Anderson's participation in this matter will eventually be the subject of further probing.

-- We keep telling the families and the press that we are diligently pursuing every lead, doing everything to develop the circumstances surrounding the deaths of these

[redacted]

Americans. This is overdrawn. And the matter has been handled by too many offices, with the result reflected in the draft letter.

-- The files are in such disarray that we cannot begin to assure anyone that we know what we are talking about without a further thorough research and necessary follow-up with the authors. This will require a lot more time than we have had until now to work on this project. There is some spare manpower about: Fred Smith, formerly with L, SCA, and Embassy Mexico City, is back in the building, without a forward assignment.

-- Finally, because BC also is unconvinced the total U.S. role is honestly and accurately reflected in the records available to the Department, I cannot recommend that you sign this letter -- it will just recycle more accusations and questions from the Hill and the press. With respect to other U.S. agencies, I don't believe BC is in the position of responding in their behalf. I suggest that we only speak for the Department. But you may be able to accept the agency's categorical denial on the basis of what you know and your talks with Langley.

SUBJECT: ISRAELIS ARRESTED IN ARGENTINA

1. CONSIDERABLE ATTENTION HAS BEEN DEVOTED HERE THIS WEEK TO REPORTS ON THE ARRESTS IN CORDOBA OF A GROUP OF EIGHT JEWS - FIVE ISRAELIS AND THREE ARGENTINES. THE DETAILS OF THE ARRESTS HAVE NOT YET BEEN CLARIFIED AND THE REPORTS EXPRESSED CONCERN ABOUT POSSIBLE IMPLICATIONS FOR OTHER JEWS IN ARGENTINA.

2. THE DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF SOUTH AMERICAN AFFAIRS IN THE MFA (ARMON) TOLD US THAT THE MINISTRY BELIEVES THAT THE ARRESTS WERE CAUSED BY A "MISUNDERSTANDING." HE SAID THE GROUP WAS RETURNING FROM A SEMINAR WHICH HAD BEEN HELD IN A JEWISH CLUB (COMITE) IN CORDOBA WHEN THEY WERE ARRESTED BY MILITARY AUTHORITIES. THE FIVE ISRAELIS HAD BEEN IN ARGENTINA ONLY A FEW DAYS AND HAD BEEN SENT THERE BY THE WORLD ZIONIST ORGANIZATION'S YOUTH AND PIONEER DEPARTMENT OT WORK ONLY WITH EDUCATION AND HEBREW LANGUAGE MATTERS. NO OTHER ARRESTS HAD BEEN REPORTED. THE OUTCOME IS NOT YET CLEAR BECAUSE THE ARGENTINE AUTHORITIES HAVE INFORMED THE ISRAELI EMBASSY THAT THEY MUST STUDY THE MATERIALS FOUND ON THE GROUP AT THE TIME OF THEIR ARREST; THE MATERIALS ARE IN HEBREW AND PRESUMABLY MUST BE TRANSLATED. THE CASE IS COMPLICATED BY THE FACT THAT THE GROUP IS HELD BY REGIONAL MILITARY AUTHORITIES RATHER THAN BY THE CENTRAL AUTHORITIES AND ACCESS TO THEM HAS BEEN DENIED TO THE EMBASSY.

3. MEMBERS OF THE GROUP HAVE BEEN IDENTIFIED AS YOSEF AND KATI PICK, YITZHAK AND CLARA ESTRUGO, AND AMNON RUDIN. THE ARGENTINES HAVE BEEN IDENTIFIED AS TWO ADVISORS TO COMITE AND THE SISTER OF A SECRETARY IN THE YOUTH AND PIONEER DEPARTMENT IN BUENOS AIRES. RUDIN AND THE PICKS ARE BELIEVED TO HAVE ONLY ISRAELI PASSPORTS BUT THE ESTRUGOS ARE DUAL NATIONALS AND TRAVELED TO ARGENTINAL WITH ARGENTINE PASSPORTS. MRS. ESTRUGO'S PARENTS ARE REPORTED TO RESIDE IN CORDOBA.

4. COMMENT: THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF THE MFA INFORMED THE CHARGE' THAT THE GOVERNMENT WAS VERY CONCERNED ABOUT THE CASE AND THAT HE WAS CALLING IN THE ARGENTINE CHARGE' TO ASCERTAIN THE FACTS AND EXPRESS THAT CONCERN. ARGENTINA HAS A LARGE AND PROSPEROUS JEWISH COMMUNITY WHICH, ACCORDING TO COMMENTS WE HAVE HEARD, HAS NOT BEEN AS SUPPORTIVE OF THE STATE OF ISRAEL AS MOST ISRAELIS WOULD LIKE. RABBI ABRAHAM HERSHBERG, CHIEF RABBI OF MEXICO AND PRESIDENT OF THE LATIN AMERICAN RABBINICAL COUNCIL, BRIEFLY DISCUSSED THE CASE DURING A CALL ON THE CHARGE' ON JULY 27 AND SAID THAT HE HAD UNDERTAKEN AN EFFORT TO OBTAIN MORE INFORMATION.

SUBJECT: MULTILATERAL AFFAIRS: HUMAN RIGHTS PROCEDURES IN THE UN

REFS: (A) SANTIAGO 7523 (B) GENEVA 6328

1. I WELCOME MY COLLEAGUE AMBASSADOR CARTER'S PARTICIPATION IN THE CONSIDERATION OF WAYS TO ADVANCE OUR COMMON OBJECTIVE: TO INCREASE THE EFFECTIVENESS OF UN HUMAN RIGHTS PROCEDURES.

2. AMBASSADOR CARTER IS OF COURSE QUITE CORRECT IN CITING THE PROVISIONS OF ECOSOC RESOLUTION 1503 AS A MODEL FOR THE PROCEDURES OF UN BODIES DEALING WITH HUMAN RIGHTS COMMUNICATIONS. ALTHOUGH I AM A BIT RUSTY NOW ON MY UN METHODOLOGY, IT IS MY IMPRESSION THAT SUCH COMMUNICATIONS ARE NORMALLY HANDLED ON A QUIET, NON-CONTROVERSIAL BASI DESIGNED -- IN THE CLASSICAL MANNER -- TO PROVIDE GENTLE SUASION TO COUNTRIES ACCUSED OF SPECIFIC VIOLATIONS OF THE RIGHTS OF INDIVUALS AND GROUPS. UNDER THE RESOLUTION, AS AMBASSADOR CARTER NOTES, INVESTIGATION BY AN AD HOC COMMITTEE CAN BE UNDERTAKEN ONLY WITH THE CONSENT

[redacted]

[redacted]

OF THE NATION CONCERNED AND IN COOPERATION WITH IT.

3. THE CHILEAN CASE SEEMS TO ME TO BE QUITE A DIFFERENT MATTER. THE CHILE WORKING GROUP HAS ITS SOURCE IN RESOLUTIONS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION AND ITS SUBCOMMISSION, REFLECTING THE CONCERN OF THE INTERNATIONAL

UNCLASSIFIED

COMMUNITY REGARDING MASSIVE HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN CHILE.

4. AMBASSADOR CARTER'S REFERENCE TO RESOLUTION 1503 IMPELLED ME TO LOOK BACK AT THE FIRST PROGRESS REPORT OF THE AD HOC UNHRC WORKING GROUP ON CHILE DATED SEPTEMBER 4, 1975 (DOCUMENT A/10285). AT THAT STAGE IN THE PROCEEDINGS, THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT HAD PROPOSED THAT RESOLUTION 1503 SHOULD BE THE BASIS FOR THE HANDLING OF COMMUNICATIONS OR INDIVIDUAL COMPLAINTS (CF. ANNEX 3, DOCUMENT A/10285). BUT FROM PARAGRAPH 28 OF THE REPORT IT IS CLEAR THAT THE WORKING GROUP REFUSED TO APPLY RESOLUTION 1503, EXPLAINING THAT THE MANDATE OF THE WORKING GROUP WAS NOT DERIVED FROM PROCEDURAL HUMAN RIGHTS RESOLUTIONS BUT FROM SPECIAL DECISIONS OF COMPETENT UN ORGANS.

5. AS I SEE IT, THE POINT IS THAT WITH THE CREATION OF THE CHILE WORKING GROUP THE UN BEGAN TO BREAK NEW GROUND IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVITIES OF THE ORGANIZATION. AT LEAST ORIGINALLY -- WHILE THE CHILEAN GOVERNMENT WAS STILL PREPARED TO RECEIVE THE GROUP IN CHILE -- WE COULD FORESEE THE POSSIBILITY OF GREATLY INCREASING THE EFFECTIVENESS OF SUCH ACTIVITIES. THROUGH WHAT I CONCEIVE TO BE A MAJOR BLUNDER, THE GOC ENDED THAT PHASE OF THE OPERATION BY ITS SUDDEN DECISION NOT TO ALLOW THE GROUP TO COME TO CHILE. NEVERTHELESS, THE EXERCISE STILL HAS A VERY PERCEPTIBLE EFFECT.

6. PERSONALLY I WOULD AGREE WITH THE WORKING GROUP THAT THE PROVISIONS OF RESOLUTION 1503 ARE NOT SUITABLE FOR THE PANORAMIC TYPE OF SURVEY WHICH THE GROUP HAS BEEN CONDUCTING UNDER ITS MANDATE. ALL I AM SAYING IS THAT THE POSSIBILITY OF PRODUCING ULTIMATELY FRUITFUL RESULTS, AND OF ESTABLISHING FRUITFUL PRECEDENTS FOR FUTURE INVESTIAGIONS, WILL BE ENHANCED IF SOME BASIC STEPS ARE TAKEN TO PROTECT THE WORKING GROUP AGAINST CHARGES OF UNDUE BIAS. SINCE RESOLUTION 1503 DOES NOT APPLY, WE NEED SOMETHING ELSE TO TAKE ITS PLACE.

Mr. Yeo/Secretary Kissinger
August 21, 1976
Time: 9:31 a.m.

K: How are you?

Y: Fine. I wanted to call you to see if you wanted any further description of the Mexican situation.

K: What Mexican situation?

Y: Mexico is practically broke.

K: Is it Mexico or Brazil.

Y: It is Mexico.

K: He told me it was Brazil.

Y: The...

K: What he discussed with me is that we are trying to bail out...

Y: We are attempting to ehlp...

K: No, no, the only reason I am confused Ed is because he told me in Kansas City that he was -- that Brazil was broke.

Y: Well, the ...

K: Are those...

Y: In the first instance it involves Mexico and the jist is that they have about $23-25 billion in debt and they have $150 million in reserves. They are losing $150 million a week.

K: Then the question is do we want to bail out Echeverria?

Y: There are two questions. The first instance is there is a question of whether it is even bailable. There is a question of whether we get the IMF, which I have done, there is a question of whether the situation can be saved in the financial sense or whether they will have to reschedule the debt. If they do that we will have a bunch of badly bent bankers. Our people have $10 billion down there. The shock of this would badly affect Brazil -- the financial shock.

K: I see.

Y: Because in reality the Mexican situation is one of the greates financial con jobs of all time. They concealed their numbers -- there is no one in the financial community that has any idea of the situation.

K: Can this wait until Monday morning.

Y: Yes, it certainly can.

K: The reason I ask is I promised to take my wife to Camp David, and if I don't leave the office within an hour I may have a divorce on my hands. B6

Y: I wanted you to know about it now because Echeverria is under tremendous pressure.

K: To do what?

Y: If he decides to save the situation he has to accept a brutal devaluation.

K: Which he said he would never do.

Y: But he has to because of the line up of events, not because of what we are telling him. By reducing the budget deficit he has to reverse everything he has done to save it. People are telling him about the realities of the situation -- not realities manfactured by us.

K: He could turn on us.

Y: That is the second alternative. He could declare a debt moratorium, impose controls and turn on us.

K: I think that is more likely. What do we do then?

Y: Well, I think there are a number of things we could do to prepare the way. There is one final thing -- he would join OPEC in wxchange for some money.

K: He will do that in practice if not in name. That knocks him off the GSP.

Y: He is sitting under enormous pressure -- facing great humiliation.

K: Can I propose this -- can I get my people to work over the weekend and we get together at 9:30 on Monday morning or is that too late?

Y: No, no. I will be here this weekend working. The only thing I have had a very limited group in the Treasury working on this for fear it will leak out. If it does that then rather than make it through the next week it wouldn't make it through Monday afternoon.

K: Let me put to work here Rogers and Shlaudemann and tell them not to have more than one other person working on it, if that is possible in this organization. Whom should they get in touch with, you?

Y: Fine.

K: Let's meet at 9:30 Monday morning.

Y: Fine.

K: O.K. Good.

Y: Since we last talked two things have happened. One is Daou acting for Viddever offered ~~Viddex~~ Fund services this morning. Two is that Ritodde(?) who runs the Central Bank came back and asked for the beginning of immediate negotiations on the basis of the plan we had layed out for them whereby there would be secret negotiations between the Fund and Mexican Government.

K: Good. And if that happens I don't need Rogers to go down there. The less political I can make it the better off I am.

Y: Much better.

K: You are sure they didn't give you a stretch of the beach in Cancun. A little hotel . . .

Y: I will not be doing the negotiating. The Fund will be doing this.

K: But you are not forgetting your friends -- remember the undertow in Cancun is very bad. Take the income but not the vacation.

Y: This is good news though.

K: This is really the best thing that could happen and they must have rammed it down Echeverria's throat. There are only two possibilities. Either he doesn't know the full implications [redacted] B1 Either he doesn't know about it in which case it will still blow up when they have to implement it or he ~~doesn't~~ does and they rammed it down his throat. His instinct is positive as I said yesterday. It is much better if you handle it. The only way for us to get into it is if they refuse to talk.

Y: You have to get into it.

K: I mean sending emissaries to Echeverria. Watch one thing. They may be working us in to get a lot of conditions stated that they will then kick us in the teeth with.

REF: (A) BUENOS AIRES 5756, (B) BUENOS AIRES 5672

1. SOME 780 REFUGEES, MOSTLY CHILEAN AND URUGUAYAN, HAVE LEFT ARGENTINA IN THE PAST THREE MONTHS, ACCORDING TO UNHCR SOURCES. THE LATEST TO LEAVE WERE 49 URUGUAYANS WHO LEFT FOR HAVANA SEPT 2. THREE HUNDRED MORE ALREADY HAVE RESETTLEMENT OFFERS OUTSIDE THE COUNTRY AND WILL LEAVE SHORTLY, SOURCES ADD.

2. ALTHOUGH THE ATMOSPHERE AMONG THE REFUGEE COMMUNITY HAD RELAXED SOMEWHAT IN RECENT WEEKS-- PROBABLY BECAUSE THERE HAVE BEEN NO MAJOR INCIDENTS OF PERSECUTION SINCE THE DISAPPEARANCE OF 23 URUGUAYANS IN MID-JULY--A RECENT GOVERNMENT REGULATION ON ILLEGAL ALIENS IS CAUSING NEW ALARM. ON SEPT 2, GOA ANNOUNCED THAT ALL FOREIGNERS WITHOUT PROPER DOCUMENTS WOULD HAVE 60 DAYS IN WHICH TO REPORT TO IMMIGRATION AUTHORITIES. SIMILAR REGULATIONS, DESCRIBED AS NECESSARY TO CONTROL "MIGRATORY FLUCTUATIONS, HAVE BEEN ROUTINELY ANNOUNCED BUT RARELY ENFORCED IN THE PAST. MANY OF THE ESTIMATED 500,000 ILLEGAL RESIDENTS HAVE ALWAYS BEEN WELCOME AS LOW-COST ADDITIONS TO THE LABOR FORCE, PARTICULARLY IN BORDER TOWNS. THIS TIME, HOWEVER, REFUGEES FEAR IT WILL BE USED AGAINST THEM. AS GOA DOES NOT SHARE THE UNHCR'S DEFINITION

OF A REFUGEE UNDER UN PROTECTION, NOR HAS IT COOPERATED IN PROVIDING REFUGEES WITH ARGENTINE DOCUMENTS IN THE PAST, IT REMAINS TO BE SEEN IF-- AND HOW-- THE GOVT INTENDS TO PRESS COMPLIANCE OR SANCTIONS ON THE SOME 20,000 PERSONS ILLEGALLY IN THE COUNTRY FOR POLITICAL REASONS. UNHCR OFFICIALS HAVE TOLD EMBOFF THAT RIGHT NOW THEIR HANDS ARE TIED AND THEY MUST WAIT TO SEE HOW THE GOVERNMENT ENFORCES THE REGULATION ONCE THE 60-DAY DEADLINE IS UP.

3. LA OPINION REPORTED SEPT 1 THAT AT LEAST 20 ASYLEES ARE HOUSED IN THREE FOREIGN EMBASSIES--AUSTRIA, ITALY AND MEXICO. EX-PRESIDENT HECTOR CAMPORA AND HIS SON HAVE REPORTEDLY NOT REQUESTED SAFE CONDUCT OUT OF THE COUNTRY FROM THE MEXICAN EMBASSY WHERE THEY HAVE BEEN SINCE THE COUP. THE PAPER NOTED THAT A NUMBER OF THE ASYLEES LEAVE THE EMBASSIES OCCASIONALLY TO VISIT FAMILY AND FRIENDS AND GO ABOUT THE CITY APPARENTLY WITH NO MAJOR WORRIES.

4. FORMER UCR LEGISLATORS SOLARI IRIGOYEN AND AMAYA REMAIN DETAINED (SEE REF A) "ALMOST INCOMUNICADO", ACCORDING TO FREINDS, IN FIFTH CORPS HEADQUARTERS. AUTHORITIES SAY THEY ARE STILL STUDYING THE CASE OF THE TWO LAWYERS WHO WERE KIDNAPPED FROM THEIR HOMES AUGUST 17 AND LATER DUMPED AT A POLICE CHECKPOINT IN RIO NEGRO. MEANWHILE, IN A NOTE TO UCR NATIONAL COMMITTEE MEMBERS ON FRIDAY, SEPT 3, AN INTERIOR MINISTRY OFFICIAL REPRIMANDED THEM FOR RELEASING AN APPEAL FOR THE SAFETY OF THE TWO KIDNAPPED LAWYERS AUG 25. THE OFFICIAL GRATUITOUSLY SAID THE THE UCR APPEAL GAVE "A FALSE IMPRESSION OF PARTY ACTIVITIES, WHICH HAD BEEN SUSPENDED IN ORDER TO INSURE INTERNAL PEACE".

5. THE PERMANENT ASSEMBLY FOR HUMAN RIGHTS, A GROUP OF RELIGIOUS AND POLITICAL PERSONS FORMED LAST DECEMBER, COMPLETED ITS FIRST WORKING DESSION LAST WEEK, SEPT 1, BY INVITING ALL ARGENTINES TO JOIN IN ITS FIGHT FOR "PEACE AND THE RIGHT TO LIVE WITHOUT FEAR". THE SESSIONS WERE DIVIDED INTO FOUR TOPICS: THE RIGHT TO LIVE, SECURITY AND NATIONAL DEFENSE, CONSTITUTIONAL PRECEDENCE, AND THE PROTECTION OF CONSTITUTIONAL FREEDOMS. THE PREVIOUS WEEK, THE ASSEMBLY HAD STRONGLY PROTESTED INCREASING VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN A MESSAGE TO PRESIDENT VIDELA (SEE REF B).

6. SIGNIFICANTLY, IN A DECLARATION AUG 28, THE BUENOS AIRES LAWYERS ASSOCIATION ADDED ITS VOICE TO THOSE PREVIOUSLY RAISED AGAINST RISING VIOLENCE. CITING THE ASSASSINATION OF GENERAL ACTIS AND THE KIDNAPPING OF SOLARI IRIGOYEN AND AMAYA AS WELL AS THE DISAPPEARANCE OF TWO BUENOS AIRES MEMBER LAWYERS, THE ASSOCIATION REPUDIATED THE RISE OF UNCONTROLLED VIOLENCE AND CALLED ON THE GOVERNMENT TO "LEAD THE COUNTRY BACK TO THE PATH OF LAW AND RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEES".

7. AN MERICAN PRIEST FROM CORDOBA, TOLD EMBOFF TODAY, SEPT 7, THAT THE FIVE SEMINARIANS ARRESTED WITH FATHER JAMES WEEKS IN EARLY AUGUST ARE STILL IN JAIL IN CORDOBA BUT THAT AUTHORITIES HAVE PROMISED TO DO WHAT THEY CAN TO "ACCELERATE" THE INVESTIGATION. THE PRIEST, FREDERICK KETTNER, PICKED UP STUDENT VISA APPLICATIONS FOR THE SEMINARIANS, WHI WILL CONTINUE THEIR STUDIES IN THE US IF AND WHEN THEY ARE RELEASED.

8. NOTE: HUMAN RIGHTS ROUNDUP SERIES IS NOT INTENDED AS PRIMARY REPORTING INSTRUMENT ON SUBJECT; RATHER, IT IS BEING INITIATED AS DEVICE THROUGH WHICH DEVELOPMENTS NOT NECESSARILY WARRANTING CABLE IN AND OF THEMSELVES CAN BE BROUGHT TO ATTENTION OF DEPARTMENT IN TIMELY FASHION. SUBJECT: AMBASSADOR TRUCCO'S CALL ON ASSISTANT SECRETARY SHLAUDEMAN SEPTEMBER 2.
REF: STATE 214523

1. TRUCCO SAID HE HAD JUST RETURND FROM NEW YORK, WHERE HE HAD MET WITH CHILEAN AMBASSADOR SERGIO DIEZ. THE UNHRC WORKING GROUP CONTINUES TO BE A DIFFICULT PROBLEM. THE GOC WANTS THE WG TO DESIGNATE TWO MEMBERS (OTHER THAN ALLANA) TO GO TO CHILE TO MAKE THEIR ON-SITE INVESTIGATION. THE WG POSITION IS THAT ALL GO TOGETHER OR THAT TWO GO FIRST WITH THE OTHER THREE COMING A WEEK OR SO LATER. THE GOC INSISTS ON ITS ORIGINAL PROPOSAL.

2. PART OF THE PROBLEM IS THAT THE WG ONLY HAS A MANDATE TO STUDY CONDITIONS IN CHILE. THE GOC HAS SUGGESTED TO ALLANA THAT THE WG VISIT OTHER COUNTRIES BESIDES CHILE.

[redacted]

[redacted]

PAGE 02 STATE 224047

FURTHER, NO DOCUMENTS MENTION THE PROGRESS THAT IS BEING MADE IN CHILE. FOR EXAMPLE, THE RED CROSS NOTES A 25 DECLINE IN THE NUMBER OF POLITICAL PRISONERS. THE JUNTA MUST GET SOME ENCOURAGEMENT FROM THE INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS. THE ONLY BRIGHT SPOT IS THAT ARGENTINA IS DRAWING SOME OF THE ATTENTION AWAY FROM CHILE.

UNCLASSIFIED

3. TRUCCO THEN SAID THAT SERGIO DIEZ HAD MET WITH LEONARD GARMENT SEPTEMBER 2. GARMENT SAID THAT HE PLANNED TO MEET WITH ALLANA. TRUCCO EXPRESSED APPRECIATION FOR THE EFFORTS OF AMBASSADORS BENNETT AND GARMENT IN TRYING TO KEEP THE NEGOTIATIONS GOING BETWEEN THE GOC AND THE WG.

4. SHLAUDEMAN ASKED TRUCCO IF HE THOUGHT THAT CHILE WAS GOING TO BE ON THE UNGA AGENDA. TRUCCO REPLIED THAT THE UNGA WOULD HAVE TO CONSIDER THE WG REPORT WHICH NOW CONTAINS THE DAMAGING TESTIMONY THE WG RECEIVED IN MEXICO. PARENTHETICALLY, TRUCCO CLAIMED THAT HE HAD ENCOURAGED PRESIDENT PINOCHET TO ALLOW THE WG VISIT AFTER THE OASGA. NO UNMANAGEABLE SECURITY PROBLEMS HAD OCCURRED DURING THE OASGA, SO HE URGED PINOCHET TO SEIZE THE OPPORTUNITY. BUT THE WG DECISION TO GO TO MEXICO ENDED HIS INITIATIVE. NOW "WE HAVE TO DEAL WITH THE PROBLEMS OF WOUNDED PRIDE ON BOTH SIDES."

5. TRUCCO ASKED WHETHER WE HAD HEARD ANYTHING FURTHER ABOUT NEW PERUVIAN ARMS PURCHASES. SHLAUDEMAN REPLIED THAT WE COULD NOT CONFIRM AN SU-22 PURCHASE AS A FACT. PERU HAS INQUIRED ABOUT PURCHASING AIRCRAFT FROM SEVERAL COUNTRIES, INCLUDING THE U.S. RIGHT NOW THE GOP IS PROBABLY CONSIDERING ALTERNATIVES. IT WANTS TO REPLACE OLD EQUIPMENT. UNDER SECRETARY MAW WOULD BE GOING TO LIMA DURING THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 6 (SINCE POSTPONED TO WEEK OF SEPT. 13) FOR MORE NEGOTIATIONS ON MARCONA. WE DO NOT KNOW IF HE WILL BE ABLE TO TALK ABOUT OTHER THINGS.

6. TRUCCO MENTIONED A RECENT VIRGINIA PREWITT NEWSLETTER WHICH ALLEGED THAT PERU WOULD GET A DOLLARS 200 MILLION LOAN FROM THE U.S., ANOTHER DOLLARS 100 MILLION FROM CANADA PLUS THE SOVIET PLANES. SHLAUDEMAN REPLIED THAT USG HAD NO INTENTION OF MAKING ANY LOANS TO PERU FOR [redacted]

7. TRUCCO COMMENTED THAT THE SU-22 PURCHASE, IF TRUE, WOULD MAKE THE ARMS IMBALANCE PROBLEM EVEN MORE ACUTE. IT WOULD SUPPLEMENT THE ALREADY DISASTROUS (FOR CHILE) IMBALANCE IN ARMOR, WHICH TRUCCO DESCRIBED AS "FIVE HUNDRED TO NOTHING".

8. SHLAUDEMAN ASKED TRUCCO WHY THE CHILEANS DID NOT TAKE UP THEIR PROBLEMS DIRECTLY WITH THE PERUVIANS. TRUCCO REPLIED THAT THIS WAS A POSSIBILITY AND MENTIONED THE RECENT TELEPHONE CONVERSATION BETWEEN PINOCHET AND MORALES

WE WOULD DO SO WITH GREAT PLEASURE.

9. SHLAUDEMAN EXPLAINED TO TRUCCO THAT WE WERE STILL TRYING TO ACCOMMODATE HIS REQUESTS FOR MILITARY EQUIPMENT DELIVERIES AND REPAIRS. WE HOPE TO HAVE A DECISION FOR HIM THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 5.

10. COMMENT: THE VIRGINIA PREWITT NEWSLETTER TRUCCO REFERRED TO SAYS THAT PERU WILL OBTAIN "AROUND DOLLARS 200 MILLION" BALANCE -OF-PAYMENTS FINANCING FROM U.S. BANKING SYNDICATE. OFFICIAL-INFORMAL

Fernando Rondon, Esquire
ARA/ECA Room 4906
Department of State
Washington, D. C. 20520

Dear Fred:

Here are press clippings of the statements made by the Permanent Assembly for Human Rights and the Buenos Aires Lawyers Association as requested in State 223616.

I'm also sending along a copy of another statement which is being sent to the press by a group of relatives of missing persons. Emilio Mignone, whose daughter Maria was abducted in May, gave it to me. Mignone is a well-regarded academician who worked for the OAS in Washington from 1962-67. I got to know him because Maria is one of my "cases."

Mignone is a member of the Permanent Assembly and is also active in and ecumenical group of Church and laymen concerned about human rights violations. He said that relatives of missing persons are beginning to group together to share information and try to bring collective pressure against the government. The press release is the first step. They are unlikely to push very hard, however, out of fear of jeopardizing the lives of those detained. Nevertheless, it is another indication that the pressure is building internally as well.

Saludos,

Yvonne Thayer

DATE: September 14, 1976

SUBJECT: Labatt's Initial Courtesy Call on the Labor Minister

PARTICIPANTS: General Horacio Tomas Liendo, Minister of Labor
Anthony G. Freeman, Labatt, American Embassy

REFS: Buenos Aires 6133 and 6002 PLACE: Labor Ministry

COPIES TO:

1. Auto Workers' Strike

Asked about the status of the strike in the auto industry, General Liendo said that the workers were back on the job in all of the factories which had been struck, with the exception of GM's Barracas plant. The Barracas plant had been a perennial trouble spot. For that reason, he had decided to take a firsthand look at the site the previous week. Labor/management relations there had not been conducted in a positive manner. He did not offer further clarification, but there was a suggestion that labor conditions at the plant long had been less than satisfactory. The basic fault seemed to lie with GM's plant manager. Nevertheless, the communists had played a very active role in the latest strike as well.

The strike did not spread to other industries, being confined largely to the auto plants in the Greater Buenos Aires area. It was true that there had been a one-day stoppage in the metalworking plants, but this coincided with "The Day of the Metal Worker". Although the government no longer recognized this day as a legal holiday, the Ministry had decided to chalk off the stoppage as a celebration unconnected with the auto workers' strike.

As for the prospects of a new resurgence, Liendo did not expect further strikes, at least in the near future. True, the working class was experiencing hard times, and the communists were trying to make the most of it. The government was engaged in a race to pull the country out of the recession before serious social problems began. Liendo thought that the government would be "lucky" and would win the race. Most of the auto companies already were back to a five-day work week, which was an indicator that the industry was recovering. GM's Barracas plant would reopen the following week and he expected that its workers would return to their jobs.

2. Disappearance of FITE leader Alvarez

The Labatt then raised the question of Pedro Eugenio Alvarez, ex-Secretary General of the Argentine public entertainment workers union (SUTEP), stating that the State Department had received frantic inquiries from the AFL-CIO concerning an alleged ransom demand of a half million dollars for Alvarez' release, presumably from the ERP. On account of his holding the position of secretary general of a democratic Interamerican trade union organization (FITE), Alvarez enjoyed very close ties with the AFL-CIO. The latter was extremely concerned about his welfare and safety, and was exerting pressure on the State Department to intervene on his behalf. We were aware that charges of alleged mismanagement of housing funds had been made against Alvarez while director of the Banco Hipotecario. There was a rumor circulating in Buenos Aires trade union circles that Alvarez had been arrested by the authorities, presumably in connection with these charges. The Minister said he had seen a report about Alvarez in the "diario" and shuffled through the reading file on his desk, but couldn't find what he was searching for. The report had mentioned something about Alvarez having been seized on the "Costanera" (Buenos Aires' riverside area noted for its restaurants), but he could not recall the details. The Labatt asked whether the Minister could inquire into the matter, stating that if he could confirm that Alvarez was in the custody of the authorities, this would help matters considerably. Liendo agreed to do so on an urgent basis and report back. But tell the AFL-CIO, he added with a wry smile, not to pay the ransom. Alvarez wasn't worth it, in his opinion.

3. Trade Union Reorganization

Liendo regretted that the work involved in preparing a reform of the basic trade union law (Ley de Asociaciones Profesionales) had not moved along more rapidly. He had been pressed with other, more urgent problems. (He phrased this explanation in such a way that it could also be interpreted as meaning that the reform plan itself had run into snags.) Nevertheless, everything was on the tracks.

Asked in what time frame, he said that some guidelines would be out before the end of the year, but the revised trade union law would not be ready until next year. One thing was sure: there would be no place for the corrupt, old labor bosses under the reorganization scheme.

4. A Message to Latin America's Friends

Labatt asked the Minister if he had any observations about the Argentine scene which he would like the Labatt to mention at the U.S. labor officers' conference in San Jose, Costa Rica. In a world of nation-states, the Minister replied, each nation knew what was best for itself and had to make its own decisions, without the interference of outside parties. Nobody knew better than the Swedes what had to be done in Sweden, and the same was true for Argentina. However, Argentina was a member of the international community and, as such, had agreed to certain international principles, such as respect for trade union liberties. There was nothing wrong about that. Argentina believed in these values too. However, Latin America was facing an emergency, and in an emergency it was sometimes necessary to suspend temporarily such liberties. It hurt when Latin America's friends failed to comprehend the critical nature of the problem and not only did not give their support but even went so far as to join the common enemy--the communists--in attacks against the Latin American governments. Such criticism from friends abroad could "drown" the weakest countries in Latin America which lacked stable institutions such as a solid labor movement, and only would serve the interests of the communists. In the case of Argentina, unlike other countries in Latin America, there was a strong labor movement. The current government was working hard to restore the trade union organizations to normality "as soon as possible", and needed the continued understanding and support of its friends abroad in the interim. Liendo recognized that the AFL-CIO and ICFTU already had restrained themselves from attacking the GOA's labor policies. This was a welcome gesture and the government was very grateful.

5. The CGT's Role in a Hemispheric Trade Union Alliance

Liendo said he had had contacts with the AFL-CIO. He supported what he understood to be the geopolitical objective, not only of the U.S. labor movement but of the U.S. government as well, which was to forge an interamerican trade union movement whose two anchors at each end would be the AFL-CIO and the Argentine CGT. Such a movement would help to resist not only communist advances in the hemisphere, but also those of the ICFTU. (He appeared to be in agreement with this latter presumed objective as well.) There was no other labor movement in Latin America as important as the Argentine CGT in his view, and it was only natural that the CGT should assume its rightful place in the sun. (He explicitly downplayed the importance of the Venezuelan CTV and the Mexican CTM, relative to that of the CGT.)

6. ILO Activities

Asked to comment on the ILO program in Argentina, the Minister said that the ILO regional office in Buenos Aires had played a positive role and he thought very highly of its director, Dr. Perla Roque de Marinelli. The government was in the process of preparing a new request to the ILO for assistance.

7. Comment

The 2,400 workers of GM's Barracas plant returned to their jobs on September 20, thus ending the cycle of auto worker strikes in the Buenos Aires area which had begun several weeks earlier. There have been unconfirmed reports, however, of continuing sporadic slowdowns in SEGBA, the city's public light and power facility (as well as isolated incidents of sabotage), and in some of the city's metalworking plants.

Two days after the above reported conversation, the Minister's security adviser telephoned Labatt on behalf of the Minister to report that he had not been able to obtain any information concerning the disappearance of FITE leader Alvarez. No complaint of a kidnapping had been registered with the police in this case. Other elements of the Embassy also proved unsuccessful in obtaining any further information. On September 24, AIFID sources informed Labatt in San Jose that intermediaries had paid a $300,000 ransom to Alvarez' kidnappers and that Alvarez had been released.

Consul of arrests of his nationals is a generally accepted practice contained in most of the United States Consular Bilaterals.

3. The Ministry officials by their comments clearly wished to consider the matter closed, as a fruitless prolemic about legal nicaties. The DCM responded that he believed that differences of interpretation should be clearly identified, but that the US interpretation of the points raised in the Ministry's note would have to come from the Department of State.

4. Since the Foreign Office stated that the identical text was being delivered to Dept today, text of Ministry's unnumbered note of Sept 14 is being transmitted by A/air pouch to ARA/ECA.

5. The Embassy awaits the Department's comments on the Argentine note with interest.

1. Ref A reported the current status of the legal proceedings against Mrs. Lopez. The process is now proceeding normally, and there are no grounds to assert that there is unreasonable delay. If trial process completed within four to six months (para 1, ref A), this would be well within customary time for such cases before Argentine courts.

2. Since some uncertainty has existed about whether Executive Branch deportation order or Judicial Branch proceedings have precedence under Argentine law, Embassy obtained opinion from Argentine law firm on that point. Firm of Bruno and Salas states that legal [redacted] procedures of the judicial system take precedence over expulsion order issued by Executive Branch and that order can not legally be executed until judicial processes are completed. Olga Talamante before completion of the judicial process was done extralegally by the then new military government with the acquiescence of the courts which were still uncertain of their authority with respect to the new regime. The attorney therefore believes that the Talamante case cannot be cited as a precedent in obtaining Lopez' expulsion before completion of the judicial processes.

3. Ref B recommended Embassy and Department press GOA for speedy trial of Lopez. Ref C instructed the Embassy to make representations with the object of obtaining Lopez' expulsion prior to the completion of the judicial process. As things now stand, we believe that the trial process is moving forward at an acceptable pace. In view of the legal advice that we have received, we do not believe it is feasible or productive to press the GOA to expel Lopez. Embassy has, since sending ref B, made a variety of informal approaches to officials in the GOA in an effort to have Lopez expelled or, failing that, to expedite judicial process. This process seems to be moving now, though it is not clear that the Embassy show of interest was responsible.

4. Embassy does not believe it would be fruitful to attempt to make a formal representation to GOA in Lopez' case. She has admitted acts which are grave violations of GOA security laws. She does have a public defender who is working in her behalf and the Embassy has regularly had access to her since August 4 (as Dept is aware from Weeks case, GOA contends that it may deny consular access when prisoner incommunicado). ConGen has been in correspondence with Judge, urging appropriate treatment for Lopez and we expect that local American Priest will be able to obtain permission to visit Lopez in addition to consular visit.

5. At this point Embassy does not believe additional pressure on GOA would be effective in obtaining Loken's expulsion. Embassy is not disposed to make argument with GOA that Loken case may attract US Congressional and public interest since this would elicit response that Loken is an admitted aide to Terrorist groups. At this point the best we can counsel is patience, and we can give assurances that Embassy will follow her case closely to assure prompt and equal legal treatment.

6. Consul visiting Lopez Sept 15 and will report current status upon return to Buenos Aires.

1. POLCOUNS RAISED JEOHVAH WITNESS PROBLEM SEPT 15 WITH DIRECTOR OF WORSHIP AT FOREIGN MINISTRY. COUNSELOR EMPHASIZED THAT US HAD NO WISH TO INTERFERE IN ARGENTINA'S INTERNAL AFFAIRS. WHETHER DECREE 1867 (SEE REF B) IS IN COMPLIANCE WITH ARGENTINE CONSTITUTION IS MATTER FOR ARGENTINE COURTS TO DECIDE. HOWEVER, COUNSELOR NOTED, THERE IS CONSIDERABLE CONCERN IN US AS TO DECREE'S IMPLICATIONS, ESPECIALLY IN TERMS OF FREEDOM OF RELIGIOUS EXPRESSION, AND EMBASSY FELT GOA SHOULD BE AWARE OF THIS CONCERN.

2. DIRECTOR OF WORSHIP REPLIED THAT QUESTION WAS UNPLEASANT ONE. HE PERSONALLY ADMIRED WITNESSES AS HARD-WORKING, MORALLY UPRIGHT GROUP WHICH IN MANY WAYS OTHER ARGENTINES WOULD DO WELL TO EMULATE. FURTHER, HE INSISTED, GOA'S ACTION DID NOT REFLECT RELIGIOUS PREJUDICE ON ITS PART. ON CONTRARY, MANY RELIGIONS ARE PRACTICED IN ARGENTINA. UNFORTUNATELY, HOWEVER, THERE ARE CERTAIN PRACTICES OF THE JEHOVAH WITNESSES WHICH ARE CIVIC/ POLITICAL IN NATURE. REFUSING TO SALUTE FLAGE IS ONE OF THEM. REFUSING TO SERVE IN ARMED FORCES IS ANOTHER. LATTER, HE POINTED OUT, IS DIRECT CONTRAVENTION OF ARTICLE 21 OF THE CONSTITUTION. INDEED, HE NOTED, ARTICLE 21 DEMANDED NOT JUST THAT CITIZENS "SERVE" IN ARMED

3. DIRECTOR WENT ON TO SAY THAT DESPITE OBJECTIONABLE FEATURES ABOVE AND DESPITE FACT THAT MEASURES CANCELLING WITNESSES REGISTRATION HAD BEEN ON BOOKS SINCE 1950, ACTION AGAINST THEM AT THIS POINT MIGHT NOT HAVE BEEN NECESSARY HAD THEIR ACTIVITIES BEEN RESTRICTED TO BUENOS AIRES OR TO "STRATEGICALLY SAFE" AREAS OF COUNTRY. SUCH PRACTICES IN PROVINCES OF CORRIENTES AND MISIONES, WHICH ARE VIRTUALLY SURROUNDED BY BRAZIL, HOWEVER, ARE QUITE ANOTHER THING. IN THESE STRATEGIC BORDER PROVINCES, THE GOA COULD NOT AFFORD TO TOLERATE THE EXAMPLE OF PEOPLE WHO WOULD NOT SWER ALLEGIANCE TO OR DEFEND THE ARGENTINE FLAG. GOVERNORS OF THOSE PROVINCES HAD DEMANDED ACTION AND CENTRAL AUTHORITIES HAD LITTLE CHOICE BUT TO COMPLY.

4. DIRECTOR CONCLUDED BY SAYING HE HAD NO DOUBT GOA'S ACTION WAS PERFECTLY LEGAL, AND GIVEN GEOPOLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS ABOVE, PRAGMATICALLY SOUND. WITNESSES HAD FULL RECOURSE TO COURTS AND COULD APPEAL DECREE TO SUPREME COURT IF THEY WISHED. HE ADDED THAT GOA INTENDED TO IMPLEMENT DECREE WITH AS MUCH FLEXIBILITY AND COMPASSION AS POSSIBLE AND IN SO DOING WOULD TAKE INTO CONSIDERATION CONCERN IN US MENTIONED BY COUNSELOR.

The Secretary: I want to be realistic. I can only speak for our Administration. I am deeply worried about military imbalance. I have spoken to Senator Kennedy about it. What we will do I can't say. What else happens on human rights will be important.

Carvajal: Well I think we are progressing toward normalcy, toward improvements in human rights. But at the same time the situation is every day harder.

The Secretary: All of my experts said that if we cut off FMS we would still have commercial sales. I was uneasy and they turned out wrong. The problem will arise again next year with Congress. We will certainly make every effort.

Carvajal: And the only real economic assistance to Chile in next year's legislation approved by Congress was $27.5 million. Of that, $15 million for PL-480 and $12.5 in credits and grants. I should like to confirm what Minister Cauas said to Secretary Simon on September 21. It would be better if economic aid were eliminated. We feel that assistance is generating problems in Chile and the U.S. Congress. We think it would be better if there was no new assistance.

The Secretary: I don't know what to say. If we cut off economic assistance, what is the result? Where will it end?

The Secretary: Their imagination is boundless.

Trucco: I was there when Cauas spoke to Simon. For this amount - $27.5 million - we had this distress.

The Secretary: You want to drop PL-480 also? You want to drop all aid?

Trucco: Yes. That's the $27.5 million.

Shlaudeman: That's what Congress has approved.

Trucco: After all there is nothing else. For the $27.5 million we have speeches in Congress against the Chilean Government.

The Secretary: Is this your suggestion?

Carvajal: It's similar to what we talked about last year. It's better to drop aid and not have all this publicity.

The Secretary: The whole thing is a goddamn disgrace. You may be right.

Shlaudeman: What about the international lending institutions? That bothers me.

The Secretary: What about the Harkin Amendment?

Shlaudeman: The next step would be legislation specifically against Chile in the IDB. I think the Secretary has a point.

The Secretary: At least maybe we can use this to restore commercial sales. Let me think about it. It's a new way of conducting foreign policy.

Carvajal: The other thing is with lending institutions. Several banks and lending institutions have made it clear to Chile that we can pass their test.

The Secretary: Which I understand is remarkable. You have made a remarkable improvement.

Carvajal: We think we're moving. Our performance will permit us access to international lenders but we have to request the cooperation of the U.S. Government. We don't like the idea of having a negative vote in the IDB.

The Secretary: We have two serious problems. One is the Harkin Amendment, the other is cases in which we have pressures. What about the World Bank? Are we voting against you there?

Trucco: I thought you didn't apply the Harkin Amendment to the World Bank. So far only to IDB.

The Secretary: I think somebody told me that Fraser was against this.

Shlaudeman: He changed his mind.

Trucco: In the case of the Harkin Amendment we notice that all the Latin American countries were supporting us--even Mexico.

The Secretary: I'm against politics in the international lending institutions. It will never work if every country attacks others. It will destroy the multilateral character. A lot depends on who wins the election. Rather it depends on the attitude of the new President. If the President makes a fight there will be possibilities. The President may be able to do something. I don't think Carter will if he wins.

Carvajal: I have some information and reports about the new chapters of our constitution that was promulgated September 11. Here are some excerpts from President Pinochet's constitution, acts and a summary.

The Secretary: How long will you keep the state of emergency? I understand that it voids the constitution.

Carvajal: Emergency rules are included in the constitution.

The Secretary: I frankly have not seen an analysis.

Shlaudeman: We did one for you. I'll send it to you.

The Secretary: Thank you. As I told you in Santiago, and in my speech, these are the problems. We hope very much that they can be reconciled. I have the warmest recollections of my trip. I don't know what you did with my wife during the day, but she was dazzled by Santiago. One problem is human rights abuse. I disagreed with Congress but it is a major issue as you know. Let me study this. After the election we should talk. It is dangerous to let it drop.

Carvajal: I think that before the election you could do something about the situation.

Huerta: We are troubled by a resolution before the third committee suggesting economic sanctions. The Dutch are behind it.

The Secretary: Economic sanctions against Chile?

Huerta: It's an idea that came up last September.

The Secretary: You think it has a chance?

Habib: I never heard of it.

The Secretary: It's totally inappropriate to pass economic sanctions against Chile. I can tell you 30 states with human rights problems worse than Chile's. We will oppose it.

Trucco: When you see the Amnesty International report, there is one page on Cuba, three on the USSR and 48 on Chile.

The Secretary: Let's not overthrow leftist governments. It's an unforgivable sin. The UN shouldn't apply sanctions to any country but can Scranton get in touch with van der Stoel.

4. COMMENT: THE EMBASSY SHARES THE BELIEF OF THE COMMUNISTS THAT GOC SECURITY FORCES KILLED UGARTE. THERE IS NO DIRECT EVIDENCE, BUT THE CIRCUMSTANCES POINT THAT WAY: THE DISAPPEARANCE WITHOUT WITNESSES, THE SEVERAL WEEKS BEFORE HER BODY WAS FOUND IN SUCH UNUSUAL CIRCUMSTANCES, HER PCCH LEADERSHIP POSITION, AND THE CONTINUING DINA CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE PCCH, IN WHICH A NUMBER OF COMMUNISTS HAVE BEEN DETAINED ILLEGALLY AND HAVE NOT REAPPEARED.

5. THE HITCH IN THIS SUPPOSITION IS THE UNUSUAL SURFACING OF THE MUTILATED BODY, ESPECIALLY ON THE EVE OF THE UN GENERAL ASSEMBLY. WHY WOULD DINA DISCLOSE SUCH AN ATROCITY, SINCE UGARTE'S PCCH STATUS WAS BOUND TO BECOME KNOWN, AND THE GOC TO BE ACCUSED OF THE KIDNAPPING AND MURDER? IT MAY BE THAT THE KILLERS WERE STUPID; IT WOULD NOT BE THE FIRST TIME. IN ADDITION, THERE HAVE BEEN A NUMBER OF BODIES FOUND IN UNUSUAL CIRCUMSTANCES IN THE SANTIAGO AREA IN RECENT MONTHS. THE SECURITY FORCES MAY BELIEVE THEMSELVES IMMUNE FROM PROSECUTION (AS THEY GENERALLY ARE) AND MAY WANT TO INTIMIDATE COMMUNISTS STILL AT LARGE--WHICH THEY HAVE APPARENTLY DONE IN THIS CASE.

6. THE EMBASSY IS NOT SANGUINE THAT THE INVESTIGATING MAGISTRATE WILL CLARIFY CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE CRIME--UNLESS IT CAN BE DETERMINED THAT UGARTE WAS KILLED BY A PSYCHOPATHIC RAPIST. WE RECALL THE CASE OF LUMI VIDELA, A MEMBER OF THE MOVEMENT OF THE REVOLUTIONARY LEFT (MIRL, WHO WAS THROWN OVER THE WALL OF THE ITALIAN EMBASSY RESIDENCE IN NOVEMBER 1974 (74 SANTIAGO 6670). EMBASSY OF MEXICO

No. 3476 Washington, October 8, 1976

Mr. Secretary:

On specific instructions from the Government of Mexico, I have the honor and particular pleasure cordially to invite the United States Government to send representatives to the Ceremony for the Transfer of Powers to be held on Wednesday, December 1, 1976, during which José López Portillo will be sworn in as the Constitutional President of the United Mexican States.

In view of the ties of friendship which so happily unite Mexico and the United States, it would be a great honor for Mexico if the United States delegation to the aforesaid event were headed by an official whose rank was no lower than that of Secretary of State or Special Ambassador.

The Government of Mexico will bear the living expenses of the head of the delegation and his wife during their stay in Mexico City. A detailed program of the activities is being prepared and will be transmitted to Your Excellency as soon as the Embassy receives it.

His Excellency
Henry A. Kissinger,
Secretary of State,
Washington, D.C.

I should be grateful to Your Excellency for informing the Embassy in due time of the names of the members of the United States delegation to the Ceremony for the Transfer of Powers of the Government of Mexico, as well as of the date and flight on which it will arrive at Mexico City. I avail myself of this opportunity to renew to you the assurances of my highest and most distinguished consideration.

I, Olga Talamante, of [redacted] do depose and state the following:

1. In August 1973, I travelled to Argentina after having graduated from the University of California at Santa Cruz, where I majored in Latin American studies. My intention in going to Argentina was to stay for about six months and possibly to attend the University of Buenos Aires for continuing my studies in Latin American history. I had met previously in Mexico a family that lived in Azul, in the province of Buenos Aires. I contacted them and found there was a possibility of getting a job teaching English in Azul. Since the University of Buenos Aires at that time was in turmoil, and in fact the rector of the University was being ousted, I decided to go to Azul, and there I got a job teaching English in a private institute.

2. When I came to Azul in August 1973, Juan Domingo Peron was about to return to Argentina. The Argentine Government was then supporting some social welfare programs which had been instituted in Azul as in other parts of the country. While I was teaching English classes in Azul, I came to know a number of young people, including Susana Pioli, now 18 years old, Mirta Varela, 27 years old, Edith Stahelli de Frias, 25 years old, Osvaldo Gasparini, 22 years old, Ruben Piazza, 20 years old, Eduardo Gonzales, 29 years old, Eduardo Grutsky, 18 years old, Juan Gonzales, 35 years old, and Julio Varela, 27 years old. I came to know these people through the activities of a municipal cultural commission in Azul, of which Eduardo Gonzales was the director.

3. At that time, several programs were being conducted in Azul to provide community services, community activities and cultural activities for adults and children. Some of those taking English classes were also engaged in the work of the cultural commission. The purpose of the community centers operated by the cultural commission was to provide social services which had not previously been made available by the government. The aim of the government and its officials was that people who had not had access to cultural activity and to basic social services such as tutoring programs and legal aid should now benefit from them. The cultural commission and the community centers in Azul were supported through government funding, were under the auspices of the municipal government, and operated under the direction of the Mayor of Azul, with whom the director of the cultural commission worked. The social programs were directly related to the general activities of the municipal government. I recall many times when we informed the government of an activity that we were about to carry out so that official assistance would be available for the events contemplated. Throughout the summer of 1973 -- which is during the months of November, December, and January in Argentina -- these programs in fact were very much encouraged by the government. The federal government policy was to support the programs, and it financed them, acting through the provincial governments and then the county and city authorities.

4. In 1973 and 1974, I continued to teach English, and on a volunteer basis I worked at one of the community centers. The nine people that I referred to earlier (see pages 1-2, supra) also worked at the community centers. There were three such centers in Azul. Of the nine people I have mentioned, three were high school students or graduates; several were workers at the ceramic tile factory in Azul; two were store clerks. We all worked at the centers on a volunteer basis. The centers that were operating under the government's auspices were providing services such as voter registration, legal aid, tutoring programs, and health care clinics. The centers also sought to have municipal lighting installed where needed and to have sections of the barrios levelled to avoid seasonal flooding. One of the main programs provided by the city and the cultural commission through the community centers was a series of children's activities, including field trips, puppet shows and other cultural events for those living in the poorest sections of Azul.

5. In June 1974, after President Juan Peron's death, the attitude of city officials with whom we were in contact began to change gradually. Slowly, funds that had been previously allotted for the programs of the community centers were reduced. For example, we began to notice that there was no longer a readiness on the part of city officials to respond to our requests as they had done previously. When we asked for paint that they had given us before, they said they had run out of it. Medical services that had been given to people free were now being charged for. The whole attitude of the officials in charge of carrying out these programs appeared to be changing. However, we never received word from the city officials or from the provincial or federal governments that the programs were to stop. In fact, we continued to receive enough assistance and materials to conclude that we would be able to continue the programs, albeit on a reduced scale.

6. The nine people I have mentioned (see pages 1-2, supra) who worked in the community centers were respected members of the Azul community. They had all attended school there. They had their friends, their families in Azul. Their civic interest was exemplified in the community center activities that they undertook, and they were widely admired for these activities. None of these people had had any encounters with the law; none had ever been arrested. The work they carried on in the community centers contributed to the social status and prestige they enjoyed in Azul. An example is Eduardo Gonzales who was the cultural commission director and whose father also had been deeply engaged in civic affairs. When I attended his father's funeral, all the principal city officials were present, and the family received expressions of condolence from several levels of government. The three high school students whom I mentioned lived at home. Susana Pioli lived with her mother; her father had died some time before; she was a third-year high school student planning to continue in school and possibly go on to college. Another student, Ruben Piazza, had graduated from one of the local high schools and had attended medical school in La Plata during one semester; he was in Azul on a vacation from the medical school. Eduardo Grutsky was a high school student; he lived with his parents, having lived in Azul for most of his life where his father was a businessman. Mirta Varela and Julio Varela were married; they were both from Azul. Julio Varela was well known in the Azul community, his father having been one of the all-time football heroes, as was the son. The son was also active in Catholic Church activities. Juan Gonzales was from one of the barrios where a community service center was located; he had long been involved in community service programs. He had also worked on a housing project. Eduardo Gonzales is married and has two children, a little boy and a little girl. Osvaldo Gasparini had graduated from one of the Azul high schools, and he had continued his studies in La Plata. He was back in Azul working as a store clerk. Osvaldo Gasparini underwent heart surgery in October 1974 and was thereafter in precarious health. Edith Stabelli de Frias was a store clerk; her family had land and cattle in the outskirts of Azul. She also had teaching credentials. She was married and was three-months pregnant in November 1974.

7. Early in November 1974 I was preparing to depart from Argentina and return to the United States. I wanted to see about entering graduate school in the United States, so I was getting ready to say goodbye to my friends in Azul. The activities in the community centers had continued up to that point with regularity, but, of course, at a reduced level because of the financial cutbacks reported previously. There had been no events to make us think that anything out of the ordinary was going to happen. We decided to have a party which was in a way to say goodbye to each other. We arranged a barbecue at the house of one of the families engaged in community center work. This was the Piazza family. The barbecue began during the day of November 10. Barbecues in Argentina are somewhat of a whole-day affair, with people coming in and out. The meat is laid out and cooked; there are drinks and salads; it is an informal gathering where one comes and goes and has different meals during the day. We were at the house for most of the afternoon listening to music and enjoying ourselves.

8. About 9:30 in the evening people started to leave. It was between 9:30 p.m. and 10:00 p.m. that I left together with Eduardo Gonzales; we were planning to walk downtown. We stepped out of the house and crossed the street. An unidentified car pulled in front of us, and a man got out and he said that we had to accompany him for questioning. We asked him why, and he did not answer. He took my purse away, and he said we had to go in the car with him. He pulled a gun out and pointed it at us and said we had to do what he told us to do. We went into the car. On approaching us, he had identified himself as a policeman and showed us a badge very fast before putting it away. He pointed the gun at us, so we climbed into the car. He kept pointing the gun at us and said if we moved or said anything he was going to shoot us. Another friend, , walked out of the house, somewhat behind us, and he also was apprehended at that point and put in the same car.

9. Then the three of us were driven to the police station, which was not very far from where the party had been. We were taken into the police station and stood up against a long wall with our hands against the wall and our feet spread out. We were not allowed to speak to each other at all or even to turn our heads to look at each other. As we were held against the wall, I learned from the sounds that other people at the barbecue had been arrested while they were going home, and a couple of people while they were still in the house. That same night, a couple of other people, Susana Pioli being one of them, were arrested. She had not been at the party but had been arrested later at her home. The following day still other people were brought into the police station for questioning. They were people who had been working at the community service centers. Some were released.

10. In the police station, we spent most of that night and the following day with our hands against the wall and with our feet spread out. We were not allowed to look in any other direction except straight at the wall. In the early morning hours of November 11, I was taken to a room, with my hands tied behind my back, and a cloth bag was put over my head and tied. I was told to sit in a corner and stay there, not move, and not talk to anyone. I could tell there were other people in the same situation that I was by the shawdows cast by their figures.

11. During the day of November 11, I was interrogated by police officers. They identified themselves as police officers. They said they knew that I had killed police officers, and that I had been involved in bombings of police stations, and that it was best for me to admit these crimes; otherwise terrible things would happen to me. Then I was beaten with blows from their fists and kicked between the legs. Both the police officer who was speaking and others around him beat me with their fists, kicked me, and hit me on the head and on all parts of my body. The accusations included my having killed the chief of police who had been killed in Buenos Aires. In fact, I had not been in Buenos Aires for three months previous to the arrest. When I was being interrogated, the police said if I gave a no answer I was sure to be hit. So, when they asked me, did you do it, and I said no, I was immediately smashed against the wall by one of the people in the room.

12. After this phase of the interrogation, I was put into the same room with some of the other people with whom I was arrested. We were woken up in the middle of the night (November 11-12) by a group of people whom I could not see, but believed to be the same police officers in the police station. They beat us, kicked us, and dragged me by the hair. The others in the room were Eduardo Gonzales, Ruben Piazza, and Julio Varela. During this time, there was no real interrogation; the process was mainly accusations, and then we were all beaten and kicked, and I was dragged across the floor by someone who grabbed my hair. I was kicked in the chest and between the legs several times. Then we were left in the same room.

13. On the morning of November 13, I was taken to a room by myself, to what looked like an office. I believe there were at least three men there; at least I was spoken to by three men. There might have been other people present but I was not able to see because at this point they had put adhesive tape over my eyes down to the tip of my nose. I was seated on a chair with my hands tied behind my back and they informed me that the serious interrogation was going to take place at this point and that I was better off to respond adequately. They then again asked me about the activities that I was supposedly involved in -- the killing of the police chief in Buenos Aires -- and they related it to the activities that we carried on in the community centers. Next, they applied to me electric shocks while I was fully clothed; they applied it to my arms and my face, to my lips and my head. At that point I was threatened with very, very horrible things that were going to happen to me if I did not answer adequately. I later found out in prison that the people who were next door heard me screaming during the subsequent torture and began to ask what was happening, so the police officers turned the radio up very loud so that my screams should not be heard.

14. They threatened me with gang rape, and they threatened me with killing and throwing me in a ditch some place. They said they could get rid of me and no one would ever find out what happened to me; they could say that I tried to escape, that in fact I had escaped, and that they didn't know where I was. They gave proof that they were able and willing to do this by beating me and by applying further electric shocks. They said that they could apply the electric shocks for so long that I would be unable to bear children, that I would go crazy, that they would burn my whole body up with the electric shocks. That went on for a couple of hours right there in that office, and then they stopped. They said they would get to me later.

15. Hardly an hour later I was then taken to an upstairs room. This was still in the police station; I had already been upstairs before then to be examined by a doctor. Everyone else was also examined by a doctor. I was asked at that time if I suffered any heart ailments, and I said I did because I thought that they would take that into consideration. I told them that I did have a weak heart.

16. When I was taken upstairs, my eyes were covered so I did not know exactly what room I was in. I was taken into several rooms before I was finally deposited into one room. I was sat down on what seemed to me to be a bed. They took all my clothes off, and then they strapped me to the bed. They tied me spread-eagle fashion. They tied both of my wrists to the bedpost and both of my ankles to the bedpost. I heard at least five or six different voices, and I could sense that there were several people in the room. The radio was on very loud and they seemed to be plugging and unplugging things constantly. Then they proceeded to apply the electric shocks throughout my body. On my head, on my eyes, on top of the adhesive tape, on my nipples, vulva, vagina, the joints of my legs, and my fingers and my toes, and at one point they stopped and asked me if I would rather be raped; they asked what I preferred, whether I preferred to be given the electric shocks or to be raped. I told them I didn't want either. At one time they went through the motions of preparing to rape me, but in fact they did not. I was given the electric shock treatment first tied up with my head facing up. Then they untied me, put me face down, and proceeded to apply the electric shocks in that position also. I became numb and was very hazy. I believe it went on for a few hours, two or three hours; I lost sense of time. Later, trying to reconstruct the period of time from how long people heard me scream, we concluded that it was two to three hours. My joints were numb completely and I had lost all sense of time and place by the end of the torture. They stopped and told me to put my clothes on, which I could not do by myself, so one of them helped me put my clothes on. I was taken then to another room, where I was left tied up to a chair. I was left there the remainder of that day and that night.

17. It was not until the following morning (November 14) that I was taken downstairs and the adhesive tape was taken off. They then informed us that we were going to be taken to the prison that afternoon. Later that morning, Judge Ippolito, of the federal district court in Azul visited the police station. He asked me if I had been mistreated, and I told him I had been. He said he would ask for a doctor's examination of me, and I was taken into a room by the same doctor who was the police doctor and who had examined us before the torture. This doctor looked at my face and at my stomach, and said "you don't have any signs of torture." He immediately went out of the room and said, "this woman is lying she does not have any signs of torture." He told the Judge this.

18. Later that day, all ten of us were taken to Azul prison, Unit 7. Before we were transported to the prison, one of the police officers read to me a statement that stated generally my personal data such as name, place of birth, and nationality. This was done also to the other people who had been arrested. I was forced to sign the statement by another police officer who held a gun pointed at my head. Upon arriving at the prison, I was immediately asked by the receiving penal officer whether I was the one that had been tortured with electric shocks. I said yes, and he said well, "we have to have an examination right away." A male nurse came to examine me. He said that he did not want to make a statement, that he wanted the doctor to examine me, the official prison doctor. So then the doctor came, and it was at that time that I first saw all the marks that I had on my body. The doctor proceeded to describe them and enumerate them in the prison record. The prison officials evidently feared being held responsible for what had been done to me at the police station, thinking I might claim later that they had done it at the prison. So they took note of and recorded all the bruises and burns and in general the condition that I arrived in, so there is a medical record of that at the prison.

19. Because I did not have direct relatives who could visit me, I did not have visiting hours for a period of almost four weeks. I was not able to communicate with the men who were arrested at and after the party on November 10. The women and I were put in the same cell. I learned that they had been subjected to very much the same treatment at the police station -- beating, kicking, dragging by the hair, and constant verbal and physical harassment by the police officers. They related to me that they had been subjected to the same threats of rape and threats of being killed if they did not answer adequately the questions that were being put to them.

20. On arrival at the prison, we were in deplorable condition in view of what had been done to us at the police station, the fact that we had had nothing to eat since November 10, and that we had been bound with nylon ropes. We had bruises from the ropes on our wrists and ankles. Since we had been lying on the floor for four nights and four days, with no blankets, we were very stiff and very weak, especially the woman who was three-months pregnant. She was suffering additionally from an anemic condition. Although I was not in direct contact with the men because I was denied visiting privileges, relatives of the other women told me the men had been beaten. Eduardo Gonzales, even four weeks after the arrest (which was the first time I was permitted to see him), still showed very large bruises on his face and, in fact, the official picture that was taken of him by the prison authorities clearly shows this condition. I was able to see this photograph when we were taken to see the director of the prison as he had it posted along with pictures of all the other prisoners. I was not able to talk in private with the men until several weeks after the arrest because prison officials were always present. However, the six men were able to convey to me that they had been subjected to the same abusive treatment and torture that I had undergone. Osvaldo Gasparini, who had had heart surgery not long before the arrests, was in particularly poor physical condition. He was subjected to blows directly to the scar of the operation and this action has had very adverse effects on him. All of the six men were beaten, kicked and severely bruised by the police officers, and they were constantly threatened with being killed and were subjected to electric shock.

21. At the prison, I and the other three women who were arrested with me, together with others, were housed in a single cell. There were 17 of us at one time in the cell. Part of our cell was a bathroom with one cold-water shower. The cell had one window for ventilation. One of the worst things about our cell was that it was directly under the men's bathroom which was located on the second floor. A sewer pipe from that bathroom was constantly leaking urine and feces. We had continually to clean the walls of our cell; when we asked the prison authorities to fix the sewer pipe they refused, saying it would take too much money and time. They said we could just keep cleaning up the sewage. We were housed in that single cell with very little ventilation. The prison was not heated, and there were strict quotas on the amounts of clothing and blankets that we were permitted to have. During the winter, the temperature would go below freezing, and still we were not provided with adequate heating or adequate clothing. As a result, several of us suffered frostbite of our hands and feet. Susana Pioli, Mirta Varela and I complained about the situation, but our requests for additional blankets and clothing and better methods of heating the cell were in vain.

22. Edith Stahelli de Frias, the woman who was three-months pregnant when arrested, was due to give birth to her child in May. The prison officials ignored our requests on behalf of Edith for medical care. They waited until the last minute -- when we she was already in labor -- to take her to the hospital. They brought both her and her baby back to the prison within three hours of the birth. She received no post-natal care and, in fact, Edith arrived back at the prison still unconscious from the anesthesia. We took the baby and waited for the mother to recover. Edith and her baby were allowed to stay in a separate cell for a few weeks. This was at our request, to protect the baby from infections through living in the same cell with 16 adults. For six months, the mother experienced bleeding and became progressively weaker. She fainted several times before she was finally taken to the hospital, where it was discovered that she still carried part of the placenta in her uterus -- a dangerous condition that could have caused a fatal infection. Later the mother and baby were forced to lodge in the common cell with the rest of us because of a regulation requiring political prisoners be kept apart from non-political prisoners.

23. The food provided for the political prisoners was basically bread, some vegetables, and some meat. The baby was not given any special treatment or food. Edith had to get everything she needed from her relatives. This included vitamins, certain vegetables, cheese and fruit the baby needed. We asked about examinations and shots for the baby; the prison officials delayed and often ignored the requests totally.

24. The six men (see pages 1-2, supra) were housed in a solitary confinement row in individual cells. Osvaldo Gasparini, who had had the heart operation, was left alone in a cell. He had a number of heart seizures in which he lost consciousness; the prison guards would often go by, ignoring him. Later they would sometimes -- but not always -- bring doctors to see him. The doctors would give him a couple of pills to make him sleep and that would be the end of the doctors' efforts.

25. The women, including myself, were allowed to go out onto a small patio in the morning and in the afternoon for up to a period of two hours in the morning and in the afternoon. We were also permitted to go outside to hang up our clothes after washing them -- something the men could not do. The men had to hang their clothes inside their cells. The men, at first, were also allowed to exercise outside daily for two hours. Until December 31, 1975, we were allowed to receive books, magazines, newspapers and to write letters without restrictions, except that we knew our letters were read by prison officials. But there was no restriction on the number of letters sent and received.

26. Some time after we were arrested, a lawyer who had been contacted by one of the relatives came to see us. We saw him but once, and we later learned that owing to pressure from government officials he withdrew from our case.

27. I was summoned with Mirta Varela in December 1974 to the chambers of Judge Ippolito where we gave statements separately. My statement was given to the Judge's secretary; the Judge was not present. He only came into the room once to ask me on which day I had been tortured. He made no further inquiries. After giving the statement in which I told about my torture, a different statement was read to me. After the formal complaint of torture was filed, I was returned to the prison.

28. On December 31, 1974, the Judge's secretary came to the prison and read us the Judge's decision which stated we were to remain in preventive custody. The secretary also read the charges against us. The charges under which we were held involved violations of Articles 1 and 2 of the Argentine Security Law, Law No. 20.840. The charges made by the police were that they found subversive written material and weapons in the house where we held the barbecue. The weapons and material that the police claimed to find in the house were not produced until three days after our arrest. All the people at the party, including the people who owned the house, said that these things were not in the house. The secretary of the Judge then proceeded to inform us that we were being detained so that investigation could be conducted of the aforementioned charges. At the time we were read the statement, identical charges were dismissed as to four other people arrested along with me in November. However, because the state of siege had been imposed, they continued to be held under the Executive Power Law. The four people were Susana Pioli, Pedro Frias , Teresa Frias , and Argentino Gonzalez Gonzales. Three of these people have now been released; one remains in Argentina and two were allowed to leave the country under a constitutional law that allows political prisoners without any charges the option to leave Argentina. Susana Pioli is still detained without any charges, because at the time of her arrest she was a minor, and therefore was not allowed to make the choice of leaving Argentina. She continues to be in prison without any charges to this day.

29. After the statement by the Judge's secretary was read to us, we proceeded to get another lawyer. With the assistance of relatives of one of the prisoners, we retained Dr. Perez Abraham, of Azul.

30. In May 1975, I was visited by a lawyer from the United States, Leonard Weinglass, and Edward McCaughan, a friend from the committee which had worked to free me. They discovered that the federal prosecutor had yet to file formal charges against us, but the two were informed that the Judge would sentence us in July. July was the date set because it was eight months after our arrest; if we were to be sentenced at all, we would receive the minimum sentence. In this event, we would legally be eligible for parole. The Judge had also given us this explanation on previous occasions. However, we were not sentenced in July, for several reasons which were later conveyed to us by relatives of other prisoners. First, there were several strikes by government workers. In addition, the Judge received serious threats. He received a picture of his daughter with a letter encouraging him to make the "right" decision in this case. As a consequence, the Judge took a month's vacation in July and August. Thus, sentencing was delayed until September 1975 -- ten months after we had been arrested. The procedure consisted of the filing of charges by the prosecutor, the defense lawyer presenting our case in writing, and the Judge reviewing the evidence before passing sentence. There was no trial and no direct or cross-examination; there was no appearance by the defendants before the Judge. The Judge gave each of us a three-year sentence. After passing sentence, the Judge resigned immediately.

31. After being informed of the sentence, all nine of us (excluding Susana Pioli who had no charges pending against her) decided to appeal our sentence to the appellate court in La Plata, which is also in the province of Buenos Aires. Throughout the proceedings of the case even before sentencing, our lawyer, Perez Abraham, was the victim of threatening letters, and before the sentence was passed, his house was bombed. We came to realize that because of these threats and attacks, his representation of us had become perfunctory and pro forma, so after the decision to appeal, we relieved him from further responsibility in our case. We did not retain another lawyer. We were informed that a public defender in La Plata had been assigned to our appeal, but we never saw nor heard from him. After filing the appeal, we did not receive any reply during the six months that followed.

32. During that period of six months, conditions at the prison changed for the worse. In December 1975 we were informed that the military were assuming complete control of the prison with special attention to political prisoners. We were also informed of new regulations which restricted visiting hours to only a half hour on Saturdays and a half hour on Sundays, whereas previously we had two hours on each of those days. They also restricted the amount of recreation time to one hour per day.

They limited the amount of reading material to one book per person per week, plus one newspaper and one magazine a week. Finally, visiting privileges were restricted to parents, spouses, and children only, whereas before other relatives could visit the prisoners.

33. On March 27, 1976, three days after the military coup in Argentina, I was in my cell with the rest of the women political prisoners when a female guard and a military officer came in and told me to get dressed. I asked them where they were taking me, but they did not reply. They merely said I had to go with them. I got dressed and went with them to that part of the women's section of the prison where the solitary confinement cells are located. I was put in one of the cells with nothing but a cot to sit on and ordered to wait. I waited about four or five hours until four or five military officers came to get me. By that time they had told the women in the cell to pack my things as I was leaving. Again, they did not inform them where I was to go. I took my personal effects and was led outside the prison. Here, I was given my documents (my passport and other identification papers that had been kept in the prison office), and I signed some papers. I was then taken, handcuffed and heavily guarded, in a paddy-wagon to a small airfield on the outskirts of Azul near the prison. There we waited until a small plane landed. Five men came out of the plane, one of them came to the paddy-wagon, took my handcuffs off, put new ones on, took all of my things to the plane, took me to the plane, seated me, and proceeded to lock my handcuffs to a chain attached to the floor.

34. Throughout the trip, the men refused to answer any of my inquiries. We landed in Buenos Aires at an airfield which I believe belongs to the air force. It was not the international commercial airport in Buenos Aires. From this field, I was driven to a large prison in Buenos Aires, to Villa de Voto. There, I was registered after an argument among the guards whether they should register me or not. At this point, I became very scared because I didn't know whether they were trying to get rid of me. They finally registered me and then took me to the second floor of the prison. There were women prisoners on the first floor, but I was taken to a completely empty second floor. I spent that evening there in a large empty cell with only a cot and a couple of blankets. I was still not told where I was being taken or what was happening to me, so I believed that I was being transferred to that prison. The following morning there was a change of guards, but the new guards also did not know what was happening, or they would not tell me.

35. I spent the entire day in that cell until the evening, at which time I was taken out by a different route from that by which I had come into the prison, through the back. They put my things in a station-wagon and I was handcuffed to a prison authority. I was taken in that station-wagon which was led by another car with a couple of men pointing machine guns at people so that they would give way to our caravan. We were taken to the airport, and there I was met by United States Embassy officials.

36. They told me I was going home and asked me if I would object to a medical examination, which I did not object to. I was examined by an Argentine doctor and asked to sign an affidavit in front of the Embassy official in which I stated that immediately prior to my release I had not been harassed or in any way physically abused by any authority. I signed the paper. One of the Embassy officials then told me that I was being released under a special law providing for the explusion of foreigners who were in government custody.

37. I was put on a plane and flown directly to New York, and from there I proceeded to California. I was taken from Azul on the afternoon of March 26, 1976, spent that night in Buenos Aires, and then on the 27th in the early evening I was flown from Buenos Aires to New York and arrived in New York on the morning of the 28th.

38. Since my release, I have learned in letters from relatives that the sentence has been confirmed for the people who were arrested with me and who had filed the appeal. Susana Pioli, the woman who was in prison without any charges, remains in prison. I have also learned from relatives of those people in prison and from letters directly from the men that prison conditions have gotten much worse since I left. It has evidently become a consistent practice to treat political prisoners worse than common prisoners. I observed this before leaving Azul, and news that I have received from the prisoners' relatives confirms that the practice has worsened. Non-political prisoners, for example, get more visiting hours with relatives; they are allowed to write more often; and they are allowed to receive food and other articles from relatives. This is specifically the case in the Azul prison. Through letters from relatives and from the men themselves, I have learned that protein and vitamin deficiencies are such that Ruben Piazza has suffered loss of hair and loss of teeth. The man who had the heart operation, Osvaldo Gaspirini, is in especially bad shape. His family has been trying to get a court order to have him transferred back to Azul prison since his doctor is in Azul and it would be easier for him to get medical attention there. (the men prisoners were transferred from Azul prison to Sierra Chica in June , 1975. To the best of my knowledge, they remain there today.) When relatives have complained about the situation, they have been harassed and threatened. The relatives sometimes have taken vitamins to the prisoners but the latter have never received them. The nine are not allowed any sort of food supplement to their diets. In the case of Susana Pioli, her mother has made many trips to Buenos Aires to try to secure her release, but to no avail. The government officials have also denied Susana the option to leave the country.

39. All the nine people who remain in prison have been losing weight as a result of a deficient diet, and the situation of the baby and her mother continues to be serious as now the diet from the prison which is totally inadequate cannot be supplemented by the food that relatives were previously allowed to bring in. My information concerning the prison and health conditions of the six men comes from letters I have received from their relatives.

40. After having filed for parole, the nine people still in prison have concluded that they have no other recourse to alleviate their situation, given the internal situation in Argentina. No one has been able to suggest to them any further steps that they could take in Argentina to secure their release.

RELEASED IN FULL

DK: Henry, on the 22nd of October, I am taking agroup of 13 chief executives to Mexico to meet with Portillo. Murphy from General Motors, Sears and Robuck, Arco, and some others. It will be about 13 or 14. I have been working on it since last June and Portillo asked if I would put such a group together. He wanted to make a serious effort to try to get American investments back in Mexico. He was very serious. He has told us that he plans on spending the entire day with us. They have requested no government involvement. Whether he is serious or not only time will tell but some people are beginning to find out about this and I wanted you to know it in case there is any message you would like to get across at the meeting. And I wanted you to know so you won't wonder why I didn't tell you.

K: Well, I think it is a good idea. We have had an opportunity to have a long talk with Lopez Portillo recently. Except you might get across that it is awfully hard to do business with them when there is this constant harrassment publically. He has to chang the tone a little bit.

DK: I think he already knows that. He has also asked me to put put together a list of people in the business and academic communities for the inauguration.

K: Do you want us to have our Ambassador alerted?

DK: I would just as soon not. I think the less information that is out about it the better. But I leave it up to you. Once it gets into that -- you sending communications down there -- then too many people know about it.

K: Okay, fine.

DK: Good.

K: Many thanks.

1. REFTELS REPORTED THE VISIT TO SANTIAGO IN FEBRUARY 1975 OF CUBAN EXILES ARZANDRO VIDEL VALDES, FRANCISCO BATLLI, AND LUIS FUENTES. THEY IDENTIFIED THEMSELVES AS MEMBERS OF A COMMITTEE FOR CUBAN COVERNMENT IN EXILE AND, ACCORDING TO THE PRESS, URGED PRESIDENT PINOCHET IN AN INTERVIEW TO RECOGNIZE AN EVENTUAL CUBAN GOVERNMENT IN EXILE. PINOCHET WAS NONCOMMITTAL.

2. OCTOBER 13 AN EMBOFF WAS VISITED BY A CHILEAN CIVILIAN WHO AT THAT TIME HAD BEEN ON THE STAFF OF THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE TO THE JUNTA (COAJ)--A COMMITTEE UNDER MILITARY LEADERSHIP THAT ADVISES THE PRESIDENT ON A BROAD RANGE OF SUBJECTS. THE SOURCE SAID THAT ABOUT TWO WEEKS AFTER THE FEBRUARY 19, 1975 MEETING WITH PINOCHET, A LETTER ARRIVED FROM THE CUBANS TO THE PRESIDENT, WHICH WAS BUCKED TO COAJ FOR RECOMMENDATION. OUR SOURCE SAID HE WAS ASKED TO HANDLE THE MATTER. HE FOUND THE LETTER VERY CRUDE, IN STYLE AND LANGUAGE, AND ALSO IN THOUGHT: THE CUBANS SUGGESTED THAT IN RETURN FOR THE USE OF CHILE AS A SAFEHAVEN IN CASE OF TROUBLE ABROAD, THEY WOULD TAKE CARE OF ANY CHILEAN EXILES THE GOC WOULD LIKE TO INDICATE. THE SOURCE RECOMMENDED STRONGLY AGAINST ANY FURTHER CONTACT WITH THE CUBANS, AND COAJ RETURNED THE LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT'S STAFF

1. I strongly recommend that we give these cables to the FBI intact rather than editing them.

a. The FBI knows that we communicate by cable. They will probably ask for the originals. If they were to suppenaa them, I do not know how we could resists.

b. The General Walters connection may or may not be important. Besides Stroessner, Colonel Manuel Contreras considers himself a bosum buddy of the General. I think that the FBI should know. The General is an old hand. He can take care of himself.

c. If the fact that we intentionally witheld information on the Letelier investigation became public, we would be subject to a storm of criticism. I recognize that we run the risk of leaks. In my judgement we run greater risks if we appear to withold information.

Invitation to the Inauguration of Jose Lopez Portillo

The Problem

We have received an invitation from the Government of Mexico to send a delegation to the December 1 inauguration of their new President. During your meeting in Washington with Lopez Portillo last month, you told him you hoped to be able to attend the ceremony. Assuming that you will head the U. S. delegation, who should accompany you?

Background/Analysis

-- It would be most appropriate for you to head the U.S. delegation to Lopez Portillo's inauguration. Secretary Rogers headed our delegation to Echeverria's investiture (I misinformed you on this point) in 1970, and given the intensity and significance of our relationship with Mexico, your presence would be most helpful in giving a clear expression of our desire to maintain a close, friendly and cooperative relationship with Mexico, and particularly with Lopez Portillo, with whom we seem to have gotten off to a good start during his recent visit to the U.S.

-- With regard to additional members of the delegation, who should number no more than eight or nine, three or four congressional leaders would be appropriate, as would several business leaders who have had dealings with Mexico. The U.S. delegations to the previous two Mexican Presidential inaugurations have included the Assistant Secretary for Inter-American Affairs, and, of course, the U. S. Ambassador to Mexico. (For your information, Senator Mansfield headed the U.S. delegation to Diaz Ordaz's 1964 inauguration, and the list was at that time heavily weighted on the congressional side.)

A representative delegation would look something like this:

Henry A. Kissinger
Secretary of State (Head of Delegation)

Joseph John Jova
U. S. Ambassador to Mexico

William D. Rogers or Harry W. Shlaudeman
Under Secretary Assistant Secretary for Economic Affairs for Inter-American Affairs

Senator Gale W. McGee of Wyoming
Chairman of the Western Hemisphere Affairs
Subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee

Senator Pete V. Domenici of New Mexico
He is demonstrating an increasing interest in Latin American affairs.

Representative Dante B. Fascell of Florida
Chairman of the International Political and Military Affairs Subcommittee of the House
International Affairs Committee

Representative Henry B. Gonzalez of Texas

A. W. Clausen
President, Bank of America
Clausen has had an interest in Mexico and met with Mexican cabinet officials.

Inauguration of Jose Lopez Portillo as President of Mexico - December 1

The Problem

The Mexican inauguration ceremonies will last for five days. Which events should you attend?

Discussion

The Mexican Government has now given us an outline of the ceremonies involved in the inauguration of their new President. The swearing-in ceremony will take place at 11:00 am, December 1. However, ceremonies and festivities involving visiting delegations extend for five days, from November 29 through the night of December 3.

The schedule is similar to the one that inaugurated Echeverria in 1970. On that occasion Secretary Rogers arrived on the afternoon of November 29, presented credentials to the outgoing President on November 30, and departed following the 11:00 am swearing-in of Echeverria on December 1.

Your minimum participation would be attendance at the presentation of credentials to Echeverria at noon November 30, and the swearing-in ceremonies at 11:00 am on December 1. However, I recommend that you extend your stay for one additional day to participate in the luncheon given by Lopez Portillo on December 2.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. BRENT SCOWCROFT
THE WHITE HOUSE

Subject: Delegation to the Inauguration of Jose Lopez Portillo

We have received an invitation from the Government of Mexico to send a delegation to the December 1 inauguration of their new President.

The official U. S. delegations to the last three Mexican Presidential inaugurations have numbered approximately ten persons and it is recommended that a similar number of delegates be named for the forthcoming inauguration. Secretary Rogers headed the delegation to the Echeverria inauguration six years ago.

In response to the personal invitation extended to Secretary Kissinger by the President-elect during his Washington visit, the Secretary informed him that he would be delighted to attend.

The two previous Mexican Presidential inaugurations have included the Assistant Secretary for Inter-American Affairs and the U. S. Ambassador to Mexico.

Traditionally, several members of the Congress have been named to the Delegation, as well as outstanding Americans from the private sector.

The Department of State recommends the following delegation to the inauguration of Jose Lopez Portillo for the consideration of the White House.

The Secretary/Chief Justice Burger
11/8/76 4:45 pm

RELEASED IN FULL

K: Mr. Chief Justice, how nice to hear from you.

B: I see you will be getting a little bit of a rest finally.

K: I have got the prospect of a rest.

B: I almost envy you. I just received a call from the Ambassador of Mexico who said he had a formal invitation which would be the subject of a conversation between himself and the new President-elect. urging me and Mrs. Burger to attend his inauguration. I assume that there is something in the machinery for a delegation from the US down there and I was a little puzzled by a direct invitation to me.

K: There is something in the mill. I was going to head the delegation. But there is a custom on the part of the Mexican President also to invite some personal guests.

B: Well, in the first place, I am not overly anxious to take a trip to Mexico City. I am overly anxious to avoid any diplomatic problem.

K: Well, Mr. Chief Justice, there are no diplomatic problems. We could make you the head of the delegation. I have no overwhelming interest in it. Frankly, I wanted an excuse to take a vacation in Mexico but I can do that any time.

B: I have no desire to head the delegation I assure you.

K: I am sure we can work this one out. I will check exactly what the Mexicans have in mind.

B: Because I don't want to get wires crossed here. If I can make it, I would be perfectly content to go as a personal guest of the President.

K: Let me check just what this is about. I have never headed a delegation to one of these events.

B: I just headed a delegation to the funeral of the Irish President, but there were no complications there.

K: Let me check.

B: Henry, I will do it any way you want.

K: Many thanks.

MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

PARTICIPANTS: [redacted]
Felix C. Vargas, Political Officer

DATE & PLACE: Nov. 9, 1976, Vargas' Residence
Santiago, Chile

SUBJECT: DINA involvement in Orlando Letelier's Death

COPIES TO: Chargé/ADCM, POL, POL/R,
ARA/AND/CH, INR/OIL/B, INR/RRA

[redacted] mentioned to me (November 6) that he had come across some disturbing bits of information implicating the DINA in the murder of Orlando Letelier. (See earlier memo.) A lady friend of his knew of a recent trip to the States by a DINA agent and was willing to discuss it. [redacted] asked me if I would be interested in talking with her on Nov. 9. The meeting was set up for 1930 hours.

[redacted]

[redacted] her husband is a very good friend of DINA agent Raul Baden. Baden has frequented her house often and is a "drinking buddy" of her husband's. On more than one occasion Baden has stayed late into the night drinking and conversing with her husband. [redacted] told me that Baden has since borrowed money from husband and has not paid up -- which might explain why he does not come around any more.)

In the week preceding Letelier's death, Baden reportedly told her husband that he would be travelling to Vancouver Thursday, Sept. 16 on a Canadian Pacific flight. Baden stated that he was accompanying " a superior" GOC official and that upon arrival they would be renting a car and travelling to Washington. The drive would be hurried, he stated, as they had only four days to get to their destination. Baden mentioned that he would be travelling with a passport under a false name.

[redacted] she next saw Baden on October 29 while walking downtown. Baden was wearing a new, "US made" suit. She complimented him on it, to which he replied, "Yes, I paid $200." [redacted] asked him when he had been in the U.S. and he replied that he had not been to the U.S. But he had been abroad, she insisted. Yes, he replied, but to Mexico and Argentina. They continued conversing and then Baden asked what she thought about the Letelier assassination. She replied that it was repugnant and it was terrible that such a thing should happen. She then asked him what the international opinion was. Baden answered, "Oh, they think the DINA did it." He then told her that an anti-Castro Cuban exile by the name of Huerta (false name , she assumes) accompanied him back to Santiago and that he -- Huerta -- would be talking to President Pinochet. Baden then excused himself and left. [redacted] has not seen him since.

[redacted] describes Baden as tall, muscular, with light colored hair. He is of German extraction. She states that Baden belonged to the GAP (Grupo de Amigos Personales), Allende's bodyguards. He was arrested shortly after the coup, but released later and given a new job. Baden is reportedly obsessed with material items and money. [redacted] says of him: "He is a man without principles and morals, a mercenary who will sell himself to the highest bidder." Baden reportedly underwent specialized driver's training outside of Chile and can conduct high-speed maneuvers with cars.

Curiously, it was [redacted] who said, after learning of Letelier's death, "Baden was involved."

[redacted] who knows Baden, told me that he has heard that Baden will be travelling to Europe in the near future. "Watch the headlines [redacted] to see who is next."

COMMENT: [redacted] exhibited a great nervous tension when we began our conversation. We talked about a number of unrelated subjects and had two drinks before we began talking about Baden. (She later confessed she was hesitant to say too much for fear that I might be associated with some "American intelligence apparatus" -- which in turn could have collaborated with the DINA in Letelier's death.) She is about 25 and attractive.

[redacted] sounded convincing and sure of herself. My conversation on Nov. 6 on the same subject left me with many doubts. After talking to [redacted] I am inclined to think that there is something here worthy of some follow up.

HE REGRETS THAT YOU COULD NOT SEE EACH OTHER AT THAT TIME BUT GIVES HIGHEST PRIORITY TO AN EARLY MEETING. HE HAS SENT SMALL DELEGATION OF SENATORS TO WASHINGTON TO ESTABLISH CONTACTS WITH YOUR STAFF, BUT EMPHASIZED THAT NOTHING COULD REPLACE DIRECT PERSONAL CONTACT BETWEEN YOU BOTH. 3. COMMENT: THERE IS A LONG TRADITION OF MEXICAN PRESIDENTS-ELECT BEING INVITED TO VISIT THE U.S. PRESIDENT PRIOR TO TAKING OFFICE. THESE MEETINGS HAVE TAKEN PLACE IN WASHINGTON, AND ON ONCE OCCASION AT THE LBJ RANCH, AND HAVE PROVED USEFUL IN ADDING A PERSONAL FLAVOR, MOST IMPORTANT TO RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES. AS FAR AS I CAN RECALL, NO U. S. PRESIDENT-ELECT HSS COME TO MEXICO PRIOR TO TAKING OFFICE. SUCH A VISIT WOULD BE A VISIBLE SIGN OF YOUR WILLINGNESS TO PLACE THE RELATIONSHIP ON A FULLY EQUAL BASIS. IT WOULD ALSO BE SEEN AS A CONFIMATION OF THE IMPORTANCE YOU ATTACH TO LATIN AMERICA AND SPECIFICALLY TO MEXICO.

4. SHOULD THE VISIT TAKE PLACE PRIOR TO JLP'S DEC. 1 INAUGURAL, IT WOULD HAVE THE ADVANTAGE THAT YOU ARE BOTH IN THE SAME STATUS. IT WOULD HAVE THE DISADVANTAGE THAT PRESIDENT ECHEVERRIA WOULD STILL BE ON THE SCENE AND IT WOULD BE PREFERABLE THAT THE MEETING TAKE PLACE AT SOME POINT OTHER THAN MEXICO CITY ITSELF. AFTER DEC. 1, THIS WOULD NOT BE A CONSIDERATION AND THE VISIT COULD BE HELD EITHER IN MEXICO CITY OR ELSEWHERE.

5. PLEASE ACCEPT MY CONGRATULATIONS ON YOUR

ELECTORAL VICTORY AND BE ASSURED THAT ALL OF US IN THIS EMBASSY STAND READY TO HELP YOU IN ANY WAY.

Subject: Chilean Army Officers Juan Williams and Alejandro Romeral

Williams and Romeral, you recall, were given diplomatic visas in Official Paraguayan passports as a result of a favor Pinochet asked of Stroessner. We subsequently cancelled the visas.

However, these two obtained diplomatic TDY visas in Official Chilean Passports from our Embassy in Santiago sometime in August. The Chilean Foreign Ministry asked our Embassy for the visas in a Note. I heard that they were in Washington working in the Military Mission as of ten days ago.

The Visa Office asked me November 10 if we wanted to revoke these visas as well. The advantage is that we would put the GOC on notice that we will not tolerate this sort of nonsense. The disadvantage is that we might compromise a source. I told the Visa Office that I would have to defer to you. I recommend, in spite of the risk to a source, that we cancel the visas.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. BRENT SCOWCROFT
THE WHITE HOUSE

Subject: Invitation for the President to Attend the Inauguration of Mexico's President on December 1

Mexico's President-elect, Jose Lopez Portillo has sent the President a letter inviting him to attend the inauguration in Mexico on December 1.

The Department, on November 5, forwarded to you a recommended official delegation list, headed by the Secretary of State. We do not believe it would be appropriate for President Ford to attend the inauguration. American Presidents have not done so in the past, and the delegations from most other countries (except perhaps for one or more of Mexico's smaller neighbors in Central America who in the past have sent their Vice Presidents) will be headed at most by their foreign ministers or their ambassadors to Mexico.

Attached is a suggested reply from the President to Lopez Portillo thanking him for the invitation and informing him that although the President will not be able to attend personally, he intends to appoint Secretary of State Kissinger to head the U. S. Delegation to the inauguration.

Executive Secretary

Suggested Reply

Dear Mr. Lopez Portillo:

I very much appreciate your kind invitation to attend your inauguration as President of Mexico on December 1. I do indeed feel a strong friendship for and interest in Mexico, and I look back with pleasure on our meeting and conversations in Washington during your September visit.

Although I would be honored to be able to be in Mexico City during the ceremonies in which you will assume the reins of Government, unfortunately I will not be able to do so. However, I have asked Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to represent me at these meaningful ceremonies and to head the delegation of distinguished Americans who will represent the United States at your inauguration.

Mrs. Ford joins me in sending to you and Mrs. Lopez Portillo our warm regards and our hopes for the prosperity and well being of Mexico and its people.

Sincerely,

Gerald R. Ford

His Excellency
Jose Lopez Portillo,
President-elect of the United Mexican States,
Mexico, D. F.

K: How are you?

E: It is nice to hear from you. I am here in New York on the way to Europe and for me it is a pleasure to say hello.

K: Aren't you nice. Is there any chance of your coming to Washington.

E: I am leaving today with the President for Europe and I had the opportunity to say hello and to express to you my great affection and best regards.

K: I am terribly touched. Are you going to be in Mexico for the inauguration of the President of Mexico.

E: No. I will accompany the President for 15 days in Europe. That is why I have to leave this evening.

K: I see. I want you to know that working with you was one of the great joys of being in public life.

E: Thank you very much and I hope to see you in Venezuela or any other place. You can be sure that I have a good friend in you and great admiration and affection for you.

K: The feeling is mutual.

E: Thank you very much.

K: Have a good trip.

SUBJECT: INVITATIONS FROM LOPEZ PORTILLOS TO THE SECRETARY AND TO MRS. CARTER

1. MRS. LOPEZ PORTILLO CALLED IN PERSON LAST NIGHT TO EXPRESS HER GRATIFICATION THAT MRS. CARTER HAD ACCEPTED TO ATTEND THE INAUGURATION. SHE SAID SHE PRESUMED MRS. CARTER WOULD BE STAYING AT THE EMBASSY RESIDENCE BUT, IF NOT, WOULD BE HAPPY TO PROVIDE A SUITE AT THE HOTEL CAMINO REAL.

2. SHE ALSO SUGGESTED THAT SHOULD MRS. CARTER WISH TO HAVE A FEW DAYS OF REST AT ACAPULCO, SHE WOULD BE HAPPY TO MAKE THE NECESSARY ARRANGMENTS FOR HER TO GO BEGINNING DEC. 2. SHE HERSELF WILL BE PREPARED TO JOIN MRS. CARTER'S PARTY FOR A DAY'S VISIT AFTER THE FOURTH. I TOLD MRS. LOPEZ PORTILLO I WOULD COMMUNICATE THIS KIND INVITATION TO MRS. CARTER.

3. MRS. LOPEZ PORTILLO ALSO WISHED TO EXTEND AN INVITATION TO MRS. CARTER AND SECRETARY AND MRS. KISSINGER FOR DINNER ON THE EVENING OF NOV. 30, THE EVE OF THE INAUGURATION. IT WOULD BE A SMALL, INTIMATE DINNER AT THEIR PRIVATE RESIDENCE. I ALSO UNDERSTOOD HER TO SAY THAT SHE WAS INTENDING TO INVITE MR. PAUL AUSTIN, PRESIDENT OF COCA COLA AND A SELECT FEW OF MEXICAN AND VISITING GUESTS. THIS DINNER WOULD BE AT 9:00 OR 9:30 P.M.

K: You have just decided to accept my proposal.

D: We accept him as Ambassador to Moscow.

K: That is a wise decision.

D: It is what I am calling you about. Gromyko asked me to tell you.

K: I appreciate this.

D: What about SALT. Is it better to wait until the next Administration?

K: Well. If you will permit me to do some more assassination plots in this country so I can get rid of some people, we will have SALT talks before January 20.

D: You are seeing the President elect.

K: I know you have my office bugged because I was just talking about SALT and what I would tell the President elect. I was going to tell him the thing to ask is to tell you to destroy all your heavy missiles.

D: It is a modest proposal.

K: I know you were just waiting to accept that, I can tell him.

D: I looked at his last press conference and it was not quite clear what his position is on SALT.

K: It is not fully clear to me either. We were just debating that. Are you willing to negotiate it before January 20?

D: I am interested and we are prepared anytime possible.

K: Let me talk to the President about it.

D: Next week let's get together and quietly discuss things.

K: I will sit down with you but I don't promise you I will be quiet.

D: I am used to it. So I will prepare myself for the occasion.

K: It was good to see you at that lunch the other day.

K: Wait. I am going away Tuesday.

D: Tomorrow.

K: Tomorrow to Plains but Tuesday to Mexico. Maybe late Monday afternoon we can meet for a drink. Let's aim for that.

D: Okay.

K: I will call you Monday morning.

D: Thank you very much, Henry.
